MEETING OF INDUSTRIAL DEVELOPMENT COMMITTEE

The Carroll County Industrial Development Committee at its January meeting took up three important matters relative to the county's future economic growth. One of the proposals was a consideration of legislation in the current session of the General Assembly for the formation of a County Economic Development Commission. This matter was turned over to committee study, such committee being headed by Charles D. Shaeffer, chairman, and including Robert Bankert and Charles Angell.

A second matter received by the Commission was a current proposal by the Colonial Pipeline Company to locate a terminal storage facility for petroleum products in the Berrett District in Carroll County, such facility to be served solely by pipeline leading from Texas to New York. Mr. J. D. Johnson, a company representative from the pipeline company, related the details of the proposal to the Committee and answered many questions relative to cost, safety, appearance and construction plans. Following the meeting, the Committee asked that a resolution be prepared by a special committee consisting of Henry H. Himler, Randall Spoerlein and Frank T. Dunham, such resolution recommending that the county and its citizens encourage the construction of the storage facility and the pipeline in Carroll County as a desireable step in the county's economic development.

A final matter approved by the committee was pointed to aiding the agricultural picture in the county. A new brochure was presented showing Carroll County's locational advantage and Maryland's advantage to its horse breeders by reason of special legisla-tion provided in 1962 earmarking a percentage of racing funds to Mary-land breeders. The attractive brochure was requested to be sent to horse breeders in a four-state area with hopes that some may decide to locate operations on a Carroll County farm. Frank T. Dunham is chairman of the special industrial committee which has been in existence for two years.

QUOTABLE QUOTES . . .

The record of the Republicans as an opposition party in the last two years is the poorest in a half-century of American politics. The Republicans have ignored the lessons of the past and feel they must fashion their strategy to fit Democratic party concepts. They argue among themselves about "liberalism" and "conservatism," or about "old Republicanism" and "new Republicanism," while they should be uniting to tell the country of the scandals that are emerging under the Kennedy Administration. For rarely in history have governmental powers been so brazenly used to build a national political machine. -David Lawrence, editor of U. S. News and World Report.

Thirty-two million Americans now are living on the "outskirts of poverty," according to President Kennedy's State of the Union message. In 1960, when he was campaigning for the job he now holds, he said that 17 million Americans go to bed hungry every night. Thus, in two years of getting the Country moving again, he has managed to add 15 million Americans to the poverty list.

The billions pour out, the deficit grows, of course. Any child knows that when you waste money, when you spend more than you earn, you go broke. If you could spend yourself rich, every park bench panhandler would be a millionaire. - From an advertisement by Warner and Swasey, precision machinery makers since 1880.

The New Frontier's $100 a ticket inaugural gala at the National Guard armory January 18 and a $1,000 a plate private dinner party the same night at the new International Inn in downtown Washington produced the most brazen in a long series of administration shakedowns.—Republican Congressional Committee Newsletter.

To curry favor with political groups, President Kennedy, by his executive orders on a variety of subjects, has ignored the law of the land in an usurpation of governmental power. The country needs a purging of political immoralities.—David Lawrence.

The charge that the Eisenhower administration permitted a "missile gap" is no longer heard in debate. It remains nevertheless as one of the biggest falsehoods ever perpetrated in American politics.—U. S. News. -"The Republican," Oakland, Md.

Since it's founding in 1955, the grants have reached the over-$13 million mark. They are given to institutions of higher learning throughout the country. Some of our folks are sick with colds, or flu. We are told that in Baltimore City one out of five are sick with it.

In "Sunshine" we read that the common cold, by careful estimate, is a five billion dollar thief of our money and time. Whenever you talk, you spread cold germs eight feet; whenever you cough, twelve feet; whenever you cough, twelve feet. ever you sneeze, twenty feet. And since this is how a cold is passed from one person to another, no wonder this disease steals more time and money than any other! Absenteeism, medical bills and production losses caused by colds set our country back $5 billion a year. You yourself prob-ably do your share by catching a cold every six months.

