1964 Brings Still Higher Postal Rates

The coming of the New Year meant another round of increases in postal rates for users of second, third and fourth class mali.

The new increases are one step in three yearly increases authorized by Congress several years ago. That bill also increased last Jan. 7 the first class letter rate to five cents per ounce, post cards to four cents, and third class single pieces (such as Christmas cards unsealed) to four

For second class publications, both the editorial and advertising content prices were increased. The per pound rate on editorial matter increased another tenth of a cent, to 2.6 cents per pound. The rate on advertising matter increased four tenths of a cent per pound for all zones through zone six. Zones 7 and 8 remained at 12 and 14 cents respectively.

For the large city dailies, this represents on increase each year of about resents an increase each year of about eight per cent in mailing costs of papers distributed by mail.

While the third class single piece rate remains at 4 cents, the minimum per piece rate on regular circulars is increased an eighth cent, to two and three-quarters cents. Circulars of nonprofit organizations remain at one and a fourth cents.

CARROLL COUNTY TB ASSN.

The increase of more than six percent in the rate of new cases of tuberculosis in Baltimore City during 1963 indicates need of stepped-up fight against the disease. New cases numbered 825, compared to 780 the previous year and 749 in 1961. In Carroll County there were 10 new cases of tuberculoosis according to a report of Robert Lee Miller, Parallacet of the Carroll County TR President of the Carroll County TB Association.

Dr. Matthew Tayback, assistant health commissioner, called the increase "an alarming reversal in long-time trends of decline" and "indicative of the firm hold that tuberculosis has on the inner city."

Frank T. Jones, executive director of the Maryland Tuberculosis Association, called the jump in cases "start-ling." He said it will undoubtedly keep Baltimore in the dubious posi-tion of first in the nation in the disease, a rank the city has held in

50 years. This, he said, despite Health department statements, that the city has all necessary facilities for detection, diagnosis, treatment and follow-up. Also despite the fine clinic facilities and a high level of medical knowledge in the city.

Mr. Jones recalled that last No Mr. Jones recalled that last November the Surgeon General of the United States named a task force for eradication of TB. And he now urges that similar forces be appointed by Mayor McKeldin and also by Gov. Tawes, since the state ranks seventh in the netion in the problem. in the nation in the problem.

Decisive action now would save lives and also save increasing expenditure of tax funds, which will be necessary unless the trend of increase in cases is reversed, Mr. Jones said. In 1963 the Carroll County TB As-

And here is something grand and one of the nicest things I have heard in a long time and as it should be. A very wealthy widower all alone in life went into the store where his great Nices is employed and handed life went into the store where his great Niece is employed and handed her a $10,000 check to do as she pleased! She went right down the next morning and paid off $4,500 of a mortgage on her home and she said, "The rest sure will come in handy, too!" That was like a Mr. Anthony stepping into the picture! Eh? Don't miss the movie with Doris Day in, "MOVE OVER, DARLING!" And thinking about beds, there is a grand "MOVE OVER, DARLING!" And thinking about beds, there is a grand new spread out of a reproduction of many years ago called, "THE PRESIDENT'S LADY" and during the "White Sale" it sells for a smaller price and I think Stewart's is the only store which handles it. Did you know that the Woolworth store on Lexington St. sells the grandest baked goods and right there on the Lexington St. sells the grandest baked goods and right there on the lower level. They have a bun called, "Chop Suey" and when I made inquiries as to that name of such a fine tasting bun they stated because the fruits in it were all ground up in the bun! WHY LEAP YEAR?

If the earth went round the sun in exactly 365 days, with no extra hrs. or seconds, the world would have no leap year. The actual circuit takes 6 hours, 11 minutes and about 14 seconds longer. So a 365-day calendar, with no leap years, wouldn't work. After a millennium or so, the seasons would be reversed.

So the odd February 29 such as in 1964 and the 366-day year are needed to keep the calendar in trim with the seasons. The extra day every 4 years ignores the odd 11 minutes. and 14 seconds. But the balance is brought closer by not having a Feb. 29 in years that end in 00, except when they are divisible by 400.

