One could tell in a minute that she had colored blood in her and my heart ached for her as I was told after passing that she was living with a white family and as soon as they discovered she was a Negress, they asked her to leave. How sad that was for this beautiful girl! One must not think of themselves but of those to follow

Both men and women of this sign are truly the most orderly and methodical of all the signs. Mercury, the ruling planet of this sign, gives its subjects much wit and, also ingenious minds. These people have very sensitive skin and should always use very little make-up, if any. They usually have very intellectual faces. They are fond of poetry, music and mathematics and take great delight in the study of chemistry and the sciences. These people are graceful and charming. They always have a gracious manner and most refined. They give counsel to their friends which is fine to follow. They are well balanced as a rule and not likely to go to extremes in anything. At times they are too sen-sitive. They make grand scholars in just about everything and always at the top of the class. These Virgo born should always have the college education. Much more could be writ-ten about them. Sometimes, there may be different members of the family with whom they just do not click and this should be studied as it may lead to being most distant and cold right in the very household and as they get older they will not be on speaking terms. Have a grand week end, Folks and be sure those teen-agers remain in school and that for the future.

IN INTEREST OF GOOD CITIZENSHIP

The editor of a country weekly or smaller city daily newspaper is in a unique position in his community. He knows personally a large proportion of his subscribers and a subscriber can find him in his office and cross verbal swords with him.

A conscientious country editor is clothed with a heavy responsibility. He not only records the local news, social events and political happenings of his community, but he should discuss national and international issues which have a direct bearing on the lives and livelihood of his readers. This is often a discouraging and unappreciated job but if his paper is worth reading he has to accept the burden. He is in the position of a of good action the Communist dicteacher. How well each translates his ideas to his audience determines his standing in his profession.

It is certainly true that the smaller paper must place emphasis on local happenings. But it is unfortunate for a community if an editor feels obliged to move entirely in that direc-

GRASS ROOTS OPINIONS

LAEGER, W. VA., INDUSTRIAL NEWS: "In Russia, we learn from a bulletin of the US Department of Agriculture, neglect of farm machinery has been made a criminal offense. It is not difficult to understand the need for drastic steps. When the machinery belongs to the State, and the land belongs to the State, and the crops belong to the State, who cares what happens to any of them? American farmers, however, discovered for themselves long ago, that neglecting their machinery is a crimenot against the State, but against Nature and their own welfare - despite the quick availability of parts at modest cost 'In the sweat of thy brow,' says the Good Book, 'shalt thou eat bread.' But the Russians wouldn't know about that."

BURLINGTON, WISC., STAND-ARD-PRESS: "Advertising is as vital to the preservation of freedom as free exercise of publishing a newspaper or the free exercise of building a church or the free exercise of the right of trial by jury. Advertising is not only the practical source of advocating to the people of this country the economic choices they have before them. It is practically the sole support of the only communication system that is not under the control of the state."

EVERETT, WASH., HERALD: "The growing of trees is an operation in which man is only a partner with nature. If a forest is to produce top quality and quantity, man must understand how trees use the soil, moisture, air and sunshine, and how they may be protected from disease, insects and wildlife which are out of balance with environment. All of this

If these nations choose to sign, and in all likelihood East Germany and Cuba will, we will be indirectly recognizing the Ulbrecht and Castro regimes of-

CARLINVILLE, ILL., ENQUIR-ER: "We, as Americans, should consider devoting at least a part of our spare time to improving our cultural on international and national affairs that can affect directly every citizen down to his job or business, the propbetter things of life. The strength of our country in years past has been the average Christian home of America, and the strong family concepts and ideals which made us a great people. These are threatened by today's over-emphasis on sex, cheap novels, cheap pictures and television programs, and the washed-out moral fiber which is continually stressed to the children of this country."

100 PER GENT DUNLOGGIN BREEDING

Because Mr. and Mrs. Jackson were injured in an automobile accident, they are forced to sell at Public Auction all of their dairy cattle of milking age on their farm located along Uniontown and Keymar Road, North of Mt. Union Church, ¼ mile West of Otterdale Mill Road. Watch for sale signs.

WEDNESDAY, SEPTEMBER 18, 1963 AT 12:00 NOON, D. S. T.

36 HEAD REGISTERED AND PUREBRED CATTLE 36

Of this herd, 25 are registered, 11 head are unregistered purebreds. Over the years this herd has been built on Dunloggin sires selected from cow families with heavy production, good type, and proven ability to transmit these qualities. There will be selling 14 daus. of LOGWOOD NUGGET MAN-O-WAR, who is a double grandson of "DUNLOGGIN PURE GOLD." 10 daus. of FILBERT DESIGN EVALON MASTER who is out of a "GOLDEN CROSS" daughter. Other sires used were: "RICHEL CONSTELLATION LAD" and "LOCVALE MATADOR PEARY."

Unfortunately, there are no production records kept on this herd of cattle, but through the selection of top bulls, Mr. Jackson has built a fine herd of uniform cows, with well-attached udders, dairy character and type, producing 3.8 to 4.0% milk.

