District Attorney Daniel E. Teeter praised the group at the graduation ceremony in the engine house here, for their interest in undergoing the course and added "you will find that this is but a beginning. You will be learning more about your duties as Policemen as long as you remain Policemen. You may sometimes wonder about interpretation of the law, but if you study laws you find that basically they are but common sense guides for the protection of the rights of individuals and the public.

The district attorney and Sgt. David James, commandant of the local substation of the state police, praised Gettysburg Police Chief, Jack Bartlett, who taught the class, for his "fine work." Sgt. James termed the fire police, "Auxiliary Police."

Kiwanis News

We heard with thrills of pride the report of the delegates of the Taneytown Key Club as they recounted the pleasant and satisfactory results of their trip to the District Key Club Convention recently held at Norfolk, Virginia.

The democratic procedure of 1100 boys as they engaged in the activities relative to the proper conduct of such a gathering was stimulating to the minds of the elders, who, too often, see the smoothness and efficiency of such a meeting disrupted by some trivial and non-essential idea injected into the deliberations that consumes much time and most generally accomplishes nothing. The reports indicated quick, snappy parliamentary procedure that brought proper and agreeable results without unevenness or frustration.

The delegation praised the reception and hospitality accorded them by the City of Norfolk and the kindly sentiments expressed by city and club officials who joined in giving this fine group of youthful citizens the smile of friendship and eulogies of praise for their public services as individuals and as clubs.

Upon the completion of business, the city, the U. S. Navy and others brought to the boys new experiences and thrills as they were taken on board different types of Naval Craft for short harbor cruises with conducted tours through the ships on which they were visitors.

The complicated electronic and signal devices, the ships nomenclature and battle prowess may have been just a trifle too much in one short lesson but they did learn that floors are called decks and the mumps and sea sickness are not exactly the same, however the experience will be a pleasant memory of an outstanding convention.

Their return trip included interesting side trips to Colonial Williamsburg and Jamestown where they met and shook hands with the Modern Version of Captain John Smith visited the "silversmith's" shop, the courthouse, the "Golds" incidentally only as visitors, served short sentences in the pillory etc.

After showing the film of their home activities and the highlights of their convention trip, which was very pleasing to all and quite instructive, they proudly presented to the Taneytown High School the second place trophy they won for their snow removal project, which was a noteworthy accomplishment when we consider the size and location of the club and its homelike as compared with the number and size of competing clubs and their possible programs.

May we offer congratulations and the most felicitous wishes for prosperous and successful future projects in the knowledge that these youths of today, have, from their lessons of fellowship and service as outlined in their club programs displayed the requisites of true Americanism. Long live the lessons of the Key Club!

Linda Schaffer Wins Spelling Bee

As winner of the school bee, Linda will participate in a spelling bee to determine the Carroll County Championship on Tuesday, April 10, at Westminster Junior High School. In addition to the winner and runner-up, eighteen pupils participated in the contest. They were Shirley Keilholtz, Carroll Schaffer, Donna Simpson, Marianne Jackson, Sharon Fesser, Francis Pittinger, Irene Fielder, Elvin Green, Esther Carr, Joan Stonesifer, Mary Jane Blettner, Linda Harner, Beverly Fair, Sheila Green, Linda Weaver, Cathy Parrish, Joyce Zentz and John Lawrence.

Meeting of Farmer Group

The Taneytown Farm Bureau Planning Group is of the opinion that the county school board members should be elected by direct vote, rather than by appointment. The parents with children of school age feel that they should have a voice in filling such an important position.

The P.T.A. and other groups should join in forces and demand to be heard. Often, when the name of someone they feel would be perfect for the job, is mentioned, the suggestion falls on deaf ears. There is just too much politics where school board members are concerned.

Too many times, a school board member will support the thinking of the superintendent, rather than think for himself, just to stay on the good side.

It is true, board members should support the superintendent, but he needs the guidance of intelligent, self-reliant citizens.

Board members should be prepared to accept a portion of the responsibility of guiding the destiny of the citizens of tomorrow.

Therefore, we should ELECT school board members. Each and every interested person should have a voice about the selection.

There should be a law enacted to permit the people of Carroll Co. to select by direct vote, its school administration.

ELECTRIC HOME HEATING AND COOLING OFFER YEAR-ROUND COMFORT

If you are planning to buy a new home or modernize your old one, you have undoubtedly thought about the many new appliances and probably the heating equipment you'd like to have. The heating system in your home is vitally important to the comfort of your family, and many builders and contractors to whom you've talked have favored a variety of methods for heating the home.

An electric heating specialist of the Potomac Edison System said that "most conventional systems are adequate to do the job, but only one—electric heating—offers the benefits that no other provides."

More and more people are buying larger homes or adding rooms to their present ones. Living space in the American home is becoming increasingly scarce and expensive. Every square foot of space counts. The American family is growing in size, and most conventional and old-fashioned forms of heating use furnaces, storage tanks, flues and vents, the space they take up is wasted. This is valuable space that could be put to good advantage for the family.

One of the most revolutionary changes that have transpired since man first devised fire to heat his cave is electric heating. Electric heating is the modern way to provide even warmth throughout the home. It radiates comfort from the ceilings, walls and floors. It is silent, it is concealed and it takes up no space.

Electricity radiates warmth evenly from floor to ceiling. Children who formerly caught colds on the floor from drafts or cold air are less inclined to be sick where temperatures are even regulated.

