LETTER FROM ANNAPOLIS

Both the 1962 30-day session and special session of the Maryland General Assembly are now things of the past. Those matters which successfully negotiated the twists and turns of the legislature procedure now need only the signature of the Governor to become law.

There were many important items such as the budget, changes in the referendum procedure and recogniza-tion of the prison system which met the approval of the majority of the legislators. The budget of some 555 millions of dollars was passed without an increase in taxes. The suggested change in the referendum procedure would raise the signatures necessary to put a matter on state-wide referendum from the number of 10,000 signatures to the number of 3% of the voters casting their vote in the last Gubernatorial election. This figure at present would be approximately 23,000 signatures. A provision was made for the reorganization of the prison system replacing the present Board of Correction and the Superintendent of Prisons by a Commissioner of Correction in the exercise of full power and control of the Department of Correction. He will be assisted by a correctional director and an industries director. The present Board of Correction will become an advisory board the Commissioner of Correction. This change is designed to eliminate uncertain areas of authority now existing between the Board of Corexisting between the Board of Correction and the Superintendent of Prisons, which have resulted from the revision of the statutes in 1953, which seemingly made the Superintendent of Prisons, rather than the Chairman of the Board of Correction, administrative head of the Department. ment. This revision of the Maryland State Penal System came about as a result of a study made by the Legislative Council Committee on Maryland Prison Administration of which your correspondent was Chairman The Building and Loan Legislation was passed last year was rounded out by further enactment of authority to set up a Building and Loan Insurance Fund. This fund would be operated under State supervision for the benefit of firms that do not qualify for federal insurance. Safe-guards in the field of home improvements and sales of securities were enacted also.

$500,000 of loan money was made available for bomb shelters in State buildings. As mentioned before, plans were approved for providing for the operation of State and Local governments during times of disaster. Absentee voting privileges were provided for dependents of military and civilian government employees serving outside of the United States.

In the short one-day session your Carroll County Delegation sponsored two bills. One, in compliance with a request from the County Cimmissioncompanied by high winds, damaged an estimated 50 telephone poles and caused 2200 telephones to be out of service, according to B. L. Howell, Manager, C. & P. Tel. Co., in Westtal expenditures by the Carroll County General Hospital, Inc. The County Commissioners also may levy annually and collect from the assessable property in Carroll County, as other County taxes are levied and collected, such amount as may be necessary for this appropriation. The other local bill provides for a change in the assessment made on the properties of abutting property owners in developments whose owners have reques-ted the County to construct roads within the development. The change would provide that the assessment for these constructions would be based on the assessed value of the property excluding any improvements. The old law provides that the assessment be based on the value of the property including improvements. This, of course, would create an inequitable situation between the assessment on va-cant lots and those with improve-

CARROLL COUNTY GENERAL HOSPITAL AUXILIARY

The March meeting of the Carroll County General Hospital Auxiliary held on Monday, March 12, 1962 at 8:00 p.m. in the hospital cafeteria. The President, Mrs. Gladys Wiment, greeted the group of approximate-members and the invocation was ven by the chaplain, Mrs. J. Albert Mr. James A. McCallum, Jr., Administrator, stated that the hospital realizes that the members of the auxiliary should be recognized for service to the hospital and patients. He suggested that an "hours committee" composed of members of the auxiliary be established. The purpose of this Committee to be the establishment of awards for accumulated hours of Mrs. Wimert explained that cards or letters were not sent out to an-nounce the meeting because of the money it would have cost. Our membership at present, is approximately 1600 and the cost for cards to be sent out would have been $50.00. It was felt that that amount of money could be put to use toward something that is needed in the hospital.

The minutes of the January 23rd meeting were read and approved fol-

ATTENTION TANEYTOWN TAXPAYERS

The Mayor and City Council wishes to call to your attention to that part of your State of Maryland Income Tax Return which asks you to fill in the name of the incorporated city or town in which you reside.

As you know, the State returns to the Town of Taneytown a portion of the tax that you owe and it is only through your filling out this section that the State of Maryland knows the amount to be returned. In other words, if you live in Taneytown and do not fill in this part, Taneytown does not get its full share of return.

In the past we have been receiving around $3500 per year from the state. It is felt that this figure should be higher. Let's not deprive ourselves of some of our tax dollars which should be returned to us by not filling out our State of Maryland Income Tax properly.

