Minstrel Fair A Success

The Minstrel Fair that was produced by the Taneytown Junior Chamber of Commerce and presented on April 18, 19 and 20 in the Taneytown High School Auditorium was a decided success.

About 75 local persons were in the presentation of the show which was well received by everyone who attended. Although no one in the cast was a professional the acting and singing was good.

To mention the names of the directors and the choreographer would be unfair to the cast, as each actor played his part well. Congratulations to the Jaycees and to each person who had a part in the presentation. It meant a lot of work, time and sacrifice.

T.B. ASSOCIATION TO HONOR INDIVIDUALS

The Maryland Tuberculosis Association will honor individuals employed in the communications media during the Association's 59th Annual Meeting, slated for the Emerson Hotel on May 6 and 7. The "Communications Awards" Banquet will be held at the hotel at 6:30 on May 6 and will be emceed by Miss Rhea, star of WBAL's Miss Rhea and Sunshine Show.

The awards, which were instituted in 1962 are given to individuals on the "working staff" employed by the newspapers, radio and television stations, according to TB Association president John D. Alexander. "We wanted," said Mr. Alexander, "to find some significant method of saying 'Thank You,' to those people who actually do the work."

"So often," he pointed out, "awards are given the publisher or owner and the working reporter or performer is overlooked. For this reason we ask each of our county TB associations to nominate one individual who has been especially helpful during the year."

In Baltimore City three awards are given, for radio, television and the daily press.

To be honored at the 1963 meeting for their efforts in interpreting the tuberculosis story, as well as public health problems in general, are Jerry Mares, of WCBM; Edwin Hirschmann, of the Evening Sun, and Mel Bernstein, of WJZ-TV. In addition Miss Rhea and Calvin Schuman (Sunshine) will be honored for their collection of nearly a quarter of a million ice cream sticks, to be used by hospitalized tuberculosis patients.

Representing Anne Arundel County will be Peter B. Lauck, City Editor of the Evening Capital.

Prince Georges County has named George Aman, Editor of the Prince Georges Post.

Norman W. Harrington, Editor of the Eastern Star Democrat will be honored for his efforts in behalf of the Talbot County TB Association.

Others to receive awards at the banquet include Dick Denham, Radio Station WINX, Rockville; Mrs. Jean Holmes, Elllicott City Times, and Robert W. Martin, Radio Station WCUM, Cumberland.

As this was election time for the Club the chairman of the nomination committee read the following nominees: president, Frank Wargny; 1st vice president, Thomas Smith; 2nd vice president, David Hilterbrick; 3rd vice president, Donald Lawyer; secretary-treasurer, Kenneth Shorb; Tail Twister, Delmont Koons; Lion Tamer, Dr. Paul Roxin; directors, Theodore Fair and Kenneth Gilds. As there were no nominations from the floor it was moved that the secretary cast the ballot for the above nominees.

The speaker, George A. Grier, introduced an observer from Western Maryland College, Mr. Bruce Trenning. Mr. Grier, who is in charge of Carroll County Planning, gave us an idea what to expect as to increased population and the need for more jobs, more schools, streets, roads, water and recreation facilities. He said in 1940 the population of Carroll County was 17,000 and by 1960 it increased to 53,000 with 10 per cent under age 5. With this increase the dwelling requirements till 1980 will be around 560 new homes per year. He stated that almost 8 per cent, or 1182, homes are in Taneytown District. One-third of Carroll County industry is now farming. There are now 11,400 students in the County schools compared to 7,000 in 1950. Mr. Grier commended Taneytown on their good water and sewer facilities. He then used some slides showing the growth of Carroll County.

The speaker for the evening was Dr. Richard Marius of the faculty of the Gettysburg College. A list of all delinquent taxpayers owing money to the town of Taneytown has been given to the town's attorney, Mr. Stanford Hoff. Attorney Hoff is preparing the necessary legal documents so that all outstanding taxes may be collected. All delinquent taxpayers were given 30 days in which to make payment in full. However, several are still delinquent making this action necessary.

The Mayor and City Council is asking all landlords within the corporate limits, to notify either Mayor Perry or Clerk Henry Reindollar whenever a tenant moves in or out of a property, so that proper adjustments may be made on Water and Sewer charges for the quarter. Unless notification is given, a full quarter's charge will be made to the tenant when he moves in, or to the landlord when the tenant moves out.

Attention is directed to all persons going on extended vacations that unless the town is notified in advance, the customer shall be responsible for the payment of all water and sewer service rendered by the Corporation. A minimum charge of $6.00 per quarter will be made. This is in accordance with Water Ordinance #178, Section 5(b).

MOTHER NATURE PRESENTS — ANNUAL SPRING SPECTACULAR

The month of April is filled with loveliness and whispers a promise of even lovelier things to come. This particular April is unusually warm and windy. The showers, which we always associate with this season of the year, are conspicuous by their absence. The weather is ideal for any kind of outdoor activity, whether it be planting a garden, playing ball, or cleaning up the yard. It is the time for little girls to jump rope and for boys to brush up on their batting, hitting and catching.

