ONE DAY SCHOOL ON FEEDING DAIRY COWS

Challenge Feeding — a new concept in the feeding of dairy cows — was the topic of a one-day school for Southern States Cooperative retail personnel in this area, held July 19, 1963 at Ellicott City, Md.

Attending from the local Southern States retail outlet, Southern States Taneytown, was Geo. C. Flohr, of Taneytown, Maryland.

The new feeding concept was explained by Garland E. Benton, Dairy and Livestock Specialist for Southern States, and C. A. Williams, Manager of Feed Merchandising for the cooperative. They said Challenge Feeding includes these features:

1. A stepped up rate of feeding for two weeks before calving.
2. For 30 days following calving, cows are subjected to "full feeding to appetite." That is, they are fed all the grain they can consume during this period.
3. After this 30-day period, the maximum profit feeding rate is computed for each cow. This rate is based on factors such as: price of milk, cost of feed, age and reproductive stage of the cow, and quality of forage.

Benton said this method of feeding cows has been tested extensively. The results in almost every case have been more profit for the dairyman, he said.

"DELIVERANCE DAY" FOR CORPORATIONS

It was facetiously suggested last week that July 9 be proclaimed "Deliverance Day" for corporations, which pay 52 per cent income tax, for on that day 52 per cent of the calendar year had passed and the tax-paying companies presumably could then start making money for themselves and their stockholders.

GOVERNMENT WASTE-OF-THE- WEEK

Selective audits, by the General Accounting Office and the Military services, have disclosed overpayments to servicemen totaling over $100 million during fiscal years 1957-1961. About $18 million could not be recovered.

Singleton Remsburg and Frank Dunham are co-chairmen of the project with John Hottinger and James Trenary acting as team captains. Members of the Club will be canvassing the community during coming weeks soliciting birthdays and anniversaries for the calendar as well as taking orders for the calendar itself.

During the course of the meeting, a fifteen-year membership pin was presented to Harry I. Reindollar and a ten-year pin to Ralph Stonesifer. Argyle Kaufman was introduced to the Club. He is a former Lions Club president and is transferring to the local Club.

MARYLAND SAVINGS BOND SALES UP 12.4% AT HALF-YEAR

State Chairman Charles P. McCormick announced that sales of Series E and H Bonds in Maryland of the year showed a 12.4% gain over the comparable 1962 months.

Mr. McCormick said that the Freedom Bond Drive—May 1 through July 4—was an outstanding success and greatly stimulated sales of Series E and H Bonds throughout Maryland. This was reflected in June sales of $6,823,095, showing an increase of 15.8% over June sales of last year.

Somerset County is in first place with 69.4% achievement; Howard County is second with 67.1% and Wicomico County third, with 56.8% of quota made. Baltimore City with 55.4% of quota achieved is in seventh place.

Increased sales are anticipated during the last half of 1963 as a result of new savers and increases in allotments by employees, brought about by the Payroll Savings Campaigns conducted by hundreds of companies and Federal Agencies throughout the State.

Many Service Clubs have already qualified for Treasury Citations in connection with the Bond-per-Family program conducted, in which 50% or more of members represented, purchased a Savings Bond.

LOCAL GIRL MAKES DEAN'S LIST AT BRIDGEWATER COLLEGE

Bridgewater, Va. — Miss Barbara Ann Rinehart, a junior at Bridgewater College, made the Dean's List the second semester of the 1962-63 session, the Registrar reported.

To make the Dean's List at Bridgewater, a student must average "B" or better on all his course work. Only nine percent of the student body were able to do this the second semester.

Miss Rinehart is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Rinehart of Rt. 1, Littlestown, and is a graduate of Taneytown High School.

BOY SCOUT NEWS

Summer Camp

The annual week of summer camp was held at the Baltimore Area Council camp, Broad Creek, near Whiteford, Md., from Saturday, July 6 to July 13, with 14 boys attending. They were under the direction of Larry E. Six, assistant scoutmaster, for the entire period; of the scoutmaster on the opening week-end and from Thursday to his close; and of Robert L. Bowers, former assistant scoutmaster and Explorer adviser, from Sunday until Wednesday.

Cooking was done entirely on a patrol basis in Area III, with Thomas West heading the Flaming Arrow patrol and James Frock leading the Foxes. Panther members who filled out the ranks were Samuel Cassell, Douglas Dayhoff and James McKinney. Allison Baker, a Panther, was present for the first week-end only. Besides the patrol leaders, Cooking merit badge requirements were also completed by Cassell, James Eckert, Robert Eckert, Brett Fleagle, Samuel Fleming, Richard Greene, McKinney and James West. All of the foregoing finished Basketry merit badge except Greene and McKinney who have one part yet to do; plus Dayhoff, Edward Thompson and Assistant Scoutmaster Six. Thomas West did all the work for Camping, Forestry and Pioneering merit badges, while Six completed Camping, Forestry and Personal Fitness, and Thompson finished Forestry besides a good half of Cooking.