Electric heat is most appreciated by those who have experienced it in their homes. It warms indirectly like sunshine. There are no hot air blasts. Each room can be controlled independently.

Electric heating is outstanding because it is absolutely clean. There is no combustion. It is flameless, and because it is flameless, there is no fear of fumes. There is no smoke or soot to darken wall or woodwork. Electric heating cannot make dirt.

Taneytown Woman Fatally Burned

An 81-year-old Taneytown woman was burned fatally Monday when her clothes caught fire in the kitchen of her home about 8 a.m.

Mrs. Mary Ann Rodkey, died about half an hour later while en route to the Annie M. Warner Hospital, Gettysburg, in the Taneytown Fire Co. ambulance. She suffered third degree burns over her entire body.

Mrs. Rodkey, who lived alone, was the widow of Ira A. Rodkey, who died Feb. 7. She was a daughter of the late John C. and Susan Hahn Halter. She was a member of Baust United Church of Christ and the Sunday school and was a life member of the Women's Guild and Aid Society.

She leaves eight children, Mrs. Monroe Wantz, Union Bridge; Mrs. Raymond Baker, Luther and Martin Rodkey, all of Taneytown; Paul Rodkey, Union Bridge R. D. 1; Mrs. Mary Bowers and Mrs. Cecil Green, both of Westminster R. D. 1; Mrs. Lloyd A. Bowers, Littlestown R. D. 1; 20 grandchildren, 14 great-grandchildren; a brother and three sisters, Harvey Halter, Silver Run; Mrs. Oliver Brown, Mayberry; Mrs. Bertie Horich, Melrose, and Mrs. Oliver Dutterer, Silver Run.

Funeral services will be held in Baust Church today (Thurs.) at 2 p.m. The Rev. Miles S. Reifsnider will officiate assisted by the Rev. Morgan Andreas. Burial will be in the church cemetery.

MEETING OF MAYOR AND CITY COUNCIL

Improvements of Street Surface Will Be Made

The Mayor and City Council held their regularly scheduled monthly meeting on Monday evening April 2, at 7 p.m., with all members present. Officer Hahn reported 44 Parking Violations, 4 Funerals, and 3 Fires. The Town Clerk reported a balance of $17,564.80 in the General Expense Account and $4,013.90 in the Parking Meter Fund.

A new town ordinance was written and will be published in the near future extending the time that a property holder has to remove snow and ice from his sidewalk. The new time ordinance allows you 10 hours during which all snow and ice must be removed. The old ordinance allowed 1 hour. This may seem untimely, but the ordinance was just received from our attorney after having been requested early in the winter.

The Mayor was instructed to remedy two surface water problems—the one at the Charles Anders property on George Street and the other in the alley near the creamery.

The Street Committee which consists of George Naylor Jr., Chairman and Delmont Koons, wishes to report that the Street Sign Program has been completed and if any signs are needed at any location in our town this committee should be notified. Last Saturday morning, a group of able bodied Jaycees helped to put up the remaining Stop Signs, One Way Signs, 25 MPH Signs and No Parking At Any Time Signs. This organization is to be commended for their fine community spirit and by the services which they render the town.

George Fream was in charge of getting this group together and special thanks must go to George Fream, James Fair, John Williams, Patrick Hobbs, Earl Lookingbill, Dean Nusbbaum and William Abrecht, Jr. It is hoped that the citizens of Taneytown realize that quite a large sum of money has been saved the taxpayers of the town through the donation of labor by this group. Special thanks is also in order for Wantz Brothers who donated their Air Compressor for this project.

One way traffic has now been incorporated into the Taneytown Memorial Park. Traffic will now be One-Way on the lower street and One-Way out on the upper street. This will relieve some of the traffic congestion at the entrance to the Park and also make the entrance further away from the curve on West Baltimore Street. This new plan will be strictly enforced.

The Street Committee also presented to Council a Street Improvement Program for the year 1962-1963. This program will be let out for bids to at least 3 Road Building Contractors and these sealed bids will be opened on May 7, 1962. It is hoped that our finances will allow us to carry out the entire program as outlined by the Street Committee. This program is as follows:

1. Taney Drive (from Kenneth Davidson to Dean Browns) and the John Chenoweth Street be macadamized. These two streets had their permanent bases laid last fall.
2. From Nusbaums Canning Factory to George Street, across the Railroad Bridge to Middle Street - to be tarred and dusted.
3. Middle Street to be tarred and dusted.
4. Fairview Avenue to be tarred and dusted.
5. The Reformed Church Alley to be tarred and dusted.
6. Riffe Alley to be tarred and dusted (from the end of the cement part to the standpipe).
7. Baumgardner Avenue from Kenneth Hawks to East Baltimore Street to have permanent base installed.

Those streets which call for "tar and dust" are in fairly good shape but have quite a few cracks in the road surface. It is our objective to seal all cracks eliminating the possibility of water getting beneath the surface for the winter of 62-63.

The Mayor and City Council wish to call to the attention of the citizens of Taneytown that "REGISTRATION DAY" will be Tuesday, April 10, 1962, in the Firemans Building from 9:00 a.m. until 9:00 p.m. You can not vote in the town election if you are not registered for a national election. It is imperative that you participate in your town government so REGISTER on Tuesday, April 10, 1962.

The Council adjourned at a late hour.