It is time, also, for the Annual Spring Spectacular, presented each year by Mother Nature. It is put on for the benefit of any of us who will use our eyes and ears to really enjoy it. For each performance, the stage is beautifully decorated. The sets for April are gay with daffodils, tulips, forsythia, hyacinths and pussy willow. Old Sol is in charge of the lighting. He is doing an admirable job. The wind provides a soft musical background as it lightly plays upon the trees and grass. One by one, the performers come on stage. A song sparrow leads off with a lilting soprano solo. Next, a mixed chorus composed of meadow larks, robins, red-winged blackbirds and bluebirds render several selections. Right on cue a group of shiny black crows puts on a unique minstrel show. A woodpecker provides a drum solo, and two pheasants make a brief but colorful appearance. They are followed by a rather timid "bob-white." A mockingbird steps into the spotlight next. His mimic act is a real delight. All of these are veteran performers.

There is another kind of music in the program, too. This music is not made by nature, but by man. In the background, the sound of many tractors is heard as farmers busily engage in the spring plowing, harrowing and planting. A jet plane zooms overhead and a train whistles in the distance. Without the mechanical music, the show would not be complete.

Here's hoping that all of you will take time out from your busy days to enjoy this Spring Spectacular. You'll certainly not regret it.

—Zola Cantwell.

TANEYTOWN KI-WIVES MEET

The Ki-Wives of Taneytown met Monday evening at 6:30 o'clock at Taney Inn with Kitty Royer at the helm. Pres. Linda Hopkins was attending her son's graduation at Great Lakes, Illinois. After singing one verse of America and the pledge to the flag, the invocation was given by Hazel Cluts. The chaplain, Alice Frock, is sojourning at the Annie Warner Hospital. May she have a speedy recovery is the fondest wish of all.

After partaking of a delicious meal, all enjoyed group singing with Daisy Pearl Reifsnider as song leader and Esther Harner at the piano. Kitty Royer welcomed the members and visitors and read four "thank you notes," one from Daisy Pearl and one from Linda Hopkins thanking everyone for flowers while they were hospitalized; and one from Virginia Sanders and Peggy Nelson thanking the Ki-Wives for their support in organizing the Keyettes Club of Taneytown High School. The minutes of the Ki-Wives Club, from Sept. until March 25, were read by the secretary, Hazel Cluts.

The program chairman, Marian Leakis, introduced Mr. Malcom Tebbs who gave a very informative talk on "Law and Women." After the talk, questions were asked by the group and answered by Mr. Tebbs, which gave enlightenment to certain phases of law concerning wills, inheritance, taxes, etc. A pamphlet entitled "Who Are Your Heirs If You Make No Will?" was distributed by Mr. Tebbs. Thanks go to Mr. Tebbs for a very informative meeting.

"They used to say that a fool and his money are soon parted, but now it happens to all of us." —M. A. Johnson, Blue Earth (Minn.) Fairbault County Register.

"SPICE 'N' EVERYTHING NICE"

With all my heart, I wish you every morning a smile that shall last until the next day's dawning.

I wish you health—life's greatest wealth; I wish you always near so that I may help to cheer Each future day and in some way—help to bring you happiness!

Entering the Mt. Vernon Methodist Church on Easter morning was breathtaking with the lovely sight before me of dozens of Easter lilies and the aroma throughout the church was delightful. The Palms brought up the rear and on the sides and it all was most effective. My minister, Dr. Clemens somehow seemed to preach with a stronger vim, vigor and vitality and when I told him of this we clasped hands at the door after the service, he said, "No doubt, because it was Easter!"

In the windows of Hutzlers — don't miss it for they will interest you and you and you of all ages. The period is of many years ago and that store buys the things to display in their windows. There is an old baby carriage, (Lace Parasol on top) n' everything, a doll bed, a graphophone with the Morning Glory Horn. You will love and enjoy every bit of it but that's Hutzler's for you for originality and chucked full of sentiment! That store is the store that still has maintained the "touch" all down through the years and the saying, "A Gift from Hutzler's means more!" I say, "Not alone a gift but just about everything." There are many sales now in all the stores which is always after Easter and they truly are fabulous. I have never owned a Spring coat but due to this Spring being so cool that was an essential garment and I bought a beauty in the "Store Down Stairs!" Believe it or not, I heard a lady state she would rather deal in Hutzlers even if it was the down stairs store!

As I was walking from Dr. Groom's office on Liberty St., there were two objects that attracted my attention. It was a big bowl of water before a chair right out on the sidewalk and there was a sign on the chair which read — "Two Ways to foot comfort. Sit here and soak your feet or come in and be fitted with Herbert Cox Shoes!" Cute? I glanced in the store, folks and believe it or not it was crowded!

Hope you did not miss in the Sunday American Magazine all about that poor little boy, Bob Hope from poverty to riches! So you see that every little boy or girl has a chance and opportunity and when it knocks to be sure and walk right in even if it is a slow start at first. Eh?

Just received a letter from Chicago (Leo Burnett Co., Inc.) that a Commercial built around my method for serving breakfast foods on TV show of "What's My Line," will be shown on May 12th. My name of course will be mentioned, too, so hope you will be looking and listening! "What's My Line" is one of my favorite Sunday night late programs at 10:30 on Channel 2.

As I saw so many going to church on Easter, which is most noticeable for the Christmas Day service, too, I wondered why that is not kept up the balance of the year.

It was just announced on TV that there will be a tiny bundle in the White House at the end of August. It would be sweet to have the baby born right there!

Oh—What a beautiful, beautiful day it was this past Easter and yet not a parade — not even the many autos of other years. Soon it will be past History unless some bright individual starts something original to revive it.

