As I entered the State Building to view the subjects of the exhibition of our late President Kenendy, there our late President Kenendy, there stood a bronze Bust on a pedestal and going up to read the marker this was it and a man from Foreign shores, "Augustine Herman" — 1605-1686. "Maker of the First Accurate Map of The State of Maryland!" He died in the year of 1686 in Cecil County. Then I walked back to the exhibition where there was quite a crowd viewing let-ters, statements and most of all so much doodleing of our late President. That convinced me that he must have been a very nervous man for I surely was surprised at some of that doodle-ing! The photographs and scenes all had been on TV many times before taken of course from life. The one object that attracted my attention was the famous rocker in which he spent many hours in his office. To my surprise, I read right there that it was presented to the President by his father. It was up on a little plat-form roped off with one policeman guarding it. The cushions were pre-sented by members of the Navy which were tan in color and had the Anchor Emblem Somehow I stood there as Emblem. Somehow, I stood there as though I was glued on that spot. There were many Catholic Sisters present. The entire atmosphere was like a funeral procession as the lines slowly moved to read the Doodleing! At times three abreast!

Even young teen-agers were reading important letters and no one was hurried in the least. They seemed to desire to read every word! There was something about that President—John F. Kennedy that was so different. You simply had to love him as a person even if you did not agree with all his policies. He was so kind at all times and loved children and animals. an his policies. He was so kind at an times and loved children and animals. Remember? Betcha, he would have never pulled a dog's ears to hear him yelp! Eh? And that reminds me as to "HIM and HER," a special letter was sent to me from the White House last week from one of the secretaries. last week from one of the secretaries in answer to my letter to the President stating that it was cruelty to pull any dog's ears!! However he did pull any dog's ears!! However he did it a number of times — not just once. For a 2-year old, there could have been excuses but not from a man 55 summers! The two most sensitive senses of any dog are the ears and nose for they protect any individual. It has always been with me, "LOVE ME — LOVE MY DOG!" Nuff sed! Returning from the Exhibition, I stopped at the "Town House" which is a grand restaurant at the corner of

The nice part is that you do not have to go down town to have a grand meal for it is so centrally located and as to meals. Well, Folks when I opened that door, I stepped into a room which I did not expect to see — all dark panelled with low lighting, flag stone flooring and beautifully air-conditioned. I thought I was in a city in France and at that early time of the day there were many diners. It has a beautiful reputation. The meal was Ummmm good! Wish I could have met the Chef! It the nice part each adult child now holds a position right there. Try it once, Folks and you will surely go back! "GRASS ROOTS OPINIONS"

RIVERTON, -WYO., RANGER: "Czechoslovakia provides an up-todate illustration showing the inherent weaknesses and miserable failures of Communism as a political and economic system. At the end of World War II, Czechoslovakia was a highly industrialized society. Its factories were less damaged than other European countries. . . . Over the past 10 years the Czech government has consistently invested from 30 to 35 per cent of the national budget in the economy. Billions have been spent on new plants. But maintenance costs increased geometrically with plant expansion. Quality of workmanship has fallen so low that last year $200 million worth of Czech products were rejected because of shoddy work. A rigid central planning system continues to turn out vast amounts nobody wants to buy."

DICKINSON, N.D., PRESS: "Major cities throughout the nation today are faced with parking problems in the cities' proper. Thus, shopping centers and other big business is making an exodus to the suburban areas. Shopping centers are able to offer virtually unlimited free parking and it's surprising what this can do to the small businessman, who in order to keep his volume is forced to stay open longer hours, resulting in a higher overhead. That's when the value of promotion and advertising is fully realized."

CUERO, TEXAS, RECORD: "For the first time in 164 years, Washington (D.C.) residents will vote for a President and a Vice President in November. The last time that happened was in 1800. Adoption of the 23rd Amendment in 1961 gave Washingtonians the right to cast ballots for their national leaders. However, they still do not elect local officials to govern District of Columbia af-

They would do this by liberalizing immigration from all countries. The catch is that immigration would not increase from the northern European countries (already these countries do not fill present quotas), but it would greatly increase from the poverty-ridden and lower standards countries."

As has been the custom for a number of years, the churches of Taneytown will hold union services on the Sunday evenings of July.

Robert S. McKinney left on last Friday evening for a visit of about two weeks to Sebring, Ohio, the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Thomson and Mr. and Mrs. Frank T. LeFevre.

The weather of the week was a combination of thunder showers, heat in the 90's, and extreme humidity:

The dwelling of David Ohler, on York Street, was struck by lightning and slightly damaged the roof and weather boarding; a shed on the farm of Thomas G. Shoemaker, near town, was damaged considerably.

