Hope you and you will not miss Walt Disney's "MARY POPPINS," as I stated in a previous Column. When you see "Cherry Blossom Lane" as the curbans part and the delightful rains, you will love it and that smart gal, the Star of the picture, Julie Andrews.

Now, she comes up with another delightful one, "The Sound of Music." She appears in both pictures as though she is a real Irish girl through and through and she seems such a wholesome girl! The story is of a poor Governess who marries her poor Governess who marries her widowed employer who has a great who we employer who has a great-big family and they all love her im-mediately. The scenery, too is beau-tiful and you and you will just love that Maria (Julie Andrews). Don't miss it! There are two matinees— plus the Sunday one, too. Wednesday

Attending the concert at the Lyric the other night with Fred Waring and his Pennsylvanians was worthwhile and although "Father Time" surely has caught up with him, as all of us, he still has the charm and poise that was always his alone. The poise that was always his alone. The numbers were excellent and although his jokes now and then in between were old ones, nevertheless the crowded audience, brought out much laughter. The girls were beautiful and although I did not like the real short, short dresses (above the knees) in the first half, there were

"SCRAMBLED TIME"

At 2:00 A. M. on Sunday, April 25, 1965, America will start living again on "scrambled time."

This, the Committee For Time Uniformity points out, is because some 100 million of us will advance our clocks to Daylight Saving Time, while the remaining 85 million will retain Standard Time all year round or move to DST on another date.

Time confusion goes to fantastic lengths. An airplane, according to the clocks, may arrive at its destination before it took off from its point of origin. Trains, being held to Standard Time by law, are out of step whenever they arrive in a DST community. Some West Coast business men are just getting ready for lunch when the East Coast business day is over. In one of the states, there are 25 different combinations of dates on which community areas move to and from DST. In an Iowa town, the banks open on DST and close by Standard.

An impressive list of companies and organizations - representing transportation, broadcasting, banking, communications, agriculture and many other enterprises have associated themselves with the Committee For Time Uniformity. Numbers of government departments and organizations, including Commerce, Defense, Post Office, general services, the weather bureau, and others are also cooperating. The goal is to coordinate the efforts of all concerned and to bring about that uniformity through agreements and legislative action when and where needed. To risk a pun, it's high time this was BEDFORD, IND., TIMES-MAIL: "We came away from a leadership forum of the U.S. Chamber of Commerce. . . with the thought that business and industrial leaders of the nation must play a far greater role in political matters if this country is long to remain a great, free nation ... After listening intently to speaker, we became more convinced than ever that our private enterprise system and individual initiative and incentive are headed for disaster. So we asked this question of a distinguished panel: 'Have we become a nation of sheep, easily led, as opposed to a nation of people capable of thinking and acting for themselves, and do the sheep so outnumber the thinkers that there is little hope of slowing or stopping the trend to socialistic government?""

LISBON, N. D., GAZETTE: "There is a proposal to levy a tax on advertising. Tax advertising? Well, it couldn't possibly be that simple. . . . All advertising? Of course not. State government and its subdivisions would be exempt because any advertising done by governmental units would be in the nature of conveying information to the public, and therefore exempt. A sacred principle of our republic is the unrestricted freedom of speech, religion and press. In truth, legitimate advertising gives vent to all these freedoms."

Notice To Dog Owners

Several dogs have recently been coming to the Taneytown Elementary School, jumping upon children and creating a nusiance. One boy was nipped and as a result the Humane Society was called and asked to remove the dog. We have tried to locate the owners of these dogs, but so far have been unsuccessful. To protect the children, we are therefore giving notice to dog owners that in cases where dogs come to the school and present a persistent nuisance, the Humane Society will be called and asked to remove the dogs.

THE WAY I SEE IT ...

