Following the installation, a very lengthy and spirited discussion was entered into concerning Taneytown's probable future industrial growth and ways and means of achieving it. tangible action that grew out of this discussion concerned the Chambers' 14-acre industrial site. It was pointed out that city water and sewer are not available at this site and this is almost prerequisite for new industry. The Chamber has knowledge that the Taneytown Mayor and City Council are constantly planning expansion of the water system in order to continue to adequately supply Taneytown's ever growing need for water. The present water system is more than adequate for todays needs but as Taneytown grows, more and more water will be needed. To this end, the Chamber decided to offer the Mayor and Council a segment of the industrial site net to exceed 100 ft. by 100 and Council a segment of the industrial site not to exceed 100 ft. by 100 ft. for the possible drilling of another well and the erection of another water tower; if their studies indicate this to be feasible. This would not only serve the City's needs for another expansion of the water system but would make water immediately available on the industrial site, which would certainly make the site more attractive to new industry. The matattractive to new industry. The matter of extending sewer mains to serve the site will also have to be considered.

A Voice for Carroll County

It has been indicated by many knowledgeable people that one of the most important bills to come before the General Assembly in Annapolis this session will be the Cooper-Hughes Bill. This is a bill designed to change the tax structure of the State of Maryland. In essence it is an attempt to help Baltimore City and other metropolitan counties out of a finan-

I am concerned with the problems faced by the city and the other counties, but my first responsibility is to the people of Carroll County. It is with this in mind that I would like to point out some of my reservations concerning this bill.

1. It would remove many local taxing privileges now enjoyed by the County and place them under the jurisdiction of the State. This could place Carroll County in a difficult position since the new plan for representation will give the metropolitan areas control of the General Assembly.

2. The income the County receives on equipment and machinery from such Corporations as Colonial Pipeline, which alone pays $80,000.00 a year, would now be collected by the State and shared with the city and other counties. If this is the case, then what advantage would it be in the future to encourage such indus-tries to Carroll County from a tax income standpoint?

3. It has been indicated that Car-3. It has been indicated that Carroll County will receive in excess of one third million dollars for Education in Carroll County under this plan. I am proud of my record in Support of Education and few in the General Assembly can show a better record, but do you realize under the graduated income tax provision of this bill many more dollars in excess of bill many more dollars in excess of this one third million will be taken out of this County?

Another serious defect in the bill is penalizing counties who have been paying as they go for their judges for the award.

One of the provisions of the bill is based on need, as one of the guide posts for need is how much we owe. Since we owe little or nothing we would not receive our fair share. I plan to submit an amendment to the plan to submit an amendment to the bill to correct this. There are those who endorse this bill as the solution to Maryland's tax problems. It may be a solution for the over all problem, but again my first concern is Carroll County and my decision will have to be in the best interest of my County.

This January day is gray and lowering, as the clouds open up and let my kitchen window. I marvel at the absolute silence of it all. Rain tinkles, patters, even drums, but falling snow is strangely quiet. and seated here by warm and friendly Hercules, viewing the wintry-looking countryside, I feel quiet and calm, as well. Perhaps this type of gracefully falling snow. unprovoked by raging winds, has this effect upon one.

My friend, Gray Squirrel, however, is not so peacefully lulled by it. Suddenly he scampers across the field and up the lane, intent on another nutgathering expedition. I rather worry on his account, now that the hunting season has been extended through the month of January. Hunting is one of my pet peeves, for I have always been opposed to senseless slaughter of the wild life, and always shall be. I know for a fact that the number pheasants and deer has greatly diminished on our place. So here's hoping that Gray Squirrel gets through safely. Taneytown Jaycees — "Thanks, Citizens!"

The Taneytown Jaycees, as well as all Jaycees across the nation, are presently observing the week of January 16-22 as JAYCEE WEEK 1966 which was sent to me about 20 yrs. the one week of the year specific-

Brown is a member of the Trinity United States Jaycees who are now entering their 46th year of community service. But more important, it offers the chance for Jaycees, national and local, to inform their com-munities of their activities, their purpose and their goals. In this respective the Jaycees of Taneytown are no exception. Primarily because Jaycees are proud young men, proud of their community because they helped it grow, and proud of each other be-cause they know civic work builds men as well as communities. The Jaycees are an organization of young men learning civic consciousthrough constructive action. This being accepted, then Jaycees must be dedicated to community improvement and personal betterment; down their cold white burden. As I and, therefore, provide a stimulus to watch the cottony flakes drift past community spirit. Community growth community spirit. Community growth cannot be possible if it is influenced by individual or organizational self-ishness. It will thrive only if there s a complete understanding and communication between its citizens and civic organizations, one and all. In Taneytown, the Jaycees hope to have the opportunity to take part in this growth.

