Scout Paper Drive in Taneytown this Sat., Nov. 13

A scrap drive for rags, newspapers and magazines is set for this coming Saturday, November 13, in Taneytown, when Boy Scouts of Troop 348, sponsored by Hesson-Snyder Post 120 of the American Legion, will cover, besides Taneytown itself, the roads to Mayberry, Copperville, Key Village, Bridgeport, the Baptist Rd., to Starner's Dam, and the Harney Rd. to Piney Creek bridge. Well-tied bundles will promote speedy handling in the short time available for these large collections. In case of unsuitable weather which would prevent starting, a new date will be announced.

Patrol Contest
The inter-patrol contest is drawing to a close, only some advancement records remaining to be entered, and the lead has shifted from the Raccons and Foxes to the Eagles, of which Donald Hahn and Harold Wantz are the leaders. The final scores will be announced shortly.

Board of Review
Three Scouts, David Fleischman, George Stonesifer and Harold Wantz, were advanced to Second Class rank at the Board of review conducted November 1 by Chairman Francis E. Lookingbill, Robert K. Miller, Jr., and Robert F. Wantz of the Troop committee and two attained the rank of First Class Scout, Hahn and Jack Howarth.

Program
The most recent troopwide activity was attendance at a Kid's day Baltimore Oriole baseball game; the second program item, scheduled for November, is a swimming evening at an indoor pool.

Knot tying, Kim's game, and Mapping symbols were themes at the last three meetings, and for this week's Wednesday meeting another member will select and supervise another subject from Scouting's innumerable store. Charles Barnhart and Leroy Reifsnider have passed their Tenderfoot tests and been reviewed by this Green-Bar group.

Paper Collection
Scouts able to help with the scrap drive Saturday are requested to report promptly by 7:30 A. M. In the event of early and continuing rain, a new collection day will be publicized.

A FARM-WIFE'S THANKS

I may not have much money,
My bank-account is nil,
But God has given me the stars,
And trees upon the hill.
My clothes may not be stylish,
No fashion plate am I,
But God has given me the moon,
And deep-blue depths of sky.
My dwelling place is humble,
The furniture's not new,
But God has given me a field,
That sparkles with the dew.
My deeds are not recorded
In stirring words of praise,
But God has given me a heart
To thank Him all my days.

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

Dear Mr. Stonesifer:
Due to our mutual responsibilities, and also as co-sponsors of the "KNOCK-OUT LOCKJAW PROGRAM," we would like to offer the following material for publication. From it, we hope that residents of Taneytown and surrounding areas will benefit by becoming more aware of the reasons for, and the importance of tetanus immunization.

Modern day medicine, primarily through the use of vaccines, has all but ended any epidemic threat of the diseases that were once thought to be virtually incurable. For example, since widespread inoculation with vaccines has reduced the incidence of acute poliomyelitis—75 per cent; influenza—90 per cent; whooping cough—96 per cent; and diphtheria—99 per cent. Yet tetanus remains today as one disease that HAS NOT had any reduction in its occurrence, whatsoever. In fact, in the last twenty years, more than 400 cases a year are still reported, not to mention the unknown number that aren't. Compare this number with the total of 12 tetanus cases reported for the entire combined U.S. Armed Forces during World War II (9 of the 12 had never been immunized in any way).

Even though tetanus is not the mass killer, smallpox once was, it causes an unpleasant and very painful form of death. To date, there are no drugs available which can halt a fully developed case, and 60 per cent of those reaching this stage end in death.

The lethal tetanus bacteria, which produces one of the most powerful poisons known to man, are found everywhere—in farm soil, city grout, household dirt, and even in hospital operating rooms where it can be tracked in on the soles of shoes.

The various ways by which the bacteria invades the body are made easily available whenever the skin is damaged. This means anything from a bruise to a compound fracture, and would even include the puncture made by an insect-sting. Although, in approximately four per cent of the cases, just how the infection occurred could not be determined, since no wound of any kind could be found. Curiously enough, almost all of these cases were discovered in male children living in rural areas.

Once within bodily protection, the tetanus bacteria may lie dormant for as long as ten years before releasing the disease causing poison. More often though, the poison, so potent that a thin coat on a pinhead could cause several deaths, would be released soon after infection occurs. It then spreads toward, and in a short period of time, attacks nerve centers causing convulsions and muscle spasms, some of which are so severe that the victims have even been known to fracture their own backbone.

Yet all of this can be completely immunized. But in the United States, where hygiene is generally good, most of us begin to take immunity for granted and, consequently, allow ourselves to become more susceptible to infection. This problem is becoming quite troublesome, simply because millions of people have not maintained their immunity. Millions more have never been immunized at all.