Observations on the World of Sports

One of the major points of interest at the training camp of the Baltimore Orioles in Miami, Florida, is pitcher; WALLY BUNKER. Visiting sportscasters and writers make it a point of tracking down this young right-hander soon after arriving at camp. This is quite a difference from last year at this time when most of the Taneytown United Presbyterian hurch—Rev. William M. Hendricks, for the change, of course, is that in the intervening 12 months Bunker has been transformed from an unfamiliar name among a score of un-familiar names on a list of Rookies to a sports celebrity. He turned this neat trick by winning 19 games in his first year in Big League Baseball.

If he gets any better this year, the Orioles may very well win the American League Pennant. To the delight of Oriole fans, Bunker says frankly there is no reason why he frankly there is no reason why he shouldn't be better. Wally points out that he has one year's experience be-hind him and he knows the hitters. The part about knowing the hitters is no understatement.

In Bunker's first major league game last year, only one player had a hit off him, and thereby ruined his chance for instant immortality. Bunker was so unfamiliar with the op-posing batters he didn't even know the name of the player he could blame. It happened to be Chuck Hinton, a name Bunker very likely will

Other than hoping to show the effects of one year of big league experience, Bunker says he doesn't plan on doing anything different this year. He says he will stick with the low fast ball as his big pitch. He used it almost 90 per cent of the time last year, and, since he did win
19 games, manager Hank Bauer
probably would lock him in the clubhouse if he tried anything else.
One thing will be different this year, however. Bunker will be in Raltimore's starting rotation from Baltimore's starting rotation from the beginning. He didn't make his first appearance last year until May 5th, when the season was three weeks

And, one thing more . . . Bunker no longer is a carefree teen-ager. Last year, he was 19 and single. This year he is 20 and married man. That, too, may make a difference.

lieves that few pitchers can be objective about themselves.

The Boston Red Sox may not break into the first division this year but they have some big strong guys firing the ball at their camp in Scottsdale, Arizona. Right-hander Earl Wilson says: "Three years ago everybody used to watch me. Now I'm almost embarrassed to fire away. Half a dozen guys in camp light a bigger

The manager of the Cleveland Indians, Birdie Tebbetts, says he walks five miles a day on doctor's orders. Tebbetts suffered a heart attack last year but the doctors have decided that moderate exercise is good for Moderate???

The new manager of the Red Sox, Billy Herman, has this to say about the job: "I'm convinced a manager has to be a Psychologist and a psy-baseman of the Angels, says he is going in for thoroughbred breeding on his ranch in Coushatta, Louisiana. The new coach of the San Francis co Giants, Charlie Fox, has one of the finest shower-room tenor voices in baseball. Charlie also will sing after nours when coaxed. Manager Herman Franks of th Giants has a goal for himself, 200 pounds by the start of the season. Herman is down to 209. He was pounds when appointed last Fall.

Lew Burdette of the Cubs says his old roommate, Warren Spahn, can still be a winning pitcher with the New York Mets. Burdette puts it this way: "The only question is whe-ther Warren can still field his position. He always has and I think he

REMEMBER WHEN DEPT.-Last year Ed Charles of Kansas City was a nightmare to Steve Barber of the Orioles. In three games, Ed was 3 for 3 with two walks, 7 r.b.i., two homers and a double.

TODAY'S SPORT LAUGH-Line packer Vince Costello of the Cleveland Browns says people always talk about the good old days, football players do too. He says: "I don't have any trouble telling the good days—those are the days when you win".

Tigers Sharpen Claws for South Penn Baseball Season - by JOHN BRETH

The Taneytown Tigers of the South Penn League held their first full-scale workouts at Memorial Park this past week-end in preparation for the start of the local baseball season on April 25th.

With twenty men reporting to fill the various positions on the club, Manager Bob Fogle was kept quite busy with many new players.

