HOSPITAL AUXILIARY SEEKS FUNDS

The Carroll County General Hospital Auxiliary is engaged in raising $6,000 for an immediate need at the hospital as the 1962 year approaches.

There is a definite need for the immediate equipping of the second operating room at the hospital, which will involve an expenditure of $6,000. The number of the surgical patients has far exceeded the expectations for the first few months of operation, so therefore, this departmental deficiency is very acute and must be promptly met if the hospital is to offer the proper coverage.

It now takes 30 minutes to prepare an operation room when used, before another operation can be performed, these 30 minutes can mean a life saved.

Many interested citizens, individually, and comprising partnerships and corporations of Carroll County and vicinity, have asked that they be informed if the new Carroll County General Hospital needed anything additional in the way of equipment, etc. which would further the great humanitarian work of the hospital facility.

The second operation room is ready for the new equipment so that it can be put into use at once. At the meeting of the auxiliary held in November, this need was reported to the ladies by James McCallum, hospital administrator, who expressed the hope that this would be the next project of the auxiliary and that it could be carried through successfully the first of the year.

The Frizellburg Community Association started off the first contribution to the new proposed operating room. Mrs. Helen Hively, who serves as treasurer of the association, has presented Mrs. Gladys M. Wimer, president of the auxiliary, with a check in the amount of $208.49 and her personal check to make the amount $225. Contributions may be sent to Mrs. Wimer, Westminster, Maryland.

Army Europe travelled from their duty stations in Europe to get a first-hand look at the divided city of Berlin.

Operation Look-See, sponsored by the U. S. Army, Europe commander-in-chief, included briefings on the Army mission and operation in Berlin, explanations of the border checkpoint system and tours of both East and West Berlin. Sergeant Lippy and the other senior NCO's saw life on both sides of the Communist-constructed wall and gained a better understanding of the Berlin situation. Sergeant Lippy, assigned to the U. S. Army Garrison's Headquarters Company, Northern Area, in Frankfurt, entered the Army in 1940, was last stationed at Fort George G. Meade, Md., and arrived overseas on this tour of duty in February 1961.

JAYCEES TO CONDUCT PUBLIC OPINION SURVEY

The Taneytown Jaycees will be conducting a door-to-door survey of the community between January 15 and 31st. With the assistance of their wives, the Jayettes, and the High School Senior P. O. D. class, they hope to learn the community's attitudes on services, facilities, and problems in the Taneytown Area.

Arthur Garvin, chairman of the project, states that future projects of the Jaycees and other service clubs will undoubtedly be influenced by the results of this poll. Also, the Mayor and City Council have expressed a great deal of interest in many of the questions which will be asked and will certainly take answers and comments into consideration when planning for the future.

Families and individuals polled will not be identified in any way or asked to sign the questionnaire. Results, analysis, and pertinent criticisms and suggestions will be published and made available to the public, but individual reactions will be held in strictest confidence. Although the door-to-door, personal interview method is extremely time-consuming and difficult, Mr. Garvin points out that experts agree that in a community the size and nature of Taneytown, it is practically the only way to get a complete and true picture of the people's opinions. It is hoped that every person contacted will welcome the caller in to their home, cooperate to the fullest extent, and give serious thought to the questions posed.

DISTINGUISHED SERVICE AWARD

Everyone is most cordially invited to attend all these Services. Start the New Year with an undergirding by a Power outside and beyond our own strength.

The Services are sponsored by the Taneytown Ministerial Association. The bigger the speaker the smaller the words he tries to use. The "charge it" habit gets to be expensive, in time.

Town Council Meets

The Mayor and City Council held their regularly scheduled monthly meeting on Monday evening, January 1, 1962, at 7:30 p.m., with all members present.

Officer Vahn reported 18 Over Time Parking Violations and 3 Funerals. The Town Clerk reported a balance of $19156.84 in the General Expense Account and $4313.47 in the Parking Meter Fund.

A letter from the State Roads Commission was read stating that the towns request for a new stop light at the square has been turned over to the traffic Control Division in the State Roads Department.

