Over 300 years ago, a group of brave Englishmen called Puritans. Over 300 years ago, a group of brave Englishmen called Puritans, faced the unknown perils of a stormy ocean and the even greater ones of a strange, wild country, and on a frail little ship called the Mayflower, they sailed for the new land of America. The motivating force here was a great love for God, and a strong desire to worship Him in their own simple and sincere way. In England, the Puritans had suffered much persecution on account of their religious beliefs and practices. They fled to Holland and sought refuge there, but decided that only by coming to the New World could they ever hone to cided that only by coming to the New World could they ever hope to attain complete religious freedom.

After long, weary weeks of travel, the Puritans finally sighted the rock-bound coast of New England. With fervent prayer and great joy, they landed on Plymouth Rock, in the Massachusetts harbor, in That first cruel Winter took a heavy toll of lives. Added to the miseries of cold and hunger was an even greater threat—the ever constant one of hostile Indians, who displayed their hatred for the white men by a horrible use of tomahawks and bows and arrows. Puritan men were actually compelled to carry guns with them on their way to a protection and their way to be a protection their way to church, as protection against the murderous red men.

Mercifully, however, some of the Indians proved themselves to be friendly. A chief named Squanto and some of his people were kind and helpful to the Puritans. They taught their white brothers how to plant corn and other crops, and showed them how to fertilize the ground by putting a dead fish into each hill of corn. The first crops were so successful that Governor Bradford, in the year 1621, right after the harvest, set aside a special day for prayers and thanksgiving to God for His bountiful blessings. On that happy day, the Puritans and their Indian friends—who contributed gifts of food—sat down to a mouth-watering feast, which consisted of wild turkey, venison, oysters, clams, sweet potatoes, corn, cranberries, and pumpkin pie. This marked the very beginning of our traditional Thanksgiving Day

Gradually the custom prevailed of appointing thanksgiving after the harvest. This began, as we have said, in the New England Colonies. In 1817, New York adopted it as an annual custom, and it spread through many of the states by the middle of the 19th century. In 1864, President Lincoln proclaimed a national Thanksgiving Day, and every President since then has followed suit.

We who live in America today can thank God for our brave Puritan forefathers. They have bequeated to us our richest heritage—the freedom and the right to worship in the church of our choice, without any interference or hinderance. This is indeed the greatest freedom of all.

The description of German home life, school life, social and religious activities were discussed in a very interesting manner.

However, this writer must apologize for his inability to write dispassionately of Germany. As an observer and participant in World War I, the beastial buchery of Belgium and France and the inhuman massacre of more than a million harmless and peaceful Armenians by the Turks under the supervision of the German military, which was all blamed on Prussianism, but only to be repeated 20 years later under another brand of German "Kultur" called Nazism, brings to us a shudder of horror which cannot be obliterated by a few years of reconstruction that will never cover

POST OFFICE DEBTS

There was a time when I had the naive notion that postage rates should be increased by enough to put the Post Office on a pay-as-you-go basis.

But after having watched two increases go through with each one immediately followed by a raise in pay for all postal workers, it is more and more apparent that Congress never did have any intention of putting the Post Office on a sound fiscal basis.

I have no personal objection to postal workers getting a raise in pay, but I do vehemently object to this repeated, sneaky method of going about it. I refer to the practice of waving the Post Office deficit before our eyes, trying to make us think that postage rate increases must be enacted to help reduce the deficit - and then immediately using the anticipated new revenue for an election time pay-off to government workers.

I have heard no mention of what the Post Office department intends to do next about the deficit, now that the added revenue has already been channeled to the pockets of the postal workers. But I would assume the Post Office leaders will just have to adopt the spirit of Congress and learn to live with their deficit in the same manner that Congressmen have learned to be completely undisturbed by the rest of the national debt.

There would seem to be little use in making another stab at postage increases for debt reduction, for a presidential election is just over the horizon, and what Congressmen could resist giving any new increase which might be enacted to those millions of Md., completed the nine-week officer government workers who need to be orientation course at The Transportation Center, Fort Eustis, Va., Nov assured, as they prepare to go to the polls, that father-Congress is looking after them.