Last year writing the Column about the Boat Show, I stated in the Spring a young or old man's fancy does not turn to love but to BOATS! Remember? Well, again this year that is the very atmosphere down at the Armory in Baltimore! There are over 200 boats and the prices most rea-200 boats and the prices most reasonable. Most every boat is Fiberglass. Frankly, I was observing the men as much as the boats and they reminded me of children around the Christmas tree with their new toys! Mrs. Housewife, don't object to it all as many women do. That is an ideal way to spend a vacation. In the novelty line, there is the Amphibious Vehicle that is at home in the water as well as the highway and there was a crowd around that. Now, you can buy any boat on terms to suit your purse. There was one which was shown this winter on "The Price is Right" T.V. which is The Rolite Travel Trailer which unfolds in just 90 seconds which the salesman demonstrated at my request. Ah! but the best boat in the request. Ah! but the best boat in the entire show is the boat of the year because you can have every comfort of home, "WHITE HAWK" by Nat Gates, Jr. and son, Route 214, Central Ave., Edgewater, Md., Phone Col 3-2492. It is simply luxurious inside and out and it sleeps four. Has a shower in the bath room and speeds to 32 M.P.H. Frankly, it is the most stylish boat that I have ever seen and simply chucked full of OOMPH! That boat is truly built! It takes to That boat is truly built! It takes to real rough water and it will take you real rough water and it will take you comfortably into a chop that keeps other boats at their moorings. That means real performance. Remember Folks, when you read in my Column that I slept with a Life Preserver on all night and then the boat being tied to the Dock and I am still kidded about that to this day. Boats can be used for more than six months of the used for more than six months of the year. One could live on the White Hawk all year round. I could go on and on Folks, about boats which would more than fill this Column—just go down and see for yourself! The Armory appeared beautifully with the new white material dramed on the acil new white material draped on the ceiling to represent the sky or the clouds with the blue background. The lighting was magnificient and all the boats actually shone! More and more ladies each year attend the show and that is a good sign and I think you know,

SPIKE THIS POSTAL HIKE

Irked by mounting pressure against proposed postal hikes on America's periodicals, the Post Office Department has resorted to telling newspaper and magazine publishers how to operate their businesses.

It was obvious at a recent hearing of the Senate Post Office Committee on postal increases that Senators have a higher regard than postal officials for the important services performed for the reading public by weekly and daily newspapers and other periodicals.

Despite this senatorial attitude, Deputy Postmaster General Brawley suggested that periodical postal rates should be raised because publishers are making every effort to hold the line on subscription rates for the purpose of increasing readership.

Mr. Brawley disclosed in effect an intent and desire to regulate competitive practices of the industry to prevent publishers from reaching enough homes to carry cost-covering advertising rates. This, if allowed, is un- country and cause them inconvenience disguised censorship, and it is use of government power to reduce the number of publications so that survivors may, theoretically at least, live in greener pastures.

The primary function of a publisher is to deliver to his readers at the lowest possible cost the finest publication his editors can turn out, consistent with revenues received from subscriptions and advertising. To do less would be to deprive his readers of Russian people that America is the

or a magazine that more and more very next breath they are bragging people want to read, then he is serving will catch up with our standard of livcountry well, in spite of what the postal establishment thinks. But to do so, a publisher must keep advertising rates in line with circulation, as subscriptions cover only a fraction of publishing costs.

Moreover, publishers and advertisers alike know that many people strong. purchase magazines and newspapers for their adventising, as well as their editorial content. Economists and gov- is the American Red Cross." ernment officials know that advertisements in these publications cause people to purchase the things they stand is why a country that makes need and want, thus contributing im- nuclear bombs would outlaw fireportantly to our fine way of life and to the nation's growth.

As a reader, you have a stake in the confiscatory second class rate proposed in HR 7927. If you want to continue to receive your favorite newspapers and magazines at prices you can afford, tell your Senators now that you oppose this onerous tax.

Remember, a Senator's mail bag is one of his most important working tools.

GRASS ROOTS OPINIONS

SANTA PAULA, CALIF., CHRON-ICLE: "President Kennedy, in voicing his disapproval of the provisions for a 25-hour work week written into a contract by an eastern electrical labor union, echoed the feelings of all who have the nation's future at heart. As he indicated, anything that tends to lessen our productivity cannot serve the best interests of the country." SPRING VALLEY, N. Y., LEAD-ER: "The common law of business balance prohibits paying a little and getting a lot-it can't be done. Passage of the proposed Federal Aid to Education will provide a law that does not prohibit paying a lot and getting a little."

