Hesson - Snider Post Burns Mortgage

On Saturday, April 25, Hesson-Snider Post #120, The American Legion formally burned their mortgage, marking a major milestone in the history of the Post. The event was most impressive and well attended.

The service was opened with a right hand salute to the flag, followed by Post Chaplain Keilholtz offering prayer. The recitation of the preamble to the American Legion Constitution followed. Post Commander Kenneth Bair convened the meeting, offered a few remarks and turned the meeting over to Stanley King, Chairman.

Also introduced were delegations from Carroll Post, Westminster; Morris Frock Post, Hagerstown, and Hamilton Post, Baltimore.

Mrs. Paul Rodkey, Hesson-Snider Auxiliary President, introduced the following Auxiliary guests: Dept. Pres., Mrs. Philippa M. Pontier; Dept. 2nd Vice Pres., Mrs. Frederick C. Miller; Nat'l Executive Committeewoman, Mrs. George W. Gibbs; Dept. Secretary, Mrs. Henry C. Eslin; Past Dept. Pres., Mrs. Frank Lynch, and Western Md. Dist. Pres., Mrs. Harold Wantz.

Chairman King also introduced the following Charter Members of our post: Mr. James Myers, Mr. Richard Rhorbaugh and Mr. Jacob Myers. It was noted that our Post originally bore Number 59 rather than 120.

Following the introductions, Francis Lookingbill presented a history of the Post.

The Post Chaplain then asked the blessing of God upon the ceremonies, after which, all in attendance stood for a moment's silence with bowed heads in memory of those who have given their all to this country, who have made the supreme sacrifice and have answered the call of "The Great Commander of All Divisions."

Mr. Donald G. Hanning of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, Washington, D.C., who was the guest speaker was introduced. Mr. Hanning opened with appropriate remarks on the mortgage burning and dedication ceremonies, then delivered a most informative and challenging address.

He noted that the FBI is faced today with two major problems, Crime and the International Communist Conspiracy. He chose to speak on one facet of Crime, Juvenile Delinquency. He did not attempt to conclude that juvenile delinquency is caused by any particular set of circumstances but felt strongly that much of the blame must be shouldered by parents themselves. He challenged all parents to re-examine their handling of their children—are we giving them proper guidance; are we doing too much for them in the way of material things; have we taught them love of country, etc. Mr. Hanning's message was moving, timely and judging from the laudatory comments of those in attendance, was extremely well received.

The mortgage burning followed Mr. Hanning's address and was performed by Commander Bair assisted by Clifford Ott. The "crucible" to contain the ashes of the mortgage was an inverted World War II helmet liner supported by three stacked rifles.

After the mortgage burning Commander Bair intoned the following words of dedication:

"In the name of Hesson-Snider Post #120, Department of Maryland, The American Legion, I now dedicate this building, embodiment of the ideal of justice, freedom and democracy for which the American Legion exists. As in time of war we fight for our Country, so in time of peace may we serve the Republic fearlessly and well. May we bear in mind the comrades who have gone before, that their memory may dwell within this home and be a constant blessing among us. It is our hope and desire that this building may be used ever in the service of our disabled comrades; of the widowed and orphaned; and to the benefit of our community, state and nation. I dedicate this structure to the purposes of our Post, and with it

Adjustment Made of Teachers' Pay Scale

The Board of County Commissioners is aware of the need for the assurance that adequate provision be made for education, both as to facilities and instruction. One of the important steps to achieve adequate instruction is by maintenance of a skilled teaching corps.

The Board is also charged with providing an assurance to the general taxpayer of the place the county on a sound economic footing. To do this every request to insure that the county can provide funds without undue injury or hardship on such taxpayer.

As to the case at hand, an adjustment of the teachers' pay scale for fully certified teachers, previously approved upon the recommendation of the Board of Education for the range of $5,000. to $7,200.00 in the 1964-65 budget, the Board of County Commissioners upon hearing the further recommendation of the Board of Education to adjust such scale from $5,000.00 to $7,600.00 for certified teachers, must concur in such recommendation after reviewing the additional information provided by that Board. Such concurrence is being made with the full understanding of the advantages to Carroll County and its educational program and the additional cost to the county of approximately $20,000. during the next fiscal year.

It is felt that the scale recommended by the Board of Education is fair to the veteran teacher and at the same time, in keeping with the tax rate previously set for the coming fiscal year.

SPRING-TIME VIEW FROM MY KITCHEN WINDOW

The arrival of spring-like weather has been rather tardy this year but finally, on this balmy April morning, the whole country side is exploding with new life. From my kitchen window here at Wood Burn, I gaze out at a rolling panorama of lush green fields. The wheat field especially is positively emerald. There are so many tones of green! The old-fashioned lilac tree and the rose bushes have donned soft shades of it, and the iris are sending forth sturdy spears of a deeper hue. The South Carolina Poplar is erupting with tiny, mint-green leaves, while the stately old cedar remains the same dark cool shade all through the year.

