Report of Heart Fund Campaign

Late returns from Carroll County put the Baltimore area Heart Fund campaign over the top.

The announcement was made by Kenneth D. Short, Westminster attorney, who headed the Carroll County 1962 Heart Fund. Mr. Short said that he had received word from W. Winchester White, Jr., of Baltimore, Chairman of the area Heart Fund, that Carroll County's contribution of $578.21 enabled the Baltimore area drive to exceed last year's total.

The major part of the Heart Fund in Carroll County—$3673.96—came from a door-to-door canvass of homes on a Sunday in February. The other major contribution, $1640.00, was made by businesses in Carroll County.

MEETING OF CITY COUNCIL

Delinquent Taxes, Water and Sewer Rent Bills will be collected

The Mayor and City Council held their regularly scheduled monthly meeting on Monday evening, August 6, at 7:30 p. m., with all members present.

Officer Boone made his monthly report to Council as follows: 243 hours worked, 1,288 miles driven, 43 parking violations, 31 warning tickets, 2 reckless driving charges, 2 exceeding the speed limit and 4 state summons.

The Town Clerk reported a balance of $5,466.02 in the general account and $3,923.43 in the parking meter fund.

Bonds 36 through 45, totaling $10,000 plus interest on outstanding bonds of $10,700, came due and was ordered paid. The balances for the general account and parking meter fund as reported by the clerk, is money on hand after this indebtedness of $20,700 was paid. It is to be noted that no money was borrowed this year to meet this payment, due to the Council moving the billing of taxes to the beginning of our fiscal year instead of later on in the year. This gives us money early in the year when our bonds fall due, thus saving us several hundred dollars in interest on money borrowed as in the past, when tax revenue would not come in until late in the fall.

A list of all delinquent real estate and personal property tax payers was presented to Council by the clerk and it is to be noted that many property holders owe back real estate and personal property taxes to the town. This is to remind all taxpayers of Taneytown that these taxes will be collected and it is hoped that all delinquent taxpayers will come forth and pay these back bills before legal action is instituted against the property holder. The City of Taneytown does have the right to sell property at the same time the county conducts its tax sales.

Delinquent water and sewer bills are becoming a problem also, and Ordinance #178 prescribes the rates for water service furnished by the Mayor and City Council of Taneytown and prescribes rules and regulations relating to such service. We list rules #5 and #6 below as prescribed in this Ordinance and will abide by this Ordinance in the future as follows:

#5. PAYMENT OF BILLS

(a) If payment in full is not made within thirty (30) days after date of bill, the Corporation reserves the privilege, after five (5) days' written notice, to discontinue rendering service.

(b) Whenever a customer desires to have his service contract terminated or his water service discontinued, he shall so notify the Corporation in writing. Until such notice is received by the Corporation, the customer shall be responsible for the payment for all service rendered by the Corporation. A reasonable time after the receipt of such notice shall be allowed the Corporation to take a final reading of the meter or meters and to discontinue service.

#6. DISCONTINUANCE OF SERVICE

(a) Service may be discontinued for any one of the following reasons:

1. Misrepresentation in applications.
2. Wilful waste of water.
3. Failure to comply with restrictions imposed under Rule 7-e.
4. Molesting Corporation property or seals on meter or piping.
5. For vacancy.
6. Non-payment of bills when due.
7. For cross-connecting the Corporation's service pipe with any other supply source.
8. Refusal of reasonable access to property.

(b) When water has been turned off from any premises for any of the above reasons, or for any other violation of the Corporation's rules, a charge will be made for restoring service in the amount of the actual cost of turning on the water, except, however, that the minimum charge shall be two dollars ($2.00).

Beginning September 30, 1962, all water users will be given 30 days in which to pay his water and sewer bill. If the bill has not been paid at the end of 30 days, a notice will then be mailed stating that after 5 days, water service will be discontinued.

In fairness to all taxpayers of Taneytown, the Mayor and City Council is forced to adopt these "get tough policies" in order to collect revenue due the town.

New traffic lights have been installed at the square making quite an improvement safety wise.

The new pump has been installed in Well # 5 and is in operation. The Council adjourned at 11:05 p. m.

Cambridge Rubber Co. Awarded Large Contract

The Defense Clothing and Textile Supply Center, an activity of the Defense Supply Agency, awarded one contract for 36,350 pairs of Man's Rubber Overshoes to the Cambridge Rubber Company. The contract totaled $134,298.71. This item will be manufactured at the plant in Taneytown, Maryland, and will be used by the U. S. Armed Services.

ANTIETAM ARTS AND SCIENCE DAY

Plans for an Antietam Arts and Science Day, scheduled for Sept. 3, are nearing completion. The event, made possible through the courtesy and cooperation of the Washington County Museum of Fine Arts and its director, Mr. Bruce Etchison, is a special part of the Aug. 31 to Sept 17 program of the Antietam-South Mountain Centennial Commemoration. "A few of the details are still in the formative process," Mr. Etchison said, "though actual contacts to arrange for some of the loans of art pieces were made three to four years ago."