This small but select herd affords an opportunity for the purebred dairyman to add to his herd cows that have the inheritance to produce and are heavily Dunloggin bred. All of these cows carry service to a sire out of a dam who has 3 records over 20,000 lbs. milk, with one record of 21,000 milk and 851 Fat in 365 days.

During the absence of Mr. Jackson the herd is under the su-pervision of Mr. Clarence Hull, formerly of "Filbert Farms," and Mr. Carlton Fleming.

The herd is vaccinated, accredited, and will be T. B. and Bangs tested within 30 days of the sale for interstate shipment. They also have been checked for pregnancy.

Some Dairy Equipment and 3 milker units will be sold.

TERMS: Cash on day of sale. Not responsible for accidents.

Fire broke out about 2 o'clock, on Wednesday morning in the barn and shed of Stanley C. Reaver, north of Wednesday morning in the barn and shed of Stanley C. Reaver, north of Baltimore Street, adjoining the railroad, then communicated to the barn owned by Mrs. C. W. Weaver and the ice-house of Mrs. E. C. Crouse, all of which were destroyed. Owing to the unfavorable hour, the firemen were a little slow in getting to work, but when they did, their work counted in the saving of adjoining property.

The buildings on the small farm of Edward Harman, on the Keysville Road, were totally destroyed by fire about 6 o'clock on Tuesday evening, except his new dwelling which was badly scorched. The small barn of Mrs. Luther Angell, some distance away caught from the sparks, but help from the neighbors saved it.

Shoemaker — Mr. John Henry Shoemaker, who was badly injured about a week ago by a log rolling on him, breaking one of his legs, died on Thursday afternoon resulting from complications. He had been making his home with his brother, Geo. A.., on the Goulden farm, near Taneytown, where he died. Mr. Shoemaker was 52 years old.

John D. Kane became the proprietor of the Washington House, Gettysburg, last Saturday. Mr. Kane is well known in Taneytown, having conducted hotels here for about ten years, but has been living in Baltimore for the past year.

SEPTEMBER

What a wonderful, whimsical month is September! It is the time when summer and autumn walk hand-inhand. This ninth month of the year sums up the last glowing days of the retreating summer season and pre sents a preview of the approaching days of fall.

We see God's handiwork clearly in this gradual, but dramatic, change of the seasons. It is His celestial paint brush which is now tinting the leaves with glowing tones of red, yellow, orange and russet. on a different tempo at this season. Each month is beautiful in its own right, but September is doubly so since it combines the loveliness of both summer and fall.

"GIMMIE" ATTITUDE CAN DESTROY A PEOPLE

- Former President Eisenhower has struck out boldly against the "gimme" attitude of many people. He refers to the endless debate over taxation, saying that people recognize the fact that Government spending is entirely too high and are critical of high taxes, but many of them, at the same time, continue selfishly to ask that the Government do for them or their communities what they should do for themselves. The former President, like other thoughtful Americans in all walks of life, fears that there has been a "widespread deterioration of our moral strength" and that we "seem to be losing our capacity to bear our own responsibilities unflinghingly."

How many ways is electricity used in this picture?

How many ways is it used in your home? Do you ever wonder what happens when you plug into a wall outlet? Where does the power come from? You usually can't see it unless it is in a light. Why do fuses blow? Why should you NEVER touch an electrical object with wet hands? Scores of 4-H Club members could tell you the answers. They found them while working in the 4-H electric program. Through the Cooperative Extension Service and sponsoring groups, the young people have access to some of the best personal guidance and informative literature in the electrical field. Boys and girls interested in electricity should see the county extension agent.

Quick Peanut Candy Sundaes

ICE CREAM IS AMERICA'S ALL-TIME FAVORITE summer dessert. It will be doubly popular combined with a Caramel Peanut Butter Sauce in a luscious sundae topped with crushed peanut candies.

Select an assortment of peanut candies. Peanut logs, peanut plank bars, old fashioned peanut butter filled sticks, chocolate candies with a peanut caramel center, peanut brittle, or any of the popular peanut candies available in supermarkets, grocery and variety stores. Chop or crush the candies and arrange in a dish. Put out a bowl of vanilla ice cream and a pitcher of the Caramel Peanut Sauce. Then let everyone mix and match sundae ingredients to suit individual tastes.

1 cup light brown sugar, firmly packed 1 tablespoon flour 1/8 teaspoon salt

1 cup water 1/2 cup smooth or crunchy peanut butter 1 teaspoon vanilla

Mix sugar, flour and salt. Stir in water. Cook and stir over low heat until mixture comes to a full rolling boil. Add peanut butter and bring again to a boil, stirring constantly to make a smooth mixture. Remove from heat. Add vanilla. Serve hot or cold over ice cream. Makes 11/2 cups.

A Balanced Highway Program

Seven years have passed since the start of the accelerated national road-building program authorized by Congress in the Federal-Aid Highway Act of 1956.

The Act provides that the revenue from certain Federal taxes on highway users (principally the 4¢-per-gallon gasoline tax) is set aside in a Highway Trust Fund and used only for the Federal share of the Federal-State highway program. The Act also provides a long-range schedule of authorizations for the completion of the National System of Interstate and Defense Highways and a "balanced" program of capital improvements on the other Federal-aid systems - primary, secondary and urban.

