Jaycees Search for Outstanding Young Man

A state wide search is currently being conducted by the Maryland Jaycees to locate the Five Outstand-ing Young Men in Maryland. The Taneytown Jaycees are conducting the search in the community. Wayne Hively local chairman, said the purpose of this program is to recognize the outstanding accomplishments of young men in the community and to encourage more young men to strive for excellence in everything they do.

When asked how the outstanding young man will be selected, Mr. Hively stated that local business men, community and civic organizations, churches, schools, and individual citizens will be asked to nominate a young man who is between the ages of 21 and 35 years old and has made an outstanding contribution to the community. After the nominations have been received, they will be judged by a panel of business and civic leaders to determine our outstanding young man, who then will be our community's candidate for one of the Five Outstanding Young Men

If Taneytown is going to have a truly outstanding representative, it can only be accomplished by getting as many nominations as possible; so everyone is asked to participate in this search for Taneytown's Outstanding young Man.

Nominations will be accepted until December 31, 1965. If you know of anyone you think is outstanding; the only way to be sure he is conthe only way to be sure he is considered is to nominate him. Please contact Wayne Hively, Leonard Wantz, Jr., or "Bob" Flickinger for nomination blanks.

Trinity Lutheran Congregational Meeting

A large congregation attended the annual congregational meeting of Trinity Lutheran Church held after The Service last Sunday morning, December 12. Two major items of business were transacted.

The congregation's 1966 Budget was passed unanimously. The budget of $42,308 was the largest ever adopted by the congregation, except for those adopted during years of a building program. For current expenses, the congregation will spend $23,-085; for benevolence, $15,623; for building fund, $3,600.

Budget-wise, the most significant advance occurred in the benevolence tem. The congregation will contrib the its full apportionment of $13,323 to the Maryland Synod and the Lutheran Church in America. An additional $1200 will be in partial support of two missionaries: continuing support for the Rev. Richard G. Goff, LCA missionary serving in Malaysia and a unit of support for a second missionary, to be selected by the congregation in January. Another $1200 has been designated as "other unapportioned benevolence.'

The second item of business was the election of four councilmen for 3-year terms commencing January 1966. Elected were: Mr. Elwood Baumgardner, Mr. James Fair, Mr. Sterling Fritz, and Mr. George Harner. The new councilmen will be installed during the Service this coming Sunday, December 19. Retiring from the Council, having served the last 3 years, are: Mr. Robert Cling-an, Mr. Franklin Fair, Mr. Fred Gar-ner, and Mr. Daniel Naill.

THE GREAT QUESTION

It will be a long time, if ever, befere controversy over the deeds of the 89th Congress ends. And it will be a long time before the full effect, for good or ill, of the mass of unique legislation it passed is fully felt and understood.

But one thing is certain—the 89th has been a spender with a capital S. Time magazine reports succinctly: "In all, the 89th spent $119.3 billion a total unprecedented in peacetime and one that will require decades to pay off; interest on this year's national debt alone came to $11 billion."

It now remains to be seen what spending on this staggering scale will do to the dollar's worth. Federal deficits, as painful past experience tells us, are breeders of inflation. And, ironically, inflation is the worst enemy of the people of small means whom much of the new legislation is supposed to help.

If the government cannot come near to balancing its budget in boom times, when tax revenues are at enormous levels, when can it? The dollar's value has been degraded by about half in the postwar years. What will be left of it a few years from now? No more important question than that confronts the American people.

Make Toffee Brittle Your Holiday Specialty

If you are looking for something to make during the holidays that would be perfect for gifts, a treat for the family and neighbors, and yet something new and different and extra delicious, this is it — a rich crunchy candy that has a toffee base topped with chocolate and sprinkled with nuts. It's the greatest.

