The "City Fathers" promptly had the snow removed from the center of town, also plowed the streets and alleys on Sunday, following the snowfall commencing Saturday and continuing into Sunday morning, leaving about 6 to 8 inches of snow. Snow removal operations were again in action this morning (Thurs.) following the second snowstorm to strike here within a week. Weather Bureau Station to measure the temperature, pressure and humidity at various heights above the ground. The Radiosonde operated as a radio transmitter which was tracked to a height of 17 miles." The instrument was about 15 inches high and about 5 inches square. Instruction on it requested the finder to turn it in to any post office (no postage required) for its return to the government.

The oldest living thing in the world today is believed to be the sequoia tree. Certain specimens are known to be 2,000 years old.

Meeting of Ki-Wives

The Ki-Wives held their monthly meeting on January 24, at Taney Inn. Due to the inclement weather there were but eight members and five guests present.

The meeting was called to order by President Kaye with singing of one verse of America, pledge to the flag and invocation by Kitty.

Kitty presented a check of $6.61 from the Venture Club which was our report on clothes sold. Esther gave a profit on the Fashion Show which was held last Fall. A card of thanks was read from the Keyettes thanking the three Ki-Wives: Kaye, Naomi and Tamsey for judging the Christmas Door Decorations at the High School.

The program chairman, Daisy Pearl presented Mrs. Sanders and Mrs. Airing who in turn presented the Keyettes. From a membership of twenty-five, twenty-one were present. Linda Riffe, president of Keyettes introduced the officers and each member of the club. The Keyettes then presented a most delightful and enjoyable program. The girls began their program by all singing a song, "We Been Watching Our TV Sets," then TV on parade. There was a commercial, their sponsor—a well-known cereal. The weather lady then made a very interesting weather report. A fine piano and flute duet was given. Shindig—was greatly enjoyed with several Ki-Wives joining the girls which was quite a sight to behold. Girl talk was another interesting part of the program. Margaret gave some very interesting answers to love problems and a demonstration with what to do with a rope and a rock. All went well until two doctors took her away to a mental institution. Two girls gave us some very helpful exercises in physical exercises in which everyone took part. I've Got a Secret was another well planned act. The Hill Billies were delightful and last but not least were the "Pillow Girls" who were hilarious.

We all enjoyed the Keyettes program and hope they will visit us again very soon. The meeting was then adjourned.

REPORTS FROM OUR LEGISLATORS

Sen. O'Farrell and Delegate Yingling Writes---

The Maryland General Assembly convened Wednesday, January 19, for their annual 70-day session. I am sure this will be one of the busiest sessions in the state's history since it is the last session before the next State elections and before the Legislature is reappointed.

The Governor addressed the General Assembly and submitted the state operating budget of $833,046,071 for the next fiscal year. This is $93,-414,164 higher than any previous year although it was balanced without any tax increase. Gov. Tawes attributed the rise chiefly to the exploding public school and college enrollment, the higher salary and retirement cost of expanding state services and meeting with Social Security programs and the impact on the state of the Federal Great Society programs primarily in the fields of health, education and welfare. The state has to match the funds for many of the increases gained from the federal program.

The much debated Cooper-Hughes tax revision program designed to aid education and teachers salaries will be one of the major issues confronting the General Assembly this year. It is proposed to increase the Maryland tax revenue by $98.6 million, the equalization formula through which some $69 million would be distributed to the local government on a needs local tax effort basis. These are two key features of the program. There will also be an increase in abatement of taxes on businesses and property owners and an increase in the state beer tax from 3 to 6 cents per gallon. Baltimore City would receive aid amounting to $61 per capita, and the statewide average would be $40 per capita; Carroll County's share in this equalization tax program would be $30 per capita. Carroll County's wealth per capita is only $3,098 compared to Baltimore City's $3,100 and yet we get $30 compared to their $61.

In my opinion this is not very fair equalization. This aid formula is based on premium spending and subdivisions that have tried to be as economical as possible are being penalized.

As based on the present plan, unless amended to suit Carroll County's needs, I would have to go on record as being strongly opposed to this measure. I do not feel we need this tax change at this time and I feel that the individuals of Carroll County should not be taxed to help support Baltimore City and the other large metropolitan areas.