First class Morse signaling was accomplished by Frock and Martin, thereby making them eligible to try for First class rank at a Board of Review to be conducted shortly by Francis E. Lookingbill, chairman of the Troop Committee. Those nearing Second class will also appear, among them Robert Eckert, Greene, Hack Howarth, Thompson, and Assistant Scoutmaster Charles T. Welk.

The swimming at Broad Creek was hampered by cold weather for a couple of days, but besides Six and Thomas West, who attained swimmer on the opening day, Greene and McKinney distinguished themselves, by reaching that proficiency later in the week. Classified as beginner (able to swim 50 yards) were Dayhoff, Robert Eckert, Fleagle, Frock, Martin and Thompson.

Camporee

These same two patrols had participated in the Arrowhead District camporee at Soldier's Delight, near Reisterstown, except that Panther patrol leader Rickey Clingan replaced Frock and served under assistant patrol leader Philip Martin of the Foxes, while Senior patrol leader Samuel Bower replaced Six, unable to be present. Paul Althoff, Jack Howarth, Robert Howarth and Raymond Seidler, too, were among the group of 15 Scouts and leaders who earned the camporee emblem and the highest, or Proficient, rating for both units.

Advancement

The last Board of Review advanced Donald Hahn, Robert Howarth, Seidler, Leroy Sneak, Gary Wantz and James West to Second class rank, while Bower attained the coveted honor of Life Scout. Merit badges completed were Machinery by Bower, and Citizenship in the nation and Safety by Thomas West.

The influx of recruits continues unabated; Rickey Airing, McKinney, James Eckert, Richard Feeser and Richard Tracey having joined the fold.

The indoors has given way to outdoor programs, usually including swimming and a wiener roast at Natural Dam on Thursdays—maybe this accounts for the unusual membership gain during this Troop year. Proof of new boys' staying power will come when the fall program gets underway in earnest and the school year tightens its hold upon their available time.

ROAD CONSTRUCTION BIDS RECEIVED

The County Commissioners of Carroll County opened bids on Friday, July 19, for two road construction projects, each being built with aid from Federal funds. Tabulations were as follows:

ROOP ROAD (Franklin District) — A. G. Parrott Co., $21,851.20; Walsh Equip. & Const. Co., Inc., $22,104.00; Thomas, Bennett & Hunter, Inc., $23,916.00; A. A. Dyer Co., $25,380.00.

The County Commissioners after reviewing the above proposals have requested that the State Roads Commission concur in the low bidder of each project.

BALTIMORE BAY BRIDGE FACTS

Location of the second Bay Bridge between Baltimore and Kent counties, instead of alongside the present one, would save you up to 77 miles one way on trips across the Chesapeake. A Baltimore Bay Bridge would cut the present 158-mile distance between Towson and Chestertown to 81, reduce the 115-mile trip from Taneytown to Georgetown in Kent County to 88 1/2.

A $4,000,000 LUNCHEON

They say that, when Secretary of State Dean Rusk was asked for his itemized expense account after the Costa Rica conference, he began, not without a twinkle in his eye: "Breakfast, $1.65; lunch with two foreign ministers, $4,000,000 . . ."

"SPICE 'N' EVERYTHING NICE"

With all my heart, I wish you every morning
A smile that shall last until the next day's dawning.
I wish you health—life's greatest wealth;
I wish you always near so that I may help to cheer
Each future day and in some way—help to bring you happiness!

All the Zinnias along the fence are in full bloom plus the Pansy bed with the Petunias at the foot of the yard and also the red, red Nasturtiums at the kitchen door. It is truly a colorful sight to behold and just goes to show what really can be accomplished even if the yard is a small one.

Many hot days are still ahead of us, so do try to keep cool and don't talk about how hot it is. Always think of last Winter, as everyone, no matter in which direction would say, "I can't wait until Summer comes!"

Letters arrive as to vacations and one especially will I reply to and that was from a father with five children stating he cannot afford to go on an expensive trip as he does not make that kind of money but he does have two weeks coming to him and would I suggest something just different to him. He states he bought a used Station Wagon and that might be a help. Well, here it is sir! First of all it is nice that you have the station wagon for that surely does hold a lot! Why not take day trips for it is always nice to come home to your own bed each night and have more comfort than really going away for two weeks. You did not state as to the ages of the children but I suggest a trip down the Bay to Betterton. That is truly relaxing all the way. The children would surely enjoy that. Pack a big lunch — you can't have too much with five kiddies. The nice part as to that trip you get home at a nice hour and there is room to park your car for free. The children could go in bathing and it is best to take along the bathing suits. Take a trip to Philadelphia and see all the Historical sights and the nice part of that is — all are within walking distance and the children would learn much. Another day drive to Annapolis which every Marylander should visit. Also to see the different interesting places in Baltimore. Take a day or two rest at home. Come down on Wednesday evenings and listen to the band at 31st St. and Charles St., or the Washington Monument and those evenings are at 8:00 P. M. and all for free on Wednesday and Thursday evenings. Take lunch another day and go to a quiet spot along the water under the trees. Two weeks pass quickly and they can be made into a delightful vacation right around your home. Many couples have thought of the idea as to making a Patio, getting new furniture for it, plus the awning and that way enjoy it all outdoors instead of spending the money going away. If you are handy that all can be accomplished alone and that would be for many years to come. Go to a movie one day but select something worthwhile for the entire family.

