HIGH SCHOOL HIGHLIGHTS

Mlle. Danielle Saubresse, a native of France, and Miss Mary Ellen Hammerley, a student at Western Maryland College, spoke to the combined French classes of Taneytown High School on Monday, April 20.

Miss Hammerley, who was a recent exchange student to Tours, France, gave a talk illustrated with slides about her year's stay in that country. Mlle. Saubresse told the students about her native land and about her experiences in the United States. She too is a student at the college.

During the social hour which followed the talks, the students had an opportunity to talk in French.

In honor of National Future Homemakers of America week the Taneytown Chapter had Mrs. Eileen Dutterer Welch present a program on flower arranging and creating beauty in the home through the use of flowers. Mrs. Welch used many objects found in any home as containers. She illustrated how flowers and shrubs from the home garden can be used. Mrs. Welch showed how artificial flowers are arranged for home use.

The members of the Future Nurses Club and Home Economics Classes were guests of the Club for this interesting program.

Mrs. Doris Clapsaddle, vice president of the Carroll County Chapter of the National Secretaries Association, was the featured guest speaker at a recent FBLA meeting.

Mrs. Clapsaddle spoke on the qualities of a good secretary. She pointed out that a good secretary is not boastful about her work, but that she should be an all-around girl, able to perform many varied tasks. A pleasant personality and a neat appearance are also highly desired qualities of a good secretary. Mrs. Clapsaddle also pointed out the requirements necessary to become an NSA member. Her talk was very informative and enjoyable.

On Friday, April 24, the members of the FBLA will take their annual field trip. They will visit Cambridge Rubber Company, and then they will travel by bus to York, where they will visit Thompson Business College and McCroy Distribution Center.

The Maryland Association of the Future Homemakers of America held their annual State Conference at the University of Maryland, College Park, April 17-18, 1964.

This group of high school girls studying home economics represented ninety schools with a total membership of 3,065 throughout the 101 State chapters. Approximately 565 members attended the State Conference, representing 75 chapters.

The girls chose as their theme, "Homes of Beauty" and the objective: to realize the importance of creativity in family living.

Mr. Sheldon Odland, Home Economics Faculty, Applied Design, University of Maryland, and Mrs. Sandra Friedman spoke on "Designs in Living."

One of the most impressive parts of the meeting was the installation of new State officers for the year 1964-1965.

Sandy Shelby, Carolyn Spieght, and Bonnie Harmon represented Taneytown High School Chapter. They were accompanied on this conference by their advisor, Mrs. Annie Laurie Clark.

TANEYTOWN ELEMENTARY P-TA

The regular monthly meeting of the Taneytown Elementary School Parent-Teacher Association was held April 21.

The meeting opened with the invocation by Dennis Bollinger followed by the entire sixth grade singing The Star Spangled Banner followed by the Flag Salute. The sixth grade then sang several selections under the direction of Mrs. Frances Crawford and were very well sung.

Greetings were extended to all present by the President, Mrs. Robert Clingan who conducted the business meeting.

Mr. George Motter conducted the roll-call of the class rooms to decide which class will hold the banner the coming month. The third grade, taught by Mrs. Louise Robinson, had the most parents present. Mrs. Jennings, sixth grade, was runner-up. Mr. Motter also gave a report on the March of Dimes Card Party to be held in the school, April 30.

The nominating committee chairman, Mrs. Melvin Utermahlen, gave the report of the officers for the coming as follows: president, George Motter; vice president, George Naylor; secretary, Mrs. Kenneth Clingan; treasurer, Mrs. Robert Waddell.

Mrs. Fern Hitchcock, chairman of the program committee, introduced the following: the third grade flutters playing the following selections, "America," "Little Brown Jug," "Largo," "Poet and Peasant" and "Flute O' Crates"; also saxophone solo "Theme" by Dorothy Hitchcock accompanied on the piano by Mrs. Fern Hitchcock; trumpet solo by Dennis Bollinger playing "Nobody Knows the Trouble I've Seen" and "Londonderry Air"; piano solo by Nancy Hitchcock playing "Minuet in G." The sixth grade chorus, who participated in the Eisteddfod, sang the following numbers in closing: "Lovely Messengers," "The Childrens Prayer," "Our Flag," and a series of Negro Spirituals, "Wake Up Jacob," "My Lord, What a Morning" and "Rock O' My Soul." The meeting was adjourned by the president, and refreshments were served in the cafeteria.

CHAMBER OF COMMERCE MEETS

The regular monthly meeting of the Taneytown Chamber of Commerce was held at Taney Inn on Monday evening, April 20, 1964.

A progress report was heard from Mayor Perry on the new operation by Classic Uniform Company which recently purchased the Taney Dress Co. building.

As a courtesy to the Amish people who have recently moved into our community, the Chamber had encouraged the Mayor and City Council to erect a hitching rail at a suitable location near the shopping district. Neal Powell, Council president, reported Council approval of the project and noted contact with the Amish had been made and that they seemed most appreciative of our thoughtfulness. At their suggestion, the location of the hitching rail will probably be adjacent to the Benner property.

President Frank Dunham reported a new business has purchased a property and will soon be in operation in Taneytown. The company is the Auto Parts Wholesale House, an affiliate of National Auto Parts Association and the location they purchased is the Wm. Airing property on West Baltimore Street. Mr. Gene Eyley, a local business man and member of the Chamber, was largely responsible for securing this new business for Taneytown. Our thanks to him and a cordial welcome to the new company.

Mayor Perry reported on the Governor's Conference on Economic Development which he attended on April 2.