Other subjects to be touched upon in this session will be Regulations of the Sale of Firearms, Construction of a Second Bay Bridge, Drafting of the New Congressional Redistricting, Enactment of Traffic Safety Measures.

I am sure this will prove to be a very interesting session as well as busy. I will try to keep the residents of Carroll County informed each week on the Senate highlights of interest to them.

Thomas R. O'Farrell,
Senator of Carroll County

I feel it extremely important that a legislator not only keep his constituents informed on key issues that come before the General Assembly but, he should also make known his feelings on such issues. Educational Television can certainly be considered a key issue in this Session of the General Assembly.

There are many excellent things that can be done better through the use of television than in any other way.

The immediacy with which fast-moving events can be brought to bear on the curriculum can not be matched. The opportunity to have an inspirational or keynote speaker visit every classroom in the state is virtually impossible without television. The rapidity with which new concepts can be presented to teachers exceeds any other in-service procedure.

Countless other examples could be given of ways to use educational television to enrich and supplement our existing school program. I envision television as one more tool to assist the teacher in doing a better job, putting at the teacher's fingertips visual experiences for her classes that would not otherwise be available. Television is another aid to education; it cannot teach but it can inform and inspire in the hands of a capable teacher.

I do not believe in using ETV for day in and day out classroom instruction except under very exceptional circumstances. I don't feel that the full potential of the medium has yet been tapped in the existing Maryland projects. It is my feeling that any bill must contain safeguards for a philosophy calling for a wise use of the television medium.

Jacob M. Yingling,
House of Delegates.

Taneytown Fire Co. News

The Taneytown Fire Department held its first monthly drill for 1966, January 22, with 9 men being present. The drill for January was familiarization of small tools carried on the trucks and where they are located. They later toured the Taneytown Manufacturing Co. with the assistance of Mr. Thurston Hahn. This was only to familiarize the firemen with the layout of the building in case they were called for a fire.

A monthly drill is required by the Fire Underwriters, as well as the trucks meeting their standards. It is hoped that more men turn out for the drills, because it is very important and helpful to the firemen in case of any emergency to be familiar with the equipment he is to use and the buildings he may have to enter under various conditions; such as: power failure or heavy smoke. It is planned to tour every factory, feed mill or any other business place if contacted. The owners of the factories and mills will be contacted in advance to set a date and time for each tour. The date for February will be posted in front of the fire house as soon as possible. This is for all active firemen—so let us have a big turn out in February.

Earl K. Lookingbill, Chief

LETTERS

Dear Observer:—I have recently sold my home in a country place as I am a widow and a single sister just a few years younger than I and she wants me to go to the city where she lives and buy a house—50 - 50. I hesitate about doing this as I dislike leaving the state where I was born and reared; although she does not seem to mind at all since she left the same state at all. I am at my wit's end and do not know what to do. Will you kindly answer soon. Thank you. S. C.

Dear S. C.—Ask your sister if she would be willing to come back to the state in which you both were born—especially as she has no ties and you both could purchase a place together. No, I do not advise you to do this, as to moving away. — Your Observer.

Dear Observer:—I have a good husband and we both are not young anymore but all his life he has been very cold—there seems to be no affection in him. I just can't make it out for he is 100% otherwise and is a real home man. I have heard other women go through this coldness all their lives, so what must be done. L. W.

Dear L. W.—Lady, just get down on your hands and knees and thank God for that 100% man! Don't you know that every individual is not demonstrative and many women are the very same way? The best remedy is to make the advances yourself and he sure will reciprocate. It works every time! — Your Observer.

Dear Observer:—I am a widower and in love with a girl who is much younger than my first wife was. I am not a rich man but very nicely financed. The girl has never been married before and I have no children but somehow I hesitate about popping the question. I am at a loss what to do. Thank you for the reply for which I will be looking. Signed, Lonely.

Dear Lonely—You did not state how much younger this girl is than you, only that she was younger than your deceased wife. I hesitate giving you a reply due to this lack of knowledge and I would like to know more about the girl. — Your Observer.

Dear Observer:—I am 18 years of age and my boy friend is 22. We both have excellent positions and have been friends for over two years. He has served two years in the Army, that is in California, and never has been sent overseas. We are engaged to be married but we have not announced it although our parents surmise it. The thing that worries me is that C. thinks we should live with his people until we can afford to buy a house and I object to that. Please give us your opinion. Signed, Mary.