Arts and Science Day will officially mark the beginning of a two-week Civil War Fine Arts Exhibit.

Opening to the public as of Aug. 31 and continuing through Oct. 31, the exhibition will include for the first two weeks items specifically related to the Antietam-South Mountain Centennial Commemoration, Mr. Etchison said. "Our exhibition will be in the form of prints, drawings, paintings, sculpture, and artifacts."

A feature attraction of the exhibition will be a display of 54 Currier & Ives original Civil War prints. In connection with this display, a full color motion picture film, with sound, appropriately named "The War 1861-1865 as Reported by Currier & Ives" will be shown every hour on the hour on week-ends. The film and the Currier & Ives prints are being loaned to the Museum for this occasion by their owners, Nationwide Insurance.

In Nationwide's illustrated brochure "The War 1861-1865 as Depicted in Prints by Currier & Ives" the foreword contains the following passage: "By the beginning of the war in 1861 Currier and Ives was a magic name in America. The partners, Nathaniel Currier and James Merritt Ives, had proved they had an answer to their countrymen's hunger for news in pictorial form. In the generation centered about that most American of all wars the country was entertained and edified by the vivid prints which poured from the lithographic presses of Currier and Ives. Everyday American life was given new dignity in romanticized pictures. Important events achieved pictorial reality. Famous political and military heroes became familiar to thousands of households. Far-off battles were brought close to families anxious for reminders of their missing soldier members."

Arrangements were made by the Museum with the Library of Congress to obtain 100 original Civil War drawings made on the spot by Civil War period artists.

Paintings are being borrowed from many sources. Among these are the following: Newark Museum, Metropolitan, Rhode Island Historical Society, Brown University, Corcoran Gallery, National Gallery, dealers in New York, and many private collectors.

"Along with these borrowed items," Mr. Etchison said, "will be paintings and artifacts, including firearms, from our own permanent collection."

Mr. Etchison mentioned as an example of "details" as yet unconfirmed a loan which is presently being negotiated. "We hope to have 'Last Moments of John Brown,' an oil painting, he said, 'which will be a loan from Metropolitan, but we are not sure of it as yet.'"

The public is cordially invited to visit the Washington County Museum of Fine Arts, Mr. Etchison said. Here, on display for everybody to see and enjoy, free of charge, are some of the world's finest pieces of art.

MEHRL E. SIMPSON APPOINTED AS NEW F H A COMMITTEEMAN

Mehrl E. Simpson of Taneytown, Maryland has been appointed as a member of the Carroll-Baltimore Counties Farmers Home Administration Committee, Joseph W. Jones, the agency's county supervisor, announced this week. Mr. Simpson has operated a dairy farm in Taneytown for a number of years.

The other two members serving with Mr. Simpson are Edgar A. Kalb and Frank L. Bushey. Mr. Simpson succeeds Andrew F. Baughman whose 3 year term expired this year.

Each agricultural county in Maryland has a 3 member committee to work with the county supervisor to make the best possible local use of the agency's farm credit service program. The committee determines the eligibility of applicants for all types of Farmers Home Administration loans, and determines the suitability and fair and reasonable values of farms to be taken as security for real estate loans. It also reviews borrower's progress as they pay off their FHA loans by means of improved farming and turn to banks and other lenders for the credit they need.

The Farmers Home Administration is an agency of the U. S. Dept. of Agriculture that supplies long-term credit to farmers to buy or improve their farms, establish soil and water conservation measures, and build or repair farm houses or other essential farm buildings. It has intermediate or short-term credit for farm operations or to meet emergency needs. Rural Housing loans are made to applicants who are unable to obtain the credit they need from private or cooperative lenders. Rural Housing loans may be used to construct, improve or repair rural homes.

The agency does not compete with other lenders in the credit field. As a part of its credit service, it supplies farm and home management aids and advice.

"SPICE 'N' EVERYTHING NICE"

With all my heart, I wish you every morning
A smile that shall last until the next dawn
I wish you health—life's greatest wealth;
I wish you always near so that I may help to cheer
Each future day and in some way—help to bring you happiness!