The annual "Big Day" for the kiddies finally arrived on Saturday, November 3, when 160 kiddies who anxiously awaited the "Big Day" left Taneytown at 7:30 A. M. for the Boumi Temple Shrine Circus in Baltimore, Md.

Childish exuberance overflowed among 3 bus loads of these circus bound youngsters on the journey to Baltimore, but every expectation was fulfilled as they mingled among 10,000 others to watch the comic antics of dozens of clowns, the wild animal act with a dozen ferocious lions and a bevy of huge tigers; the elephants, the trapeze, the aerialists, the jugglers, the acrobats and numerous oth er acts and features kept the juvenile audience breathlessly spellbound a for nearly three hours they sat in this "World of Wonder."

Leaving at 1 P. M. for the homeward bound journey a riot of babble ment and chatter proved beyond any doubt that these youngsters had a day long to be remembered as they munched on the apples provided by the Kiwanis Club and arrived safely home about 3 P. ### Meeting

The Club, after a bounteous dinner by Tom and Company enjoyed a talk by Mr. Wargny, Principal of the Elementary School of Taneytown.

Everyone enjoyed the Essay on Spring written by an 11-year-old student in a school in Texas and also the description of the human body and the functions of the different parts of the human anatomy and organs. The ingenious descriptions given by children at times supercedes the wisdom of the adult. Sometime back, a newspaper in the city of Nashville, Tenn., offered a substantial prize for the best short maxim or motto relative to the danger of smoking in bed. The judges awarded the prize to a 10-year-old colored boy

"When you smokes in bed You wakes up dead." Can you think of anything that would linger or adhere more tenaciously to your memory than such a maxim? These were followed by an oral condensation of two books, related to the club in story form, one story portraying for us a coveted accom-plishment viz., "The power within us to see a man with a good face, and mphasized the truth that some good s visible in every face if we can

DETOUR-KEYSVILLE

Greetings to you:

Youth Sunday was observed in the Keysville Lutheran Church on the 18th with the help of the Luther League. The young people did a fine job and can be pleased with their participation. Those who helped were: Larry Stambaugh, Gary Larry Stambaugh, were: Larry Stambaugh, Gary Abrecht, Robert Dinterman, Eleanor Clabaugh, Neal Wilhide, Eleanor Kiser, Beverly Young, John Young and Judy Kiser. They read the Old Testament Lesson, the Epistle Lesson, and the Gospel Lesson and then also gave the Sermon. The supper held at the Keysville United Church of Christ on Saturday evening was very successful and quite well attended. I've been told that over 300 suppers were served.

You have probably been wondering about the Tupperware Party held on Saturday evening also. It went over very well indeed. There were 13 ladies present at the party and a number of absentee orders were given ahead of time with several still to come, giving us a total of 40 orders to present. Mrs. Lee, our demonstrator, said we can still take orders with credit to go to this party until Dec. 8. In case you have forgotten something or did not have a chance to order previously, just call Mrs. Anna Clabaugh on 775-5061 or myself on 775-2155. We hope to have an amount to give you next week as to how much we will be able to present to the Building Fund. Thanks so much to all who participated. Oh, yes, forget to mention we have also been given some donations by some ladies who did not need any Tupperware but still wanted to help out. We appreciate their help also.

Mr. Clay Hahn, who makes his home with the Carroll Wilhide family, suffered an attack on Saturday eve ning. It is thought to be a stroke. He was taken by ambulance to the Frederick Memorial Hospital on Sunday evening. I know no further details at this writing on Monday morning, but we hope he will soon be recovered and able to be about again.

Miss Patsy Kantros has come to make her home with the Edward Co-shun family on Keysville Rd. Patsy's sister Kathy, also lives in this same home and they were glad to be re-

Mr. and Mrs. Carroll Wilhide visited in Altoona, Pa., with Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Metzler from Monday to Wednesday of last week.