A lengthy discussion was then entered into. One part of the discussion dealt with the need for new housing in Taneytown, particularly rental properties, and the other part centered around possible ways and means of attracting new industry to Taneytown. Even though there is nothing tangible to report as an outgrowth of this discussion, the exchange of ideas was thought-provoking and should prove useful as we continue our search for methods of promoting Taneytown's growth.

APRIL DAR MEETING

The regular April meeting of the William Winchester Chapter, DAR, was held Friday the 10th at the home of Mrs. Truman B. Cash on Taneytown Road, with Mrs. W. Glenn Speicher as co-hostess. Tea and refreshments were served to 23 members and 11 guests present.

The meeting was opened by the Chaplain, Mrs. C. Sherwood Kay, who read the story of the dogwood tree at the first Easter, followed by a prayer and the Pledge of Allegiance.

Mrs. Edward O. Diffendall was remembered by a birthday song for her approaching 87th birthday.

Mrs. Thomas H. Hughes, Regent, welcomed the following guests: Mrs. Besse Law, member of the Dubois Chapter, DAR, Dubois, Pa., and an Associate member of the Independence Hall Chapter, DAR, of Philadelphia, Mrs. T. Allen Morelock, Mrs. James Sheridan, Mrs. Paul Royer Shirley, Mrs. Helen Horner, Mrs. Robert Waldorf, Miss Barbara Brown, Mrs. F. M. Beggs, Miss Jane Griffin and Mrs. Edwin Warfield Ratcliffe, Sr., of the Baltimore Chapter, DAR.

The speaker of the afternoon, Mrs. Marcia Ames Ray of Taneytown, Managing Editor of the "Spinning Wheel," a national magazine about Antiques, was introduced.

Her subject, "Our Tangible American Heritage," concerned articles of daily living inherited from our parents and grand-parents. Her talk was enthusiastically received; her approach to her topic was most interesting in that she spoke of recording for posterity, the history of our own family treasures with a listed present value of them, in order to enable future owners to recognize them and their value. She told how difficult it is to know what to keep and what to dispose of because what is worthless today may be tomorrow's valued antique. She touched on various humorous little episodes in pursuing the acquisition of collections.

The American Heritage Committee of the National DAR was formed to aid in the preservation of all tangible evidences of our culture, and the continuation of the arts and crafts that display and sustain interest in our rich heritage.

Mrs. W. Glenn Speicher, Chairman of the C & O Canal Trip project, presented the proposal that the trip be planned for early October.

Miss M. Louise Matthews gave a full and informative report of the 59th Maryland State DAR Conference which has been held recently in Baltimore. She announced that Mrs. Edgar G. Barnes had been elected Chaplain of the Maryland State Society, DAR.

Mrs. Rena F. Kennedy, Mt. Airy, Genealogical Chairman, reported that a complete record had been made of the inscriptions on the 550 stones in Taylorsville cemetery and of the 760 grave stones and markers in the Pine Grove cemetery. Maps and diagrams are available for the Taylorsville cemetery. All cemetery information is recorded in the National Society, DAR, Genealogical Section in Washington, D. C., as a permanent record.

Mrs. Samuel L. Bare, Jr., Chairman of the Committee on National Defense, distributed several interesting booklets on National Defense and the weekly Washington report, "Human Events."

The next meeting of the Chapter will be held at the Hanover Country Club on Friday, May 8th at 12:30 P. M., when the 25th anniversary of the organization of the William Winchester Chapter, DAR, will be observed. Mrs. David H. Taylor is Chairman of the arrangements.

FEDERAL SPENDING HITS RECORD HIGH

In spite of President Johnson's promises to reduce Government spending and the vision of a "new era of economy," the hard cold statistics say that spending actually has gone up. Virtuous promises of a "vigorous pruning" and an over-all reduction in expenditures turns out to be a myth. The record shows that during Mr. Johnson's first three months in office the Government spent more money than in any other three-month period in U. S. History. Budget expenditures in three months under Mr. Johnson came to $24,300,000,000. That's $4,300,000,000 more than was spent in any three-month period under Mr. Eisenhower, and it even topped Mr. Kennedy's highest three-month period by $2,000,000,000. Furthermore, President Johnson's requests to Congress for new spending authority show that he plans to spend more money than ever before. We who are in the Congress and must deal with the requests for appropriations and authorizations know that "the new era of economy" is a myth, but the general public has been misled.

LOCAL POSTAL SERVICE CHANGES

In compliance with President Johnson's order to economize in all echelons of the Federal government, Postmaster General John A. Gronouski has ordered limited adjustments in some postal services to save an additional $12.7 million during the 1965 fiscal year. The Postmaster General's order to reduce employment and cost in the postal service will be placed in effect on May 4, 1964.

Postmaster George A. Fream announced that under the executive order, service changes planned locally will curtail certain postal services on Saturdays. Beginning on Saturday, May 9, 1964, money orders will not be issued on Saturdays. Also, meter settings, trust fund deposits, box-rent collections, and third-class bulk mailings under permit will be suspended on Saturdays. The suspension of Saturday money order service includes rural patrons. Rural Carriers will not accept applications for money orders on Saturdays. A notice of this order will be mailed to each rural patron in the near future.

Other services normally transacted such as the purchase of postage, mailing of parcel post, general delivery, registration and special delivery services are not affected by this order. Hours of service remain unchanged.

Mr. Fream emphasized that no essential major services are affected under the orders. There will be no change in delivery of mail procedure. Regular mail deliveries will continue as usual. Mail will be exchanged and dispatched and handled with the same priority as ever.

