New Optimist Club of Taneytown

It is expected that the formal organization of the new Optimist Club of Taneytown will begin within the next two weeks.

Members will be notified directly as to the time and place of the meetings. Optimist Clubs consist of men of good character from all types of employment and business who desire to work toward the improvement of their communities and to aid and assist in the development of youth.

Charter membership in the new Optimist Club of Taneytown is especially desirable. These men will elect the first group of officers and help establish the policies of the Club. Men in the area who are being contacted to become charter members have been recommended to the Optimist Club of Reisterstown-Owings Mills, however, after formal organization of the Optimist Club of Taneytown, membership to the club will be by invitation and acceptance only.

ADLAI STEVENSON DIES IN LONDON

Ambassador to United Nations Succumbs to Heart Attack

Adlai E. Stevenson, the voice of the United States at the United Nations since 1961, collapsed on a London St. Wednesday and died. He was 65 years old. In Washington, the government received a report from the American Embassy Wednesday night that Stevenson died of a heart attack.

His death saddened much of the Western world, which had regarded Stevenson as its forthright spokesman in debates at the United Nations where he clashed often with Soviet Union spokesmen.

President Johnson, ordering all U. S. government flags to fly at half Staff, commented: "The world of freedom and human dignity has lost its most articulate champion."

Wealthy from family business, Stevenson had served in governmental jobs for more than 20 years and was active in preliminaries leading to formation of the United Nations.

He won the Illinois governorship in 1948 by an unprecedented majority, sweeping a state that had chosen only three other Democratic governors since the Civil War. He went on to become the Democratic nominee for president in both 1952 and 1956, losing both elections to Dwight D. Eisenhower.

Stevenson is survived by three sons, Adlai III, a member of the Illinois Legislature, Borden, of New York and John Fell of San Francisco. Their mother, Ellen Borden Stevenson, was divorced from Stevenson in 1949, after more than 20 years of marriage.

In Washington, the State Department announced Francis T. P. Plimpton, Stevenson's U.N. deputy, will temporarily succeed him as ambassador. Plimpton, 64, has been deputy delegate since 1961.

President Johnson named a delegation of distinguished Americans, headed by Vice President Hubert Humphrey, to fly to London Wednesday night on the presidential plane to accompany Stevenson's body home.

The ambassador's three sons and two daughters-in-law were to accompany the delegation. Stevenson's eldest son, Adlai III, announced in Chicago Wednesday night that funeral services probably would be held in his father's native Bloomington, Ill., Monday with burial in the family plot at Bloomington.

County Commissioner to be Appointed

After various requests from the citizens of Carroll County on the vacancy now existing in the County Commissioners Office, I would like to state my position on this appointment. The Republican County Commissioner to fill the office recently created by the resignation of Justus Denner. This appointment is the responsibility of the Republican State Central Committee of Carroll County which has to be presented to Governor Tawes for his approval, then in turn, he issues a commission for this appointment.

As Senator of Carroll County, I will then have the privilege to accept or reject this appointment at the coming session of the General Assembly whether it be a special session or the regular session. I have been advised by the Secretary of State's Office that Mr. Robert M. McKinney's name has been submitted by the Republican State Central Committee of Carroll County.

Mr. McKinney has requested that the Commission be not issued until August 1 due to his previously planned trip to Europe and not returning until the last of July.

I am looking forward to having this office filled and hope this will help the people of Carroll County to understand why this Appointment has been delayed so long.

Sincerely yours,
Senator Thomas R. O'Farrell

NEW TELEPHONE DIRECTORIES

The new C. & P. Telephone directories are on the way. Subscribers in Carroll County will soon be receiving their 1965 issues. Mr. R. B. McNelis, manager for the Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Company of Maryland, announced that distribution of more than 17,000 directories is scheduled to begin on July 15 and continue through July 20.

Continuing growth in the county is again illustrated by the number of listings appearing in the new directory. In 1965, more than 14,200 listings are included in the book, as compared with 13,900 in the previous edition.

Mr. McNelis pointed out that for the first time a "Pink Dialing Guide" will be included as one of the front pages in the directory and that the book's cover will be devoted exclusively to "Numerical 1 long distance dialing hints." He stated that continued use of these dialing aids, by telephone users, will make calling faster and more accurate.

Also, the front pages of the new book contain other helpful information on use of the telephone and provides space for recording such emergency numbers as those for fire department, police, doctor and ambulance. Mr. McNelis called attention to page nine, which lists by payment agencies establish in various convenient localities to save customers a trip to the main telephone business office.