Friday evening, the 23rd, there will be rehearsal for the Christmas play at Keysville Lutheran Church at 7:30 P. M. This is for the play cast only—

The Keysville-Detour Homemakers Club held their monthly meeting on November 15 at the home of Mrs. William Fleharty. Miss Mary Jane Smith of Middleburg, and a member of the Terra Rubra Girls' 4-H Club, gave a demonstration on, "How to Make a Terrarium, which was very well done. There was to be another demonstration by the Home Manage-ment Leaders called, Money Management: How to Stretch the Shrinking Dollar, but both these ladies — Mrs. John Blanchfield and Mrs. Andrew Baughman-were unable to attend the meeting because of illness, so this demonstration had to be postponed for a future meeting. An announce-ment was made about the 4-H Open House to be held on December 3 at the Ag. Center in Westminster. Mrs. Helen Sanders and Mrs. Louis Keepers told us about their trip to New York City with the Homemakers Group which went earlier in the month. Two visitors were present and we hope they will be able to attend again. Refreshments were served by Mrs. Fleharty and her co-hostess, Mrs. Kathryn Coshun, after the meet ing was adjourned. Next meeting will be the Christmas Party to be held at the home of Mrs. Mark Baumgardner, on the 19th of December.

A birthday celebration supper was given by Mr. and Mrs. Paul Wildisan at their home in Reisterstown, on Sat. evening the 10th, for her mother and father, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Weishaar of the Forest and Stream Club Road Other guests present were Randy and Larry Weishaar, Miss Pat Ship-ley, and Mr. and Mrs. James Weis-haar. Mr. Weishaar's birthday was on the 3d and Mrs. Weishaar's on the 14th. Best wishes to them both.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Stonesifer of Rockville, were week-end guests with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Russell Stonesifer of Keysville.

The Keysville Luther League did very well with their paper drive. They collected 516 tons of paper and they collected 51/2 tons of paper and they request we continue to save our papers and magazines and they will make another collection later. This group sold these papers to make the necessary money to purchase supplies to make Christmas decorations for the Nursing Home in Middleburg. I'm sure these folks will truly appreciate the thoughtfulness of these young people in trying to bring some of the Christmas Spirit into their lives in this way. It is certainly a worth-while this way. It is certainly a worth-while thing to do.

Mrs. Mary Coulson of Hanover, Pa., spent the week-end visiting with her daughter and family, Mr. and Mrs.

Richard Wilhide.

Tuesday the 13th was Visitors Day at the Elmer Wolfe School. A number of parents took this opportunity to visit the school and see their children "in action," so to speak. This is a good thing, for it shows the interest of the parents and makes the children happy too. If you were one of the parents who visited, you undoubtedly noticed how proud your child was to have you there. The Mothers Club served a delicious turkey dinner to those who had indicated they wished to stay for the meal by returning the slips that the children had brought home the week before. There was a program in the afternoon with a speaker from the University of Maryland. I was unable to stay myself, so cannot report fully on this for you. Credit should be given to all the teachers for their part in this program too, for the in-terruptions made by the "ins-andouts" of the visitors surely does disrupt their routine. Mr. and Mrs. Charles Conover and daughter Debbie, of Taneytown were Saturday supper guests with her two brothers and sister-in-law, Mr. Richard Fogle, Mr. and Mrs. Lee Fogle and daughter Ruthie Lee, of Middletown, Md.

The Keysville United Church of Christ will hold their Christmas Party and Covered Dish Social on Monday, December 10. The time will be reported later, but you can mark your calendars now, so you don't for-

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Wildisan of Reisterstown, were week-end guests with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Weishaar. Sunday visitors in this home were, Mr. and Mrs. James Weishaar of Union Bridge.

A Brownie Troop No. 588 has been organized in Taneytown and meets in the Parish Hall of the United Church of Christ. Mrs. Francis Lookingbill and Mrs. Charles Conover are the Leaders. Any girls in the second and third grades of school are invited to

Monday evening, December 3, will be the annual White Gift Service sponsored by the Keysville Lutheran Church Women. This is a very impressive service and all gifts are given to the Rocky Boy, Montana, Indian Mission. Mrs. Gregg Kiser has charge of this service and if anyone is in doubt about the nature of gifts that are acceptable, do give her a call on PL 6-6241. The gifts are all wrapped in white tissue paper and the Altar is draped in white and all white candles are used. The Union Bridge Parish Brotherhood Chorus is to sing again, I understand, and they are always well worth hearing. If you have never been to one of these services, do plan to attend. I'm sure you will be impressed by it. The Service starts at 7:30 P. M. and everyone is cordially invited to attend.