Toffee Brittle 1½ cups Nucoa margarine1¾ cups sugar cups sugar cup light corn syrup

4 ounces semi-sweet chocolate ½ cup finely chopped

11/2 cups chopped walnuts Melt margarine in 2-quart saucepan. Add sugar and cook over low heat, stirring constantly, until sugar is completely dissolved. Stir in corn syrup. Cook over low heat, without stirring, until mixture reaches 290 degrees F., or until a small amount of mixture is brittle when dropped in cold water. Remove from heat. Stir in 1½ cups chopped walnuts just until mixed (Do not over mix.) Pour immediately into ungreased 13 x 9½ x 2-inch baking pan. Cool. Place chocolate over hot, not boiling, water until soft; stir to blend. Pour over cool toffee, then sprinkle with finely chopped nuts. Chip candy into irregular pieces, as desired. Makes about two pounds.

Bread 'n Butter Gifts

You'll be the dinner guest most in demand if you show up with goodies like these for your hostess. They're literally bread and butter gifts: individual loaves baked in tiny pans, and flavored butters to go with them. Best of all, convenient hot roll mix speeds baking — one package makes eight Little Loaves. To leave time free for pre-party primping, bake ahead and freeze loaves. Just remove baked breads from pans, cool completely, wrap immediately in heavy-duty aluminum foil and freeze — up to 214 - 3 months. up to $2\frac{1}{2}$ - 3 months.

Little Loaves

Prepare 1 package hot roll mix following Easy Directions on package.

Knead on lightly floured surface 5 to 7 minutes until smooth and satiny. Place in greased bowl; cover.

Let rise in warm place (85° to 90° F.) until light and doubled in size, 30 to 60 minutes. Divide dough into 8 portions. Shape each portion into a small loaf and place in well-greased individual loaf pan or doll baking pan (about 1 cup capacity). Let rise in warm place until dough is rounded above top of pan, 30 to 60

Bake at 375° for 15 to 20 minutes, until deep golden brown. Turn out of pan immediately.

Honey-Orange Whip: Cream ½ cup butter until light and fluffy. Add 2 teaspoons grated orange rind. Gradually add ¾ cup honey, beating until well blended.

Festive Olive Spread: Beat ½ cup soft butter and 2 tablespoons milk or cream until light and fluffy. Stir in 2 tablespoons thinly sliced stuffed green clives.

Whipped Herb Butter: Combine ½ cup soft butter, 2 tablespoons and 1/3 teaspoon garlic salt. Beat until light and fluffy.

Orchids For Your Christmas Table

The Christmas season is fast approaching and with it the perennial problem of getting presents for those who seem to have everything.

A new and lovely gift suggestion is a centerpiece of Cattleya orchids. If you're invited to a holiday dinner, a regal purpleand-white spray of blooms is a highly prized gift for your hostess. If you're the partygiver, consider purchasing orchids to add a unique touch to the festive occasion.

Cattleyas bring a note of subtle coloring and elegance to your holiday table. The snowy white cloth, set with fine china, sparkling stemware and spot-less silver will have a focal point of interest—and conversation—if an arresting display of orchids is used as a centerpiece.

Centerpieces are simple to make-just use your imagina-tion. Set three dripless taper candles in a bed of Cattleya orchids and greens and you have a beautiful display. Or take a large brandy snifter and place some dainty china or ceramic figurines in it; then artistically arrange several orthids inside and on the rim of thorists the year round.

We talk of surprises-well believe me your Correspondent had a very pleasant surprise on Saturday while calling on Mrs. Hannah Smith of Uniontown, Md., in the late afternoon a knock came on her door and in answer to the knock Mrs. Smith invited a man and woman into her home yously and with great surprise she then introduced them to me. To my great surprise it was Richard Wolf and his sister, Esther of Philadelphia. It has been 48 years since we last saw each other. It truly is wonderful meeting up with those we knew so long ago; but it really makes us realvisitors with Mr. and Mrs. Grant Baker the past week and over the week-end were Mrs. Charles Crone, Mrs. Ralph Toms, Mrs. Ruth Long, Mrs. Maude Stitely, Mrs. Ralph Eyler, Mrs. Donald Lawyer and Franklin Baker.