It is time for the Taneytown Jaycees and the citizens of Taneytown to pause and think back over your Jaycees' accomplishments, and also a time for the Jaycees of Taneytown to express their appreciation to the citizens of Taneytown for their support and confidence in past Jaycee will continue. So again, Citizens, we say, "THANKS."

FACTS AND OPINIONS

According to the Arizona Farm Bureau Federation, the immense economic and technological progress in recent years has not changed two basic characteristics of American agriculture. Farms continue to be relatively small business, and the traditional dominance of family farms continues to be as notable as ever. Adequate family farms (those with $10,000 or more in sales) were, and still are, the mainstay of the American farm economy. All evidence indicates that this dominance of the family farm is increasing and also shows that agricultural production is rapidly concentrating on adequate family farms. In 1949, there were 17 family farms for every larger-thanfamily farm. In 1964, that ratio increased to 26 to 1.

Henry Hazlitt writes in Newsweek: "The real author of inflation is the government. It has been averaging an annual cash deficit of $4 billion for the last six years. It has been; pushing down interest rates. It has been increasing the money supply recently at an annual rate of 8 per cent. It has cheapened the dollar. And now it tries to divert attention from its own inflation (which it calls 'expansionary' policies) by making industry the scapegoat."

The publication Oil Facts reports that U.S. oilmen have drilled more than 2 million holes searching for oil and gas in this country since the nation's first successful well was completed in 1859. In the industry's first only 2,000 barrels of crude oil, all from Pennsylvania. Estimated production for 1965 will exceed 2.9 billion barrels of crude oil along with 440 million barrels of natural gas liquids.

Herbert E. Joyce, M.D., president, Medical Society, County of Erie, New York, says: "Big government expands only in a vacuum. As nature abhors a vacuum, so big government flows into a space that is not occupied, big government will assume all the power it can get, or should we say, is allowed to get. The only way to arrest the process is to fill the vacuum with private voluntary enterprise before governmental intervention. If you anticipate what official dictum will be and stem the tide ere it begins, you taken the first steps to maintain self-control and self-determination."

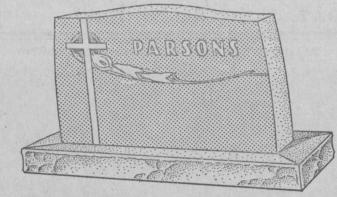

Reduced furlough fares for military personnel traveling in uniform at their own expense have been extended indefinitely by the nation's railroads. Existing furlough rate reductions would have expired on December 31, 1965. The new railroad action will continue one-way and round-trip coach fares for furloughed military personnel at savings of as much as 50 per cent.

An editorial in the publication Michigan Medicine says: "Few, if any, new drugs or inventions have been commercially developed in countries which do not offer proper patent protection to the inventor. Of the new drugs introduced in the United States from 1941 to 1964, 369 came from the United States, 44 from Switzerland, 33 from Germany, and 28 from the United Kingdom. Equally significant is that 90 per cent of the 369 new drugs originating in the United States came from company laboratories."

Grants-in-aid for scientific research studies on meat totaling $80,763 have recently been made by the American Meat Institute Foundation.

Keysville — The people of the community were shocked, Monday evening, when they heard of the accident which resulted in the death of Charles Newcomer, 22, son of Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Newcomer. While coming home from Taneytown driving a fourhorse wagon, the horses became frightened and started to run. Young Newcomer was walking beside the horses and when they started to run, he fell. Both wheels of the wagon ran over his body. However, he was able to walk to the home of Daniel Crabbs, which was near the scene of the accident, where he expired about four hours later. He is survived by his parents and two sisters, Mrs. Grier Keilholtz of Frederick County, and Anna at home. Funeral services were held on Thursday at the Reformed Church, Taneytown, by his pastor, Rev. Guy P. Bready.