You would think that as cold as it has been the germs would all be dead by this time. Or could it be possible that they thrive on zero weather?

A VOICE FROM CARROLL

At the moment the writers for smart magazines have found a new subject to write about and analyze, at least some think it's brand new. The subject is the "working wife." The writers and experts have picked the subject of teen-agers bare to the bone and so now they have pounced on the women who combine home-making with an outside job. What is wrong with that? Plenty, say the men and women who write for mag-azines. What are the reasons that women burden themselves with two obs when one should be enough There are a number of reasons, but the one that heads the list is financial and right behind that is boredom with house work. Let's face it, the make-tied together. The vast majority of American women are no longer mentally equipped to just "keep house." For one thing, they are better educated and are interested in the world around them to the extent that cooking, cleaning and household duties gets to be a dull routine that soon stifles their mental capacity. A creative woman soon rebels and either finds a job away from the dull rou-tine or becomes a frustrated woman time or becomes a frustrated woman taking her resentment out on her family. In spite of all that is written against working married women because of the effect upon children and home life, the women themselves will head a For women can combine two teachers. There must be teachers to the combined. There must be teachers to the combined without them there would tentment and finances. Some people may imply that they prefer the old-fashioned housewife (how much women resent that word) but we note that word but we note that we had a form decrease that we have the had a form decrease that we had a form decrease that we have the had a form decrease that we have the h en resent that word) but we notice that the new generation of men want a wife with a job. And it's also gratifying to note that the new generation of men can cook a meal and are willing to lend a hand with the right.

Warmer that the preceding ones, we hopefully asked someone if maybe we would have an early spring. "No," he said, "it's just winter backing up to get a fresh start." He sure was are willing to lend a hand with the right. housework. Indeed, marriage has bebringing it about.

If anyone in Carroll has a bouquet or complaint for his Congressman remember that Carlton Sickles is the only United States Representative from Maryland who can represent every and all citizens of the State Each district is also represented by a Congressman but Mr. Sickles is the only Congressman-at-Large. Dr. Clarence D. Long is also our County's Congressman.

In a recent discussion of today's soft living, a visitor recalled: "When I was a boy, I worked 12 to 14 hours on the farm. On Sunday I rode a mule ten miles to church, and when I got there we sang, 'Work For The Night Is Coming.' Now the farm is modernized and when Sunday comes my grandson and his family gets in the grandson and his family gets in the car and drive over paved roads to church, where they sit in a pew with cushions and listen to a choir sing, 'O Lord, How Weary Art We.'"

Annapolis this session is the one for yearly auto inspection. Maryland is accused of being the dumping ground for second-hand cars that are only fit for the junk heap. Both Pennsylvania and Washington, D.C., get rid of their worn out cars in Maryland simply because they have strict laws compelbecause they have strict laws compelling car owners to submit their cars to yearly inspection. Maybe this is one reason for the increased death rate on Maryland highways. Young drivers seem to have a yen for old worn out cars and are more apt to take chances than the older driver. A question asked recently by a professor might set you to thinking as it did me. The question was: "How well does your community treat its school teachers?" Does your community hold out a friendly hand to Friends may call at the funeral home the men and women who has the this (Thursday) evening. They were not entitled to any private life and small communities made it their business to see what went on in what little private life they had. This of course has changed but there are still many ways in which a teachers life can be made unhappy. The professor that asked the question about a community attitude toward teachers was decide. Mail Creates A Vast Supermarket

The United States is fast becoming one giant supermarket, thanks largely to novel mail selling techniques used in business. The number of American consumers who do most of their shopping by mail has consistently increased yearly despite the fact that the population is no longer predominantly rural. Today's catalogs are no longer filled exclusively with suits, harnesses and kerosene lanterns but offer such items as oil paintings, Norwegian skis, fur coats, titanium cuff-links and vacations in the sun. Business mail has become, as this Christmas clearly indicated, a first-class barometer revealing the rising trend of the economy helping thousands more to be-come armchair shoppers. It has boosted sales of goods and services — more than $29 billion last year — and in the process has created a whole category of jobs, from specialty paper man-ufacturing to lithography.

