CARROLL COUNTY TB ASSN.

The Maryland Tuberculosis Association has congratulated the Surgeon General, Luther Terry, on his appointment of a Task Force to Eradicate Tuberculosis. James M. Shea, Jr., president, has pledged the Maryland group's complete support and cooperation to the members of the task force.

task force.

The appointment of the Task Force, announced in Washington on Friday, announced in Washington on Friday, Nov. 8, implements a recent recom-mendation from the Subcommittee of the Department of Labor, the De-partment of Health, Education and Welfare, and the House Committee on Appropriations. The committee report stated that: "The committee has real concern over the current degree of effective-ness of tuberculosis control efforts in the United States. In 1959, the Arden House Conference on Tuberculosis proposed measures that could lead to a massive reduction in the tubercu-losis problem in the United States. The committee has been told that eradication would save the country an estimated 750 million dollars a year. Tuberculosis claims more lives than any other communicable dis-ease. In view of these facts, the committee believes that serious thought should be given to a study of the tuberculosis problem similar to that made by the Surgeon General's Task Force on Eradication of Syphilis."

Mr. Shea pointed out that recent findings of the Maryland Arden House Study Committee showed that there were 1085 new cases of tuberculosis diagnosed in the first nine months of 1963. The new cases for the first six months of 1962 numbered 1064, an increase of 21 cases, according to Dr. Edmund G. "With these statistics at hand,"
Mr. Shea said, "there is little reason for complacency; and we look to the Task Force to point the way to better programs designed to eradicate our most serious and costly communicable disease problem."

SOCIAL SECURITY

"You don't have to retire completely to get social security benefits," R. W. Hughes, social security district manager in Baltimore, said.

"Many people here in this part of Maryland receive benefits based on partial retirement, even though they work regularly. In each case the benefit amount is adjusted according to the amount of earnings that the beneficiary reports."

Mr. Hughes related the story of a partly retired carpenter who was awarded a monthly social security benefit of $92, but who decided to continue working part-time and ex-pected to earn about $2000 during the year.

The rule is that you can be paid all your social security benefits if your earnings are $1200 or less. For earnings between $1200 and $1700, $1 of benefits is withheld for each $2 earned. For all earnings above $1700, $1 in benefits is withheld for each $1 earned.

"Since the carpenter expected to earn $2000 this year, $550 of his benefit amount was withheld," Mr. Hughes said. "With a monthly benefit amount of $92, his checks were withheld for about his reports, partit the held for about six months until the required deduction had been made. After six checks had been withheld, he was reinstated for social security benefits as usual during the rest of the year."

Social security beneficiaries who are under 72 and who expect to earn over $1200 during the year must send over $1200 during the year must send an estimate of their expected earnings to the Social Security Administration at the beginning of each year so that the proper number of checks can be withheld. "If actual earnings differ from the estimated amount," Mr. Hughes said, "this should be reported as soon as possible so that ported as soon as possible, so that adjustments can be made. This will make certain beneficiaries receive all the benefits they are entitled to, and it will also make it unnecessary to return an overpayment, which may be a very difficult thing to have to do."

Any questions about this or other social security matters may be directed to the social security district office at 3107 Greenmount Avenue, Baltimore 18, Md., or to the social security representative in Taneytown at the First National Bank on the first Tuesday of each month between the hours of 10 A. On Saturday, November 9th, from the hours of 6:30 to 10 P. M. was "Dickeyville by Candlelight" sponsored by The Dickeyville Garden Club. I arrived before the crowd just before dush set in and payer will I fore dusk set in and never will I forget the sight of that little village all lit up by candlelight! I really thought I was in a foreign country so picturesque it all was with the hilly streets. It was a tour of the lovely authentically restored homes and the hostesses were attired in Civil War costumes! Many of the homes were constructed around the year of 1800 and there were fifteen homes open to the public.

What a crowd! And the owners all What a crowd! And the owners all were charming as they greeted all visitors as they arrived at the doors to the entrance of these homes. This little village lies in a valley along the banks of Gwynn's Falls and so near Faltimore. The houses which were not open to the public were called "Peek-a-Boo" houses due to the fact that just one room would be candle lighted and all the rest in darkness and from the street, you could neek and from the street you could peek in one window!