A delegation representing the Fire Department appeared before the Council with a report on bids received for the proposed alterations to the Municipal Building Annex.

A comparison of Taneytown's Actual Expenses for the past six months versus amounts budgeted were checked very closely and all indications point to a balanced budget for the year 1961-1962.

Carroll County Real Estate Tax Assessments figures have been secured from the County Tax Office for homes located in Taney Annex for the purpose of determining the amount of revenue that would be forthcoming from this area should they be annexed to Taneytown. Based on the present town tax rate of $.85 per hundred, approximately $1500.00 per year would be realized on the assessed value of these homes. Water and sewer charges would be used for maintenance and repair of the water and sewer lines and could not be used for the purpose of arriving at yearly income figures for estimating the yearly return on the initial capital expenditure consisting of the installation of water and sewer lines plus street construction. Estimates are being secured on sewer and water installations in this area. Also financial assistance in the form of loans or Federal Aid is being investigated.

The Council authorized the purchase of a snow plow for Town use. This plow will be mounted on Mr. Thurston Putman's truck on Friday, January 5th. Mr. Putman will be under contract to the Town and will start clearing streets and alleys when the snow removal committee determines the accumulation is sufficient to warrant it.

Mr. Putman may be released by the snow removal committee to assist the state and/or County only after Taneytown's streets, alleys and cemetery roads are opened. The plow would be on an hourly basis to the State or County with Mr. Putman working out his charges for truck and time separately. The Council feels this is a real step forward in snow removal for Taneytown and estimates indicate that snow removal costs will be reduced over a period of time. The same method of hauling snow from the business district will still have to be employed but the hiring of bulldozers to open our streets and alleys will be eliminated.

The Mayor and City Council have been invited to attend the dinner meeting of the Carroll County Firemen's Association on Thursday evening, January 4, in the Taneytown Firemen's Building.

G. N. Jr.

"SPICE 'N' EVERYTHING NICE"

With all my heart, I wish you every morning
A smile that shall last until the next day's dawning.
I wish you health—life's greatest wealth;
I wish you always near so that I may help to cheer.
Each future day and in some way—help to bring you happiness!

Thank you and you for all the lovely cards and Greetings which kept coming even after Christmas as much of the mail was late.

Now, Ladies there is a new form of "Metreca" instead of liquid, it is a small wafer and I think much better for the individual who really wants to reduce as they can be carried in one's hand bag.

Hope you did not miss the show on T.V. last week with Cara Williams on the Skelton show. She was taking the part of a rag doll and it all was precious. There is a little resemblance to Lucy Ball, eh?

A Greeting and an unexpected one from Princess Margaret of England.

There were many interesting things around the Holidays and a nice one reading "The Night Before Christmas" for the party at the Presbyterian Church at Randallstown, the Minister, the Rev. J. Millholland. It brought back lovely memories as this was always my custom each Christmas.

Guess there will be a raise in postage sometime in 62.

There is a new "Oven Drip Tray" of Aluminum, Mrs. Housewife to catch all the messy overflow and juice drippings when baking pies especially and it is so easy to clean. That should be a must in your kitchen for it does save much time and labor and leaves your oven floor spotless!

Going up to Philadelphia for a few days and this time by Bus for the first time in many years. Right at my door, the Shaffer bus stopped and made connections with the Greyhound at that very terminal within five minutes after the arrival. It was as though it was planned! First of all, the Shaffer Bus goes right through Taneytown and comes down the Liberty Rd. The GREYHOUND is simply wonderful and just as that slogan—"Relax and leave the driving to us!" Their buses were all new in the month of June and the Driver told me that there will be more new ones in the month of January. It is a real treat and smooth is the word and the nice part is that they go right in the heart of the city to Philly.

Of course, as I walked along Market street, saw the Pretzel man on each corner and that one I never miss. Ummm good! (Just as I always bought in Hanover) The Chestnut Roasters also were on most corners and as I stopped to get some of those hot ones and was awaiting my turn (as they were in line) I observed before placing the quantity in the bag, the man cheated by quickly removing about three chestnuts from each glass container. I waited to tell him that now I did not want to buy any from him and he was very much surprised that I observed it all and the other buyers did not.