The County Commissioners fixed the County tax rate last week, at 68 cents on the $100.00 of assessable property, as follows; 25 cents for public schools, 8 cents for court and magistrates and office salaries, 10 cents for county home, insane, paupers and pensioners, 11 cents for large bridges and state roads, 10 pers and pensioners, 11 cents for large bridges and state roads, 10 cents for county roads and small bridges, 4 cents for registration, primary and general elections. As the state tax rate is 31 cents, the total for state and county will be 99 cents on every $100.00. The total was 70 cents in 1911, 85¼ cents in 1912, and 93 cents in 1913, or an increase in 3 years of 29 cents, largely due to the extra cost of roads, primaries and elections.

Facts About Hospitals

It costs hospitals twice as much to care for a patient today as it did ten years ago. The cost has increased from $18.35 to $36.83 a day, primarily because of rising wages of hospital payagented. hospital personnel, new equipment

Hospitals employed 1,762,957 persons in 1962, a total of 66,825 more than in the previous year, making the field one of the nation's largest areas of employment.

For each 100 patients in a short term general hospital (one which admits patients with all types of illnesses), 237 employees are required.

All hospitals registered with the American Hospital Association spent $10,129,216,000 in 1962 to care for 26,531,365 patients. This is 7.3 per cent higher than in 1961 when $9,-387, 242, 000 was spent. However, 1,056,630 more patients were cared for in 1962 than in the previous year.

Nearly 100 million patient visits were recorded in 1962 in outpatient facilities, where patients are treated who do not require hospitalization.

Payroll expenses account for the largest expenditure in th of hospitals, accounting for nearly 67 percent of the total budget. Since 1952, the average payroll expense for each employee in a hospital has risen

Observations on the World of Sports

The rookie center fielder of the Chicago Cubs, BILLY COWAN, would like to meet the guy who first said that Cowan received a $55,000 bonus, to sign with the Cubs. Cowan says it isn't so. Not even close. He says the Cubs gave him $4,000 to sign after he was graduated from the University of Utah. Cowan remembers that when he played for Wenatchee, Washington, in 1962, his outfield mates were Danny Murphy and Nelson Mathews. Murphy was a $125,000 bonus baby Murphy was a $125,000 bonus baby and Mathews got a small bonus, but Cowan recalls with a grin that the three players were termed "The Quarter- Million-Dollar-outfield." Billy, by the way, is the only one of the three men still in the Cub organization. Mathews is with Kansas City and Murphy was traded to Houston. The Colts sent him to the minors. Funny thing about Cowan is that he went to Utah on a basketball scholarship. Although he played a lot of little league baseball, he did not play the game in his first three years in college, which covered two years in a junior college and three in Utah. Cowan played for the Salt Lake City of the Pacific Coast League last year and hit .315 with 25 home runs and 120 were betted in A manufacturer. 120 runs batted in. A manufacturer of playing cards for chewing gum tabbed Cowan the minor league player of the year. He is playing well enough for the Cubs so far this season to warrant a crack at Rookie-of-the-year in the National League. There was a time when it appeared that Bo Belinsky might have some-thing to teach DEAN CHANCE about life. But now it appears that Dean Chance could teach Bo Belinsky a few things about pitching a baseball. Both, of course, are with the Los Angeles Angels. Chance is rapidly assuming a leading role on the mound for the Los Angeles Club. Belinsky has been the same in and out performer as in past years. Chance looked absolutely tremendous a week or so ago pitch ing a two-hit shut-out against the Boston Red Sox. Chance fanned 15 men for a club record. The victory made Dean's record for the season, 4 and 2. The superb job of pitching 4 and 2. The superb job of pitching came one day late to help Dean celebrate his 23rd birthday. For the most part, he relied on his high, hard one. Incidentally, Chance also owns a shutout over the New York Yankees this year. He blanked them in New York recently. Dean has set a 20-game sea son as his goal, which is a shining one. For one thing he says he is stronger than ever before in his baseball career, and for another, he thinks the Angels are better defensively than last season. Twenty games is a goal not too often reached by 23-year old pitchers. But Chance has a chance. He is very fast and quite strong, and his control seems to be getting better all the time. Total those things and add some timely hitting and stur-dy fielding by his teammates and it just could be that Deal Chance will have 20 victories to his credit when October rolls around.

