Taneytown Lions Have District Convention Preview

An interesting presentation of what might have been a meaningless formality was afforded members of Taneytown Lions Club last Tuesday evening when they met in Taney Inn with 100% of the membership in attendance. President-elect Lewis R. Baer had charge of the program and showed slides and souvenirs of past conventions after it was voted to instruct the club's delegation to support the lone district gubernatorial candidacy of Lion Harry S. Bosley, from Lonaconing.

President John T. Hottinger conducted the usual opening ceremonies and called upon Merwin C. Fuss to pronounce the invocation, after which song singing was led by Lion tamer Stanley W. King to the piano accompaniment of Harry I. Reindollar.

The program chairman, Lion Baer, showed scenes principally from last year's Atlantic City convention, some of which were lent him by Secretary Kenneth C. Shorb. They were a colorful taste of what fun, pleasure, and profit is in store for those who will represent the club this year, from May 30 to June 2, in Chalfonte-Haddon Hall hotels, right on the famous boardwalk. Supplementing remarks were elicited by the chairman from Homer Y. Myers and Singleton E. Rensburg to explain certain views and to comment on the reason for the huge collection of hospitality room souvenirs which he displayed.

The president read an invitation from Legionnaire King for the club to participate in the Memorial Day parade on May 30, and the secretary read letters from two clubs announcing special events which would appeal to Taneytown Lions. Westminster is having their annual installation banquet June 6 in Frock's Dining Hall, starting with a social hour at 6:30, and following the 7 o'clock dinner there will be dancing to the music of Gene Frock's orchestra.

Frederick is celebrating their 40th anniversary with a banquet and dance at 6:30 p. m. on June 7, accommodations for which are limited to 400 persons, in Peter Pan Inn, and the Hon. Joseph W. Martin, Attleboro, Massachusetts, former Speaker of the House, will be the eminent speaker.

Booklets containing numerically listed "AL" license plate numbers were also distributed by the secretary to all Lions participating in this special series obtained from the Registry of Motor Vehicles.

About seventy boys have registered for Midget League baseball this summer and will be coached in two Lions-sponsored teams by Glenn Bollinger (Taneytown Cards) and Myron R. Tracey (Taneytown Cubs).

A directors' session in Taneytown's Potomac Edison Building followed the convention preview, and the next meeting of the club will take place on Tuesday, June 12, when District convention reports will be heard under the program chairmanship of Lion Rensburg.

Memorial Day Plans Complete

Hesson Snider Post No. 120, The American Legion, Taneytown, has announced that plans are now complete for the annual observance of Memorial Day.

As usual the observance will take place on Memorial Day. The parade will form at 12:30 P. M., on Uniontown Road, opposite Taney Inn, moving out at 1:00 P. M., proceeding directly through town via Baltimore Street, terminating at Memorial Park.

Appropriate ceremonies will be conducted at the Park entrance.

An exceptional speaker has been obtained. He is Mr. Ed Walters of Cambridge, Md. Mr. Walters is Postmaster in Cambridge, a former school teacher and presently a member of the Board of Education. Mr. Walters has long been an active member of the American Legion having held numerous offices in his home post. Also he is a Past Department (State) Commander of Maryland, a Past National Vice-Commander as well as having held numerous committee posts at the National level.

We may expect Mr. Walters to deliver an inspirational message. You will do well to be in attendance. I am paying homage to our honored dead in a patriotic duty. May we turn out in great numbers for this solemn occasion.

Kiwanis Klaxon

Now that we have Daylight Wasting time again and "Shirt sleeve playing" is in tune, let us all rally around the iced tea and help to make the "strawberry, steamed crabs and corn-on-the-cob" season the "Big Do for 62". Your presence, your smile and your appetite are needed as much as your wisdom, your prudence, or your subtle, shrewd, practical or wise judgments. Of course you will help!