It took mankind a long time to get the calendar straightened out. All sorts of weird calendars were tried before Julius Caesar took a hand, almost 2,000 years ago. But then the seasons had slipped so far out of line that the year 46 B. C. was made 15 months long to straighten things out. That was known as the 'year of confusion," and no wonder.

The vanity of Augustus Caesar gave the world months of the lengths now known. He objected to having 30day August named after him when July, named after Julius, had 31 days. So he borrowed a day from February to give August 31 days, too, and then alternated the order of 30 and 31-day months for the rest of the Charles Dickens.

Charles Dickens is much better known for fiction than fact. Most people know his authorship of "Oliver Twist" but few moderns know he was editor of "Household Words", a factual weekly. In 1856, Dickens wrote in this periodical on the subject of a new metal that: 'Henceforth, respectable babies will be born with aluminum spoons in their mouths."

Star-spangled savings plan

Most of us think about the future in terms of paying off the mortgage, educating the children, providing a retirement income.

But with the world the way it is today, it's almost impossible to make plans for your own future without considering the future of your country, too.

When you buy U. S. Savings Bonds, your money takes on both jobs. It grows to build your financial strength.

At the same time, it helps Uncle Sam watch over our peace and security.

Why not give your savings dollars this double assignment? You'll be joining millions of American families who are investing in their country's future — and you'll probably feel pretty good about it.

It's easy to buy Savings Bonds on the Payroll Plan where you work. A $50 Bond costs $37.50, a $25 Bond $18.75, and you can buy them in installments for only a few dollars a pay day. Or buy them outright at any bank. No charge for the service.

Buy Series E Bonds for growth, Series H for current income.

Some nice things about

Series E Bonds • You get 331/3% more money when they mature You can defer the tax on accu-mulated interest until the Bonds

An unusual number of February sales will be held this year, likely because there were not enough days in

But one light snow for the whole Winter, up to January 30th, is a re-markable record, and one not equaled for many years.

The program "Concerta Doloroso II" to be rendered in the Opera House next Thursday evening by local talent, for the benefit of the U. B. Church promises to be one of special excellence and enjoyment.

Wm. M. Reindollar has bought the Jos. E. Roelkey lot, on Fairview Ave., and will build a dwelling on it this Summer.

Edw. E. Reindollar has sold the old Reindollar store property on York Street to the present occupant, E. A.

Eli Bentley Clocks Once Made in Taneytown . . . A famous Clock-Maker who left his Good works be-hind. From the most reliable information obtainable Eli Bentley made clocks in Taneytown from about 1800 to 1820. His shop is said to have been in part of the old building torn down when the Eckenrode building on the square was built. J. A. Helman of square was built. J. A. Helman of Emmitsburg who has a faculty for preserving historic information, writes us that Eli Bentley is registered in the first census, taken in 1790, as having eight in the family, and resident of Taneytown. The Bentley clocks are not all of the same pattern, some being more elaborate than others, both as to works and dial, the maker evidently exercising dial, the maker evidently exercising his skill according to the price paid. A peculiarity about his work is that while he always attached his name he was not so regular with the date. The cases in all probability were made by local cabinet-makers as there are no evidences of Bentley-made cases. This is true at least of the "Frazer" clocks which were also made in Taneytown at a later date; and it seems quite probable that Mr. Frazer may have learned the business under Bentley as the clocks are much alike in workmanship. These clocks appear to have been made as late as 1845. The Bentley clocks are nearly all 24-hour clocks, chain wind, but a few are 8-day key wind. The Frazer clocks are of the 8-day class.

P.E. Plans Power Increase

The Potomac Edison System said that arrangements have been made between Allegheny Power System, of which it is a part, and Virginia Electric and Power Company to build a 500,000-volt transmission line to carry the West Virginia coel power from the West Virginia coal fields to the Potomac River Valley.

