The main portion of the manor house is three stories high. The top floor has a central hall which extends upward about 18 feet, forming a square cupola. Meade's staff kept a look-out on the gallery which ran around the cupola interior. Meade made his headquarters at the estate at the time of the Battle of Gettysburg, 12 miles away. The house has great double entrance doors, opening to a center hall where a magnificent staircase spirals the full three floors. Ceilings are 14 feet high and are ornamented with plaster medallions. Woodwork is a handsome example of the Federal style, and much of the hardware, door knobs, etc., are silver-plated, accord-ing to Previews. Two of the drawing rooms have gray marble fireplace mantelpieces carved by Wm. H. Rein-hart, famous Maryland sculptor who designed the doors for the Capitol in Washington. CHAMBER OF COMMERCE MEETS

COUNTY AGENT SPEAKS

The regular monthly meeting of the Taneytown Chamber of Commerce was held at Taney Inn on Monday evening.

During the business meeting it was decided to have made, at the Littlestown Foundry, five new CofC Wel-come signs. The one existing original sign will be used as a model. Upon completion, the old sign plus the five new ones will be placed on the four main roads leading into Taneytown as well as on the Harney and Uniontown Roads.

The guest speaker of the evening was Mr. Robert Jones, Carroll County Agent. Mr. Jones opened his remarks with the old axiom, "Civilizations rise and fall on things that are free." Water is one of these things. Obviously, the topic of Mr. Jones' remarks was topic of Mr. Jones remarks was water. He recalled that some 20 odd years ago he had heard Curly Byrd prophesy that water would become a major problem in Maryland in 20 years. This prophecy is coming true. Mr. Jones reported that Carroll County is not oblivious to its water problems with the related problems problems with the related problems of soil conservation and flood control.

To this end, a study has been en-tered into by the Soil Conservation Supervisors in conjunction with the County Commissioners. The purpose of the study is to formulate a plan for the development of the Big and Little Pipe Creek water shed. This, of course, would involve the erection of certain dams as well as the other aspects of water shed development. In addition to the other factors, he said, economic feasibility must be established.

Mr. Jones noted there are four major uses for a water shed. These are: flood control, municipal use, in-dustrial use, conservation and recreation

Mr. Jones concluded his presentation with the showing of slides of the area in question as well as a de-veloped water shed at Culpepper, Va. A question and answer session fol-

A question and answer session fol-lowed. The interest of the group was quite apparent by the many questions proffered to Mr. Jones. This is a matter of concern to all of us in Carroll County. We will do well to follow its development closely. Members of the Chamber are re-minded that notices of meetings are minded that notices of meetings are no longer mailed. Therefore, appoint-ment calendars for May 17 should be marked now. The time will be 6:30 P. M.; the place: Taney Inn.

A MATTER OF CONSCIENCE

The winter of Taneytown's discontent is over. In and around our fair community people are breathing sighs of relief as Spring finally arrives to brighten lives and landscape, and heaving sighs of satisfaction or resignation as work progresses on the Taneytown Community Swimming Pool.

The skepticism, the canvassing, the pressure, panic and publicity gimmicks are over. Only a few fund-raising events remain to be patronized and the promotional mailings have dwindled down to a steady stream of acknowledgment letters.

But with the easing of tensions and reduction in pressure brought about by the actual pool construction, public apathy about the project's need for more funds is again creeping into the corners of Taneytown's homes and businesses.

We have given generously; we've given far and beyond the wildest expectations of all but a few who guided the project from the start. But we still must give more if the Taneytown Community Swimming Pool can be opened to the public this Summer. And, those who have pledged to give funds must make their payments in full by May 1 if the Executive Committee is to be able to meet contractors' payment schedules on time.

Do we want an unfinished or unused swimming pool standing in Memorial Park as a monument to "the success that almost was Taneytown's"? Or, do we want a completed swimming pool, enjoyed by hundreds this Summer, vibrantly expressing the progressive, dedicated, determined pulse of Taneytown? Our consciences shall decide.

The four new officers were elected by the group at their April meeting which was held at the United Church of Christ.