After a delicious meal, President Reifsnider introduced Mr. John Breth of U. S. Sea Bees, home on furlough, the son of Kiwanian and Mrs. Sam Breth. Also 16 young men from the Boys Athletic Association were introduced and applauded.

Mr. George Fream, District Postmaster of Taneytown, was introduced and explained the program of the U. S. Government Post Office Safety Council in which Taneytown is enrolled and with appropriate remarks presented to Kiwanian Howell Royer a safety driving certificate of merit and also a Gold Pin for 25 years of safe driving during which time Howell has driven more than one fourth million miles serving more than 1000 patrons daily and now after this long term of faithful and efficient service has succeeded in having this great number of patrons all locate mail boxes on right-hand side of road which eliminates so much criss-crossing and reduces traffic hazards. Well done Howell! Now for the next twenty-five.

The program was then turned over to the Boys Athletic Association, whose officers were introduced and then we all enjoyed a talk by Mr. Fern Hitchcock, a former Taneytown boy who recounted the athletics and the sports of by-gone days. Meandering down "Memory Lane" Mr. Hitchcock recalled the old double desks, the punishment of sitting with a girl in case of misbehavior, the old games, the "Ole Swimm'n' Hole" and five and ten-mile walks for exercise, while now we have to have a car to get three blocks to school. Many of us are accused of "Living in the Past", many other people would also, if they had ever been there.

Mr. Wayne Hively of the Boys Athletic Association then gave a brief resume of the activities of the Association, followed by Kiwanian Bernard Decker, Athletic Director of Taneytown High School, who presented certificates of award to the athletic winners and letters.

Due to the numerous Memorial Day ceremonies and parades, next week our meeting will be held Tuesday, May 29, at the Inn—6:30.

A few days ago the Taneytown Ministerial Association announced the appointment of Mrs. Blanche Lookingbill, a member of the Taneytown United Church of Christ, as Director of the Community Vacation Bible School. She also stated that Mrs. Carleen Skiles, Registrar, reports a pre-registration of 190 boys and girls.

Meeting of C. of C.

The regular meeting of the Taneytown Chamber of Commerce was held Monday evening in Taney Inn.

President M. S. Olier presided at the meeting following the dinner. The minutes of the last regular meeting were read by Treasurer Murray Baumgardner in the absence of Secretary Frank Dunham.

Report of the success regarding the consolidation of the Taneytown High School with Francis Scott High School in defeating this move was made. Among the other reports was the progress of the securing the mail pick-up box.

Before the close of the meeting plans were considered for the summer picnic or outing.

"The school play had a happy ending—everyone was glad it was over!"—Hi Tuttle.

"SPICE 'N' EVERYTHING NICE"

With all my heart, I wish you every morning
A smile that shall last until the next day's dawn.
I wish you health—life's greatest wealth;
I wish you always near so that I may help to cheer.
Each future day and in some way—help to bring you happiness!

The lawn is filled with BUTTERCUPS and that reminds me of my childhood, when Daisies and Buttercups filled all the fields regardless of the location. The beautiful array of colors of the one hundred and twenty-five Tulips are in full bloom and I feel as though I have a miniature of "Sherwood Gardens" right here at my door!

"Bobby" my precious Cairn, my five month's old puppy, is now registered—"PRINCE BALLANTYNE OF TIVERTON" and they are real Scottish names. The cute part is when I smile at him, he immediately wags his tail without me saying a word! See what a smile can do, even with a dog?

One of the Mother's Day cards which always arrives with a beautiful handkerchief is a lovely worded one from the dear Postmistress at Darlington. That one always touches me deeply!

When I visit one friend of whom I am very, very fond, she will offer me those awful TRANQUILIZERS! She takes them regularly which has been prescribed for her from the physician! I smile and say, "No, thank you! Those I will never take!" I asked her if she read the article in the Reader's Digest as to the harm they do and then I added quickly, "And I am one person who does not need that kind of thing!"