I was disappointed as to the exterior of the stores—not one had any decoration but the windows were truly glamorous of each store and every window. In Wanamakers of course the story was right there with statues, the colorful changing lighted tree and the Fountain which went on certain hours of each day and there were hundreds waiting to view it all. When you go to Philly the next time, be sure and stop at Tad's on Market street near 12th as it is a Charcoal Steak dinner restaurant. Never have I seen anything to compare as to quality and quantity. You stand along the counter in front of a brass rail and the man boils your steak just as you desire it, your plate then is passed on to the next man and he places on to the next man that I have ever seen cut in half swimming with melted butter, the next man places a toasted long half buttered roll and the last man, a wooden dish containing a delightful vegetable salad! The PRICE? Just $1.19. It was crowded outside with on-lookers and every table taken and the strangers would come up to you and say, "Did you ever see anything like it?" In a few of my Columns I have written about eating meat. Nothing can take its place. Many people have asked me about my strength and it is always with the same reply, "I was given mainly beef from the time I was a tiny child with my meals and that always once daily as to meat. There is always so much to see and visit in Philadelphia, folks and each time I love it all the more yet I have no desire to live back there as Maryland has wrapped itself around my heart.

There is something about Chestnut street that is different from any other shopping street and it has never changed all down through the years. Of course, I had to walk to the public buildings of Historical interest and it is so nice to see the LIBERTY BELL without the glass enclosed case as in former years. Just to place your hand upon it, there is such a feeling that there always will be our AMERICA! All the buildings are within walking distance and that makes it nice for the visitors arriving from far off places.

The recent snow was just nice enough for sledding and there I was, folks right out on the hill in front of my door with the children!

Will be seeing you soon around the town when I expect to spend the entire day. Have a grand week end. Until next week D. V.

GRASS ROOTS OPINIONS

LELAND, MISS., PROGRESS:
"Conservatism in government on the local, state and federal levels seeks to restore the common sense and business approach in the handling of public funds. It has been too easy for the government to add taxes for special reasons, but then handle those monies in such a frivolous manner as to indicate that all citizens have a 'money tree' in their backyards. . . . An important facet of conservatism is its individual basis. It impels each citizen to endeavor to do as much for himself and his community and country as he is able by talent and means. Conservation points to the fact that this country was founded for direction from the 'bottom up' and not from Washington down."

GILLESPIE, ILL., NEWS: "The Reds are building the East Germany wall bigger and stronger. Probably to keep out an influx of free people from the promised land."

CLIFTON, ARIZ., COPPER ERA: "Next time you're at a meeting or luncheon, ask your neighbor this question:

"Where's the safest place for workers to be—at home, in a car, in a public place, or on the job?"
"It's a safe wager that mighty few will have the right answer."

"Today, American working men and women are safest when they are at their jobs."

"The startling facts come from the Insurance Information Institute, which has a solid business reason for coming up with correct figures."

SWEET HOME, ORE., NEW ERA:
"The Wilderness bill is supposedly an 'act to establish a national wilderness preservation system for the permanent good of the whole people, and for other purposes'. . . . Although we have nothing against setting aside places of awesome beauty as wilderness areas, the idea of sewing up public lands which are rich in timber and minerals seems out of reason."

CUERO, TEX., RECORD: ". . . there is nothing in the least 'free' about the personal enterprise system. Its operation calls for the expenditure of both money and effort. And it also requires a great deal of constructive thought, and in these times of increasing interference by and competition from government agencies it also calls for not a small amount of worry. . . . If the personal enterprise system ever falls before the blandishments of the Mistaken, we in the end will have only ourselves to blame. Let us not be deceived about that. But the system does not have to fail. We can save individual freedom. We can if we will."

