HIGH SCHOOL HIGHLIGHTS

The annual Junior-Senior Prom was held in the high school auditorium on Friday evening, May sixth. The theme this year was "Holland". Upon enter-ing the small entrance-way of the building, you were immediately attracted to the beautiful life-size painting of a Dutch boy and girl painted by Mr. Frank Wargny. A small picket fence along the path to the auditorium set off a small flower garden. On one wall were hung many lilacs that gave the sweet fresh flower smell to the "garden". The ceiling of the entrance-way was lowered with blue crepe paper and dangling, glit-tering stars. The window was given the appearance of the exterior of a Dutch home by the hanging curtains and by the construction of a flower box filled with bright red tulips.

box filled with bright red tulips.

As you entered the auditorium you noticed the huge blue windmill with gray revolving blades. Directed upon this was a blue spotlight that gave more sparkle to the windmill. Throughout the evening the blades continued to revolve. Surrounding the windmill were flowers and ferns that gave it that "certain touch". On the windmill were flower boxes filled with sunny yellow tulips. sunny yellow tulips.

this next week. Intermediate Troop #723, at a Court of Honor held during Friday's meeting, decided to present the early Maryland Indian exhibit, displayed at the Exposition, to the fourth grade of Taneytown Elementary School. The exhibit is the result of much hard work. The project was started in January. Research on the subject of early Maryland Indians, to make certain of complete authenticity, was the first step. The troop is indebted to Mr. Frank Wargny for the use of an excellent book on early Indians of Maryland. Next a scale was worked out, so that objects would be correctly placed and in the right proportions. In so far as possible, natural materials, found in woods and fields, were used, such as bark for the houses, broom sage for the corn fields, pieces of even green for trees, and sand and small pebbles for the ground. The other articles Indians, animals, vegtables and cook pots—were fashioned out of play-dough. Tomahawks, bows and arrows, the Indians clothing and beads, were also hand-made. The troop is working out a special badge for this project.

Following the introduction of his fellow councilmen, the Mayor then presented Mr. Grier, who ably covered a potentially dry subject with an intriguing presentation of trends and statistics which caught the attention of each person present by its timeliness. He cited there of each person present by its timeliness. He cited three main reasons for county planning and the need to look into the future. First, we are growing: highways do much to promote it, and where formerly this growth was in cities, now it is in the intervening rural areas of our county; family size has increased from 3 to an average of 3.8 persons; there is industrial growth; the resources and services available are attractive; there is a great recreational area; and schools are not a problem as they often are elsewhere.

WHAT'S YOUR CYCLING I.Q.?

Safe bike riding is fun, and no one gets hurt. This quiz is designed to show you how much you know about safe bike riding. It's smart to ride safely, and more fun, too, when you follow traffic rules. And during American Bicycle Month in May, you can obtain at no cost the 12 official rules of safe riding, Certified Safe Rider cards and emblems, and get a free inspection through local stores to make cycling safer and more fun than it already is.

Since bike riding is a matter of common sense, and the application of safe riding rules is simple, you won't have much trouble passing this test. Try it and see! Answers are listed below.

1. This is the signal for a left-hand turn.

True False

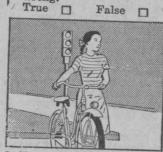

2. This is the signal for a right-hand turn.

True False

3. Bikes should be inspected only when something goes wrong.

Elmer A. Wolfe PTA news

The general meeting of the Elmer A. Wolfe PTA was held on Monday evening May 9th. The School presented a very colorful and interesting May Day Program. Miss Sharon Snyder, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kirby Snyder, Middleburg was crowned May Queen. The Program was held inside due to the weather being cold and wet. The Auditorium and Halls were so crowded that a good number of people had to view the program from the upstairs hall. An interesting exhibit was held after the meeting. These exhibits showed that much work had been planned and done far in advance of this meeting night. Many of the children stood by their exhibits to explain or demonstrate their Project. The business meeting which preceded the Program was in charge of Mr. Paul Bowman the president, the Invocation was given by Rev. Baird of the Union Bridge Brethern Church. Mr. Perron, Principal, made a few remarks-among thanking everyone for their cooperation during the year. The new officers during the year. planning must come before zoning, for zoning and subdivision regula-tion are the twin powers which enforce the recommendations of any planning body. If 100 families were added to your town in the near future, there would be 100 children, 67 of whom would be in elementary, and 33 in high school, $120,000 would have to be added to the school funds,