By way of contrast the apricot tree (which incidentally never bears any fruit) is a study in delicate pink, and up in the orchard, the pear tree is foaming with snow-white blossoms. Living in the country may be a real trial in the winter, but it is so restful and beautiful at this season of the year. Even the little brook, as it splashes over the rocks, blends harmoniously with the whisper of the wind and the carols of many birds.

And speaking of the birds, they are out in full force today. Mr. Blue-bird, darting about like a small blue flame, and his spouse, who is much more subdued in coloring, are apparently still "house hunting." These lovely birds are becoming quite scarce, for starlings and sparrows often drive them from the tree cavities in which they like to nest.

Down in the field a handsome red-winged blackbird sounds his familiar "O-ka-lee," and meadowlarks and robins are everywhere. A pair of brown thrashers briefly visits the South Carolina Poplar and a gorgeous rooster pheasant, accompanied by his demure speckled mate, cautiously crosses the lane. A bluejay, a red-headed woodpecker, and a flicker are flitting about down at the locust grove, and a lively squirrel scampers back and forth.

As I watch and listen to all of these sights and sounds, I am reminded of the words from a well-known hymn, "This is my Father's world and to my listening ears, all nature sings and round me rings the music of the spheres."

—Zola Cantwell.

I dedicate this Post to the faithful service of our nation, its people, and to the memory of our heroic dead."

Following the benediction, a delicious buffet supper, with fried chicken as the entree, was served by the Ladies' Auxiliary of Hesson-Snider Post.

'SPICE 'N' EVERYTHING NICE' (Your Chatty Column)

With all my heart, I wish you every morning
A smile that shall last until the next day's dawning.
I wish you health—life's greatest wealth;
I wish you always near so that I may help to cheer
Each future day and in some way—help to bring you happiness!

The Summer rain is still coming down and the beautiful green is all over. The Jonquills, and the lovely creeping Phlox seem to be more plentiful than ever. The Magnolia trees are in bloom. It truly is Spring, Tra La Da!

Hope you did not miss Liberate the other night playing, "Just One More Dance With You," "After The Ball Is Over," "Will You Love Me In December As You Did In May?" and "Let Me Call You, Sweetheart!" That actor and pianist has just everything! Talent, looks, plus a wonderful personality! And the nice part, the sweetest disposition!

And, folks, if you are going to "The World's Fair" be sure and wear a comfortable pair of walking shoes or you will never, never make it! The next thing is a grand disposition and the next best thing, plenty of that doe, rae, mi! Remember you can't use your ticket again when once you enter, for tickets must be purchased each time. And now — this — whatever you do be careful of your handbag or your wallet for there will be plenty of pocket thieves! First one man will strike you with his body as a "mere" push and that gives the time for his partner to clean you out while you are thinking about the push and the gentleman. "Oh, excuse me!" No foolin', folks!

Letters of two weeks ago — Dear Observer: I am 55 years of age and have had a nervous breakdown for the past five months being given 'shock' treatments of two and three a week. Although, I do not shake anymore as I formerly did, I have had a lot of upsettiness with my 80-year old father who lives with us. The doctor suggested placing him in a "nursing home" and my sister and I thought this was a good idea until I got on my feet again. But now the Dr. insists that I must keep my father right there and it grieves me terribly, although I have been feeling better. Would you kindly advise me what to do? Gratefully, a daughter.

Dear Daughter: You must listen to the Dr. and take only his advice. Why continue with any M. D. if you are not going to obey him? Your Observer.

Dear Observer: A few months ago I purchased a used '61 Comet from one of these Used Car Dealers and paid $1275.00 "Straight stick" as they call it. I somehow felt it was in an accident and the salesman kept telling me it was not that the man traded it for a larger car. I believed him. The first thing I had to do was to pay $31.75 to have new brake-shoes. They did not even see if oil or gas was in the car when I left the lot and I stopped by the first garage to check as my home was a little distance away from the lot. The garage man asked me, "What I was running on?" I knew of another big used car place and drove in to ask him to buy the car and he said, "Why I could not buy this car, it has been in a terrible accident, which anyone can tell by examining the rear!" I took it back to the man and he gave me $900.00 back of the $1275.00. I am a poor man and needed this for the work I do. What do you think I should do. — Mr. Disgusted.

Dear Mr. Disgusted: If I were you, I would go immediately to a lawyer, for that is really what lawyers are for. Something should be done about all of this kind of terrible business. All dealers of this calibre should be exposed and that would end it. — Your Observer.

Have a grand week-end, folks. What is the good of life if you can't aid another brother?

Will be seeing you next week D.V.