It is August and the Summer is fleeting by! Those who have not taken a vacation and awaiting October which is really the finest time of the year to vacation, will enjoy it so much more. And that reminds me of "Bon Voyage" the gay film at The New Theatre on Lexington Street. It was a packed audience who really felt they were in Paris! The story with Fred Mac Murray and Jane Wyman is breezy and longer than any other Movie but it holds one's interest due to the fact it concerned a plumber and his wife and their two Teen-agers. It is a Walt Disney picture and each one seems to be better than the last. Jane Wyman as Katie, the wife is from a ritzy Boston family somehow meets the plumber somewhere in Texas and MacMurray as Harry and she fell in love and are married. Then, he makes plenty of money and Katie has that big desire to go to Paris. From the time they set sail for the dream city it is packed full of interesting fun which all the Teen-agers will fancy. It is nice to see a picture of such a story of a couple married 22 years and still ideally happy and it even has a happier ending. If you know that you will never visit the beautiful city, by all means see the picture. It seems that Fred Mac Murray is at his best and really improves with age with those three W's—Wim, Wigor and Witality!

As to Movies, Your Observer went to see "Lolita," at the Town Theatre upon the first showing or viewing. The story is taken from the shocking book by Vladimir Nabokov's. It is the story of a 16-year old girl (and that Sue Lyon was last year when it was made) and who stars in the screen play. Her Widowed Mother rents a room to a professor in the state of New Hampshire. He has a great desire to possess this young girl as he sees her sunning herself in the garden of this New Hampshire home as he is shown around the premises. James Mason plays the leading male Star and the entire play is a most suggestive affair. However, Mason marries the Widow who is killed by an automobile and then the life of "Lolita" begins. It makes one have a bitter taste having knowledge about such men, even seeing it on the screen. As to this new Star she will prove in a few years to be box office attraction in any show or play or story. Nuff said!

LETTERS — Dear Observer:- My husband and I are up in years and are comfortably fixed, but he does not have any desire to fix anything in our house, not even to paint or have painted the rooms. I would like to purchase a few new pieces of furniture, but he gripes if I even mention it. He keeps stating we are too old and yet we are in perfect health. We have no children. Thanking you. —Mrs. P. G.

Dear Mrs. P. G. — Why not have a man come in and do the painting or whatever you desire to have done? Go down and buy the furniture which you would like. Convince him that "You Can't Take It With You!" And I think you know and he will know just what I mean. It is too bad that anyone can get so set in their ways which would mean much happiness the rest of your lives, for after all you both may live many more years, as "Life Begins at Eighty!" Your Obs.

Dear Observer:- We had much damage done in the recent rain storm to one of our rooms and we called our Insurance Co. and told them and the answer was—"Your Insurance Does Not Cover That!" Signed, Disappointed.

Dear Disappointed:- In taking Insurance out of any kind, it is always best to read every word of the Policy which very few Buyers do. That is the reason "All-State" is so successful from what I have learned about their dealings. Your Obs.

Dear Observer:- I am not quite 18 — just graduated from High School and secured a position as your Column stated a few months ago for the Summer and I like my position so much in every way and I do not care to go to College but to continue my work. Would you? Signed Satisfied.

Dear Satisfied:- A person who is satisfied never advances further as they are like stagnant water. Why not attend a night school and advance further. Much can be learned and accomplished this way. Many do this the entire Winter. Best of luck. Your Observer.

So long, folks. Until next week D. V. Have a grand week-end. Be careful when you drive. It is dreadful to read daily about all the youngsters from 15 to 25 that are snapping out their lives with S P E E D!

I am,
Faithfully,
Your Observer.

A PROGRAM FOR ECONOMIC RECOVERY

All businessmen and virtually all so-called economists, including even White House advisers, agree that our national economy is in a sorry state. Suggestions of a quick panacea to bring on a temporary lift are generally discarded by the more thoughtful and far-seeing. What is needed is attention to basic economic principles. It seems to me that, for the good of the country, the Administration must follow a four-point program, as follows: (a) Restore the vital element of confidence so that current trends toward an economic slowdown can be reversed; (b) Achieve a higher rate of business capital investment by removing the squeeze on profits; (c) Avoid inflation by establishing responsible budgetary and monetary policies; and (d) Withdraw proposals for new government spending programs. This is a program for sound economic recovery. The future of the United States will be determined largely by the extent of success and growth on the economic front.

Only after maximum attention is given to the points listed should tax cutting be considered. However, this being election year and spending being easier than saving, I fear the sound steps will be lightly ignored for the more dramatic and appealing — a tax cut!

The real friends of business are those who improve the economic front on a sound basis.

CURRENT EVENTS FIFTY YEARS AGO

Next week is the week of the State Grange Fair, in Ohler's Grove — Tuesday to Friday.

The Salvation Army meeting last Sunday was a surprise in point of attendance, perhaps 1200 to 1500 being present in the afternoon. Quite a number picniced in the grove all day. There was a considerable crowd in attendance at night.

College Property Removed to New Windsor. The sudden accomplishment of the leasing of New Windsor College buildings by the Trustees of Blue Ridge College for the coming college year, on last Wednesday, necessitated the quick removal of the College furnishings from the former home to New Windsor. On Thursday afternoon at the close of the Harvest Home services at Pipe Creek church, a public invitation was given to all those who felt sufficient interest in the welfare of the College, to send their team to Union Bridge on Friday morning to assist in the removal. A goodly number responded. About 28 large loads were taken.