$10-15,000 to the municipal budget,

.84 of one policemen and .67 of one fireman would be required to handle the added burden as well as 1 new hospital bed and 1 jail cell; there would be 140 automobiles to congest

the traffic. In tangible benefits 100 families would add $590,000 in pers-

4 more retail stores would spring up, and they would produce sales of $60, 000. This growth is possible, and presumably it is desirable — and well nigh inevitable — with an on-its-toes planning commission. "When you are a coin in the air, 'Twill tell you if it's foul or fair WATCH OUT BELOW YOU MAY HAVE TO ROW!

We will see! Eh?

I hope you did not miss the grand wedding of the sweet Princess Margaret Rose on T.V. It truly was enchanting and it fascinated me as much as the Fairy Tale Story of Cinderella in the same type of class Cinderella in the same type of glass carriage which I loved when I was a little girl in fact I still like it and love to read it to children. No other Princess this world over has been and loved as much as Princess

Margaret. Were you listening to Mr. Fortune on Thursday morning of last week when he called the housewife on Mayfield Ave in Hamilton to the tune of ONE THOUSAND DOLLARS plus FIFTY! So keep listening for he may be calling you.

Ladies, the sheath dresses do not out popular the full skirt for it is ut a fifty-fifty style these days. Will be seeing you next week D.V. Have a grand week end. If there are at any time any misunderstanding or even a few words-never hold wrath when the Sun goes down

I am, Faithfully, Your Observer.

Moranting

There is one kind of printing chatyou want-printing that pays a dividend on the investment.

A letterhead with right sort of type properly balanced is a real business asset. It wins the approval of the person receiving your letter, and while he is in this frame of mind your letteris read.

The same reasoning applies to any other job of printing. Neatness, the right weight and kind of paper, the color of the ink, the selection of the type, all play an important part in the production of dividend printing.

We are equipped to give you that kind of printing.

Let us prove it

We guarantee to satisfy you cept your order for printing.

Praise Dad and Win Prizes

ters to Father Contest.

It's so easy . . . all that you do is write a letter telling what you like best in Dad. It can be his smile, companionship, guidance, affection, or any other big or little trait which stands out in him. Just explain why you love your Dad and why you think he's better than any other father.

A group of prizes to make any mouth water await winners of the contest.

The winning boy, for example, can look forward to a "One World" group of prizes including a Zenith short wave radio which tunes in countries all over the world, a Hammond world atlas. and a subscription to National Geographic Magazine.

The girl who writes the best letter will receive a "Young Homemaker" group of prizes, a Singer "Young Stylemaker" portable sewing machine, a Singer Sewing Course, and a home sewing kit.

) But top winners are not the only ones who will take home such lavish prizes. Other prize letter writers will be awarded typewriters, four-speed phonographs, cameras, original cast

WORLD'S LARGEST MAYPOLE, Luray, Va.

Giant's Hall in Luray Caverns, Virginia, 264 feet below the earth's surface is the setting for this most unusual Maypole Dance. The Double Column, towering 82 feet in height, provided the pole. Ten boys and girls danced over the same ground on which elves may have performed a similar ceremony millions of years ago.

The age of this "Maypole" is estimated by scientists to be in excess of ten million years. Stalactites and stalagmites form in Luray Caverns at the very slow rate of one cubic inch in 120

Chilly Surprise For Hot, Weather!