"Old Man Winter" is surely making himself felt, if by no other way, than the illnesses that are going the rounds. First it's cold; then it warms a bit; then it rains and then it even snows awhile. The dampness alone is enough to "get through" anyone some of the days. The Edward Coshun family has had several members on the sick list already; Debbie Conover was ill for 3 days, and Wayne Fleharty has acute bronchitis, right now. Goodness only knows how many others have "winter ailments" right now. No wonder not too many people really look forward to Winter. Adults, that is, for I know the children think of sledding and ice-skating and such. As a closing note this time, I'd like to clear up a possible misunderstanding. You know that I have mentioned the Wolfgang's Candy that the Keysville Lutheran Sunday School is selling for Christmas. Do you also now that I have no attachment to it whatsoever? It has come to my attention that there are some who think I do because of the name. To clear the situation now, I, personally, never heard of Wolfgangs Candy until 4 years ago when my family and I moved to Detour. Since Wolfgang is my maiden name, I naturally inquired of my Grandfather about any family connection. There is none to his knowledge. If so, it is so distant to be almost non-existant. I might add that I feel this is too bad, for it is very good candy and if there was a connection, who knows? it might do me some good, in that I could get mine for free. However, this is not the case and I have to buy mine the same as you. The checolate covered same as you. The chocolate covered nuts are my special weakness. One other addition is the fact that I do have an order sheet and if you have not been in contact with one of the Sunday School Teachers, just give me a call and I will be glad to turn in your order for you. Thanks for your indulgence while I made the explanation planation.

What is your reaction to change, Mr. Bell asked. In all probability you will resist it. This is human nature; for example, our U.S. Patent Com-missioner said in, mind you, 1844, 'Within a few years no further important inventions will remain to be made." We all know how false this prophecy was, Mr. Bell suggested we accept change because it is inevitable; but we must always analyze and consider any change carefully before making it. We should always beware of get rich schemes. As an example of the importance of analyzing and considering changes before we make them, when the electric light was invented, Mr. Bell noted, dozens of candle makers went out of business. Today, 2,750,000 candles are sold every day for one purpose or another; so you see, electric lights did not eliminate the candle business. TV did not hurt radio. So, guard against making the wrong changes.

An example of the wrong changes is contained in this story which Mr.

Bell related: A well-known dog food company was experiencing a steady decline in its sales. Everything the company could think of had been changed to make the product more attractive; new packaging, new sales pitch, wider advertising, etc., etc., etc. Finally, in desperation, the president of the company called all the top level executives into emergency session in an effort to determine what could be done to save the company. It so happened that the cleaning woman was within earshot of the cussion as it got underway. Finally, it was too much for her and she had to speak out. Mr. President, I don't like to interfere but the trouble with your dog food is that the dogs don't The point of the story is like it. quite obvious. The consumer must Jesus Christ, her Lord; She is His like the product you are offering. We must remember that everyone wants to profit from change. If no evidence of this exists the change will be resisted.

In your own community of Taney-town, Mr. Bell said, find a pattern for any change that you want. Do you need new industry, new housing, etc. While you are finding this pattern, study what you have; maybe what you already have is sufficient with proper change. Study buying habits, etc.

Find a need for the change! Find a way to make the change! The next major job is to conquer the objections; this is probably the most difficult part of all. You have a major selling job to do to get any change you want to make accepted. Measure your progress as you move ahead.

Keep looking for a way to do it A typical example of this better. lies in the answer a great artist gave to the quustion, "What do you consider to be your greatest work?" After a moments thought, the artist answered, "My next one!"