When next you go to the Drug Store be sure and ask for that Swedish Formula of Hand Creme by Max Factor. Simply wonderful!

Now, to the Teen-agers—be sure you seek employment for the summer months and if you are graduating from High School make it a permanent affair but be sure it is something you really want and like to do.

Don't forget to put the flag out for Decoration Day. It is wonderful to see the little flag on the graves—as Uncle Sam always remembers the Nephews who gave their lives!

Now, as to WIGS! They may be O. K. for wearing as to a costume affair for a party but why in the world anyone would want to wear one over their own hair, is beyond me! And to think they are selling those Nylon ones so fast that they cannot keep the main colors in stock as browns, blacks, blondes and reds! These are heavy and I know they would be frightfully warm. As to the Human-hair wigs—that is another thing but they are frightfully expensive. Each hair is placed in fine net by the wig maker and that by hand of course they are lightweight and comfortable. It may be all O. K. too if one is bald and it is most essential to wear one. Bet-cha, that if you own real hair which has been cut from your own head that it will bring a big price.

Thinking about Presidents—bet-cha—if a man by the name of Ike would run again, he would be elected!

LETTERS:

Dear Observer: I live next door to a neighbor who recently was given a great big dog and it barks absolutely for nothing at all and it makes me terribly nervous. I have called this neighbor about it and she still has not done anything. I have been very ill and the Dr. asked me, in fact insisted that I lie down for two hours every afternoon, as I am still weak but this dog which is tied up in the rear of the house continues to bark. I am at a loss what to do. Could you kindly enlighten me? Thank you! Next door Neighbor.

Dear Next Door Neighbor: Give this neighbor another call and then if it is not stopped call the proper authorities on the phone and they will do the rest. No one can have a dog which is a nuisance. Your Obs.

Dear Observer:—I am an only child and expect to be married in June. I have a lot of relatives who want to give me showers but I have always heard that this is not proper that it should be friends who give the showers. Am I wrong? Signed—Bride To Be.

2 MEN WIN $89,000 IN INJURY SUIT

Federal Judge R. Dorsey Watkins last week awarded damages of $104,779 because of injuries suffered by two Bendix Radio men who were dropped into the sea by a broken cable as they were boarding a Texas tower 110 miles east of Cape Cod in November, 1959.

The verdicts were against the United States Government under the Suits in Admiralty Act. An insurer of the Fidelity and Casualty Company of New York was awarded $15,689 as part of the total for the men's workmen's compensation and hospital expenses.

Judge Watkins awarded the total of $89,000 to Arnold D. Gries, 31 of Randallstown, Maryland, and to Robert O. Taylor, 36, of Westminster, Maryland because of permanent disabilities.

The two men had been hospitalized in Baltimore after first receiving emergency treatment on Texas Tower No. 2 in the Atlantic Ocean. Rescue removal for hospital treatment had been delayed due to stormy weather before the men could be flown by helicopter to an Air Force base. The men were represented by I. Bryn McIntire, and Walter C. Herlihy, attorneys.

DEMANDS FOR MORE POWER

President Kennedy, by latest count, has made, in his messages to Congress, 62 demands for more spending and 25 demands for more Presidential power—all within the first four-and-a-half months of this year. This situation brought former President Eisenhower to Washington last week to warn against the deadly trend in government, and he cited as particularly dangerous President Kennedy's proposal that he, President Kennedy, be given (a) authority to modify income taxes whenever he might choose, (b) authority to regiment all agriculture, a request for authority, according to the former President, "more sweeping and repressive than any authority ever before sought over any segment of the nation's economy," and (c) authority to finance, wherever and whenever he (President Kennedy) pleases, large-scale emergency public works by using funds dedicated to other purposes by the Congress.