If a picture of a Penguin makes you cool then now's the time to make this salad for "cool" eating on hot Summer days. Make a Summer Snowman salad, too, using canned peach halves for the body, with currants for buttons as well as eyes, and pimiento for the mouths. Make "top hats" of halved marshmallows . . . and use California dates for the feet. Both salads are simply wonderful for a children's party!

PENGUIN SALAD

2 packages (3 ounces each) cream cheese 1/4 cup light cream 8 canned Bartlett pear halves, drained and

8 canned apricot halves, drained and chilled 1/2 cup Angel Flake Coconut
6 California dates
16 currants

24 canned cling peach slices

Mash cream cheese with a fork until softened. Add cream' gradually; then beat until cheese is light and fluffy.

Place each pear half, cut-side down, on crisp lettuce. Use large end of pear for body and tapered end for neck. Place apricot half, cut-side down, at tapered end of pear for face. Spread cream cheese over pear and apricot halves. Sprinkle with coconut. Cut address in half and stick on faces for beaks. Cut thin strips from remaining dates for bow ties and place on necks. Use currants for eyes. Place 2 peach slices at sides of each penguin for arms. Cut remaining peach places in halves and use for feet. Makes 8 Cut remaining peach slices in halves and use for feet. Makes 8

Fallout Shelters Can Save Millions of Americans

But millions could survive by the simple expedient of protecting themselves against radioactive fallout.

has called fallout shelters "the best single defense measure for the protection of the greatest number of our people."

For about $25 to $150 per per-son, families can construct shel-ters, on a do-it-yourself basis, into which they can go after any into which they can go after any nuclear attack to stay alive until radiation intensity outside lessens to safe levels, civil defense authorities point out.

Any shelter must be equipped with the necessities of life, including food, water, first aid and sanitary supplies and lights. There must be enough for all shelters are supplied to the same and the same are supplied to the same are same as the same are same a water, first aid and sanitary supplies and lights. There must be enough for all shelter occupants for at least 14 days.

Two pamphlets are available to help you construct a suitable to little and too late.

Many Americans near the basement or underground shelpoints of bomb impact could be killed in a nuclear attack by blast, heat and initial radiation.

But millions could survive by black reinforced controls and five basic designs of concrete block, reinforced concrete and preshaped metal. The other, MP-18, "Clay Masonry Fallout Shelters," shows five other plans for basic shelters, calling for use PRESIDENT EISENHOWER of clay products (brick or tile).

THESE PAMPHLETS can be obtained from your local or State civil defense offices, or by writing to Box Home Shelter, Office of Civil and Defense Mobilization, Battle Creek, Mich.

Many persons building shelters are setting them up as recreation rooms, dens, or extra bedroom space, thus gaining multiple use of the facilities, civil defense officials report.

66 TT TAKES all kinds of people I to make a world," but some-times we wish it didn't. Even good people get us down, sometimes, and as for the people who are not good-the robots and the rats, the hypocrites and the hoodlums-it would be wonderful if we knew we didn't have to worry with a one of them any

But here they are and here we are, all in one world. If you want to keep clear away from

Christians Are Different

Christians have always been outnumbered in this world. Even including all the nominal Christians we make up scarcely more than half the population of the U.S.A. (A nominal Christian has been defined as one who goes to church, or more precisely is dragged there, three times in his life; once to be sprinkled with water, a second time to be sprinkled with rice, and the last time to be sprinkled with ashes.) Real Christians are so scarce as to be noticeable. And when you do see a real Christian, there is one thing sure: he is different. He just doesn't see things the way most people do. He doesn't treat people as most others do. He has a rather special approach to the problems of living. He is so rare, the real Christian, that the advertising men, aiming at "mass man," never appeal to Christians. The motives appealed to by most advertising—judging by what this writer has seen—are not Christian motives. A real Christian, in short (meaning one who has a close resemblance to Jesus Christ, because he has the mind of Christ and Christ lives in him), will be marked off as peculiar.