EASTER EGG HUNT

Plans for the annual Easter Egg Hunt were finalized at the monthly meeting of Hesson-Snyder Post No. 120 of the American Legion. The Egg Hunt will be held at Memorial Park, April 22, 1962, beginning at 2:00 p.m., and is open to all the children of the community between the ages of one and ten years. The parents of the children in this age group are urged to mark this date on their calendars. The rain date is Monday, April 23, at 6:00 p.m.

Anyone who would like to donate eggs for this event may leave them at the Legion Home, on Broad St. A reminder to all Legionnaires—Saturday, April 21 is "Egg Coloring Day" at the Legion Home, so you all come!

"SPICE 'N' EVERYTHING NICE"

With all my heart, I wish you every morning
A smile that shall last until the next day's dawning.
I wish you health—life's greatest wealth;
I wish you always near so that I may help to cheer
Each future day and in some way—help to bring you happiness!

Sitting with the group in the Lobby of the West end of The Court House in Baltimore for the birthday of this State of Maryland—No. 323 years of the Founding was most interesting, short and colorful with the different organizations representing this grand State. Of course, our nice Mayor Grady was there and appropriate songs were sung such as Maryland, My Maryland, The Star Spangled Banner and then a huge wreath was placed at the Monument of Lord Cecil Calvert right outside of the Court House. The speakers were interesting and to the point. It lasted about one hour. The CREAM of Baltimore was right there and all the ladies with their new Spring attire. The chains were placed in a semi-circle and as I gazed around for this Column saw quite a few of the Leaders of the Civic League, Mrs. Thomas Beers, President of The Maryland Colonial Society gave an interesting short talk. The men in Uniform appeared beautifully—like statues!

The department stores seem to be crowded these days for Easter Shopping and it seems each year, the crowds grow bigger. It compares with Christmas time.

It does seem too bad as to the Maryland Soldier's Bonus. Why other states have come forward, I cannot understand why this state as many others do not have the same idea for after all a Service man regardless of the State is still Uncle Sam's nephew! Eh? ORTEBEALAW! Especially at this very time when so many are out of work.

Why—oh—why during the times when running for office, is there so much slamming of each other? Why can't they say what they plan and hope to do without running down the opposite party? These days when a salesman represents a car, he cannot afford to run down other makes as they are all good—the only difference, one make may have a few more gadgets or even one better feature. If I were running for any office, I would never, never speak ill of the other party. Many women do not vote just for this very reason as I made a recent survey. It is really disgusting and discouraging.

Now, as to "The Farmer's Almanac" for April—read on—"Costal fog, says the log. High gales, rain in palls this gibbous quarter. Loweny and showery. Foul rain or snow lays everyone low. Spittin' and spattin'!"

Dear Observer:
Perhaps the following will discourage girls who think they are in love with an older man. That is what I thought 33 years ago and the difference of ages were twenty-five years. Now, my husband is 77 and even appears older and I am the most lone-some person in the world!

Signed, Mrs. S.
There you have it, girls, and that from experience. This does not begin at the beginning of the marriage but as Father Time takes the hand of the elderly husband. Of course there have been a few marriages in cases like this that did pan out but they can be counted, the world over. Have a grand week-end, Folks. Drive carefully. Go to church and that not just at Easter and Christmas as many do but each Sunday of the year and don't gripe if your church is at a distance—attend the nearest one regardless of the Denomination for after all, it means you will be worshipping God! Until next week D. V. I am Faithfully,
YOUR OBSERVER

NO ARMY — NO NAVY — NO AIR FORCE

Our UN Ambassador Adlai Stevenson has been quoted as saying that "we must be prepared in the West for restraints on self-interest which a world-wide system of law and policing implies".

With the appearance in print of Department of State Publication 7277, "Freedom from War, the United States Program for General and Complete Disarmament in a Peaceful World", we know what his typically oblique words mean. They mean that it is the considered policy of the Executive Branch of our Gov., expressed in this plan already formally submitted to the UN General Assembly, to disband our armed forces and dismantle our defense system - weapons, rockets, planes, ships and all - except for the portions turned over to the UN "Peace Force" (most recently employed, with our help, in the rape of Katanga). It means that the Administration has already prepared and is pushing for the surrender of our Constitution, our Bill of Rights, our national traditions and our freedom. All these and our troops and weapons, too, it proposes to give over to a UN in which steadily increasing Soviet power fore-shadows early, and certainly ultimate, Communist control.

This State Department program is so fantastic that no American could be expected to believe it without reading it for himself. Obviously, there is no single document in the world of comparable importance to all Americans at this moment. But it has not been easy to get. The Government Printing Office reports at this writing that it is swamped with a backlog of 100,000 orders that will take weeks to fill. (It could take long enough to make protest futile.)

But you can get a photographically faithful copy of the State Department's "grand design of surrender" quickly. Lyle Munson, president of The Bookmailer, Inc. (P.O. Box 101, New York 16, New York) has rushed this nightmarish "Program" into print so that it may be studied by his alert fellow Americans without delay. "It must be," he says, "if our Republic is to survive."

Mr. Munson explains that he must have 25 cents for his reprints rather than the 15 cents asked by the Government Printing Office because: "Unlike the Government, we cannot use your tax dollars to print it; nor can we mail it 'free' at public expense." And time is running out. As Doctor Robert Morris, president of The University of Dallas, says in his foreword to the Bookmailer reprint: "We seem to be forging our own chains."

How a Shell research team got 168.47 miles per gallon

A Shell research team drove this car to a Mileage Marathon record. They used the same Shell fuel that could be bought at Shell stations.