Dear Mary—No young couple should start out a marriage with living with any parent unless they have a real apartment built in their house for it to be strictly private which many couples have done until they could spread their wings in a broader fashion and I think you know just what I mean. Good luck and much happiness. I am glad that you talk things over first. — Your Observer.

Dear Observer:—My son just returned from California, in the service for two years, and is engaged to be married and the wedding will take place in the Spring. His former position was given back to him and he does not give me any board at all. He is a very big eater and we are on a very small salary—buying our home, etc. and I think he should know without me asking for board but my husband seems to go along with him and just says, "We will manage and it won't be long now" a few more months and that's it! It is very difficult, I trying to make table ends meet. I just don't know, even a few more months how I can struggle like this and would appreciate you giving suggestions. Thank you! Mrs. T. N.

Dear Mrs. T. N.—You did not state the age of this boy but I imagine around 25 and you and your husband are both at fault. You should have laid your cards on the table and explained that he will have to pay board as soon as he got his old position back upon his return from the Service. He surely does not expect the landlord to permit him to live for free when his marriage takes place! Your husband's attitude was wrong too. I think for a few more months it is worth right now by stating that you thought you could get along with your budget but it is impossible and he will have to pay board and that would be it! Your Observer.

Dear Observer:—I expect to be married next month and I was horrified when my Mother told me that she bought a beautiful BLACK dress for the wedding! She charged it and I would like her to change it but she thinks it is so foolish of me. She always reads your Columns, so please write about that dress. Thank you. T. R. M.

Dear T. R. M.—Go quickly to the store with your Mother and pick out a bright color, for no one should ever wear a black dress to any wedding nor to a Christening! It is very bad taste all around. Much happiness! Your Observer.

Hope to see you next week, D.V. Have a grand week-end and always remember such little things can make so many people happy!

I am,
Faithfully,

UNEMPLOYMENT ENCOURAGEMENT

According to a recent Gallup Poll, 75 percent of American adults believe that many people collect unemployment compensation even though they could get work. Also, 69 percent questioned favored stricter rules to prevent that sort of thing. We agree. When the present Federal-State system of unemployment compensation was set up in the 1930's it was not intended as a welfare handout to professional loafers, but strictly for persons able and willing to work who lost their jobs through no fault of their own.

A bill now before Congress—HR-8282—proposes to make some drastic changes in the present system. Unfortunately, instead of making it more difficult for work-avoiders to draw unemployment compensation the bill looks to us as though it will make it easier for them to do so. Among other things, HR 8282 would wipe out present regulations in many states which disqualify persons who simply quit their jobs or are fired for misconduct. It would also, by setting flat tax rates for all employers, do away with rules in all states which allow lower unemployment tax rates for companies which provide steady jobs, as compared to companies which hire and fire indiscriminately or lay off workers during slack periods. Not only would this penalize the more efficient and considerate employers, it would hurt employees as well because there would then be no incentive for a company to arrange its work to provide steady jobs. This consideration caused an employer in Connecticut to suggest that HR 8282 should be called the "Unemployment Encouragement Bill."

During hearings on the bill by the House Ways and Means Committee, the Director of Unemployment Compensation for the State of Wisconsin described it as an attempt to "federalize" State programs. That, we believe, is just the diplomatic way of saying it's another power grab by Federal bureaucrats. Nor is it only State government officials who see it that way. The president of the Wisconsin State AFL-CIO, in direct opposition to the position taken by national officers of his union, sent a telegram to the committee in which he said: "The so-called minimum standards proposed by HR 8282 would really freeze the whole system and leave no judgment or discretion or initiative for State action . . . I believe that the long-run interest of labor and of citizens generally can be better served by continuing to permit each State to work out its own unemployment problems under the present Federal-State system."

It might be a good idea if we citizen-laborers let our Congressmen know we want no Federal laws that usurp State authority in this matter. Unemployment compensation should go only to those who truly deserve it — not to quitters and slackers. And certainly a company which manages its business so as to provide steady jobs should not have to pay as high rates for unemployment insurance as one which carelessly hires and fires and thus adds to the unemployment rolls.