All the demands for more power are disturbing, but I find perhaps most disturbing this last proposal—the one for authority to start large-scale projects whenever President Kennedy pleases, financing them with money Congress has authorized for other Government activities. For one thing, this would make a mockery of the work of the Congress. Committees of the Senate and the House arrive at a figure to be authorized for the activities of a given Government agency after long and arduous study, and the exact amount finally authorized, usually after thoughtful debate, represents the majority opinion of 435 Congressmen and 100 Senators. To have President Kennedy throw all this work aside and grab the authorized money for some project of his own choosing would be contrary to the basic American concept of Government. President Kennedy's proposal would permit him to reach into the funds authorized as an emergency shield to protect small depositors in Federally-insured banks and savings-and-loan ministrations ngp famh -iwith bnh associations. In the Public Works Acceleration Act of 1962, now before the Senate, the bill which gives the President what he wants in this respect, the list of funds he may tamper with includes those authorized for the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation and the Federal Savings and Loan Insurance Corporation.

In a statement which he issued to warn the people and their elected Representatives and Senators about the dangers inherent in the grab for more Presidential power, former President Eisenhower had this to say:

"... the real threat to liberty in this Republic will come not from any sudden, calculated assault; rather, the threat to our liberties will be primarily found in a steady erosion of self-reliant citizenship, and in excessive power concentration, resulting from the lodging of more and more decisions in an ever-growing Federal bureaucracy."

They can offer dozens of tips on prolonging the life of what is probably your second biggest investment. Here are some useful samples:

1. Learn to read tail pipe smoke signals.

Blue smoke means too much oil is getting into the combustion chambers. Your piston rings may be worn.

Black smoke is an indication of too much gasoline in the air-fuel mixture. Your carburetor may need an adjustment.

White smoke is mostly water vapor. Don't worry about it.

2. Check wheel alignment at least twice a year.

An out-of-line wheel can increase tire wear as much as 50 percent. Also, keep your wheels balanced. An unbalanced wheel pounds the tire against the pavement, wearing the tread unevenly.

3. Rotate tires every 6,000 miles. Be sure to include your spare. This helps tires wear evenly, last longer. Your Shell dealer can take care of this for you.

4. Avoid high speeds and save your tires.

High speeds increase tire wear drastically—by as much as 80% over normal wear.

5. Use your engine to save your brake linings.

Try to avoid hard, sudden braking. When you see you'll have to slow down, take your foot off the accelerator early and let the engine's compression do some of the job.

6. Warm up slowly. Racing an engine to warm it up ages it fast.

A short warm-up at moderate speed is good for your car even in summer. But never race your cold engine to warm up. It may damage critical working parts before lubrication can be fully established.

7. Have your engine's spark timing set to proper specifications.

Spark timing determines whether your plugs fire at the right instant. With incorrect timing, you can lose power and mileage. Also, your car may knock. And chronic knocking can damage your engine.

8. Use a gasoline that controls knock.

If your engine persists in knocking, you may need a gasoline with more anti-knock components, for a higher octane rating.

Super Shell contains all of the anti-knock ingredients required to help your car deliver knock-free performance.

9. Have your oil checked whenever you fill up with gasoline.

Oil does not wear out. But it can be lost through leaks or burning. And it does get dirty. Worse yet, oil can become contaminated by combustion by-products—including acid.

Suggestion: use new Shell X-100® Premium Motor Oil. It fights engine acid and four other troubles that can shorten engine life.

10. Change your oil filter element regularly.

The filter is designed to catch and hold foreign particles so they can't get into your engine. Replacing the filter element at regular intervals helps your engine last longer.

11. Have your car's cooling system checked in spring and fall.

Cooling system rust inhibitors can wear out. Rust, corrosion and sediment may then start to form. In the spring, let your Shell dealer inspect your entire cooling system. When he drains and refills, he'll add a special Cooling System Protector.

In the fall, you get a free cooling system inspection when you have Shellzone anti-freeze put in by your Shell dealer.

12. Get a lubrication job regularly. Dirt and moisture can work into chassis joints and bushings, causing friction and wear. Grease can also eventually pound out, leaving the parts unprotected.