As I walked along, I saw a familiar face lighting candles on the picket fence of his home and that was Mr. Bob Jones, formerly of WBAL. I asked him how long he was living there and he told me nine years. He is leaving for his home town, Cinis leaving for his home town, Cincinnati, very shortly.

Then, I met another columnist, Miss Libbie Powell of "The Daily Mail" from Hagerstown, Md., and we spent the rest of the evening together. She is a beautiful woman and was most gracious to me.

All the Village strollers seemed to be enjoying viewing the homes. The history of this little village is most interesting. The Falls were named after Richard Gwynn, who, in 1672, took a tract of land along the stream with exclusive rights to trade with the Alganguin Lydians, who lived with the Algonquin Indians who lived peacefully on both sides of the stream. In the year of 1719, Peter Bond, son-in-law of Richard Gwynn, Bond, son-in-law of Richard Gwynn, built a mill somewhere in the vicinity and this was the building in the area. Then several mills and homes were built by other families and in 1829 the Wethereds bought the standing mills and built additional ones of their own. The town took the name of Wetheredville until 1871 when Mr. William Dickey bought the 300 acres, 3 mills and houses for $82,000. The town then was renamed "Dickey-3 mills and houses for $82,000. The town then was renamed "Dickeyville" and grew and prospered until 1934 when it was sold at auction for the sum of $42,000 to a holding company which began a restoration program with the architect Harold A. Stillwell. Then, the Dickeyville Improvement Association was formed in 1937 and in 1954 the mills again were in the hands of the Dickey family. It in the hands of the Dickey family. "GRASS ROOTS OPINIONS"

BURLINGTON, WISC., STAND-ARD-PRESS: "Someone has said we are what we eat . . . as the federal government takes over more and more control of our society's channels of communication? It is literally 'feeding' us its own brand of information . . . within the last year a new federal aviation agency publication has been launched for general consumption, the agricultural department has established a wire service for market prices; the commerce department is about to launch a banking magazine . . . and, finally, there is now being considered a general federal government wire to disseminate information passed by government officials. So, if we are what we eat - swallow; then, we have ample evidence before us now to assume that we will also start thinking favorably toward our 'benefactors' who are so graciously offering official information. Such a Utopian climate of pre-cast facts is the democratic version of brainwashing."

BENTON, MO., DEMOCRAT: "The drawback of being a success today is that Uncle Sam splits it with you."

ANDOVER, N.Y., NEWS: "Doctors all agree that the surest way to reduce overweight is to stop consuming as much as we have been in the habit of doing. . . . The dieting may be difficult but the result is a healthier and happier individual. This same idea could, and should be applied to the Federal Budget in the form of cutting down on all expendi-. . Put all forms of government spending on a diet. Not outright starvation-just get along on a little less."

SO. BOSTON, VA., GAZETTE-VIRGINIAN: "Big Brother government has gotten into some zany, idiotic programs of late, but one brought to light the other day takes the cake. Seems that the National Institute of Health is conducting scientific research on the emotional stability of newlyweds. With the cooperation of 90 newly married couples in nearby Montgomery Co., Md., the government has installed oneway mirrors in the love nests to peek and pry into the arguments of bride and groom. Oh, no, they didn't install them in the boudoir or bath. That would be an invasion of privacy, says the National Institute of Health. This bit of nonsense is costing the taxpayers $200,000 a year. Mirror, mirror on the wall, who is the fairest of them all?"

SOMERSET, OHIO, PRESS: "National Newspaper Week (was) observed this year, between October 13th and October 19th. The plan for the week was developed in 1940, with the original object of answering attacks and criticisms aimed at weakening the prestige and influence of newspapers. Year after year, the place of a free press in a free society has been emphasized. It is just as well because people very easily take for granted the existence of a free press."

ROSHOLT, S.D., REVIEW: "The nation can, as President Kennedy said, be proud, as the aftermath of the recent march on the nation's capitol. But not because of the demonstration. America is a great land because she has tried so hard despite all travail and tension, to raise the material and spiritual standards of all its peoples and races. And because, as the march demonstrated. people can mingle—and march if they insist, in the dignity of freedom."