Mr. and Mrs. Levi Frock spent one evening last week in the home of Mrs. Mae Buffington, New Windsor. A couple Sundays ago we had for our Sunday School lesson study which included some material on signs, I made the remark, "Do we need signs?" There are those who pray for signs and miracles that the un-believer might believe and that they may know there is a God. Yes. agree we do need signs—as the Bible says, "there shall be signs and wonders." I was told this morning (Tues.) there was a light in the sky the shape annual vacation-stay in Florida now. What A Friend "In war . . . not all thoughts are mean. Here is an example that substantiates that thinking. These words were found pinned on the fly-leaf on an iron clad, water-proofed Bible on a battlefield. —Author unknown. Look, God, I have never spoken to

But now I want to say, "How do you do?"
You see, God, they told me you didn't exist
And like a fool, I believed all this. I wonder, God, if you'd shake my hand Somehow, I feel you will understand; Funny I had to come to this hellish place,

Before I had time to see your face.
Last night, from a shell hole, I saw your sky,
I figured then they had told me a lie;

Had I taken time to see the things you made I'd have known they weren't calling a spade a spade. Well, I guess there isn't much more to say, But I'm glad, God, I met you to today. I guess the zero hour will soon be

But I'm not afraid since I know you're near The signal, well, God, I'll have to go I like you lots—that I want you to know. Look, now, this will be a horrible

Who knows - I may come to your house tonight. Though I wasn't a friend to you be-

I wonder, God, if you'd wait at your door. Look, I'm crying! Me, shedding tears! I wish I'd known you these many years.
Well, I have to go now, good-by;
Strange, since I met you, I'm not afraid to die.

Intrigue The Bridge Club

You can be a hostess with exciting food ideas, too! Just serve Hot Chicken Salad Muffins at the next bridge club session. These fancy muffins are easy, even on a lazy fall day. The muffins, you see, are made without fuss from a package of corn muffin mix. —And while they bake, presto, the chicken salad is prepared!
Come serving time you'll have luncheon on while the ladies are chatting between hands. Just fill the muffins with hot chicken salad. Garnish each plate with pineapple rings and grapes. Perhaps you'd better keep a supply of corn muffin mix on the cupboard shelf. Who knows? Corn muffin mix may be the inspiration for your next intriguing and imaginative menu!

HOT CHICKEN SALAD MUFFINS

Makes 6 servings One 12-oz. pkg. (2 cups) Flako Corn Muffin Mix 1/2 cup grated sharp cheddar cheese 1 egg 2/3 cup milk

2 cups chopped cooked 1/2 cup finely-chopped celery 2 teaspoons minced onion 1/2 teaspoon salt Dash pepper 1/2 cup mayonnaise

For muffins, heat oven to hot (400°F.). Grease medium-sized muffin cups. Empty contents of package into bowl; stir in cheese. Add egg and milk; blend only until dry ingredients are thoroughly moistened. (Batter should be slightly lumpy.) Fill greased muffin cups half full. Bake in preheated oven (400°F.) about 15 minutes or until golden brown While muffins are baking, combine filling ingredients. Heat thoroughly. To serve, split muffins horizontally. Spread bottom halves of muffins with hot filling; replace tops. Garnish with olives placed on toothpicks.

"I KNOW SOMETHING GOOD ABOUT YOU!"

Wouldn't this old world be better, If the folks we met would say:
I know something good about you,
And then treat us just that way!

Wouldn't it be fine and dandy, If each hand-clasp warm and true, Carried with it this assurance I know something good about you!

Wouldn't things here be more pleas-If the good that's in us all, Were the only thing about us,

That folks bothered to recall! Wouldn't life be lots more happy If we'd praise the good we see! For there's such a lot of goodness In the worst of you and me.

Wouldn't it be nice to practice This fine way of thinking too; You know something good about me I know something good about you! -Author Unknown.

BONDS AGAIN OFFERED AS REFUND OPTION

Savings Bond Chairman for Carroll County, Mr. Vernon E. Beall, today reminded taxpayers that the Treasury Department will once again offer them the opportunity of taking inome tax refunds in United States Savings Bonds.