LIONS CLUB HELD FAMILY PICNIC

The annual Taneytown Lions Club Family Picnic was held Tuesday night at the Taneytown Memorial Park. The affair was well attended by approximately 75 members and guests. The delicious food and drink was served cafeteria style by committees consisting of members of the club and their wives.

While the children enjoyed playing on the playground equipment, the members and guests enjoyed their fellowship together.

Donald Lawyer, our new Lions Club President, held the first Board Meeting of his new term after the meal. The Taneytown Memorial Park is certainly a wonderful asset to the community, in which the Lions Club appreciates the facilities.

"Open Letter to the Editor"

Carroll County Commissioners
County Administration Building
Westminster, Maryland 21157

Gentlemen:

The Carroll County Civic Association, Inc., firmly desires a good comprehensive zoning ordinance for Carroll County with proper enforcement. This voters' association was entrusted by its members to form a committee to work with appointed advisory committee members to study, investigate, evaluate, analyze, and test empirically, all sections of each draft; further, to recommend improvements and give an honest appraisal of the zoning drafts. This appraisal was made on the basis of taxation, and future growth and orderly development of the County.

The CCCAI zoning committee has carefully studied all drafts presented, with members on the advisory committee, and have done extensive investigations and handed in extensive recommendations, based on these studies and investigations. Thus far, only minor changes have been made in the second and third drafts. The purpose of the ordinance—to promote the basic health, safety, morals, and general welfare of the community—is not being met. The fundamentals involved in protecting the citizens of Carroll County have been ignored. The recommendations of the people made at public hearings have been ignored. The recommendations of experts in governmental agencies have been ignored. The experiences and mistakes of surrounding counties have also been disregarded. The advisory committee, as well as this Association's zoning committee, have used six months of their time, energy, and money only to have their intelligence, experience, and training disregarded on major issues.

After reviewing the third draft, we cannot, with all integrity, recommend that this draft is beneficial to the citizens of Carroll County. It establishes restrictions on land uses and yet does not protect the individuals. These restrictions tend to accentuate rather than minimize the problems of the individual.

Being dedicated to civic betterment, we realize the need for good zoning that is an instrument of protection; however, we cannot stand by and permit the adoption of an ordinance that ignores the principles of a democratic society, without voicing our criticism.

To be more specific: unless the procedures for the hearings before the Zoning Board of Appeals is published at the same time the zoning ordinance goes into effect, neither the board or the people will be protected. It must be stated in Section 17.2 (page 69 of the third draft) that procedures for hearings before the Zoning Board of Appeals are published at the same time the ordinance goes into effect, and will be adhered to at all hearings, by all parties and/or their agents from the date the ordinance is adopted.

This is only one example of many instances throughout the draft that leaves decision based on interpretation. We must insist that all regulations be specifically and clearly stated, so as not to rely on the arbitrary interpretations of the Board or other agents.

We once more submit our list of recommendations, calling particular attention to the starred (*) items.

Sincerely yours,
Ann W. Tarkinson,
President.

VIEW FROM MY KITCHEN WINDOW

After days of hot, dry weather, the rains finally came, and this morning the country-side looks freshly-laundered and much refreshed. The corn, especially, stands firmly erect, each green soldier saluting smartly in the breeze. This most basic of all crops was, I thought, suffering acutely from the burning drought. For so many summers now I have seen the stalks roll up and turn a scorched-looking brown. Yet, miraculously, it always produces—perhaps not as bounteously as in good seasons—but always something.

There are people like this, too. No matter what suffering or misfortune arises, they stand firm and their lives are productive, sometimes richly so. For instance, Beethoven, the famous German composer, wrote some of his greatest works while totally deaf. Handel, another composer of renown, suffered financial bankruptcy, a paralytic stroke, and finally, blindness, yet he gave the world some of its most glorious music, including the Messiah. John Milton, considered one of the greatest writers of English literature, was blind. Helen Keller magnificently overcame both blindness and deafness, and has inspired people everywhere. And who knows how many unknown men and women each day go quietly about their daily tasks, wracked by pain, infirmity and despair, yet who never give up?

As I look out once again to the green-glowing corn field, I am convinced that the growing things and humans alike, are possessed of this fierce determination to overcome obstacles, to survive no matter what. It is all a part of the armor which God provides to help fight life's battles.

"SPICE 'N' EVERYTHING NICE" (Your Chatty Column)

With all my heart, I wish you every morning. A smile that shall last until the next day's dawning. I wish you health—life's greatest wealth; I wish you always near so that I may help to cheer. Each future day and in some way—help to bring you happiness!