From the strength of the past week-ends work, manager Fogle said that the Tigers should have one of the best infields in the league and in particular, 2nd base should be the strongest ever

In spite of the somewhat chilly 45 degree temperature the boys went all out and there were no injuries reported. Among the standouts in early going were Walt Donahue. Taneytown's fine pitcher who looks as if he will have a real fine season. Art Caple, other pitcher for the locals, needs more work but will come around. "Scooter" Pfoutz the diminutive short-stop appears as great as

The impressive new comers are: Bob Reck, a stand-out second base-man; Morgan Storey — a possible answer to the other pitcher Taneytown needs so desperately—throws hard and brings a 13-2 record with Francis Scott Key High to the Tigers. Behind the plate, battling regular, Jim Head, will be Lonny Weaver who hatted a nifty 200 in high school.

who batted a nifty .290 in high school. As the Tigers went through batting practice, infield drills and running exercises one can't help but be impressed at the fine spirit that pre-vails. Taneytown has gotten a head start on the rest of the league as far as practice is concerned and will have up a full head of steam when the opening bell sounds on April 25th.

COMING NEXT WEEK - better coverage of the Taneytown Tigers on the "new" expanded sports page of The Carroll Record.

APRIL VIEW FROM MY KITCHEN WINDOW

Now the fields are sprinkled with robins, as April comes in smiling and fresh-faced, but trailing frigid winds and snow flurries left over from Winter. It is much too cold, really, to think seriously about gardening, even though onion sets have been on sale for some time. As a matter of fact, on several nights the temperatures have skidded down into the twenties out here in the rural area. But then, early April is a fickle time of the year, when even severe blizzards have taken place.

April signs her name with a flour-ish of daffodils, punctuated with blueish of daifodls, punctuated with blue-birds and red-wings, all of which are a part of my view this morning. The mischievous cats, Creampuff and Reddy, are also very much in evi-dence, as they nimbly scale the bud-ding Carolina Poplar, apparently con-vinced that the suet placed there is especially for them. Naturally, the birds take a dim view of such antics birds take a dim view of such antics, but it is they who win out in the end. The cats, deciding there must be an easier way to obtain refresh-ments, come hurtling down and head for their bowl of "Friskies."

Suddenly, two wild ducks fly up from the woods, and light in the hickory nut tree. However, before I can positively identify them, they are gone. Birds of this kind are not too plentiful around here and so it is a thrill to see and hear them. Down by the bridge, two rooster pheasants are engaged in a belligerent mating dance. Tails erect, they bob and weave, but at least for the present, do not exchange actual blows. This goes on for some time, until the tired warriors decide to move on elsewhere.

I feel a yen now to clean up the yard, for Winter storms littered it with branches. However, this task must be postponed until the days

This is truly the season when Na-This is truly the season when Nature steps forth from the tomb of Winter, just as our Lord stepped forth from the tomb of death. How fitting and appropriate that we observe Easter Sunday during this recurrent wonder of Spring-time resurrentiant.

-Zola Cantwell. A DELEGATE'S CONTRIBUTION

IT IS HEARTENING to learn that the Random House decision to establish its $3.6 million book distribution center in Carroll County was brought about in considerable part by one of its members of the House of Delegates, Jacob M. Yingling.

As an area sales manager for the book publishing company's textbook division, Del. Yingling apparently believes that he should act in the best interests of his employer. And, as an elected official, he apparently heliques also that he has employer. believes also that he has a responsibility to his constituents. Both viewpoints are refreshing in an era which seems to have spawned a prevasive philosophy of "what's in it for me. Even should we fail to achieve sponsorship of any major legislation for state or Carroll County betterment, Del. Yingling may find that his constituents will note the tangible evidence — in the form of payrolls — of his interest in his county when the next election rolls around.

The One Cross

Lesson for April 11, 1965

Background Scripture: Matthew 27:27-66. Devotional Reading: Romans 5:1-11.