I am,

Faithfully,

YOUR OBSERVER.

FACTS AND OPINIONS

Publisher Tom Anderson of Farm & Ranch magazine writes: "One of the eternal verities is that there is no such thing as equality. All men are deserving of equal treatment before the law and are equal in Heaven and Hell, but not in between. Hitler, Tito, Mao Tse Tung, Castro and Bobby Kennedy have tried to make all men equal—under them. Free men are not equal, and equal men are not free. As Bobby Kennedy's assistant, J. Edgar Hoover has said, 'The Negro situation is being exploited fully and continuously by Communists on a national scale.'"

In the view of the Pharmaceutical Manufacturers Association, Food and Drug Administration's proposed regulations requiring a comprehensive review of all drugs for effectiveness are, in principle, reasonable, given the law under which they were written; but the proposed record keeping and reporting provisions present an unreasonable burden on the industry and the government, promise no counterbalancing benefit for the public health, and, in part, go beyond the intent of Congress and the law.

Aside from the need for an aggressive national policy to reduce foreign trade barriers and restrictions, increased sales promotion and market development is essential to the expansion of world markets for U.S. farm products. Because of the need that exists in this area, the American Farm Bureau Federation in 1960 established, as an affiliate, the Farm Bureau Trade Development Corporation in Rotterdam, the Netherlands. The effort is the only one of its kind financed solely by a private farm organization without any kind of a government subsidy.

Nearly 80 companies, and 177 of their subsidiaries, now report their employees quarterly earnings to the Social Security Administration on single reels of magnetic tape. Well over 1.5 million workers are being reported in this way, as well as 3 million uniformed personnel of the U.S. Army, Air Force and Navy.

Former Secretary of State Christian Herter, who is now our Special Representative for Trade Negotiations, says: "The most difficult and complex of the problems that face us is that of trade in agricultural products. . . . Agriculture and industry are interwoven at every point in our economy. Farmers buy a great many of our products, and farmers are more dependent upon export markets than any other major segment of the American producers. The crops on one out of every five acres cultivated here are shipped abroad. Farmers derive 15 per cent of their income from exports—whereas the United States as a whole exports only 3.8 per cent of its gross national product. Moreover, total farm exports, running at $5.6 billion a year, amount to 27 per cent of our exports as a whole.

According to the National Research Bureau the cost of a college education will be doubled by 1970. It estimates that, by that year, a four-year education, including tuition, books, fees and board, will cost from $14,400 to $20,000 at a private school and from $9,600 to $12,800 at a state university.

Speaking before the Southern Association of Chamber of Commerce Executives, President Neilan of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States continued his attack on what he has called "seduction by subsidy." He called on the group to enlist the services of the best men and women in their communities to battle for traditional American standards of local responsibility for local problems and said "the federal subsidy salesmen and their confederates in city, county and state government have managed to convince millions of Americans that there is nothing wrong with using other people's money for their own selfish purposes."

Come gentlemen, we sit too long on trifles, And waste the time, which looks for other revels. — Shakespeare.

For the want of a nail the shoe is lost, for want of a shoe the horse is lost, for want of a horse the rider is lost. — B. Franklin.

The test of a good farmer is how much work he does during the next few months.

Think naught a trifle, though it small appear; small sands the mountains, moments make the year. — Young.

Most anybody will attend a conference if somebody offers to pay all expenses.

THE HIGH ROAD

Roads Are Built by People

Although the highway industry has made some remarkable advances in the utilization of labor-saving machinery, it is still very true that roads are built by people.

A recent report by the Bureau of Public Roads estimates that highway construction in 1964 will provide employment for 870,000 workers. This includes 370,000 employees of highway contractors working at construction sites and 500,000 persons in off-site jobs in the production, supply and transportation of highway materials and equipment.

An additional 500,000 people are employed full time by Federal, State, county and municipal highway agencies to plan, design, supervise, maintain and operate roads and streets.

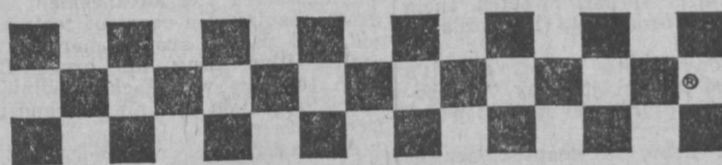

The total annual payroll of the 1,370,000 people employed in highway construction and by governmental highway agencies has been estimated at $5.9 billion.

As a recent report by the U. S. Department of Labor's Bureau of Labor Statistics puts it, "All major parts of the economy are involved directly or indirectly to some degree in the construction of highways, so such construction activity generates employment throughout the economy."

Highway construction generates employment not only in all major sectors of the economy but also in all sections of the country. Unlike certain other industries which are concentrated in one area, highway construction activities are, by their very nature, widely dispersed. The Nation's 3.5 million miles of roads traverse every county, and it's a rare county (if, indeed any such exists) which does not have some road work to do every year.