ASHTON, IDAHO, HERALD: "Uncle Sam's tightening of expense account tax deductions seems to be turning out to be a boomerang. Hotel and restaurant business fell drastically over much of the country during the first half of this year. When this business-or any other-falls off, it means fewer jobs and less income on which to pay taxes. So Uncle Sam has not realized the increased tax take that was hoped for."

ODESSA, TEXAS, AMERICAN: 'The survival of the nation is intimately connected with freedom of the press."

SANDUSKY, OHIO, REGISTER: For weeks, the building trade unions in various parts of the country have been targets of demonstrations demanding preferential treatment for Negros and Puerto Ricans applying for apprenticeship training. In New York, the issue came to a head when State Attorney General Louis J. Lefkowitz filed a bias complaint with the State Commission for Human Rights because the sheet metal union would not 'jump' a Negro over 100 white applicants who applied ahead of him.

. So long as the unions treat all applicants the same, in order of application, they cannot be accused of discrimination either favoring whites or Negroes."

ISLE, MINN., MESSENGER: Spending by the federal government for interest on the public debt will reach $10 billion in 1964-or $213 for each American family! How long can we continue spending more money than we have?"

Errand Boy

(A 24-hour-a-day errand boy ... that's one of the many roles the telephone plays in your life.

For the telephone is always at your service ... ready to help you arrange your appointments, get information, simplify shopping, keep you in touch socially and make light work of accomplishing so many everyday jobs-big and small.

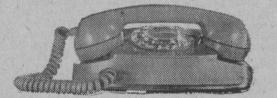

Your telephone actually saves you money while working for you 'round the clock. In fact, the more you put this errand boy to work, the more you're likely to save. You save time, and save expenses that would otherwise mount up if you had to do everything in person.

It's hard to imagine what life would be like without a telephone errand boy to help you manage things faster and easier. And it's still one of the biggest bargains in your family budget. Use

KEYSVILLE-DETOUR

Greetings to you:

Congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. John Young, Jr., of Detour upon the birth of a daughter on Monday the

Just heard recently of Mr. Sterling Smith's accident. Seems Mr. Smith of Keysville had a fall and is in the Annie Warner Hospital. hope he is improving rapidly tho' I understand he will have a long stay in the hospital.

Congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. Harry Dougherty, Sr., of Taneytown upon the opening last week of their new Super-Thrift store. It certainly is a lovely store—with a good variety and lots of parking space.

Last chance to call 775-5802 to have your papers, etc., picked up on Saturday by the Luther Leaguers for their drive. The proceeds will be used to wards the purchase of new choir

The chicken and oyster supper held by the United Church of Christ of Keysville last Saturday did very well. Adult tickets reached 450 and the children's, 27.

There was a family dinner on Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Harner of Taneytown upon the occasion of John's birthday. Our best wishes to him also.

Happy Birthday wishes for two more coming up: to Mrs. Jacob Adams of Detour who will be 81 on Monday the 25th, and to Bruce Fleharty, who will be 6 on Sunday the Family Sunday will be observed at the Keysville Lutheran Church this Sunday, the 24th. The 40th Annual Convention of the Southern States Cooperative was held in Richmond, Va., last Wednesday, Thursday and Friday. Among those from this area who attended were Mark Baumgardner, Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Wilhide, Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Kiser, Mr. and Mrs. Myron Wilhide and Mr. and Mrs. Ronald

Mrs. Gertrude Warner of Detour returned to her home last Saturday from the Carroll County General Hospital. Mrs. Warner, who has a broken hip, is in a cast now. Do hope all goes well for her.

Visitation Day was held at Elmer A. Wolfe School in Union Bridge last Wednesday with 81 registered. The Mother's Club served a lunch and then Mr. Samuel Jenness, Carroll County Superintendent of Schools, spoke on some of the problems of education today.