If you love horses, you will appreciate the show at the Hipp. "Miracle of the White Stallions." It is the story of the dancing horses and the efforts of the colonel to save the Riding School of Vienna in the closing months of World War II. Robert Taylor plays the leading role of Podhajsky in the film and he conspires with General Patton of the U. S. Military forces to rescue the Lipizzan mares captured by the Nazis so that the famous breed may be preserved. The prancing and high stepping beautiful horses you will love which is truly a sight to behold. Will leave the rest to you but don't miss it! The picture was filmed in Austria.

What a grand person we have as Mayor. (Mayor Philip Goodman). This morning, Your Observer had the appointment to see him and I never have met a finer individual for he is surely a Mayor for all, and so down I am confident that he will be elected. The public loves him and so affectionately calls him "Phil." He will be given a real chance when he is elected, for after all he has been in for Mayor for only four months taking over for our former Mayor.

Don't forget, folks "Mother's Day" will be here soon, so do plan something very special for her day. Whatever you do, don't go to her house for dinner but take that best girl in your life O U T to dine and don't forget the red roses for any woman in any country realizes that they say, "I love you!"

Have a grand week-end and in the next column will be writing of the Taurus person from April 20 to May 20. Until then D. V.

FACTS AND OPINIONS

Herbert Hoover says: "I have come to believe that moral forces and certain forces embedded in the soul of America are more important than all of the other issues — for they lay at the base of their solution. The Nation needs a rebirth of a great spiritual force which has been impaired by cynicism and weakened by foreign infection. Call it nationalism if you will. But there is an American kind of nationalism which is neither isolationism nor aggression and embedded deep within it is compassion for distress both at home and overseas."

Early in March, bills implementing President Kennedy's transportation program were sent to Congress. One would remove minimum rail rate regulation of agricultural and bulk commodity shipments; another incorporates other recommendations of the 1962 Transportation Message. A covering White House letter stressed the industry's need for greater competitive opportunity.

During the 1937-49 period, the maximum Social Security tax paid by an employee was $30 — one per cent on the first $3,000 of pay. The current tax is $174 — 3 5/8 per cent on the first $4,800. The 1968 tax will be $222 — 4 5/8 per cent on the first $4,800.

The American Medical Association says that it is a well-established fact that seat belts in your automobile can save lives and prevent or lessen injuries. An immense amount of scientific research, including actual collisions under controlled conditions, proves that the seat belt is the single most effective item of protective equipment now available to reduce the toll of traffic injuries and deaths. The AMA report adds that the belts should even be used for short trips, as to school or the neighborhood grocery.

From National Review: "Dr. Clarence Martin of Jamestown, North Dakota bought space to insert his 'Declaration of Independence' in the Jamestown Sun. Hereafter, said the doctor, he would refuse all payment from the government for treating welfare patients. Dr. Martin had found that he was spending four times longer in filling out the forms for the government than he was in treating the welfare patients. This, he noted, had had an effect on his disposition (adverse) and at the same time deprived him of the 'job of helping someone.' No need to say this unprofessional performance on Dr. Martin's part has the local welfare department in a tizzy. It had asked for $19 million for local health care in the next two years and it may now have trouble spending it all."

The public debt stood at $305.4 billion last November 30, according to the Treasury Department. And the budget deficit, as of that date, was $8.9 billion as compared with $8.1 billion a year earlier.

The U. S. military buildup that accompanied increased world tensions during the 1961-62 fiscal year was matched by increased demands upon the Red Cross for assistance to members of the Armed Forces, veterans, and their families. General Alfred M. Gruenther, ARC president, says that during the period the ARC gave help in emergencies to a monthly average of 83,000 U. S. servicemen at military installations and hospitals in this country and around the world.

American industry seems to be doing its utmost to keep the air clean. Some $500 million a year is now being spent to control air pollution.

Population Shift to Sunshine States Continues U.S. Land Development History

For the first time many sections of the United States face a scarcity of desirable land.

This is important since we are the only nation in the world

James H. R. Cromwell

Founded on the principle of free and unrestricted ownership and transfer of land title.

Further aggravating this is the fact that the population is shifting to the sunshine states. Each year hundreds of thousands move to the warm climates of Florida and the Southwest.

Consequently, these areas are experiencing a boom as developers transform hundreds of square miles of land into verdant and attractive communities.

According to James H. R. Cromwell, former U.S. Ambassador to Canada and board chairman of American Realty and Petroleum Corp., the biggest growth will center around the large cities.

"Socio-economists tell us," Cromwell notes, "that by the year 2,000 development of suburban southwest lands will enlarge such cities as Albuquerque and Phoenix to a point where they will be among our great metropolitan centers, equal to, and perhaps even surpassing, such cities as Philadelphia and Boston."

This trend has encouraged the establishment of publicly-owned land companies which develop desirable tracts into residential communities. Several also subdivide and offer homesites for sale in small parcels to persons all over the country.

Unlike old-time companies which developed and sold one big tract and then quit, these publicly-held firms are in business to stay. They are permanent companies with thousands of stockholders.

American Realty & Petroleum Corp. of New York, for example, has about 12,500 stockholders. Cromwell puts current volume at $16,000,000. AMREF sells improved land at Rainbow Lakes Estates near Dunellon, Fla., and at Rio Rancho Estates, a large development situated on the outskirts of Albuquerque, New Mexico. The company intends to open a big new development called Silver Springs Shores near Ocala, Fla., later this year.