Mr. Bell enjoined us to get in step with the pace of change and not falter from the change of pace. He challenged us by saying that no change was ever brought about by caution - courage is requisite. Mr. Bell closed with this well-known

"Give me the courage to change things that need changing; give me the wisdom to leave alone the things that don't need changing; and the judgment to know which is which."

Mr. Bell's address was one of the finest we have had the pleasure of hearing and the entire affair is considered to be a huge success. -NWP.

THANKSGIVING FOODS TOP NOVEMBER PLENTIFULS

Traditional Thanksgiving favorites will highlight the November food scene. Turkeys and cranberries, with frozen orange juice as a bonus, will top the U.S. Department of Agriculture's monthly plentifuls listing.

Harvest Turkey Time will encompass the entire month as supplies will be down barely 10 per cent from last year's record levels. There's another record breaking cranberry crop this year; nearly 11/2 million barrels, 13 per cent over 1961 and 30 per cent above average. How-ever, a new Federal Marketing Order will withhold 12 per cent of the crop from domestic use.

Frozen orange juice makes the plentifuls list for the sixth time. Retail prices are down substantially from last year.

Broiler-fryers also appear in the plentifuls picture. November marketings will be about 10 per cent above last year.
For the November fruitbowl, make it apples, grapes and pears. All are bumper crops of good quality. Although the fall potato crop is 6 per cent smaller than last year, it's still some 22 per cent above average. Other plentifuls will include shortening and Maine sardines.

Letter To The Editor

November 16, 1962 East Ealtimore Street

Taneytown, Maryland Dear Mr. Stonesifer: This year, as you know, the Community Chest-Red Cross United Appeal failed to raise the funds needed to support many vital health and welfare programs in the Baltimore Metropolitan area. On the brighter Metropolitan area. On the brighter side, we did raise the largest amount in any drive. The campaign this year was made up of much outstanding cooperation which cannot go unrecognized.

The editorial support received by the United Appeal from your paper was excellent. We are grateful to you and your staff for helping us.

REFUNDS DUE FEDERAL IN-COME TAXPAYERS, RETURNED BY POSTOFFICE — UNABLE TO LOCATE

During the 1962 Federal Income Tax filing period in the Baltimore District which comprises Maryland and District of Columbia, approximately 1,550,000 individual income tax returns were filed, according to

Machiz said, from January 1st to October 31st, 952,993 taxpayers received $121,160,953 in refunds. During that same period over 4,000 Marylanders and District of Columbia residents' refund checks totaling thousands of dollars were returned by the post office department because of incorrect address, or the taxpayer had moved without notifying the Internal Revenue Service. Some of these taxpayers failed to give an address others left no forwarding address, many named the city in which they lived but gave no street address; still others gave street addresses but did not list the town in which they lived. Continuing, Machiz said we have exhausted all means of notification on the current list and are now ask ing the newspapers to help locate the missing taxpayers. The refunds range from $1.00 to $600.00.

If a taxpayer finds his name on the list, write to District Director of Internal Revenue, Code 3210, 707 N. Calvert Street, Baltimore 2, Md., giving your old address, present address, social security number and your name. Please do not telephone — your request must be in writing and must nclude the information stated above.

Private Streets into County Roads System

The County Commissioners announced the adoption of an ordinance dealing with the construction and acceptance of existing private streets into the County roads system.

Such action is made possible through an Act passed in the 1961 and amended in the 1962 Special Session of the General Assembly, the bill being introduced by Senator E. O. Weant, Jr., and supported by the Carroll County Delegation. The Act as amended became effective June 1, 1962.

The ordinance has been under discussion for over one year, including two public hearings, and modifications have been made to the original draft of the ordinance after each hearing. The purpose of the ordinance and the legislation, according to the County Commissioners, is to enable many citizens now living on private and unimproved streets to have the County do the necessary construction and allow those citizens to reimburse the County for 75 per cent of the cost over a period of ten years.

In many cases, it was pointed out, developers have "left property owners holding the bag" when actually the developer should have completed the street in the first place. For a number of years the County has required macadam streets before accepting them into the County's road system for maintenance.