STAR CITY, ARK., LINCOLN LEDGER: "Taxes, of course, are collected in order that our country might have funds on which to operate, and it seems that more and more taxes are required each year. One of the main reasons for this is the waste that goes on in government spending. One of the largest wastes, we believe, comes in the government keeping. . . unnecessary people on its payroll. These extra people do not lend to the efficiency of the department where they are employed and in addition they cost the taxpayers a lot of hard earned cash."

ODESSA, WASH., RECORD: "It has long been agreed that the strength of a nation is in its food supply, the product of its farms. This realization brought the farm programs into being. Politics then made the program unworkable. Through the program the farm income has dropped to a tragic low. . . . The eventual farm solution will have to come from farm levels, the only place it is understood."

Kitchen Idea File:

"PASS THROUGH" WINDOW

A lovely kitchen, like this one by famous New York colorist Beatrice West, is worth "showing off" for your guests . . . and a "pass through" window is an easy way to do just that. All details, from the unusual window treatment to the up-to-the-minute Caloric gas appliances, are clearly visible from adjoining rooms. What's more, the open shutters blend the kitchen with the room next to it, adding to the total effect of spaciousness. Notice that the shutters can be closed if you prefer them that way occasionally.

HERE ARE 2 OF THE NEW JET-SMOOTH CHEVROLETS

WHICH ONE IS THE CONVERTIBLE AND WHICH THE HARDTOP?

Top one's our new Impala Sport Coupe whose steel roof line is a dead ringer for the Impala Convertible's below. But after rich new styling, what? In glamor and go, comfort and craftsmanship, here's all you'd reasonably expect of an expensive car. Except the expense.

Slip inside a Jet-smooth Chevrolet, relax and just notice how good you feel. Ready for action? Just flick the key and let'er purr (your choice of two standard engines—a 135-hp 6 or 170-hp V8—or optional-at-extra-cost V8's way up to a 409-hp mile-shrinker). That gentle cradling motion you enjoy is Jet-smooth ride at work. And the rich interior and neat craftsmanship are Body by Fisher at work. Have your dealer give you the whole story. That's the work he loves best.

Two snow falls have given us about 8 inches of snow and plenty of ice. The first heavy, slippery snow came on Dec. 23rd. Those who attended the wedding of Miss Georgia Asbury to Walter Robertson at Stone Church near New Windsor, had a very difficult time getting home. The second snow fall occurred last Thursday and was not quite so heavy. The Keysville Lutheran Christmas Program scheduled for the 23rd, was called off. Many people did not attend the Christmas Eve Service which was held at Mt. Taber Lutheran Church because of the drifting roads and the ice.

SHORT STORY Safety First By Ona F. Lathrop

I WAS standing at the top of the steps of my plane remembering all the things they had impressed upon us in our training for stewardess—safety and comfort of the passengers come first—things like that. It was my first flight on this line and I wanted to do just the right thing—sort of a trial run.

3-Minute Fiction

The two young things coming across to board the plane looked like a honeymoon couple. She had on a light blue suit and a little flowered hat covered with pink veiling over her blonde pony tail, and he had a flower in his navy buttonhole.

"NO, NO, I won't take it. No, Nick. I don't want the thing." "But you must. It is the only way. It is our one chance—" The dark foreign-looking fellow gave the box one final thrust into the young man's arms and then dashed back and disappeared in the crowd.

"I don't like it," I told him. "He holds that box too gingerly."

"It's my cousin, Nicholas, baby. He wants me to—" he looked at me apprehensively and then rushed into the plane, dragging the girl with him. I followed along curiously, making a pretense of helping them find a seat. He kept shifting the box nervously.

"Would you like to sit near the front or back?" I queried in my usual Hostess Voice. They chose the seat next the emergency exit window, and strangely, he went in first. The thought flashed in my mind that I could always open it if worst came to worst. I went right on up front to the pilot's cabin.

"I don't like it," I told him. "He holds that box gingerly as if—"

I walked back and stopped to chat. "Would you like me to put the package up on the shelf for you?" I inquired pleasantly.

"Oh, no, no, no," he cried. "I have to hold it. It must be kept—uh, warm." He broke off as if he were biting his tongue.

"But darling, what is it?" the girl kept asking.