Shelllubrication at regular intervals helps protect those vital parts.

13. Keep door and body panel drain holes clear to foil rust. There are little drain holes at the bottom of body panels and doors. They can get clogged so that the panels actually hold water. Result: Rust forms more easily, can eat through the metal. Make sure drain holes are clear.

14. "Bandage" minor scratches in your car's finish. Until you can have the scratches refinished, keep rust from forming with a coat of touch-up paint or a strip of cellulose tape.

15. Let your Shell dealer help your car last longer. Your car may have cost you thousands of dollars. Treat it carefully. Feed it well. Let your Shell dealer help you on both counts. You will save money—and increase your driving pleasure, too.

A VOICE FROM CARROLL

Miss Nancy Roelke, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. Millard Roelke of Uniontown, represented Western Maryland College at the second annual U. S. Naval Academy Foreign Affairs Conference held May 2-5 at Annapolis, Md. The 150 delegates discussed "Problems of the United States Foreign Policy in Latin America." Miss Roelke was a member of the round-table group which discussed the West Indies and is a senior at W. Maryland College, majoring in Political Science. Miss Roelke is a graduate of the Elmer Wolfe School, Union Bridge. Those addressing the conference planned and organized by the Naval Academy's Foreign Relations Club were the Hon. de Lesseps S. Morrison, U. S. Ambassador to the organization of American States, Senator John G. Tower of Texas, J. Peter Grace, president of the W. H. Grace Co.; Rear Admiral A. F. Shrade, director of the political military policy division of the Office of Chief of Naval Operations; Ted Szuc of the New York Times Washington Bureau; and the Hon. Phillip H. Coombs, assistant secretary of State for Educational and Cultural Affairs.

Today's youngsters from the age of six to twenty need more than anything else a code that he or she is made to follow. This code should not be so harsh that it creates injustice, but one that if not adhered to justifies punishment. Early in life children recognize that adults have a set of rules they must live by or face the consequence. Since youngsters want to be treated as adults, they, too, want a rigid set of rules, rigidly enforced. They want to be told what is expected of them and what will happen to them if the rules are disobeyed. Many of Americas great men and women came up from deep poverty, from log cabins, from the city slums. In a Democracy like ours, no one is bound to his environment. If each growing child is taught that he is on terms of absolute equality with all others, in that he is free to rise or fall, be rewarded or punished, in accordance with his own achievements, the fundamentally wholesome youngsters will respond. We deeply admire the young people of America. They are talented and resourceful. They are full of vitality like a thorough-bred colt. And like a colt they must be taught to wear a bridle and obey the pull of the reins before they are ready to run the race of life. Early in a colt's life he learns the rules and he lives by them until he dies. So it should be with children. Give them the kind of discipline they can understand and respect and they will respond like a thorough-bred.

The feverish discussion that is going on at the present time over the proposed medical bill for the aged reminds us of the year social security was first offered to the public. The arguments against it were so emotional that the true facts about social security were almost lost in hysteria. The people who were so bitterly against it lived to see how beneficial it has proven to be. The same thing will happen to the medical aid bill. After all the rumpus is over and the bill becomes a law, then everyone is going to say: "Why didn't we do this sooner?"

Our friends have a son in college who had been dating a very pretty coed and had even brought her home to meet the family. Suddenly the romance was over. My friend was curious as to what happened so she asked her son. He showed his mother a letter that the girl had written him setting forth what she expected out of marriage—a beautiful home, two maids, a trip to Europe and much more. "How in the world did you answer the letter?" his mother asked. "Oh," he replied casually, "I merely told her that when I married, I hoped to have children—but I didn't want my life to be one of them."

Just one footnote to the recent primary election. May this election teach all future candidates for office that the voters are not as naive as some office seekers hoped they'd be. Television is proving to be the one instrument that can separate the chaff from the wheat in politics. Phonies cannot long endure the searching lights of the TV cameras. We have had a strong suspicion all along that television was put together for some good reason. Now we know, it was invented to trap unwary politicians.