A birthday dinner was given Sunday in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Carl and family in honor of Mr. Carl's father, Lloyd Carl whose birthday was on Saturday. Those present were the honored guest and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Carl, Mr. and Mrs. James Carl and son, Mr. and Mrs. Levi Frock. Around 3:30 in the afternoon a birthday cake was cut by Mr. Carl and served along with ice cream, potato chips and coffee. We all wish Mr. Carl many more happy town, Mr. and Mrs. Donald Eyler and sons James and Ray of Walkersville, Mr. and Mrs. Donald Mackley and son (This is the final installment in a series of articles on the new Com-Donald, Jr., Mrs. Edna Mackley and Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Bowman and son Thomas were the guests of Mr. and prehensive Zoning Ordinance.)

ZONING ORDINANCE EXPLAINED

As a final discussion in the series on zoning it has been suggested that several questions be proposed that are most frequently asked of zoning officials. A brief answer is given to

1. (Q) How long will the Comprehensive Zoning Ordinance be effec-

'(A) The ordinance adopted on August 18, 1965, will be effective indefinitely. Only action by the Board of County Commissioners in the future in the form of total rejection or amendment can alter the existing

2. (Q) How can the ordinance be changed ' (A) Changes can come about in the ordinance much like the process used in making the ordinance effective. Before any change is considered recommendations must be received from the Planning Commission. Prior to making a change in maps or text of the ordinance, the County Commissioners must advertise in a local newspaper 20 days prior to holding a public hearing.

3. (Q) What is the difference between the "Zoning Board" and the "Planning and Zoning Commission"?

(A) The "Zoning Board" actually is the "Board of Zoning Appeals." It hears any appeals to the Zoning Administrator's decisions, hears requests for variance to the terms of the ordinance, and is required under the ordinance to approve (after public hearing) those uses specified in each zoning district as "conditional uses." It, in substance, is a three-man 'court' for processing the above ac-

The "Planning and Zoning Com-nission," on the other hand, is a mission," five-man Commission which is charged with planning the county's future growth. The only connection this Commission has with "Zoning" is to make recommendations for the initial ordinance and to recommend and make reports to the County Commissioners on any changes in the Zoning Ordinance or its maps.

4. (Q) How can I tell whether

That's what you'd be competing for in The Baltimore News American Jackpot Puzzle game. Send in your something is in violation of the zoning provisions?

(A) Call the Zoning Administrator's Office at 848-4500 or visit the office in the County Office Building, Westminster, and give all of the details relative to the violation being reported.

(Q) Can I get rid of any use which is considered a non-conforming use?

(A) No. Under the provisions of the ordinance any use which "legally" existed when the ordinance became effective in August and does not conform to the provision of the orter of Mrs. Lola M. Reid, and the late Marlin E. Reid, passed away Wednesday, December 8, 1965 at St. Joseph's Hospital, Ann Arbor, Michigan Michigan Reid, Mrs. Reid, and Arbor, Michigan Reid, Reid, and the latest and Reid, and Reid, and the latest and Reid, and Rei dinance may continue. Any expansion of a non-conforming use must be confined to 35 per cent of the original area and only after public hearing and Board of Zoning Appeals 6. (Q) Where do I get a permit to build?

(A) At the building permit office in the County Office Building, Court Street, Westminster. The application for a building permit is also a re-Michigan. Also, her mother, Lola, quest for a zoning certificate. A plot plan is required to be filed with all permit applications.

7. (Q) What happens if a person ternoon, December 11, interment at continues to violate the provisions of Oakland Hills Memorial Gardens, the Zoning Ordinance?

(A) After due notice of such violation the Zoning Administrator, if a violation then continues, shall take steps to prosecute. The States Attorney's office is given all information concerning such violation. 8. (Q) Do I have to have a permit to change a use, for instance, a grocery store to a tavern.

(A) Yes. Any change in use must have zoning approval prior to making the change. This is necessary because the zoning district in which you are located may prohibit the use

9. (Q) Can I locate a trailer on five acres of land?