Immunization against tetanus may be obtained by one of two equally effective means. Of the two, the one preferred is the tetanus toxoid inoculation, which also is the one administered at all of the local county clinics. The principle reason for preferring the toxoid is because of the absence of allergic side reactions when it is used. However, life-long immunity from tetanus is not possible. After the initial immunization

"SPICE 'N' EVERYTHING NICE" (Your Chatty Column)

With all my heart, I wish you every morning a smile that shall last until the next day's dawning.
I wish you health—life's greatest wealth; I wish you always near so that I may help to cheer.
Each future day and in some way—help to bring you happiness!

DEAR OBSERVER:- I hope that you can advise me as to the following. Now when I take an aged Spinster out for a drive as she lives alone and is a very lively disposition type of a person. She will suggest that I stop here and there before we go on the drive which is usually way out of the way. I object to this, so could you tell me just what to say or do? Signed H. A. C.

Dear H. A. C. — Why not state the fact that you were not going in that direction and as traffic is so heavy it puts you to a lot of inconvenience. —Your Observer.

DEAR OBSERVER:- I am 18 years of age and engaged to a wonderful Guy but I really don't know what to do. Since a child, I have always met the bed and therefore I will not set a date for my wedding. Please help me. Thanking you! Signed, M.

Dear M.— If you send me your address, I will send you a personal letter. Why not go to your family doctor for that can be corrected! Try this: do not drink any water after 5:00 o'clock and that goes for coffee or any kind of liquid. Don't worry for that can positively be remedied! —Your Observer.

DEAR OBSERVER:- I am not so good looking and am 19 years of age. When a fellow takes a girl out today, the girl has to be a real wrestler. Why do I will not permit necking and etc. Why do fellows act this way? Signed, Maggie.

Dear Maggie — Good for you; so, when Mr. Wright comes along be sure you will appreciate the kind of a girl he is marrying! —Your Observer.

DEAR OBSERVER:- I will soon be coming out of the Service and expect to get married in April. My girl is a Beautyician and she wants to keep up the job after we are married to which I object. I want to go into business for myself, opening a little grocery store and thought that she would help me. She evades the subject when I bring it up in letters as we both live in the East. Any suggestions? Thank you! Please sign me a Soldier in California.

Dear Soldier — The best thing to do is to await until you return and have a real understanding so as it will be a happy marriage. It is always best to iron all these kind of things out before the marriage date. Good luck! —Your Observer.

DEAR OBSERVER:- I am a school teacher and would like to go into another field. I have talent for other things and I do not care about teaching, in fact, I only pleased my parents. Have been teaching three years. As I am an only daughter, I have no one in which to confide as my parents do not understand. Thank you! Please do not use my name. Teacher.

Dear Teacher:- I think there are many girls or women teaching that should never have been a teacher and while you are young is the time to decide right now what you really desire to do and then do it. —Your Observer.

DEAR OBSERVER:- I get along a sister with whom I do not have a sit at all and I cannot stand the way she fusses and quarrels at all times as she is such a jealous person. I have a very nice position and can well afford to go into a small apartment but I dislike leaving my Mother, who is widowed. She knows how it all affects me and does not say anything to my sister. Would you just pick up stakes and depart? Please answer soon. Thank you, L.M.

Dear L. M. — Can't you talk it over with your Mother and tell her just as you did in this letter. You did not state your age either. No sister should separate a Mother and another sister. Appreciate your Mother now before it is too late. Just tell her that you desire to have a heart to heart talk with her. —Your Observer.

DEAR OBSERVER:- I am a Widow and own my own home and made the second floor into an apartment. I placed it in the paper at different times and there are never any results, in fact, the last time not a person called me! It cost over $3,500 to convert my home into this apartment and I am very worried about it. It is in a nice neighborhood and I was only asking $85.00 a month. It is a private affair and has a back porch, too. Could you please give me your candid opinion? Signed, Desperate Widow.

Dear Widow — First of all, you may have been late with your ad, as I have observed that Baltimoreans move mainly in May and October. Then the ad may not have read just up to the minute as you told me above. You could advertise in this paper as there are many in the County who may just desire a place like yours. Good luck and that soon but just write in care of "The Carroll Record". —Your Observer.

See you next week D.V. Have a grand week-end and be sure you are kind to every one.

I am,
Faithfully,
YOUR OBSERVER.