The economy step, the postmaster explained, is in line with President Johnson's programs under which the recent Federal income tax cut was provided.

CHOIRS TO SING

This coming Sunday, at the 10 o'clock worship service of Trinity Evangelical Lutheran Church, Taneytown, all three choirs will sing. The choirs have arranged an informal concert on the theme: "Sing Praises to God."

The Senior Choir will sing "To Thee We Sing" and "Come, Christians, Join to Sing." Next the Junior Choir will render "Sing Aloud unto God" and "We Praise the Lord Almighty." Following these numbers will be a congregational-choir hymn, "Blessing and Honor." Then the Youth Choir will do "All Praise to Thee" and "Let There Be Music." The finale will be "Praise the Name of the Lord," sung by the combined choirs of about 75 voices. The choir director is Mr. James R. Young.

The prelude for this Sunday will be "Chorale-Pantasia on Darwell's 148th" by Darke. The offertory will be Bach's "Aria" while the postlude will be Bach's "Toccata in F." The organist is Miss Hazel Hess.

Congregational singing will include these hymns: the familiar and lovely "When Morning Gilds the Skies," the familiar and glorious "Praise to the Lord, the Almighty, the King of Creation," and the familiar and moving "Before Jehovah's Awful Throne."

This coming Sunday, April 26, is Canate Sunday, when the church focuses its attention on its ministry of music.

"SPICE 'N' EVERYTHING NICE" (Your Chatty Column)

With all my heart, I wish you every morning a smile that shall last until the next day's dawning. I wish you health—life's greatest wealth; I wish you always near so that I may help to cheer. Each future day and in some way—help to bring you happiness!

Dressing for the rainy weather and umbrella overhead, Your Observer went on the "Greyhound" bus to Washington for the funeral procession of the most wonderful General Douglas MacArthur and the viewing in the Capitol Building. Leaving on the 10:40, which of course, only takes one hour; I walked along the shopping district toward Pennsylvania Avenue. A florist caught my eye and in it, I gazed upon red, red Carnations. "That will be it!" I said to myself and then walked into the store. The florist pinned the Carnations on my coat! It was best that way than carrying it for the purpose for which I wanted that blood-red and the largest Carnation I ever saw. I kept walking and the rain was coming down fast and heavy but the rain coat prevented me of course from getting even slightly damp. (Plus the umbrella and galoshes!) As I do not eat breakfast, I stopped by a huge restaurant called, "The Hickory" which stated on a big sign, "Charcoal Broiled Steaks!" The place was crowded and in I walked. That meal was delicious and I read a large sign like this, "Just try our Cheese-cake!" I ordered that for dessert and never, never have I tasted any cheese cake to compare. It was made with pure cream with the foundation of graham crackers! Ummmmmmmm good!

I then started walking again on Pennsylvania Avenue until I arrived at Connecticut Avenue. There was a large building called, "Federal Trade Commission." I walked in and handed an executive my credentials. He was most kind telling me to make myself at home and that I should go toward one of the windows as the funeral procession would be passing soon which I realized. I remained there about a half hour but somehow I wanted to be out in that rain! I curbed the executive and stood on the curb with others already lined up and I could see in the distance about three blocks below it all would soon be passing. I stood there for about three quarters of an hour and never, never have I seen more perfect marching of Uncle Sam's nephews! No adjectives could describe it! It was simply with thrills and chills — how proud I was to be an American! Every branch of the Armed Forces was represented. And then — the Caissone holding the wonderful body of so great a man which the entire world loved! I walked along opposite the Caissone for fifteen blocks or more toward the Capitol. Somehow, I could not stop crying! The family and close friends followed the body, and immediately after their viewing only those with Press Cards were permitted in the building. As I came near the casket, I looked at the thin face which was the color of yellow and I tossed that big carnation toward the casket and then it lay there on the floor. The sun suddenly came out and shone brilliantly on that lonely Carnation which appeared blood-red and I compared it with the real red blood of this General's veins in all his life previously. Nothing could ever compare! A man who had dedicated his entire life to his country which he loved more than life itself. Other men had been of course in the Service but many, after the 20 years they resign and are given a pension.

This General who knew all the answers and a President of these United States who did not take heed to his warnings which would have settled Wars for all the years to come! General MacArthur was the top General in our United States Service and History will always be reminded of the man who was and never more shall be!

Have a grand week-end. Be kind and thoughtful to one another.

Until next week D. V.
I am,
Faithfully,
YOUR OBSERVER.

"GRASS ROOTS OPINIONS"

CHATON, A.L.A., CALL-NEWS DISPATCH: "Control is a noun that has become probably the most feared word among Americans, as day by day we see conniving means of the federal government to take hold of the reins in every phase of our daily lives. Another measure that would mean greater central power . . . is the King-Anderson Bill, commonly called Medicare Bill, now before Congress. . . . Control lies at the heart of this legislation, and there is no greater control than financial control. Yet, that is, in essence, the meat of this bill, which we feel is undemocratic, would be a substantial tax burden and most of all, a hindrance to our fine medical system."

STAR CITY, ARK., LEDGER: "Impatience is a common trait. We want to get places in the quickest way. One of the major causes of traffic accidents is a driver's crowding too close to the car ahead. The only reason for crowding is that the rear driver 'can't wait.' It is the impatient driver who endangers not only his own life but that of others."

FAIRFAX, MINN., STANDARD: "Khrushchev insists that our grandchildren will all be Socialists. He's smart to skip over our present generation of children, because, judging by the way they pursue their fees for grass-cutting, dishwashing and babysitting, they are unshakeable capitalists."