Road-building is a big industry in itself, but the chief employment benefits are the indirect ones that result from the stimulus that new roads give to the economy. New roads are magnets for new stores and factories, new homes and apartments, new schools and churches.

As the late Commissioner of Public Roads, Thomas H. MacDonald, commented many years ago, "We were not a wealthy Nation when we began improving our highways—but the roads themselves have helped us create a new wealth, in business and industry and land values; so it was not our wealth that made our highways possible. Rather, it was our highways that made our wealth possible."

Advice From The Kitchen

If your thoughts are bitter, salt them with a little love. Don't give up and be a quitter if you're often spoken of.

Everybody has his troubles, and it's awful hard to win, but the worst are only bubbles—think of what they might be seen.

If your words are spoken with a cruel, painful thrust, sweeten them with kisses, broken up in words of sincere trust.

Everybody has a temper and it's awful hard to hold, just say, "Get behind me, tempter," and he'll step out in the cold.

If your heart is tempted, season with some peppered will; you can't quit and be exempted even though you do keep still.

Everybody has his heartaches and it's awful hard to smile; try some frying, spicy handshakes and you'll soon be in the style.

If your tongue boils over with the heat of cruel deceit, you can give your heart to Jesus and He'll hand you a receipt; you can have a heavenly mansion, and can wear a jeweled crown; yes, from evil have protection, for your all in Him is found.

SCOUT PARENTS' NIGHT: EAGLE COURT OF HONOR

In an impressive ceremony conducted by Terry E. Robbins of the Arrowhead District Advancement committee, with assistance from the Troop committee of Hesson-Snyder Post 120, American Legion, flanked by his parents and scoutmaster, the honor of Eagle Scout was conferred upon G. Samuel Bower, who earned his rank while a scout in Troop 348, Taneytown, and has since risen to the post of Assistant Scoutmaster.

A crowd of 110 parents, guests, scouts, and leaders were gathered a week ago Thursday in the parish hall basement of Grace United Church of Christ for the second such affair in the history of the present troop.

Covered dish social preceded the opening of the program in the manner of a regular scout meeting by Assistant Scoutmaster Bower, who was, it is believed, unaware of the reason for the presence of the District official and Mrs. Robbins, as well as Scoutmasters G. Ralph Gorrell, Troop 321, Westminster, and Russell E. Hamme, Troop 344, Hampstead.

A demonstration of first aid by the Raccoon and Eagle patrols led by Patrol leaders Ricky Airing and Robert Miller was only the first in a series. The Panther patrol under the direction of Assistant leader Ricky Clingan and assistant, Samuel Cassell showed how to measure unreachably heights and to lay out a compass course, while the Flaming Arrows headed by Thomas West and by Assistant patrol leader Samuel Fleming explained the advancement program, displayed a chart of tests passed, and passed around merit badge sashes illustrating the broad field open to boys who tackle individual specialties upon attaining second and first class rank.

A message transmission by various methods of signaling was carried out by Thomas West and Martin in semaphore, then by Clingan and Airing in Morse by sound, while Donald Hahn, Eagle assistant, finished relaying the audience-provided message by wigwagging it, also in Morse code, to the scoutmaster. An exposition of knots, how to tie them, and their uses was the subject of the concluding Fox patrol skit which was dreamed up by James Frock, leader, and Philip Martin, assistant. The entire troop and several candidates present then participated in a knot tying relay using the eight most common and useful ones. The Foxes proved most adept at this contest. While the knots were being judged, a short game of the popular Steal the Bacon was played.

Mr. Robbins then called upon Committee Chairman Clarence A. Harner, Myron R. Tracey (pinchhitting for Committee Chairman Kenneth A. Bair, who was unavoidably absent), and Chairman Francis E. Lookingbill, who, with Scoutmaster Wilbur O. Thomas, were actors in the Court of Honor then convened. Upon being presented his Eagle award, the recipient bestowed upon his mother a miniature Eagle pin and received from his father, F. George Bower, the certificate of his new rank. Scoutmaster Gorrell ended the court by reciting an Indian campfire ceremonial closing and led the assemblage in the scout benediction.

Scoutmaster Hamme then showed a most entertaining 16-mm. movie on Philmont, the fabulous Scout Ranch in New Mexico, gift of the late Waite Phillips, which each Summer attracts expeditions of scouts from all over the country. Mr. Hamme will be leader of one contingent from the Baltimore Area Council in July, and Troop 348 hopes to have two or more scouts go with him for this once-in-a-lifetime experience.

Special thanks are hereby expressed to the Taneytown Rod and Gun Club, where the event was first scheduled to be held, and to Grace United Church of Christ, to whose parish hall the large advance response forced a most fortuitous shift.