According to the American Hospital Association, in most hospitals only 20 per cent of the space is allocated to beds. The remaining 80 per cent is occupied by equipment for tests and procedures unknown a few years ago, and to the professional, administrative, engineering and maintenance departments necessary to keep a hospital functioning 24 hours a day.

One measure of progress is that 30 years ago only hobos cooked meals outdoors.

KEYSVILLE-DETOUR

Greetings to you:

Congratulations and best wishes to newlyweds Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Baumgardner, who were married at Keysville Lutheran Church on Saturday, Jan. 22. The bride is the former Miss Eileen Kiser, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Kiser of Naylor's Mill Road near Detour.

Congratulations also to Mr. and Mrs. Larry Hively of the Keysville Road upon the birth of a 7 pound 2 ounce baby girl at the Carroll County General Hospital on Sunday afternoon. Teresa Marie's mother is the former Audrey Wilhide.

And then, too, let's not forget to offer our congratulations and best wishes to Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Stambaugh of Union Bridge who recently had their sixth child and FIRST girl. They love their boys but how nice to also have a little girl!

Our sympathy is extended to Mr. and Mrs. Laverne Keilholtz and family near Keysville upon the death of his uncle, Samuel Keilholtz of Delaware, Ohio, last week. Laverne spent two days in Delaware and attended the funeral services. Mr. Keilholtz was a native of Emmitsburg.

Happy to report that Mrs. Maurice Wilhide of Baltimore is feeling so much better and appreciates her cards. There has been a change in her zip code number, however. It is now 21234. Carroll Wilhide near Detour was a Wednesday overnight guest with his mother and sister and family. Mr. and Mrs. Francis Fry and children. Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Wilhide of Keysville were Friday afternoon visitors with them.

How about all that snow we had Saturday and Sunday? It caused a number of cancellations including church services and the Elmer A. Wolfe P-TA Executive Committee meeting on Monday evening. The planning meeting for the May Open House for the Homemakers Council chairmen was postponed until Friday morning at 9:30 at the County Office Building.

Mrs. Carroll Wilhide and daughter Jane near Detour were Friday overnight guests of cousins, Mr. and Mrs. Milford Hertzler in Harrisonburg, Va. They also visited with a number of other relatives and helped to celebrate the 60th wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Hertzler (parents of Milford).

Anyone interested in a lovely home in Detour? Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Clabaugh have theirs listed for sale.

The three new houses in the Keysville area are really making good progress: Shoemakers, Youngs and Garbells.

A surprise visitor for Mr. and Mrs. Charles Cluts of River Dale Farm near Keysville on Saturday afternoon was Pastor Dixon Yaste of Reisterstown (and a former pastor of Keysville Lutheran Church).

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Wilhide, Susan and Christine near Detour were supper guests on Tuesday evening of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Miller of Rocky Ridge.

The official engagement of Gladys Ault of Accident, Md., and Neal Wilhide of the Keysville Road has been announced.

Mrs. Ralph Fleharty, Mr. and Mrs. William Fleharty and children near Detour attended the wedding of her granddaughter (and his niece), Miss Kathryn Fleharty of Washington to Mr. Gary Minutes of Hyattsville in Hyattsville on Saturday afternoon. Guests were only the immediate families and a few very close friends due to the recent death of her mother, Gary, in the U. S. Marine Corp. but he was sent to California in February but is now stationed in Norfolk, Va.

Glad to report that I heard Virginia Kehne is making satisfactory progress now after her accident. Sorry I do not have details but the general outlook is good. Don't forget to send her a card: she's at Annie Warner Hospital in Gettysburg.

Does anyone know if there is an organization around here who would be interested in old worn sheets—for bandages or some such? You know how they last and last and then all of a sudden (or so it seems), they are "shot"? Well, that has happened and I have about a half-dozen I'd be happy to donate to a good cause. Please let me hear from someone.

Recent visitors with Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Albaugh near Detour have been Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Grossnickle of Keymar, Pastor Eugene Gardner of Mt. Zion Haugh's Church (congratulations to he and his wife upon the birth of their third child and first son on Jan. 17), Mr. and Mrs. Johnny Boone, Janet and Donna of Westminster; Mrs. Karl Smith, Sr., Karl, Jr., Ronnie, Larry, Jerry, Jimmie, Ricky, Randy and Joann Denham of Rocky Ridge and Mrs. Lester

Dutrow near Detour. Jerry Smith also spent the week-end with his grandparents (the Albaughs). Do hope Mrs. Albaugh continues to improve. Recuperations always seem so slow.