True National Market

Business mail and mail-order have helped make America a truly national market for goods which were normally regional in character. This is attested to by the increase in sales-by-mail since a year ago, up 25% in some companies who report their best Christmas orders in history. Many of these sales, clinched by direct mail, merely complete the work of advertising these products by newspapers, magazines and radio-tv... and the results are there to prove it. By the end of 1962 mail merchandisers had printed and distributed upwards of 200 million catalogs. Big companies like Montgomery-Ward and Sears, Roebuck whose catalogs list between 125,000 and 140,000 items no longer pre-empt the smaller companies and specialty houses who are now doing well at it themselves.

One West Coast firm which began twelve years ago had 1956 sales of $1 million. It hit a peak of $10 million in 1962, climaxed by a highly successful Christmas season → Asked for his formula for success, the owner replied, "We sell things you don't need but feel you can't live without". He sells 600 items ranging from silver thumbtacks to fancy birthday

Market Pattern Changes

In changing the marketing pattern of the nation, mail has become big-league business. Foodstuffs, for example, move across the country without regard to distance or deteriorating shelf-life. Maple syrup is ordered from Vermont in winter, or when you want it; grapefruit from Texas while the snow is on the northern grounds; lobsters live from Maine, and fresh salmon from the Pacific Northwest.

Diversity of products and ideas is the key to this mail supermarket, keeping entrepreneurs alert and constantly searching for things people want — and will buy. An example of diversity is the two-man fiberglass submarine that one house offers by mail one house offers by mail — $2,495 for the de-luxe model. Even the horse collar and potbellied stoves do well. But oil paintings are also doing better, indicating that there is no set formula to consumer's shopping habits. The only answer is to give them a wide selection, and ousiness mail does its share of bringing people an infinite variety. And if the postman doesn't always ring twice, the mail he brings makes the cash register

Power

Lesson for February 3, 1963

POWER is always fascinating. A champion boxer or swimmer, a Palmer or Niklaus driving down a long fairway, Niagara Falls seen from below, a severe electrical storm, a hurricane,—or the of fear . . . No kind of power is dull. Those who have it, or control it, seem awed by it themselves; and those of us who have little power are afraid lest

Dr. Foreman power of storm or brute force of brutal men be turned against us. But whenever that word Power strikes the ear or eye, one of three words-or all of them-come to the mind at once, as a kind of question. Power -we think; power for-? power over-? power by-?

Power over...

The four pictures of Jesus in the four Gospels are each one different from the others. Mark's picture is one of the Divine Man of Power. Christ's ideas interested Mark less than His mighty deeds. For Mark, Jesus spoke by action quite as much as by words. Mark's Gospel gives an amazing answer to the question: What did Jesus have power over? Everything, Mark says in effect. Even storms: even death. Things out of this world, like demons, or things in this world, like fever,-Jesus controlled them all. This is so astounding that there have always ben persons who boggle at it. There must be some exaggeration here, they think, or some imagination running wild. However, let us take it for granted that Mark was telling the truth, wild as it seemed to be then and now. What he affirms is miracle, no less. Men today have some power over fever, storms, mad-ness and death; but hey do not claim miracles. The miraculous feature of Jesus' miracles was that He didn't de anything, He didn't use anything, He just willed

(with or without words) that something happen, or cease to happen, -and on the instant, so it was. The whole point of a miracle is not that it is unique or astonishing. The point is, it is not what would happen if nature were left to itself. The doctor giving antibiotics for infection may be using "miracle drugs" but the drugs are not really miraculous, they are as much a part of nature as the germs are. Jesus' will is superior to nature. Jesus commands nature to be un-natural; and it

Power for ...