In addition to the election of of-ficers, a hobby show was held. Mr. Hal Royer displayed his extensive coin collection. Mrs. Hubert Null demonstrated the art of caning stools and knitting, while Mrs. Walter Senft brought her collection of sugar and creamers and a hand-made quilt. Mrs. Ethel Baumgardner told of making shell pictures and vases and afghans Mrs. Zelma Kunkle's collection of ceramic cats was enjoyed by the group. Mrs. Clarence Putman showed her cross-stitch aprons and Mrs. Paul Warehime exhibited her handiwork and shell objects.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. Roy Kiser and Mrs. Alfred Zollickoffer.

The next meeting of the Taneytown Senior Citizens will be held at 7:30 P. M. on May 17 in the United Church of Christ. A special musical program is being planned. The Taneytown Senior Citizens group is co-sponsored by the Taney-town Jaycettes and the Carroll County YMCA.

DISCOVER LINCOLN LORE ON HERITAGE TRAIL!

More than a million vacationers are re-living history this year by visiting landmarks along the newly-dedicated Lincoln Heritage Trail. Illinois Governor Otto Kerner, a lifelong American history en-thusiast, is often considered host to the Lincoln Heritage Trail because of his formative role in its . commemoration

The 933-mile trail starts at Abraham Lincoln's birthplace at Hodgenville, Kentucky. Travel-ers, Governor Kerner points out, follow special trail emblems along the highways. (Each marker looks like a giant penny, event the head shows a vonneau except the head shows a younger Lincoln.) The trail winds through Indiana into Illinois, principal location of Lincoln lore, culminating at the state capital, Springfield tomb in Springfield. Other points of interest range from the two-story house near the center of the capital (the only home Lin-coln ever owned) to the fresh-water well that Attorney Lin-coln drank from between court sessions in Shawneetown. "Of special significance is the little town of New Salem, 18 miles northwest of Springfield on Highway 97," Governor Kerner points out. "Here, where Lincoln spent the shaping years of his life, 23 of the town's origi-nal buildings have been recon-structed and furnished with authentic reproductions or relics of his life, 23 of the town's origi-nal buildings have been recon-structed and furnished with authentic reproductions or relics of the time?" his lact look at the Mathematic Network horse, toward immortality. Chevrolet Impala Super Sport Coupe-one of two bucket-seated beauties for '65.

A highlight of the trip is a reverent moment at Lincoln's tomb in Springfield. Other points

People who buy other big expensive-looking cars get one thing you won't (big expensive-looking payments) standard you want to apply.

Width? Nobody builds a car as much as one inch wider. Length? It grew three inches this year. Roominess? Every closed model's got three inches more shoulder room, front and rear, and more leg and foot room up front too. Luxury? Nice little touches like the look of mellow walnut across the Impala's instrument panel. And big touches. Like the fineness of the same Body by Fisher workman-ship that makes some of America's most

It looks like a big car. And is-by almost any expensive cars look so expensive. How about the ride? Chevrolet engineers took the Jetsmooth one and smoothed it out even more this year. Also made it more stable by widening the wheel stance. Price? That's where Chevrolets fall way short of the other big expensive-looking cars. But we wouldn't have it any other way. Would you? ANNAPOLIS REPORTS

SENATOR O'FARRELL WRITES

The 1965 Maryland Legislature was the busiest in recent history. It pack-ed into 70 days more work than many past legislatures had done in 90. It was ready to wind up business at midnight March 30, the constitutional end of the session. Members had introduced 1,888 bills, considered and worked them over in committees, debated them on the floor and sent more than half of them to Governor Tawes for his signature. They included bills expanding the state's efforts in higher education, redrawing lines of congressional districts, giving counties more home rule, requiring inspection of used automobiles, correcting some recent problems in the insurance industry and broadening state activities in other fields that affect the everyday life of citizens. A host of negative actions on controversial issues that had lingered to the final day including legislative reapportionment, bridge-tunnel construction and regu-lation of interest charges on retail credit-detracted from much of the solid work that had preceded them.