Shell dealers suggest 7 things to tell your son when he first borrows the family car

1 Don't take other drivers for granted.

They sometimes do unexpected things. In the U.S. in 1960, they ran into stationary objects more than 150,000 times.

So don't be too optimistic. Cars backing out of parking spaces do sometimes back out blindly. Cars coming from the other direction might swing into your lane—especially on hills and curves.

Your best protection is to drive defensively. The only driver you can really be sure of is yourself.

2 If the car won't start, there are a number of simple things worth trying.

Use the starter in short bursts. Press accelerator to the floor once, then hold it there while you try starter.

With manual shift, keep clutch pedal all the way down. With automatic transmission, jiggle lever to make sure it's in neutral.

Note from Shell: We recently published an advertisement with 7 simple starting tips. For a free copy, write to the Shell Oil Company, P.O. Box 272, New York 46, N.Y.

3 Courtesy is contagious—and adds to everyone's driving pleasure and safety.

Nobody ever cured a traffic jam by losing his temper. If you can keep your sense of humor and wait your turn, everyone will probably get where he's going sooner. Including you.

Another suggestion: It takes only seconds to let someone enter the roadway ahead of you, but it can save the other driver minutes. Just remember to signal the car behind that you're slowing down or about to stop.

4 Cars respond to good care.

Have the oil, battery and water checked every time you stop for gasoline.

When you're driving, listen for unusual mechanical sounds. If you hear one, have it checked right away. It could save a big repair bill later on.

On rough roads, take it easy—tires are tough, but they are destructible.

Note: For a free copy of Shell's 12-page booklet, "44 ways to make your car last longer," write to the Shell Oil Company, P.O. Box 272, New York 46, N.Y.

Many a young man first borrows the family car for a summer dance. On this page, your local Shell dealers offer some driving tips that can be useful to him all his life.

5 Remember what you learned to get your driver's license, and you'll be a better driver.

Eight out of ten car accidents stem from improper driving practices—such as speeding, failing to yield right-of-way and following other cars too closely.

Truck drivers and other professionals have very few of these accidents—mile for mile, about one-quarter as many as other drivers. The professionals know the rules of good driving—and obey them.

6 If you're going to be late, call home.

And if car trouble is the reason, call the nearest service station, too.

Park off the traffic lanes and wait in the car until help arrives—with the hood up to show you're disabled. Making repairs close to a busy road can be dangerous.

Note from Shell: Over 12,000 of our dealers go to special training schools each year. There, they learn how to spot trouble in a hurry. A Shell dealer can be helpful to you in almost any emergency.

7 Have a good time.

So far, almost everything you've heard about cars has to do with safety.

Now you're about to find out what a pleasure they can be. Here are the keys. Just take your responsibilities in stride. And have fun.

Comforting fact for parents: Drivers with less than three months' experience account for very few serious accidents. That's a good sign that most new drivers do take their responsibilities seriously. So you can relax.

Think Happiness

So much depends upon our thoughts. Every act first has been a thought. If we were more careful concerning these thoughts, how many of the acts resulting from them which we afterwards come to regret would never have committed. Then, how much happiness and cheer would find their way into the lives of all of us instead of the discouragement and regret we so often feel. Happiness is a direct result of our thoughts. We may receive pleasure and enjoyment from local sources; but real happiness is not dependent upon external conditions, it comes from within. Happiness comes from what we think and feel. Everyone wants to be happy. Then think happy thoughts. It is just as easy as to cherish somber and discouraging thoughts. There is really no condition so discouraging that one cannot find some bright spot about which to think.

Self-righteousness is poor religion, said the Robin to the Sparrow, "I should really like to know why these anxious human beings rush about and worry so?"

"Said the Sparrow to the Robin 'friend, I think that it must be that they have no heavenly father such as cares for you and me.'"

The woman autoist posed for a snapshot in front of the fallen pillars of an Ancient Temple in Greece. "Don't get the car in this picture," she warned, "or my husband will think I ran into the place."

We are sorry to learn of the death of Mrs. Molly Carbaugh who passed away this morning (Tues.), in a Baltimore Hospital. The family and friends have our deepest sympathy. Mrs. Carbaugh's name really was Mary, but everyone around here knew her as Mollie.

MARRIED

FRITZ — GARVIN

Miss E. Maxine Garvin, daughter of Rev. and Mrs. Arthur W. Garvin, of Taneytown, became the bride of Wilford T. Fritz, son of Mrs. Ruth Fritz, Detour, Md., on Friday, July 27.