Reading in the paper the other night that Motorcycling Sport is gaining in stature here and that it is now being adapted by the social set, taken up by students, homemakers, commuters and even whole families brought back the motorcycle ride which I had in Philly when I was 18!

A young Dr. was calling on me and he had purchased a very racy looking one with "Bucket Seats." One evening, in fact the first night he had it, he called on me on the 'phone to be ready that he was taking me for a ride of a short distance in this new contraption. As he did not know just how to run the thing, he brought along a friend who was an expert. When this Dr. arrived at the house, I told him that somehow I did not want to go. My Dad called down from the library, "Dr. if Irene says that she does not want to go please do not insist!" The Dr. was most convincing and looked up to my Dad at the head of the stairway and said, "We will only go for a short ride, Dad!" And I foolishly went against my judgment which even at that time, I had presentiments. We were seated in the "Bucket Seats"—one on each side of the driver's seat and it felt most comfortable and the driver did not go fast. We were heading out Diamond Street to Fairmount Park and were going along at a pretty good clip and there were many automobiles heading in the same direction. It started to drizzle and I said, "Oh, let's go back!" About another block, the wheels skidded and threw me over on the side of the road with that heavy apparatus on top of my legs!

Cars stopped of course and the Dr. and the driver ran to me to raise the motorcycle and, folks I thought my limbs were off for there was no feeling in them whatsoever and I felt if they were still attached to my body! I did not faint and the Dr. just looked at me trying to raise me to place me in a car. He was directing the driver to take me to a hospital until I said, "No, I would rather go home!" Such a time they had to get me in that car is something that I could never describe here as my limbs were useless!

However, the driver of the Motorcycle led the way and I kept saying to myself, "Don't you faint, for you never fainted in your life!" The Dr. realized of course and that was the chance he had of holding me in his arms telling me over and over again that he should have listened to me when I did not care to go. Then I saw big tears in his eyes! I kinda thought he was fearful of facing my Dad!

It took the two men plus the driver of the Motorcycle to lift me out of that car, up those brown stone steps into the house. My Beloved Dad called down, "Well, you did come home early!" And the tremor in my voice as I said, "Yes" startled my precious Mother who came running down those steps. She saw what in a minute and looked at my feet as they were in the same awkward position when they placed me on that bench of that old-fashioned hall rack (as they called them in those days). Mother was having quite a difficult time to remove my shoes and when she did, the swelling was terrific! I would not permit my friend to do anything for me and of course the family Doctor was called and Michael and his friend, the driver left. I was on crutches six weeks thereafter but I did manage them beautifully all but walking up the steps when I would attempt to do so on my knees and I still can hear my Dad say, "Oh, My Pet if you only did not have to come up like that!"

So each time, I see a motorcycle I think how fortunate I was! And now here is a funny story which was told to me the other day. A wife said to her husband, "John, you did not give me any present this year for my birthday!" "Well" said the husband, "You did not use that cemetery lot I gave you last year!" So long, folks until next week D. V. Be kind to one another!

I am.

Faithfully,
YOUR OBSERVER.

RUN ON THE BANK

So far, the stressed goal in the war on poverty program has been aid to the Appalachian region. However, says Senator Cotton of New Hampshire, six more Appalachias are being considered, among them the Deep South, northern New England, and the Ozarks.

The Senator goes on to say: "The fly in that ointment is that it's like a run on the bank. The funds will be long gone before many in line reach the window. This is especially true of Uncle Sam's bank which is deep in debt to the tellers."

In other words, the administrative costs of such programs have a habit of biting deeply into the funds provided. One sometimes wonders if the principal beneficiaries aren't the armies of bureaucrats, some very highly paid, who manage to jump on the bandwagon.

Beyond that, ending poverty demands far more than any conceivable government program. The long-range, lasting cure is an expanding, vital and vigorous economy which eternally creates more jobs and opportunities.

INVALUABLE PROTECTION

A spokesman for the Chamber of Commerce of the United States has something of unusual interest to say about the drive to repeal section 14(b) of the Taft-Hartley Act—the section which permits states to adopt Right-to-Work laws. Last year, he recalled, Congress passed a law outlawing job discrimination on the basis of color, race, religion, or sex. But now, he went on, the present Congress is debating "whether to legalize discrimination in employment because of membership or the lack of membership in a private organization—a labor union." It will be interesting to see how Congress can double-talk this issue.

It is difficult to see how anyone could reconcile repeal of 14(b) with Congress' previous legislative action. To discriminate against a man because he does or does not want to join a union is certainly as bad as to discriminate against him because of the color of his skin or the church he attends. No man is free when the right to earn a living is conditioned upon forced membership in any organization.

