HERE'S TO PUBLIC AUCTIONS

Public auctions are unique and interesting affairs, especially popular in this section of Carroll County. They take place practically every week, and usually attract crowds of They have more or less fascinated me ever since we moved to this area. In Baltimore County, auctions of this type are rather rare.

One has only to leaf through the local papers to find the various auctions advertised. It is very intersting to run down the list of items to be auctioned off. These may range from automobiles to antiques. Some times, the reasons for having sale is stated. This may be bad health, a desire to discontinue farming or a death in the family.

Farm sales, of course, appeal to the men, and are bound to attract farmers from near and far. Farm equipment, livestock, and sometimes even the farm itself are put up for sale. The ladies, naturally, are more concerned with the house-hold goods-furniture, rugs, cooking utensils and dishes.

Antique sales appeal to antique dealers and collectors. Of course, antiques may be found at the ordinary house-hold goods auction, as well. Some very valuable articles can be purchased, if one is alert and on the look-out. Just recently, here in Taneytown, some very rare and extremely beautiful dishes were auctioned off, at fantastic prices.

Many avid antique collectors furnish their homes almost exclusively with pieces of antique furniture bought at sales. Even if a table or chair has an unattractive finish, it chair has an unattractive finish, it can be scraped, sanded down and refinished. The results are amazing! A friend of mine, who has one of the lovliest homes around, is a real expert at this kind of thing. Under her skillful hands, a dingy, almost hopeless looking piece of furniture will be transformed into a thing of

with the tanastrated into a tanage of the period of the tanastrate who plays the most important part. He must be period of the p suasive, alert and should possess a lively sense of humor. At a recent sale which we attended, the auctioneer was all of these things. He kept things moving, and stimulated the bidding. The clerk, too, must be right to big these his toos. on his toes. He must keep track of the bidding, and record each item as it is sold, along with the buyers name and the price to be paid. He also receives the money and makes

The lunch stand is always a center of attraction at a The lunch stand is always a center of attraction at any sale. Lunch rights are usually reserved by a church group. Delicious sandwiches, hot dogs, homemade pies, cakes and candy, soft drinks and coffee are available.

Most of the fun at public auctions lies in the bidding. This is actually like a game. It also presents a chal-lenge. As the bidding mounts higher, so does the excitement!

So here's to public auctions: They add a bit of spice and variety to country life.

Farm Queen Baltimore County Day Feature

The highlight of festivities on opening day, Monday, August 26, at Timonium Fair will be a combination of Baltimore County day and the selection and crowning of the 1963

Farm Queen. Howard W. Clark, President of Maryland State Fair and Agricultural Society, announced that Mary Houck, Carroll County 1962 Queen will be on hand to greet County Executive Spiro T. Agnew and many county and state dignitaries at the ribbon cutting ceremonies Monday, at 11:30 A.M. Officers and directors of the Maryland State Fair and Agricultural Society will be present to join some 200 guests at a luncheon in the attractive airconditioned Flamingo Room in the grandstand, in celebration of this big opening day. Following the ribbon cutting, the procession of guests lead by Mary Houck, Howard W. Clark, President and John M. Heil, Vice President, will march in a colorful parade to some lively stepping music by the Kiwanis Club band along the midway to the Grandstand. The opening day heavily scheduled, will follow thru for the guests with touring the fair grounds, attending a feature race, in which Maryland bred horses will participate, and the selection and crowning of the 1963 Farm Queen.

At 6:00 P.M. Mary Houck, Farm Queen of 1962, will be guest of honor at a special dinner to be held in the Electron Parm in honor of the par-Flamingo Room in honor of the participants from 23 counties who will vie for the title of State Fair Farm Queen of 1963. The young lady to be picked from twenty-three local county winnners will reign for the duration of the Timonium Fair. The dinner will be the fore-runner of the contest which will take place in the pavilion starting at 8:00 P.M. Miss Houck will lead the parade and reign throughout the contest until the 1963 Queen is selected. Howard W. Clark. President of the Fair, will announce the winner and crown the 1963

Farm Queen. The Queen's Court, consisting of the four runners up will assist the newly selected Queen in her duties during the duration of the Fair. The very busy schedule will include awarding of trophies, entertaining visiting dignitaries, both local and international, touring of the fair grounds and Exhibition Hall, the presenting of trophies to the winners of the many feature races being held at Timonium Track and the particination of the Queen and her Court n the big Parade Sunday, September 2:00 P.M.