The savings option, introduced in 1963, is in addition to the two standard options of taking tax refunds in cash or applying them to next year's

"When a taxpayer elects to take his refund in Series E Bonds," Mr. Beall caid, "his money goes to work immediately on two jobs. It begins to build his financial security. At the same time, it contributes to our country's economic strength. Those who elect the U.S. Savings Bonds option join millions of Americans who are nvesting in their country's future in

"When you check the Savings Bond line on your 1965 tax form," Mr. Beall continued, "you automatically assure yourself of two advantages: You provide yourself with an easy method of ide yourself with an easy method of holding on to your tax refund dollars and a sure way of making it grow one-third larger at maturity. When your mark is made, the rest is automatic. For example, if you're en-

Bonds is the surest way I know of to make your tax refund really mean something to you."

THE WAY I SEE IT . . .

Observations on the World of Sports -John Breth

During the recent World Series, in which the Minnesota Twins faced Sandy Koufax three times, it became a stock question for newsmen covering the classic to ask them if Sandy was faster than SAM McDOWELL of the Cleveland Indians.

The majority answer from the Minnesota players went something like this: "Koufax is good and he is fast. But McDowell is faster."

The Twins beat Koufax the first time they faced him, in the second game, but he shut them out twice after that, including the deciding sev-Nobody would seriously rate Mc-Dowell on a par with Koufax yet but he has a good chance to become just as great a pitcher as the Los Angeles lefty.

McDowell was only 23 years old in September. Koufax will reach 30 in another month. McDowell, at 23, is much farther advanced than Koufax was at that age.

McDowell won 17 games and lost 11 last year and led the American League both in strikeouts with 325 and earned run average, 2.18.

McDowell is 6-6 and weighs 215 pounds. He has a whip-like motion and if he doesn't run into arm strain he should get much better than he

The best game he has ever pitched was a losing one. It was in Baltimore last season and he gave up just one hit in eleven innings of scoreless ball for both the Orioles and Indians. McDowell left the game in favor of a pinch-hitter who was unsuccessful and the Indians then lost the game, Losing is never easy to take but McDowell says there was one thing about that game that made him happy. He gave just one walk in eleven innings. That's the kind of thing pitchers remember.

The campaign is on again to have the NATIONAL FOOTBALL LEA-GUE title game played in a warmer climate every year and apparently it is even being discussed in the Commissioner's office.

The word is that Commissioner Pete Rozelle will put it on the table before the owners at the annual league meeting next month.

There are pros and cons by the dozens in this matter and you can be sure they will all be brought up. The principal argument in behalf of a warmer yearly site for the title game is the probability that the weather will be more conducive to championship football.

Of course, it has been known to rain in places like Miami, New Orleans, Dallas and Los Angeles, the four cities which most often are mentioned. But obviously the chances of good weather are better in those towns than in a place like Green Bay, Wisconsin, where the NFL title game

The principal argument against moving the game south is the one which points out that the hometown fans will not get a chance to see it. And the hometown fans will turn out no matter what the weather is like as was proven in Green Bay.

There are other factors which some-how just haven't been mentioned. The first is that skill, training and will to win on a bad field are just as much a part of the game as on a dry, fast field. A team that can overcome playing field difficulties and still play its top game—as Green Bay diddeserves the title. As Jimmy Brown of the Cleveland Browns observed after the game, "The field was the same for both of us."

Again on that point, a lot of regu lar season games are played under the same weather handicaps that the title game often is. The teams have to face up to it then, why not in the championship game Continuing this farther, there also is a question of the local businessmen, of the hotel and restaurant and -excuse this one but it's pertinent-the tavern people.

They usually are involved in the promotion and support of a team all season long. They will be shut out if the game they often have to wait years for is moved somewhere else.

And that last may wrap up the whole matter. A city may wait ten or 15 years—or even longer—for a title game. And when its team finally wins a divisional championship and gets into the big game, it will be a bitter pill for the fans and assorted other backers if the playoff is moved to another city, no matter how warm.

Today's Sport Laugh - The sixfoot-six-inch relief pitcher of the Baltimore Orioles, Dick Hall, has an awkward delivery. Once when Hall was pitching, a sportswriter (Bob Addie of the Washington Post) described him as looking "like a drupten scribed him as looking "like a drunken giraffe on roller skates."