He answered impatiently now. "Francie, I can't tell you. Now don't ask again. Why don't you go sit in the back? The view is better."

The plane had taxied out to the takeoff runway and was revving up the engines, but still we didn't go. I glanced at my wrist-watch. Probably waiting for the tower-signal—the fog was getting worse.

It must be a matter of time. I went forward and pulled at Wilcox's sleeve. "You've got to do something," I cried. "I can't get it away from him, and he says we MUST get off on time. This is murder!"

Wilcox snorted. "All right, Miss Benson. Take over, Hannigan."

He followed me back. "Let's have a look, young man," he said sternly, grabbing the box.

"Oh please, sir, don't open it here—I beg of you." Reuel scrambled over his bride's knees and followed us to the control room.

Wilcox was opening the strings. He lifted off the cover and there lay—a setting of duck eggs, I guess—big fancy white eggs.

"What on earth—" I screamed in relief.

"It was my cousin's idea—he wanted to send them to our uncle in California, but I told him no—they might even hatch on the way. But he made me take them, and I didn't want Francie to know—" After he had gone back and snuggled his bride's head on his shoulder, Wilcox laughed. "Delivering ducks—what next!"

And I breathed a sigh of relief. I had done my best—for the safety and comfort of the passengers!

Quick Homemade Potato Soup

How to make good homemade potato soup in double-quick time? Use instant whipped potatoes. This saves about 30 minutes preparation time. ### Proper Roofing, Insulation For Abominable Ice Dam

It may be the "Year of the Ox" to the Chinese, but for countless American families, 1961 is the "Year of the Abominable Ice Dam."

The winter of '60-'61, with its severe cold and heavy snows, was just right for the formation of ice dams—accumulations of ice in roof gutters that can cause water from melting snow to back up under improperly applied roofing.

This wayward water often works its way through the decking, leaks into a house and causes costly damage by soaking walls, ceilings, floors, furniture and electric fixtures.

The two most effective methods of avoiding future ice dam troubles are proper roofing and good insulation.

Proper asphalt shingles application calls for protecting the eaves section of a roof with five layers of material. First to go on is a "metal drip edge" bent down over the edges of the roof deck boards.

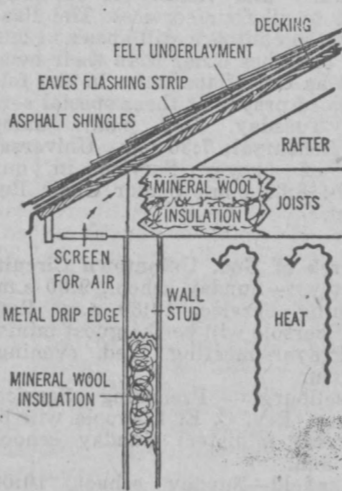

An "underlayment" of asphalt-saturated roofing felt is applied next. This forms a waterproof layer over the entire surface of the deck. For low-slope roofs, two thicknesses of felt are used.

Most important is the "eaves flashing strip." For conventional roof slopes a continuous strip of heavy roll roofing is applied along the eaves over the drip edge and underlayment. It should extend from the edge of the roof at least 12 inches beyond the interior wall line.

On low-slope roofs, the two thicknesses of felt are cemented together from the eaves up to a point at least 24 inches beyond the interior wall line.

The fourth layer is a "starter" strip of roll roofing 9 inches wide. Sometimes, strip shingles laid with their tabs pointing up the roof are used as a "starter" strip.

The fifth layer is the first course of regular shingles. This Insulation blocks snow-melting heat, keeps it inside. Special application of asphalt shingles, with eaves flashing strip, and metal drip edge bent down over roof decking, keeps water backed up by ice dam out of house. Air screen under eaves helps keep attic temperatures close to those outside, to prevent melting of snow from below, a principal cause of ice dam troubles.

layer forms part of the visible roof covering. All the other layers lie underneath it to provide full protection against ice dams and wind-driven rain.