Guest speaker at Keysville Lutheran Church last Sunday was Mr. Herbert Hewey, a student at the Seminary in Gettysburg and a native of Illipsia. of Illinois. There was also a guest soloist, Miss Effie Fulmer of the Evangelical Lutheran Church of Frederick, who sang "Hear Thou My Prayer." Miss Fulmer is the sister they have continued to improve and also to enlarge their anthem selections. Mrs. Anna Clabaugh continues to do a fine job as organist. Speaking of the church, it is good news indeed, that the mortgage on the new building, which began in September 1961, is now cut in half. The last payment brought the total due to less than $18,000. More evidence that people working together can accomplish big things. Let us hope that the second half can "go" as well as the first.

Brenda and Steven Harner of Taneytown were Saturday overnight visitors with their grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Wilhide of Keysville.
Elmer Wolfe P-TA Executive Committee meeting on Monday the 25th.
Mr. and Mrs. Upton Dayhoff, Mrs.

Alice DeBerry of Keysville, Mrs. Don-ald Fisher, Lois and Gloria, Rocky Ridge; Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Glad-Woodsboro were recent visitors at Presbyterian Church and invited all the home of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence to come. Hahn of Detour.

Church Women: here is the list of things that will be suitable for the White Gift Service. Men's and boys' clothing, such as flannel shirts, underwear, jeans and gloves; women's and girls' dresses, scarves, nylons, gloves, combs, brushes, and barretts, towels and washcloths to match, quilting materials, 4 yard cotton dress materials, any baby things, toys for all ages, school supplies and tooth-

Mrs. Richard Wilhide and Susan of Forest and Stream Club Road spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Carroll Wilhide and family near Detour. While there, her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Kiefer Seibert, and her sister and brother, Mariann and John-ny, of Clear Spring also visited for the former Pauline Angleberger. Sunday visitors with Mr. and Mrs William Weishaar and Randy of Forest and Stream Club Road were Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Plaine, Danny and Diane, of York, Pa., and Mr. and Mrs. Larry Weishaar of Taneytown. Mrs. William Fleharty and Diane near Detour visited awhile on Monday afternoon with Mr. and Mrs. J. N Hobbs and family near Mt. Pleasant. Monday callers in the area were Miss Ada Yoder, Miss Dory Tag and her brother, Mr. Henry Tag of Tun-bridge Rd., Govans. They were luncheon guests of the Carroll Wilhide family along with Mrs. Richard Wilhide and Susan and Mrs. Myron Wilhide, Denise and Renee. They also visited the homes of Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Wilhide, Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Engel, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Wilhide, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Wilhide, Mr. and Mrs. Ryron Wilhide and Mrs. Edward Cochun and Mrs. Mr. and Mrs. Edward Coshun and family. Terra Rubra Girls' 4-H Club held their November meeting on the 13th at the home of Toni Heiser of Middleburg. There was an installation of officers and names were drawn for the Christmas party. Donna Six was chosen to represent the club at the Thanksgiving square dance on the 30th which will be sponsored by the Harney Boys' 4-H club. Next meeting will be the 19th of December at the Edward Coshun home near

My sincere wishes to each and everyone of you for a Happy Thanks-I hope it can be a family ccasion for you—as it seems Thanksgiving always should be-with many happy hours shared together.

Joint Homemakers Meeting

-Dharlys Fleharty.

"The Wise Use of Credit" was the topic of the demonstration by Home Demonstration Agents Mrs. Joyce Hawkins and Mrs. Patricia Stabler. Mrs. Hawkins told how credit concerns everyone in some way and told —by way of a skit with Mrs. Stabler—of the types of credit. They are non-installment, which is a single payment such as your electric bill; installment sales, which is a large purchase such as a car; revolving, which is usually used with a limit on the amount allowed; and cash loans, where a lump sum is borrowed from a bank or credit union.

To get credit for the best possible interest rate, Mrs. Hawkins went on to say, one needs to have the 3 C's. They are Character-Capacity-Capital. There is a national credit system and they claim that they have a record on everyone; that the only ones not in their files are either under 21 or dead. So you see, it is possible for your credit rating to follow you wherever you may go. After explaining how to find the true annual interest when it is not given, Mrs. Hawkins gave a quiz. As a summary of the demonstration, she gave a list of the negative and positive aspects of credit. They were: Negative—1. too deep in debt, 2. pay too much for credit, 3. distort sense of proportion and values, 4. encouraging youngsters to use credit, and 5. often based on deception. On the other hand, for the positive aspects there are: 1. raises standard of living, 2. creates more jobs for more people, 3. offers unusual opportunities, and 4. helps youngsters to obtain a college education. She also had a list of things to remember: Know the cost of credit, investigate loans, joined the church choir. This is certainly a faithful group and they do a fine job each Sunday. With the help of Miss Hazel Hess of Taneytown, who directs them at practice, they have continued to improve and the service of the serv minor setbacks.