CORSICA, S. D., GLOBE: "Because the federal government collects and spends more tax money than other subdivisions of government, some people are losing interest in local government. This is unfortunate, but also part of the 'Marxist' planning. In good government where there is some freedom of thought and expression, local subdivisions where the people are in authority must play the dominant part. Thus township, school district, and county must receive adequate attention if we are to maintain a semblance of freedom."

JUNCTION CITY, ORE., TIMES: Secretary of State Rusk is making an all-out effort to swing the Latin American nations into line in an effort to halt the spread of Communism in the western hemisphere ... While this is a most commendable objective, one of the serious deterrents toward Communism is being pushed more and more into the discard. This is the time-honored dynamic policy of a nation operating on a basis of freedom of enterprise and private ownership of property."

"TELEPHONE DIARY" SHOWS PHONE CALLS SAVE CATONSVILLE FAMILY $20.14 IN TWO WEEKS

We recently asked Mrs. Alvin Zumbrun if she would keep track of her family's telephone calls for two weeks-estimating the time, traveling and money, if any, each call saved.

Mrs. Zumbrun's completed "diary" revealed that their phone calls had saved 110 miles of driving around town, 17 hours of valuable time and $20.14.

"We are both surprised and pleased by the results of our diary," says Mrs. Zumbrun. "We do feel, though, that the true value of the telephone cannot be realized fully in terms of dollars and cents. Some of our calls gave peace of mind that just can't be measured...we would never want to be without our phone!"

What would a telephone diary show in your home? Chances are you'd find, too, that your phone gives you back far more than its low monthly cost.

Hope you did not miss "The Telephone Hour" on T.V. Friday night with Ginger Rogers. She has remained youthful all down through the years and as to that WIG—it truly was glamorous! Eh? How sweet it is all ways to hear the voice say on that ways to hear the voice say on that hour, "Isn't there someone who you would like to call tonight?" And here is a true story on that one from a very close friend of mine. Her husband was far off on a special business trip and she was looking at the T.V. alone and crying. Suddenly that voice spoke on the Telephone Hour and she picked 17—11 o'clock, Mrs. Harry Fogle, 1 on the Telephone Hour and she picked up the phone and called him immediately. So you see, Folks what I mean when in the Column, I state always—when in the Column, I state always—anothing any finer than ad-Machinery. Human Hogs

Lesson for March 18, 1962

COVET" is a word that doesn't sound sinful. It is often used in perfectly respectable connections, as when the King James translation of I Cor. 12:31 has

Paul saying "Covet earnestly the best gifts." Coveting in the Tenth Commandment. however, does not mean simply to desire. It is not itself a sin to desire to have something. All human

Dr. Foreman effort, indeed human life itself, would grind to a stop if nobody ever wanted anything. It is not a sin to want what someone else has, if he is willing to let you own it and if you pay him a fair price. What is greed?

Nevertheless greed is a sin, and greed is a simple one-syllable word that means covetousness but sounds ugly too, like what it stands for. If you have ever fed pigs, you must have noticed how they act at the trough. All the hog needs is just get his mouth into it, but that's not enough for him. He wants to put both feet and most of his face into it. He doesn't care what the other hogs do, he's strictly out for his own appetite. It may be unfair to hogs (for this writer has seen cats which were just as greedy as any hog) but the words hog and hoggishness are used of human beings sometimes, but never as a compliment!

Now, what is to be greedy? As was said just now, merely wanting something is not necessarily greedy. Greed is wanting more than my share, more than I need. Getting more than one's share, more than one needs, is not greed. The greed comes first; it is wanting gone wild, it is wanting without a particle of love.

41 . . . and I intend to squeeze it" A distinguished critic, being asked some years ago to give his philosophy of life, responded, "The world is my orange, and i intend to squeeze it." The man has been converted since then, it is said, but as he was then, he was making as frank a profession of greed as a man could make. He revealed in that one sentence two facts: 1. The greedy man thinks he has a claim to everything in sight, and if he sets his sights high enough he can even think the whole world is his orange. 2. The greedy man lets nothing stand in his way. Police departments all over the world know the connection between greed and murder. More people are killed from motives of greed than from hatred. Greed unchecked runs up like a poison-plant into every kind of crime.

