C. E. NEWS

A Long-Timer's Picnic was held in Hagerstown Municipal Pool Park, Frederick St., Sunday, July 10th, from 3:00 to 6:00 P.M. Being a very hot day, two of our officers were hospitalized and a few on vacation, only a few attended; but Mr. and Mrs. Roy B. Kiser journeyed over, and by so doing, won the awards for the longest number of years in Christian Endeavor—45 years, having joined in 1921.

The County C.E. officers will be installed at Wakefield Church of God, Sunday, September 11 at 2:30 P.M. Rev. Howard M. Yohe, State President, Baltimore, will conduct the installation. A special program will be presented with talent from several C.E. groups participating, as this will be a "Pep Rally" for the coming 76th Christian Endeavor Convention in Frederick Church of the Brethren, Frederick, October 14-15. We hope to receive many registrations at this time.

Mr. and Mrs. Roland E. Rill and family, Westminister Rt. 7, plan to leave for New York Mission School, August 1 to become full-time missionaries. Mr. Rill is vice-president of the County C.E. and Mrs. Rill is the superintendent of Jr. and high school work. God-speed is wished them in this Christian Endeavor work interdenominational.

OPERATION "CLEANUP" SUCCESSFUL

When part of Mt. Airy High School's senior class celebrated class night by literally painting the town, none realized that a State Police investigation would follow and that they would soon be removing the paint. Following the official school activities on the evening of May 19, a handful of youngsters applied paint liberally and wrote "66" on schools, private signs, traffic control signs, buildings, roads and sidewalks. When the residents complained, Tpr. J.R. Frey and TFC William Holley conducted an investigation which disclosed the identity of the painting students. Upon notifying State's Attorney T. Bryan McIntire, he instructed the State Police to give the students a choice of going to court or going to work removing the paint. Since that time, the youngsters have frequently been seen working in Mt. Airy with brushes and paint remover in hand. Tpr. Frey reported that the cleanup operation was completed this week.

Commenting on this, McIntire said that he believed the operation was a huge success. "From all reports, the people of Mt. Airy seem reasonably well pleased with the quality of the cleanup. It was certainly far better to let these youngsters make good their wrong than to prosecute them. I commend them for their cooperative attitude for they all pitched in and worked hard. I appreciate the backing which we got from the parents and I thank the troopers for supervising this effort in their off-duty hours. In more ways than one, this was a success. Perhaps we have taught the students their first post-graduate course — more respect for the property of others."

MEETING OF SENIOR CITIZENS

The Taneytown Senior Citizens held their regular meeting Monday, July 18, at 6 P.M. at the Thompson cottage at Natural Dam. Twenty-four members and four guests enjoyed the bountiful food provided by Mr. and Mrs. Paul Warehime and served picnic style.

The host and hostess, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Ohler, who were celebrating their wedding anniversary, served delicious refreshments consisting of a large, beautifully decorated wedding cake, angel food cake, assorted candies, nuts and iced tea. Everyone enjoyed the fellowship and the cool breezes by the river.

A brief business meeting was held and plans made for the August meeting will be a picnic and covered dish supper at Memorial Park on Monday, August 15, at 6:30 P.M. One new member, Mrs. Mildred Parker, was welcomed to the club.

Scout Paper Drive in Taneytown This Saturday, July 23

A mid-summer drive for rags, newspapers and magazines will be conducted this Saturday, July 23, by Boy Scouts of Troop No. 348, Taneytown, who are sponsored by the Hession-Snyder Post 120 of the American Legion. Well-tied bundles will facilitate handling in the short time available for these large collections, and the usual rural routes will also be covered in addition to the City of Taneytown. Should rain prevent execution of present plans, a new date will be selected and announced.

Recent Programs

Softball at the Elementary School and Memorial Park finally yielded to a swimming program at Natural Dam following a week of assistance with parking at the Taneytown Volunteer Firemen's Carnival. Special recognition at parking goes to Robert Six, who worked each night of the entire carnival, a record matched by no one else save the scoutmaster. A week ago a hunt for plants and tree leaves was the theme after swimming and preceding a wiener roast. This week Morse signaling by flashlight was featured at the weekly Wednesday meeting.