John W. Morgan, Frederick District Manager of the Potomac Edison Company, pointed out that two ransmission lines had originally been planned to link the rich coal fields with population areas in the PE sys-em and along the Eastern Seaboard. VEPCO, he said, had planned to build a line east from its multi-mil-lion dollar generating plant at Mt. Storm, located on the Stony River in Grant County, W. Va. Long-range plans of the Allegheny Power System called for another bulk-power transcalled for another bulk-power transmission line to carry electrical energy from a $57.5 million generating plant at Ft. Martin, near Morgantown, W. Va., to the PE service area in part of Maryland, Virginia, West Virginia and Pennsylvania.

Under the present plan, Allegheny Power System companies will build an extra-high-voltage line southeast from the Ft. Martin plant and connect with the VEPCO facilities at Mt. Storm. From there, a single line will be built east to near Rio, W. Va., and then northeast to Capon Bridge, W.

From Capon Bridge to Maryland the lien will parallel an existing 138,-000-volt transmission line owned by PE. This line crosses the Potomac River near Point of Rocks, Md., and connected to a new PE substation at Doubs, Md. The new line then goes to Dickerson, Md.

Rights-of-way from Capon Bridge to the facilities in Maryland will be widened to accommodate both lines. The new line, he continued, should spur residential and industrial growth in the Potomac River Valley and enable the company to hold electric rates low through the abundance of make available to the area.

Seventeen 138,000-volt lines, he emphasized, would be needed to provide the same power-carrying capacity as one 500,000-volt line.

one 500,000-volt line.

A number of other lines carrying 500,000 volts are now under construction in this country.

Officials of utility companies have emphasized that no new hazards whatever are created by the extrahigh-voltags lines. They also pointed out that radio and television reception has been as carefully considered tion has been as carefully considered in the design of this line as it has been in the thousands of miles of nigh-voltage line already in service. Every provision, they said, is made to assure normal reception. Tax dollars from the generating plants and transmission lines will aid the entire state of West Virginia, as well as individual counties the line rosses in Maryland and Virginia. From the generating plant at Ft. Martin, he said, another 500.000-volt ine is planned to go to the Key-stone generating plant east of Pittsourgh, where other lines will fan out o New York and Philadelphia. One planned west from Ft. Martin

o the Ohio Valley. Washington, Baltimore and other areas of the Metropolitan Central Atlantic region will be interconnected at the eastern end of the new line. This network gives flexibility to the utilities for meeting peak demands and provides all the companies with large amounts of reserve power or emergencies.

The plant sites at Ft. Martin and Mt. Storm, he concluded, reflect the current trend in the electric utility business to build generating plants close to sources of fuel to cut costs and keep rates low.

MEETING OF HOMEMAKERS

The Carroll County Council of Homemakers met on Monday, Jan. 20, 1964, at the Agricultural Center near Westminster with Mrs. Bernard Sha fer presiding.

Mrs. Denton Cole gave a report on 4-H'ers be contacted about the possibility of helping with this project.

Mrs. Vernon Wolfe told of the success of the Country Store at the Chicken Barbecue held last summer, and requested all the Clubs of the County be considering now what they can send for the table which will be set up for the Barbecue to be held on Aug. 15, 1964. Some ideas are: fancy aprons, crochet and knit work, tea towel and potholders to match, smocked pillows and hats, scatter rugs of all types, toaster and mixer rugs of an types, toaster and mixer covers, Clorox bottle ideas, plastic flower arrangements, embroidery work, stuffed toys and ceramics. Helpers will also be needed for pricing of items on August 11 and helpers for the tables on the 15th, with June 1 as the deadline for items for the fancy table to be ready and sent to Mrs. Wolfe or the Home Demonstration Office.

Mrs. Danton Ensor reported chedule will be set up by the Carroll County General Hospital for blood typing. It is hoped that a large percentage of Homemakers will consent to joining the Blood Bank and being on call when the need for blood of their type would arise.

A letter from former Home Demonstration Agent, Mrs. Joyce Hawkins, was read by the secretary, Mrs. John Cable, which told of her resignation from the control of the contro nation from Carroll County to accept the position of Extension Supervisor at the University of Maryland and of how much she enjoyed her 8 years working in the County.