(A) No. Under the ordinance single trailers are prohibited unless they are in a bonafide trailer camp or allowed after public hearing on a farm for use in conjunction with agricultural

10. (Q) Does the county take care of the zoning for our incorporated towns? (A) No. The County's Zoning regulations do not include any jurisdiction within Manchester, Hampstead, Westminster, Taneytown, Union Bridge, New Windsor, Mt. Airy or 11. (Q) Where can I check on zoning maps? (A) The Zoning Administrator's Office has a complete set of zoning maps for public review. Likewise, the cere thanks and appreciation to our friends, neighbors and relatives for the many cards, flowers, fruit, visits and many acts of kindness during the Planning and Zoning Commission and Clerk's Office in the Court House illness and death of our husband and have zoning maps on display for use by the public. Copies of the Zoning Ordinance are available at the Zon-MR & MRS. RUSSELL A. KLINE AND FAMILY ordinance are available at the Zoning Administrator's Office.

12. (Q) What is the status of a junk yard?

(A) No new junk yards may be created or enlarged in the county except in the General Industrial District, and only after Board of Appeals approval and subject to compliance with the provisions set forth in the Zoning Ordinance.

It is hoped that this series of zoning discussions has been helpful in better understanding the purpose of zoning as well as pointing out some of the protections you might have under its provisions. A final word of caution is given—zoning is not the cure for all of the problems of our MRS. LUELLA FEESER, SONS LLOYD, MEHRLE, PAUL AND RICHARD

The officials of the Planning and Zoning Commission and the Zoning Administrator's office will always be most happy to talk with any citizen

THE FAMILY LAWYER

CAN YOU PATENT IT?

Even in this era of large-scale research, a surprising number of inventions still come from the tinkering.

He certainly proved it in the World individual. Valuable patents are still being won by "basement inventors" ingenious enough to come up with something new.

However, to be entitled to a patent, an invention must be not only new but also — in the wording of the United States Constitution—"useful." What kind of an invention is useful? First of all, it must be able to work.

One man invented a "perpetual motion machine," complete with a dazzling array of doodads and thingumabobs. But his invention was held not patentable because, being contrary to the laws of nature, it could not possibly do the job it was meant

Second, to qualify as useful, the invention must do something that is Thus, courts have denied patent rights to a device for faking the quality of tobacco leaves, and to a gadget for "curing" disease by mysterious vibrations. Both inventions were found to be useful only for the purpose of cheating—hence, not useful in the Constitutional sense.

it must be more than a mere frivolity.
Of course, what is frivolous to one generation might not be to the next. century ago a federal court said that a hoop skirt could not be patented, because it had no serious value to society. But today's courts are not likely to be that prim and proper.

As for what might be called "odd-ball" inventions, the Patent Office generally takes a tolerant view. For instance, it has issued patents for an automatic hat-tipper, a shield for grapefruit-eaters, and a gun for shooting down flies. For who can be sure that the oddity of today won't be the success of tomorrow? Wise men scoffed, too, at Alexander Graham Bell's talking toy - one of the most useful, and profitable, inventions of all time. —An American Bar Association public service feature by Will Bernard.

THE WAY I SEE IT . . .

The stories about "Papa Bear," as he is called, would fill a half dozen books. His players, former and current, will tell you that Halas is unique as a coach and owner. He often is paradoxical. He will do something with one hand then do just the opposite with the other.

But there is one thing that all parties are agreed on . . . George loves ! Keysville Lutheran Church — Rev. to see his team win and he will do william A. Markley, pastor. Worship everything short of running on the Service 9:30 A. M., Sunday School field to make a tackle to help them

Min. At the pro quarterback luncheon in New York on Monday a couple of people told stories about Halas.

The first one was Father Dudley, the team chaplain of the Giants. Father Dudley discussed the time in the late 1930's when Pittsburgh got the draft rights to a young New York-born player, quarterback Sid

The Giants thought they would like to get Luckman. They sent Father Dudley to Pittsburgh to talk to Art Rooney, owner of the Steelers, on the well-established theory that an Irishman will always lend a sympathetic ear to a priest. Rooney did. But in courteous fashion he then told Father Dudley that under no circumstances would Pittsburgh relinquish the rights to Luckman. Father Dudley returned to New York and so informed the Giants. The next day the announcement was made that Halas had obtained the rights to Luckman from Pittsburgh. Sid then became one of the great quarterbacks of pro football.