WALDEN, N.Y., CITIZEN HERALD: "Why taxpayer money that is entrusted to such serious seeming Federal agencies as the Rural Electrification Administration and the Farmers Home Administration, should wind up financing recreation areas, ski slopes, golf courses, swimming pools and club houses, is beyond us. . . . We do not know on what grounds the REA justifies its nonrural generosity with taxpayer money."

WALDOBORO, ME., PRESS: "A Labor Department economist, in speaking of 'moonlighters,' says he would not be surprised if some people did not report their second jobs. Just how naive can our 'brain-trusters' be?"

EVERETT, WASH., HERALD: "It's a good thing Rep. Kenneth Keating (R., N.Y.) is keeping a close eye on things in Washington, D.C. He ferreted out a pending deal in which some $2 million worth of land would have gone to Castro's Cuba from this country and called it to the attention of the Department of Commerce. That office immediately slapped a ban on the transaction and included land among the articles that can't be sold to Castro. Already a slippery customer, Castro would have been even more difficult to pin down with a couple million dollars worth of land to grease his ways."

CUERO, TEX., RECORD: "While it may come as a surprise to many, tobacco provides the livelihood of some 17 million people in various stages of production and manufacture. It's an $8 billion a year business, which produces $3.2 billion in Federal, state and local taxes. In leaf-producing states it is literally the economic lifeblood of many communities. Certainly, health should not be put up for barter. It makes sense, though, to try to find out and correct what ails the goose that laid the golden egg instead of killing it."

NORTH VERNON, IND., PLAIN DEALER: "The brave patriots who founded this country, who dreamt the dream of freedom before there was freedom, saw so very wisely what an important role newspapers could play in the life of this Republic. Because of this, they gave newspapers certain rights and privileges which they felt if exercised would guarantee the continuance on and on of a way of life among the noblest ever conceived by the mind of man."

CORVALLIS, ORE., GAZETTE-TIMES: "The U.S. Army has at long last discovered they have currently 35,000 men in the wrong jobs at the cost of $48 million in training funds. They didn't need a survey to tell them about this square-peg-in-round-hole problem, any former G.I. would have been glad to inform them."

BLAIRSTOWN, N.J., PRESS: "We are glad to note the Treasury again is offering taxpayers the opportunity of taking their income tax refunds in U.S. Savings Bonds. The taxpayer who takes the Treasury up on this savings option, in our opinion, chooses wisely."

After The Fair Is Over

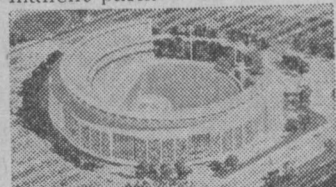

Unisphere presented by United States Steel

It's estimated that 70,000,000 people will visit the 1964-65 New York World's Fair and travel the intricate network of parks, malls, gardens and exhibits by foot. World's Fair planners, anticipating the crowds, have made it a point to plant grass that will stand the wear and tear.

They have also given thought to what happens after the Fair is over. In fall, 1965, the site will become a two-mile park—one of the largest of its kind in the world—complete with botanical gardens, a zoo, a marina and helicopter facilities.

Many of the Fair's original exhibits will be preserved, in part or whole. Among them are the Court of Nations, the Court of Peace and the Court of Astronauts, with its statue of "Man Launching the Stars." The unique landscaped Garden of Meditation will also be a permanent part of the complex, along with the tropical fauna of the Pan American Highway Gardens. Overlooking it all will be the Unisphere, permanent symbol of the Fair.

All of these areas have already been sodded or seeded in Merion bluegrass. In 1965 they will be re-seeded to begin their lifetime in the permanent park.

Close by the fairgrounds and park-to-be is Shea Stadium, new home of the New York Mets and Jets. It, too, is planted in Merion, like so many other baseball and football stadiums and golf courses. Homeowners throughout the country have also found that there's nothing like this kind of bluegrass lawn. So, take a tip from the World's Fair and try Merion for your lawn too.

KEYSVILLE-DETOUR

Greetings to you:

Happy Birthday wishes this week to Mrs. Lloyd Wilhide of Keysville on Friday the 24th and to her grandson, Douglas Wilhide of Indiana, Pa., and my daughter, Ellen, on Saturday the 25th.

There were 152 people who enjoyed a delicious turkey dinner and an evening of fellowship at Keysville Lutheran Church last Saturday evening. The men of the Church cooked and served the meal and they surely did a fine job of it. Each one is to be highly commended for the part he took in making such a success of the affair. After the meal, Arthur Clabaugh showed the slides he had taken during the building of the new Sunday School addition.

Mrs. Charles Stonesifer of Keysville and Mrs. William Fleharty near Detour are the Keysville-Detour Homemakers Club members who are in the Slipcover Workshop at the County Office Building. This is a four-class session and ends Friday the 24th. Mrs. Esther Gillette, former Home Demonstration Agent of Carroll County is conducting the classes.

Elmer A. Wolfe P-TA Executive Committee meeting on Monday the 27th.

Mrs. Loren Austin of Detour returned to her home on Monday after spending several days at Carroll County General Hospital for observation. Mrs. Virginia Olier of Taneytown entered Maryland University Hospital in Baltimore last Thursday for tests and observation. Before mailing cards you might want to check with her son, Richard Olier, to determine whether or not she has returned home. Or be sure to use a five-cent stamp and your return address on the envelopes. Mr. Upton Austin of Taneytown has returned home from Maryland University Hospital after recent surgery and is, I understand, coming along very well.