The ceremony was performed in the evening at 8 o'clock at the Taneytown Messiah Evangelical United Brethren Church. Rev. Garvin, the bride's father, assisted by Rev. Roland Garvin, Newburg, Pa., the bride's brother, officiated at the double ring ceremony. The church was decorated with vases of white gladioli and chrysanthemums, with palms and candelabra.

Traditional marches were played by Mrs. Doris Garvin, Taneytown, sister-in-law of the bride. Soloist was Miss Marian Dunham, Taneytown, who sang, "I Love Thee," "O Perfect Love," and "Saviour, Like A Shepherd Lead Us."

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a floor-length gown with tiers of nylon tulle over taffeta, featuring chintilly lace with sequins. The lace bodice was styled with a Queen Anne's neckline trimmed with pearls and sequins and the sleeves tapered to points over the hands. Her finger tip veil of nylon tulle fell from a queen's crown. She carried a bouquet consisting of an orchid, surrounded by rose buds, carnations, gypsophylla, and ivy.

Mrs. Roberta Borst, Grand Haven, Michigan, was her sister's matron of honor. She wore a street length dress of pink chiffon over taffeta complemented by a single strand of pearls. Her headband and bouquet were of assorted summer flowers. Bridesmaids, Mrs. Sue Garvin, Newburg, Pa., the bride's sister-in-law, and Miss Audrey Welk, Taneytown, wore dresses of blue dacron with headbands and bouquets similar to that of the matron of honor. Miss Angela Garvin, Taneytown, the bride's niece, was flower girl. She was attired in a dress of yellow chiffon, a headband of yellow flowers and carried a basket of summer flowers.

Best man was Kenneth Clingan, Taneytown, cousin of the groom. Master James Garvin, Newburg, Pa., nephew of the bride, was ringbearer. Gregory Garvin, Taneytown, nephew of the bride, was acolyte. Ushering were: Arthur Garvin, Jr., brother of the bride, and Wayne Wachter, Keymar, Md., nephew of the groom.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held in the social room of the church. For her wedding trip to Ocean City, New Jersey, the bride chose a peacock blue sheath dress with matching accessories accented by the white orchid lifted from her bouquet.

All In A Sandwich!

Here's a meal in one hearty, appetite-pleasing sandwich. Crunchy corn bread, made perfectly and easily with a mix, is the base for ham and cheese slices. Tender broccoli and creamy mushroom soup spooned over the oven-hot sandwich top it off. Try it—it's good for lunch or family supper Saturday, Sunday or any other night.

HOT CORN BREAD SANDWICH

Makes 6 servings

Corn Bread:

One 12-oz. pkg. (2 cups)
Flake Corn Muffin Mix
1 egg
2/3 cup milk

Toppings:

12 slices American cheese
12 slices cooked ham
One 10-1/2-oz. can condensed cream of mushroom soup
1/2 cup milk
One 10-oz. pkg. frozen broccoli, cooked

Heat oven to hot (400°F.). For corn bread, empty contents of muffin mix package into bowl. Add egg and milk. Blend only until dry ingredients are thoroughly moistened. (Batter should be slightly lumpy.) Pour batter into greased 8-inch square pan. Bake in preheated oven (400°F.) 20 to 25 minutes. Cut into 6 pieces; split each horizontally. Place on cookie sheet.

Place a slice of cheese atop each corn bread piece; top each with a slice of ham. Heat in moderate oven (375°F.) 8 to 10 minutes or until cheese melts. For sauce, mix soup and milk together in saucepan; bring to a boil. Put two open-faced sandwiches on each plate, top with cooked broccoli. Spoon sauce over sandwiches. Serve hot.

PIPES OF PROGRESS

(ICE SKATING)

Oldest pair of ice skates in existence, believed to be over 1,200 years old, are made of reindeer horn and are flat, like short skis. They were used by ancient Scandinavians who had to depend on Nature for proper skating conditions.

In 1878, the world's first indoor artificial ice rink was built in New York City's old Madison Square Garden. It was soon followed by other rinks in the world's major cities.

Today, sports areas like the Pittsburgh Arena, home of the Ice Capades, can be converted from basketball use to ice skating in 12 hours, thanks to steel pipe refrigeration systems. Skating fans in all 50 states can pursue their pleasure indoors and out, in all seasons!

YOUR HOME MERCHANTS ASK YOU TO "BUY AT HOME"

New Facts About Home Cooling

An attic fan not only can cool an entire house, but it can accomplish something air conditioning can't do. That is, rid your home, in only minutes after the sun goes down, of its overhead "oven."

Step into your attic any summer day and you find the temperature of the trapped air as high as 130 degrees, or even more.

Radiation of heat from this overhead oven makes it necessary for owners of air conditioned homes to operate the equipment all night long, even when the outside air is fresh and cool. The action of an attic fan, however, quickly expels the torrid attic air and replaces it with cool night air.