Kyle Rote, the one-time great flanker and now a sportscaster, was next. He said that in his rookie year with the Giants the team was get-ting ready to play the Bears and the players were being shown a film of the Chicago team in action.

Kyle had never seen Halas but the older players pointed out the ener-getic man on the sidelines. Early in the game the Bears punted and the ball went out of bounds deep in the territory of the other club. An of-ficial downfield watched the ball go gram.

"was Halas coming into view. He bent down and picked up the official's hat and dropped it another yard or so downfield. George was only trying to get a fair shake for his team." There is no better barometer of a ball player's value than the interest shown in him by other clubs. Any time the Los Angeles Dodgers talked trade this winter at the baseball meetings the other club invariably brought up the name of RON he took FAIRLY.

The Dodgers, of course, were not interested in trading the player whom his teammates call, "Mr. Clutch." That's what Ron is, a cool and resourceful guy when the pressure is pounding the hardest. He has proved Series when he was one of the unsung heroes of the Dodgers as they topped Minnesota Twins in seven games.

Ron hit safely in every one of those games. He had eleven hits for the full series and had 20 total bases, most in the series. He also was the top runs-batted-in man with six. Ron now is listed as an outfielder. He played 148 games on the picket line last year and 13 games at first base. The previous year he spent most of his time at first base. But Wes Parker did a workmanlike job at the first turn for the Dodgers last year and with Frank Howard gone in a trade and Tommy Davis out for the season with a broken ankle, Fairly had to play the outfield.

The chances are that he will be stationed in right field again next year with the comebacking Tommy Davis in left and fly-boy Willie Davis in center.

In five seasons with the Dodgers Fairly has almost evenly divided his time between the outfield and first base. He has played 416 games at first and 428 in the field.

He thinks that he might hit a little better if he played the outfield exclusively but that won't stop him from reaching for a first baseman's mitt if the Dodgers need somebody there.

Grand Jury Makes Report

Carroll County's November term Grand Jury returned a record num-ber of indictments during two sessions held late last month. According to Courthouse authorities, the 60 odd indictments returned is the largest number ever returned by our Grand Jury in the history of the county. T. Bryan McIntire, State's Attorney, stated that five of the cases were re-indictments necessitated by the Court of Appeals "Belief in God" ruling. Thirty-five of the indictments charged prisoners with the crime of escape from Central Laundry Correctional Camp, Sykesville, Maryland. The balance of the indictments were primarily cases involving breaking. entering and larceny, and false pre-

Perhaps of greatest significance are those cases presented to the Grand Jury which did not result in indictments. The Jury declined to act on a manslaughter presentment against State Trooper First Class Daniel D. Roderick arising out of the fatal shooting of a man on Septem-ber 22. Robert Wayne Wetzel, 23, of Jefferson, was fatally wounded by a single shot from the trooper's .38 caliber service revolver after he was stopped for questioning on Rt. 31 4 miles South of New Windsor. Wetzel was sought by police for leaving the scene of a two-car accident in Mt. Airy in which two brothers were injured. McIntire said three eyewitnesses testified that they had seen Mr. Wetzel grapple with the officer as he attempted to call for assistance and then rip the microphone from the car and smash it to the ground. Five other statements concerning the activities of both Wetzel and the trooper prior to the shooting were read to the Jury, after which they delib-erated briefly. Asked for his com-ments on the Grand Jury's action, McIntire said, "I am sure that this will be covered when the Grand Jury submits its report, but we were too busy considering cases to prepare a report. I can only assume that the Jurors thought that Trooper Roder-ick was justified in the action which

Also significant are several indictments which McIntire presented to the Grand Jury charging zoning violations but which the Jury re-turned "not found." This action, in effect, removes these cases from further consideration as criminal violations. "It is not likely that I will again present these matters to the Grand Jury," said McIntire. "This does not mean that the violators cannot be dealt with. The zoning people can still abate these violations by can still abate these violations by 23—Leonard G. A Collector's Christmas