The New Windsor Club was hostess for this meeting which included the nion Bridge, Mt. Union and Keysville-Detour Clubs. Mrs. Roach, their president, extended a welcome to all and introduced Mrs. Edna Gorsuch, who told of the National Homemakers Convention and her trip to it, at Little Rock, Ark. The theme this year was "Better Homes by Research and Education."

Mrs. Hawkins had made the announcement of a series of 7 Weight Control Classes to be held every two weeks during January, February and March with registration to be before Jan. 18. There will be a limit of 25 to a class. She also suggested anyone having any questions or difficulty with their entries for the Christmas Open House should contact Mrs. Otto.

The Little Leaf Once there was a little leaf that hung upon a tree, It told the branch and told the twig, "the wind has come for me. And then the branch it told the tree the tree said, "hold on tight." "I will," the little leaf exclaimed;

"I will-with all my might!" And then the wind began to sweep, and blow and blow and blow. the little leaf said to the branch,

"I guess I'll have to go." And so the leaf it said, "good-by" to the twig, the branch the tree; and down it fell to the earth below,

Observations on the World of Sports

Baseball's hot stove league is be ginning to heat up now that the inter-league trading period is approaching. Club owners, general managers are reappraising their own players and making checks and rechecks on other ball players.

The period of unrestricted inter-league trading, started three years ago, begins Nov. 21 and lasts about three weeks until Dec. 15. During that time, a team in the American League can trade with a team in the National League and vice versa without first having to obtain waivers on the players involved.

It has made for some lively offseason baseball activity. Such players as Dick Stuart, Minnie Minoso, Billy School, 9:30 A. M.; Worship Service, 10:45 A. M.

Mayberry Church of God — Sunday School at 10:15 A. M. Worship Service at 11:00 A. M. the trading period. Since the end of the baseball season, only one major deal has been completed—between two National League teams, and one between two American League teams now these same teams can go to each other for help.

There has been a rumor—vehemently denied by the New York Yankees—that Roger Maris will wind up in a St. Louis uniform. The Mets reportedly are ready to trade out-fielder Frank Thomas, and Kansas City, Boston and Detroit have expressed interest. Other names have been thrown into the trade mill hop-per are outfielder Jim Landis of the Chicago White Sox, first baseman Orlando Cepeda and outfielders Felipe and Matty Alow of the Giants, and outfielder Vada Pinson of the Cincinnati Reds. Of course, not all these players will be traded. But some will be and a will be traded. will be and so will many others. The interleague trading period usually makes for interesting off-season baseball discussions. It should again this year. When the major league draft of minor league players comes up early next month you can be sure that all hands will be giving the lengthy list of eligible players a long look.

The reason is what happened last year or to be more accurate, what did not happen last year. What did not happen is that no team picked a player from the Dallas-Fort Worth list, a young outfielder named Jimmy Hall. He was the property of the Minnesota Twins and had done nothing to attract notice in his wonder. ing to attract notice in his wanderings around the baseball circuit. Nobody drafted Hall and the Twins decided to give him a chance last spring. In the early part of the season he got into a lot of games but only as a pinch-hitter or late-inning defensive replacement in the outfield. On June 7, Hall got the job as center fielder for the Twins and he took off from there like a rocket. In the last four months of the season Jimmie clubbed 30 home runs to finish with a total of 33 for the season. That was an American League record for a rookie and broke the mark held victims neck! Can you take it?