With the ordinance now in effect, quite a number of details will be necessary for those citizens living on such private streets to accomplish. First, a petition of a majority of property owners will be necessary prior to any County Commissioner consideration. Second, a public hearing of property owners of the street requested to be improved in the petition will be necessary at which at least sixty-six and two-thirds approval vote will be required for the County to construct the street after learning of the estimated cost. Third, the County Commissioners must approve the petition after all such details are accomplished.

The County Commissioners have been faced with a long-standing problem of what to do with the many requests to have private streets taken into the County roads system in which County specifications for construc-tion have not been met. The means of allowing the County to finish the construction and charge the property owners on such private streets for their share of the cost over a period of ten years may relieve an unfortunate problem in which many citizens in the County have found themselves. Citizens of several developments have or are in the process of filing the necessary petitions in accordance with the ordinance. As they are received and as requested by the County Commissioners, bids will be asked for the construction, and in turn, citizens will be made aware of their share of the cost of the project prior to the required public hearing for each

All streets constructed under the ordinance will be in accordance with County specifications and will apply only to those exisiting streets not a part of the County's official road system. No new streets started after the effective date of the ordinance will be eligible for consideration.

The County Commissioners announced that petitions would be re-ceived and considered on a "firstcome, first-served" basis and the streets would be constructed as funds become available. Once constructed the street would be maintained by the Carroll County Roads Department.

ASSISTANCE TO FARMERS

Farmers of drought-stricken Car-roll County should proceed without delay to take advantage of the Federal order listing the county as a drought disaster area, according to Joseph H. ("Jack") Hahn, delegate to the Maryland General Assembly from Carroll County.

Carroll is one of 14 (fourteen) Maryland counties as designated by the Department of Agriculture folowing an appeal by state officials

S. Navy and U. S. Marine Corps have assigned to the Atlantic Ocean area for the third manned orbital flight into space.

The organization of ships and air units, Task Force 140, is now on station in the Atlantic to locate and recover Astronaut Walter M. Schirra, should his flight be terminated there. A similar organization, Task Force 130, is on station in the Pacific Ocean, where the landing is expected to take

The force in the Atlantic is com-manded by Rear Admiral Harold G. Bowen, Jr., Commander Cruiser-De-Stroyer Flotilla Four. He is at the Cape Canaveral control center to direct the force, which includes 19 ships, over 50 aircraft and a group of specialists in the launchsite area.

The around-the-world vigil, maintained by the Pacific and Atlantic recovery forces, marks the first time that Pacific Fleet forces have been specifically assigned to Project Mercury recover operations, However, in spaceshots, all military units which possibly might be used have been on standby during the shot. ### BOARD OF EDUCATION MEETING

A regular meeting of the Board of Education of Carroll County was held in the Board Offices on October 30 at 9:30 A. M. with President DeVries R. Hering presiding. The Board took action to approve the minutes of the meeting of September 25 and gave approval to the current financial transactions and the monthly statement.

The Board approved teaching contracts in replacement positions for David Mann and Mrs. Betty B. Keyser. Resignations were accepted from Don-ald C. Rabush and Mrs. Anita L. Miller.

The Board took miscellaneous action in connection with application of the salary scale in the cases of a number of employee personnel, adjustments being necessary because of status changes related to certification. The Board heard a letter prepared for submitting to the school personnel, including principals and supervisors, related to the operation of schools and the maintenance of educational services under emergency conditions. Consideration was given by the Board to reports connected with the testing of boiler water and the ad-to heating efficiency and boiler maintenance. Approval was granted for the purchase of miscellaneous equipment including a communication system for dition of chemical addatives related the East End Elementary School. The Board acted to approve the purchase and exchange of an automobile for staff use after bids had been submitted by dealers and pub-licly opened. The purchase was au-thorized to be made from the Harken Ford Co. and included the exchange of a used car. The Board was given copies of the enrollment tabulation for the month of September, 1962, including a total current enrollment of 11,385 pupils in the county schools. A number of questions were asked in connection with the significance of the enrollment statistics as they may be applied building planning and other moves connected with school attendance

Consideration was given to a suggested budget for 1963 to include the 1963-64 school year in part. Action was taken to approve the tentative budget figures, subject to adjustment when another meeting is held during the month of November for final consideration and approval.