Summer Camp Planned

Registration fees are now urgently needed for the week's summer camp to be held at Raccoon Run Leantoes, near the Caledonia Park swimming pool, starting Saturday, August 6th. Several lads are boning up on Tenderfoot tests so as to be allowed to participate in this highlight of the troop year. Steven Eckard has also been accepted as a candidate. The total fee has been made reasonable enough so that a large contingent can be expected.

The schedule will include mornings largely devoted to work on tests for advancement to higher Scout rank. Boys will take turns cooking and on other details, with afternoons to feature a long swimming period, followed by a wide activity or Scouting contest, and after supper a free period, the evening closing with campfire or other suitable climax to the day's events. Parents and friends are cordially invited to Thursday night's program at 8:15 P.M. Scouts will be posted at the turnoff from Rt. 30 at Caledonia, so that no one need miss the way.

Patrol Contest

In the inter-patrol contest the Eagles, led by Harold Wantz, patrol leader, and Thomas Monthley, assistant, continue to show quite a lead, and the Panther patrol in charge of Gary Wantz, leader, and Samuel Cassionelli, assistant, are in second place. The Foxes, Flaming Arrows, and the Raccoons are close behind, however, and pretty well bunched together in scores to date. As heretofore, the standings on November 1 will determine who wins first prize, with the second patrol sharing at half-cost. Usually an interlude of a month then precedes the start of a new race for the 1966-67 troop year.

Paper Collection

Scouts able to help with the scrap drive on Saturday are requested to report promptly by 7:00 A.M. so as to get a good early start. In the event of unsuitable weather a new day for the project will be publicized. Radio announcement over WHVR and WTTT will signal any necessary change of plan.

Lutheran Church Activities

L C W GROUPS 3 AND 5

An enchanted evening, hosted by Group 2, Mrs. Margaret Nail, chairman, was enjoyed by Groups 3 and 5, Mrs. Mildred Jester and Mrs. Ruth Naylor, chairman, respectively, and their guests, in the delightfully cool court area of Trinity Lutheran Church, Wednesday, July 13th.

The guest speaker, Karl-Heinz Kraft, a knowledgeable and personable young International Christian Youth Exchange Student from Germany, captivated those present with his talents, his enthusiasm and his "old-world" charm.

The feeling of warmth and understanding wrought by the experiences of this young man during his sojourn in America are indicative of what may well be the means of Universal peace for the future, if the furtherance of such exchanges were practiced by all nations.

The members of Groups 3 and 5 are grateful for the privilege of sharing this impressive program with their hosts.

Afterward, by previous arrangement, Group 3, with 12 members and one guest, Mrs. Harry Dougherty, Sr., proceeded to the home of Mrs. JoAnn Dougherty for their business meeting which concluded with the hostess serving delicious refreshments and taking all on a tour of her lovely new home.

Group 3 looks forward to their next meeting which will be a picnic to be held jointly with Group 4, Mrs. Dorothy Lookingbill, chairman, at Taneytown Memorial Park, Wednesday, August 10th at 6:30 P.M.

The August meeting of Group 5, Mrs. Ruth Naylor, chairman, will be held at Taneytown Memorial Park, Wednesday, August 10th at 7:30 P.M.

Group II of the Lutheran Church Women met at the church, Wednesday, July 13 at 8:00 P.M. An outdoor program was presented to Group III, Mildred Jester, chairman, and Group V, Ruth Naylor, chairman. Hymn, "Jesus calls Us," scripture was read by Joanne Morrison, prayer by Vivian Hahn. The guest entertainer was introduced by Margaret Nail; Karl Heinz Kraft, an exchange student from Schöninger, West Germany. He enlightened our evening with singing songs in his native language, accompanying himself on the guitar. He showed slides of his country, school, church and family. The 18-year-old youth is presently living with his American family, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Basehoar, Littlestown, Penna.

Refreshments were served, followed by a short business meeting.

GROUP IV - LCW

The regular monthly meeting of Group 4 of the Lutheran Church Women, Mrs. Dorothy Lookingbill, chairman, was held at the home of Mrs. Roseanna Dinterman, Wednesday evening, July 13, with eight members present.

The topic for the evening was The Biblical Foundation of the Church Service, which was beautifully presented by Mrs. Louise Riffle, Mrs. Rose Anna Dinterman and Mrs. Betty Naylor, followed by discussion from the group.