Two kinds of human hog

The human hog comes in two main varieties. One is the plain or backlot variety. What he wants are things, and he can go on piling up things to the day of his death. like the farmer in Jesus' story without giving proper thought to what he can do with what he has, in short with no real reason except to make the pile bigger. Men who get out their money boxes every night and count the coins used to be called misers. It would be hard to find men like that today; but the miser is still with us. Every time there is an election to raise taxes for schools, there are people who will vote NO simply because they have no children and don't want to be taxed to help other peoples' children. Some people collect money, some collect trash; but if you've no plan to spend the money wisely and generously, you might as well collect junk. Hogs of all sorts

The other main variety of this kind of man is the kind that hogs something besides money. Some people hog the limelight, they want to be the center of every scene and they don't relish "scene stealers;" some hog notice in the newspapers, and will die in bed holding an old album of press notices. Some are gluttons for power; James and John were men of this sort before association with Jesus finally changed them. They wanted to share the authority of Christ; they have their counterpart in every church, men and sometimes women who must "run!" the church or they are not satisfied. Other people hog attention, others want the largest share of the credit for any good change even if they actually fought it when first it was suggested. Whatever it may be, if any person wants something so much that he doesn't care what he does to get it, he is not only ridiculous, he is a danger to all the rest of us.

Marine Corps helicopters assigned to spacecraft recoveries are now equipped with a rapidly-inflatable flotation bag which is hooked to the space vehicle's lifting assembly simultaneously with the attachment of the lift cable. The flotation gear and its carbon dioxide inflation system were designed and engineered by the Aero-Space Division of Walter Kidde & Company, Inc., Belleville, N.J.

This extra protection during recoveries will prevent a recurrence of events which led to the loss of the second manned Mercury spacecraft. When the spacecraft hatch accidentally opened shortly after the vehicle hit the water, Astronaut Virgil Grissom was able to emerge safely but the vehicle began shipping water. The recovery helicopter, which had attached a lifting line to the flooding spacecraft, developed engine a lifting line to the flooding spacecraft, developed engine trouble while attempting to lift the waterfilled spacecraft out of the sea and crewmen were forced to release the lift lines.

The new Kidde system provides for the flotation gear to be coupled with the lifting cable from the helicopter. Should the hooked spacecraft prove difficult to retrieve because of rough

The danger of sea loss of Project Mercury spacecraft which may fill with water after helicopters arrive on the recovery scene has been virtually eliminated through use of new flotation equipment.

Marine Corps helicopters assigned to spacecraft recoveries are now equipped with a rapidly-inflatable flotation bag away from the helicopter. As the gear which is hooked to the space vehicle's lifting assembly simultaneously with the attachment of the lift cable. The flotation gear and its carbon dioxide inflation system were designed and engineered by the Aero-Space Division of Walter Kidde on the uppermost section of the bag is in position for a follow-on ship to reattempt retrieval of the assembly. The lines on the float bag are fashioned so that as the ship makes the second attempt at recovery, the hook-on ring and nylon harness lines pull away from the float and take the weight of the spacecraft directly.

The flotation bag has a buoy-ancy of more than 2,500 pounds, more than adequate to support the spacecraft which weighs considerably less when submerged in the water. The harness equipment attached to the bag is designed to withstand the loads imposed by lifting clear the waterfilled spacecraft.

The Kidde equipment was supplied for the Manned Spacecraft Center of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration at Langley Air Force Base, Va., and will be utilized by the Department of Defense forces supporting the Project.

why a Wayne Tail Curler Program is good for your pigs . . . and you too! You produce efficient and profitable hogs only with well started pigs. Wayne Tail Curler Feeds give your pigs that early boost . . . a fast, growthy start that produces heavier weaning weights. Good for you, too, because Wayne gives you a simple, easy-to-follow

Only 25 lbs. each of Tail Curler Jr. and Tail Curler per pig . . . or 3 lbs. of Tail Curler Rockets and 50 lbs. of Tail Curler produce a 50-60 lb. pig. Grow and finish on Wayne Pig Balancer and Hog Balancer and your own grain or on Complete Wayne Hog Feeds. Stop in soon and discuss Wayne Tail Curler feeds and hog feeding needs.