The Board took important action in making a decision to proceed with the planning and construction of a six-room addition at the Sandymount School, including modifications to existing toilet facilities and offices. It is understood that this project will be ready for advertising on or about January 1. Growing enrollment in the Finksburg-Sandymount-Westminster area seemed to justify the con-struction of the building as planned and due consideration was given to the suggestion that perhaps additional rooms should be constructed.

The Board took further important action in making a decision to proceed with the planning for and construction of a four-room and library addition at the Freedom District Elementary School. This decision was made on the basis of a growing demand for elementary school facilities in this area and consideration was given to the projected plan for con-structing a primary school in the Oak-land Mills-Liberty Dam area for primary children. It was not possible to take action on the later project because of the fact that negotiations for the acquisition of land are not

One of the important factors for a green, carpet-like lawn is proper watering. But knowing how much water is best for your soil is no simple matter. Capacity of the soil varies and depth of topsoil, climate, depth of grass roots are factors that must be considered.

Lighter soil must be watered more frequently than heavy soil. Assuming that grass in each soil type is extracting the average 60 gallons a week, you'd have to water a 10' x 10' sandy plot once a week, loam every 101/2

Knowing how much water to use and when to use it is only half the battle. Putting this knowledge to work is the next step. A new development, Melnor Industries H2Off Water Timer regulates water volume automatically, measures and shuts itself off when the desired amount of water has been put down. The device helps give your lawn just the right amount of water required to keep it lush

Pickles Perk Up Chicken Salad

Traditional vote-getter among main dish salads is chicken traditional vote-getter among main dish salads is chicken; but we predict it will rise even higher on the popularity poll when you perk it up with candied dill pickle, toasted almonds and grapes. Candied dill pickle is lightly spiced, more delicate in flavor than most sweets, so it balances nicely with the fruit and nuts. There is no reason, however, why you can't substitute any of the other sweet pickle varieties.

Serve this special summer salad with spiced peaches and hot rolls.

"Yes" to God Lesson for November 25, 1962

F WE weren't so used to the Christian religion, we should be all the time astonished by it. Here for example is a church full of people who have come together to worship God. The man who leads the worship reads to them out of an ancient book, centuries old in fact, the holy book of all these people. And what is the minister reading about this morning? Somewhere in the 318,000 churches of America, it is Dr. Foreman a safe guess that every single week some congregation listens to a story about something that happened in a jail That jailer has been to church (or his story has been read in church) oftener than many a respectable

We know for a fact that many more respectable people than this jailer became Christians during the first years of the Christian religion. Then why is space given to the tale of this miserable man? Besides, why is this story of the jailer told and re-told so often? One reason is, this is the story that shows how simple a thing it is to be a Christian. If it was possible for that jailer, it is possible for anybody.

Can you imagine that jailer coming to your church and asking to join it? What would people say: They would say he was too stupid to know what Christianity means. They would say he couldn't find congenial friends in your church. (How many jailers are on your church roll, by the way? How many prison guards?) People would even say he was too old a man to change; that he beats his prisoners, he doesn't even provide them with meals, he doesn't let them lie down at night. A brutal, cruel, ignorant, low-grade character, this particular city

"Yes" to Jesus

Like a good many others, this man didn't set out to be a Christian. The question he asked, in excitement and terror, "What must I do to be saved?" was not a religious question for him. Under the law, he was responsible for his prisoners, and he was sure they must have all escaped. This meant losing his job, it would certainly mean that he would be beaten, and probably mean that he would be sentenced to death. He had seen too many men tortured and killed to want to be a victim himself. So he cries out. What must I do to be saved? Paul knew, Paul had been saved. He had heard God's call out under the sky. Now this jailer was going to hear God's call in a dark jail smelling of rats and human blood Paul knew the man needed to be saved from something worse than loss of a job, something worse than being executed. He needed to be saved from his sins, saved from himself So he tells him a real piece of news. It was some thing that had to be explained. and Paul went on to explain it But the thing was simple: "Believe in the Lord Jesus." As we can put it in other words, that meant saying "Yes" to what Jesus was and did. It would mean more and more as life would go on. But the jailer could begin where all Christians begin: by saying YES to Jesus