Today's land development companies are natural descendants of such early real estate men as George Washington and Andrew Jackson, Cromwell pointed out.

Washington surveyed and sold many of his large tracts in the Potomac and Great Kanawha Valleys. Jackson and two partners developed the site of Memphis, Tenn.

Early leaders of the Republic were eager to fill new lands with people who would expand our frontiers. The federal government was also interested in filling its treasury with the $2-an-acre charges it levied these settlers.

The government found it was easy to get settlers but hard to collect the charges, however. Private land developers were more successful in re-selling small parcels after first buying huge parcels from the government. Land companies developed many of bus farming regions of the Midwest and, later, the residential suburbs of industrial cities.

The early decades of this century saw the beginning of large scale land development in the warmer states: Florida, California, Arizona and New Mexico. Most of this, however, was resort development. With the great upward migration of industry since World War II, land companies concentrated on building year-round communities in these states.

"Today, and only in America can one purchase for $10 down, and small monthly payments thereafter, a homesite with available water and electricity, roads, school bus service, and a community recreation center making living for the average family comparable to country club living," added Mr. Cromwell.

Spring is in the wind. Even the ice is breaking up on the lakes. Every sunny day promotes the desire to "get-away-from-it-all" for a quiet day of fishing. It will be music to hear the raucous cry of a crow breaking the silence of the woods.

The first cast will be a production. Out-of-practice fingers will fumble with the bait. A clumsy thumb will, no doubt, help make the grand-daddy of all smarts. Getting out on the back yard for the first few practice casts of the season is a good idea. Try it.

Quick casting and fast retrieves won't produce fish this time of year. It's got to be slow and easy. A Frenchman once said that "Genius is nothing but a great aptitude for patience", and when half frozen fish are stirring sluggishly on the lake bottom, the angler who fills his creel is a genius. Later, the fish will go on a wild feeding spree to make up for a lean winter, but for the moment, you'll have to dangle an Abu-reflex temptingly close to get a nibble.

Take your time and fish deep. Watching a lure sink and waiting is like watching the proverbial kettle boil — it never does seem to while you anxiously sitting there.

Fishing a stream requires care and patience. Melting ice, rushing water, twigs, branches, and hazards to line and lure of every conceivable kind make it exciting and difficult. Streamer flies and bucktails in bright patterns, white and yellow bodied Abu-reflex lures, shiny spoons and spinners, and even a strip of yellow ribbon or tin foil tied to your lure may help produce fish out of muddied water. Use a length of heavy leader or change the first three feet of your line often. The roughing-up it will take in roily water leads to lost lures and lost fish.

Medium hooks are advisable for fly fishermen, and don't neglect weedless lures. They can save a lot of time and money in the turbulent spring water.

GETTING THE MOST...
FROM YOUR GARDEN

by Dr. W. A. Liddell
Director of Information, Asgrow Seed Company

THIS SPRING, MAKE YOUR LAWN A GARDEN!

Most of us tend to overlook the fact that a lawn is really a very special kind of garden. To be sure, you don't harvest anything from your lawn for the kitchen or table, but in all the essentials, your lawn is a garden, in which you are attempting to grow certain kinds of plants, usually grasses, under highly artificial conditions.

Just as you wouldn't try to have a flower or vegetable garden without first making certain that the plants have a favorable environment of soil, moisture, and sunlight, so with a lawn, it is important first to recognize its needs, if you want to have an area around your house that will be reasonably green and attractive over the long period from earliest spring to the last days of fall.

Most of these needs are concerned with the soil, its physical structure, chemical composition, and moisture. Moisture is seldom a problem during the approaching weeks of spring showers, but here are some suggestions about improving your soil to help you make your lawn a garden this season, beginning now.

Fertilizers
Fertilizer is the next step in the spring, and in choosing one for your lawn, it will help to know something about fertilizers in general. Most of them are mixtures containing three chemical elements essential for plant growth: nitrogen (N), phosphorus (P), and potash (K).

Nitrogen is particularly important for lawns, for it is the element that stimulates leaf growth. It is also the element which is most quickly removed from the soil, both by plants and by the leaching action of heavy rainfall. Phosphorus, when taken up by plants, serves to expedite the growth processes, and potassium stimulates root development.

Because mowing removes so much leafy growth from lawns — as much as 24 inches in a season in some cases — the need for nitrogen is high. A typical lawn fertilizer thus will have a formula high in nitrogen, such as 22-8-4 — that is, 22% nitrogen, 8% phosphoric acid, and 4% potash. Today many lawn fertilizers offer nitrogen in several forms to provide a continuous supply over a fairly long period.

How much to apply will depend on many conditions, but it is our experience that for a neglected lawn, ten to twenty pounds of a high-nitrogen lawn fertilizer per thousand square feet of area (ex. 20 ft. x 50 ft.) will not be too much for an early spring feeding.

He and his brother Ernest will make this trip together and are planning visits in Connecticut and New York before they reach Maryland. Won't it be grand to see him again?

It was my privilege to visit, as a guest of Mrs. Hazel Clutz, the April meeting of the Taneytown Ki-Wives held at the Taney Inn on Monday evening. The food was good, the company most congenial and the speaker very interesting. It was an evening well spent, indeed. The speaker was an attorney, Mr. Malcolm Tebbis who lives on the Littlestown Road and has offices in Baltimore.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Bowman of Union Bridge visited on Sunday evening with Mr. and Mrs. Carroll Wilhite and family of near Detour.