168 miles per gallon must be a world record. Here's how the record was made—and how a quiet marriage of careful driving and today's Super Shell can help you get better mileage.

SOME years ago, a group of Shell scientists had a friendly argument. The gist of it: who could get the most miles from a gallon of gasoline. They decided to find out. And Shell's Mileage Marathon was born.

All contestants had to use the same gasoline anybody could buy at a Shell station. Beyond that, the Marathon had few rules. And ingenuity ran wild.

How the record was set

Here are some of the things that Dave Berry and Fred Schuette, the winning team, did to set their record.

None are recommended for informal marathons. But they do offer a few clues on how to get more miles per gallon.

- Berry and Schuette removed their engine cooling fan to save power and muffled their radiator to retain heat.
- They used tires worn smooth and pumped up to 50 pounds pressure to cut rolling friction to a minimum.
- On the road, they accelerated to 20 miles per hour, cut the ignition and rolled until speed dropped to 5 miles per hour. Then they repeated the cycle.

NOTE: they used a standard carburetor from an old one-cylinder engine.

Since "on-and-off" driving is illegal on public roads—and since most Marathon modifications are dangerous for normal use—you may wonder if Shell's Mileage Marathon had any point.

Indeed it did. In the months of preparations, every contestant learned a bit more about the care and feeding of automobiles. Knowledge of this sort gets passed along to you in the form of better Shell products for your car.

EXAMPLE: As a result of Shell's research studies, including many mileage tests, one of the 9 ingredients in today's Super Shell is a mileage-booster called Platformate. This ingredient alone can release up to 8 percent more energy per gallon than the finest 100-octane aviation gasoline. Result: extra mileage.

To help boost mileage even more, follow these driving tips from Berry and Schuette.

How you can save gasoline

1. Don't race your engine when standing still. Unnecessary engine speed is pure waste and takes you nowhere.

2. Avoid jackrabbit starts. Fast getaways waste gasoline and power.

3. Drive at moderate speeds. Your car uses about 25 percent more gasoline at 65 mph than at 45 mph.

4. Keep an even speed. Ragged driving uses extra fuel—without taking full advantage of the power it could generate.

5. Pace yourself in traffic. Don't be the fastest or the slowest. You'll just be trapped into wasteful spurts and slowdowns.

6. Keep tires up to their proper pressure. Soft tires can soak up power.

7. Ask your Shell dealer about these checks: Spark timing should be set correctly. Fuel filters and air cleaner should be cleaned regularly. Brakes should be properly adjusted. And your cooling system thermostat must work right.

Motorists who follow these rules, and use Super Shell, can expect good mileage. Chances are, you can improve the mileage you are now getting. Now that you know how, why not give it a try?

YOU and your DOG

HOME WORMING

It's fairly common knowledge that today's household dog, as pampered and petted as he may be, will still have worms at one time or another. What is not so well known is that most types of worms can now be treated easily and safely at home.

According to recent findings by Sergeant's Dog Care Center of Richmond, Va., close to one-half of the dog-owning population may be unaware that there are a variety of worming products available for effective treatment at home.

A puppy should be treated for large roundworms as early as six weeks old, or as soon as he has been weaned. These parasites can be easily eliminated through use of a special worming capsule. The capsule is simply opened and the contents then mixed with the dog's food.

Regarding the loving care he receives, a grown dog can acquire worms, too, from the ground, from fleas, from rubbish and from other dogs. Easily administered, worm capsules for dogs under and over 10 pounds can also be obtained for them at drug or pet stores.

Home Handyman
Can Make Own
Picture Frames

It's not the art, it's the framing that strains the purse strings of today's art collector. What with the emergence of the "Sunday painter" and the availability of good, low-cost prints of fine paintings, art collecting can be anyone's hobby. If there's a handyman in the household, framing the collection can be inexpensive, too.

With stock moldings of ponderosa pine, good glue, and a few do-it-yourself tools, handsome frames can be made to bring out the best in any work of art. Here's how to do it:

Measure pictures to be framed, then go to your local building supply dealer to choose the molding that best suits the art. Ask the dealer to cut a rabbit—a small recess 1/4-inch deep and about 3/8-inch wide—along the inner edge of the molding to allow picture and glass to set snug with the back of the frame.

The dealer also can cut moldings at 45-degree angles for butt joints if you have precise measurements, or you can do this at home with a sharp hand saw and a miter box.

This week we extend our heartfelt sympathy to the Rodkey family on the loss of their mother, Mrs. Ira Rodkey; also to the Linsey Cook family on the loss of their loved one, Mrs. Treva (Myers) Cook.

There is a home not made by hands, Beyond it's golden door Awaits the one who's now away, Not lost—just gone before. One by one their seats are empty, One by one they went away, Now the family is parted, Will it be complete some day?

The dull brown earth is waking From months of languor deep, Awakening as a tired child Arouses from its sleep. Within the earth's deep bosom Each tiny seed has heard The soft low call of Springtime And at her spoken word Has thrust out clinging fingers And grasped a dull brown clod, Then burst in sudden beauty To glorify the sod.

And when as changing seasons March down the years of time, The blossoms of the earth awake In every land and clime. We know God's human flowers From their long sleep shall rise To bloom in fadeless beauty In His fair Paradise. And as in matchless splendor The seasons roll along Each Spring morn proclaims anew The resurrection song.