Under Ray-Mond's hypnotic influence, subjects think their feet are ence, subjects think their feet are gers, Harmon Killebrew and Bob Allison. They hit more home runs among them, 113, than any other outfield trio in the major leagues last

To give you an idea of how impressive all was at bat, in mid-season Eddie Lopat, Kansas City manager, This is a clean, big-time revue, one that all the family will want to attend; it's the show the kids bring their parents to see. Limite Lopat, Kansas City manager, told one of his catchers to check that Hall was using a 35-ounce bat which had no lead in it. Lopat soon found out that Hall was using a 35-ounce bat which had no lead in it. Said Lopat glumly: "Hall sure proves how smart were unusual indeed." Ray-Mond, who entertained mil-ons overseas, is a veteran of the we all are. A year ago we could have had him for $25,000."

VIEW FROM MY KITCHEN WINDOW

This morning my view is a wet and gloomy one, quite typical of November. Overhead, a gray sky is weeping rain, while a chill wind is moaning through the trees and whistling down the chimney. It is pleasant to sit here in the warmth and quiet of my kitchen, with Rusty lying at my feet. The rainy day has made him sleepy. For once, he is not misbehaving! Down by the bridge, another one of our cats is warily picking his way through the puddles. Like all felines, he is not fond of getting wet. In a few moments, I shall hear him scratching at the door, begging to Automobile and truck operators in our small communities are often faced with two extremes in driving conditions. Here at home folks drive in a more leisurely fashion.

Driving to and from other nearby communities, drivers must always be aware of the narrow roads, sharp turns, hills, and the constant threat of not being able to see pending dangers.

However, when deciding to take a trip to a distant city, via the thruways, duals, and turnpikes, and other limited access highway systems, our local motorists face many dangers not apparent here at home. Travel on these highways generally is at a much greater rate of speed. Coupled with driving fatigue, carelessness, and inattentiveness, speeds on the modern highways can become a real killer in a matter of seconds.

Many drivers who are unaccustomed to driving regularly on turnpikes are not experienced when it comes to making decisions at speeds of 60 to 65 mph. Others take safe driving conditions for granted, and are often lulled into a state of fatigue or drowsiness because of the monotony of the highway.

Shift your eyes frequently so that your attention does not become focused in one particular spot for long periods of time. Remember at 60 miles per hour, vou move up very rapidly on a slower vehicle. To compensate for this, you must allow sufficient time and space if you wish to overtake the vehicle in front of you.

Basically, alertness in driving is the keystone of safe driving, I wish to caution all drivers to stay alert at all times regardless of the rate of speed that you are driving.

Inner Power Lesson for November 24, 1963

Bible Material: Acts 26: II Corinthians 5 through 7.
Devotional Reading: II Corinthians 5:1-

EVERY ONE who observes people with even a little penetration of insight, knows the difference between lives that have inner power and lives that crumple and may even shatter like a misfired rocket, for lack of some lives possess. To put it in railroad language, some people are like locomotives, running on their own power, power generated on board, so to speak. Other Dr. Foreman people are like freight cars—they will move, but only if pushed. What is the secret of inner

First-level motives The time-honored name for what drives men, gently or stormily as it may be, into action, is Motive. Some persons are without motive entirely. They see no reason for their existence, they do not march, they dawdle, they drift. They are suggestible, they have no inner consistency. They follow the crowd, they never lead it. Other persons are strong in a wrongheaded way, wrong-hearted too. They are set into action by wrong motives, such as pride, the desire for pleasure, fame or flattery. Above such men in the scale of character are others moved by what we can call Christian motives at the first level, a level not too difficult to reach. Putting several factors together, we can see that some good people, Christians, are motivated by the simple wish to be thought well of. "How'm I doing?" is a fair question, one that ought to be asked. Only let's make sure we ask it of the right people. Saint Paul, who holds high place on the roster of world-Christians, certainly wanted both God and men to think well of him. "What we are (he meant what I am) is known to God, and I hope also to your conscience." The judgment of God and the judgment of the Christian conscience—these were both important to Paul. He mentions them in the same breath in II Cor. 5:11. Not that he thought as much of the approval of men as he did of the approval of God; but he was eager to have both. What people think of you is important, and above all it is God's approval that comes first.