I understand Mrs. Carroll and Mrs. Richard Wilhite are going down to White Hall today to visit with Mrs. Emory Yoder and Mr. and Mrs. Walter Gill and family with whom she makes her home. You may remember I reported sometime ago that Mrs. Yoder had had a fall and spent some time in the hospital. The latest x-rays show that the hip was definitely broken but is now mending very nicely, though it is still necessary for her to stay off her feet. This is certainly good news!

Thanks to my good neighbor, Mrs. Wm. Weishaar who did duty as babysitter for me, I was able to attend the District Assembly held at the Trinity Lutheran Church in Taneytown last Thursday. This was my first experience at this type of Church meeting and a fine one it was. If you were able to attend, you know I speak correctly. Mrs. E. Elwood Baumgardner of Taneytown was elected Chairman and Mrs. Geo. Sanner, a member of Emmanuel (Baust) Lutheran Church, was elected Secretary of the Westminster District. There were fine talks given by three of the Maryland Synodical officers: President, Mrs. Albert Fischer; Chairman of Publicity, Promotion and Publication, Mrs. J. Leon Haines; and Treasurer, Mrs. Oren Strine. After a delicious turkey dinner, devotions were led by Mrs. Carl McCullough and then the meeting was turned over to Mr. Ordell Braase, Administrative Assistant for the Lutheran Social Services in Baltimore and a Baltimore Colts football player, who told us about his agency and showed a series of slides. All in all, a most inspiring day.

The Vacation Bible School Planning Meeting was held last Friday at the Keyville Lutheran Sunday School and the dates decided upon were June 17 through 28 from 9:00 to 11:00 A. M. Mrs. Charles (Hazel) Stonesifer of Keyville will have charge of transportation. If you need a ride for your children or would be willing to "haul", please call her on PL 6-4872. The Age Groups will be: Kindergarten (4 and 5) in charge of Mrs. Anna Haifleigh with Mrs. Bernice Wilhite and Mrs. Genesa Conover as helpers; 6-7-8 with Mrs. Ruth Wilhite in charge and Mrs. Cassie Wilhite and Mrs. Marian Coshun as helpers; and 9-10-11 with Mrs. Dharlys Fleharty in charge with Mrs. Ellen Kiser, Mrs. Florence Blanchfield and Mrs. Emma Devillis as helpers. If there is enough interest for a 12 to 15 age group, there will be a rearrangement of Leaders and helpers. Pastor Brake will prepare cards for distribution in May to help ascertain how many will possibly attend. This is to help him judge how many Activity Kits it will be necessary to order for the school.

Pastor and Mrs. Brake and children were to leave today for a vacation in Florida with his parents, Pastor and Mrs. Donald Brake. They will be gone two weeks. We wish them a good journey and a fine visit.

Don't forget to change your clocks on Saturday night!

Keyville-Detour Homemakers

"Buffet Meals From the Freezer" was the topic at the Keyville-Detour Homemakers meetings held April 17 at the home of Mrs. Edward Coshun with Mrs. William Weishaar as co-hostess.

Mrs. Coshun and Mrs. Weishaar are also the Food Leaders for the club and for their demonstration discussed freezing meals ahead for busy days to come with a number of helpful hints such as always use pure vanilla, fresh shortening and double acting baking powder. They had made a number of items as examples such as chicken a-la-king, ham loaf, sweet potato balls, strawberry cobbler pie, frozen fruit salad, and banana nut bread. These were served after the business meeting as refreshments and the recipes were given out.

The 18 members and 2 visitors, Mrs. Edward Matthews and Mrs. Truman Leakins, were reminded by President Mary Ausherman of Open House May 9 from 10 A. M. to 3 P. M. and the Embassy Tour on May 4.

The Club has been invited to attend the "Party Demonstration" at the Southern States Taneytown Cooperative Monday, April 29, at 8 P. M. The Tefta Rubra Girls' 4-H Club has asked for donations to their Bake Sale to be held in Union Bridge May 10 from 6 to 9 P. M. May 22 was the date chosen for the Party to be given by Mrs. Hoyt DeShields of Detour.

Mrs. Hazel Stonesifer attended the Carroll County Council Meeting and told of discussion there for "Walking Bloodmobiles" and the request for books to be sent to the Philippines where a library is to be set up this summer by students of Western Maryland College. At the September meeting a volunteer fireman will be present to teach a First Aid Course; also, Sept.-Oct.-Nov. there will be 8 sessions for a Tailoring Workshop.

The Council also announced August 17 as the Chicken Bar-B-Q to be held at the Ag Center and asked each club representative to remind their club members of the variety of publications available free from the Home Demonstration Office. For information, call the Office, TI 8-5411.

The Tongue

Pipe and psalter make sweet music, But the sweetest melody Is made by a tongue that's pleasant; It makes finest harmony.

Angry words and foolish language Chill the soul and foul the mind; Often, too, a heart is broken By a word that is unkind.

Free the mind from guile and evil For the tongue the will obeys; Keep it then, and like sweet music It will speak in pleasant ways.

Education commences at the mother's knee, and every word spoken within the hearsay of little children tends toward the formation of character.