Mrs. Carroll Wilhide near Detour returned home last Thursday after spending several days with her aunt, Miss Ada Yoder of Govans. (Personal note to Dorie Tag: the apron piece is 19, the pocket piece is 11" and the tie is 2" wide with 1/2" seams. This was torn project with a yard of material.)

On Wednesday evening Mr. Carroll Wilhide and daughter Beth were supper guests of Mr. and Mrs. Myron Wilhide and family on Thursday evening, of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Wilhide and Susan.

A surprise visit to her father, Mr. Charles Cluts of Keysville, was paid by Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Heaps and family of Silver Spring on Friday evening. The family are glad to be able to say that Mrs. Cluts is most appreciative of visitors now. She is more alert all the time. Isn't this wonderful news for all her friends and relatives?

Miss Jane Wilhide, Frederick Memorial Hospital nursing trainee, spent from Friday evening until Sunday evening with her parents and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Carroll Wilhide and Beth near Detour. Jane now gets two overnights a week from the hospital.

Guest speaker at Keysville Lutheran Church on Sunday was Mr. Donald Curley, a student at the Seminary in Gettysburg. Mr. Curley is a native of Cumberland. His wife accompanied him and she is a third grade teacher in the Thurmont school.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Wilhide and Susan of Forest and Stream Club Road were supper guests on Sunday of Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Durboraw of Gettysburg. They were joined later in the evening by his mother, Mrs. Russell Durboraw. Mr. Russell Durboraw is a patient at the Polyclinic Hospital, Harrisburg, Pa., Room 441. I'm sure he would appreciate cards—and we all hope he will soon be feeling fine again.

Mr. and Mrs. William Fleharty and family near Detour were Sunday visitors with his brother and family, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Fleharty, Jr., "Butch" and Patsy, of Overall, Va.

Week-end visitor at the Clyde Wilhide home on the Keysville-Taneytown Road was her sister, Miss Elizabeth Yoder of White Hall. Sunday evening visitors in the same home were Mr. and Mrs. Myron Wilhide, Denise and Renee near Detour.

Monday visitor at the Carroll Wilhide home near Detour was her mother, Mrs. Emory Yoder of White Hall, who is staying awhile at the Clyde Wilhide home. Mrs. Yoder also visited her great-grandchildren, Denise and Renee—daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Myron Wilhide, and Susan—daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Wilhide.

Last Thursday, as Publicity Chairman for the Carroll County Council of Homemakers, I attended a Workshop Meeting at the 4-H Center in Washington. This was the third day of the Maryland State Council of Homemakers' Clubs Spring Meeting. Mr. Clarence Jackson, who is with the Department of Information, Extension Service of the University of Maryland, was the speaker in the Publicity Workshop, which was conducted by State Chairman Mrs. Thomas McConville, Jr., and Mrs. Joyce Hawkins. Mr. Jackson spoke on the principles of Public Relations. It was a most informative meeting but I was even more impressed with the beauty of Washington. It truly is a beautiful city with the flowering trees in full bloom and even the azaleas were opening.

—Dharlys Fleharty.

Attend LCW District Assembly

There were 13 members of the Keysville Lutheran Church Women who attended the District Assembly at Immanuel Lutheran Church in Manchester last Thursday. The theme for the meeting was "You Are Ambassadors for Christ" and the featured speaker was Mrs. Hjalmar Fahnestrom, who is editor of "Guidelines" and came from the offices in Philadelphia. She said that "an ambassador owes his importance to the message he bears" and should have "a loving heart, a friendly smile, a sympathetic ear and a helping hand." Mrs. Fahnestrom also told the LCW members that Christian fellowship in itself is a gift from God; that the influence of women has always been a strong factor in spiritual as well as secular history and that God's work must go forward with determination and vision.

There were three workshops with everyone attending the one on "Program—Literature, Christian Responsibility" presented by Mrs. Howard Miller, Mrs. Philip Schaeffer, Mrs. William Markley. They presented a skit suggesting Help Shops and using Role Playing, Interviews, Field trips, Group Discussion, Panel Discussion, Buzz Groups or Symposium as different ways to present programs for meetings. They also put on a puppet show with the moral: A visit to a shut-in is always worth so much more to that person than anything that is made and just forwarded. The two other workshops were Publicity Membership with Mrs. Clifford Miller, Mrs. Donald Brake and Mrs. William Fleharty, and Presidents—Delegates—Visitors with Mrs. Delmar Warehime and Mrs. Gilbert Stine. Mrs. George Sauer was selected as District Secretary and Mrs. Albert Fischer, Synodical President, brought greetings to all.

Cub Pack #459

Den 3 had the opening service for Cub Pack #459 when they met on Friday evening, the 17th, at the Union Bridge Church of the Brethren. Cub David Edwards read the poem, "My Paw."

Cubmaster Weeks announced it would be necessary to change the date of the May meeting and the new date will be announced later. He also presented Service Star Awards to Dennis Greenwood, David Edwards, Wayne Fleharty and Randy Houck. Mike Caricofe received his Bobcat Pin. After Den 1 presented a skit, Den 2 had the closing.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. Esther Edwards and Mrs. Doris Greenwood.

Keysville-Detour Homemakers Club "How to Deal with Your Tensions" was the topic for the April meeting of the Keysville-Detour Homemakers Club which met at the home of Mrs. Harold Thomas near Detour with Mrs. Charles Stonesifer as co-hostess on Wednesday the 15th.