"Yes" to God

Paul's own Christian life had begun with two questions, and we may suspect that he led that jailer to ask them too. "Who art Thou?" and "What wilt Thou have me to do?" Saying Yes to Jesus means accepting him as the very grace of God in person,-the love of God walking on two feet. Saying Yes to Jesus is accepting him as the One who gave himself for us all, and that includes jailers and jailed, it includes the worst of men and the best of men. Saying Yes does not mean doing this or that to attract God's notice and to get him over on our side. It means just taking hold of the hand of God, it means accepting, not forcing, not buying, just accepting as a free and marvelous Gift, the mercy of the eternal God.

But how much of this could be explained to the jailer in less than an hour? How can we be so sure he became a Christian? The writer of Acts never does actually say that the jailer was saved. But he certainly was. Let the reader study the story in Acts 16 once again: why can we be sure? (Based on outlines copyrighted by the Division of Christian Education, National Council of the Churches of Christ in the U. S. A. Released by Community Press Service.) TANEYTOWN ORGANIZATIONS

Non-Food Uses of Paper Plates

Paper plates can be used for a variety of purposes other than for serving food, points out the manufacturer of Bondware paper plates and cups. By using a paper plate to hold your nail polish and accessories, you can eliminate furniture stains. Children will enjoy decorating them for their rooms or for parties. Paper plates can also be made into colorful masks. Use plastic-coated plates to label your newly-seeded garden. ### Money-Saving Main Dish

Hearty hot frankfurter potato salad is an ideal main dish for warm weather menus. The beauty of this salad is that the whole thing is prepared in one skillet—starting with the raw potatoes!

Cubed raw potatoes and onion are first cooked gently in the bacon drippings until the edges begin to look transparent. Then comes the beginning of the built-in salad dressing, for water and double-rich evaporated milk are added and the potatoes are cooked suntil tender. By that time the liquid has thickened to greamy until tender. By that time the liquid has thickened to creamy smoothness, and with the mere addition of vinegar, prepared mustard and seasonings, there's the salad dressing.

HOT FRANKFURTER POTATO SALAD

3 slices bacon

4 cups cubed raw potatoes 1 small onion, chopped

1 tall can evaporated milk 1/4 cup vinegar

1/8 teaspoon pepper

1 cup boiling water Fry bacon in a large skillet over low heat until crisp. Remove and set aside to drain. Add frankfurters, which have been cut in inch chunks, to bacon fat and cook over low heat, stirring frequently until lightly Frowned. Remove and set aside to drain. Add cubed raw potatoes and onion to bacon fat in skillet, and cook and stir over low heat until most of fat is absorbed and onion is transparent, about 3 to 4 minutes. Add water and evaporated milk, and continue cooking over low heat until potatoes are tender and sauce starts to thicken, about 20 to 25 minutes, stirring occasionally. Blend vinegar with mustard, salt and pepper. Add frankfurters to potatoes, then slowly stir in vinegar mixture, blending thoroughly. Remove from heat and crumble bacon on top. Serve hot.

Since this first zipper, bulky as a dog chain, many improvements have led to today's Zephyr, which is thin as a seam, since the zipper coil is made of nylon in lovely permanent colors to match milady's gowns. Mr. Judson may have thought that his shoe slide fastener was the answer to an easier life, but this new Talon zipper can release caught fabrics or threads—just bend in half, pull open, and it mends itself in two zips. It won't pinch, scratch, bulge or chill, and has all these crowning features, thanks to the nylon coil. In his day, of course, there was no such thing as nylon, while today, it would be difficult to find a woman who is not familiar with nylon's virtues. It is just second nature for a woman to use an iron set at 'synthetic' temperature, or use a cloth when pressing the zipper because it is nylon-a fair enough exchange for a superior product and life long service