A VOICE FROM CARROLL

We lost two friends last week which depressed us. One was a companion which had shared with us the ups and downs of our life for close to twenty-four years. Through all the years of trying to be a good homemaker and failing most of the time, it put up with our peculiarities and shortcomings and gave reliable service. We speak almost with choked emotion of our Westinghouse refrigerator which finally deceased last week and had to be replaced with another one. It is a peculiar trait of the female sex that we grow so attached to our house furnishings that we give to them the same loyalty as we do our friends and family. Maybe at times even more than we should. The other friend we lost was Jack Parr, who relinquished his To-night show last Thursday. He was the only reason we watched television. Now that he is off we will go to bed before midnight and get more sleep. No longer will we be too stimulated to sleep by controversial subjects, and lay awake trying to figure out how the feud between Parr and the newspapers will end. For it has ended with Jack having the last word Thursday night. Old friends depart and others take their place but it will be a long time before anyone fills the space formerly held by Jack Parr and our old refrigerator. When your son or daughter goes away to school you are not losing them.....just gaining new house guests every week-end.

This is the time of year when the Game and Inland Fish Department issues a warning to all Maryland residents not to pick up young animals and birds which appear to be lost. Each year, during the spring and early summer, well-meaning people are forever finding and capturing lost fawns, young squirrels and newly hatched birds. Such people not only do harm to the animal or bird, but they also violate the law. Actually, young animals and birds are seldom lost. Usually they have been left in a hidden spot while a parent searches for food. Human odors left about the young animal or nest may keep the parents from returning. Consequently, the young may starve.

Whenever we see a mushroom growing we wish that we could tell the difference between the ones that are safe to eat and the ones that had better be left alone. For mushrooms taste delicious even the ones that are poisonous. From spring until late autumn all varieties grow in the woods and meadows, but because some are dangerous, we are afraid to eat any of them. The commercial mushroom has a mild and uninteresting taste, but the wild varieties taste like sweetbreads, beefsteak, oysters, the white meat of chicken and lamb. There are some with taste so rare that they cannot be described. But, no matter how wonderful they taste, the risk of dying is too high a price to pay for adventuresome eating. But we have friends who know the difference between the safe and non-safe mushrooms and they are trying to teach us to identify them too. One safe eating mushroom is called Marel. It grows in the woods and is shaped like a christmas tree. Their color is tanor brown and their size two to six inches. Take a knife and slice the mushroom from top to bottom; it will be hollow. Around here the morel grows in April or May. It rarely grows in the same spot two years in a row. One of the poisonous mushrooms is called the Amanita. It is common, beautiful and delicious and it is deadly. Long after it has been eaten and forgotten the symptoms begin....nausea, vomiting, delirium and blindness and eventually death. Is it any wonder that most people are scared of wild mushrooms?

There are no new girls, no new women. Your great-grandmother was a devil of a clip half a century before you were born. You knew her only when she was old and wrinkled and reading the Psalms in a lace cap and saying she didn't know what the world was coming to. The young have always been young and the old always old; men and women don't change. The changes that you think you see lie just on the surface. You could wash them away with soap and water.

A doctor in a hurry recently made the mistake of passing a state trooper. At once the trooper speeded up to catch him. The doctor being a fast thinker picked up his stethoscope from the seat beside him and waved it out the window. The officer saluted respectively and slowed down. A day or two later the doctor passed the same state trooper on the same highway. They recognized each other. With a friendly nod, the officer stuck his hand out the window and waved a pair of handcuffs at the doctor.

Isn't it strange how two warm days in the spring can make people forget how fickle the weather can be? On Saturday we saw a woman take her house plants out on her front porch. If she didn't move them back indoors Sunday night she doesn't have plants anymore.

Spring rains left a small lake across one of the country roads in our county. The situation was ignored by the authorities until a motorist exasperated after days of driving through the water, posted this sign: "No Swimming, Boating or Fishing Allowed in Country Roads." The next day a work crew arrived to drain the road.

Politeness is like an air cushion; there may be nothing to it, but it eases our jolts wonderfully.

LOCAL FARMER HONORED

PETERBOROUGH, N. H. — Clyde F. Weant of Pre-Echo Guernsey Farm in Taneytown, Maryland has been elected to membership in the American Guernsey Cattle Club, non-profit agricultural organization serving over 40,000 purebred Guernsey breeders throughout the United States.

Mr. Weant started with purebred Guernseys in 1951 and now owns 21 head. He hopes to increase his herd to include 30 head as soon as possible. Mr. Weant is a member of the Carroll County Guernsey Club, and has shown his fine Guernseys at Carroll County 4-H F. F. A. Fair, Western Maryland Field Day, McDonough School and Maryland State Fairs.

The American Guernsey Cattle Club records the registration of purebred Guernseys - those whose ancestry can be traced back to the Isle of Guernsey, original home of the breed. The American Guernsey Cattle Club also records the results of official production tests; and, through Golden Guernsey, Inc., supervises the marketing of Golden Guernsey Milk.

Lutheran Faith

The divorced person needs the church.

A divorce involves struggle, a struggle that leaves some badly scarred, some burdened with guilt; some come out of the struggle feeling proud or relieved.

There remains a need for one—or all—of the following —forgiveness, acceptance, agreement, consolation, guidance, or just plain understanding.

It's at this point that the church can help.

The church is eager to help, not hurt, by declaring the forgiveness of Christ to the truly repentant.

Lutherans believe the church exists to love. She excludes no one from that love.

How To Predict Driving Weather

It isn't hard to predict weather when you're on a driving trip, if you know what signs to look for. Clouds, sky colors and wind directions are your clues. Here's how to interpret them.