Mrs. Stonesifer, as Family Life Leader with some assistance from Mrs. Robert Stine, told that tensions and stresses and strains can be good for you; they don't necessarily have to be bad. As examples she mentioned actors and actresses or boxers or even athletes. However, she also said that one out of twelve will spend time in institutions for the mentally ill and more Americans commit suicide than die from the five most communicable diseases.

To find if you have stress or tensions, ask yourself: Do I worry a great deal of the time, expecting trouble before it turns up? Do I make things harder for myself? As a rule am I edgy or easily upset? Do ordinary pleasures of life fail to satisfy me? Do I fear new situations or new people? Am I suspicious and mistrustful of others?

A few suggestions made to deal with stresses and tensions were: Express and extend love, seek and accept very strong convictions about what is valuable in life; build and live a faith in God, talk it out instead of stewing about it (this should be with a person you respect and can trust and who respects you in return), escape for awhile for rest and relaxation, take one thing at a time, get rid of anger and stop feeling neglected and do something for someone else.

Everyone was glad to extend welcome to new member Mrs. Donald Stenley of Keysville. Discussion was held on name tags for the group to be worn at Open House on May 7 at the Ag Center. A letter was read from the Auxiliary of the Carroll County General Hospital requesting donations for their auction to be held at the Armory on May 23. It was decided to attend church at Trinity Lutheran Church in Taneytown as a group on May 17 at 10 A. M.

The next meeting will be May 20 at the home of Mrs. Merle Eckard near Taneytown with the demonstration for the evening by the Clothing Leaders, Mrs. Mark Sanders and Mrs. Louis Keepers.

Grains of Gold

(by W. Wileman)

A lily drank a drop of dew, and shone with every rainbow hue.

A drop of ink ran down a pen and wrote what moved a thousand men.

A grain of wheat was multiplied, a nation's harvest to provide.

A thirsty plant desired a shower, and all was green within an hour.

A sunbeam floated down, and then the daisy smiled it back again.

A multitude of grains of sand kept back the ocean from the land.

A fertile mind received a thought, and with it ten thousand taught.

A toiling preacher self denied, and hundreds live because he died.

A sprig of moss, when days were dark, and God encouraged mungo park.

A band of workers met for prayer, and heaven came down upon them there.

A loving sister prayed one night, and Henry Martyn saw the light.

A welcome word a lady sent, and mofat to the heathen went.

A dandelion knew the Bible's worth, and now the volume fills the earth.

Each tiny touch of humble love is written in the book above.

If practiced, these small grains of gold will multiply to wealth untold.

THE WAY I SEE IT . . .

Observations on the World of Sports

A new manager, better attitude, improved hitting — those ingredients should produce more victories for the Baltimore Orioles in 1964. And better scoring punch and an American League pennant is a possibility. Many "ifs" must fall into place if the Orioles are to be transformed from a dark horse contender into a genuine pennant threat. Hank Bauer, replacing Billy Hitchcock as manager after one year as coach, realistically rates Baltimore behind the New York Yankees and the Minnesota Twins. But he predicts a battle to the finish, if — and there are many "ifs."

Number one — if Jerry Adair, Brooks Robinson and Jack Brandt bounce back from their sub-par performances at the plate in 1963.

Number two — if Chuck Estrada recovers completely from arm surgery after pitching only 31 innings last year.

Number three — if the team manages somehow to score more runs. The Orioles who had some trouble playing for Hitchcock during the past two seasons, apparently have been one big, happy family under Bauer in Spring training. By the way, have you noticed how much more the Orioles are hustling in the early games. Bauer set out early to show who's boss — fining new outfielder Willie Kirkland $300 for being three days late. Brandt was made to do some extra running for reporting late to practice. Bauer also said he would support his coaches in any dispute with the players. Coaches, Billy Hunter and Gene Woodling—both new to the Orioles — are adept at applying the verbal needle and they can keep the players alert. Of the players Bauer is counting on for comeback performances, Brandt had the best training period. Adair and Robinson didn't hit for high average, but Bauer said they hit the ball solidly. Estrada was nursed along slowly, but threw hard without any pain. He allowed nine hits in 15 innings and appears ready for normal duty although he is not one of the "Big Four" starters as the season opens. A rookie last year, Dave McNally, has moved into the starting rotation with Steve Barber, Milt Pappas and Robin Roberts. Boog Powell, who led the club with 25 homers and 82 runs batted in during his second full season, is again expected to provide the big punch at the plate. In addition, John Orsino will be ready for a full season as first string teacher. Norm Siebern won't be as spectacular at bat as he was last year, but he should do a lot of things better that don't show in the box score. Siebern should get on base more, run the bases better, and advance more runners by not striking out as often.

Advancing an extra base could mean lot to scrambling Oriole attack. The team played 85 games last year that were decided by two runs or less and turned in a 43 won and 42 lost record. The 1964 Orioles don't figure to be that explosive at the bat. The main strength is still pitching and defense which is ideal for spacious Memorial stadium.

Bauer's chief problems will be to get the players thinking "team" and to find the combination that will produce more runs.

Before one of his fights late in his career, Joe Louis said: "When you've reached 35 it all depends on how you feel when you get up in the morning."

Robin Roberts, the old pro of the Baltimore Orioles pitching staff, has reached 37. And with Joe Louis' remark in mind, Robin must have gotten up feeling pretty good quite often this Spring. For 26 innings of pitching in exhibition games, Roberts had an earned-run average of 1.38. Now, conceding that exhibition games are not the same as the real thing, that still is a fine showing for a 37 year old pitcher. Old pitchers usually need more time to get into shape. Robert's comeback has reached the stage where it no longer is listed as a comeback. It is taken for granted even at 37 — that Roberts will be a regular starter for the Orioles this season. Robin won 14 games and lost 13 for Baltimore last season. The previous year he was ten and nine after the Yankees gave up on him early in the year and turned him loose. The verdict was almost unanimous that Roberts had lost his fast ball. He had. The fire ball which saw him turn in six seasons of 20 victories or more the Philadelphia Phillies had gone. But almost over night Roberts discovered something else — rhythm.