A good union has nothing to fear from 14(b). It will gain and hold its membership on the basis of services rendered. But when membership is compulsory, there is no need to provide good and effective service—the rank and file are helpless. Right-to-Work provides them with an invaluable protection.

"GRASSROOTS OPINIONS"

ROCKVILLE, MD., MONITOR: "What this country needs . . . before it drops more billions of tax dollars into welfare and antipoverty programs . . . is for someone to come up with a few clear, concise answers and/or illustrations on just what, if anything, these astronomical billions are buying and/or accomplishing. Federal-state welfare programs alone currently are costing us in the neighborhood of five billions a year. Something like 41 separate antipoverty programs which will cost the taxpayers 15 billions in 1964 are in the hands of six separate Federal agencies."

ELLCOTTVILLE, N. Y., POST: "It's ironic, but the Congress can spend weeks debating a poll tax voting bill, but spends only a few days considering a medicare bill. Guess they figure, easy come, easy go."

SAN JUAN BAUTISTA, CALIF., SAN JUAN MISSION NEWS: "The 1965 forest fire season is almost upon us, and State and national forest services remind all of us that the FIRST item on the agenda is PREVENTION!"

EL DORADO KAN., TIMES: "The Federal Aviation Agency has taken pains to let it be known that jumping from an airplane without a parachute is a breach of regulations. This is a step in the public interest, all right. If there's anything that will keep people from indulging in this sport, it is knowing that it violates FAA rules."

FAULKTON, S. D., RECORD: "Government in business usually operates at a loss and competes with private industry. We have occasion to know that here at the Record office because the government sells printed envelopes. Now it develops that in the past four years government envelope printing has resulted in the $7,500,000 loss. You and we have had to underwrite that loss, Mr. Taxpayer. It's just peanuts for the government but the envelope business that the post office gets would improve our business substantially."

KEMMERER, WYO., GAZETTE: "The location of any economic activity such as the production of fertilizers is, in a free market economy, governed by the various factors of availability of natural resources, labor, supplies, distance to and size of the markets to be served. Whenever a governmental decree upsets the balance by arbitrary heavy subsidization of any of the cost that go into the process, the balance of the whole economic structure is upset. Government should not have the power to select one process over another, or more particularly, to select any producer for special favoritism. Any deviation from this fundamental principle means planned economy by the Federal government and leads to ultimate destruction of our free market economy in America."

INDIANOLA, MISS., ENTERPRISE-TOCSIN: "There is no law in (the) United States against Communism, says the President, and it is still a Free Country. We fail to understand why we have no law against Communism in this Country and still send our troops into foreign nations to give their lives fighting something that is allowed at home."

ISANTI, MINN., NEWS: "This packaging bill now before Congress links me to the point of anger as an individual and as a housewife. If the market has 8000 items on its shelf all different sizes and shapes of packages—I appreciate it. If as a housewife I am not intelligent enough to test products, read the labels and shop for even some of the more expensive packaging if it suits my time and purpose—then, I am not bright enough to be entrusted with the family shopping money!"

LAKE CITY, S.C., TIMES-HERALD: "Public welfare should be a vehicle for raising the standards of the recipient, not a reward for indolence and depravity, says Judge Juanita Kidd Stout of Philadelphia. . . . I have the deepest sympathy for the good mother struggling to bring up her children on a welfare grant. . . . But I deplore a system that regards the handing out of checks as its prime function, that subsidizes the lazy and immoral home with the taxpayers' dollar. . . ."

"Good old corn field — about the only thing left that can be shocked." —Ernest L. Henes, Wellington (O.) Enterprise.

"Wherever you turn nowadays you find progress stymied by the curse of too much government." —F. E. Kummer, Eaton (Colo.) Herald.

"Good manners are shown by being able to put up with bad ones." —Terry J. Carlson, Sykesville (Pa.) Post-Dispatch.

MY DUTY (by Earnest Thompson)

Just to be faithful in things that are small
Just to walk steady where others may fall
Just to be willing if Jesus should call
This is my duty to Him.

Just to be friendly to those I dislike,
Just to act kindly when others would strike.
Just to keep busy with things that are right:
This is my duty to Him.

Just to drive somebody's darkness away,
Just to make brighter the world of today,
Just to strew flowers along life's pathway,
This is my duty to Him.

Just to let Jesus have perfect control,
Just to know daily His Grace makes me whole,
Just to have heavenly peace in my soul;
This is my duty to Him.