Grandchildren don't make a man feel old; it's the knowledge that he's married to a grandmother that does the trick.

Nothing is more typical of America than the Volunteer Fire Companies which rush across our country from Maine to Florida, from Washington State to Delaware. They are as old as our nation and will continue to grow as long as there are small towns and people to inhabit them. Volunteer firemen are fine examples of community service and self-help in time of trouble. Not only do volunteer firemen take on the duty and responsibility of fire-safety but health-safety too by a twenty-four hour ambulance service, which means so much to a family when illness strikes and a hospital must be reached in a matter of minutes. This is the time of year when the Volunteer Fire Companies asks their respective communities to aid in their work for funds. If we respond to their appeal as quickly and as generously as they respond to our appeal for aid in time of fire or illness then there will be no problem. Let us all share in the typical American way by standing firmly behind our Volunteer Fire Companies.

Those who say you can't take it with you have never seen a car packed for a vacation trip.

FAULTS

In speaking of a person's faults, pray don't forget your own; Remember those in homes of glass should never throw a stone. If we have nothing else to do but talk of those who sin, 'Tis better we commence at home and from that point begin. We have no right to judge a man until he's fairly tried; go. Should we not like his company, we know the world is wide. Some may have faults?—Old as well as young; Perhaps we may, for all we know, have fifty to their one. I'll tell you of another plan and find it works full well; To try our own defects to cure, before of ours we tell. And though I sometimes hope to be not worse than some I know, My own short comings bid me, let the faults of others go. Then let us all, when we commence to slander friend or foe, Think of the harm one word may be to those who little know. Remember curses frequently, like chickens, roost at home; Don't speak of other's faults until you've tried to see your own.

OUR NEED

We mutter and sputter, We fume and we spurt; We mumble and grumble, Our feelings gets hurt; We can't understand things, Our vision grows dim. When all that we need is A moment with him. C. spent Tuesday night in the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Levine Carbaugh, also Mr. and Mrs. John Carbaugh and son Jeffrey and Mr. and Mrs. Luther spent Tuesday evening in the same home.

Lutheran Faith
Every person is free and dependent.
God creates each person as an individual, not as a puppet to be manipulated.
Each person has a will. He can make certain decisions in life, take certain steps to bring those decisions to fulfillment, and feel responsible for the results.
That's freedom.
At the same time, each person is dependent upon God for constant re-creative powers... dependent upon God for sunshine and water... dependent upon God for forgiveness. That's dependency.
No man is an island!

right. Do you have distant relatives? That would be O.K. although the friends are the ones who usually give a Shower. Well, even if you do not get any showers at all—the best shower is the "One of Love" and I am sure you have that as to the contents of your nice letter. Best wishes! Your Obs.
Dear Observer:—Would you kindly answer this question as soon as possible. We are going to be married shortly and I want to keep on with my position which is an excellent one. I desire to have an apartment until we know just where we want to purchase a home which we could do right now. My future In-Laws think it would be best to buy a home right now. I am in between and don't know what to do as they have given me some sensible pointers. Thank you! M.E.S.R.
ANSWER:—It is wonderful that you are able to buy a house right now and my advise to you both would be to buy that house as right now it is the BUYER'S market and not the SELLER'S! It is nice, too that you have such a grand position but never, never let a business career interfere with your marriage, especially when you become a Mother as you know by this time that I do not believe in women working out of their homes only in case of sickness or where it is absolutely necessary. Your In-Laws read sensibly to me and it is nice that you listen to them, which shows you will get along beautifully with them and that is as it should be. Much happiness to you both and to the entire family on both sides as you read like a grand future daughter-in-law! Your Obs.
So long, Folks. Have a grand week end and don't forget to put out either on your lawn or some prominent place that "GRAND OLD GLORY!" Remain at home and watch those race by and that way you and you will be safe! Until next week end. D.V. I am,
Faithfully,
YOUR OBSERVER.