Here is what Roberts says about it: "You can feel it in your feet, your legs, your hips. It feels like you're riding through nice and smooth. I think I have this rhythm because of my good physical condition. I've worked hard and run a lot and I'm relaxed because I'm not fooling with any new pitches."

Incidentally, here is a hitter's view of a pitcher like Roberts. Watching him in an exhibition game this Spring, Dick Groat, star shortstop of the Cardinals, said: "All young pitchers should watch him. Every time he throws the ball he had an idea behind it."

REMEMBER WHEN DEPT. — Opening day—1954—the first big league game in Baltimore in more than fifty years — the Birds beat the White Sox, 3-1.

TODAY'S SPORT LAUGH — Casey Stengel is never at a loss for words. After his Mets lost an exhibition game in Mexico City, Casey was asked if the altitude bothered the Mets any, "Not a bit," snapped Casey, "We can lose at any altitude."

ODDS AND ENDS

Dr. Frank Laubach, who recently spoke at Western Maryland College in the beautiful Baker Chapel, is a true servant of God. For many years, this remarkable man has worked as a Christian missionary in the depressed and hungry areas of the world, spreading literacy with his unique "each one, teach one" method. It is estimated that Dr. Laubach has taught 60 millions of people how to read!

In his very moving speech, delivered to an audience of about 1,000, the now retired missionary brought out the fact that one-half of the world's population goes to bed hungry every night. Even more shocking, 10,000 people—especially infants and small children—die every day from sheer starvation. We here in America actually have only a vague idea of the hopeless misery and terrible suffering of our less fortunate neighbors around the world.

Dr. Laubach emphasized that the main cause for such tragic circumstances is lack of education and simple "know-how." It is not enough to merely dole out food and money to these depressed nations. As a matter of fact, even if America gave all of her surplus food to them, their basic problems would still remain. Obviously, just giving is not the total answer. The poor and ignorant of the world must be taught how to help themselves—how to lead, how to plant productive crops, how to lower the birth-rate, how to use modern equipment and techniques, and a host of other things.

March of Medicine

Disposables Fight Rising Hospital Costs

The surgery is complete. Immediately, gowns, gloves, sheets, sponges—even instruments—are bundled up and thrown away.

Days later, the patient checks out. Immediately, sheets, pillow covers, patient gown and slippers, window draperies, and even mattress and pillows are tossed into the incinerator.

Disposables are playing a major role in the hospital of today; they will play an even greater role in the hospital of tomorrow, predicts W. O. Elson, medical research director, Bauer & Black division, the Kendall Company, manufacturer of surgical dressings and other hospital products.

"Techniques that are being pioneered today will be commonplace in the very near future," Elson said, "as both hospital and industry join in the two-pronged battle against deadly cross-infection and spiraling hospital costs."

Public concern with the high cost of illness has been mounting since World War II. According to figures of the American Hospital Association, the patient's average daily bill has exploded from under $10.00 in 1946 to over $35.00 today—up 250 per cent.

"Disposable hospital products, virtually unknown in 1956, now make up about 30 per cent of the total market," Elson said, "and each day, industry produces ingenious new products which short-cut old methods, yet do the job even better."

"Needles and syringes, pre-packed alcohol swabs, diapers, oxygen masks, urinals—these and other disposable items have been eagerly accepted by hospital administrators, ever alert to cost-saving ideas."

Elson noted that some manufacturers have even combined

Strangely, it's cheaper — and safer — to dispose of new high-grade steel instruments like these after a single use.

all of the items needed for a complicated hospital procedure into pre-sterilized packages that are simply discarded after use.

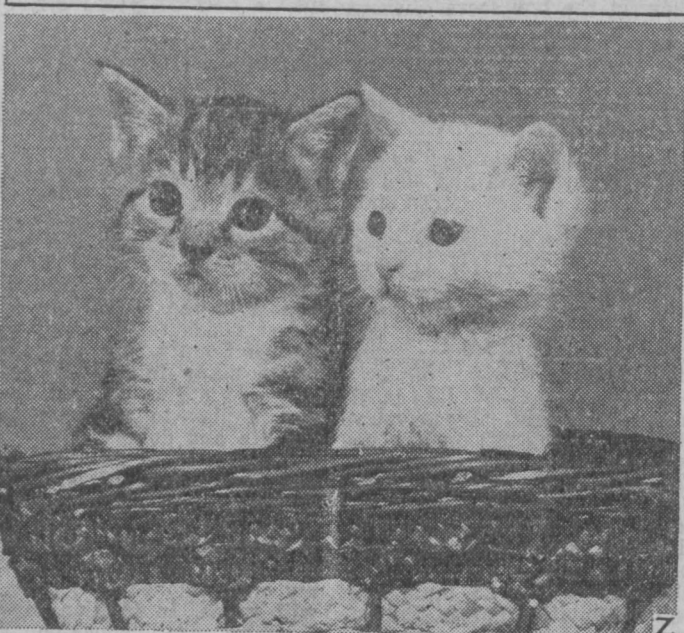

"For example, Kendall scientists recently perfected two new disposable kits," he said, "one for changing dressings and another for removing sutures—complete with instruments which are precision-made of surgical-grade steel, yet are designed to be used once, then thrown away."