Monocacy CYP meeting was held on Friday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. David Reifsnider near Keymar. Next meeting will be Feb. 19 at the Richard Wilhide home near Detour.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Stonifer of Keysville entertained Mr. and Mrs. John Watkins of Emmitsburg to dinner on Friday evening at Peter Pan Inn near Urbana.

Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Schnappinger and grandson Jerry Gross of Baltimore were Saturday and Sunday visitors with the Carroll Wilhide family.

Jan. 30 will be Communion Sunday at Keysville Lutheran Church. Among those in the area attending the Mid-Winter Farm Meetings at the Carroll County Agricultural Center are Charles Stonifer of Keysville and Carroll, Richard and Myron Wilhide near Detour. Meetings were Tuesday and Wednesday, January 25 and 26.

Well we finally got that snow they had been predicting so long back—with more to come is the forecast for Wednesday. There are those rejoicing as their work depends on the snow and rain, while others are hoping it won't snow as their work is outside and does not fit in with snow and rain. So with the weather... it has its advantages and disadvantages but there are better days ahead.

Three Days

Yesterday... like mintage spent, is past recall, It's echo dimmed beyond time's wall. Tomorrow... is never promised, earthly man, Nor does it often fit a plan.

Today... is Gold that covers hill and dell, and rich are they who use it well.

Victory Garden

by A. D. Purkett

If God can make of an ugly seed with a bit of earth and air, And dew and rain, sunshine and shade, a plant so wondrous fair; What can he make of a soul like you, with the Bible, faith and prayer, And the Holy Spirit—if you do his Will and trust his love and care!

Our Need

I need to be forgiven Lord, so many times a day, So often did I slip and fall; be merciful I pray, And help me, be not critical when other's faults I see; For so many times, O Lord, the same faults are in me.

One Thing

"Just one thing I asked as I onward go, that I may walk With thee, not too fast, nor slow. Just one thing I ask and nothing more Not linger behind, nor run before, Oh! Master, this my only plea— Take hold of my hand and Pilot me."

The Rev. William F. Wiley, pastor is Co-chairman along with Mr. Robert Sell. It was further moved that as soon as $12,000 is raised there will be a ground breaking for the new structure. At present there is $2,095 in the Building Fund. Every family and member of the congregation will be visited in the immediate future and be requested to cooperate with all members of the church in the support of this great and much needed physical plant for meeting the Christian Mission in our community.

YOUTH BASKETBALL

League leading Globetrotters copied their third straight victory without a defeat by a score of 19 to 7 over the Bullets. The Globetrotters took an early lead and were never in danger. As a team, the trotters gave an excellent performance of offensive and defensive strength. Paul Sell set the pace for the winners as he stole the ball numerous times, and scored 11 points. Brian Etzler provided the only spotlight for the losers as he scored a basket from the 3/4 mark on the floor at the final buzzer. In a nip and tuck affair, the 76'ers lost their third straight to the Tigers by a score of 9 to 8. Doug Brown was the standout for the winners with his defensive play and scoring the winning point from the foul line with 10 seconds remaining in the game. Jerry Waddell led all scorers with 6 points and John Zent topped the 76'ers balanced attack with 4 points.

THE WAY I SEE IT . . .

Observations on the World of Sports — John Breth

A new manager in baseball usually says that the job is a challenge. If AL DARK, the new manager of the Kansas City Athletics, says it he will be universally believed. He is taking over a tenth-place club and if he can raise the team to eighth or even ninth place in 1966 it will be a victory.

Dark thought things got a trifle rugged when he had the Giants in 1964, the last of his four seasons in San Francisco. That's when ill feeling between Alvin and certain of his players cost him his job. Just two short years before, in 1962, Dark was a big man in San Francisco after the Giants won the National League Pennant and came close in the World Series.

Dark had five weeks at the end of the 1965 season to get a line—if that will help — on the Kansas City personnel. It was late in August that he resigned as Chicago Cub coach to become a front office assistant for Kansas City. He spent the last five weeks of the season with the A's and that led to his recent appointment as manager, succeeding Haywood Sullivan.

Dark says he will stress fundamentals with the A's. He used to do that with the Giants also but he didn't always succeed.