NEW YORK (CFN)—Becoming as scarce as the silver dollar, the sailing ship and the Stanley Steamer, are the world-famous Danish Christmas Plates. Back in 1895 when silver dollars were common, when square riggers beat around the Horn and the Stanley Steamer was the rage, a Danish company made its first Christmas Plate and sold it for about three kroner, approximately 42 cents. In 1965, if a collector is fortunate enough to find one of these beautiful plates in an antique store, it would cost him around $1,0001

Why such an increase in price Because the plates made in 1895 were made only in that year and produced in a limited quantity. So the collector who wants to complete his set of these rare Christmas Plates, must be willing to pay dearly for his unusual hobby. Now another Danish company has announced that it will never again accept an order for the first ten silver Christmas spoons and forks created from 1910 through 1919. As time goes by, the com-pany plans to discontinue the earlier spoons and forks until only those for the current year will be available. These beautiful Danish Christmas spoons are collector's items. Made of sterling silver in smashingly modern designs, they are pierced by hand, polished and then enameled in brilliant, lasting luster worthy of costly jewelry. An unusual spoon has been designed especially for Christmas, 1965, by Theresia Hvorslev. It has every mark of being a great spoon in a dazzling collection. A.

Michelsen, the Danish firm that originated these spoons, makes them only for Christmas each year, marking them with the Dan-ish word JUL (for Christmas). A fork has been added and these lovely little dessert sets are used traditionally on Christmas Eve. In recent years, these forks and spoons have become so valuable there just aren't enough to go around. That's why their value constantly increases.

The National Safety Council warns all motorists to make certain that they have plenty of gasoline in their cars, especially during snow storms. Many people run out of gasoline because they think their supply is sufficient without realizing the fact that they might be delayed on the highways due to the inclement weather and use more gasoline than normal. They could be stranded and cause tie-ups and accidents.

Many thousands of motorists were stranded on the highways last year because they ran out of gasoline. This can cause many severe repercussions. Gasoline is needed also to insure the functioning of the automobile heating apparatus. Be sure to stop and fill the tank. Make certain that the car window is opened slightly in order to avoid asphyxiation. Beware of carbon monoxide. Check batteries: weak batteries can cause cars to stall.

Have your radio checked to ascertain its operational ability and listen for information regarding highway facilities, weather conditions and warnings during the snow storm. This could mean the difference between arriving home safely and not arriving home safely or not arriving home at all.

Whispers of Hope Lesson for December 19, 1965

Background Scripture: Jeremiah 1; 11; 30 through 33; 37 through 39.

Devotional Reading: Luke 1:68-79.

ONE OF THE most difficult and puzzling books in the Bible, and yet one of the most fascinating, is the book of the prophet Jeremiah. As a suggestion to new readers of the Bible, I recommend not staying in the ing on to what you can understand, and coming back to unsnag the tangles by the help perhaps of your pastor, perhaps of one or two good books. For many a good book has been written about this strange man Jeremiah. Yet don't depend on one book alone to help you. And certainly don't expect this column to explain all that needs explaining!

Hope for your future

In printed Sunday school quarterlies and other literature for church school classes, at this Sunday's lesson you will notice they have printed just a short trio of quotations out of the long book of Jeremiah. At first sight, one wonders what possible connection these three passages can have. (Look them up for yourself: Jeremiah 31:15-17; 33:14-16; 31:31-34.) After you have sat and read these passages several times, perhaps a little clue will catch your notice. The verbs, the action-words, are in the future tense, as a grammer would put it. But there is something more than bare grammer here. All these verbs in the future tense tell us that Jeremiah is not (so far as these verses go) mainly telling about what has happened, but something yet to take place. The focus of what he is saying is in the future. It is the note of hope, the note of expectation, of assurance, that unites these and many other passages from the prophets. Other religious idealize the past, and their only hope is some kind of re-creation of the past, living the past over and over again like a wheel endlessly turning. For the prophets of God, history was no wheel; it is more like an arrow, the arrow of hope. "There is hope for your future" is a sentence from Jeremiah which might be a title for all that the prophets