THAT'S WASHINGTON FOR YOU!

A certain Government clerk in one of the Executive Departments is supposed to read and initial the great number of official papers which are put in his "In" basket every day, and then put them in his "Out" basket. The other day, there came a document which didn't belong there; it belonged in another bureau. The clerk promptly initialed it, addressed it to the proper bureau, and put it in the "Out" basket. Two days later it came back to him with this note attached: "This document was not designed for you to handle. erase your initials and initial erasure.

Remember, Folks the different times, I have written about that old times, I have written about that old tin cup at the pump where it hangs on a rusty nail at the farm house in Harford County and as I visit those precious Folks, I always drank from that big tin cup. Well, that grand old gentleman passed away recently and the two wonderful sons moved the active aged little chubby wife to a modern new home across from their own home. The place is above Bel Air and I stopped by to have a chat in the tiny house and she said, "Oh, after 60 years of having Walter, I miss him so much!" Then, I passed the farm house further up the road and I realized that never again will I see the inside of that old farm house and drink from the cup where and I realized that never again will I see the inside of that old farm house and drink from the cup where the water was just different from any I have ever tasted.

Further up the road in Darlington, I stopped by to see Mr. and Mrs. Lee who live in a very large home. The husband is in the 80's and as I sat on the old swing with the little wife and talked of days when my Minister was on the Charge of The North. Harford Circuit, the old gentleman came out again on the porch, this time carrying a great big bag and handed it to me. I opened it quickly and took a look and there he had two dozen ears of corn already husked from the garden in the rear of the house which he had planted plus great big tomatoes and cucumbers! Ummmmmm good! Everything always tastes so much better right from the garden and believe it or not, Folks as I sampled the corn right there on that swing, a big laugh came from the husband and wife! You know, I can eat raw vegetables, too.!

I read in the paper during the session of the Jehovah's Witnesses in New York City, the Meter-Maids were placing in the dimes when the cars were over-parked instead of giving those kindly people parking tickets. Nice? Never, never turn them from your door, Folks. Just listen and you will learn much! They are truly Godly People and they know their Bible more so than any Denomination! Denomination!

My precious Cairn, Bobby, asked me in his way to stop writing and get his play-bone which rolled under the stove! His "thank you" was as always a tremendous wagging of his tail! Study your dog and you will learn his language! Wonderful is the

Then there was the lady standing in line at the S & H Green Stamp store and in front of her was a very books counted and there was a suitcase on the counter. The colored woman appeared so eager to get that suitcase but there were a number of pages in her books missing. Perhaps, she needed that suit case to go on an emergency trip and she started to look very pitiful. The lady in the back came forward and handed over about a half of a book of loose stamps and then her books being counted by the clerk were complete! The colored woman dropped her eyes which were filled with tears and with a soft murmur hardly audible sounded like a "Thank you!" The white The white lady smiled back and understood!

Ladies, hair is being cut almost in boyish fashion again and as for colors in the Fall much is gold and green. A beautiful contrast. The latest in the Max Factor pro-

Sears had a real "Open House" and it was the atmosphere of a Festival affair. It was gay - there were bargains in every department just for the two days and strangers were no longer strangers as to the interested buyers who came just for the big affair and business seemed to be flourshing. Refreshments were served and Your Observer had to direct the and Your Observer had to direct the traffic to keep it rolling to aid the Motorist or we would have been there for hours! WHERE'S THE PROOF?

It has been claimed that the American people want the King-Anderson bill-that is, the Medicare bill, which would provide a variety of medical services to everyone drawing social security benefits, whether they wanted them or not, and whether they needed them or not.