Adequate mineral wool insulation is important because it reduces to a minimum the loss of heat from living areas into the attic or crawl space. Without proper insulation, escaping heat rises to the roof, warming the bottom layers of snow on the roof outside—even though the temperature may be several degrees below freezing.

Often, this melting snow flows to the gutters to form ice dams. As melting continues, this water can work its way under improperly applied roofing and cause damaging leaks.

Newest Decorating Craze Sew-Your-Own Smocked Pillows

Ironing on smocking marks to fabric with Multi-Blue Transfer

McCall's instructions for smocking are easy-to-follow

Smocked decorator pillows—round, square and bolster are arranged on a Victorian sofa

A new craze in decorating is sweeping the country. Women from New York to New Orleans, from San Francisco to Miami have taken to sewing-their-own smocked pillows. McCall's pattern includes three shapes—round, square and bolster. Fabric and color choices are varied and the cost is unbelievably low when you sew-it-yourself for your home or to give as gifts.

Silk, satin and velveteen would be lovely and for less formality fine corduroy and soft cottons make pretty pillows. Both round and bolster pillows require three-quarters of a yard of fabric. One to one and one quarter yard of fabric is needed for the square pillow. Smocking lines are ironed on to the fabric by placing and pinning the Multi-Blue transfer sheet printed side down to the wrong side of the fabric. Then press on lines with a warm iron. Full instructions for easy smocking and completion of the pillows are in McCall's pattern envelope #2467.

Festive Foods For Parties

Stuffed sugared dates and apricots are so simple to prepare, but they will add an extra festive touch to your table.

Most busy homemakers welcome new kitchen conveniences and ideas for festive dishes which are easy to make.

One of the latest conveniences—a big help in preparing party foods—is a granulated sugar package with a handy metal pouring spout.

For the first time in this area, say the makers of Jack Frost, consumers can enjoy the time-saving advantages offered by an "easy pour" metal spout which permits the homemaker to control the flow of sugar from the package for quick, accurate measuring. It can be reclosed quickly and seals the package to keep the contents moisture-free and clean.

Stuffed sugared dates and apricots are easy to make, yet loaded with eye and taste appeal.

STUFFED SUGARED FRUITS

To prepare the dates, slit each one along the side and remove pit. Stuff generously, allowing the filling to protrude slightly. For apricots, slice crosswise, spread one half with filling and top with the other half, sandwich-style.

For enough peanut butter-ginger filling to stuff 1 1/2 doz. dates or 1 doz. large glazed apricots, combine 1/4 cup peanut butter with 2 tablespoons finely chopped candied ginger. Blend thoroughly. To make a cherry-coconut filling, mix 1/2 cup finely chopped candied cherries with 1/2 cup finely chopped moist coconut. Add 1 tablespoon light corn syrup and blend. Makes filling for 1 1/2 doz. dates or 2 doz. dates.

Stuffing the fruit, place on waxed paper or foil and generously with granulated sugar.

Laws For Living
Lesson for January 7, 1962

THREE questions are asked sooner or later by every thoughtful person. What can I know? What can I believe? and What shall I do? During the next three months these Bible studies, in which more than 80 denominations join, will be working on that third question. All Christians are agreed that the standard for our life and the teachings of Moses or the teachings of Jesus? the Law or the Gospel? the Ten Commandments or the Spirit of Jesus? Can a Christian be described as one who has outgrown the Ten Commandments?

No conflict
All this either-or business points in the wrong direction. If the first Christians had thought that the gospel did away with the Ten Commandments, they would not have kept the Old Testament. If the people who wrote the stories of Jesus and his teachings had supposed they were in conflict with the word and will and law of God as they found it in the Old Testament, they would not have undertaken to write the New. It is not a case of "either the Ten Commandments or the Spirit of Jesus." It is not a question of Moses versus Christ. Saint Paul calls the Law "holy and just and good" (Romans 7:12). Jesus said that not the least part of the Law should pass away "till all be accomplished" or "till its purpose is complete" (I B. Phillips translates it).

What we have in the Law in the Gospel (i.e. in the whole New Testament teaching), the Law as interpreted by the gospel, the Law seen in the light of the gospel, the Ten Commandments understood as Jesus understood them.