Al says he doesn't want to trade off any young players and is going to drill, drill, drill on fundamentals when spring training begins. He says the A's are not a power club so they will have to use other means of putting runs on the scoreboard, the hit and run, the bunt, the squeeze play, the stolen base.

Dark was especially good at that sort of thing in his playing days. He didn't find many on the Giants who could do it. Will he find some on Kansas City? Perhaps. But don't bet more than the price of a good cigar on it.

WILT CHAMBERLAIN has a goal and it's a natural. In this, his 7th season in the National Basketball Association, he'd like to play with a championship team.

Wilt has swept in all other pro basketball honors. He has won the scoring title six times in a row, he has pushed his salary check sky-high, been named to every all-star team and been chosen the League's most valuable player.

He says: "Individually and personally, there is nothing left. But there is the little matter of the elusive championship."

Wilt's team, the Philadelphia 76'ers, is certain of a berth in the post-season playoffs, not mathematically certain, of course, but the same as the 76'ers are in third place in the East but they are so far ahead of the last-place club, New York, as to be out of sight. There is even a good chance that the 76'ers will wind up second, now held by Cincinnati, and a long-shot chance they will finish first, the perennial property of Boston.

This business of never having played on a championship team is something that nettles Chamberlain, a man who often is nettled. It chips away at his considerable pride. The argument has been made that it is proof positive Wilt is not a first class team player although a great individual performer.

That argument may be unfair. On the other hand it may have some substance to it. It is a tough one on which to reach any conclusions. Of course, if the 76'ers win the playoffs this Spring and Wilt does as much passing for scores as he does shooting for scores, the whole argument will collapse of its own weight.

Draw up a chair around baseball's hot stove and listen to some short items from the front office of the AMERICAN LEAGUE.

Did you know that the Baltimore Orioles are closing in on the 500 mark in modern percentage standing in American League play? They got off to a terrible start, going 46 games under the break even mark in their first year and 40 more under .500 in their second. The Birds now show 942 victories and 943 defeats. If they win their season opener they'll be all even with the league.

The Minnesota Twins were in a golden rut last year while winning the American League Pennant. They won 51 games and lost 30 at home and had exactly the same mark on the road.

The New York Yankees had a terrible season in 1965 but they salvaged one small distinction. They led the league in grand-slam home runs with five.

The odds were one to two — that's odds-on, by the way — that an American League base stealer would make it last year. Would-be stealers made good on 704 out of 1,059 attempts which is roughly 66 per cent of the time.

Many baseball observers think that Tony Oliva of Minnesota will wind up as one of the great all-time hitters of baseball. For his first two seasons Tony has an average of .324.

Norm Cash of Detroit has twice been runner-up for home run honors in the American League and thinks he might win that title this year. Last season Cash hit 30 homers to wind up two short of the league leader, Tony Conigliaro of Boston. Cash put on a tremendous finish. He had only seven homers at All-Star time and hit 23 in the second half of the campaign.

People pay little attention to it but one of the most important fielding statistics is that of assists for outfielders. Mike Hershberger of Kansas City led the league in that department last year with fourteen.

Today's Sport Laugh — Several years ago, Billy Martin — then playing for the Cincinnati Reds — hit pitcher Jim Brewer, a member of the Chicago Cubs. Martin broke Brewer's cheekbone and the young hurler was out of action for several weeks. Owner, Phil Wrigley, of the Cubs said he would sue Martin for one (M) million dollars. Martin was informed of the suit and said: "would they like cash or a check?"

We often hear the remark, "We're never too old to learn." However trite this remark may be, nevertheless it is true. As long as we live and have our mental facilities, we continue to learn through experience.

The wise motorist knows this and he continues to apply his learning to his driving. He has been taught the need for alertness, consideration, careful speed, observance of all traffic rules in addition to a knowledge of his car. Putting this knowledge into practice is the driver's responsibility.

A mature driver understands too, that children depend upon motorists using their skill and knowledge. Children are in the stages of early learning. Lacking the experience of adults they still rely upon the adults for their safety. This trust is carried with them as they walk the sidewalks, the crossings, and the lanes. Alas, they too often dart thoughtlessly into the street and the highways. They rely upon adult drivers to shield them from harm. As a driver, you should view those children with understanding.