THE WAY I SEE IT . . .

Observations on the World of Sports
—by John Breth

It is generally agreed that the Baltimore Orioles cannot mount a strong threat for the pennant unless they get good pitching. And it is almost as well accepted that they cannot operate behind good pitching unless WALLY BUNKER does some of it.

WALLY BUNKER

The youthful Wally won 19 games last season and while the Baltimore front office probably did not expect as big a year this time they were hoping for a 15-game season . . . or something like it.

But Bunker was bothered by an ailing shoulder all through spring training and into the regular campaign. The doctors told him that the trouble probably could be cleared up by cortisone and might go away without any injections. Bunker decided to wait it out. But when he was unable to win in the early weeks and wasn't doing much in the bullpen he finally asked the team doctor for some cortisone.

The improvement was immediate. A couple of good relief jobs got Bunker a parole from the bullpen. A workmanlike start against the Los Angeles Angels was followed by a shutout against the same team.

The big question is . . . will the cure be permanent? Will Bunker return to the form that saw him win 19 games last year? If he does hit that kind of winning stride the Orioles are likely to get into stride with him and make a big move toward the top. If Bunker slumps again, however, it will make the climb toward the top that much tougher for the Orioles.

Manager Billy Herman of the Boston Red Sox says about his star outfielder, CARL YASTRZEMSKI, "He could lead the league in batting 5 years in a row. He has one of the great natural swings of his time." Carl undoubtedly would appreciate those kind words but he's not thinking of leading the league 5 years in a row . . . not yet.

Right now he would like to make it two out of three. Carl led the American League in batting with an average of .322 in 1963 fell off to .289 last year. And it was a hard-won .289. He was far below that for most of the season and had to fight hard in the closing months to bring his average up.

OWLS MAINTAIN JINX; TIGERS BOW

Taneytown Collects 7 hits in Losing 5-2

Carl didn't care much for that performance and worked hard over the winter to get ready for the 1965 season. He worked so hard, that with exercising steadily and playing a lot of one-on-one basketball, that he was ready for the starting bell in Feb.

He has been slugging away at a merry clip this season and promises to make a strong bid for another batting title.

Carl has cut down on his strikeouts and says he never hit better than he has in the last month.

He is pulling the ball more than he used to do and he says one reason for that is he is seeing it better. That's hardly a question of eyesight, more a question of concentration. Carl was determined to have a good season this year.

Carl plays both left field and center for the Red Sox but obviously is more at home in left.

For a time this season he was bothered by rib and kidney injuries but he is over them now.

REMEMBER WHEN DEPT.—One of the most effective pitchers against the Orioles through the years has been Dick Donovan; with the Indians, the White Sox and again with the Indians he has a lifetime record of 17 wins and 7 losses.

TODAY'S SPORT LAUGH—Sports-caster Joe Garagiola and the new coach of the Mets, Yogi Berra have always been close friends. The other night Joe was talking about Yogi at a dinner. With the Mets, Joe said, "Yogi got to see something he rarely saw before . . . the bottom of the ninth inning."

Taneytown lost its 7th straight game to the New Oxford Owls over the past two seasons last night on the Old Mill Diamond by a score of 5-2. "Buck" Sanders, tall leftie for the Owls, maintained the jinx held by his team mate, John Harner, as he held the Tigers to but 7 hits including a triple by Tiger catcher, Jim Head, who got the only extra base hit of the game for Taneytown.

In the first frame, New Oxford collected two runs off Walt Donohue who surrendered his first earned runs in two months of work. It was plain that the Tiger ace just didn't have it. His successor, Morgan Storey, fared a little better in relief.

Taneytown rallied from a 3-0 deficit in the third inning on a triple by Jim Head and a sacrifice fly by Neal Hoffman. The Tigers got their only other run in the 7th frame on a single by Arvin Bollinger, who stole second and then went to third on the bad throw to second. He tallied on Neal Hoffman's base hit.

All in all, it was just not the Tiger's night; Erratic base running, pitchers getting shelled, great catches by the opposition to break Tiger rallies, and so on.

Sunday's rain-out game will be played this Saturday at 2:00 P. M.

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

Dear Editor,

The front page photo of Mrs. Florence Sonntag in a recent issue of the Woodward County Journal of Woodward, Okla., is our idea of a dramatic news-picture in these days when everyone everywhere is fretting over descending water tables and we read that the world must soon find a practical means of converting seawater into fresh if its various populations are to survive. Mrs. Sonntag, a grandmotherly type, pioneer resident of northwest Oklahoma, is shown holding the forked ends of a willow stick and walking intently over a bare field.