Last Friday evening at the Stadium was a delightful one as the sky for the canopy — all outdoors which is fascinating to sit there and listen to Leigh Martineau leading the bands plus the grand vocal numbers and the special treat of the young flute player who won the Trophy and all for free, open to the public.

Your observer went to see "Irma La Douce," at the grand, "Little Theatre" on N. Howard St., where the atmosphere is entirely different from all other theatres or movie houses. Shirley MacLaine is prettier in this show than any I have ever seen her in and also Jack Lemmon is tops as the Male Star. This show was a musical in other cities as Paris, London and N. Y. and on the stage. There was a huge audience and the show entirely different from any I have ever seen. It is amusing, colorful but bawdy. The story is of a girl who has led a sinful life and falls in love with a naive policeman and from then on tries to be a good girl. Nuff Sed!

Next week D. V. I will be writing of that wonderful sign—"AH!" of Leo (one of my favorites) — those born from July 20 to August 20. Have a grand week-end and if you cannot afford to take a vacation, remember home is best on hot, hot days. Until next week D. V.

I am,
Faithfully,
YOUR OBSERVER.

"WE"

A bill was proposed in the Maine House of Representatives that would require that editorials published in the state's newspapers, carry identification of the authors. Its initiator said, "When I am being criticized, I want to know who is making the criticism."

But the bill was defeated, after receiving a 9-1 unfavorable report from the Legal Affairs Committee, and with good reason.

That famous old "We", used by editorial writers isn't just a handy device for achieving anonymity. In two little letters it establishes the fact that the editorial is not just the views of a man, but the views of many men, making up an institution. And this gives it a weight and an authority that a one man judgment could never achieve.

Unsigned editorial writing is as old as journalists. Long may it abide. —Industrial News Review.

GRASS ROOTS OPINIONS

AZTEC, N. M., INDEPENDENT-REVIEW: "The family household in the old days was a busy, happy place, with the big kids taking care of the little kids, mother was kept busy in the kitchen, cooking, ironing, sewing and peeling and cooking vegetables out of the garden or cellar and chopping off a chicken's head and picking it. The old man worked 12 hours a day for three bucks to keep the household going. For some reason in those days folks were paying their bills, the divorce courts had no business, folks were not suing each other for an easy buck, and no one was having a nervous breakdown, and nobody knew what a tranquilizer was. Isn't it odd how they lived?"

WEST POINT, MISS., TIMES LEADER: "Taxation is not merely a heavy burden, but also a force which changes the world around us."

DENVER, COLO., HERALD-DISPATCH: "What would happen if this nation turned her microscopes away from studying the selfish, the lazy, the crafty and the confused — and focused them instead on the industrious, the able, the honest and the morally strong?"

BARTOW, FLA., DEMOCRAT: "We read where school teachers are taking examinations to determine their eligibility for competency rewards, which will entitle them to an additional $400 pay annually. . . . This sort of thing should develop a greater sympathy between teachers and students."

OCEAN GROVE, N. J., TIMES: "Uncle Sam is rapidly preparing to crack down on taxpayers who neglect to report dividends. Wives are wailing because they don't want their husbands to know that they have savings, and The New York Times quotes Manhattan Tax Director Chas. Church as saying, Solomon-like, 'If it's a choice of arguing with your husband or arguing with the Tax Collector, you had better argue with us.'"

ANTIGO, WISC., JOURNAL: "Hang up the crying towel" was the advice to Wisconsin beginning farmers given by prof. Walter Bjoraker of the state college of agriculture to Wisconsin Future Farmers meeting in convention recently. Agriculture, he reminded them, is changing rapidly but it is not moving off the map. Opportunities still are present, but young farmers must be ready to cope with the changes as they arise. Agriculture is broader than production. It also includes selling, marketing, research, administration and other professional fields. Brains (are) much more important than brawn in today's farming."

TOLEDO, IOWA, CHRONICLE: "Only by our own choice can we liberate ourselves and become again free. It may be, as Aldous Huxley fears, that our time is short; but let us use that time in rebellion. Perhaps the forces that now menace freedom are too strong to be resisted for very long. It is still our duty to whatever we can to resist them."