Morning or evening skies of dull red color mean rain within 24 hours. So does glaring white sunlight behind dark cloud masses.

Fair weather follows a dawn when morning frost or ground dew are seen. Fluffy white clouds scattered over a light blue sky foretell no rain for at least a day.

If SE to SW winds send fleecy clouds scurrying—rain within 1 1/2 days. N to NE winds may make the sky look overcast... but you can bet it won't rain for at least 2 days.

Strong winds are on the way if the sky is marked with bright yellow streaks. Pale yellow often predicts rain in less than a day.

Rosy skies bring good weather. Ask your local American Oil Company service station dealer for more tips on how to plan ahead for better driving.

PHYSICAL FITNESS

A new concept in physical fitness for school-age youngsters in the form of a phonograph record was presented to the Taneytown High School by the Taneytown Jaycees.

The record, appropriately called, "Chicken Fat", was written by Meredith Willson, the famous music and lyrics composer of the Broadway hit and motion picture, "Music Man".

At the personal request of President Kennedy's Council on Youth Fitness, Willson authored "Chicken Fat", with the star of "Music Man", Robert Preston, recording it.

Locally, the records are being distributed by the Taneytown Jaycees as part of the nation - wide effort on the part of the U. S. Junior Chamber of Commerce to exclusively handle the distribution of the records for the President's Council.

Local Jaycee President, James Fair, presenting records to the physical education directors at the school. These instructors in turn promoted the use of the records by individual students and this week more than three dozen records were purchased by the students for use at home.

Actually, the "Chicken Fat" recording is two songs. One side is a six minute version designed for use in doing body building calisthenics. The other version, on the opposite side, is a two minute "Sing-Along" primarily designed for disc jockeys and radio and television use.

The recording was produced on a non-profit basis under the supervision of the President's Council on Youth Fitness. Willson and Preston donated their time and talents, Capitol Records pressed the discs at cost, and the U. S. Jaycees are distributing them at cost.

New Paint Simplifies Work. Use Water for Thinning, Clean-Up

- WIPE OFF DEW
- BRUSH ON PAINT
- QUICK CLEAN UP

Those two age-old incompatibles, oil and water, have successfully been combined in solution form to bring to homeowners everywhere a new and practical exterior house paint with gloss finish and oil durability that's a pleasure to use.

As a result of recent laboratory technological developments, the do-it-yourself painter, as well as the professional, can now apply blister-resistant lined oil paint even over damp surfaces.

The brushing is easy, so is the clean up of tools and equipment with soap and water. If any thinning is required, use water, too. Pratt & Lambert Inc., of Buffalo, N. Y., one of the nation's oldest manufacturers of quality paint and varnish, is the first major company in the industry to market this new type of paint under the brand name of Pratt & Lambert "6-T-1" House Paint. It's simple to apply, as easy as 1-2-3! If the siding is damp from a heavy dew or recent rain, wipe off the excess moisture; next, brush on "6-T-1" House Paint as you would other first quality exterior paint, and when clean up time comes, just wash brushes with tap water and soap. Pratt & Lambert "6-T-1" House Paint dries normally. The film becomes impervious to water in 2 to 4 hours and progressively more durable and weather resistant as the oil oxidizes.

Investment for Growth

Industrialist Asks Aid for American Worker's Fight for Economic Life

Americans are not successfully meeting world competition in many places, a Pittsburgh industrialist, E. J. Hanley, declared in a recent speech before the Economic Club of Detroit. Hanley, president of Allegheny Ludlum Steel Corp., pointed to effects of short-sighted, modernization-killing tax laws as "the biggest single deterrent to modernization of the American industrial plant."

Sixty-two years ago, American locomotives, running on American rails, whistled past the Pyramids and across the long Siberian steppes, Hanley recalled. They carried Hindoo pilgrims from all parts of their empire to the sacred waters of the Ganges. We were successful then in meeting competition everywhere. Quoting a treasury official of the day, Hanley said America sent coal to Newcastle, cotton to Manchester, cutlery to Sheffield, potatoes to Ireland, champagne to France and Rhine Wine to Germany.

In contrast, today all Americans seek a way to meet world competition, raising the question of newer, modern machinery. "Our foreign friends in steel average newer machinery than we do, largely because it has been necessarily built new from the ground up, due to war destruction and the Russians carrying it off bodily," he said.

50-CENT DOLLARS

Charging that the short-sighted, modernization-killing tax laws of the United States have proved to be the biggest single deterrent to the modernization of the American industrial plant, Hanley said they must be changed. We have the most restrictive rules of any industrialized country, he continued, and consequently find ourselves replacing 1945-50 equipment with the 50-cent dollars of 1962.

Finding it necessary to obtain new capital to replace losses in our capital structure, he cited the alternative as letting the modernization of plants and equipment, so badly needed in the competitive battle, await a "better year."

With an estimated 100 billion dollars worth of industrial plant and equipment obsolete now, another 60 billion dollars worth will become obsolete by 1970, according to Hanley.

Foreign competitors are installing new plants and equipment at unbelievable speed, observers report, as they beat us at our own game of cost reduction. A recent study of Dr. Simon Kuznets, carefully documents the effects of past high-level Federal budgets on our economy's capital accumulation. In brief, the study showed that in recent years national economic growth in the U. S. has been stunted — not by any shortage of investment opportunities — but by a shortage of savings available for investment. Income and savings declined relative to national product, largely because of rising tax rates.