Correspondence was also read from Mrs. Helen Otto, former Associate Home Demonstration Agent, thanking the Council for the gifts presented her upon her resignation to have a family. Letters were also read from the Carroll County Welfare Board to thank the Homemakers for the cakes and cookies donated for the aged and disabled in the county; and from the Farm Journal Office which spoke of the wide use being made of their November 1963 magazine cover which was taken at the 1962 Farm-City Dinner held at the Agricultural

President Mrs. Bernard Shafer thanked the group for their backing and for sending her to various meet ings she attended as representative of the County Council; and then installed Mrs. Horatio Fox as new president. Mrs. John Cable installed Mrs. Edward Reed as new secretary and Mrs. Danton Ensor presented Mrs. Shafer with a pin for services rendered as a past president of the Council

Mrs. Fox thanked the group for honoring her with the job of president and promised to do her best. She then introduced all the new County Project Chairmen.

After the meeting was adjourned and a delicious covered dish luncheon was enjoyed by all, the record "Four Dreams of Men" (which are Peace, Food, Freedom, Human Dignity) by Dr. John Furbay was played. Dr. Furbay gave this speech at Rural Women's Short Course last year and the record is to be played by each of the local clubs at regular meetings during the next few months.

THE WAY I SEE IT ...

Observations on the World of Sports

For the past few seasons John (Boog) Powell has been the Balti-more Oriole hope for the next year. If it's all right with everybody the Orioles hope that Powell will deliver this year. With Jim Gentile traded off to Kansas City, Powell will be counted on to supply added power for Baltimore this year. He's only 22 years old and he obviously is years away from his peak. But the Orioles hope that he'll hurry up a little.

When he was promoted to the varsity in 1962 after a tremendous year at Rochester in 1961, the Orioles were sure that he was a coming star. But he got off to a slow start in '62. However, baseball men who know Powell's record said that by August he would be ripping the league apart.

Well, August arrived right on schedWell Windsor Road, Route 31. ule and Powell did no ripping. He fin-ished the 1962 season with a batting average of .243 with 15 home runs and 53 runs batted in. Last year, Powell again got off to a poor start. But he did pick up some after the All-Star break and wound up with a .263 average and 25 homeruns. This was an improvement over 1962 but it was not quite the kind of thing to strike

One things is certain, the Orioles will have to go down the line with Powell. If they are to make any kind of a run for it they will need the kind of big bat that he is capable of swinging.

This Winter hasn't been so hot for knuckleballer Hoyt Wilhelm of the Chicago White Sox and he's hoping the Spring will be better. Hoyt has a printing business which he moved rom Columbus, Georgia, to Tampa Florida, this Winter. He subsequently moved it right back to Columbus when business proved slower in Tampa. On top of that Hoyt was given the sad news that a change in the baseball rules will prohibit, in 1965 the outsized catcher mitts the White Sox receivers used last year when he pitched. Originally, it was planned to outlaw them this year but the big mitts got a reprieve of one year.

Hoyt's dipsy-doo is rated one of the toughest pitches to catch in the big leagues. He has given a number of receivers some difficult times with it. To name just two—Ray Katt of the Giants of ten years ago and Gus Triandos at Baltimore a couple of seasons back. The rule in 1965 will limit a catcher's mitt to 34 inches in circumference. The Chicago catchers last season were using mitts that varied from 40 to 50 inches in circumference.

Hoyt doesn't like the new rule. It could lead to more passed balls and some of those may even be called wild pitches, depending on the ment of the official scorer. But he points out that he had some fine seasons before his receivers started using the giant gloves. Wilhelm is 40 years old which is ancient for most pitchers but not for knuckleballers who have a long career span. He will be 41 in July but he thinks he is good for a few more seasons in the bull-pen. He says he wants to remain in baseball after his pitching days are over, either as a coach or a scout.