An attic fan, installed preferably in the ceiling of a hallway, pulls cool outside air into the house through slightly opened windows. By adjusting doors and windows, moving air can be routed through any part of the house.

Air conditioning equipment will last longer and operating costs will be reduced when an attic fan is used at night and the air conditioner is turned on only during the day.

A recent development of the Hunter Division, Robbins & Myers, Inc., is a "package" attic fan which lends itself to easy do-it-yourself installation. The picture at the left, above shows how the fan looks installed in an attic; the photo at the right shows how it appears viewed from a hallway. The louvers automatically open when the fan is switched on.

Hunter ventilating engineers recommend a fan with two speeds. A two-speed motor, the Memphis, Tenn., manufacturer says, allows quiet, gentle circulation of fresh outside air through bedrooms at night. It also provides plenty of reserve power for daytime and evening cooling of the entire house.

THIS CHANGING WORLD by WALDMAN

Thick goggles were the only protection drivers and passengers of our early cars had against wind and dust. Windshields had not yet become practical.

Then in the early 1900's four feet square windshields were placed in front of the driver. They were flat panes of glass which increased wind resistance and shattered into jagged fragments on the slightest impact, and became more dangerous as cars and speeds increased.

Today's car windshields — by law — must be made of laminated safety glass. It is made by joining two sheets of glass with a special tough plastic film which keeps broken glass from shattering and cushions impacts, but does not interfere with visibility.

Lunch Hour's New Look

Employees on a break at the Jones and Laughlin tin plate section enjoy a full-course hot lunch just steps away from their operating area. The Continental vending machines in the background include a bank of hot food dispensers which offer complete luncheons and platters for as little as 35 to 50 cents per portion.

The factory-worker's traditional brown paper bag or lunch pail may soon be as obsolete as last year's missile. Vending machine operators cite the fact that 20 per cent of the nation's factories already depend entirely on vending machines to feed their workers. A recent innovation promises to accelerate automatic dining in factory and office — hot food dinners from vending machines complete with meat or fish, potatoes and a vegetable for no more than 50 cents a serving!

Developed by the Continental Vending Machine Corporation and called Hot Food Shoppes, each machine has a capacity of 36 platters and 36 casseroles. Meals can be served in seconds after they have been slow-cooked from a frozen state to serving temperature in a one-step electronic heating process. The first of these was put into operation two years ago by Continental Cafeterias, Inc., a specialist in personnel feeding.

Those who eat the hot food platters for the first time are always pleasantly surprised. They get substantial portions, attractively served — more restaurant-like than TV Dinners. Although most Hot Food Shoppes installations so far have been in industrial plants and offices, Americans will soon be seeing them at roadside drive-ins, transportation terminals, amusement parks and sports arenas — anywhere where nourishing, quick and inexpensive feeding is essential.

A university zoologist, Professor Paul Needham of California, claims that fishermen don't know how to catch fish. The professor, who is also a director of the university's Sagehen Creek Project, claims that very rarely is a stream "fished out". And, to prove his point, he cited a recent survey by the California Department of Fish & Game which showed sixty-five to seventy-five per cent of all fishermen do not catch anything, even when hatchery fish are dumped into the stream right in front of them.

While most anglers might take this accusation as a joke, it is true. To wit, some years ago a group of regulars complained to the New York Department of Conservation that the famed Beaverkill was "fished out." The department sent a couple of experts to the scene equipped with a portable generator. A mild charge was put through the water and scores of slightly stunned trout floated to the surface in front of the slightly stunned anglers.

The moral of the story is simply that fishing is an art not just an exercise. Actually, a relatively few experts are taking fifty per cent of the fish.

The expert angler will fish early and late, knowing that slim pickings occur at mid-day. He'll go about his pleasure slowly and deliberately. First, he'll size up the stream or lake, choose the most likely spots, where a lurking trout or bass might rest waiting for food to drop off the banks or wash into a riffle.

Once the preliminaries are completed, he'll quietly move into the river down-stream. Or, if the fish are very skittish and the water is still and clear, he might stay well away from the river edge and cast from the bank to avoid a give-away shadow on the water. He'll work his way up-stream knowing the sound, even a little, carries downstream.

The careful lake fishermen will know the water temperature and that lake trout like cool water between 40 and 45 degrees. A spell of hot weather and the surface temperature might run to 60 or 70 degrees. If there are lake trout there, they'll be near the cooling inlets in a spring fed lake — and down deep.

Professor Needham pointed out that the biggest fish kill is made by the weather. It's a shame to waste good fish when a little care and patience could mean trout or bass for dinner.

Responsibility

Lesson for August 12, 1962

"RESPONSIBLE" and "responsibility" are words perhaps hard to define, but they will strike any thinking person as important words. We all know in a general way what they mean. When we speak of an irresponsible person we speak in disparaging tones; we don't trust a person like that. An irresponsible person can't be depended on to do what he is expected to do. The difference between an irresponsible person and an absent-minded one is not that one remembers what he is supposed to do and the other one doesn't; they both will forget. But the absent minded man is overwhelmed by regret and mortification at having forgotten, while the irresponsible one doesn't care, even if he forgets a dozen times.