FACTS AND OPINIONS

From the Dallas Morning News: "President Johnson has requested help from American doctors for the sick and wounded civilians of strife-torn South Vietnam. The 16 million South Vietnamese have only 200 civilian doctors to treat those who need medical attention. Project Vietnam is getting the help of the American Medical Association in recruiting prospects. Today it is fashionable in some circles to characterize modern doctors as businessmen in white coats, more interested in the health of the patients' bank balances than the health of the patients. . . . One might think then, if these were true pictures of the doctor of 1965, that no doctor would be very interested in leaving a lucrative practice to risk his life to attend to the suffering of the victims of a guerrilla war. One would be wrong. The director of Project Vietnam told newsmen: 'We had no idea we would get so many inquiries, and almost all who inquired have made either oral or written agreement to go.'"

Starting with the first payday of next year, the social security tax on both employer and employees will be increased from the present 3.625 per cent of taxable payrolls to 4.2 per cent. Moreover, this higher tax rate will be applied to the first $6,000 of annual earnings instead of the $4,800 taxable wage base now in effect. The maximum deduction will be $277.20.

FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover says: "We seem to be witnessing a moral deterioration in our population. It is seen in those who are willing to compromise their ideals for an easy dollar can be made, and it can be seen at work in everyday life where a citizen will obey the law himself, but will also passively tolerate immorality and disrespect for authority within his own community. . . . People have got to realize that if they deal with illegal gamblers, smut peddlers, and other merchants of the underworld, they are helping to support the organized crime complex."

The petroleum requirements of U. S. armed forces in Vietnam have increased by 300 per cent since March, 1965, Oil Facts reports. Yet, says the commander of the Defense Fuel Supply Center, the forces are filling all their petroleum needs through commercial facilities. No action has been hampered by shortages. Illustrating the importance of oil products to military operations, one aircraft carrier of the Forrestal class, together with its planes, consumes more than 200,000 gallons of fuel a day. A B-52

Fielder Gilbert, who was on for Democratic member of House of Delegates, ran very well in his home district but was short of votes in the co.; Solomon Myers, Rep., was elected Judge of the Orphans' Court, by a fair majority. We are glad to have such a good representative from our place . . .

A very impressive service was held at Baust Church, Sunday afternoon, when Rev. W. E. Saltzgriver was installed as Pastor of the Uniontown Lutheran Charge. Rev. W. H. Hetrick of Westminster and Rev. L. B. Hafer of Taneytown addressed the congregations.

KEYSVILLE-DETOUR

Greetings to you:

The new highway between Taneytown and Westminster finally opened last week. Surely makes a welcome difference in that trip. The Taneytown Professional Building really makes a lovely appearance. Of course the inside is not completed as yet, but the front has been landscaped and looks real good. Meant to mention before that the coat of white paint on the Bowling Brook Boys' Home in Middleburg improves its appearance so much also.

Mr. and Mrs. Irvin Creager and son near Woodsboro were callers last week of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Clutz of River Dale Farm near Keyville. On Wednesday afternoon Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Pryor of Thurmont and in the evening Mr. and Mrs. D. Leonard Reifsnider of Keymar were visitors. Mr. and Mrs. Roy Baumgardner of Keyville called Friday evening.

This will follow the regular County Council meeting. Also, the Dept. of Welfare would again appreciate the cookies wrapped in foil for Christmas giving. They should be turned in the week of Dec. 17.

This is the verse I found on the back of a recently received letter: Dear letter, go upon your way O'er mountain, plain or sea. And bless all those who speed your flight Where I wish you to be.

And bless all those beneath the roof Where I would bid you rest; But specially bless the one to whom This letter is addressed. Isn't that a nice sentiment? —Dharyls Fleharty

MARRIED

STONESIFER — STONESIFER Miss Betty Earlene Stonesifer and James Ardel Stonesifer were united in marriage October 23 at 7:00 P. M. in the Grace United Church of Christ, Taneytown.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Earle K. Stonesifer of Taneytown, and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ardel W. Stonesifer, Westminster.

The Reverend William F. Wiley officiated at the ceremony. Traditional wedding music was played by Mrs. Romaine Motter, church organist.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a floor-length gown of imported lace over net and silk taffeta designed with sequins and pearls at the sabrina neckline. The gown featured a fitted bodice and bouffant skirt with sleeves ending in points over the illusion full from a crown of pearls and rhinestones. Her only jewelry was a single strand of pearls, a gift of the groom. She carried a cascade bouquet of white bridal roses and orchid.

Miss Mary Ellen Stonesifer, sister of the bride, was maid of honor. She wore a floor-length gown featuring a sage green velvet bodice and skirt of eggshell white crepe. Her headpiece was sage green velvet flower with fly-away veil. She carried a cascade bouquet of orange chrysanthemums and pink rosebuds.