It was nothing unusual for three crosses to stand on the place called The Skull. That was where crucifixions always took place. Hymns have prettified it, but the ugly fact is that it was the city dump, and criminals breathed their tortured last there, before their bodies were thrown into a common ditch and hastily covered up to keep the jackals out. So three crosses

Dr. Foreman were not an unheard-of sight. Yet how different were the three that April afternoon! Two were hanging there who were real criminalsonly one knew he was getting what came to him, and the other did not. But the third cross held a man who in all his life had done no wrong, a man whose hand had never been laid on any other man in anger but always in

Many crosses

To this day all over the world when Christian people say "the cross" they usually mean that central cross and the Man upon it. The Cross means, as it ought to mean, the cross of Christ. That form of capital punishment has long since been abandoned; we see no more such cruel sights upon our highways. The memory of the countless crosses erected by the Romans has long since vanished; yet that one cross remains, in song and story and

But on the other hand, is it not true that there are today many crosses,-crosses to look at, cross es of the mind and spirit? They are to be found on the counter of every jewelry store-and it does not prove that the jeweler is a religious man or a Christian. Crosses are used for ornaments on expensive gowns. They are used to decorate the interior of churches; yet there the minister is not always asked, but the architect is, How many crosses should we have, and where? This is not the true Cross; it was never an ornament.

Christians come nearer the meaning of the one cross when they speak or sing of the "cross of grief or pain;" or sorrows, suffering or death, or of lighter such as disappointments and frustrations, as "crosses." Yet-none of these things can be called the One Cross.

The true Cross

Through the Christian ages, there has been a kind of curiosity-seeking effort to find the "true cross," that is to say the acual wooden cross upon which Jesus died. The truth of the cross is not in wood, it is in the soul. And there are two meanings of the cross above all: tragedy and triumph. The Cross stands for the defeat of the Son of God. It is the tragedy of "but you would not" when Jesus would have gathered all men to him. It is the tragedy of man's saying No to the God of love. Yet in the true cross there is also triumph. It is the triumph of the God who in love refuses to take No for a final answer, the triumph of divine love over human stupidity, envy and hate. Christians have wept over the cross but they have never been ashamed

The True Cross

It would be a study worth making to think out the meaning of the three crosses on Calvary; each of them has a different meaning. But let us only think of that cross which stood at the center there, and has been at the center of man's heart ever since, wherever men have found the way of God. No other cross than this has revealed the love of God so fully, so movingly, so simply. No other cross has brought God and man together. In no other sign or symbol, in no other reality, is there the harmony, the atonement, between the holy God and un-

The Carroll County Board of Education is considering the establishment of a community junior college. One part of the curriculum would be a two year academic program at the end of which the student would transfer for the junior and senior years to a four year degree granting institution. Another part of the curriculum could be vocational offerings designed to prepare the students in various vocational and technical fields.

The junior college committee would like to have an estimate of the number of Carroll County adults interested in taking a course or courses at the community junior college beginning in the fall of 1966. Courses will be offered in the late afternoon and early evening. Please complete the questionnaire in this paper and return it to the Carroll County Board of Education, Westminster, Maryland, so that the committee will have an idea of the need.

CLOWN ON THE MOONDECK

One of the biggest attractions at the World's Fair is clown Emmett Kelly, Jr., who is always ready to pose for snapshooters at the Kodak Pavilion. He's usually to be found on the moondeck or lolling beside the fountain. In addition to picturing this funny man on the moondeck, many visitors are finding it an ideal vantage point for picturing rooms.

Movement is the essence of the Fair. Still camera users should remember that even with simple models they can get good pictures if they shoot with the motion coming directly they are them.

with the motion coming directly toward them, or moving directly away. The visitor with an adjustable camera will want to shoot using the highest speed that light conditions allow.

Take just a little time to look at the background before you shoot your pictures. If you are picturing a member of your family, look for a story telling background—one that will help background—one that will help say that you were at the Fair. Don't be afraid to vary your camera angles. Size up the scene in your viewfinder from a high angle, a low angle, from | questions.

You'll want to picture the fabulous architecture of the pavilions. Shoot building fronts from a three-quarter angle for better perspective.

Fountains are major Fair attractions. Sidelighting or slight backlighting will add to the sparkle of the water. If your camera is equipped for time exposures, try shooting the lighted fountains at night.