They call Philadelphia the city of brotherly love but that title is getting a bit shaky, at least in sports. You must have noticed that the coach of the 76'ers, Dolph Schayes, was going round and round with two of his players the other week. It didn't quite get to the point where punches were thrown but there were hot words between Schayes and players Dave Gambee and Lee Shaffer. Towards the end of the National Football league season two of the Eagles really went at it and it cost one his job. It was Ben Scotti, Defensive halfback, who got the decision over a big tackle, John Mellekas. Scotti has since caught on with the Los Angeles Rams, who, to use the Ancient gag, were smart enough to sign the win-

The Philadelphia Phillies in late years have had their share of knockabout characters, several of whom are now knocking about in other cities. And, of course, while we're on the subject, there was a time when Sonny Liston was making Philly his home and getting into oceasional hassles with the law. Sonny now lives in

REMEMBER WHEN DEPT. Billy Pierce of the White Sox retired 26 straight batters in a row and then lost his "Perfect Game" in the 9th when the last man, who was Ed Fitzerald, doubled down the line to break up the string and keep Pierce from the record books. It was 1957.

FEDERAL TAXES ROCKETED TO DIZZY HEIGHTS

There was a time when the Federal tax burden per American was 81 cents a year. That was in 1840, when the Government wasn't trying to run everything and everybody. one would want if there were more of the turn of the century, in 1900, the annual tax burden per person was only $7. In 1933, the annual average was $29.78. And then it started its dividuals and businesses are much crazy skyrocketing! Last year, the too high—completely out of proporaverage tax burden, counting every tion — resulting from the Federal man, woman and child in the United Government's attempting to do too ♠ Agriculture will contribute $22 billion to the gross national product — total value of all goods and services — produced in 1964. That will equal all the GNP money generated by the automotive industry which is also estimated at $22 billion in 1964, as shown by the above chart.

National defense will account for $55 billion GNP dollars in 1964, according to an early analysis of the construction market by Johns-Manville Corporation, world-wide manufacturer and distributor of building products. Construction, now America's largest industry, will put a whopping $88 billion into circulation — an amount equal to one seventh of the $615 billion gross nation product forecast for the same period and very for the same period and very close to equalling in GNP dol-lar value the combined output of all three next largest industries — national defense, the automotive industry and agriculture, the J-M market analysis shows. Farmers will spend some $1.225 billion on farm construction of all kinds, the J-M mar-ket analysis estimates, with another $6.7 billion going for new highways, many of which will improve road nets over which farmers get their produce to market.

The J-M market analysis expects total new construction in the United States to hit $67 billion in 1964 — a new all-time high record — with more than $21 billion additional going for alterations, modernization, repairs and maintenance, for a total construction year of $88

Speed is a killer on American highways. Regardless of how safe a driver you believe you might be, in case of mechanical failure, human shortcomings, or some slight misjudgment, the speeding driver can almost certainly become involved in a fatal accident.

Cold hard statistics have proven this point many times over the nation. Virtually all automobile operators think of themselves as careful drivers. But when an accident does occur, it is speed

Our citizens are granted an operators license for driving vehicles on our highways. This is a privilege, not a right.

All persons driving vehicles on highways are urged to drive at a careful and prudent speed. They should not drive at greater or lesser speeds than is reasonable and proper having due regard to traffic, surface and width of the highway and other restrictions or conditions that may exist.

Nobody should drive a vehicle at such speed as to endanger the life, limb or property of another. No motorist should drive at a speed greater than will permit him to bring the vehicle to a stop within the assured clear distance ahead.

Next time you have the urge to speed, think of what would happen should a child dart in front of your car. Try to picture the results of another vehicle pulling into the highway without having seen your approaching car. Remember . . . speed kills.

Casual Meeting Lesson for February 2, 1964

Background Scripture: John 4:1-42.
Devotional Reading: Psalm 42:1-5.

THE WORD "easual" has varilous meanings. It makes you think of leisure-time casual clothes or off-hand casual remarks. It is the opposite of formal, planned, carefully prepared. You don't look forward to a casu-don't even give it a thought till you run across this person unexpectedly. Many meet-ings in life are planned, more are not. A casual acquaintance is meeting, you

one you meet Dr. Foreman once and then not again. A casual meeting is the opposite of an important meeting. Most people don't expect much from casual acquaintances or casual occasions of any kind.