This long-range plan calls for the substantial completion of the Interstate System by October 1, 1972. Highway planners recognize that this 41,000-mile system of express highways connecting the major centers of population and industry cannot perform its intended function with full efficiency unless it is woven into the total highway system—and this means bringing the feeders, distributors and connectors up to standard.

Within the next year, several thousand miles of Interstate System will be opened to traffic. Since 1964 is the halfway point of the program, State and Federal highway officials have set themselves the goal of opening half of the Interstate mileage by the end of that year. What may be of even more interest to the traveling public is the fact that the highway officials also are concentrating on opening long, connected stretches of Interstate highway so as to provide maximum benefits at the earliest possible date. As the links of the Interstate System are connected up, the benefits derived by motorists will multiply. Driving time and driving tensions will be reduced, and accident costs will be cut dramatically. (On completion, the Interstate System will save upwards of 5,000 lives annu-

Traffic congestion on parallel primary and secondary routes will be reduced, but traffic on routes interchanging with the Interstate System generally will increase. As traffic patterns change, highway administrators are making provision for improving the highways which are to bear the heavier traffic loads. Necessarily, the Interstate System construction schedule is coordinated carefully with the schedule of highway improvements on other roads.

The balanced highway program recognizes that each road. heavily traveled or not, has a part to play in the functioning of the highway network and that funds available for construction must be distributed accordingly.

At the end of the first seven years of the accelerated program, about 36 percent of the Interstate System (14,829 miles) was open to traffic. Another 41 percent was "in progress;" i.e., engineers were designing the highway, right-of-way was being acquired, or actual construction was underway.

Forgiveness Lesson for September 15, 1963

Bible Material: Genesis 37 through Devotional Reading: Matthew 5:38-

THE whole story of Joseph in Egypt makes one of the most fascinating tales in the world. There is not a miracle in it and yet it is more wonderful than many a story of magic, white or a throne all his own. He came just as close to being king as a man could be, and certainly wielded power not second even to that of the Pharaoh. (Pharaoh, by the

Dr. Foreman way, is not a name, but a title, like King or Dr. Foreman Emperor.) There is just one point in that story which takes our attention this week: the climax of the plot, we might call it, where Joseph finally confronts his brothers face to face, has those ruthless men in his power . . . and forgives them!

Love is the basis What might have been a story of vengeance-evil for evil-turns out to be a story of good . . . good that is beyond most people's imagination even; returning good for evil. Joseph had never read the New Testament, and yet he acted just as if he had been reading the sermon on the mount. He has in his power the men who plotted against his life; and yet he forgives them. Why? The word "love" is not used in this story. Joseph himself may have been a sentimental man, but his biographer was certainly not. Joseph was brave, and chivalrous and loyal, but those adjectives are not used by the inspired story-teller. He doesn't have to use the word. Just try telling the story to people who never heard it before, and ask them: Why did Joseph forgive his brothers? They will probably give the natural reply: He must have loved them very much. That's very clear, isn't it? What other notive could produce such whole-hearted forgiveness? Socalled forgiveness, on any other basis, isn't the real thing. Men "forgive" others for show, or because it's demanded of them by society, or to get rid of an un-pleasantness . . . but the result is coldness and aloof suspicion, not true forgiveness. Repentance the condition But the day when Joseph forgave his brothers was not the first day he had seen them. Why didn't he forgive his brothers on sight? Why the delay? Why all that business of the state dinner, and the cup in the sack of grain? Couldn't he have forgiven his brothers right away? The reason for his waiting lay in the fact that when the brothers came to Egypt the first time, Joseph had no way of knowing what they were like now. In more than 20 years, much can happen. Had they changed or were they all the same conscienceless devils they used to be? Joseph had to find out. The Judah who so eagerly offered his life for the life of his brother Benjamin was a different man from the Judah who sold his brother Joseph into slavery. Probably the others were different too; Joseph, a good judge of character, may have seen in their faces that they sympathized and agreed with Judah. Something real, something new had entered the picture. This new thing was repentance. The meaning of that word is transformation-of-the-mind, a new way of looking at life. True repentance is not a flash of regret, it is a continuing change of heart. Without it there can be no forgiveness. Readiness to forgive, yes; but not forgiveness. Not even God offers forgiveness to those who will not

Action is the proof If forgiveness like repentance is an inward thing, an attitude, how can we tell when it is genuine? Well, the New Testament speaks of the "fruits of repentance" and might well speak of the "fruits of forgiveness." We have good reason to believe that Judah had repented because of the way he acted about Benjamin and Jacob. We have equally good reason for being sure that Joseph really forgave his brothers, by what he proceeded to do for them. True forgiveness is not an eraser to wipe off the past and leave the blackboard clean. It is not a disinfectant to destroy the germs of hate. Rather, forgiveness is positive, creative. It draws a fresh new picture of life; it brings health. The forgiver proves himself by serving those he forgives. You can never see a forgiving spirit; but you can see such a spirit in the actions it inspires.