Miss Tyna Snook, Lewistown, Pa., former college roommate of the bride, was bridesmaid. She wore a floor-length gown and headpiece identical with the maid of honor's. She carried a bouquet of orange chrysanthemums.

Edmund Dutterer, Westminster, was best man; and Kenneth Stonesifer, brother of the bride, was usher. Following the ceremony, a reception was held at Taney Inn. Misses Sandra and Sylvia Stonesifer, sisters of the groom, presided at the gift table.

For traveling, the bride chose a royal blue wool suit with black accessories and the orchid lifted from her bridal bouquet.

The bridegroom, a graduate of Francis Scott Key High School, is employed by Swissvale Farm Dairy, Westminster.

ZONING ORDINANCE EXPLAINED

(This is the eighth in a series of articles on the new comprehensive zoning ordinance.)

The three "Residence Districts" as shown on the zoning maps, a part of the new Comprehensive Zoning Ordinance, will contain a high percentage over the next 15 to 20 years. These three districts are adjacent to the eight incorporated towns of the county as well as the Eldersburg area.

First of the three Residence Districts to be discussed is the "R-20,000" District. The designation "R-20,000," as explained in an earlier discussion, indicates a minimum lot size of 20,000 square feet. This, therefore, could indicate more area per residence and greater front and side yard requirements than the other two residence districts.

Basically, the "R-20,000" Residence District is for single family homes in that no duplex residence or apartment dwellings are permitted in the district.

The Principal Permitted Uses in the "R-20,000" District, are agriculture, churches, schools, colleges, and public buildings such as libraries, community centers and the like. Conversion of buildings existing at the time of enactment of the ordinance to accommodate two families is possible in this District.

Those uses which require public hearing and Board of Appeals approval (conditional uses) in the "R-20,000" District include antique shops, beauty parlors, barber shops, convalescent homes, medical clinics, hospitals (Class A), funeral establishments, golf courses, country clubs, nursery and day care centers, and public utility buildings. As in all other districts, those accessory uses incidental to principal permitted uses or conditional uses are allowed.

The "R-10,000" District differs from the "R-20,000" District in that when both public water and sewerage exists the lot size may be cut to 10,000 square feet. Residences can, therefore, be closer together and less open space may be evident in this district than either the "A" or "R-20,000" Districts.

Principal Permitted Uses in the "R-10,000" District are all those permitted in the "R-20,000" District, including single family dwellings. Also included are conversions of buildings existing at the time of the enactment of the ordinance to accommodate 2 or more families. Likewise, the planned unit development (as discussed in detail previously) is permitted on a minimum of 20 acres and upon approval of the development plan by the Planning Commission.

Conditional uses in the "R-10,000" District requiring public hearing and Board of Zoning Appeals approval include rooming houses, clubs, lodges, community centers, two-family dwellings, as well as those conditional uses set forth in the "R-20,000" District.

The "R-7,500" District requires public water and sewerage facilities to enable residences to be located on 7,500 square foot lots. Principal Permitted Uses include single family and two-family housing. Multi-family dwellings are permitted in planned units on tracts of 10 acres or more. Also permitted are boarding homes, nursing homes, as well as those uses permitted in the "R-10,000" District. Conditional Uses are restricted to those as regulated in the R-10,000 District.

Attention is called again to a previous discussion which related that residences can be constructed in all districts except areas zoned "Industrial." Therefore, it is not necessary for a residence or housing development to be located in one of the three Residence Districts.

The next discussion will center about the uses permitted in the two business districts of the Comprehensive Zoning Ordinance.

FOR THE LITTLE TIME WE'RE HERE

There's a matter I've often given thought to. Deep and rather sincere, Can't we treat each other more kindly For the little time we're here?

How can we waste one single hour On malice, envy or hate, When even a day or an hour from now To amend it may be too late?

Life is at best but a shadow Across the face of the sun, How can we then spare time to make Sorrow for anyone?

On the sloping hills past the city's gates Lies many a

The cutest aprons are being shown. I was given one for a hostess gift that has its own little hand towel snapped right on it. It certainly is pretty as well as useful.

Isn't too soon to be starting to bake cookies for the holidays. They freeze well and can be thawed in very little time.

Be thankful for your many blessings. Here is a poem I came across:

Statistics show that less than 20% of a normal skin throughout maturity. This proves that nothing stays beautiful without care.

The purpose of makeup is not to camouflage, but to bring out natural beauty.