Never obsolete

Confusion about the Ten Commandments would clear away considerably if people realized that they are not like the laws and statutes of our nation or states and cities today. Our laws become obsolete because they are confined to one particular situation, and when the situation no longer exists, the law just fades away. For instance, it used to be required by law in various communities that drinking-troughs be provided for horses. When horses were replaced by horsepower, the horse-troughs vanished. A certain school in New York State, about the year 1844, had among its regulations one that forbade all students to enter "taverns, groceries or other places of entertainment." It is safe to say that that school long since dropped that rule. Grocery stores in the village have changed quite a lot in the past 100 years or more. Now the Ten Commandments never were intended to be like rules and regulations. In the Old Testament, they are given three different times, and each time differently. (Ex. 20, Ex. 34, and Deut. 5.) The careful reader will see that already the Commandments were being revised, as we would say, to fit new situations. They represent principles rather than rules, and so are immortal.

A fresh beginning

In the great summary of Jesus' teaching which we have in the Sermon on the Mount, while Jesus had a good deal to say about interpreting the law of God, he did not begin with this. He did not begin with laws of any kind. He began (as everybody knows) with "Beatitudes." That is, he starts off by describing those to whom God's kingdom belongs, those who will see God, those who are rightly called the sons of God. If you have the wrong kind of people, no amount of laws will improve matters much. You do not get a better world by saying the Ten Commandments louder and faster. You get a better world not by improvements in laws, but by improvements in people. "Improvements" is too weak a word. Radical change is more what Jesus is calling for.

Only those who are so close to the mind and will of God that they can be called "sons of God," only those who are growing in Godlikeness, are the kind of persons who have discovered what it is to live.

Beneficial Breakfast

Start the day right! A good breakfast is good sense. Those who skip breakfast put a wasteful drain on their energy which in some instances can impair their alertness during the morning hours. The human body requires energy and proper nourishment in order to support ones activities during the day. Breakfast should be delicious, nourishing and appetizing as the one shown above which features new Bran Buds, a whole bran cereal with wheat germ recently introduced by Kellogg's. The cereal combines the beneficial properties of bran, in crisp new tiny morsel forms, with fresh fruit, biscuits and coffee to present a breakfast that is appealing and an aid to good nutrition.

Gracious Living - Then And Now

Ceilings in the Castle of Vincennes were raised in 15th century France... to accommodate ladies of the Court wearing towering headdresses. Today's busy homemaker is graciously coiffured in close-cut locks, styled for quick combing.

Party-givers in ancient Egypt stored choice viands in clay pots, underground, preparing for the big event. Modern food processors freeze 5 billion pounds of food annually... keeping gourmet foods in season all year 'round.

Most holiday hosts serve Bianco Cin, Italian White Sweet Vermouth, as the perfect aperitif before a sumptuous dinner. But few realize the Cinzano wine - produced by a noble family tracing its ancestry back to 1520 - is based on the absinthe drink of Greek physician Hippocrates!

Early Vikings celebrated feasts and weddings at tables laden with enough food for the entire village - the first Smorgasbord! Americans today spend $250 million a year on "gourmet foods" - over 50% of them are imported.

HEALTH HINTS FOR THE FAMILY

AFTER A HOLIDAY - A RASH OF COLDS
by: Margaret Little*

Back to school—you heave a sigh that vacation is over, and you are pleased, too, that there will be a few hours of peace at home while the youngsters are in school. But no sooner does noisy healthy little Eric get back to school before he begins to snifle. You see the tell-tale dribble on his upper lip, he hacks as he goes to sleep, and you have another cold to live through.

After a vacation there is very often a rash of colds at school—there are apt to be more among the children in the lower grades than in the upper ones.

The children have been doing different things during vacation and seeing people they seldom see during the routine of school life. With these people they share not only good times, but they also share whatever germs they happen to have in their noses and throats.

Eric had been having a ball with his cousin. The two little boys exchanged their germs. Neither one of them was sick, but each got a batch of brand new germs. In Eric his new germs grew peacefully in his nose and throat. They didn't do him any harm—probably he had met the same germs before in his life and had managed to build up some resistance to them.