It's one thing to make a claim and a very different thing to prove

This is a remarkable showing, particularly in view of the all-out campaign, directed from Washington, designed to sell Medicare to the American people. And it certainly is not the result of any callous disregard on the part of the public, in any age group, to the medical problems of the aged. It is instead based on the known fact that a very large percentage of the elderly are able to meet their medical costs; that both federal, state and local systems exist and are functioning to aid those who cannot; and last, but not least, that Welfare Statism has gone too far and must be checked. Medicare is an excellent place to check it.

FACTS and OPINIONS

Chairman of the Board, M. J. Rathbone, of the Standard Oil Company (New Jersey) looks at the oil situation: ". . . . we have solid grounds for reassurance that petroleum resources are abundant relative to foreseeable demand. But I must attach one final 'if.' Oil Companies will continue to press the world search for oil, with all its heavy costs and risks, only to the extent that excessive taxes or restricting regulations by governments do not discourage such investments. If wise policies are adhered to all by the governments of the world-all of which have a tremendous stake in a healthy oil industry - then we can expect that oil's important role both as a fuel and as a chemical raw material will continue through this twentieth century, and in all probability for many generations after that."

New all-time highs were recorded in the Federal Bureau of Investgation's accomplishments in all major phases of operations during the 1963 fiscal year. J. Edgar Hoover's report to the Attorney General shows that fines, savings and recoveries in cases investigated by the FBI during this period reached a new peak of $186,-225, 348 — a figure representing a return of $1.37 for every dollar appropriated for the Bureau. Convictions in FBI cases came to 12,816, the largest number for any peacetime fiscal year, and were recorded against 96.1 per cent of all persons brought to trial.

The Vancouver, Washington, Columbian says: "The cost of medical and related benefits proposed for our senior citizens under the King-Anderson bill would go up and up some more. . . . We would be signing a blank check. This has nothing to do with whether any particular bill is good or bad . . . it is recognition. . . . that the piper will have to be paid, and that it is all the younger workers who will pay him.

FAIRVIEW

It looks as though we are going to get some rain. We surely hope so, as the water situation is really critical.

Mrs. Lloyd Carl, Mrs. Donald Carl and sons, David and Daniel, called on Mrs. Levi Frock on Friday after-

Mrs. Jennie Frizzell and granddaughters, Hazel and Shirley, Mr. and Mrs. Levi Frock called on Mr. and Mrs. Grant Baker, near Keymar, on Sunday afternoon.

We were sorry to learn of the accident which happened near Copper-ville last Sunday evening which re-sulted in Mrs. Clarence Jackson of Mt. Union, being seriously hurt. We wish her a speedy recovery; also for all who were hurt in any way due to the accident. The place where it happened is really a very dangerous place, any one coming from Otterdale can not see a car coming from Copperville and it is the same the other way, you can not see until you get out on the road whether you stop or not. There has been others who have come close to having an accident at that very place.

We had the privilege of attending the dedication of the plaque which hangs along the road midway be-tween Woodsboro and Walkersville. This plaque is a monument to the John Winebrenner, founder of Rev. the Church of God. This service was held at the birthplace of Rev. Winebrenner and is now owned by Mr. and Mrs. Ephraim Zimmerman, Walkers-ville, Md. Mrs. Zimmerman is a grand niece of John Winebrenner. There were 12 ministers in attendance. The Rev. John Gonso being the oldest of the ministers but still looks so young. Refreshments were served to those attending which was be-tween 80 or 90. All were invited to look the old homestead over.

Mr. and Mrs. Levi Frock visited with their cousins, Mr. and Mrs. Ver-non Frock of Mechanicsburg, Penna., on Saturday.

Miss Debra and Steven are spending a few days this week with their uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Fogle, near Wolf's Mill.