Observations on the World of Sports

The power of positive thinking will be tested again this year in Philadelphia, home of the Phillies. From manager Gene Mauch on down to the batboy, and including the front office and thousands of Philly fans, there is a feeling that the team could be the surprise winner in the National League this year. General Manager John Quinn has added a little icing to the cake, also in the positive thinking area. Quinn says outfielder Tony Gonzalez can win the National League batting title. Gonzalez digested that statement when he was told about it, then concluded that Quinn might be right. The record book shows that Gonzalez hit .306 last year in 155 games. That was the eighth best mark in the National League. Tony does not turn on the ball. He doesn't pull often and when he does it's not with power. He hit only four home runs last year, all to the opposite field. Philly manager Mauch says that's all right with him. Gonzalez is 27 years old. He should be right at his peak or approaching it as a hitter. His .306 average of last year was 20 points behind the league leading mark of .326 last year posted by Tommy Davis. Tony has an excellent chance to boost his average 21 points this season, say to .327. But, of course, Tommy Davis can boost his also. In fact, so can a lot of other hitters.

There are two schools of thought in baseball on where a young, promising player should get the experience that he needs to improve his play. One insists that the minor leagues is the right place for a youngster with talent and no seasoning. He can play every day in the minors and if he's bright enough, will learn from his mistakes. Another and probably smaller school believes that you learn just as much in the major leagues by playing regularly and learning from your mistakes there. Of course, the flaw in that second theory is that no team with a chance to win the pennant wants to play a youngster who is learning his trade. A non-contender is something else again. The Houston Colts were not a contender last year and do not figure to be this year in the National League. That being the case they can go a long way with young players who have talent that needs polishing.

Probably the outstanding example of that type of player on the Colts is Rusty Staub. The 19-year-old player was in 150 games for the Colts last year despite his mediocre batting average of .224. The reason for keeping him in the lineup was his high potential. The same reason probably will keep him in there on a steady basis this year. Rusty is of the opinion that he will learn more by playing every day in the majors than he would in the minors. He says that he made a lot of stupid mistakes last year but he says he remembers his mistakes and doesn't think he will repeat them. Rusty plays both first base and the outfield. His manager at Houston, Harry Craft, was Mickey Mantle's manager in the minor leagues when Mickey was still in his teens. Asked to compare Mantle and Staub, Craft said Mantle had more speed and power but Staub appears to be a more consistent hitter and is not likely to strike out as much. That .224 average last year would seem to refute that part about being a more consistent hitter, but it was posted against major league pitching. Mantle at a comparable stage of his career was looking at minor league pitching.

The San Francisco Giants purchased Duke Snider from the New York Mets for use as a pinch-hitter and outfield reserve. The veteran outfielder can hardly be counted on for full-time service except for a week or two in an emergency. Duke should have some base hits left in the bats he took from New York to San Francisco. And if he produces them when needed the Giants will have made a good deal. The long-time Dodger star made no bones of the fact this spring that he wanted to be traded. He would have been about as much use to the Mets as another .200 batting infielder. The Mets already have the market cornered in that department. The only thing that Snider did for the Mets was to give them a professional look. The "Duke" managed to look better striking out than many of the Mets did getting a base hit. He fanned with authority. Too many of the Mets seem to have Lady Luck on their side when they hit the ball and it falls in safely. Snider, by the way, wants to be a manager. And that opens the door to some interesting speculation about the situation in San Francisco. Al Dark doesn't seem to be as secure in his job as manager of the Giants as he was two years ago. There is a theory in certain circles that the Giants have the best personnel in the National League and therefore should win the pennant. If Dark doesn't grab the brass ring this time he just could lose his job. And Snider will be available if anybody like Horace Stoneham, the owner of the Giants, happens to be looking his way.

Remember When Dept. — Opening Day 1954 — Vice President Nixon throwing out the first ball—that Joe Coleman caught bare-handed.

Today's Sport Laugh — At a recent baseball banquet in Los Angeles, a comedian introduced Frank Howard, the Dodger giant, and said: "Frank is so big when he reported they didn't know whether to give him a uniform or a license plate."

Ten Reasons Why I Am A
P.T.A. Member

1. To be a member of the PTA makes me just a little closer to my son, who means more to me than anyone else.
2. I am a property owner and hence a part of my taxes go to carry on the school program. I would not be getting all the possible benefit out of my tax dollar if I refused to belong to the PTA.
3. I want to be fair to the teacher who has pledged to help my boy to take his place in society some day. The PTA gives me the opportunity to give his teacher the cooperation she needs in helping him.
4. The PTA is a clearing house for problems that inevitably arise. By being a member, I profit by this opportunity for interchange.