As reporter Robert E. Lee describes the scene:

"She grasped the forked stick in both hands, palms up. The butt of the stick stood out from her hands horizontal to the ground."

"She appeared intensely absorbed in the work as she started forward, one slow step after another. She stared straight ahead, much as if she was daydreaming."

"Suddenly, the stick swung down—so violently that the butt end slapped her skirt."

"There's a water vein right here," she announced. "A strong one. I can't even force the stick back up." She appeared to be fighting the forked stick. The muscles in both hands strained to pull the stick from its downward position, while some unseen force—like a pair of invisible hands—pulled it down. . . ."

Fascinated by this experience, Mr. Lee made an extensive study of "water-witching," reading books, both "pro" and "con" on the subject and discussing it with all who might have experience or worthy opinions. "There is," he concluded, "no middle-of-the-road thought on water-witching. Either you believe in it or you don't."

Mrs. Sonntag discovered her powers in 1932, reports Mr. Lee, when another "water-witcher" offered her his divining rod and told her to try it. Since then, the story says, she has brought in 35 to 40 wells—with no misses. In one case, a well-driller found it inconvenient to drill over her peg and set up his rig four feet away, only to dig a dry hole. Moving over to the stake, he produced a well that today, years later, is still flowing.

Mr. Lee says that most of the U.S. water-witching is done in New England these days, where it is called "dowsing." He quotes Kenneth Phillips as the "Down East" authority on the subject.

"The man who sneers at the dowsing rod today would have scoffed, 50 years ago, at radio, television, and jet planes that travel at supersonic speeds."

All in all, we do not see how it would do any harm if the young ladies in our high schools were given divining rods to work with instead of batons to twirl. Perhaps dowsers could work even better if half-undressed?

New Assistant Attorney

General for Maryland

Attorney General Thomas B. Finan today announced the resignation of Roger D. Reddin as an Assistant Attorney General of Maryland. Mr. Reddin, who is 32 years of age, will return to the private practice of law with the firm of Smith, Somerville and Case, of which he was recently made a partner.

In announcing the resignation, Mr. Finan said of Mr. Reddin: "He is, in my judgment, the most outstanding young lawyer practicing in this State. His loss will be keenly felt."

Mr. Reddin, during his tenure as an Assistant Attorney General, handled many of the most difficult and complex assignments in the Attorney General's office. He was counsel to the Registers of Wills of the counties and of Baltimore City, the Clerks of Court, the Board of Public Works, the State Treasurer, the Military Department, the Bank Commissioner and the Board of Motion Picture Censors. Mr. Reddin was instrumental in drafting Maryland's new motion picture censorship law which was enacted by the General Assembly of Maryland at its 1965 Session.

Attorney General Finan further announced that Thomas A. Garland would replace Mr. Reddin as an Assistant Attorney General. Mr. Garland, who is 29 years of age, is a graduate of Loyola High School, did his undergraduate work at Loyola College and graduated cum laude with the Bachelor of Laws degree from the University of Baltimore in 1959, being awarded membership in the Heuveler Honor Society. From February, 1959, to August, 1960, Mr. Garland served as a Law Clerk to Judge Joseph Allen, formerly of the Supreme Bench of Baltimore City, and now City Solicitor of Baltimore City. From August, 1960, to April 1965, Mr. Garland has been an associate in the law firm of Mylander & Atwater. He is married to the former Mary R. Ruff of Baltimore and resides with his wife and five children at 8115 Barksdale Rd., Towson, Maryland.

CUE FOR HEALTH

DENTISTRY'S UNSUNG HEROES

The science of tooth care is an ancient one—going back to the early Greeks who had pincers for pulling teeth much like our modern forceps. Long before the Middle Ages, Avicenna, an Arab scholar, had discovered methods of filling cavities and deadening the pain of toothache with drugs made from herbs.

In the 17th century, a Dutchman, Anton, van Leeuwenhoek, invented the microscope and discovered the presence of bacteria in the tartar that forms on teeth. But for all this early development, the fact is that the past 200 years have given us more ways to take care of our teeth than all other ages combined.

Today, every mother can give her family an advantage unknown to our ancestors—a lifetime of fewer cavities. New Cue Toothpaste with Fluoracton—the latest in cavity-prevention, can give a lifetime of fewer cavities when used in a program of regular check-ups, watching between meal sweets, and brushing after meals with Cue.

IT'S A FACT!

The history of bonus gifts dates back to ancient Rome. A cosmetics maker of the day offered a "gold-mounted tooth of a Hyrcanian wolf," guaranteed as a charm for winning love and guarding the wearer from evil spells, with each purchase of its product.