A FAMILY —LaVerne Larson

A family is a precious thing, A really priceless treasure, Its value more than gold or jewels is far beyond all measure.

It holds a world of special love And in its fold you'll find Hope and faith and deep content, Joy and peace of mind.

A family shares together Life's happiness and tears, Its strength and courage multiply Through all the passing years.

It has its little shining dreams, Its disappointments too, But somehow always manages To come on smiling through.

It's guided from above, It's guided from above, A family is the symbol Of hope and faith and love.

—Until next time, H. H.

THE WAY I SEE IT . . .

Observations on the World of Sports —by John Breth

MAJOR LEAGUE BASEBALL'S trading activity will start in earnest soon, maybe this week when club owners gather in Chicago for a meeting. Surprisingly enough, two of the teams expected to be fairly active in the trading market are the Los Angeles Dodgers and the Minnesota Twins.

It's surprising because after all, those two are pennant winners, but possibly not so unexpected when you check over the rosters of the two clubs.

Dodgers vice-president Buzzie Bavasi makes no secret of the fact that Los Angeles is ready and anxious to do business. Bavasi insists he is not kidding when he says his main objective is to land a top-flight starting pitcher. With Sandy Koufax, Don Drysdale, and Claude Osteen as starters, balanced against the Dodgers well-advertised lack of hitting and power, the obvious conclusion would be that Los Angeles needs a hitter or two much more than another pitcher.

But Bavasi says first, he would like to get another hurler, then he'll worry about the other problems.

An ideal solution to those other Dodger problems would be for Bavasi to land a power-hitting third baseman. Since the Dodgers managed only 78 home runs during the 1965 season, a long ball hitter would be a prize catch. And, since 37-year old Jim Gilliam had to be drafted from the coaching ranks to play third during the recently completed season, it is obvious that something has to be done there, too.

The often-rejected 32-year-old Lou Johnson claims he has won the left field job for next year and well he may have. But if the Dodgers can pick up another outfielder who happens to be a consistent hitter, they will jump at the chance.

The Twins will be in the market for some bench strength, a relief pitcher and possibly a second baseman. Frank Quilley did a fine job at second after being brought up from the minors late in the season. But the Twins management would feel safer with some one who could supply more help in the batting order.

It is not likely the Dodgers and Twins will get real help from other teams in their own leagues, but that Inter-League trading period might offer some interesting possibilities.

There's a new deck of cards in ST. LOUIS but it may not have any ace. LOUIS has been discarded. The National League's most valuable player in 1964, third baseman Ken Boyer, will play for the New York Mets next year. That's like asking a metropolitan opera star to sing on the same card with the Beatles.

The steady and resourceful shortstop, Dick Groat, and the hard-swinging first baseman, Bill White, have been packed off to Philadelphia along with a second-string catcher, Bob Uecker.

In return the Cards got a lot of second-line players whom they apparently hope will grow up into first-line players.

Second-line performers have been known to do that but the percentages are not good.

What brought on this little fall house cleaning in St. Louis? Well, the answer to that seems obvious. The players who were traded must have gotten on somebody's nerves. Whether it was manager Red Schoendienst or General Manager Bob Howsam—or both—is hard to say.

The Cards have taken a calculated risk that doesn't seem very calculated and which does seem to hold a lot of risk.

This is not the first time that a team has cleaned house by sweeping out the star players. The most recent example was the New York Football Giants. Coach Allie Sherman cleaned out the Palace Guard, headed by Sam Huff and Dick Modzelewski, last year and promptly fell from the top to the bottom of the Eastern division of the National Football League.

That's one thing the Cards won't have to worry about next year. They finished seventh this season and they don't have very far to fall.

TODAY'S SPORT LAUGH—An assistant college football coach came back after scouting a highly rated high school player and reported to the head coach that everything good they had heard about the boy was true.

The head coach wondered about the player's grades, and the assistant noted: "That may be the trouble. I hear when the boy received his varsity letter the coach had to read it to him."

ICE CAPADES TO RETURN TO BALTIMORE CIVIC CENTER NOV. 30 THROUGH DEC. 5

The 1966 edition of Ice Capades coming to the Baltimore Civic Center from November 30 through December 5 will bring back many personalities who have become area favorites since the show played its first Civic Center engagement three years ago.

At the same time, it will introduce Ann-Margaret Frei, winner of both the Swiss and Swedish Gold Medal trophies, who will be seen as Alice in a production number commemorating the 100th anniversary of Lewis Carroll's classic story, Alice in Wonderland.