EVERETT, WASH., HERALD: "Too many people in this administration have placed faith in a belief that the only important thing is to avoid a major war between the United States and Russia, and if that can be forestalled, communism, because of its own structural weaknesses and the education of its people, will slowly turn away from dictatorship and enslavement and move toward the Western position. No dictatorship ever walked off the stage of human affairs."

BLANCHESTER, OHIO, STAR-REPUBLICAN: "Department of Waste: Understand that the Department of Health, Education and Welfare is spending millions in a research program to determine the cause of illegitimacy. How ridiculous can we get?"

EL DORADO, KAN., TIMES: "Today, more people are on relief than in the great depression. The cost of relief far exceeds $100 a year per taxpaying family. This has occurred despite Social Security, unemployment compensation and other welfare measures. The drop in crime that was to accompany liberalized relief hasn't materialized. It's time to clean up the mess—but who will start the cleaning?"

MOUNT AYR, IOWA, RECORD-NEWS: "A businessman whose office was high up in a skyscraper, waited impatiently for a farmer, with whom he had an appointment. Finally, an hour and a half overdue, the farmer tottered into the office, puffing and panting. Farmer — Sorry I'm late, but it's a long climb up those sixty flights of stairs. Businessman—Stairs! Why didn't you come up in the elevator? Farmer — Wal, I kinda wanted to, but I just missed the darn thing."

WAPAKONETA, OHIO, NEWS: "The tools of Communism aren't only the atomic weapons. The Soviet Union would rather take us by wrecking us financially, by confusing and dividing us, ravishing our religion which stands for Godliness, belittling our ideals, sneering at patriotism and all we hold dear. If you do not wish to break faith with those who died, read with your mind as well as your eyes, check propaganda which sometimes disguises itself as news. Don't be taken in by every sneer at America that comes down the road."

What Type Driving Is Toughest—High Speed Or "Hacking Around"?

Hard-Driving Harry, the burly salesman who covers three states, may not punish his car nearly so much as his ninety pound wife does hers.

Harry hurries along the turnpikes at the legal limit, but his car thrives on such driving. It was designed for long runs with few starts and stops of the engine.

Today, however, more than 80 percent of all motor trips are under ten miles. Harry's wife drives such short trips every day—to school and to market, and this is the type of driving that is toughest on an automobile engine and oil.

For one thing, the engine rarely gets up to the proper operating temperature intended by the manufacturer and this inhibits proper circulation of engine lubricating oil.

Also, when you start a cold engine, the choke feeds the engine a rich mixture—lots of gas and little air. Though required for starting, the rich mixture often results in a residue of unburned gasoline that trickles into the lubricating oil to dilute and contaminate it. In addition, water condensed from air which the engine "breathes," or which condenses from air in the gasoline tank, can add to the contamination. Other engine irritants may exist in the oil including carbon particles.

How to combat these damaging conditions? Although it is difficult and sometimes impossible to change day-to-day driving patterns, it helps if you can get the car out for a long run occasionally.

When a car is driven at highway speeds for about ten miles or more, many contaminants are expelled with the exhaust and the engine oil warms to lubricate properly and to exercise a cleaning effect.

Since short haul driving remains a necessity, however, the best way to combat the wear it causes your engine is by adherence to a proper schedule of oil changes. Removing and replacing the crankcase oil is a simple, fast and effective way to remove contaminants. The fresh oil also contains additives your engine needs, which may have been depleted in the old oil.

What is a proper oil change schedule? Every 30 days in winter and 60 days in summer, according to the American Petroleum Institute. Your car's engine will run better, stay cleaner, and last longer. Their recommendation is a good rule, both for brand new cars and those not so new.

Old Nancy

She lived alone in a poor little cottage, without money, without relatives and was half-blind and very lame; but she was exceedingly happy. When asked the reason of her happiness she replied, "Perhaps it's because I haven't anybody but God. You see, rich folks depend upon their families and their houses; they have to be thinking of their business and their wives and children. Then they are always greatly afraid of troubles ahead. But, you see, I haven't anything to trouble myself about because I leave it all to the Lord and He takes care of me."

SUMMER EVENINGS

Summer days on a farm are busy ones, indeed. This particular one has been especially hectic, what with preparing beans and chickens for the freezer, doing the family laundry, and painting the screen door. But now that all of these tasks are finished, and the supper dishes are cleared away, I am free to wander out into the yard for a welcome change of pace. I am just in time to witness a blazing summer sunset, as Old Sol, looking like a fiery red ball, sinks slowly down into the western sky. For awhile, earth and sky are bathed in a rosy glow. Then, gradually, the radiance fades away and dies.