A VOICE FROM CARROLL

In the United States every year nearly one and a half million persons are treated in institutions for the mentally ill and the mentally retarded. Most of them are confined in overcrowded state institutions that cannot afford to give adequate care. At times some states have been forced to crowd five, ten, and even 15 thousand people into one large, under staffed institution. The average amount spent on these patients is only $4 per day and in some places it is only $2 a day. The Joint Commission on Mental Illness and Health has pointed out that nearly one fifth of the 279 state mental hospitals are fire hazards; three-fourths of them were opened before the first World War; nearly half of the 530,000 patients are in institutions where individual care is impossible and forty-five percent have been hospitalized continuously for 10 years or more. There are thousands of persons in our mental hospitals who do not need to be there and who, with proper care, could be cured and returned to society. In recent years there has been a trend toward providing small, comprehensive community mental health centers. These centers treated and discharged as cured more than 200,000 psychiatric patients in 1961.

It has been demonstrated that two out of three schizophrenics (our largest category of mentally ill) can be treated and released in six months. But under conditions that exist at the present time in our custodial state institutions, the average stay for schizophrenics is 11 years. As for the mentally retarded, they also need a comprehensive program in which prevention is given the highest priority. The mentally retarded are not the same as the mentally ill, and they need a separate program of their own. All states are not fixed financially to do what must and can be done for this portion of our citizens. Either private funds or aid from the Federal government must be utilized. The proper treatment for our mentally ill must be the concern of every thoughtful citizen of the United States. Not only concern but determination to see that our scientific skills and medical knowledge is given the needed money to implement the knowledge into action.

We are convinced that there wouldn't be so much crime in our cities, committed by young boys if they would become acquainted with a fishing pole and a wiggling worm to tease a trout beside a mountain stream. For fishing does more for a person than just getting him a fish. It teaches patience among other things. While waiting for a nibble one must sit quiet sometimes for an hour or two. While sitting one must think and the mind generally picks its thoughts from the environment. A city boy would see the hills, trees and stream maybe for the very first time in his life. His mind would begin to wonder, to marvel and to question what he saw. He might decide he likes some of these things better than the city streets, the games, the idleness of city life. It is not too far fetched to say an afternoon spent among nature's gifts could release a clogged thought line and give the city boy a new insight of himself and his country. Stranger things than fishing has changed the course of a boy's life.

How do you get rid of a tree stump after the tree is cut down? Long after the main part of the tree has been sawed up into short lengths for the fire-place and long after the tree has been consumed by the fire-place, the stump still glares at us and reminds us that there once stood a living tree. It matters not one leaf to the stump that its top was decayed from within and that it was just waiting for a storm to blow its top right off. No, the stump just sits there and gives us a guilty feeling each time we pass and that's quite often. So, how does one get rid of a tree stump? Someone suggested that we saturate the stump with butter milk and then sprinkle ice cream salt over it. Another person said to cover it with compost and it would soon be a part of the compost. We think we will just put a board across the top and use it for a seat from which to watch a pair of blue jays building a nest in the apple tree.

A sign: "Please refrain from stepping on the bare earth until a grass has been born."

We suggest that those adults who advocate adding a year to the legal age of quitting school sit in a class room one week and see the difficulty teachers have with these teenagers who want to leave school and must stay because of the law. When a girl or boy hates school and refuses to study but uses the time to annoy and disrupt other students who do want to make use of education then it's far wiser to release the reluctant ones to other fields. We have been in favor of trade schools for years. Let's face it. There are children who like and can learn useful trades. Not all can or want to be professional workers. To demoralize an entire class by keeping two or three anti-school pupils in the class by law is just plain stupid. Labor is against trade schools, but labor will have to understand that everyone must learn to compromise. There are just too many intelligent children being sacrificed on the theory that everyone is born with the same amount of intelligences. It just isn't so. It's one of the American myths that so many people just refuse to give up.

European women who discovered the American taste in fancy sheets and pillow cases complained after buying them that their husbands refused to sleep among the birds, flowers and colors that were woven into the sheets. But American manufacturers have gotten around their complaint. Now sheets are being made one half feminine with birds and flowers; the other half with dogs, horses and fishing scenes.

Take a good look at Carroll County. Isn't it a beautiful spot to live? Keep it that way. Don't start a fire that could blacken one inch of it.

Ruth Roelke

SECRETARY HONORED

Mrs. Adeline Prosser, Certified Professional Secretary, Route #2, Mt. Airy, was selected as the Secretary of the Year by the members of the Carroll Chapter, National Secretaries Association (Inst.). Mrs. Prosser was presented with a sterling silver bowl by Mr. Joseph H. Hahn, Jr., at Carroll Chapter's workshop on Saturday, April 20, held at Warren House/Blue Crest North near Pikesville. The workshop was attended by about 70 secretaries, business women and students in the Delaware, Maryland, District of Columbia Division. The speakers, Rev. C. G. Muradian, Mrs. Jane McKnee and Dean C. C. James, centered their talks around the theme "It's a Woman's World." A movie entitled "It's a Wonderful World" was shown by Charles Petry, courtesy of the local Coca-Cola Bottling Co.

In modern life nothing produces such an effect as a good platitude. It makes the whole world kin.