World pair-skating champions, brother and sister Otto and Maria Jelinek; twice World's Champion Aja Zanova and free-style champion Tommy Litz will again be stars of Ice Capades as will Lynn Finnegan, the adagio team of Romaine and Steele, Sashi Kuchiki, Peter Vess and Janet Runn.

New to the Ice Capades line-up of clowns and comedians will be Joe Jackson, Jr., whose ragged tramp costume and fall-apart bicycle act were recently seen in a U. S. State Department sponsored tour of Russia. Already known to Baltimore audiences and returning to the Civic Center will be Spanky the Chimp and his trainer, Dave Pitts; Hans Leiter and the team of LaBrecque and Bussey.

In addition to specialty acts by these stars, the double level Ice Capades stage will feature four elaborate production numbers with the entire cast including the famous precision line-up of skaters.

The Alice in Wonderland sequence will be mirrored on a unique stage of pink ice while Waltz Rouge will be performed on a set representing the elegance of old Vienna.

Holoholo Mokupini will present the cast in a spectacle set in the lush tropic Polynesian Islands and The World of Entertainment will salute Broadway, ballet, opera, the circus, TV and Hollywood.

Once again, Ice Capades' more than 500 costumes will be the work of Miles White and Billy Livingston as realized by Mme. Celine Faur. Choreography for the Corps de Ballet productions will be by associate producer Ron Fletcher assisted by Eugene Loring. Original music and arrangements will be the works of James Peterson in collaboration with Sid Kuller, Lyn Murray, Sol Berkowitz and Ivan Lane.

Performances will begin at 8:30 P. M. Tuesday through Saturday with a Saturday matinee at 2:00 P. M. and Sunday performances at 2:00 P. M. and 6:00 P. M.

Background Scripture: I Samuel 13:1 through 14:52; 18:1 through 20:42; 23:15-18; 31:1-2; II Samuel 1:1-7
Devotional Reading: John 15:7-13

STRESSES AND STRAINS are found in the closest and happiest relationships of life. When you hear a married couple claiming they never have had "one cross word," you know they have poor memories or they haven't been married very long. Friendship like a marriage is a delicate thing; yet it too, for all its delicacy, has great strength. Anybody can be a friend in days. Dr. Foreman of easy sailing, just as any man can manage to be a cheerful bridegroom for the length of a honeymoon. It's the rough going that tests the friendship.

Friend in danger

Everybody has heard about David and Jonathan; but David's memory shines so brightly that Jonathan's lesser star is dimmed by comparison. Most Bible readers can tell you a good deal about David but they find it harder to name any one thing Jonathan did except be a friend to David. This week would be a good time to read (in the "Background Scripture") the stories about this young man, who lived a short but exciting life. His experiences suggest some of the tests of true friendship. One very obvious test is: Can you be a friend when being one is dangerous? Jonathan could be, and was. A wall of hatred between Jonathan's father Saul and young David had been built up by the half-mad and cruel king. Jonathan dared to risk his father's reckless and vicious anger to keep alive the friendship between himself and David.

Friend of the slandered

Jonathan actually was braver and better than Christ's apostles were, at one important point. On the last night before Calvary, why did all the disciples forsake Jesus and flee? Why did Simon Peter swear he did not even know him? Simply because they were afraid, — afraid to be suspected of what? Suspected of being friends of a slandered man. The charges against Jesus were false and the disciples knew it; but they could not bear to stand with him when the tongues of liars were against him. Jonathan stands out a braver man. Saul (and no doubt others who were so to speak betting on the king) heaped insulting abuse on Jonathan's best friend; but not only did Jonathan refuse to believe it, his friendship grew even firmer and finer for all the abuse that both the young men had to stand.

Friend in good fortune

So Jonathan passed the second severe test of friendship: Can you keep on standing by your friend when everybody is telling and believing lies about him? And there is a third test, more difficult still. Can you rejoice in your friend's good fortune even if it means your own disadvantage? Jonathan could, and did. He and David were, as every one knew, and they knew, rivals for the throne of Israel. Who would succeed Saul? The principle of heredity had not been adopted. When the king died, his vacant throne would be "up for grabs." There would really be only two candidates, David and Jonathan. There seemed little to choose. Both were immensely popular with the masses of Israel, both were stuff of which heroes are made. Both understood their situation perfectly. But both had a sure feeling that David would be the next king. It could have been a hard pill for Jonathan to take. To rejoice in others' happiness is not always as easy as it sounds; and it is particularly hard when their winning means your losing. But Jonathan — if not a perfect man, was still the perfect friend!