YOUTH BASKETBALL

The Tigers copped their first win of the season with a victory over the Bullets. Led by Jerry Waddell's 6 points, Mike Shaum's 6 points and Shaum's rebounding, the Tigers were able to squeeze out the win. Top scorer for the Bullets was Brian Etz-ler with 6 points. This was an ex-tremely well played game with the outcome in doubt until the final buz-

Win number two and possession of the league lead went to the Globe-trotters with a 15 to 8 win over the 76ers. Barney Decker was top scorer for the losers. Dana Gonder's 6 points Paul Sell's 5 points and top play-automatic. For example, it you're entitled to a refund of $42, you'll get a $50 face-value Series E Bond (cost $37.50), plus a check for $4.50.

"This 25th Anniversary year of the Series E Bond is a good time for more taxpayers to get in on this opportunity," Mr. Beall said. "Choosing Bonds is the surest way I know of the Bonds is the Bonds is the surest way I know of the Bonds is the surest way I know of the Bonds is the Bond

Get Oven Ready For Party Baking

Nearly everybody schedules some sort of entertaining during this busy season of the year. Family dinners, open houses and parties of all sorts crowd the social calendar.

Naturally, before having guests in, every homemaker wants to make certain that her house is as exerciting clean.

her house is as sparkling clean as can be. Included is cleaning the kitchen, which is bound to be in for lots of use—whether for entertaining the neighborhood kaffeeklatsch crowd or for preparing large quantities

Before taking on extensive baking projects, it is wise to be certain that the kitchen range is in top condition. For best baking results the oven should be free of accumulated grease and burned spill-overs. The busy homemaker's best being for this despite in the busy homemaker's best being the condition. choice for this cleaning job is an aerosol oven cleaner which will remove grease and spills easily and quickly, yet thoroughly.

The job is done with a min-imum of bother when using a new improved aerosol oven cleaner which is sprayed on warm oven surfaces (oven is preheated to 200°F. and then turned off). This cleaner is left just five minutes and then wiped with a damp cloth or | they should.

sary when the product is used as directed.

In combination with the chemical ingredients in new improved Dow Oven Cleaner, the residual heat of the oven helps remove spill-overs and stains quickly and efficiently without the hard scrubbing formerly needed. It is wise to have the oven checked occasionally for temperature calibration. Have a serviceman check oven leveling, too, to make certain that your baked goods and party fare will turn out as well as

One of the most destructive forces in the state today is fire, which each year takes a terrible toll in lives and property.

Every week should be fire prevention week to alert our citizens to the seriousness of this threat to their lives, families, their homes and their future. The seriousness of the fire problem is a challenge to correct existing fire hazards and promote safety measures to reduce this drain upon the resources of our community.

At all times citizens should check for fire hazards in their homes and places of business. Heating plants, fuses and electrical wiring should be examined and made safe. Premises should be cleared of combustible trash.

Those in charge of schools, theatres, hospitals, churches and other places of public assembly have an especially heavy burden. It is their duty to be certain that the buildings are fire safe and equipped with proper fire fighting tools and adequate exits.

Special fire safety programs should be held in schools where lifelong habits of fire consciousness can be instilled in young people by proper training. An awareness of fire hazards, of the tragic toll of fires and of the method of preventing fires can have a dramatic effect in helping to lessen the dangers of this element.

God Is Father Lesson for January 23, 1966

Background Scripture: Hosea 11:1-4; Matthew 6:9; 11:25-30; John 14:1-11; II Corinthians 1:3, 4; Ephesians 3:14-19. Devotional Reading: Ephesians 3:14-19.

MUCH BETTER than reading this column about the Bible is reading the Bible itself. So it will do the reader good to take a Bible and a red pencil and every day this week read one of the six Bible passages, mark it in his Bible and then take time to sit still and think about the meaning of what he has just read. (If this means reading the passage several times and not only once, so much the better!) Out of many lines of thought the three following may be selected, as showing what a wealth and variety of meaning friends of Christ have found in the "simple" statement: God is Father.

No grandfather

First it may be necessary to clear from our minds the foggy notion that God is a sort of grandfather. Not all grandparents are like their "stereotype," the popular picture made of them, any more than mothers-in-law are like the creatures met with in comic strips under that title. The stereotype of a grandfather is an old man with a beard, probably retired, with nothing to do but pursue his hobbies. Grandpa is supposed to take his grandchildren as a sort of a hobby. They amuse him and he likes to play with them. He lets them do what they please, indeed he feels free to encourage them to dodge their parents' discipline and disobey their rules. In short, a grandfather is interested only in giving his grandchildren a good time. God is definitely not such a grand-parent at all — a doddering old deity who lets us do as we please and doesn't really care. God is Father, not Grandfather.