MUST REDUCE COSTS

The largest single element in cost of most products today is labor. To obtain low cost, Hanley said modern plants and highly productive labor must combine to reduce high hourly employment costs. These high hourly costs require the use of every bit of ingenuity we can muster to change methods, designs, and equipment to help workers increase their productivity. Besides, the individual workman must get to understand he is truly in competition. We must rekindle in him the same "intense desire" to do a job that our foreign friends show in their work.

"These matters — modernization of plant, freeing of funds to encourage investment, lower labor costs — are of importance to every person in this country," Hanley stated. Besides being part and parcel of our ability to meet foreign competition within our borders, they are fundamental to selling our own products in foreign markets, an absolute necessity in maintaining the integrity of the Dollar.

Steady seepage of our gold reserves, which amounted to 2 1/2 million dollars a day in 1961, won't let us easily forget need for discipline, Hanley declared.

He pointed to the fallacy of the theory that advances in productivity should be passed on to the few, in higher labor costs, rather than to the many, through lower prices. Lower prices would pass the advantage not only to those in manufacturing, but to those in agriculture, the service industries and in the professions. In addition to passing advantages of productivity to just a few, the productivity wage increase idea opens flood gates and undoes the objective of lowering costs so essential to our nation's success in the world markets.

The most secure workman works for the company with the lowest costs and, therefore, with the highest profit in an industry, Hanley concluded.

PRESERVE SIGHT — PREVENT BLINDNESS
Theme For 1962

This little girl is suffering from a "lazy eye". Though not too serious the condition diminishes the child's vision and, if not arrested in time, may lead to weak-sightedness and even eventual blindness. The way to correct this is through exercises like the one she performs here. By covering the good eye she trains the lazy one to work properly.

A lazy eye is only one of a host of menaces to good vision a child runs in growing up. Of the world's 10 million blind people about 650,000 are children. Yet fully two-thirds of this global burden of blindness need never have occurred. It could have been prevented. Naturally, the best place to begin blindness prevention is with children.

It was in recognition of the tragic and unnecessary waste that blindness inflicts on the world's human and economic health that the 109 member states of the World Health Organization chose "Preserve Sight—Prevent Blindness" as the theme for the celebration April 7 of the UN specialized agency's fourteenth anniversary. WHO Director-General Dr. M. G. Candau says: "With proper treatment by drugs and surgery, sight could be restored to millions who are now losing it; preventive measures can ensure that in the future the numbers of the blind will be a third or less of what they are today." "It cannot be repeated too often that the cost of preventive services is only a fraction of what could be saved by reducing the burden which the blind inevitably represent for any country's economy."

A Mature Faith

Lesson for April 8, 1962

A MAN may be embarrassed to discover that his mother has saved some of his baby clothes, or he may be pleased that she did so. Either way, he is not going to hunt around in the men's clothing stores looking for something to wear just like what he sported in his second year of life, only bigger. The clothes of babyhood do not suit the man.

Dr. Foreman

The same should be true of a man's faith. The faith of a little child is good, make no mistake about that. And the baby-food which a small infant guzzles by the bottle-full is good also, at the right time. But when the boy goes off to college his mother does not pack his cute little teddy-bear to go with him, nor does she look to see if his supply of baby-goo is plentiful.

A taught faith

What is good, and sufficient, for a child, may still be good, but not sufficient, for a grown person. If we are expected to become mature in what we eat and what we wear, not to mention what we read and what we think about, surely a Christian can be expected to acquire a more mature faith as well.

In Paul's letter to his young friend Timothy, we have some hints about what mature faith may be. Those who have studied these letters to Timothy and Titus have sometimes concluded that the two young men were opposite types. Titus is thought to have been a rather hard-boiled, hard-hitting type, and Paul has to urge him to be considerate and gentle; Timothy was shy and rather boyish; Paul has to urge him to be manly, to stand up and take it, and not to lean on others.

There are three marks of the mature faith which Paul wants his young former assistant to develop. First of all it is a "taught" faith; in the best sense it was handed down to him. His mother and his grandmother before him were women of faith. (Paul evidently thought it best not to bring up the men of the family.) Now it is no disgrace to have faith taught us, at first, so to speak. We learn everything else but breathing and digestion. Why not faith? Most people of strong convictions would tell you they received those convictions, to begin with, by contact with some one they liked or admired. There is nothing wrong with that, indeed it is necessary.

Truth-centered faith
But a faith that goes through life dressed in quotation-marks, is not worth much to an adult; "Mamma said," "Papa thought," "Grandpa had the idea..." won't do. The whole family may be right; but if you believe what you believe just because they said so, you're still a spiritual infant. They believed certain things to be true; and mature faith believes—so far as it can—what is true, not what is said to be true. "Do you ask me this of yourself," Jesus said to Pilate, "or did others tell you about me?" Pilate dodged the question; but we should not. Faith is not worth much, it is a broken ship in a storm, if it remains as it began, a heresy faith. When students learn physics, they have to perform many experiments in the laboratory. These test the truth of what the professor says in his lectures. The big question is not, Was the professor forceful, clear, eloquent? The question is rather: was what he said, true?