Single, Plural and Collective
To be responsible means that someone is expecting you to do a job or to be a particular kind of person. It means also that you are expected to give an account of yourself to some one. You are responsible for the job and to the boss, or the inspector, whoever gets your report. No matter how high your perch is in society, you are always responsible to some one: the President of the U.S.A. is responsible to the people, and we judge presidents by how well they carry that responsibility. But more than individuals can be responsible. A whole group of persons can be responsible in the same way, to the same person and for the same work, like a class in school with a problem to solve. This we can call plural responsibility. Again there is collective responsibility, as when Jacob, in the Genesis story, holds all his sons responsible for the welfare of Joseph. We can say that a community is responsible for its own health—that again is collective responsibility.

Responsible Prophet
The Bible prophet who spoke most clearly on this subject was the Prophet Ezekiel. He was not the first, to be sure. The prophets generally had laid more emphasis on collective than on individual responsibility; but they did not forget the individual. When Nathan woke David's conscience by saying "Thou art the man," that was individual responsibility. When King Ahab stole Naboth's vineyard and Elijah paid the king a fearsome visit, that was individual responsibility. But when the prophets warned, threatened or comforted, they spoke most often to the nation as a whole. That is collective responsibility. Ezekiel was made to understand clearly his own personal responsibility, and how responsibility can be rightly shifted from one person to another. (See esp. chaps. 2 and 3.) It was his concern to warn the people; whether they paid attention or not was not his worry. It was his duty to tell the truth, theirs to believe it. If the people refused to listen after Ezekiel had given them God's message, that was their sin, not his. On the other hand, if he failed to warn them of coming danger, their blood would be on the prophet's head.

How does this apply today to a school teacher? a minister, an editor, a writer?
Fixing the Blame
The first thing after an airplane crash is to set up an investigation not only in order to avoid similar accidents thereafter, but to fix the blame for the one that did happen. It is very seldom that one single person is responsible for a great calamity. But who shall say who was to blame and how much? Take a historical event far back enough so that we don't get excited over it: the downfall of Jerusalem for example. Who was, or were, to blame? Israel went to smash; Israel was to blame. Easy to say; but who was "Israel"? Israel was the people at large; they might have revolted against their government and sided with the prophet; but they didn't, psychologically maybe they couldn't. Who was Israel? It was the kings; but kings, like executives then and since, took advice from many counselors. The yes-men who should sometimes have been no-men, these were surely to blame. False prophets, short-sighted policy makers, a citizenry too lazy to think for themselves—they are all responsible. But only God knows how much.

Special Closing Notice

My station will be CLOSED on Sundays, due to the unfair prices of the American Oil Company. They, having three outlets in Taneytown selling the same product and we all try to sell gasoline at the same price. Our station pays one cent more per gallon tank wagon price than our competitors which is unfair when we buy our gasoline in transport loads of 7000 gallons at a time which cuts the profit to the bone, when on a Sunday we depend on gas only.

JAYCEE COMMUNITY SURVEY REPORT

PART I

(This is the first of twelve installments of the Community Survey Report prepared by the Taneytown Junior Chamber of Commerce. The Survey was conducted by the Jaycees earlier this year with the report and recommendations adopted in July.)

The report is being published as a public service by this newspaper and it is felt many will wish to clip and save for future reference.)

A MESSAGE FROM YOUR JAYCEES

Your Jaycees have spent many hours conducting this Taneytown Community Survey compiling the data, and analyzing the results. However, if as a result, our people gain a new insight into some of the problems facing this community and therefore some good comes of it, we will feel that our efforts were not in vain.

This report contains:

1. The results of the Public-Opinion Survey conducted earlier this year.
2. An evaluation and analysis of these opinions.
3. Pertinent facts relative to our community.
4. Additional interesting and related information.
5. Some recommendations for future action.

We cannot adequately express how pleased and how appreciative we are of the cooperation of everyone. The Mayor and City Council, the organizations and service clubs, the County Planning Director, the City Clerk-Treasurer, Taneytown High School officials, teachers, and students, this newspaper, and above all, the citizens of the community who took the time to consider seriously the questions posed and to answer the survey forms.

Twenty-eight Jaycees and many of their wives assisted in this project. Members of the committee included: Arthur Garvin, Jr., co-chairman; Harry Dougherty, Jr., and John Reeve.

This report includes only the highlights and most important facts. Organizations or individuals desiring more complete or detailed information are invited to contact us. We are anxious to serve.

If this report results in no action, then we have failed miserably in our efforts. Won't you join with us to help make Taneytown a better, more prosperous town in which to live?