And now, everywhere I look, there is a calm and serene beauty, as evening descends over the land like a gentle benediction. The trees appear to be holding vespers services, as they stand with leafy arms uplifted as in prayer. A cool, gentle breeze springs up, bringing welcome relief from the heat of the day. The cattle are peacefully grazing in the lush meadows. Overhead, Chimney Swifts and Barn Swallows are darting back and forth in their endless quest for flying insects. A Robin whistles cheerfully, a startled Pheasant crows, and the little brown Wren favors me with a final goodnight song. Other birds are winging their way homeward to their nests.

"CITIZENS OF TOMORROW"

Pictured above are: Mikie, 5 years; Bobby, 3 years and Theresa, 2 years, children of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Callari, Jr., Taneytown, Md.

Darkness begins to envelop the countryside. The Evening Star now hangs low in the sky, and the moon floats up behind a tree. Tiny fireflies trim their lamps, as they begin to flit over the fields and lawns. All is peace and quiet, except for the cough and sputter of tractors, as farmers work overtime getting in the crops.

How wonderfully God has blessed us with these lovely summer evenings! They serve as a fitting prelude to the healing hours of nighttime when all the world goes to rest.

—Zola Cantwell.

MORE AND MORE FEDERAL EMPLOYEES

Instead of reducing the number of Government employees, as was promised, the present Administration is adding more employees, by the thousands. In February, 5,304 were added; in March, 7,089; in April, 12,455; in May, 8,603, and in June, 33,393.

That's net increase in one month. The total number of Federal employees on June 30 (not including the military) was 2,419,681. Only 168,991 of these are in Washington, D. C. The others are scattered from Dan to Beersheba. California alone has 239,464 Federal employees.

Some of this vast Federal government employment is hard to understand. For example, the TVA, which operates primarily in and for the States of Tennessee, Alabama, Mississippi and Kentucky, has employees in 16 other States and the District of Columbia. We are perplexed about the need for TVA employees in far-off California. The tentacles of the Federal octopus reach into every nook and cranny of our very existence.

"A psychiatrist says, 'The best way to prevent a nervous breakdown is to work hard.' What's the next best way?" — E. M. Remsburg, Vista (Calif.) Press.

"The grass may be greener next door, but it's just as hard to cut." — Donald S. Fellows, Saugerties (N.Y.) Catskill Mountain Star.

Students do not like examinations. It might be possible to abolish them by statute if adults had to stand them.

One way to create leisure time is to be always on time for appointments.

FISHING LINES

By DICK WOLFF

There is nothing sadder than a fisherman returning home with an empty creel — and nothing limper (unless it's his casting arm) than his excuse that there used to be plenty of fish "until everybody and his cousin took up fishing."

It's true that the number of anglers is sharply rising. But the fishing fraternity would have to quadruple before it made a sizable dent in the fish population.

While some species are disappearing, this is due more to natural and industrial influences than to the intrusion of sportmen.

Besides, conservation services and fish hatcheries are constantly replenishing popular fishing waters. Evidence is the recent announcement by the U.S. Fish & Wildlife Service that nearly a million year-old silver salmon were released in just one river by the Oregon Fish Commission in the first part of 1963 — or that five million fingerling trout and salmon were air-dropped in 789 California lakes in 1962.

More likely, the empty creel can be blamed on poor judgment, or unsatisfactory weather conditions, or a violation of some fundamental fishing technique. Location is a key factor. Fish don't operate uniformly in any given body of water, but they do have favorite congregating spots. Experienced fishermen know, for example, that a partly submerged tree or a weed bed under water or a connecting channel between two lakes is a popular haunt for fish.

Choice of tackle is another factor that can make a day's outing a success or failure. Mismatched tackle is difficult to use. Rod, reel, line, and lure weight must work together for best results. For example, a good combination for landing muskellunge would be a Garcia 2222 rod with an Ambassador 6000 bait-casting reel and a 20-pound line, all designed for rugged action.

Matching lures with line is equally important. The snook fisherman working with a Conolon 2704 rod is going to want a fairly substantial lure in the 1/2-oz. to 1-oz. range, preferably with 8- to 15-pound test Platyl line. Chances are he'd be most comfortable using a Mitchell 306 reel for this type of salt-water fishing.

The variations on balanced tackle are almost endless, of course, but the fisherman who is "down on his luck" would be well-advised to take stock of the equipment he is using when seeking his favorite game.

A veteran casting champion once pointed out that one formula for successful fishing is 10 per cent luck, 20 per cent "fish sense" and 70 per cent "horse sense." No one can control the luck, and the fish sense is inherent — but the horse sense can be acquired by reading the right books and listening to the right people.

JET AGE FUEL

KEROSENE, ONCE THE COUNTRY'S MAIN SOURCE OF ARTIFICIAL LIGHT, IS THE PRINCIPAL COMPONENT OF THE FUEL WHICH MODERN JET AIRLINERS CONSUME AT THE RATE OF MORE THAN 2,000 GALLONS AN HOUR.