A tested faith
It is easy to have faith when everything is coming your way, when the breaks are with you. A child finds faith easy; a grown person does not. The reader of II Timothy will notice the various references to trouble, danger, illness, disappointments. Indeed when Paul wrote this letter he was a prisoner, facing a death sentence. A mature faith is one that can be as joyous as Paul's was even when the circumstances of life are ugly and painful. We pray, "Lord, increase our faith;" and then sometimes, instead of the heart-warming lift we were expecting, some chilling, dreadful experience seizes us, and we wonder why God did not answer our prayer. Well, nothing grows strong, not a muscle, not a brain, not even a bone, unless it is subjected to strains and stresses. So faith that is mature grows by facing the trials and the battles of the mature years.

WESTMINSTER

Jim Zester safety engineer for Nationwide Insurance, will give proof Friday morning, April 6th, that you can't "stop on a dime." He'll let students at Taneytown High School drive the demonstration car to see how quickly they can stop at 20 miles per hour. The three revolvers on the bumper will fire to mark the pavement when the driver (1) sees the stop signal, (2) slams on the brakes, and (3) brings the car to a dead stop.

Students at Taneytown High School will have front row seats Friday morning, April 6, 1962 when some of their classmates learn the facts of life-on-the-highways. Mr. Ned Musser, principal said the event will be in the nature of a test-demonstration, designed to disprove the old notion that a car can be "stopped on a dime."

Two students, a faculty member and a policeman will take turns at the wheel of a specially equipped car—and they'll bring it to an emergency stop while traveling at 20, 30, or 40 miles an hour. Other students will check the results.

The car is equipped so that distances can be measured accurately. An emergency signal light is mounted on the front of the car and three pistols are fastened on the front bumper. Aimed straight at the pavement, the pistols fire bullets of yellow paint which mark points at which the driver (1) sees the signal, (2) slams on the brakes, and (3) stops the car.

The automobile is supplied by Nationwide Insurance. A safety engineer for the firm will ride beside the driver and operate the equipment. Nationwide engineers have staged similar Traffic Safety Education programs before more than 5,000 student groups in eastern United States.

Fridays demonstration will be preceded by a student assembly during which students will be briefed on the program and hear an illustrated talk on the importance of driver attitudes. Mr. Musser said the assembly will begin at 9:30 A. M. and the test will follow about 45 minutes later on Roberts Mill Road, near school.

"Go"—Sedentary Style

UNLIKE the Astronauts' "Go", Japanese react to the word as a challenge to a game of oriental checkers. Played on a checkerboard with black and white stones, "Go" is the national indoor pastime in Japan, and lately the U.S. has become the largest Western "Go" playing nation with more than 50,000 addicts. Kaoru Iwamoto, professional 8th Dan and former champion of Japan, is shown matching wits simultaneously with nine challengers at New York's Nippon. Needless to say, he won over all.

OCCUPATIONAL VISION

Glare from a glass desk top—inadequate or poorly placed lighting—cause eyestrain, cut office efficiency. Shadowy storage or stock-room areas are dangerous; falls, bumps and bruises are almost sure to occur. These conditions should be corrected as soon as they are recognized. But when light is right...and seeing remains a problem...vision should be examined and if necessary corrective eyeglasses obtained.

In American industry, nearly 3,000 eye accidents occur daily! Flying particles, dangerous fumes and harmful light are the chief causes, according to the American Optometric Association...which says 98% of these accidents could be prevented by safety measures such as wearing well-fitted, properly made safety glasses on the job.

Industrial vision programs are saving eyesight and company funds throughout the country today. Workers in all departments have their eyes examined regularly...in view of the job they do...and if corrective measures are needed, they're taken immediately. Result: less vision damage...less spoilage...less time lost on or off the job...more take home pay!

"Why the Celebration?"

Today Mom and Dad burned the mortgage!"

Reaching full home ownership is surely a reason for celebrating, if ever there was one. And more and more families hereabouts are deciding that they can attain the happy status of homeowners—aided by our modern home-purchase loan plan. If you are thinking of buying or building a home, let's talk it over!

ROAD CONTRACTS TO BE ACTIVATED

Spring weather has signaled the resumption of Maryland's heavy program of roadbuilding in the west-central portion of the State.

Before the present construction season is over, contracts totalling $7,742,355.70 will be activated in the State Roads Commission Engineering District No. 7 comprised of Frederick, Howard and Carroll Counties.

This is part of Governor Tawes' 5-year "Go Roads" construction program on the State highway system.

Contracts either underway or scheduled to be activated this summer are:

Grading, drainage and surfacing of Maryland Route 26 from Winfield to Eldersburg in Carroll County.

Completion of this important project will give Marylanders a good road on Route 26 from Baltimore to Frederick.

Bridge on U. S. 340 over Catoclin Creek and the Catoclin Relocation on U. S. 340 in Frederick County.

This project will eliminate the dangerous Stiner's Hill Curve on U. S. 340.

The Sykesville By-Pass bridge on State Route 32 over the South Branch of the Patapsco River and the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad in Howard and Carroll Counties.

This is an aluminum bridge, the first of its kind in Maryland.

U. S. 15 from Pennsylvania line southerly for 1/2 mile in Frederick County.

U. S. 15 from Putnam Road to Thurmont By-Pass in Frederick.

Maryland 32-grading and drainage from Linden Church Road to Clarksville in Howard County.

Maryland 32 - Sykesville By-Pass Roadway in Howard and Carroll Counties.

Maryland 75 - New London southerly for 1 1/4 miles.

Maryland 97 - Roops Mill to Richardson Road in Carroll County.

Maryland 31 - New Windsor easterly for 3.2 miles in Carroll County.

Superstition is diminishing, according to the social scientists. Keep your fingers crossed and it may go away altogether. — CHANGING TIMES.