Bills also enacted were: Two bills to give counties greater home rule powers, now that the legislature is facing a transition from rural to ur-ban control through reapportionment. Laws to more closely limit campaign spending by political candidates and require fuller reporting of their con-tributions. Enactment of a fair em-ployment law which will place under regulation of the state inter-racial commission a federal civil rights act provision outlawing discrimination in hiring. Metropolitan taxing authority for the City of Baltimore and the counties of Baltimore and Anne Arundel, if all three local governments agree to levy a sales tax. The bill provides the State Comptroller would collect the tax and redistribute it on a population basis. In the field of automobile legislation, more than 250 bills were introduced affecting motorists. The legislature approved a sys-ists. The legislature approved a sys-tem for state police inspection of used cars and also took steps to shore up the financial structure of the Unsatisfied Claim and Judgment Fund which pay claims against uninsured motorists. Also sent to Governor Tawes was a bill which would raise the amount a bill which would raise the amount insurance companies are required to pay into the UCJ from ½ to 1 per cent to 2 per cent of the premiums they collect in Maryland. This atoned somewhat for one of the biggest negative votes by the 1965 Legis-lature against a bill to require that motorists show windshield stickers as proof of insurance. It was a meas-ure designed to catch those now evad-ing a $70 payment into the UCJ fund in lieu of insurance. A bill passed requiring registration and bonding of auto dealers and salesmen, allowing auto dealers and salesmen, allowing dealers to retain up to 2 per cent of the titling tax they collect, the same way merchants now cover their costs for collecting sales tax. The Elementary School Teachers Bills providing a lunch break from Bills providing a lunch break from their young charges will have to wait another year until the matter is studied further. The Senate Finance Committee has asked that the Taxa-tion and Fiscal Affairs Committee of the Legislative Council study the problem and report back to the 1966 Legislature Legislature

This will be the last of the legis-lative reports for this year and I hope you found this information to be somewhat helpful. If I can be of any help to anyone during the year, please feel free to call upon me.

Comments have been made by some about this column and about others written by Democrats. Most assuredly, this article, as well as the others, is written as a public office holder, reporting the activity and functions of Government to the people who have elected him, and not as a parti-san political writing. Almost all the public is interested and entitled to know what his elected official is do-ing. An informed public is certainly a much wiser public. The party af-iliation of a representative in Cov. filiation of a representative in Gov-ernment should not determine whether or not he should be able to make a report to his constituents through any media. Viewpoints expressed on controversial measures in this column are discussed on the merits of the issues, not upon partisan politics. Most con-stituents not only want to know how you voted, but why. I think they are entitled to have this information.

SWEET AND LOW

Sweet alyssums now come in colors as well as white. This varie-ty, named Pink Heather, is a soft, almost lavender-pink.

with the same fragrance and many-colored flowers.

There are many times when a plant that is sweet smelling and low growing is the perfect answer to the problem of what to plant to border a bed or higher planting near an outdoor living room. Fragrance is, of course, most desirable in such a situation. Fortunately there are annuals which are both sweet and low.

Notable among them is sweet alyssum, now available in pink, rose and violet as well as the O'Day, Royal Carpet, Violet Queen and Violet King are the names of the colored varieties,

A VOICE FROM THE HOUSE

Governor Tawes has now signed into law more than 600 Bills that passed both Houses of the Legislature. There are some other Bills yet to be signed, and some other Bills yet to be signed, and some, undoubtedly, that will be vetoed. About thirty laws were passed which pertained specifi-ally to Carroll County. A brief sum-mary of the Carroll County Bills follows follows.

A number of Bills were introduced passed repealing, clarifying or and technically amending existing local laws for the County for the purpose of the new publication which will contain in book form all Carroll Coun-ty Laws. This publication was also authorized by a law, and will repre-

Many cases have been filed from time to time in which no costs have ever been paid, even though the expense of docket antries sheriff's costs and of docket entries, sheriff's costs, and other expenses are made. These Bills will assure at least part payment of the costs by those who file suits. Other laws passed relating to the authorization for Court stenographers and secretaries.

Four laws were passed altering the Alcoholic Beverage Laws of the Coun-ty. After June 1, 1965, a restaurant Wm. M or hotel meeting certain specifica-tions may secure a Class C beer, wine and liquor license at a cost of $1500.00 if it is operated in property assessed by the tax assessor at a value of no less than $20,000.00. Another law provides that no one engaged in the selling of alcoholic beverages at retail may have in his employ a person under twenty-one years of age. The restriction providing that package Edwa goods stores shall be located in only filed certain districts in the County was erty. removed, and placed at the discretion of the Liquor Board. Fees for trans-fer of licenses were raised from $1.00 to $50.00 and made non-refundable.

This law provides that the founty Commissioners may exempt founty fount County Commissioners may exempt farm machinery and livestock from taxation at any time, but that in any event, they must do so at a rate of at least 10 per cent per year until it is fully exempted.