Bonus gifts first reached America in 1851 when a soap company offered a "bonus" for 25 laundry soap wrappers. The "extra"—lithographed pictures of animals, children and nature scenes, soon found their way into millions of American homes.

In 1915, William Jennings Bryan used premiums to further sales of his newspaper, "The Commoner." He offered razors to men and gold-plated scissors to women with every new subscription.

Today, premium gifts are more popular than ever. Galaxy and Alpine Cigarettes, products of the Philip Morris company, offer gifts ranging from a St. Bernard puppy to a trip around the world—redeemable for coupons from the back of the pack.

Growth by Struggle

Lesson for July 18, 1965

Background Scripture: Romans 7.
Devotional Reading: Romans 8:1-10.

SAINT PAUL undoubtedly knew what he was driving at when he wrote the seventh chapter of Romans. But few chapters he ever wrote have stirred so much discussion as this one. Two questions have given trouble to Bible scholars. 1. Was Paul writing his own experiences or is the "I" here a dramatic way of expressing universal human experiences? 2. Is Paul describing the Christian life, or the life of a man who only became a Christian later? Let us leave these questions for the books. Let the reader make up his own mind about it if he can. Let us take three main thoughts which this chapter suggests to the writer of this column. They are (we hope) true thoughts and may be just what Paul was meaning to say. If not, we pray pardon from the God of all mistaken men.

Dr. Foreman

Christian life is struggle. Last week we gave some thought to the fact that the life of a real Christian is a life of battle and effort. It is not a matter of quiet silent growth of the spiritual life. A race, a climb, a fight, this describes it better than quieter words. A big point in this chapter, and it is a big point in experience too, is that the struggle is not between me and my enemies, but between me and myself. I am my own worst enemy. No one else can do me the harm I can do — and have done, perhaps — to myself. No one and nothing else is as much to blame for my failures as I am personally responsible. There is something in me which wants one thing, and another something (or is it someone?) within me which wants just the opposite. It is a constant struggle between my best and my worst, between Christ in me and the devilish me; between the Me that knows very well what ought to be done, and the Me that stupidly or stubbornly won't do it. It is a fight that tears me right down the middle, a fight that no one else perhaps can see but which I dread every day, because it goes on every day. One "I" makes promises the other "I" won't keep; one "I" makes resolutions the other one tears up with a laugh and throws into the waste basket. Which is the real one? Who's in charge here?

The struggle gets me down

"The juvenile delinquents that grew up to be dirty old men" — that's the trademark of a couple of comedians. It sounds funny, but it really isn't. Many a juvenile delinquent can't be anything else but a dirty old man. That is the easy thing to be; he can sink into that state of life without trying at all. That is always one way to get out of a fight: run away. Many a man gets so tired of the constant inner grinding civil war with himself that his better self just quits, stops fighting entirely, lets the worse self have it. (Why doesn't the worse self give up sometimes? Well, sometimes it does — but more of that in a moment.)

Reinforcement for Victory

How was it, in 1776 and all that, that the poor, weak, divided American colonies defeated the armies of the British Empire? Well, they didn't. By themselves, the colonies would have been licked, indeed were licked all over the place. But when we persuaded the French to come over and help us, we began to get somewhere. With France as our ally, victory became almost a sure thing. So it is with the Christian's struggle within himself, against himself. Fighting alone, he weakens, surrenders and loses. With the right ally and fellow-fighter, he takes heart and wins. This is no mere human reinforcement, though it is always good to have sympathetic friends. The great victory-bringing ally is none other than the Son of God Himself. He is invisible but ever-real inner Companion and Champion.

Do-It-Yourself Ice Cream Party Is A Natural For Teens

Variety is the spice of a teen party, and what could be easier than setting out a selection of ice creams, toppings and sauces, and let the gang help themselves? Have as many different ice cream flavors as possible (the kids would settle for a choice of twenty-eight), plus such toppings as nuts, crushed mints, shredded cocoanut, fruit salad and syrups, syrups, syrups.

What ice cream flavors to choose? At the Howard Johnson's restaurants, a mecca for teen-agers for 39 years, it's the more exotic numbers that tempt the ye-ye set. Pistachio, burgundy cherry, peppermint stick and black raspberry—or a curious combination of two or more of these way-out flavors, have more appeal than the old conventional standbys. Those ice creams which are crunchy with nuts, such as the new and lusciously smooth Swiss chocolate almond or maple walnut or butter pecan are also really rated "top".