Father by choice

Many truths are bound up in the basic truth that God is Father. For one thing, he is Father by choice, not by accident or necessity. Down south there is a city where a survey was made of the homes around one of the innercity churches there. It was discovered that 40% of the "homes" in the area have no adult male in them. You can see what that means in crime and lawbreaking and all the evils that result from fatherlessness in a grim environment. Now all those young "delinquents" had fathers, otherwise they would not exist, but fathers only in a biological sense. More than half the natural fathers in that area didn't want to be fathers. It was too much trouble, so they skipped out as soon as they could. (Incidentally it does no good to tell those deadend boys that God is Father. Can you wonder?) God is not a runaway father. He does not have fatherhood pushed on him. He is father in two ways: by creation and by grace. We are all his children by creation, and if any - or most - of us are runaway children, that is our fault, not his. We run away from him, never he from us. He wills, he chooses, to be what he is, father of each of us whether we acknowledge him or not. If we live the life of orphans, we need not think God is to blame.

The high God

That God is Father means not only that he is the Source of our being, the One to whom we look for guidance, command and control above all others. It means that God is our Father. That is. God does not lay aside his Deity, he does not cease to be the Mighty and Mysterious, the All Powerful, when he is Father. It is not a choice between the intimate Father-God and the Inmite and awe-inspiring High God of the Universe. It is precisely ine High God, the Ruler and Creator of all that is, who is our Father. The same God to whom Jesus prayed, the same God of whom our Lord Jesus always spoke with such "everence, it is He and no other and no less, who is the Father of us all.

THE AMERICAN TAXPAYER: CASUALTY IN THE WAR ON POVERTY by Vant Neff

The War on Poverty is a noble idea. For almost two years the program has used vast amounts of the taxpayer's money. Has this money been used nobly? Let's examine the available record and see for ourselves.

ourselves.

New York City's War on Poverty is a good subject for review. A recent investigation of War on Poverty expenditures in Harlem has broughtures in Harlem has broughtures. much material to light. Maybe New York will show how Fed-eral money is handled in the War on Poverty across the nation.

New York's version of the War on Poverty, Haryou-Act, has a large staff. It is just as true of War on Poverty facilities throughout the country. For instance, one Job Corps training center in Kentucky has 350 staff members and only has 350 staff members and only 358 students! In addition, a re-cent study showed that the wives of 51 of the camp's emwives of 51 of the came's employees were on the payroll. Another Job Corps camp, in Indiana, has more employees than students! But, to get back to Harlem. The Haryou-Act staff is well paid. In fact, the monthly payroll conces to $500,000. That's $6 million a year!

So much for salaries, Let's examine other expenses. During its first eighteen months of operation, $000,000 "evaporated" from Haryou-Act's coffers. That is, no one can tell fers. That is, no one can tell where it were. There are no vouchers, no receipts, no nothing. (This fact came out only after the Government seized the books of Haryou-Act. Previously, Haryou-Act's director had arrogantly refused to let government investigators see his records. Now that the cat is out of the bag, the director bare-facedly claims that there was no "mismanagement" of funds how the money was spent.)

There's a strange inconsistency here. The Federal Government requires you and me to account for our income and expenses in detail on our income tax reports. Businessmen must explain such small items as taxi rides, lunches, and tips in reporting on their expense accounts to the Internal Revaccounts to the Internal Revenue Service. Yet, here's a Federal official who plays fast and loose with close to a million dollars of your money and mine, and so far has got by with a simple "I don't know where it went!"

Now that we've looked at salaries and other "expenses," let's take note of one example of how the poor get money from Haryou-Act. Here's how one "crash pro-gram" got started. According to Haryou-Act's director, several hundred Harlem youths threatened him with a riot. They'd turn New York City into a bloodbath . . . "make Watts look like a tea party." into a bloodbath . . . "make Watts look like a tea party." (Thirty-three people were killed, and over 1000 injured, in the Watts "tea party.") What would a competent, balanced individual do in a similar situation? He'd pick up the phone and call the police. Hoodlums are a police matter. However, instead of doing the normal thing, Haryou-Act's director borrowed $400,000 from a bank. This money he used to set up "blind alley jobs" to appease the young extortionists. By "blind alley jobs" he meant jobs that didn't improve the youngsters' skills, but merely put money in their pockets!