Carroll Co. Scholarship Fund Annual Meeting

At the annual meeting of the Carroll County Scholarship Fund held recently in the Westminster Junior High School, Mrs. John McCormick, president, announced that the Scholarship Fund has this year aided fifteen Carroll County students in attending teacher-preparation colleges. In commending the work of the Scholarship Fund, Mr. Samuel Jenness, superintendent of Carroll County Schools, informed the membership that over the past two years the County has been deriving benefits— with three former Scholarship recipients teaching in the Carroll County schools, and two 1963 graduates to begin teaching in September. Mr. Jenness further stated that there is a constant need for qualified teachers. Mrs. Wm. Culwell, chairman of the Scholarship Committee, advised that applications for scholarship aid may be secured through high school guidance counselors and should be forwarded to her no later than April 20.

Mr. Elwood Baumgardner, treasurer and chairman of the Finance Committee, presented his report together with suggestions for fund-raising. It was voted that an appeal by letter be made to organizations, businesses, and individuals for contributions to further the work of the Scholarship Fund. Mr. Baumgardner noted that all Parent-Teacher Associations had contributed this past year together with some businesses, organizations and individuals.

Mrs. Wm. E. Price, guidance counselor at Westminster High School, and speaker for the evening, explained that many young people's hopes are realized through the help offered by the Scholarship Fund. Students whose grades are good, but who may otherwise be unable to attend teachers colleges, find there is a way opened up for them.

In closing, Mrs. Price introduced Miss Dorothy Strawsburg, a former student at Westminster High and now a teacher in the Junior High School. Miss Strawsburg read a poem of her own composition, and accompanied the group on a visit to her classroom.

Elected to serve for the coming year are: president, Mrs. John M. McCormick, Frizzellburg; vice president, Mrs. H. Austin Perego, Manchester; treasurer, E. Elwood Baumgardner, Taneytown; secretary, Mrs. Wm. Culwell, Mt. Airy. Members elected to the Board of Directors are Paul Dell, Westminster; Mrs. Helen Gorman, Taneytown; Samuel M. Jenness, representing the Carroll County Board of Education; Robert Martin, Jr., or his successor as president of the Carroll County Teachers' Association, and Robert Lees, president of the Carroll County Council of Parent-Teacher Associations.

PACKAGED MIX MAY BE USED TO STOP CELLAR LEAKS

If your basement may be converted into a swimming pool—but only during the rainy season—you may choose between two courses of action. You may purchase a dinghy or patch up the holes in the cellar walls and floors. We recommend the latter. You can do the job with little effort. Most openings are created as the house settles slowly in its foundation. Any major breaks should be inspected by a mason.

Most of the work is done with a dry, pre-mixed concrete patching mix such as Sakrete. The amateur cement mixer will find that most of the work comes in preparing the crack for the Sakrete mix.

The sides of the defective area are first chipped away with a cold chisel and a hammer. It is essential that the edges of the old concrete be undercut; the cut must be wider on bottom than on top.

After cutting, homeowner should dislodge all loose mortar with a stiff wire brush. The area is cleaned with water to remove dust.

Sakrete is then mixed with water on a flat surface. Mixture is poured into crack until patch is filled slightly higher than water level.

Strike off the top with a "strike board". This can be any piece of lumber wider than the opening. (Opening should never be less than one inch wide.)

Concrete patching mixture should extend a fraction of an inch above the floor or wall line. After two hours, shrinkage will be complete. Surface may then be troweled to match the rest of the surface.

THE LADY OF THE HOUSE ANALYZED

Recent surveys on motivations of American homemakers have answered some intriguing questions. Is she an extravagant housekeeper? Does she want most of the good things in life for herself? Does she settle for merchandise other than the best? The answer to these questions, when she redeems her trading stamps, is a resounding "no".

According to panel members of the Plaid Stamp Homemakers Council, the composite woman they examined thinks of her home and family first. What she accomplishes with her stamp redemptions might prove to be a lesson to government economists. The panel found that three rooms in the house account for seventy-five percent of the most wanted articles. Bedroom articles lead with thirty-five percent; kitchenware and equipment come next with twenty-five percent, and dining room items follow with fifteen percent, mostly for table accessories.

More often than not bedspreads win over glamorous cashmere sweaters with the lady of the house. She may select dazzling white percale sheets — the number one choice on her list — instead of equally dazzling costume jewelry, and party casseroles in preference to snazzy handbags.

She keeps her family happy and improves her culinary achievements with the stamps she uses for electric mixers and skillets. Chafing dishes and lovely dinner and silverware are selected for regal entertainment. It is the homemakers insistence on quality merchandise that induces manufacturers to constantly improve their products. The Plaid Stamp Homemakers Council, with its recommendations based on surveys of stamp collectors, conveys the ladies' desires to the producers of the fine products available through stamp plans.

With all the facts compiled, the panel has found the typical woman surveyed is, in brief, smart and practical, unselfish and thrifty, and, they might add, "She sure knows her onions."

Personal Trust
Lesson for April 28, 1963

Bible Material: Psalms 23; 46.
Devotional Reading: Psalm 27:1-5, 7-8, 13-14.

MANY signs have been suggested to help tell the difference between genuine religion and imitations. One of the best takes the form of an old saying: "Religion is never real till it gets into the first person singular." That is to say, religion at the talking stage, if that is the only stage, is not yet vital. An atheist and the Pope could talk about religion till they both were tired; but the Pope would be talking from inside Christian experience and the atheist talking from outside it. So even if the atheist were a better debater than the Pope, his arguments would not be worth much, because he is talking about something to which he himself is a stranger. Religion to be real must be lived, personally lived.