STEEL NEEDS NEW MARKETS TO STEP UP PRODUCTION
New York — If the nation's steel makers hope to notably expand sales and production in the current decade, they must find new markets — and some of the best ones are overseas.
Steelways, official publication of the American Iron and Steel Institute, said that between 1950 and 1960, the Japanese increased their steel production by 357 per cent; West Germany, 143 per cent; Czechoslovakia, 127 per cent; and Brazil, 176 per cent.
Actual production in the U.S. during this period increased 3 per cent, from 96.8 million tons to 99.2 million tons. It should be noted, however, that actual production and what the industry could produce are two different things: on the latter count the U.S. posted a 49 per cent increase in the past decade.
Steelways said that steel consumption in other countries is growing faster percentage-wise than in the already highly developed U.S. economy. It asserted that major sales and growth prospects for the American steel makers are, therefore, in international markets where our competitive ability suffers a sizeable cost handicap.
The magazine noted that in the last decade, the U.S. share of world steel trade dropped from about 17 per cent to less than 7 per cent. This has taken place despite an increase in world steel trade to about 12 million tons in 1960 against 16 million tons in 1950.
WORLD OUTPUT
Steelways noted that behind our declining share of an expanding market lies not only the soaring costs of domestic producers but the enormous growth of world steel output since World War II. War damaged mills in other countries have been replaced and other facilities generally have been modernized and expanded. These programs are still in full swing and announced plans make it clear they will continue.
Japan, for example, achieved in 1961 the stature of the world's fourth largest steel producer — 31 million ingots tons. Not satisfied, it has embarked upon a program intended to push 1970 capacity to 53 million net tons of ingots a year. That would put it in third place, behind the U.S. and Russia.
Presently, the U.S. is a major market for Japan, consuming 23.2 per cent of all Japan's iron and steel exports in 1960. Said Steelways:
"Given present patterns of Japanese home consumption of steel, and even granted a sizeable increase therein, it does not seem possible that by 1970 that country can conceivably consume the planned increased production. Likely outlet: more exports."
U.S. SHARE
As a result of past expansion plans similar to these in both Japan and other countries, the United States' share of world steel production dropped to 26 per cent of world output in 1960 from 46 per cent as recently as 1950.
Steelways stated that not only are we failing to win a fair competitive share of an expanding world market in steel, but imports into our own domestic market of both steel and steel consuming products have increased.
The publication said that basic to our competitive disadvantage have been employment costs ranging from three to seven times as great in American steel companies as they are in foreign steel companies. This disparity combined with the modernity of overseas production facilities help make foreign mills formidable competitors.
Money At Work
Ever wonder what happens to your savings in a savings bank? About 70 percent is invested in mortgage loans, enabling people to buy or build homes.
Then? The money goes to work. It's estimated that for every 100 homes built, about $600,000 is paid in wages to the men who work on the actual construction. Then, when the new family moves in, they are expected to spend an average of $1,500 in the new home on things like furniture and appliances — in the first year alone.
New and Easy
Money-Saving Main Dish
Delicately browned patties of a flavorful tuna mixture, sauced with creamed peas, is a meal-in-minutes idea which will be a hit with your family. Three convenience foods from your pantry shelf are the chief ingredients: canned tuna, canned peas and evaporated milk.
Here evaporated milk does double duty. In the tuna patties, it serves as a binder and keeps the patties nicely moist throughout cooking. In the creamed peas, it is the base for the white sauce, making it richly smooth and flavorful. Note, too, the quick and easy method — no separate sauce-making here.
TUNA PATTIES
2 cans tuna (7 oz. each) 1/2 cup evaporated milk
1/2 cup fine dry bread crumbs 3 tablespoons butter
1 small onion, chopped Creamed peas
1 egg
Drain tuna, saving oil for use in creaming peas. Flake tuna in a medium size mixing bowl. Add crumbs, onion, egg and evaporated milk, and mix thoroughly. Divide into 12 equal portions and shape into patties. Melt butter over low heat in a large frying pan. Add tuna patties. Cook over low heat until golden brown on underside, about 5 minutes, then turn and brown other side, about 5 minutes longer. Serve hot with creamed peas. Makes 6 servings.
To make Creamed Peas: Stir a 1-pound can of peas into a saucepan and bring to a boil. Strain in 2 tablespoons oil from tuna (or 2 tablespoons butter, if preferred). Remove from heat and stir in 1/4 cup flour gradually, then 1 cup evaporated milk. Cook and stir over low heat until thickened.