TODAY'S JET FUEL IS A HIGHLY SOPHISTICATED VERSION OF THE KEROSENE THAT WAS AN EVERYDAY ITEM IN MOST TURN-OF-THE-CENTURY AMERICAN HOMES.

TO MEET ANTICIPATED REQUIREMENTS OF THE SUPERSONIC JET PLANES OF TOMORROW, THE OIL INDUSTRY IS NOW WORKING TO UPGRADE THE VERSATILE FUEL EVEN FURTHER. DEVELOPING A FUEL TO POWER PLANES THAT WILL TRAVEL THREE TO FOUR TIMES THE SPEED OF SOUND HAS BEEN CALLED "THE GREATEST CHALLENGE EVER TO FACE THE OIL INDUSTRY'S AVIATION EXPERTS."

EIGHTEEN-YEAR-OLD CINDY CAROL is the third person to play Gidget. "I practically am a Gidget," she says. "I surf and spend a lot of time at the beach, and the story of the first movie was almost my own." Filming "Gidget Goes to Rome" has been a worthwhile experience for Cindy. Visiting The Eternal City's historic sites and mingling with its people have caused Cindy to reflect on her own life. "At home, I used to think that twenty years old was very old. But in Rome, I walk down a street that is hundreds and hundreds of years old. Churches, fountains, buildings are all so old that I begin to feel insignificant. I didn't feel so important anymore. I never saw poverty before. I realize how lucky I am now."

SEVENTEEN's picture of the month is the story of young PT boat skipper, John F. Kennedy, whose cool courage saved the crew of his command during an engagement in the South Pacific in World War II. With Cliff Robertson in the starring role, "PT 109" catches at the imagination, both as a heroic exploit in itself and as an intriguing clue to the character of a man since become President... Summertime is party time! The July issue of SEVENTEEN contains a variety of ideas for cool, summery teen parties. Included with each idea are recommended fashions to be worn to that particular party. A July 4th jamboree starts off a round of social events which will include a Polynesian paradise party, a tailgate picnic, a matinee lunch, a boating barbecue and a sleeping beauty night.

EUGENE ORMANDY, distinguished conductor of the Philadelphia Orchestra, urges teens "to know your country in order to know yourself." Maestro Ormandy believes that the student of American music is not only educated to America's heritage, but is also in the position "to carry the exciting story of America to the people of other lands." He advises teens that "the future of serious music in the United States rests with you, both as performers and as listeners. Everything that is accomplished today means nothing to the past, something to the fleeting present, and means everything to the future. And you are the future!"

GROW YOUR OWN SEASONING

Many common herbs are included in this picture. Left to right are chives (behind dried sage), rosemary, thyme (wrapped with ribbon), sweet basil (on wall), marjoram (in basket), mint (pot in back), head of dill and safflower (in front of jar) and English lavender in the right-hand pot behind jar.

It has been said that if you can name the herb, too much of it has been used for seasoning. Only a tiny pinch of fresh or dried leaves or seeds need be added to a dish to give it that special something.

Herbs that are so commonly used that no one remembers they are herbs are parsley, chives, mint, sage, thyme, dill and caraway. What would creamed potatoes be without parsley, potage cheese without chives, lamb without mint, poultry stuffing without sage and thyme, pickles without dill and rye bread without caraway seeds? See how important herbs are in your food?

All of these herbs and many more may be grown in pots to use on a terrace or patio where they make quite a conversation piece. Or, you might grow them in a special small herb garden. Practically all herbs are easy to grow in full sun, in rather poor soil. A very few demand better soil and a bit of care.

Chives, curled cress, basil, marjoram and savory are easily grown from seeds. Parsley is too, if you realize that it takes 3 weeks for seeds to sprout. Just plant these as you would vegetable seeds of similar size. Seeds of other herbs should be planted in a specially made bed in a mixture of soil, sand and granulated peat moss in equal parts. After planting, cover seeds with a piece of burlap sack and water through it so seeds don't wash away.

Continue watering in this way, keeping the seedbed moist, until the seeds sprout. Then remove the burlap. When seedlings are 2 inches high, select a cloudy day to transplant them to pots or rows and water well after this operation.

Anise, curled cress, sweet basil, borage, chervil, coriander, marjoram, savory and fennel are annual herbs, setting seeds at the end of the growing season. Caraway is a biennial, while chives, sage, tarragon, rosemary and garden thyme are perennials and, once planted, last for years. Rosemary is tender to winter cold, so should be pot grown and wintered indoors in the north.