MEETING OF CARROLL COUNTY BOARD OF EDUCATION

A regular meeting of the Carroll County Board of Education was held on April 14 in the Board Office with all members present. President DeVries R. Hering presided and the Board took action to approve the minutes of a regular meeting on February 12 and a short special meeting on March 17. Action was taken to consider the financial statement and approve the current financial transactions.

The Board accepted the resignations from a number of teachers effective at the close of the school year and that of James L. Butcher effective March 1. New teaching contracts were approved for: Mrs. Winifred Conner, Frederick W. Mueller, Mrs. Mamie W. Brown, Ellen Therit, Carol J. Hoover, Helen Foreman, Mary McLawhon, Anita Forewood, Janet A. Riley, John C. Blizzard and Mrs. Grace M. Davis. The employment of John C. Markle in the maintenance division was also approved. Miscellaneous actions were taken in connection with certificate adjustments.

The Board received officially, from the County Commissioners, a copy of the approved budget for the period June 30, 1964 to June 30, 1965 in which budget approval was given for the operating expenses, debt service and capital outlay expenditures anticipated and requested for this period. The budget approval permitted the payment of $5000 to qualified beginning teachers holding the bachelor's degree. The Board entertained a delegation representing the County Teachers Association who requested that further consideration be given to the establishment of a higher maximum salary in view of steps taken in several counties in this direction. The group cited approved salaries for maximum experience in Frederick, Harford, Howard and Kent Counties and Baltimore City. The group was advised by the Board that budget approval, as presently established, permitted the payment of $5000 to $7200 salary scale over a twelve-step plan. Discussion was continued on the issue and a number of pieces of correspondence were read to the Board from the Teachers' Association and certain parent-teacher organizations.

The Board acted to direct that a committee consisting of the auditor, the Superintendent and Assistant Superintendent give further study to the allocation of salary monies and present further report to the Board for consideration at a later meeting. The Superintendent was also directed to communicate with the County Commissioners requesting their support for a higher maximum salary schedule.

Hostetter Associates, the contract for the heating work to I. H. Crouse & Sons, Inc. and the contract for the electrical work to J. E. Shaeffer. Action was taken to approve contracts in connection with the Westminster Sr. High project as follows: General contract, E. E. Stuller Construction Co.; Plumbing and heating contract, Westminster Hardware Co.; and Electric contract, Mid-Town Electric Co. Consideration continued in connection with the Westminster Jr. High project and decision was reached to general contract to E. E. Stuller Construction Co., the plumbing contract to Westminster Hardware Co., the heating contract to J. E. Shaeffer Sons Co. and the electric contract to Mid-Town Electric Co.

The Board later considered the awarding of Western Maryland District Tuition Scholarships. After study of materials and full consideration, decision was reached to award the scholarships as follows: Taneytown District, Carol Joyce Piezonki, 4 yrs.; Uniontown District, Robert Preston Yingling, 4 yrs.; Myers District, Linda Carol Sofinowski, 4 yrs.; Woolery's District, John Daily, 1 year and Hilda Haines, 1 year; Manchester District, Alice Louise McGrew, 4 yrs.; Franklin District, Robert Haight, 4 yrs.; Middleburg District, Yvetta Brehm, 1 year; Union Bridge District, Marlin Ray Michaels, 4 yrs.; Vernon Lan-y Harkenbush, 1 year; Mount Airy District, Francis Laird, 1 year; Berrett District, Ellen Brooks, 1 year; and Walter Crouse, 1 year.

The Board acted to approve a recommendation of the Superintendent that permission be granted to close off the entrance to the Sykesville School when school is not in session since the construction of the Route 32 by-pass made the use of the school land and parking area seemed necessary.

A number of items scheduled for consideration had to be postponed to another meeting due to the large amount of important business conducted at this meeting. These items were tabled for consideration at the next regular meeting and included consideration of the outdoor education project, comparisons of expenditures between counties, use of buildings, and a number of other reports.

The Board was advised that no word was in hand regarding the outcome of the hearing with respect to the proposed southern high school.

After consideration the Board acted to approve continued use of the Pilot Life Insurance Plan for Pupil Accident Coverage.

Mrs. Margaret Marsh reported briefly on her visit to a number of California schools while visiting that state recently.

Approval was given for the purchase of certain items of equipment for the athletic track under construction at the Westminster Senior High School.

Earthbound Stars

Starring in this garden as it will in yours is an early-flowering aster named Blue Wonder. Resembling a chrysanthemum in form, it has incurved petals of luscious, bright blue.

Aster is the Latin word for star. At least one legend of the origin of the flowers we call asters holds them to be the tears of the goddess Astraea which fell to earth in form of stardust. For this reason our garden asters may be considered earthbound stars.