Be alert, be considerate, exercise a careful speed in driving, observe all traffic rules and be on the lookout for children on the street and highways. Meet the challenge of America's children.

Be an alert motorist.

God Is Redeemer

Lesson for January 30, 1966

Background Scriptures: Deuteronomy 7:6-11; Isaiah 43:1-3; Romans 8:21-26; Ephesians 1:3-10; Hebrews 10:19-22; Revelation 5:9-14.
Devotional Reading: Deuteronomy 7:6-11.

THERE IS probably no way to write about this week's topic without sounding like a sermon, and these columns are not intended as sermons. Anyhow, sermon or not, brace yourself, for we are dealing here with the most profound and troubling questions man can ask, and the most profound answer that has ever been found.

When we hear bright and cheerful talk about the love of God, his grace and mercy, and how wonderful it is to have him for a companion, protector and guide, when we hear such a line, we are sometimes troubled by a dark suspicion. This is lovely, but is it realistic? The truth is, man is bad. The great barrier between God and man — between God and me — is sin. How can I be in harmony with God? How can I love him? Can God even pretend to love me without seeming to condone what is worst in me? How can my sin ever cease to be an iron curtain between me and the love of God I hear about?

God the Redeemer

The answer in one word is: Redemption. That is a short-hand expression for whatever act or process it is that destroys my sin and swings me back into the great mainstream of God's loving will. Now in all the world's religions there are really only three answers to the question: How is redemption possible? One answer is — There's no problem. Sin is an illusion, man doesn't need to be redeemed, he is doing all right, thank you. This answer is an impossible piece of optimism for people who know what depths of evil man is capable of. So there is another answer, found in some churches though not in the Bible: Man needs redemption, but he can redeem himself by the good things he does. That's like saying a drowning swimmer needs no rescue, he can swim for himself. A helpless man cannot help himself, that is just the trouble and the tragedy. So the third answer is. Only God is the redeemer. This is his nature, this is in his character, this is in his power and his alone.

Redemption in Christ

The New Testament writers, it may be said, wrote on some phase or part of the same subject always: redemption. They have different ways of putting it, but they all agree that redemption is "in Christ." How can God be Redeemer and also Christ be the same? This question overlooks the fact that according to the New Testament, Christ and the Father are One. Christ is both God and man, as the church has always believed. Christ identified himself with the Father, and on the other side he identified himself with man. Jesus both lived and died as the God-man. Jesus identified himself with man as he is — sinning, rebellious man. And in so doing accepted and took on himself the consequences of man's sins. He who knew no sin of his own was "made to be sin" for our sakes. He took to himself all the misery and sin of man and on the Cross died not for himself, but on behalf of every man. (He "tasted death for every man," one writer puts it.)

The life outpoured

Often in the New Testament the blood of Christ is spoken of, as the way or means by which we are redeemed. This is not a repulsive thought as some persons think. The Blood, in Scripture, means or stands for Life. Being saved or redeemed by or in Christ's blood, means by his outpoured life. Christ is pictured in the New Testament as the Lamb sacrificed for the world. His shed blood is the life poured out in service and obedience. The church has always believed that Christ's life was perfect, but the crowning perfection was his death for others.

PURINA FARROWING CHOW

Here's an important new product for hogmen! New Purina Farrowing Chow was specially developed to fit the needs of the sow during her critical period... from five days before farrowing till seven days after she farrows.

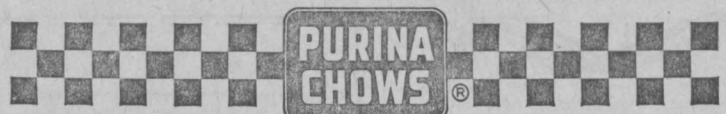

During this time a sow needs an extra palatable, vitamin-fortified, well-balanced ration. New Purina Farrowing Chow fully meets all these requirements. It's a 14% protein ration containing grain and is fed as the sow's complete ration. Comes in Checker (pellet) form only, which helps maintain freshness. An NF-180* option to help control scours in baby pigs is available.

NEW PURINA FARROWING CHOW was developed over five years of testing at the Purina Research Farm Brood Sow Unit. Give your sows the built-in advantages of New Purina Farrowing Chow this spring. Ask for it at our store.