Home First Aid Tips

Roughhousing in the backyard can bring accidents like scraped knees and elbows. For treatment, apply germ-fighting antiseptic powder immediately.

Most frequent kitchen accidents are burns and knife cuts. Try generally to cut in a direction away from you. And use oven mitts and rubber gloves for over-all hand protection.

The secret of preventing accidents at the workbench is keeping a neat one! Tools should be anchored, nails placed in containers. To treat the inevitable cuts and scrapes, sprinkle on B.F.I. first aid antiseptic powder.

To avoid cuts from broken glass in bathrooms, keep transferable liquids in marked plastic bottles—and away from children's prying fingers. Every medicine cabinet should have adhesives, B.F.I. antiseptic powder and sterile gauze as basic first aid necessities.

THE FAMILY LAWYER
WITNESS STAND JITTERS

Right now, cases are pouring into our legal channels at the record rate of half a million every week. One result is a growing likelihood that you yourself, some day soon, will be summoned to the courtroom to be a witness.

Many people get the jitters at the mere thought. A woman witness was so flustered that, when asked for her age, she gave her bust measurement instead. A man, when asked if he wanted to clarify a point, blurted out that he would "rather depend on the ignorance of the court."

No doubt the very setting of a courtroom helps to frighten the witness. Above him sits the robed judge, majestically representing the awesome might of The Law. In front of him, hanging on his every word, sit the embattled litigants and their attorneys. Strangers in the jury box study him intently to see if he is telling the truth.

Yet, if you should be called upon to testify, you might find reassurance in a few fundamental facts:

1. You are a witness, not an actor. You are not expected to give a smooth and polished performance. Remember that the jurors, too, are in unfamiliar surroundings—likely to know just how you feel. Sincerity, not glossiness, will impress them most.

2. You have powerful allies. One is the lawyer who summoned you. And the judge has every reason to be patient and sympathetic. The more he helps you to do your job, the more you are helping him to do this.

3. That big bugaboo, cross-examination, is usually not terrifying. Tell the truth and you have nothing to fear. The slashing, bullying cross-examination so often seen on TV, is seldom seen in court.

After all, a lawyer's cross-examination of her tardy husband—has one main purpose: to probe for lies. Unless the opposing attorney has good reason to think you are lying, he is not likely to treat you roughly. He would be running too much risk of winding up as a villain in the eyes of the jury.

Why not see for yourself? Before your own day in court, visit a courtroom to watch what goes on. For witness stand jitters, familiarity is the best antidote of all.

series with the toxoid (two inoculations approximately one month apart), a "booster-shot" of the toxoid is required about every four years. The first "booster" is obtained approximately one year after the initial series. This is the ONLY real safeguard against tetanus.

The AMA Director of Environmental Medicine, Dr. Raymond White, warns, "To have so many people unprotected from tetanus is sheer neglect. With the new emphasis on outdoor living, with accidents on the increase, and with the spores of tetanus in dirt and dust all about us, we can look forward to an increase in this deadly disease, unless we make better use of our good sense, to get immunized and keep immunized."

On Sunday, November 14, the second Carroll County "Knock-Out Tetanus" Clinic will be in operation from 11 A. M. to 3 P. M. There will be five sites in five different areas around the county, each one for the purpose of providing tetanus immunization. Of the five, the clinic at Francis Scott Key High School will be the closest for Taneytown residents.

Although it will be the final date for the scheduled clinics, it still wouldn't be too late for anyone to start protection. And, if the response to the first clinic in October is of any indication, it would be of utmost benefit to many of the residents to take advantage of this program. After all, the entire program was designed for the health and well-being of Carroll County residents. The self-protection provided will be well-worth the effort required to obtain it.

Sincerely yours,
"Knock-out Tetanus" Program

THE DEER HUNT

The deer population today is 20 times what it was at the turn of the century! Conservation efforts have paid off. And many millions of deer now graze the countryside where a scant fraction of this number once roamed.

Though the seasons are short and there's a game limit for the hunter, still over a million deer are bagged annually. Best hunting is found in second growth forests and farm woodlands with low underbrush and thick cover for browse.

Hunting in this terrain requires a lightweight bolt-action rifle that's easy to carry. The Remington Model 600 Carbine weighs only 5 1/2 pounds, yet doesn't sacrifice the vital accuracy and power to drop a buck in heavy brush.

Sparkling Pear Relish Salads

Canned Bartlett pear halves topped with individual molds of tangy relish are perfect partners to rich, thick, old-fashioned beef stew. The gay red and green relish molds are peppy with vinegar and spices so make them small. In place of tiny individual molds, the gelatin may be set in a flat pan and cut in squares to place over the centers of the pear halves.