The latest asters to join this galaxy are a beautiful snowy white named White Perfection; a light lavender-blue named Sailor Girl and a bright rose named Burpee Rose. All of these varieties have double flowers at least 4 inches across and grow on tall plants, ranging from 20 inches (Sailor Girl) to 3 feet (White Perfection).

Delving further into the list of earthbound stars, there are so many types that a gardener could make a garden of asters alone. Curliclocks or Burpeeana Early asters are extra early in blooming time, starting about mid-July. The popular Queen of the Market blooms late that month. At the other end of the season, such asters as the lovely dark red, Heart of France and the type called Duchesse do not produce flowers until late August and early September, respectively.

In addition to varying bloom times, there are varying heights in asters — all the way from Color Carpet or Dwarf Queen, each of which grows about 8 inches tall, to the Giant Crego type, with blooms like football chrysanthemums, borne on plants a full 3 feet high.

There also are different forms of asters. Pink Peony, Blue Peony and Violet Peony have flowers with incurved petals like peonies. The Cactus-flowered asters have twisted, pointed petals and the Anemone flowered have several rows of guard petals surrounding a crested center. Pompon asters look like pompons, with small, round, compact flowers.

The aster color range is wide—white, various shades of blue-lavender and lavender to deep purple; many shades of pink and rose through deep rose and scarlet. But, in the Duchesse type, there also are yellow flowers.

Stars of many colors, forms, and blooming times on plants of almost any desired height—all are yours to make your summer garden gay with fresh, new colors.

The Right To Work

Lesson for May 3, 1964

Background Scripture: Luke 12:13-34;
16:1-13; 1 Thessalonians 4:9-12;
Devotional Reading: Psalms 127:1,2;
128:1-4.

EVERY WRITER knows that what he writes may never be read. Between the time these lines are being written, and are printed in May, it is quite possible that nuclear war lasting an hour or so only, will have wiped most of the people off this earth. To prevent such a war is of course mankind's present major problem. But even supposing—as we must, otherwise all writing would come to a stop—that

Dr. Foreman May will come as usual, and even supposing that no war of any kind comes any more, will that be the end of our problems? Of course not. Over-shadowed by the terror of the Bomb, older than that peril and no less real for not being played up by the newspapers, are many other problems calling urgently for attention. One of these is the problem of work.

"Work with your hands"

In the waters along the reefs and in the open sea around a small island there were lobsters and many kinds of fish. Every man on that island was a fisherman, and all of them prospered. Commercial fishing is hard work, but these men were not afraid of it. So winter and summer they were out there, never more than an inch or so from death, but earning cheerfully a good living for their families. Now there was one exception, a man who did not go out fishing unless the weather was just right to suit him, a poor fisherman who made his situation worse by spending much of the little income he had on drink. His neighbors did not sympathize with him. They saw it every day: hard work is rewarded, laziness brings poverty. This was in the depression, and the men of that island could not see any point in the then new schemes for helping the unemployed. They figured that being unemployed was a man's own fault and helping him would just encourage him to be lazier still.

A new problem

The world has changed. We face a different problem today. It used to be the question: How do you get a lazy man to do his share of the community's work? Now the question often is: How can you provide jobs enough so that every man will have the chance to work? A wealthy man was telling with some pride about two wonderful machines which his coal-mining company had recently put into operation. Standing in a quiet air-conditioned room, two highly trained radar men could guide machines, deep in the earth, in digging out the coal. Those two men with their electronically operated machines could turn out more coal than 28 men could before those machines were installed. Four men out of the 28 miners were kept on the payroll; twenty-four were fired.

What can we do?

There is no serious problem of unemployment in a fisherman's island. There is a serious problem of unemployment in America with its machine civilization. The Bible teachings about work can be obeyed in one situation, they cannot in the other. This is a problem to which the churches have paid very little attention, partly because they don't know what to say about it, partly because many churches are made up largely from management circles rather than of working men. (How many unemployed persons are in your congregation?) This writer does not know the answer. But at least it is time to suggest that from a Christian standpoint, there is something radically wrong with a state of things such that able and willing workers are denied the right to work, many of them for the rest of their lives. The next time you eat a meal, give a thought to those who can never earn a meal of their own.

(Based on outlines copyrighted by the Division of Christian Education, National Council of the Churches of Christ in the U. S. A. Released by Community Press Service.)

The world is approaching its end, no doubt, but while it whirls go on with your work.

Whenever you read of a miracle, believe it if you must but don't invest any money in it.