Tests of Faith Lesson for May 27, 1962

HOW do we know when a person's faith is genuine? "We" means human beings, such as other Christians. We don't know this as God knows it. He looks on the heart, as we cannot. God knows every one's faith as he knows all things, directly. But there is a great deal that we human beings know only indirectly, such as the state of another person's mind and the sincerity of another's motives.

It is not, after all, other people's faith that most concerns us. What about our own? Do we really have faith or do we only think we have? Some people (like bishops, pastors, elders, parents) do have the great responsibility of deciding, in all humility, whether the alleged faith (for example) of candidates for membership in the church or candidates for baptism, is what it is claimed to be. (To judge from the present state of Christ's church, some errors of judgment at this point seem to have been made. Probably not enough testing has been done.)

Just a walk "By their fruits ye shall know them," Jesus said. God does not need to wait till the fruit ripens to see what the tree will produce; but we do. Paul gives us (in Gal 5) a list of "fruits of the spirit." The Apostle John had his own way of expressing things. He would take a simple word and make it hold many meanings. One overall test which he proposed really says the same things Paul and Jesus said, in other words. John's test was this: How does this person walk? He uses "walk" in the Old Testament sense, the one-thing-after-another-ness, the every-dayness of living. Life can be likened to a race or to a fight; but most of the time it is just a walk. Not exciting, not dramatic, just a little tedious, monotonous and slow. Many a man waits in vain for a great crisis in which he can prove himself a hero. But most lives don't operate by crises, they are pretty dull, when you come right down to it. John makes the point that it is just this everyday walking that is the test of the reality of faith.

Walking in light How do you walk, then? John speaks more than once of "walking in light." Cockroaches and jackals walk in darkness. Deer and humming-birds move by day-light. Walking in light means living with your shades up and your windows clean. It means living so that you will have no skeletons to hide in closets. It means a life "like an open book," clean paper and clear type. It means you could die on the street the next time you go to the super-market, and not worry about what people would find in the house after you are gone. Walking in light means being what you seem to be. Walking in light also means in God's light, keeping close to him, remembering him in love and a thankful heart. It means steering your boat by the great lighthouse and not by the little lights on the fishing-boats. It means living in joy and hope, not in gloom and despair.

The way He walked John has another way of putting this. Any one who claims to be "abiding in Christ" is using language that was dear to Christ and to his friend and apostle John. But the test of faith is not the beautiful language that can be used about it. The claim is a good claim; but how do you test it? You can't see a person abiding in Christ. We have his word for it, yes, but how do we know he is sincere? John has the answer in words of one syllable: One who claims to be abiding in Him ought to walk in the same way in which He walked. This means nothing, of course, to one who knows nothing of how our Lord lived on earth. This calls for ever-fresh, ever-renewed, ever-renewing study of the Gospel records. There are those who say it makes little difference what manner of man Jesus was. John could not agree to that. It is of vital importance to know as much as we can of how Jesus met life, how he worked, taught, helped, how he met trial and terrors, how he faced triumph and tragedy, friends, enemies and finally death. The simplest test of faith is: Does it produce a life reminding us of Jesus?