Adriano F. DiDomenico is one in a million—or rather, one in two thousand million. Here he receives the $25 U. S. Savings Bond bearing the serial number 2,000,000,000 from Mrs. Kathryn O'Hay Granahan, Treasurer of the United States. Mr. DiDomenico, who lives with his wife and 13-year-old son in Camden, N. J., bought the bond through the Radio Corporation of America's Payroll Savings Plan. It turned up as one of the 10,000 bonds RCA obtains monthly for its Camden payroll savers. In presenting the bond, the Treasurer called it appropriate that the bond with the magic number two billion should be issued during the 1963 Freedom Bond Drive, and that it was bought through the Payroll Savings Plan, which accounts for about half of all E Bond purchases.

Treat For Sunday Supper

It's fun to vary the standard meat, potatoes and vegetable menu fare for Sunday night supper. Something that's easy to make and popular with the family—sandwiches, pancakes or waffles—makes a good Sunday night supper menu. And sausage corn bread with fried apple rings tops all for variety. It's this easy.

For the corn bread, begin with a package of corn muffin mix. Along with the usual egg and milk add tender kernels of corn. Blend ingredients, then circle the pan of corn bread with cooked sausage link "spokes" and it's ready to bake! A wedge of golden corn bread with its sausage link baked right on top is yummy served hot with syrup. Apple rings fried in butter are a flavorful accompaniment. Try this new menu next Sunday!

SAUSAGE CORN WEDGES

Makes 8 servings

One 12-oz. pkg. Flako 1 egg
Corn Muffin Mix 2/3 cup milk
1 cup drained whole kernel corn 8 cooked pork sausage links

Heat oven to hot (400°F.). Empty contents of package into bowl; add corn, egg and milk. Blend only until dry ingredients are thoroughly moistened. (Batter should be slightly lumpy.) Pour into greased 9-inch round layer cake pan. Arrange sausage links as "spokes" over top of batter. Bake in preheated oven (400°F.) 20 minutes or until golden brown. Cut in wedges; serve piping hot with maple-blended syrup.

Why Should I Care?

Lesson for July 28, 1963

Bible Material: Genesis 3 through 11.
Devotional Reading: 1 John 3:11-12;
4:7-8, 20-21.

ONE Story can have many points. It can be used to illustrate more truths than one. The story of Cain and Abel is a case in point. A thoughtful reader can see in this story how sin gathers weight like an avalanche, moving slowly at first, just a little snowslide, but finally picking up boulders and entire houses, crushing everything in its path. Sin that begins with something attractive and pleasant (like eating fruit) before long becomes violent, ugly, repulsive, like murder. The reader can also see in the story of Cain and Abel that sin needs very little excuse to break out. Not long ago a young man in Virginia murdered three people on one afternoon, all because one of them (the three were one family) had "nagged him" about his work. The brutal young man made criticism an excuse for murder.

God's two questions

But we shall not be speaking of those and other aspects of this sad story; only of one part of it. The first question which God asks, in the Bible story, is "Where are you?" The next question is "Who told you—?" Shortly afterward, "What is this that you have done?" Then in the story of Cain and Abel, again God opens with a question: "Where is Abel your brother?" Where are you? Who told you the lie you have believed? What have you done? Adam and Eve had not expected those questions. Neither was Cain looking for the question he got. Cain thought he had finished with Abel. That chapter was closed. The account was balanced. He drew a bloody finger across the page. But God faced him with a question. If Cain expected God to take any interest or to make any comment on what Cain considered to be his own affair, it would be an attack, an accusation. But all God does is ask a simple question. It is the most important question there is, next to "Where are you?"

Keeper or brother?

Perhaps Cain thought that a God who would ask questions instead of coming down at once with a curse, must be a weak God. At any rate he makes no defense. His reply is another question, an insolent one: "Am I my brother's keeper?" That was not the point, as Dr. James W. Clarke of Richmond has said. No, Cain was not Abel's keeper, of course not. "Who wants a keeper?" Nobody wants a keeper. But everybody needs a brother. Abel needed a brother, and Cain had not been one.

But the sin of murder does not begin, usually, all at once. This crime of Cain's began with a refusal: a refusal to be a keeper, when after all a keeper was not called for. He was responsible for Abel; that was something that perhaps had never occurred to him. And if it had, he shrugged it off. If he could forget that Abel was a brother, then what happened to Abel, even what he himself did to Abel, didn't matter, so he thought.

Responsibility to God, for our brother

What is the root of the troubles in today's world? A great deal of it (though of course not all, for the roots of evil are many!) is just this indifference to what happens to other people. We don't want to be responsible, and when we do start to help some one else, we want to be keeper, not brother. We are willing to tell other people where to get off, we may like to run their affairs, to think and plan for them; but this is not brotherhood. To be responsible for others is not to live their lives for them. It is treating them like brothers. Once you get to the point of indifference where you don't really care what happens to another person, you are close to not caring even if he is murdered. . . . And that, in the eyes of God is not far from doing the murder yourself. How many juvenile delinquents have gone down into worse ways because no man would be an older brother to one of them? How many marriages have gone on the rocks because their friends, who could see it coming, did nothing to stave off the tragedy? How many young people have taken the road to alcoholism because their parents didn't feel responsible for setting an example of temperance and self-denial? How many lives have been wasted because there was no one who really cared?