There is more to be said. The power of nature seems at times to have no purpose. We talk about an "angry sea," a "bitter wind," but the sea is not angry, and the bitterness of the wind is nothing compared to bitterness in the heart. The sea just smashes and passes on, the wind would as soon freeze a baby as an escaped convict. Nature has no purposes, or if she does she is not aware of them. But all Jesus did-whether we call it miracle or not-was purposeful. Now the purposes of ordinary men may be strong, but they are not always good and they are never completely wise. The purpose of Jesus in nearly every act of power He performed was

Power by ...
During Jesus' lifetime, we are told, people asked one another Who then is this? Mark has al ready introduced Jesus to his readers: this is the good news about Jesus Christ, the Son of God. This is power exerted by one who is so Godlike that He can be called the Son of God. And this is why (as Christians believe) only a few persons in the long history of the world, and then only for a few moments in all their lifetime, have been permitted to share the divine power that Jesus had. H G. Wells wrote a story called "The Man Who Could Work Miracles," and any one who reads that charming and funny-tragic story will see why it is that it is a very good thing for the world that miracles (mostly) don't happen. Miracles are safe only when the power that wills them is wielded by one who shares the knowledge and the wisdom and the love of the infinite God. It may become terribly clear to a few survivors, if any, of a nuclear war, that ultimate power, used by angry or ambitious men or nations, may turn miracle into

-New and Easy-Money-Saving Main Dish

Three go-together foods—sausage, hominy and tomatoes—make this skillet meal which is both good to look at and good to eat. The sausage meat is made into shapely balls and browned well as the beginning step. Uncooked corn meal is added to extend the sausage and make the meat less compact. Undiluted evaporated milk is used to blend and bind the mixture so that the meat balls may be shaped easily. Evaporated milk also keeps the meat balls juicy moist throughout the cooking. Sage seasons both the sausage balls and the hominy-tomato part of this skillet dinner.

1/2 cup uncooked corn meal 2/3 cup evaporated milk teaspoon rubbed sage 1/4 cup flour

SAUSAGE SKILLET DINNER 1 can (11/4 lb.) hominy, drained 2 cans (1 lb. each) stewed 1 teaspoon salt Dash of pepper

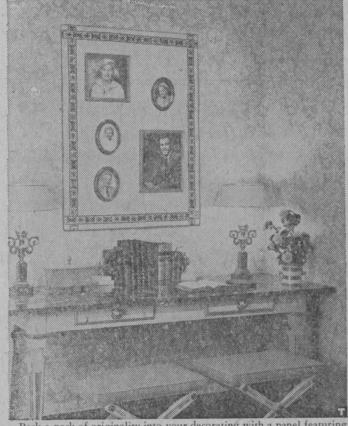

Mix together the sausage, corn meal, evaporated milk and ½ teaspoon of the sage. Divide mixture into 16 portions and shape into balls. Roll balls in the ¼ cup flour to coat, saving remaining flour. Place sausage balls in a large skillet. Cook over low heat, turning to brown balls lightly on all sides. Remove pan from heat. Dip off all but 2 to 3 tablespoons of the fat. Stir in the reserved flour, then add hominy, tomatoes, salt, pepper and the remaining ¼ teaspoon rubbed sage. Mix well. Cover pan and cook over low heat until thickened, about 15 minutes. Makes 6 servings.

New Craft Idea Popular With All Ages

There is something so appealing about a poodle; people just can't help but be attracted to them. Here in the picture is a poodle that is bright and saucy and, best of all, it can be made easily by almost anyone. All it takes is coat hangers, tape, ribbon and two rolls of Handi-Wrap, the lunchbox wrap available at supermarkets everywhere. The directions for making this poodle can be obtained by sending a postcard to: The Dow Chemical Company, Specialty Products Division, Bay City, Michigan. Have yourself a time with a Poodle Party. Get together with a group and make dogs for bazaars or other charity events. Let the young folks get into the swing, too, by making a poodle for their very own. Directions for making a lion and a kangaroo are also available at the same address.

A word of caution: Be sure to use Handi-Wrap to make these

A word of caution: Be sure to use Handi-Wrap to make these animals. Other plastic wraps may have too much cling. Once you have made one, no doubt you will have ideas of your own for other animals. As you get into this fascinating craft, you will find that it is fun, and as a group activity, it is ideal.