LUIS APARICO is off and flying in his bid not only for the base-steal-also for a new high personally. The Baltimore Orioles, for whom Luis patrols the shortstop area, have played over 57 games and he has stolen 31 bases. That's an average of roughly 90 for a full season, which would be a lot of thefts. Actually nobody has come close to stealing 90 bases in one season in the American League since Ty Cobb made off with 96 in 1915. Ty's record was the one Maury Wills broke in the National League two years ago. Aparicio's personal record of 56, was set in 1959, the year he helped the Chicago White Sox win the American League pennant. Luis would settle for 56 again this year if it would help Baltimore win the pennant. All things being equal, with no hobbling injuries and a fair share of hits to get him on base, Luis should go far above that personal high of 56 hits to get him on base, Luis should go far above that personal high of 56 this year. Luis is the perennial base-stealing king of the American League and one oddity about his great career record is the fact that he has never stolen home. He only tried it once and not only was he thrown out but he argued with the umpire and drew a fine of $50 for arguing not wisely fine of $50 for arguing not wisely but too well. That convinced Aparico that stealing home was a risky proposition. And besides that, he points out, there is an added danger — you might get hit with the bat. Remember When Dept. - The dead-

Today's Sport Laugh — Former Yankee pitcher, Lefty Gomez, recalls the time he visited the Yankee dugout to sell them uniforms. He asked Yogi Berra what size cap he wore. Berra took off his hat, looked at the band and said, "You mean what size I take now, or after I get in shape." -John Breth.

One of the names used by St. Paul in referring to the churc h is "household of God" (Eph. 2: 19). This word includes the mer aning "family"; the striking point is that Paul calls it the housely old of God. What other organizati on can a high dare to call itself by such name? Paul does not mean a to call the church perfect, co impletely e of the holy; but he uses som same words to refer to + he church that he uses in speal Christ and God. To put it another way ou traveled around the we meeting there are fewer than ha on (for there are fewer than ha a dozen nations without any Chaistians), you might expect to fin d these Christians to be a good deal alike. But the fact is, you would probably be struck with how different they are. Even if you look; into one congregation, say your own, what a variety of temperament, dispositions, abilities, and tastes you would find! What draws: these people together, what is 'the ce-ment that holds these orld-shaped stones in place? It is cer'tainly not the peas-in-a-pod likeness; that you might find in a college fraternity or the lockstep likeness of prisoners shuffling to bed. All, sorts and conditions of men make up the church. Why doesn't the church split a thousand ways? The fact is, it has split, too many ways. But even so, as you pass from denomination to denomination, from Protestant to Catholic, from liberal to conservative, there is still something that all these smaller groups share in common.

In our heritage Let's be brief on paper here, and leave the reader free to continue thinking about this for himself. One thing you will find in every church in the world-one thing that makes us all one, is that you can't even get into a church by telling the officers how good you are. You get in, and you stay in, by admitting that you're just not right. We call this "confession of sin," confession of the most serious failure a man can commit-not coming up to what God has a right to expect of him.

If we could say no more than that, the church would not have lasted long. But we can also say, and this is more important, that this great family is made up of those who admit their weakness and perverseness, and have asked the pardon of a gracious God, and have received it; and now, in Paul's words, "have access to the Father," through him-that is, Jesus. WISHBONE FLOWERS

The little-known wishbone flower or torenia is a lovely little plant, extremely useful in semi-shade. The bronze-green leaves on the foot-high, bushy plants are pretty in themselves. But the blue flowers are the real attraction.

Actually the upper petals are sky blue while the lower ones, often called the "lips", are violet blue. These two shades con rast with the flower throats which are yellow.

Unless torenias are grown in pots from seeds and the plants later slipped out of the pots without disturbing the roots, it is best to sow seeds where plants are to grow. Seeds will sprout as soon as the soil is really warm.

Summer care includes ample watering, spraying the surrounding air when it is dry, fertilizing occasionally and picking off dead or dying flowers. Do not try to cut sprays of torenia as it does not last: well in water and the plants look badly after parts have been cut off.

GOOD APPETITE

In the same way that a well arranged, attractive plate of food results in better appetite, so an attractive garden setting should result in more appreciative diners in summer.

Home economists claim that the appearance of food on a dinner plate has a great deal to do with how much a person eats of it and how good it tastes. A more attractive plate, with vegetables of contrasting color neatly arranged, results in a better appetite and a more satisfied diner.

The same principle should apply to the appearance of the immediate surroundings when a meal is served outdoors. In prettier and more colorful surroundings, a better appetite and more satisfaction

A little corner in a small backyard near the grill and the picnic table will not call for a great many flowers to make it bright and gay. Just a few packets of seeds ordered now and planted when planting time arrives in your area, will reward you with the proper setting for many a good meal, even though there's nothing fancy about the food that is served.

The Proofreader's Puzzle

When Rev. Jones decided to have his sermons printed and bound he didn't want to bother typing them out —so he dictated them instead. When the typesetter read the transcript, however, he discovered the good Reverend had omitted all punctuation marks. He was able to use his own knowledge of grammar until he reached the following sentence. How would you punctuate it?

That that is is that that is not is not is not that it it is. Answer: That that is, is; that that is not, is not. Is not that it? It is.