That's the ignoble way money is being used in the noble War on Poverty. The "staffs" are well paid. Hundreds of thousands of dollars are disappearing . . nobody wants to say where, or cares. And taxpayers' money is being used to have civil where, or cares. And taxpayers money is being used to buy civil obedience from juvenile delinquents at the rate of about $1000 per kid!

Two questions loom up: Who is responsible for this Harlem mess... and how did he get his job?

Livingston Wingate, the director of Haryou-Act, is responsible. How did he get his job? Very simple . . . he "knew somebody." And that "somebody" is the powerful political boss of Harlem, Congressman Adam Clayton Powell. (He's the lawmaker who put his wife on the Federal payroll to the on the Federal payroll to the tune of $18,900 although she spends most of her time in Puerto Rico. He's the minister who has had so much fun spendwho has had so much fun spending Federal money on foreign junkets that Congress had to confine his trips to the U.S.
Recently a New York State Supreme Court judge described him as a man "not to be believed or trusted" because he "used every trick and device in the book to flout the law." His honor refers to Powell's efforts to avoid paying a fine imposed on him in 1963 for slandering a woman. The fine still isn't paid in full.

Few favored Wingate for the job. Even the ultra-liberal writers on the New York Times were against his appointment. But Wingate got the job because Powell "influenced" the House Committee that controls War on Poverty

Apparently War on Poverty Apparently War on Poverty appointments are based more on "who you know" than high qualifications and sterling character. Even Black Muslims, members of the sect that has sworn to destroy the white man, are on the staff of Haryou-Act!

The point is, the bright promise of the War on Poverty is being tarnished by the dirty, or inept, hands to which it has been entrusted. Money—staggering amounts of it—is being been entrusted. Money—staggering amounts of it—is being lost, mishandled, or put to questionable use. The reason is simple: The War on Poverty is becoming the expensive plaything of politicians, professional "bleeding hearts", and unqualified administrators. (The "bleeding hearts" are just as dangerous as the unscrupulous. Recent reports have shown that one Job Corps camp was completely undishave shown that one Job Corps camp was completely undisciplined . . . gangs of thugs terrorized the serious students. A staff member reported that the mess grew out of the director's "bleeding heart" philosophy: "Spoil these boys . . . they've never been spoiled before" was his dictum.)

The cure is equally simple: 1. Get the political hacks, the dreamers, and the parasites out of the program 2. Put down in black and white what specific purposes Federal money is to be used for, exactly how much, and require precise accounting. Unless the cure is applied, the War on Poverty may end up wasting vast sums of the taxpayers' money without accomplishing any useful social purpose. After all, if it cost us $400,000 to quell a few hundred kids in Harlem, how much will it cost to appease similar threats across the much will it cost to appease similar threats across the country next year . . . two years from now . . . ten years

Up to now the Government has taken only stop-gap measures. For example, Wingate was finally asked to take a leave of absence WITH PAY. But are of absence WITH PAY. But are stop-gap measures enough? Or should the program be string-ently revised? Or, scrapped entirely? The Federal Government is already spending billions of dollars more than is taken in. How long can waste and profligacy be tolerated?

Fortunately, the People still have a voice in the United States Government . . and a stream of mail to Washington could bring action. Tell your could bring action. Tell your Congressman your opinion. After all, the War on Poverty is wasting your money!

A Voice from the House

The 1966 Session of the Maryland General Assembly convenes this week at noon, Wednesday, January 19. It is a 70-day Session, has no limitation on the type of bills to be introduced, will be the last regular Session before elections, and the last before reap-

There will be local as well as statewide laws affecting Carroll County. Considerable controversy will, no doubt, result from certain gun regubills that are proposed. Some Carroll County farmers are concerned because of danger in the County from because of danger in the County from hunters using high powered rifles. Apparently there have been a few near misses and perhaps the size or power of hunting rifles should be restricted in our County.