The clerk had pulled down blanket after blanket until only one was left on the shelf. Then the customer remarked sweetly, "I really don't want to buy today, I am only looking for a friend." "Well madam," sighed the clerk, I'll be glad to take down that last one if you think she's in it."

A word to the wise is redundant. -Town and Country, Pennsburg, Pa.

DIED

RUSSELL B. OHLER

A 68 year-old Emmitsburg man died of an apparent heart actual Monday afternoon while trying to brush fire in a field extinguish a brush fire in a field behind his home.

Russell Benjamin Ohler, East Main Street extended, was found dead near the scene of the fire by firemen when they arrived. Efforts to revive him by the fire company's rescusitator were futile. He was pronounced dead by Dr. W. R. Cadle.

Mr. Ohler was reported to have been burning trash, when the fire spread out of control. He was said to have run to the house to tell his wife to call the fire company and then returned to fight the blaze with a pitchfork.

The fire, which reportedly burned small area, was extinguished by the firemen.

Vegetables You've Never Tasted

This unusual-looking vegetable is a cross between cabbage and winter cauliflower. Its name is Caulicab and its flavor is mild, unlike that of either parent. Why not try to grow it?

To paraphrase a famous ditty, "I never saw a purple bean, I never hope to see one" yet there is a purple-podded snap bean now on the market. It's called Royalty for that royal purple hue. The pods turn green when they're cooked in boiling water for precisely two minutes, thus pro-

Not only is there a purple bean, but there's a red celery. This is named Holiday and keeps its color when cooked. When the celery plants are young, stems are tinged pink. This color deepens as the plants mature. Use Holiday for a winter crop in the south, sowing seeds in August. Start seeds viding a built-in blanching indi-indoors in the north. There are also, among the vegetables you've never tasted, two varieties of "salad" pota-toes brought to this country by the first German settlers. Both of these have yellow flesh and are far superior for salad than any other type of potato. One is named German Purple for its skin color. Round tubers average an inch and a half in diameter. The other, called Fingerlings, has tubers from two to four inches long and about an inch in diameter. Both skin and flesh are yellow. Both varieties should be boiled with the skins on, then sliced for salad Stock of seed is small, so order early.

Among the newest vegetables there's a spinach called Malabar that grows like a vine and thrives in hot weather when ordinary spinach varieties bolt to seed. Train it on a fence or similar support and use the large, bright green leaves for summer greens.

Have you ever tasted Cauli-cab, a cross between cabbage and winter cauliflower? Flavor is different from either parent and very mild.

Depending on when it is planted, this new vegetable acts differently. When planted in spring with early cabbage, it makes solid heads by fall, with large ribs running nearly to the tops of the heads.

heads form the next spring with an outer layer of leaves like cabbage but the inner portion filled with tightly folded sprouts and buds, amber in color.

110-Year-Old Man Gets Health Insurance

PLATTEVILLE, COLORADO—A 110-year-old sheepherder here, bought the first hospital insurance policy in a national enrollment of senior citizens opened by Mutual of Omaha.

He is Henry Gooch, who still works 10 hours a day, seven days a week herding sheep on a 280 acre Colorado sand hills farm. Gooch previously was insured by Mutual but added to his coverage because "I fell off my horse a couple months ago."

Here C. M. Chamberlin, Vice President of Mutual representing its President, V. J. Skutt, explains the health policy to Gooch,

Do you have a pet peeve in housecleaning?

Here is one homemaker's terrible trio - and some suggestions on how to feel less peevish about three hard jobs.

Venetian Blinds - Spring or summer is the season to tackle these — outdoors. If you have a child's wading pool hardy, fill the warm water and sine oil cleaner. They have the season to tackle the warm water and sine oil cleaner. it with warm water and pine oil cleaner. Then line up all your blinds and up-end them in the pool. Sponge slats, take the blinds out on the lawn and hose down for rinsing. Dry blinds by laying them flat on the lawn just until the moisture runs off. (Putting them on a beach towel keeps slats free of grass cuttings.) Hang blinds up and let them finish drying on the window. If you get the urge to blind-clean in the winter - or if you are a city dweller - pine clean the blinds in the bathtub. Hang them to drip over shower rod - or lay flat in drained tub until excess moisture

Ovens - Don't let your oven get too grimy. After you cook a food that is especially spattery, soak racks as soon as possible in a solution of grease-dissolving pine oil cleaner and water. Use a sponge or household cleaning pad which has been dunked in a pine cleaner to swab the inside of the oven. Let the cleaning solution set to do its best work - then rinse racks and oven inside with hot water.