The righteous branch

This hope takes many forms and shows many a facet, like a great jewel with many gleaming surfaces. Almost always the language about the future is obscure to our ears. The strange middleeast style of writing twenty-five centuries ago adds to our confusion. Yet nothing quite conceals which way the prophet is straining his eyes. He says "There is hope for your future" without saying when that hope will be fulfilled. Probably he did not know. We have good New Testament backing for believing that the prophets did not always know just to what or to whom their prophecies referred. But as we pore over the ancient utter-ances and riddling symbols in mystic poesy, some features begin to become clearer. One is that the hope of the future centers in one Man. Sometimes he is a royal hero, another David; sometimes a Servant, sometimes a great Sufferer. Jeremiah's word here is "Righteous Branch." Branch of What? God's people? David's family tree? of the tree of life? At any rate this hopedfor Branch will bring righteousness and justice to a land of wickedness and injustice. Obviously this refers to some person. The Christian church has always been convinced that it means no other than Jesus, the hope of the

Covenant of the heart

For there are three things linking these prophecies into one: The emphasis on the future; the personalizing of this hope in one man; and now the third: the wide outlook of the prophet who sees not only his beloved Judah or Israel, but the wide world. Jeremiah looks and longs for a time when laws, even God's laws, shall no longer be confined to books, but written on the hearts of men; when the will of God shall not be a doom falling from without, but a devotion growing within; a time (still so far away!) when there shall be no need to explain about God to any one, for all men shall know him.

The Magic of Christmas

Christmas — at the mere sound of the word, this battered old world perks up its ears, and wonderful things begin to happen. Smiles suddenly appear on tired, anxious faces and on sour visages where smiles are rarely seen. Sorrow takes a holiday, and selfishness takes a backseat.
Hatred is all but washed out by the waves of pure, shining love and kindliness which overflow at Christmas

The air rings with music, and even the person who usually cannot carry the semblance of a tune joins in lustily singing the old, familiar carols. People who never come to church all year are there at Christmas time, if only to hear their youngsters recite in the Sunday School program. Homemakers who seldom bake now find themselves deep in fragrant dough, as they turn out batch after batch of cakes and cookies. Fathers who are usually too busy to even know what their children are doing now set aside time to help the little ones select a very special gift for Mother. And everyone yearns to get "home" for Christmas, no matter where home may be.

From whence comes this good-will, this love and joy and cheer? It all began almost 2,000 years ago, with the birth of a little baby, and the world has never been the same since. For this Child, who was born in a table and laid in a manager was stable and laid in a manger, was none other than the Christ, the Son of the living God, sent down from heaven to show us exactly what God is like. He came proclaiming God's love and mercy to sinful humanity. He came to reconcile man to God, the second Adam, as it were, who pleads for us before God and who makes atonement for all our sins.

This, then, is the true magic of Christmas — that "God so loved the world that He gave His only Begotten Son, that whosever believeth in Him should not perish, but have everlasting life." (John 3:16.)

Carroll Co. Farm Museum

Old pieces of farm equipment, tools and household items continue to come into the Carroll County Farm Museum, states Elmer Pfoutz, chairman of the Board of Directors. Landon Burns, Interim Curator, reports the entire Museum Collection of the Department of Agriculture, University of Maryland, are now included in the Carroll County Museum Collection. Mr. Burns noted that the collection contained some 75 to 100 articles, many originally from Carroll County farms.

After the first of the year, a newly-enlarged collection committee, under the direction of Mr. Burns, will con-centrate on all sections of the County for articles used on the farm during the 1800-1850 year period. Citizens wishing to donate are requested to call or write Mr. Burns, c/o County Office Building, Westminster, or see any member of the committee. He emphasizes that whether you have one or a number of articles he would be grateful for them; or perhaps some individual or group would like to make a cash donation that could be used to purchase some rare antique piece. All sums, regardless of amount, would be most appreciated.

We express our appreciation to the Homemakers Club of Manchester who recently forwarded the committee a check for a generous amount which will be used for this purpose.