"This seeming waste actually represents a saving—if considered in the total picture of hospital costs. Disposing of supplies and even instruments instead of sterilizing and saving them, drastically reduces labor, and 70 cents of the hospital dollar is paid out in wages."

"What's more, the chances of spreading deadly staph infection are almost completely eliminated by using throw-away supplies."

Elson concluded that all of this would ultimately be reflected in lower hospital bills.

The First Day Home

During his first day at home with you, your new kitten has many adjustments to make, and may be bewildered by his strange new surroundings. Follow some tips from the Purina Cat Care Center. Resist the temptation to pet and play with your kitten for long periods of time. An overly tired kitten becomes nervous and more susceptible to disease. Kittens, like any other young creature, require a great deal of sleep. Be careful not to frighten your kitten with loud noises or sudden, swift movements. As he becomes more acquainted with his new home, he will be more relaxed and more responsive to your attention. Let your new kitten explore at his own pace. But be sure to place his litter pan and a shallow bowl containing water in whatever spot you intend them to be thereafter. In this way the kitten will soon learn where to find them.

It has been estimated that the visitor who attempts to see everything at the New York World's Fair will have to devote 5 hours a day for 30 days to do it! In addition to permanent exhibits, the Fair will feature special daily events—starting on opening day—April 22nd.

Costumes, castanets and guitars will herald a Spanish Fiesta on April 26th. Honoring the Spanish-American citizens of New York, these colorful events will feature classic Flamenco music and traditional Spanish dances.

An electronic communications system, sponsored by General Foods Corporation and a "first" for any fair, anywhere, will keep visitors informed on all up-to-the-minute special events. Mounted high on 11 graceful arches spotted throughout the Fairground, the information panels can be easily seen from all points. Arches will also be numbered for visitors' use as rendezvous points.

Love Your Neighbor

Lesson for April 26, 1964

Background Scripture: Luke 10:25-37; John 4:7-9; 1 John 4:16 through 5:3; Devotional: Reading: 1 John 2:7-11.

EVERYBODY HAS heard the Bible sentence: Love your neighbor. But not everybody does love his neighbor, and most people are not too sure what loving your neighbor would mean. If you love your neighbor, do you have to move into his house or let him move into yours? If you love your neighbor, will you pay his bills before you pay your own? If you love all your neighbors, will you treat them all exactly alike? The writer once lived on a street with a preacher and a burglar. Should the burglar and the preacher be treated just the same? These may be foolish questions, but the fact that they can be asked shows how confused we can get about "love."

Dr. Foreman acts alike? The writer once lived on a street with a preacher and a burglar. Should the burglar and the preacher be treated just the same? These may be foolish questions, but the fact that they can be asked shows how confused we can get about "love." It would not be an exaggeration to say that every book in the Bible, with very few exceptions is about how to live with one's neighbors; but the writer John (one of our Lord's closest friends) has a way of taking a simple word and turning it around and around in a leisurely sort of way, letting the light shine from it as it will. John can be very suggestive.

"There is no fear in love." Instead of writing us an essay on love and answering all the questions we can think of, John says this and that about love, every line revealing. Let us think about three of these sayings, each of which has something to say about neighbor-love. First, John says there is no fear of love. This is obvious, but people often forget it. How can I love the Russians, some one will ask, when I can't trust them? John would say: You can't. You can't love those you distrust. You have no trust because you are afraid; and it is the same on the other side of the curtain. Well, how can I get confidence about people I shall always distrust? John says that perfect love is the cure for fear, "perfect love casts out fear."

"We love because..." But John offers another thought. The kind of love that drives out fear is not ordinary human love, attraction, desire. It is something divine. "We love because He loved us" he says; and that puts it into words of one syllable. If we wait till our neighbors are all lovable, we shall have to wait a lifetime, maybe, or longer. Loving is not the same as liking. Liking means approving. But when God loves us—we may be everlastingly grateful—He does not wait for us to be likable. He loves every man completely; but where is the man whom God completely likes, just as he is? The love our neighbor inspires in us may be a feeble thing; the love which God's love kindles in our hearts is not weak. It is strong enough to cast out fear.

This may sound dreadfully sentimental. But John does not mean to suggest for a minute that love is a mere emotion. He connects it with obedience. If love to one's neighbor is sentiment and emotion alone, it may lead to our dealing foolishly or harmfully with him. But if in loving we begin to live by the commandments of God, then love is laced with wisdom.

Love the parent, love the child John shows a still higher way toward love. For him, and for many great saints, love to man comes out of love to God. John's point is: If you love God you will love God's children. Just as you may see a child playing in the street and think nothing of it, till you discover he is the little child of a person you love and admire; and then you will hurry to get that child out of the street and into a safe place. Knowing who is the father makes the difference. So in your dealings with others. Knowing who is their father makes all the difference in the world. It may seem odd to us that God has children in all colors and in all places; but that is the way it is, and the circle of "neighbor" is no narrower than the love of God.

It isn't fair to judge any area by the speeches of its political candidates.

Chart compares the real economy budget of Former President Eisenhower with the claimed "economy program" by President Johnson. President Johnson proposes spending authority of over $103,000,000,000 for 1965. That's 25% HIGHER than the final budget of proposed spending authority of $80,687,000,000 for 1962 by former President Eisenhower. Republican Congressman Frank T. Bow (Ohio-16th) says the chart is "one way to explode the myth of the Johnson 'economy program.'"