Then Eric goes back to school, Eric gets Andy's germs and Andy gets a batch of Eric's. Andy's germs are brand new to Eric, never in his short life had he met with this particular variety before. They grow in his nose and throat and Eric's body has no resistance to them. Pretty soon Eric comes down with a cold. Andy, too, with a batch of Eric's new germs comes down with a cold because he had never met them before.

Both boys, though free from symptoms of a cold, had given each other a cold.

Keep Eric a little quieter than usual, give him extra liquid to drink, if his cough bothers him use a vaporizer and give him a teaspoonful of a simple cough syrup.

Medallion Ceiling, Walnut-Grained Floor Tile Can Beautify Any Room

Nail Furring Strips

Staple Medallion Panels

Brush On Adhesive

Finish Floor at Wall

Color compatibility — either by matching hues or sharply contrasting them — will be the vogue for ceilings and floors this winter and next spring, Michael Greer, internationally known interior designer, said today.

Greer now has on display in New York City's National Design Center a beautiful family recreation area called the Medallion Room. It features medallion ceiling panels and walnut-grained vinyl-asbestos floor tile.

Johns-Manville, which commissioned Greer to create the Medallion Room, states the room can easily be duplicated by any do-it-yourself homeowner. The following installation suggestions are offered:

How to Install The Ceiling
First, assemble the materials needed: (1) enough ceiling tile to cover the measured area of the ceiling; (2) nails, staples and stapling gun; (3) furring strips (1 inch by 3 inches) to which ceiling panels will be applied.

Second, nail furring strips at right angles to ceiling joists. The first furring strip is nailed to the ceiling where wall and ceiling meet. The second should be spaced so as to receive the size panel you may wish for a border. Subsequent furring strips are placed on 12-inch centers.

How To Apply Floor Tiles
To combine your Medallion ceiling with a beautiful floor tile select one or more colors and go to work. Tiles are applied with a brush-on type of adhesive. Floor surfaces must be free from grease before adhesive is applied in a thin, even film with an ordinary paint brush, J-M specialists state.

Tiles should be laid outward from the center of the room (as shown in the accompanying photo). Start laying tiles at a center intersection. The directional pattern of each tile must be at right angles to adjacent tiles.

Vary Menu With Cheese-Egg Dish

Add the spice of variety to menus and spark jaded appetites without cutting down on the intake of necessary proteins—Here's an economical combination of cheese and eggs with green string beans, suggested by the Borden Kitchen in their recipe for Luncheon Eggs With Cheese that makes a satisfying meal-in-a-dish.

Luncheon Eggs with Cheese
(Makes 6 servings)

1-1/2 cups milk	2 packages (9 oz. each) frozen French style green beans
3 tablespoons flour	1/2 cup boiling water
1 teaspoon salt	2 tablespoons buttered crumbs
1/8 teaspoon pepper	Grated Parmesan and Romano Cheese
1/2 teaspoon Worcestershire Sauce	Paprika, optional
3 cups (3/4 pound) shredded Chateau Cheese
6 hard cooked eggs, deviled*

Pour milk into top of double boiler; sprinkle flour, salt, pepper and Worcestershire Sauce over surface of milk; beat with rotary beater until blended. Cook over hot water, stirring constantly, until sauce thickens. Add cheese; continue to cook sauce, stirring occasionally, until cheese is melted and sauce is well blended. Place 1/2 cup boiling water in a saucepan. Add beans. Bring to a boil and cook for about 5 minutes or until just tender. Drain well. Place in a buttered 1-quart casserole. Arrange eggs on beans. Pour cheese sauce over all. Bake in a moderate oven (325°) for 20 minutes or until thoroughly heated. Mix 2 tablespoons of buttered crumbs with equal amount of Grated Parmesan and Romano Cheese. Sprinkle over sauce. Add paprika.

* Use a seasoned dressing or mayonnaise to devile the eggs.
** pasteurized process cheese food