No one is unimportant

Jesus, as usual, was different. He met many persons casually, as we would say. He would talk with a stranger a few moments and then they would part never to see each other again. But for Jesus no meeting was merely casual, because no person was unimportant, and every moment was bound up with Eternity.

That woman at the well is a good example. Jesus did not inquire her name. She lived in a village he never had visited and never would visit again so far as we know. As the world counts such things, she was not important. Notorious in her home town, maybe; but not important. In fact, from the viewpoint of the disciples, she was so far beneath the notice of Jesus that when they found him talking with her, they were astonished. And yet Jesus did talk to her with such leisurely seriousness that you might have thought she was the only person in the world. He said to her some profound truths.

If Jesus had treated casually that casual meeting, nothing would have happened. If when she talked about the right place to worship God, he had said, "That's a good question—but let's not get into an argument, it's too hot;" or if when she said "I have no husband" he had said nothing but "Oh," it would indeed have been a casual meeting, nothing more. But Jesus turned that meeting into a milestone for the woman's life. Before she met Jesus she was a woman living only for asure and not getting much out of it. After she met Jesus she became an enthusiast about him She is interested in her fellowcitizens-for the first time, we may suppose-no longer in a selfseeking way, but eager to have them know Christ also. She has a new interest in life because for the first time her life has found a new center, a center not in her own trivial self. In short, Jesus knew that while he himself would have more meaningful hours than this, while he knew that this was not a life-changing moment for him, it was for her. And he dealt with the woman in accordance with the importance of the hour and the meeting for her.

No brush-off One of the most humiliating and disappointing experiences in life is to be the victim of a "brush-off" from someone who stands above us. Those who have some importance recognized by others might remember this; Christians especially. Parents, for example, may make fun of some effort a child has made at playing a small instrument, or high jumping, or something else that isn't much account in the grownups' book but means a lot to the child. A worker who has a suggestion thrown into the wastebasket, a helper in the house or on the farm who does his best on a small task only to have it ignored—these incidents are soon forgotten by parent, employer, or boss; but they are not forgotten by the "little man." The great secret of turning casual meetings, casual occasions, into memorable moments, is putting yourself in the other person's place. A woman was explaining why she didn't like her preacher. "He always acts like he doesn't have time for me.' Isn't that the trouble with most of us? We don't have time for people—especially if they are littler than ourselves. Perhaps if we took more time with people we could begin to see more in them!

"Usually a husband grows alone—especially when the little woman hasn't had a birthday for the last 10 years."—Kenny Bennett. Greencastle (Ind.) Putnam County Graphic.

New Materials Permit Builder To Drop Price

It's not always necessary to pay top dollar to assure quality. Builder John Parker, president of Macco Realty Co., tested and proved this theory in his 1,300home Glen Mar development in Huntington Beach, Calif.

By careful selection of materials, Parker was able to reduce the selling price of these homes substantially-in one model by $1,000 -without sacrificing real value.

Parker told how he did this in a recent article in Building Design, the official magazine of the American Institute of Building Design.

The largest single saving resulted from a switch to asphalt shingle roofing, he said. On the two-story, $24,450 model, the use of asphalt shingles saved more than $450 compared with the cost of the material originally speci-

'Although the materials are different and the installation cost is substantially less, quality and durability remain unchanged and safety from fire is increased," he explained. • Other cost-saving steps included using unitized shower stalls, redesigning the plumbing system, kitchen cabinets and counters, and substituting asphalt tile for carpets in closets.

'Following the changes, we sold 85 of the two-story, 2,016 square-foot homes in three months," Parker said.

Comfort Now Added To Today's Schools

Recent school designs stress the importance of comfort in helping students to do their best. An example of this is the increasing use of a modern electric heating system coupled with mineral wool insulation in walls, ceilings and in floors above unheated

The mineral wool not only adds to winter comfort and heating economy, but also helps keep classrooms cool and students sharp during late-spring and early fall hot spells.

NO MUSS, NO FUSS One advantage of re-roofing with asphalt shingles is that in most cases they can be applied directly over the old material. This eliminates the expense and mess of ripping off the old roof.