PACKAGED MIX MAY BE USED TO STOP CELLAR LEAKS

If your basement may be converted into a swimming pool — but only during the rainy season — you may choose between two courses of action. You may purchase a dinghy or patch up the holes in the cellar walls and floors. We recommend the latter. You can do the job with little effort. Most openings are created as the house settles slowly in its foundation. Any major breaks should be inspected by a mason.

Most of the work is done with a dry, pre-mixed concrete patching mix such as Sakrete. The amateur cement mixer will find that most of the work comes in preparing the crack for the Sakrete mix.

The sides of the defective area are first chipped a way with a cold chisel and a hammer. It is essential that the edges of the old concrete be undercut; the cut must be wider on bottom than on top.

After cutting, homeowner should dislodge all loose mortar with a stiff wire brush. The area is cleaned with water to remove dust.

Sakrete is then mixed with water on a flat surface. Mixture is poured into crack until patch is filled slightly higher than water level.

Strike off the top with a "strike board". This can be any piece of lumber wider than the opening. (Opening should never be less than one inch wide.)

Concrete patching mixture should extend a fraction of an inch above the floor or wall line. After two hours, shrinkage will be complete. Surface may then be troweled to match the rest of the surface.

How to expand your laying flock... without building a new house

Sounds impossible, but hundreds of poultrymen have doubled or tripled the size of their cage layer operations—without building a single square foot of new floor space! They do it by modernizing the old house according to plans supplied by Purina.

Part of the secret is in the ventilation system that keeps inside temperatures comfortable summer and winter. But the whole idea of high bird density and controlled environment works because all factors were taken into consideration.

If you're thinking about increasing the size of your laying flock, we'd suggest you stop by for more facts on the Purina Cage Egg Factory.

Ground-Breaking Ceremonies at Japan's World's Fair Site

A shinto priest in full ceremonial regalia is seen here purifying the grounds on which Japanese exhibits will be on display for the New York 1964-65 World's Fair. The Shinto rites preceded the ground-breaking ceremonies for the 85,000 square foot area which will house the Japan Pavilion. Consul General Masahide Kanayama of New York expressed the hope "... that our exhibit will demonstrate our faith and belief in the Fair's theme of 'Peace Through Understanding.' Our participation will be dedicated to a display of both the traditional and the modern that exists in Japan today."

TRACTOR MAINTENANCE TIPS

Young folks have been learning answers to tough tractor questions in 4-H tractor maintenance schools since 1944. Learning by doing, they've found that better tractor care results in longer tractor life, more power and lower operating costs. Here are typical questions they answer at the end of their course. What's your score?

- 1) Is it best to grease morning or evening? Why?
- 2) Do front wheel bearings with no grease fitting need lubricating?
- 3) Does too much grease on the clutch pilot bearing cause any harm?
- 4) How often should the air cleaner be serviced?

Although only a dozen or so tiny grease fittings are on your tractor, each does a big job, lubricating some mighty important parts. Remember, the best time to grease is evening, when the bearings are warm and take grease more easily. Always wipe dirt from grease fittings and the gun tip to avoid forcing dirt into bearings. Greasing at day's end also protects bearings with a film in case it rains and machinery stands idle, susceptible to rust.

If front wheel bearings have grease fittings, lubricate at least once a day. Use just enough grease to "ooze" it out around the inner dust seal—not so much the seal is damaged. If there are no fittings on front wheel bearings, remove the wheels periodically, clean and pack the bearings.

Take care when greasing clutch throw-out or pilot bearing; too much grease commonly causes faulty clutch operation. Grease on the clutch face may cause slippage, generate heat and score the plate. When the clutch plate becomes rough, the clutch grabs. Remember, one stroke of the gun is enough.

Engines use more than 8,000 gallons of air for each gallon of gasoline burned. Or, they require 13½ pounds of air for each pound of fuel that burns. And diesel engines suck in a full cylinder of air every time a piston moves down on the intake stroke. Air is dirty and it's the air cleaner's job to clean it. When operating in a dusty area, clean the cup once every half day, or as recommended in the operator's manual.

A dirty, plugged, air intake stack restricts air flow and increases fuel consumption. Also, a leaky hose or clamp may let enough dirt in to ruin the engine. Check for other leaks, too—a leaky manifold gasket usually causes the tractor to misfire when idling. A simple check is to put a few drops of oil on the gasket and see if oil is sucked into the engine.