For example, Carpet of Snow grows only 4 inches high. Slight-ly taller is Little Gem which may reach 6 inches in height. A tetraploid form named Snow-drift grows 10 inches tall while the common sweet alyssum, Alyssum maritimum, reaches a foot in height.

The older sweet williams are a bit tall to be classed as "low," but a new variety named Wee Willie grows only 5 inches high. If you haven't grown this tiny pink, try it this year. It will de- or amethyst,

Sweet peas also are sweet and low, though perhaps you didn't realize it. If you are acquainted only with the tall-growing sweet peas, introduce the Bijous to your garden this year. They grow like tiny, foot-high bushes and are available in mixture or with flowers in separate colors of salmon, rose, scarlet, white is striking. We

Dr. Foreman to a commonplace world, mostly without miracle, indeed a world too much like our own to be comfortable, a & humdrum Monday-morning kind of world. And yet this is the charm and the value (one charm and one value out of many) of the Old Testament for us. It shows how religion has to do with everyday affairs of life.

Preaching to a nation

At the time our story opens, or rather at the point where we drop in on it, the Hebrew people had never been a nation in the modern sense. That is, they had been an informal group of tribes, about a dozen in all, once living in the wilderness and before then living as slaves in Egypt. They were tied together by a common ancestry and a religion which they violated about as often as they practised it—but government in the organized way they had never had. There had been national heroes but no national officials. But you can't run a nation with heroes . (Our own great soldiers have not always made the most efficient Presi-dents.) The country the Hebrews then occupied was small, about the size of Vermont, and it was not difficult to get a representative meeting from all the tribes in one place. Such a meeting was in progress when our study begins. The great man at that time was Samuel, a priest, prophet and military leader. Men listened to him and respected him as no other. They had come to ask him to set up a government "like other nations," partly for military necessities (Samuel was growing old) and partly for national status. What is notable here is that Samuel, a preacher as all the prophets were, did not say to these Hebrews: "Sorry, gentlemen, but my specialty is religion. You have asked me to help out in a political situation, and religion and politics don't mix." Not at all. Samuel preached to the nation about the nation.

April is the month for dia-monds—and what girl doesn't dream of getting one, particularly in an engagement ring? Since your diamond will be a life-time purchase, it should be chosen with considerable care. If you are thinking of buy-ing, or even eying, a diamond, ing, or even eying, a diamond, here are some important things about them you should know. • Choose a reliable jeweler. Tell him approximately what you intend to spend and then be guided by the 4 C's—carat, cut, color and clarity. CARAT is the unit weight used for diamonds. It is divided into 100 points, like cents in a dollar.

a dollar. CUT refers to the shape of the stone and the placement of facets to catch the light and make the diamond sparkle. The popular shapes are round, emerald-cut, marquise, pear, beart shape and oval. One cut is not more expensive than an-other, but the quality of the workmanship affects brilliance and price. COLOR. The traditional engagement diamond is clear and colorless, like a drop of water. The "whiter" the diamond, the more valuable it is. CLARITY means absence of carbon spots, bubbles or other imperfections. A diamond that shows none of nature's blemishes to an experienced eye under a glass that magnifies ten times is called flawless and is priced accordingly.

Ask your jeweler to show you your diamond under magnification. He will be glad to explain how the 4 C's contribute to the beauty of your diamond. That beauty, and the sentiment behind it, will make you happy with your diamond

Prayer for a nation

This vigorous public-minded prophetic preacher also, as was only logical, prayed for the nation about to be born. Here again is a word for our time. We are living under strange circumstances, when courts will not allow us to offer prayer for the country — or anything else — in our public schools. This is close to saying that the only proper places for prayer are in the home and in church.

But we can still pray for our country. Do we, really in school, in church,-anywhere pray for America, in public or in private?

National religion

The founding fathers of these United States had seen the evils of a religion backed up by government support; and they wanted religion in every form to have as much of an opportunity to live and be spread as any other religion has. They did not want a national religion in the sense of a nationally supported denomination. But that the nation should be irreligious was farthest from their intentions. At any rate, when Samuel prays for his people, he prays most especially that they may keep the Ten Commandments. What difference would it make in American life if every one observed the simple Ten Commandments? We can't be called a nation that has outgrown them; like the ancient Hebrews, we have never lived up to them. But supposed we tried