E NGLAND'S PAMELA FRANKLIN appeared in her first movie at the age of three with Deborah Kerr. Now, at the ripe old age of thirteen, Pamela has several movies and a TV film to her credit. On her first trip to Hollywood, Pamela states, "I expected California to be a kind of sunny "I expected California to be a kind of sunny England, but it was quite different. I was startled by American teen-agers too. They are so sexy, if you know what I mean. They begin going out with boys when they are 13 or 14 years old; no English girl would go on dates until she is 16 or 17. I will say that American boys are all boy, though, not like English boys, who don't know what to say around a girl or how to act. The publicity man would tell me, 'Pamela, you're too normal. You're dull! Why can't you go out on dates or something so we can get stories written about you?' I couldn't help them, I'm afraid."

* * * PATTY DUKE is considered by many critics to be the best teen-age actress in the country. She is the youngest actress ever to receive star billing on Broadway where she played the role of Helen Keller in "The Miracle Worker." Patty has also received the only "regular" Oscar given to a juvenile for her role in the movie version of the Broadway play. This year she is starring in a weekly television series, "The Patty Duke Show."

She is a dazzling combination of childlike

She is a dazzling combination of childlike wonder and fierce dedication. Prior to taping of her new TV series, in which Patty plays the dual role of an all-American teen-ager and her cousin, who has been educated in Europe and traveled widely, Patty spent months separating the two personalities she was to portray. "The first step was to strip away my own teen-age mannerisms," she explains. On her career, Patty states, "If I hadn't become an actress, it would have been terrible for me. I don't think about it. I can't imagine doing anything but what I'm Patty Duke doing." . . . a talented to 9 SEVENTEEN forecasts faces and places, dreams and schemes, fun, fads and feelings that will make news in 1964. What will you talk about? Equal rights of females will lend ballast to girl talk and fire to girl-boy talk. What will you worry about? The traditional subjects of getting along with the opposite sex, getting into college and getting to know who you are will still be the prime concern but deep will be a new approach to their solutions. Talking out loud about them. What approach to their solutions—talking out loud about them. What will you play in 1964? Leading the cafeteria sports activities will be thumb wrestling and table-top football. Rain Dance Parties will hit like a cloudburst and parties will head outdoors. Couples will arrive in Indian dress, dance familiar dances to drum music and play Corny Finish. What will you laugh at? Elephant jokes will see a brief revival and nonsense jokes will go on all year, but the new trend is towards British humor.

Good News Clubbers Get-To-Gether

Twenty-nine Good News Clubbers from the 5th, 6th and 7th grades were present at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ken. Nusbaum, Taneytown, on Friday for an evening of fun and fellowship. These attending were members of two of the Taneytown Good News Clubs, the Frizellburg Club and the club held on Hughes Shop Road at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Shipley. Introductions were made by a member of each group and several games were played. A Bible quiz, dealing with the lessons taught in Good News Club, was held between Frizellburg and Mrs. Zent's Taneytown club and was won by a slight margin by the Frizellburg quizzers. Top scorer for the winners was Phyllis Rill and for Taneytown, Johnny Zent. Jackie Bair and Linda Eyler sang a duet which was well received by the group A shert Pills. ceived by the group. A short Bible message was given about the boy who gave his lunch to Jesus. Group Mason, Frizellburg, completed the program. Peggy Jo Smith and Diana Windisch, 9th grade students at Taneytown H. S., assisted with the refreshments. The following boys and girls were present: Susan Musser. Taneytown H. S., assisted with the refreshments. Head-On Collision Nemesis

Head-on collision fatalities are a thing of the past on Detroit's John C. Lodge and Edsel Ford expressways. Since 1958, when median steel beam guard rail was installed on both highways to separate traffic moving in opposite directions, there have been no head-on collision deaths due to vechicles crossing over the median. Previously six persons were killed in head-on collisions when cars crossed over the median strip. Head-on collisions cause 5,800 automobile fatalities annually. Steel median guard rail's success in stopping such accidents is spurring its use throughout the country.