Sincerely

The Taneytown Chamber of Commerce

James H. Fair, President and project co-chairman

PURPOSE OF THE SURVEY

The purpose of this survey was to try to determine through a public opinion poll, plus discussion with community officials and leaders, the major problems facing Taneytown, and to determine as well our town's strong and weak points. Grass-roots opinions on some of the more controversial issues and proposals which have been under consideration were also solicited.

METHOD

First, the Jaycees prepared an impartial public opinion survey form consisting of 44 questions and 4 open-end questions patterned after the suggested survey developed by the U. S. Junior Chamber in cooperation with experts in this field.

Next, they presented the survey at Kiwanis, Lions, Volunteer Fire Co. and Jaycee meetings. Members of the Junior and Senior classes of Taneytown High School also filled out questionnaires. Following this, the poll was conducted door-to-door within the city limits and nearby. Seniors in the Problems of Democracy course, taught by Mr. Robert Neal, took a sampling of families in the rural area of the community. Persons completing questionnaires remained anonymous.

The response, cooperation, and enthusiasm of the citizens was overwhelming. One thousand opinions were recorded, representing approximately 80% of the families within our city.

OPINIONS RECORDED BY AREA AND AGE GROUP:

	AREA No. 1 In Town	AREA No. 2 Within 2 Miles	AREA No. 3 Beyond 2 Miles	TOTAL
TEENAGERS	31	22	56	109
YOUNG PEOPLE (21 - 40)	239	61	31	331
MIDDLE-AGED (40 - 65)	296	43	53	392
SENIOR CITIZENS (Over 65)	81	0	2	83
TOTAL IN EACH AREA	647	126	142	915
ORGANIZATIONS — (Firemen, Jaycees, Kiwanis, Lions)				85
GRAND TOTAL				1,000

After the opinions were tabulated and analyzed by the committee, a public meeting was called. In addition to the Mayor and City Council, presidents and other interested members of all organizations and civic clubs were invited. The results of each question were discussed and evaluated against what the "experts" (town officials and civic leaders) knew to be a fact.

Finally, additional and supporting information, both interesting and appropriate, was gathered. Much of this is included with this report.

(Next week's installment will include the Over-all tabulations of the answers to the Public-Opinion Poll.)

Let's Go Fishin'

BY BOB BREWSTER
Outdoor Editor, Mercury Outboards

Got a letter the other day from a fisherman in Ohio who wondered why fish are generally suckers for a plastic worm. Not that he was unhappy — far from it — but he just was puzzled that a strip of artificial worm would lure a game fish to the hook.

There is really little of legend in the story of the worm, the latest and hottest of the "crazes" that regularly hit fishermen, inspiring them to new methods and new lures.

Worms, and creatures of the wiggling ilk, have been fish food ever since there have been fish, and there is little doubt that the trend will continue. Fish are silly that way. But only in the last few years has man become smart enough to duplicate nature successfully in the worm department.

The secret of their success, I believe, is because they do everything a "real" worm does — only better. They exaggerate, they magnify, they caricature.

DRIFT FISHING

One of the most successful ways to use them is to "drift," to run upwind with a compact little fishing motor such as the new lightweight Merc 110, then cut the engine and drift with the wind, dragging the worm over the bottom. As it slithers and slips from rock pile to weed bed it goes through some of the most productive waters in the lake — any lake. And presents a temptation that is too much for a bass.

You see, gamefish, like coyotes or foxes, are predators, and are constantly on the lookout for an easy meal. The easier, the better. And there is little on the gamefish menu that looks more appealing to them than a nice, juicy worm, obviously not in perfect health.

KILLER INSTINCT

There is a killer instinct in all predators that is triggered by the sight of prey that is weak or crippled, an instinct that bursts into full bloom when the fluttery waverings of a plastic worm are sighted.

Fish 'em real slow, either drifting or trolling with a Mercury fishing motor hanging on the transom, and plastic worms will produce catches. Good catches, even astounding at times.

So that man, the greatest predator of all, can have fish on his dinner plate more often.

Boosts Public Confidence in Nation

Delivery trucks operated by members of the Linen Supply Association of America (LSAA) will display posters supporting the "Have Confidence in a Growing America" campaign during May. Above, Secretary of Commerce Luther Hodges (right) receives a framed poster from Herman Giltow (center), Philadelphia, Pa., president of the Association and vice president of Gordon-Davis Linen Supply Co., while Dennis Smyth, member of the Association's public relations committee and general manager of Bugle Linen Service, Inc., Baltimore, Md., looks on. The LSAA poster program was started eight years ago to support public service causes and linen supply customer groups. Members select the 12 subjects — a different one for each month — to be supported by the truck poster program. This project received the Award of Merit from the U. S. Chamber of Commerce in 1960.