Bathroom - Enlist helping hands here. Each person who uses the bathroom should tidy up in small ways to the big clean-up job quick and easy. Replace towels neatly, clean tub after using, sponge sink, rescue soap. You can help your helping hands by keeping a general-purpose pine cleaner in the bathroom, along with a long-handled sponge. These two minutes on the part of each member of the household will help cut down the weekly cleaning routine. At weekly bathroom clean-up use a pine oil cleaner to disinfect, clean, and deodorize tile, metal, porce-

Style, Color Spark Children's Fall Fashions

Photo - Sears, Roebuck and Co. Today's young lady - whether she's in kindergarten or 4th grade - can be just as fashionably dressed this year as her older sister, her mother or any of those Parisian dress models in slick magazines. Here are three of the new "shapes of fashion" which should find wide acceptance with every young lady. All are machine washable and, with the excep-tion of one model in corduroy, require little or no ironing. For a party dress, Sunday dress or everyday go-to-school dress, to-day's Young Miss will find these styles put her right up in front in the fashion parade.

At left is the Empire, a high waisted dress in the new Cranbeary color. It's double-breasted with all-around box pleats, but-ton back, and a three-inch hem. At center is the Skimmer - easy fitting with just a hint of a waist. In Teal Blue, this dress has a low shaped belt at the back, large box pleat front and back and it's fashioned of cotton corduroy.

The Shift, at right, straight and narrow, comes in Fir Green with all-around pleated skirt. It has a button back, a back belt and a generous three-inch hem.

You'll find these "small-fry fashions" available in sizes 3

Boy's World

Every boy appreciates a retreat, a place where he can pursue his hobbies, projects and dreams, undisturbed by the outside world. His "study" can be a corner of his bedroom and this location will have special appeal if it is papered in this new sports car design by the United Wallpaper Company of Chicago. Masculine in every way is this wallpaper with its design of popular racing cars, engine diagrams and pit activity—so typical of a sports car race. The paper comes with a white or skipper blue background accented by bright top colors; is budget priced and pre-pasted for easy hanging.

PROGRAMS FOR YOUR CLUB

The National Garden Bureau, the educational activity of the Garden Seed Industry, a nnounces three programs, any one of which is available for the cost of postage and insurance to any clubs, societies or groups interested in a 25 or 30 minute program.

The first of these presentations is titled "See What Seeds Can Do For You" and shows how annuals, grown from seeds, are used in various ways, what their seeds look like, which flowers grow from which seeds and some of the newer varieties.

Forty-five kodachrome slides, plus a script to be read as they are shown on the screen, comprise this program.

A quiz session, built around 16 x 20 inch photographs of common and rare flowers grown from seeds makes up the second program. Twenty of the big pictures, plus one board showing the flowers in color, plus the quiz forms and an instruction sheet go to the club requesting this program, which is titled "Show Off Your Knowledge of Annual Flowers".

When returning the photo-graphs to National Garden Bureau after the meeting, the club may send along the names and addresses of the three highest scorers. A gift certificate for seeds of his own selection will be sent for the person scoring highest, seeds highest; seeds for second and third highest. All prizes are to be presented to winners at the next meeting of the group. Catalogs from seedsmen in many states, beautifully illustrated in color, with notes about unusual plants in each and both an introduction and a conclusion (to be read by the program chairman) are included in this third program.

Cards are enclosed so that any participant may order one or more of the catalogs displayed for his or her personal use. Program title is "Your Garden's In The Catalogs".