A VOICE FROM CARROLL

Soon after Spring arrives so does the pokeweed. Not everyone is an enthusiastic about pokeweed as Spring but it does have its good points, especially if you like to eat them, and many people do. Along with sulphur and molasses poke greens is considered by oldtimers to be the best Spring tonic in existence. We have our doubts about the medicine value of poke but we do know that poke greens can be compared favorably with asparagus and spinach. Just in case anyone would like to gather poke this Spring and fix it as a tasty dish of greens here is how you go about it. Cut the shoots when they are about six inches tall, boil them in salted water for 5 minutes, then pour the water off and start over again in fresh water. Cook until tender, season with butter or bacon drippings and serve as a vegetable. In case there is just one person who doesn't know what poke is we will make it easy for them to learn by saying its the plant that bears purple berries in the Fall that certain birds love, and our parents warned us not to eat when we were children. We never could figure out why birds could eat them and we couldn't. And even now we eat the poke stalk but we have never tasted the berry.

Religion, under the provisions of the Constitution and the decisions of the Supreme Court, is a completely private affair as it should be. Religions are a means of providing moral guidance to the individual. The acceptance of this guidance should be entirely voluntary. The individual who rejects all religion can remain a decent citizen by obeying the laws of the Nation and adhering to the principles of the Constitution.

Louisa May Alcott, at the age of 12, wrote in her diary one morning the following: Had good dreams and woke now and then to think, and watch the moon. I had a pleasant time with my mind for it was happy.

If someone asked me to explain Maryland I would simply say that what ever is right or wrong with it, put the praise or blame on the weather. In a matter of 24 hours the temperature can change as much as 40 degrees. No wonder there are such few radicals among us. The climate won't permit them to exist. Marylanders just do not have strong emotions for it takes a constant warm temperature to activate the circulatory system and agitate the mental processes. Maryland's weather doesn't believe in keeping the mercury column stationary in a weather thermometer. It likes to keep the mercury busy going up and down. This is the main reason why Marylanders have never been moved by oratory or causes. They are interested, sometimes amused and always tolerant of new people and new ideas. But the truth of the matter is, Marylanders are content with themselves, even with their weather. They may never lead a cause or become great but they live long and without stress and strain. The only stress is that of the elements waging a constant tug of war for possession of the skyways over Maryland.

For Rachel Carson this was her "silent spring" for she died last week in Silver Spring, Md., of cancer at the age of 56. But she leaves behind her a warning that man is poisoning his environment with pesticides and insect sprays. He is unbalancing the balance of nature by killing indiscriminately insects of all kinds and in the process is killing off wildlife and polluting the waters that are so necessary for man's very existence.

Her book "Silent Spring" is not fiction but facts and should be taken seriously by everyone who values his own health and life. Fish are dying in our rivers; birds are dying in our forests and all because of sprays. Farmers know first hand of how truthful is her warning, for this year in Carroll County some farmers were forced to sell their dairy herds because of spray used on grass fields. Cows eating the hay cut off the fields gave contaminated milk which was dangerous for human consumption. How many other foods are people eating that are also contaminated from sprays? Future generations may well owe their existence to the timely warning of Rachel Carson who so tragically died of a disease which may in time be linked with man-made sprays.

Our telephone company is changing to all-number dial, and the usual reaction of the customer to a seven digit number is either anger, frustration or profanity. One male, however, went down to defeat with proper dignity. Unable to repeat the number correctly after asking the operator for it several times, he finally said gently, "Never mind operator, I'll get the car out and drive over there."

During the past week we have been discouraging an unwelcome visitor from entering our house. He is the woodpecker that pecks away each spring on the west side of our house trying to build a hole for his mate. He begins his work each morning at 5:30 and continues until someone grows weary of the pecking and goes out to beat on the rainspout and frighten him off for a little while. But he soon returns to begin all over again. This sort of game has been going on for five springs now. The score is now four to one in favor of my spouse. Last year the woodpecker was the winner for in spite of a 24-hour vigilance by the head gardener, Mr. Woodpecker succeeded in drilling a hole and his mate raised a family in it. They were pretty sly about it for we never knew they were there until the fledglings were about ready to fly. After they left we covered the hole and painted over it, thinking they would not return. But Mr. Woodpecker has a one-track mind and it leads straight to the west side of our home.

If you are one of those persons who have a difficult time getting to sleep, try reading one of the many books on the subject. There are almost four hundred of them. There certainly must be one among the many that will fit your particular problem, although we confess the only thing reading at night does for us is to make us hungry.

Why is April such a weepy month? Surely there is nothing to cry about with the land so green and the flowers so gay. Maybe she is like a woman and cries when she is happy.

—Ruth Roelke.

IT'S A FACT!

Ancient Egyptians had problems with moth eaten clothes! Archeologists found woolen and silk clothes with moth damage—in tombs that were closed for centuries.

France's Louis XIV thought he found a way to keep moths away from his fine furs by dousing them with strong smelling perfumes. This only attracted more of them!

The best way to keep damaging moths from your clothes and rugs is to spray, sprinkle or hang Di-chloride moth products. Moths, eggs and larvae are killed and clothes completely moth-protected for a full year.