Sweet, flavorful syrup drained from the canned pears is used as part of the liquid in the gelatin mixture. While the gelatin sets, chill the drained pear halves so they will be refreshingly cool at serving time. Serve Pear Relish Salads, buffet style, and let each help himself.

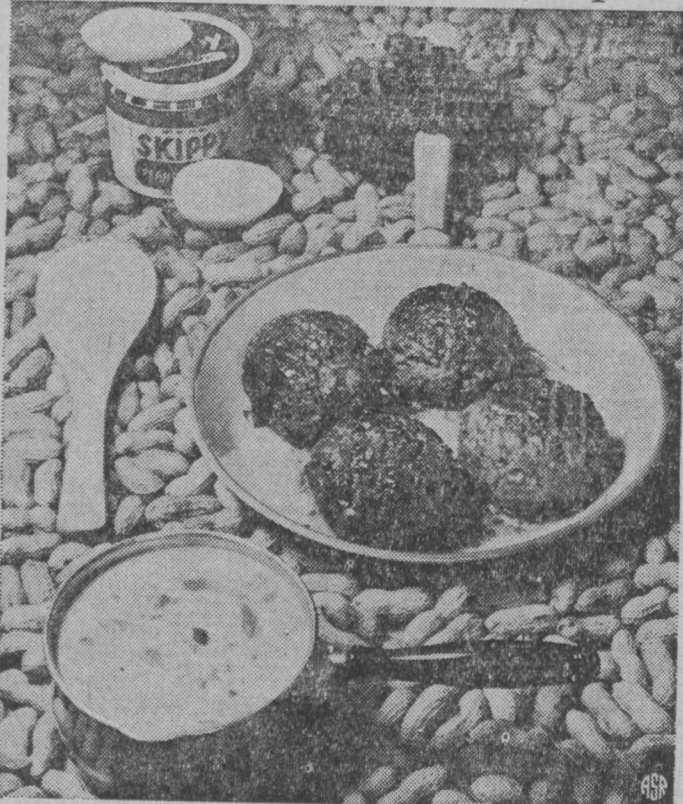

One of the joys of canned Bartlett pears is their flexibility. They perform so beautifully in a variety of salads, as well as desserts and meat accompaniments, that wise homemakers are never without a supply of this lovely fruit.

Pear Relish Salad

- 1 (1 lb. 13 oz.) can Bartlett pear halves
- 1 (3 oz.) package lemon-flavored gelatin
- 1 cup sliced stuffed green olives
- 1/2 cup chopped celery
- 1/2 cup chopped maraschino cherries
- Crisp lettuce
- 2/3 cup vinegar
- 2/3 cup sugar
- 1-inch stick cinnamon
- 1/2 teaspoon whole cloves
- 1/2 teaspoon whole allspice

Drain pear halves, reserving 1 and 1/2 cups pear syrup. Combine pear syrup with vinegar, sugar, and spices. Bring to boil. Reduce heat and simmer 5 minutes. Strain out spices. Dissolve gelatin in hot mixture. Chill until partially set. Add olives, celery and maraschino cherries. Pour into small individual molds. Chill until set. Place pear halves on crisp greens. Unmold a relish salad in center of each pear half. Makes 6 to 8 servings.

Serve Hamburgers With A Surprise

Just because the children are back in school, it doesn't mean they are willing to give up the hamburgers they enjoyed all summer. Plan a supper of hamburgers with a new surprise — well seasoned and served with a special peanut butter sauce. The peanut butter sauce not only adds flavor but provides the children with the extra proteins their young bodies need for growth and development.

Hamburgers With Peanut Butter Sauce

- 1 pound well trimmed lean beef, ground
- 2 tablespoons finely chopped onion
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 2 tablespoons Mazola margarine
- Peanut Butter Sauce

Lightly combine meat, onion, salt and margarine with fork. Gently shape into 4 medium thick patties. Pan broil in skillet, turning once, to desired degree of doneness, 6 to 10 minutes. Makes 4 servings.

Peanut Butter Sauce: Melt 1 tablespoon Mazola margarine in saucepan. Stir in 1/2 cup finely chopped green pepper and 1/2 cup finely chopped onion and 1 medium tomato pared and thinly sliced. Cook over low heat, stirring frequently, about 10 minutes. Blend in 2 tablespoons Skippy peanut butter. Gradually add 1 cup milk, stirring constantly, cook until sauce is slightly thickened. Top hamburgers with sauce; sprinkle with chopped hard cooked eggs and parsley.