Carroll County's laws were published this fall in book form for the first time in 25 years as a result of legis.

time in 35 years, as a result of legislation adopted during the past two Sessions. Any changes will be added to this book in supplement form. It can be purchased by any one interested in having a copy, and sets forth fully all public and local laws affecting Carroll County which were passed by the State legislature.

Much authority formerly required from the State legislature for County government is no longer needed because of express powers granted to the County Commissioners to enact ordinances. We are witnessing more and more the transfer of authority from the State Legislature to the County Commissioners or other County forms of government. The purpose is to allow each subdivision rule itself inasmuch as possible and also to eliminate the need for much local legislation in the State legislature.

Probably the most important bills to be debated in the coming Session will relate to taxes, as mentioned previously in this column. However, a number of other important bills will be considered. The Governor has embarked on a program of highway and traffic safety which will, no doubt, result in much new legislation. One of the administration measures will be a bill to require any one operating on the highway to take a breathalizer test if stopped by the State Police whether he consents or not. This is known as the "implied consent" law. At the present time, the test is only taken if the driver voluntarily submits to the examination.

Automobile inspection will also be a subject of a number of bills. There are some inadequacies in the existing law which will be amended or corrected. However, it is not anticipated that a complete automobile inspection program will be adopted this year.

There will probably be a request for an increase in the number of State Police on the highways. It has been found that the mere presence of State Police prevent many traffic violations as well as other criminal violations. Even though the number of arrests may not increase proportionately, it is anticipated that with an additional number of police officers available, the accident rate may decrease. There may be some proposals also to increase the amount of traffic fines or increase penalties for certain traffic violations.

A study is being made which will last over approximately two years to completely revise and rewrite all traffic laws in the State of Maryland. This study will not be made for the present Session but will be presented to the State logislature in approximation. to the State legislature in approximately two years. The opinions of many experts are being used in an effort to re-write the laws to promote traffic safety and with a view of fairness to those operating on the bighways. The Governor has also caused certain monies to be appropriated for correcting dangerous highway conditions. These monies will be appropriated from reserve funds and will not cause a delay in ordinary highway construction.

William B. Dulany Member, House of Delegates.

SAFE BICYCLE RIDING RULES

Bicycle riders are urged to obey the "Safe Bicycle Riding Rules," cautions Paul E. Burke, Executive Director of the Maryland Traffic Safety Commission. Mr. Burke's attention was called to an accident in which the eight-year-old son of the William Kreppels was involved while riding his bicycle facing traffic and was struck by an automobile. He was struck by an automobile. He was struck by an automobile. He was struck by an automobile. was struck by an automobile. He urges parents to instruct their youngsters to obey the following rules:

- Keep your bike in good condition.
- Observe all traffic regulations (traffic signals and signs).

 Look before making a sudden maneuver.
- Ride on right with traffic (single file).

THE FAMILY LAWYER

WILL OF YOUR OWN

She was a well-to-do spinster aging and lonely. He was young and affable, ready and willing to give her the companionship she craved. the declining years of her life, the two developed a close friendship.

Sure enough, when the woman died she left most of her money to him. Promptly her relatives challen-ged the validity of the will, charging that it was the result of "undue in-

But the court held the will valid The judge pointed out that the young man's 'influence' consisted of nothing more than simple 'kindness. Furthermore, the woman had been vigorous and alert to the end, per-fectly capable of making her own de-

There is nothing necessarily wrong with influence itself, in the making of a will. As one court put it:

"Everyone who is conscious of family and social duties is constrained by the obligations which he thus recognizes. These obligations affect con stantly his thinking and his conduct They assert themselves when he writes his will. Only a hermit or a hobo may be said to possess a free

What the law does object to is influence so strong that it overwhelms the person's independent judgment.

Thus, a court invalidated a will made by a helpless cripple, under threats by his son and daughter-in-law to abandon him. Even though the document was labelled "WILL," it was not truly his will at all but

The suspicion of undue influence may arise from various telltale signs, such as a bequest that seems contrary to human nature.

For instance, it was held an indication of undue influence by a man's second wife that he left far more money to her children than to his. Or, in another case, that a father left almost nothing to his invalid son and almost everything to his healthy daughter.

Nevertheless, while eccentricity in a will may justify suspicion, it is seldom enough by itself to prove undue influence. A man has the right to make an eccentric will if he so chooses. The law merely wants to be sure that he freely did so choose.