To obtain any one of these

To obtain any one of these three programs for use by your group, write for a request form to Isabel Zucker, director, National Garden Bureau, 708 West Long Lake Road, Bloomfield Hills, Michigan and one will be sent you immediately.

It's The Berries

This cool and irresistible pie is sure to win acclaim for its delicate fruit flavor and glamorous meringue topping. The easy to prepare strawberry-studded filling combines fruit flavor gelatin, ice cream, and frozen berries—fresh if you prefer. It's a light and creamy filling that teams well with either a flaky pastry shell or a no-bake pie shell prepared with flaked coconut or cookie crumbs.

Strawberry Alaska Pie 1 package (3 ounces) 1 package strawberry flavor gelatin

1 package (10 ounces) frozen strawberry halves, thawed

1-1/4 cups boiling berry juice 1 8-inch pie shell plus water 2 egg whites 1 pint vanilla ice cream 4 tablespoons sugar

Dissolve gelatin in boiling liquid in 2-quart saucepan. Add ice cream by spoonfuls, stirring until melted. Then chill until very thick (15 to 20 minutes). Fold in drained strawberries. Spoon into pie shell. Chill until firm (20 to 30 minutes).

Beat egg whites until foamy throughout. Gradually add sugar beating after each addition until blended. Continue beating until meringue will stand in peaks. Spread over the pie filling, sealing meringue to edge of crust. Place under a pre-heated broiler until browned—about 3 minutes. Serve at once or store in refrigerator until serving time. Makes 6 to 8 servings.

Try Writing A Letter With I omemade Ink

1. Two materials are n essary to make a good iron permanent ink, iron sulfate and tannic acid. If commercial materials are not available, an iron compound can be made by first soaking some iron nails in carbon tetrachloride to remove the grease coating on them. Avoid breathing carbon tetrachloride vapor by doing this outside. Put the nails in white vinegar and let them stand for two days. You now have a solution of iron acetate. To make a concentration solution of tannic acid, boil 3. What color is the solution? three tablespoons of tea leaves in a half cup of water.

2. Combine equal amounts of the iron acetate and tannic acid.

This is ink. It is too thin to write with so mix a small amount of water soluble glue into it to make the solution

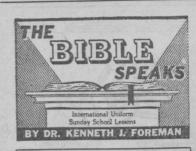

Write a letter. Let it stand for a day. Now what color is the ink? Commercial ink has soluble dyes added to it so you can see what you write.

Bible Material: Genesis 21 through Devotional Reading: Lamentations 3:55-58.

ONE of the strangest stories anywhere is the story of Abraham preparing to kill his only son Isaac and offer the dead body as a burnt offering to God. The deeper question is one which we shall not pursue here: Can we believe

Dr. Foreman Christians, when they stop to think about this, find themselves in a terrible dilemma; and so they take refuge in calling the story a kind of parable rather than literal fact.

A believing man's conviction

Let us come down to a more manageable, even if still difficult problem. Let us think about the state of Abraham's mind. This good man had a conviction that the same God who had promised him a son was now commanding him to sacrifice that son just as (in those days) a bull or a cow would have been sacrificed, by knife and fire, a burnt offering in honor of God. The difficulty is now not theological but psychological. How could a good man believe such a thing? If a good man today were caught making an attack with a deadly weapon on his own son, and if he told the police to leave him alone, because "God ordered me to do this," the police would turn him over to a psychiatrist. For today any man who would explain a killing he was about to commit, on the ground that this was God's will, would be regarded as obviously insane.