A Voice from the House

Annapolis has become witness once again to the Assembly of legislators from all over the State of Maryland. The town is literally bursting at the seams because of lack of living space, parking space and office space. Carvel Hall, long the second home of many lawmakers, has been torn down and new construction is apparent on the new State Office Building and on some other buildings in other locations. Parking has become virtually impossible.

A wave of political frenzy is also in the air. No one knows for certain who will be the new State political leaders in either party. Many old timers will lose their seats or power because of the coming elections or reapportionment. Everyone recognizes that this is the last of the "Old Type" legislative sessions, and there are many "lame ducks."

As a result, this Session is unpredictable. Statements are made on issues for political reasons with less thought to sound and proper thinking. But with all this, more issues and a larger budget ($883,583,826) are to be considered than ever before. The cost of Government increases tremendously with normal population growth plus growth of Governmental Services. For example, increased Social Security taxes alone cost the State of Maryland more than $6,000,000.

Maryland is continuing to grow rapidly. Personal incomes were up nine per cent last year. Unemployment was down to a low of 2.6 per cent. Maryland now stands 20th in population in the Union. Our gross State product last year was over $12 billion dollars, up more than five per cent.

The major expenditures in the budget, of course, are for education, over one-third of the general funds and over one-half of the capital budget being allocated for educational purposes. About one-fifth of the general funds are for health, hospital and mental hygiene and one-eighth for public welfare.

The first of newly proposed legislation is being introduced at this time. I have arranged for copies of all bills to be left at the office of the County Commissioners in the County Office Building, Westminster, to be available for any who desire to examine any proposed law. I will deliver the bills to the County Office Building at least once weekly. Any one interested in a bill may contact or write to anyone in Annapolis for further information. We are also very happy to receive your opinions and comments on matters before the General Assembly.

William B. Dulany
Member,
House of Delegates.

Lincoln Day Dinner

The Carroll County Republican Clubs and the Carroll County State Central Committee wish to announce their Lincoln Day Dinner to be held on January 31 at 7 P. M. at Frock's Sunnybrook Farm.

A couple of weeks early, we know, for Lincoln's birthday, but in order to get a speaker of prominence, Congressman Arch A. Moore, Jr., of the First District of West Virginia, we must accept time convenient to him to speak. Following is a biographical sketch of the speaker:

Arch A. Moore, Jr., Congressman, First District, of Glendale, West Va., West Virginia's only Republican member in the United States Congress, is now serving his fifth consecutive term in the House of Representatives. Elected by a margin of 762 in November 1966, he has increased his majority each election, winning re-election in 1964 by 43,281. Congressman Moore is the Republican National Committeeman from the State of West Virginia.

A lawyer by profession, he served in the West Virginia Legislature prior to coming to Congress. Married to Shelley Riley in 1949, they are the parents of three children, one son and two daughters. Mr. Moore is a Methodist by faith and a member of various civic, fraternal and veterans organizations in West Virginia.

During World War II, Congressman Moore served with distinction as a combat infantry sergeant. Seriously wounded in action in Germany, he is a decorated soldier of that war.

Often referred to as one of the nation's hardest working Congressmen, Arch Moore carries an unusually heavy committee burden in Congress. He is the fourth ranking Republican of the powerful Judiciary Committee and ranking minority member of the Select Committee on Small Business of the House of Representatives. He is the ranking minority member of the sub-committee on Immigration and the special sub-committee on Interstate Taxation. During the 88th Congress, Congressman Moore authored the Criminal Justice Act of 1964, considered to be one of the major legislative accomplishments of that Congress. He is a member of the Joint House Senate Committee on Immigration and Nationality policy of the United States.

His work in the United States Congress in developing understanding among nations merited consideration by the Republic of Italy, for which that Government decorated him with the "Cross of Commander in the Order to the Merit of the Italian Republic," the highest decoration that Government can bestow upon a National of another Nation.

Tickets to hear this distinguished speaker for the Lincoln Day dinner will be available from all District Chairmen in the County, at the Shopping Center and Center Street locations of the Quality Cleaners; also downtown in Westminster at Eckard's Wallpaper and Paint Store, and Myers Bros. Confectionery.

Enrolled yet for the supplementary medical insurance part of Medicare? If you are 65 or over you have until March 31, 1966, to enroll. Check with your social security district office for more information.