A list of projects has recently been prepared, along with their approximate cost. It is hoped that some service club, homemaker club or other group might wish to contribute labor and materials, either one or both, to complete an entire project. This would be a fine way to perpetuate the name of the organization with the Museum. The Westminster Rotary Club recently donated, and their members planted, sixty flowering cherry trees on the bank of the lake overlooking the Museum. It is felt some of these may bloom next spring. They will beautify the area for many years to come, and serve as a reminder to visitors of the generous efforts of this Westminster club.

The Publicity and Public Relations

Committee would welcome the opportunity to explain details on the above projects or any other questions per-taining to the Museum. The Committee is prepared to present an evening's program on the Museum, or just meet with your officers at any time. Call (Mrs.) Cindy Hofferberth, TI. 8-4500, at the County Office Bldg. during office hours or Theodore Koons, TI. 8-4547 in the evening.

APPLICANT FOR S. S. MAY BE REPRESENTED

Claimants for social security benefits were today reminded by R. W. Hughes, Social Security District Manager in Towson, that they have the right to be represented by a person of their choice in any business they may have with the Social Security Administration, Mr. Hughes stated this does not mean that a representative is needed since most people handle their social security affairs with the help of the people in the social security office.

An applicant for social security benefits may be represented by an attorney or other qualified person of his choice. The representative may act for the social security claimant generally on all social security mat-ters except for the signing of the claims application. He may request a reconsideration, hearing, or Appeals Council review. Any notice or request sent to the representative has the same effect as if sent to the social security claimant. A copy of any determination or decision made by the Social Security Administration will be sent to the representative.

Mr. Hughes stated that attorneys are limited in the amount of fees that may be charged social security claimants and a representative who is not an attorney may not charge or re-ceive any fee for his services without prior approval of the Social Security Administration.

An attorney without prior approval of the Social Security Administration may charge a fee which may be no more than $20 for representation before the Social Security Administration and the Social Security Administration may charge a fee which may be not security and the Social Security Administration before the Social Security Administration and Security Admini fore the Social Security Administra-tion and an additional $30 for repre-sentation before a hearing examiner or the Appeals Council of the Social Security Administration or both. An attorney who wishes to charge a higher fee must secure the approval of the Social Security Administration.

The limitation of fees that may be paid to representatives of social security claimants is designed to protect the rights of social security claimants while at the same time allowing attorneys and other representatives adequate compensation for their services. Mr. Hughes said any social security claimant may obtain additional information about the appointment of a representative and limits on the fees that may be charged by getting in touch with your social security district office.

Carroll County residents may obtain further information and assistant further information further in tance by contacting the social security representative in Westminster, Maryland at the County Administra-tion Building on every Monday and Wednesday from 9:30 A. M. to 3:30

Brewster Writes on Solving Problems of the Potomac

Senator Daniel B. Brewster (D. Md.) said that the citizens of the Potomac Valley "want clean, clear water to drink, a pleasant environment in which to live and work, and places to go in their free time for varied types of recreation."

Writing in the December issue of Potomac Basin Planning: Local Needs and Aspirations, the Senator said that "the plan for the Potomac must be one that will benefit people. "I fully recognize the difficulties involved in preparing a comprehensive river basin plan. It is a far more difficult task than that of tuning more difficult task than that of tuning a symphony orchestra. The close co-operation which is developing between the Federal and State governments in this planning effort is most en-couraging, but there is still the need for an increased emphasis on local participation and the involvement of interested private organizations."

interested private organizations."
Senator Brewster continued, "The problems of the Potomac River Basin are increasing at such a rapid pace that we cannot continue to postpone decisions for another 50 to 100 years.'

The Senator repeated his call for the creation of a stronger Interstate Commission for the Potomac similar to the one now existing in the Dela-ware River Basin. He said that this agency should not only have planning and coordination powers, but should also have the authority to see that its plans are properly implemented. He further recommended that the Commission be charged with enforcing uniform anti-pollution regulations.

He said, "The continuing pollution from the property of the property of the policy of the property of the pr from towns, factories, government in-stallations, boats, and erosion must be stopped." To do this "will require the concentrated efforts of many peo