The answer to that is fairly easy if we imagine ourselves back in Abraham's time and place. Childsacrifice, human sacrifice, was common, as the Bible and archaeology testify. Indeed, Abraham's neighbors might easily have jeered at him for having a cheap religion because he had not sacrificed his son. Anyhow, Abraham lived at a time when such an idea as God's commanding him to sacrifice Isaac could not be brushed off (as it would by any sane man today) as a crazy notion. He really believed that was what his God wanted

A believer's conscience

Abraham lost no time doing what he firmly believed to be Now a great God's comin many people have consciences they do not use. "You ought" or "You ought not" are only little buzzing static in the mind, fainter and fainter as time goes on and the person pays less and less attention to what his conscience is trying to say. The good man listens to his conscience; his convictions appear in his actions. He is not fond of saying "I know I ought to, but . . ." If he knows or believes he ought to, he acts accordingly. We can call this conscientiousness, but we can call it also obedience. So far as the voice of conscience is the voice of God, following the conscience is obeying the voice of God. It is true, as history shows us, that a man may think an action is good which future centuries will mark down as

A believer's crown

This strange story ends with God saying, "I will bless you . . . because you have obeyed my voice." The story brings out the point that sacrificing his only son was the last thing Abraham wanted to do. It is easy enough to do what is right when that suits our convenience; but when what I want and what I ought to do are not the same thing, then it's another story. Abraham has been honored around the world ever since, because he was one man for whom the number one question always was: Is this the will of God?

Does a believing man have any reward except a kind of satisfaction in having done the right thing? Yes, he may have the re-ward Abraham had. Every man has even in this life some particular rewards for at least some of the good he has done; and these rewards are not all the same. Abraham was given the promise of a nation descended from him, and of being a blessing to all markind. This could not come to every one! But isn't it likely that the best reward he could possibly have was that God approved of him? To be "approved unto God" is the brightest crown a servant and friend of God can wear.

Summer, with its promise of fun-filled outdoor living, is also the season for annoying insect pests. How to reconcile the two? Fairfield Chemicals, F.M.C. Corporation, manufacturer of non-toxic base chemicals for insecticides, offers some help-

59 NEW PLANTS WORTH 7,000 JOBS LOOKING AT SITES IN MARYLAND AREA

Annapolis, Md., Aug. 15. — The Division of Business and Industrial Development, Maryland Department Economic Development, reports that it has handled this year 59 in-quiries from industries looking for plant locations in the Maryland area.

These new enterprises represent at least 7,000 new jobs.

George W. Hubley, Jr., director of the Maryland Department of Economic Development mic Development, said here today that the relative superiority of plant locations now available for industrial development in the State's twenty-three Counties and the City of Baltimore is reflected by the unusually large percentage of industries which consider Maryland locations good enough to justify sending inspection crews into the state. Out of fifty-nine inquiries by mail and telephone, thirty-seven were followed by on-the-spot inspections. spot inspections.

These industries represent the utmost in diversification, ranging from chemicals and aluminum to fountain pens, bowling pins, electronic products and paper.

During the time covered by the report, inquiries from firms considering the establishment of new plants in Maryland increased thirty per cent over the corresponding period a year earlier. Hubley pointed out that large numbers of additional inquiries, no doubt, were being processed at the same time by county development agencies, Maryland utilities, railroads, Chambers of Commerce and other organizations working to attract sound new industries to Maryland.

The average man has five senses: Touch, taste, sight, smell and hearing. The successful man has two more-horse, and common.

The awkward age: Too old for in-come tax exemption and too young for old age pension.

One of the hardships our pioneer ancestors escaped was the problem of disposing of today's "disposable"

USE TURF BUILDER NOW.

Why would the U. S. give anyone a patent on a lawn fertilizer?

A lawn fertilizer is simply food for grass, isn't it? And all fertilizers contain nitrogen and stuff, don't Right you are. But when they get on your lawn they all act differently. Some are just "raw" chemicals. Some act like a shot-in-the- arm and produce runaway hay growth.

There's only one with nutrients locked-in until biological forces release them consistent with the needs of grass - and that's Turf Builder. Scotts invented the new process. They call it Trionized bonding. It is so original and exclusive that the U.S. granted a patent on it. No other fertilizer has it.

Turf Builder is our best seller. Enough for 5000 sq. ft. costs $4.95 (less than 1/10th¢ per sq. ft.). Put, it on any time. No watering in. No dust. You won't even get your hands dirty.