Once there was a little boy in a Kentucky village who was different from all other little boys there, on glasses, and he played the fiddle. (You were not supposed to indulge in either of these till you were old and grey.) So all the other boys would make this boy live hard. "Hit him!" they would yell as a dozen or more piled on him at once. "Hit him! He plays the fiddle!"

This is not only a true story but a parable of life in this world. People fear and hate what is different. Not all people show this hate and fear, not all feel it. But enough of the people in Jerusalem hated and feared Jesus, who was outstandingly different from them, so bitterly that they could scream "Crucify him!" Ever since then, Christians have been unwelcome in a non-Christian society. "Woe unto you when ALL men speak well of you," Jesus said (Luke 6:26). If everybody speaks well of you, it shows you have no real character, you appeal to too many opposite kinds of people! Suppose our Lord had tried to please every one?

Christians Are Welcome

All the same, and you can call it a paradox if you like,—all the same, Christians are welcome, even among those who can't see their point of view. Jesus called his followers "salt" and "light." Salt and light operated by contact, and so do Christians. Jesus assumed that his people would make direct contacts with the human world around them, even as he did. Now people are seldom actively grateful either for salt or light. But they gripe when they are left in the dark, they complain when they have to eat food without salt. Perhaps "Christians are welcome" is saying it too strongly. "Christians are needed" would come closer to the bull's-eye. Towns without Christians may interest TV fans, but who wants to live in one? No business firm is going to send its best men to live in the worst towns. Indeed no parents want to send their children to school in the least Christian parts of town. Even people who never darken the doors of a church would not like to live where no churches are.

HIGH SCHOOL HIGHLIGHTS

(Continued from first page) The back wall was covered about 5½ feet high with stone-wall paper to represent a dike. On top of this was a varied arrangement of tulips and greens. Above this were cut-out windmills of various sizes to represent distance.

The side walls were hidden by houses of many different shapes, sizes, and colors. They were painted by hand and put up manually. Under each window was a flower box containing tulips of colors to best compliment the house. Between the houses were trees and shrubs to add the realistic touch. In front of the houses white picket fences were set up.

up.
In front of the stage two wading pools, filled with water, were placed. These were surrounded by many potted plants and ferns. In the center front a beautiful fountain was placed. Directed upon this was a cheery yellow spotlight.

The stage was made to look like a tulip bed by the arrangement of hundreds of tulips on huge beds that were slanted in order to allow the people to see them. The back wall of the stage was painted to show a sea with many sail boats. Set up in front of the painted water was a dike with tulip boxes decking the Beginning about 7:15 p. m. a delicious banquet was served. The menu offered ham, turkey, tuna salad, potato salad, succotash, rolls, butter, assorted relishes, jello salad, ice cream, cake, punch, coffee and mints. The couples sat at small tables which could seat four persons and ate by the light of pale blue candles.

Waiters and waitresses dressed in native Dutch costumes refilled punch glasses, served dessert, and cleared tables. The helpers were: Cherie Phillips, Diana Skiles, Diana Davidson, Judy Miller, Bobby Green, George Rue, Ronnie Corbin, and John Rinehart.

Miss Jackie Myers, Junior Class President, welcomed everyone to the prom.

At nine o'clock the George Everly Orchestra from Baltimore began to play. Everyone seemed to enjoy their music, as the dance floor was filled for almost every number. To add to the Dutch atmosphere, they played various selections which originated in that country.

various selections which originated in that country.

At twelve o'clock the last number was played and the girls in their beautiful gowns of all colors left with their escorts, looking more handsome than ever before.

There were shining eyes and happy care-free faces, but yet there was an air of regret that the long-awaited night was over. And as each turned to look at the beautiful Holland scene, a sigh escaped from his lips—for it a sigh escaped from his lips—for it was now to be only a memory.

We, the Junior Class, so very much appreciate the effort, interest and cooperation of our parents, friends, and teachers who helped make our Prom a memorable occasion.