The syrup flavors chosen to glorify an ice cream can sometimes be wild. Blueberry sauce on chocolate chip, for example, or marshmallow syrup over raspberry sherbet are combinations which have been known to appeal to the 12-to-16 year olds. Some of the concoctions, in fact, that teen-agers put together can make an adult turn green. And sometimes the suspicion crosses the adult minds that that's the purpose behind it all.

SWIMMING POOL SAFETY TIPS

Whether you already own a pool, or hope to build one some day (more and more middle-income families are taking the plunge), these protective pointers from Johns-Manville, producer of Celite filter aids, may keep you from "getting in over your head."

Keep swimmers out of the pool for at least one hour after meals.

Always keep a life preserver handy—an inflated inner tube is fine.

Filters must be cleaned every 3-10 days. Clogging of diatomite filters—the type used in most pools—can be prevented by proper pre-cleaning with diatomite filter aid.

An adult should be present whenever the children are in for a swim. For neighborhood kids, make an informal rule that all small children must be accompanied by an adult.

Electric lights in the pool area make night swimming safer.

Keep water well-chlorinated to fight growth of algae and bacteria.

NULL AND CORNETT REUNION

The Null and Cornett reunion was held Sunday, July 4th 1965 in the Riverside Park. Everyone enjoyed a wide variety of delicious food. Following the picnic lunch a softball game was played by the men and women. We hit so many flies we had to get a fly bomb to bring them down. The only fly I caught was in my stomach which was hit by the opposing team. The score was rather one-sided, 23-3.

Many other games were enjoyed by the children and adults. The game leader was Mrs. John A. Cornett. There were contests and prizes given, donated by Mrs. John Cornett. Prize winners were as follows: married most years—Mr. and Mrs. S. P. Kelly, Arlington, Va.; married least years—Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Eyer, Thurmont, Md.; youngest child present—Larry Humerick, Jr., Thurmont; couple with most children present—Mr. and Mrs. John Cornett, Taneytown, Md.; traveled longest distance—Mr. and Mrs. Larry Cornett and family, Norfolk, Va.; oldest lady—Mrs. Mamie Null; oldest man present—Lloyd Eyer, Thurmont, Md.

Officers were elected to serve two years and are as listed: president, Mrs. John Cornett, Taneytown; vice-president, Mrs. Charles Stonesifer, Westminster; secretary, Mrs. Lloyd Eyer, Thurmont, Md.; assistant secretary, Miss Charles Baird, Westminster, Md.; treasurer, Mrs. Charles Livesay, Taneytown, Md.; assistant treasurer, Mr. Larry Cornett, Norfolk, Va.; charge of games, Miss Sharon Cornett, Thurmont; and Miss Pam Livesay, Taneytown; historian, Mrs. Richard Wilhide, Clarksburg, Md.

Those present were: Mr. and Mrs. John A. Cornett, Taneytown, Maryland; Miss Sharon Cornett, Mr. and Mrs. Larry Humerick and son, Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd I. Eyer, all of Thurmont, Md.; Mrs. Mamie Null, Mrs. Margaret Null and 2 sons, Mr. and Mrs. Forest Cook and son Greg, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Bankert, Westminster; Mrs. Marion Wilson and daughter Linda, Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Cornett, Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Wilson and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. John Cornett and family, Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Baird and sons Ronney and Tommy, all in the area of Westminster, also Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Stonesifer and family; Mr. and Mrs. Richard Wilhide and 3 children, Clarksburg, Md.; Mr. and Mrs. S. P. Kelly, Arlington, Va.; Mr. Wilbur Cornett, Baltimore, Md.; Mr. and Mrs. Charles Livesay, Taneytown, daughters, Pam, Coleen, Mr. and Mrs. Mitchell Livesay, Taneytown, Md.

In the afternoon, following previous events, a Hymn Sing was held. Mrs. Charles Livesay, Taneytown and Mrs. Charles Stonesifer played string music, accompanied by singing. The two sang and played for our enjoyment. Everyone enjoyed more feasting before leaving for their homes. Plans are being made for next years reunion—so until next year, respectively,

Sec., Mrs. Lloyd Eyer.

LEAVES IN HISTORY

As early as the 1500's, the first known tobacco "factory" was operating in the West Indies. Natives twisted tobacco into long coils of rope, then rolled it on wheels.

In the 1850's the wheel method became obsolete. Leaves were then shaped by hand into "lumps" and used for chewing and smoking.

Today, modern machines can produce 1,200 cigarettes a minute. But some of the early hand work, such as removing the stem and midrib from each leaf, remains in many factories.