Personal trust
There are three essentials for personally experienced religion. 1. Personal trust. 2. Personal Pledge. 3. Personal Performance. These have to be essentially personal or they are not genuine.

This week's study is about that first point: personal trust. The two Psalms selected, 23 and 46, both breathe a strong spirit of confidence in God. But observe what this confidence means. It does not mean assurance that no harm will come to the believer. It does mean confidence that whatever comes to the believer, he can take it, because he trusts in the God who is over all. There are two kinds of freedom from fear; one rests on an assurance that there is nothing to be afraid of, the other rests on the assurance that although there may be, and probably will be, fearful things ahead, with God by our side we may be sure nothing is going to be stronger than He. The writer of the 23rd Psalm knows there is a Valley of the Shadow Death. The writer of the 46th Psalm knows the kingdoms of the world may totter and the earth melt. But neither Psalmist turns pale or trembles at such thoughts. "I will not fear for Thou art with me," says one. "The Lord of hosts is with us," sings the other. If your fears are your own, so is your trust. If it is real.

Fear of death
The one disaster facing us all, the one dark experience of which we may be certain at every moment of our lives, is that one day we each must die. If this be cause for fear, then we must live all our lives in fear. Some other calamities we dread may not come to pass, but our own deaths certainly will. Now both these Psalmists, of Psalm 23 and 46, knew death awaited them. The first one uses the words "all the days of my life." This is another way of saying "till the day I die." The second psalmist draws a kind of picture of the modern world, does he not? with wars and earthquakes and tidal waves, a world where sudden death is common. Yet again neither poet is disturbed or alarmed. The 23rd Psalm in particular appears to point beyond death to a "forever" with God.

The essential you
If you trust in God, is it true that you will not suffer harm? Many persons think that this is true. Then when something does occur to damage them severely, they think maybe the trouble was that they did not trust hard enough. This can't be the answer to the problem, for this would mean that the basis for trust is your own ability or capacity for faith, and not the power and love of God.

It is true, however, that if your trust is in God you will not suffer harm. This is true, however, only if you think what is meant by "y o u." The essential YOU can never be hurt by what happens to your shell, so to speak. Take the case of a man who is paralyzed from the waist down. There may be no cure for him. He will have to live in a wheel chair all his life. Now his body has been injured. His circumstances, his prospects are changed for the worse, much worse. Yet his true self need not change for the worse. Think of all the people you know, brave and kind, with crippled half-dead bodies. What you have can be damaged and destroyed; what you are need never be, if you are joined with God by faith.

CAREER CLINIC
with JOHN VILLAUME
President of ICS
Has Your Child Caught Spring "Drop-Out" Fever?
Poets welcome Spring as that season when "a young man's fancy lightly turns to thoughts of love." But parents, beware! It's also the season to guard against another fancy of the young — quitting school before graduation.
Over 330,000 teen-agers will succumb to "drop-out" fever this year, jeopardizing their chances for rewarding careers. The lucky ones may land "dead end" jobs — the unlucky in the unemployment lines.
Is Your Child a Potential "Drop-Out"?
Study this check list carefully before you answer.
"Drop-Out" Danger Signals
 Low scholastic achievement
 Poor social adjustment
 Wants a regular income
 Eager to get married
 Bored with regular classwork
 Considers college waste of time

Just one check mark may mean your child is highly susceptible to spring "drop-out" fever. Start treating the symptoms by sitting down with him or her and explaining the dollar value of a high school education.
The average "drop-out" will earn $50,000 less during his lifetime than the high school graduate. He will make $250,000 less than the college graduate. By 1970, there will be 7,500,000 more "drop-outs" competing with the millions we now have for about 4 million jobs as unskilled laborers.
HOW CAN SCHOOLS CURB THE "DROP-OUT" EPIDEMIC? They can provide a diversified curriculum to reach all students—more and better occupational training—and extensive guidance counseling. At the crux of many effective "drop-out" prevention programs today is one of civilization's oldest learning methods — correspondence study.
Educators administering ICS courses in supervised classrooms report these gains: slow learners make headway at their own pace, languages and advanced math and science courses can be offered to help students meet college entrance requirements, and those with failing grades can make up courses via home-study during the summer.
Potential "drop-outs" are persuaded to stay on and study vocational correspondence courses which will help them qualify for apprenticeship jobs after graduation.
The only long-range cure for the national "drop-out" problem is working to improve every child's educational opportunities — whether he studies in a small school or an overcrowded classroom. We must not fail in this task.
(For more information on the value of a high school education, write for "How to Succeed", Box FR1, Scranton 15, Pa.)

New Compact Muffler Major Advance In Handling Auto Exhaust

An automotive exhaust system that eliminates the large conventional muffler and distributes its tuning and silencing chambers over the length of the exhaust pipe has been developed by Walker Manufacturing Company, Racine, Wis. Walker is a leading exhaust system manufacturer.

Called Chambered Pipe, the system consists of small tuning chambers spaced at intervals along the pipe. Positioning of the tuning chambers requires careful calculation to provide optimum acoustical performance. The system will be used on certain 1964 cars.

The system, the result of a four-year research program, maintains acoustic control with minimum back pressure, with improved fuel economy and performance. In addition, the system conserves space and weight, is competitively priced, and has greater life expectancy through straight-through flow patterns.

In the picture, a Walker researcher compares the present day exhaust system in the foreground with the new Chambered Pipe system.