For Him Good as this is, it is not topflight Christian living. The desire to keep one's record clean will go a long way; but it will not take us as far as some other motives. For the pattern of the Christian life, the dedicated life, is not mainly a pattern of orders-and-obedience. For some people this is all there is to Christianity. "God tells me what to do and I do it." But there is a higher motive than simple blind obedience to the word of command. It is the motive of love. Paul does not use the word "love" in his letters very often, yet it comes out at crucial points. Paul says "the love of Christ controls

Paul puts this another way with-out using the word "love" at all. He speaks of Christian believers as living no longer for themselves "but for him who for their sakes died." We go a long way farther for one we admire and love, than we will for orders, no matter what penalty may be attached. Christian life, in short, is not at its best when the driving motive is that of passing the inspection of the all-seeing God. It is at its best when it is not lived by rote or by rule, but when the rote and the rule, when they must be, come from one who has loved us long. The Christian life, in short, is at its best when it is motivated by gratitude to the One who died for all.

The ministry of reconciliation God is not man's enemy. God is for us. (This does not mean He smiles on every bit of foolishness or sin we can think of!) If that sounds familiar to the Christian reader, it was not familiar when Paul discovered it. Many outside the church and inside too need to discover it afresh. The feeling, the conviction, that God is for me, that "He will not let me go nor let me down or let me off," the discovery that His intentions for me go beyond my own imaginings this can be the most powerful inner drive known to man. Every person who accepts the forgiving mercy of God has a right to confidence in the support of God. In this assurance is unfailing power.

Tips To Teen-Agers

IF YOU'RE PLANNING A PARTY at home and think the living room looks a little tired, why not offer to repaint it?

Don't leave it to Mom and Pop. Do it yourself. It's easy with the new, virtually no-drip, fast-dry paints. You can redecorate in a few

"Lucite" wall paint goes on fast and easily, requires little experience to get professional results, and is so mess-free you redo a room without moving out furniture. It's a thixotropic paint — scientific jargon for one that's specially formulated so that it's thick and creamy in the can. When you dip your brush, it clings and won't drip like liquid paints. But, when you start brushing it on the wall, it comes out smooth and free-flowing just like any other paint.

In fact, this paint is so easy to use, you might even talk your date or friends into a "painting party"—redo the room in the first hour and enjoy the rest of the evening in the room with the new look.

You can have a ball, and Dad gets the room painted for the price of the paint. Need any better selling point?

DECK THE HALLS WITH BOUGHS OF HOLLY - and the tree with Festive Peanut Crispies. Children will delight in making, and eating, these plump little no-cook confections. The peanut butter and chocolate peanut candies called for in the recipe are favorites with youngsters of all ages. They are combined with other ingredients, stirred well, then rolled into balls. Mother can look on approvingly knowing there'll be no burnt fingers, since no cooking is required.

If your sang chefs exercise restraint, they'll have enough tasty decorations to enhance the family Christmas tree. Garbed in clear transparent saran, tied with ribbons, Festive Peanut Crispies will brighten the greenest boughs.

FESTIVE PEANUT CRISPIES

½ cup light corn syrup 1 cup chopped peanut chocolate candy bars or peanut plank bars 1 cup peanut butter 21/2 cups crisp rice cereal

Add vanilla and chopped candy. Add cereal, stirring until well blended. Roll into small balls. If desired, wrap in transparent saran and tie with gay ribbon. Makes 21/2 dozen crispies. Flavor improves

Williams the Watchdog

The Kennedy Administration must quake every time Senator John J. Williams, Republican of Delaware, demands a new investigation. His probes usually result in page-one scandals involving the present Administration.

The formal Senate investigation into the outside business activities of former Senate Majority Secretary Bobby Baker was started by a speech of Senator Williams.

The GOP Senator now seeks a probe into Agriculture's failure to account for $100,000,000 in grain shipments abroad. He cites "complete lack of control by the Government of final destination" of surplus farm commodities. He charges "no assurance" the shipments are not at expense of the American tax-

The only way President Kennedy might stop charges of cor-ruption in his Administration would be to say "No" more often to political cronies and pressures.

"Advertising has been producing TANEYTOWN GRAIN MARKETS for business men for many years and nothing has happened recently to wheat change this business principle."