Plans were then discussed for our picnic to be held at Memorial Park on August 10 at 6:30 P.M. with Group III as our guests. Mrs. Barbara Baumgardner, chairman and Mrs. JoAnn Dougherty, co-chairman.

While we are still unhappy over the deaths and injuries which have occurred this year, please remember that were it not for your wonderful help Maryland's highway death toll would be much higher. Please say thanks to everyone on your staff.

(A Horse Story)

Many of you have heard about "Fish" stories and now, I'll tell you a true story about horses.

When I was a little girl in "Philly," there was an elderly couple who were childless and some how this lady, whose name was Mrs. Lipp took a real fancy to me. Immediately when school was closed for the Summer she would just take me everywhere with her to spend a day in each place. I always longed to live in the country and there was no other member in the family who desired such a thing in fact they thought it so strange that that I, a city child, and never having been in the country! So, Mrs. Lipp took me for the day to a place way beyond Philadelphia on the train and it was a real country home with a nice size farm.

Needless to say that I was in my glory and my age then must have been around seven or eight years.

After meeting the family, I immediately went out doors and saw a horse in a fenced field. Although, I did not know his name, I called him over and he came quickly to me. That was the very beginning! I loved his soft nose and he seemed to cuddle up to me. I coaxed him to stand along side or abreast with the fence so as I could mount him! Finally, I got on his back and he seemed unusually tame, at least that is what I thought. I had no fear whatsoever for I felt he had suddenly become real friends. However, he did not make a move when I patted him with a "Gettup." Suddenly, the elderly members ran out to me telling me that "Bob" was not a riding horse and lifted me down to the ground.

Of course, I stood there disappointed, but somehow I could not leave my newly found friend. There has always been a great passion for horses and dogs during my entire life time. When I came down to Baltimore to visit many years later, I longed to be taught the art of riding and I looked up a Riding Academy and found one near the Greenspring Valley. Of course, I had to have the proper breeches or attire. I had a coat and with the pants I bought plus the Jodpurs, I was all set. Mrs. Chebonnafre loaned me the high silk hat and taught me to ride around the ring on her estate. Virginia was a big white horse but somehow that horse fully realized that I was not accustomed to riding horseback.

After several lessons and with much encouragement from Mrs. Chebonnafre I started out on my own and she kept telling me how wonderful I looked upon that horse, that she never saw such a grand posture as I sat on Virginia's back! She then told me to ride along where I could see myself in the store window! I did just that and loved every minute of my daily ride. Even when the cold months came on, I would not give up and after riding in the cold and wind, I could hardly manage to dismount and when I did at one time, I almost fell to the ground upon my return to the stable for it seemed as though I could not straighten up my legs as though I was frozen bow-legged!

In the very beginning as I was mounted and driving around the Pad-dock, I was almost tossed to the ground when I heard my teacher scream, "Don't you dare let go, keep on holding onto Virginia!" There, that horse was galloping around pretty fast and I half way on the side of the horse but I had no fear and I soon learned. In fact, my teacher stated that my appearance on that horse was as though I had been riding horseback all my life!

Then, one day Virginia became rambunctious and started to race back to the stable from the distance I had driven her and, folks if it was not for I ducking my head as it was slammed into that stable — well I would not be here right now! The only thing that I really wanted all my life and did not get was a horse! However, one day, my minister returned home in the evening stating he had a surprise for me that he had bought a horse as he called upstairs to me. I ran down and what do you think it was, folks? A little ornament of a gold horse about six inches long and the same height!

So there is a true "Horse" story about a horse!

If you go to see the show at the "Charles," entitled, "Who's afraid of Virginia Wolf?" with the Burtons, you will agree it is just about the best acting ever and if you drink or swear, it may be an excellent lesson for you. There are only four characters in the show and Elizabeth Taylor never acted so superbly before. I think that Richard Burton has taught her much of this acting business.

Have a grand week-end and don't forget the glasses in the refrigerator at all times to give the drink of lemonade or what have you an enjoyable taste. Until next week, D.V.

I am,

Faithfully yours,
Irene deLeurs Love

GRASSROOTS OPINIONS

HIGHLANDS, N.J., STAR: "Current statistics indicate that firearms are the agent in some 5,000 homicides and as many as 8,000 suicides a year, and those figures are probably conservative. It goes without saying that many of those lives would have been saved if a gun hadn't been handy in the moment of greed, despair or passion. It does not seem too much to ask that some effort be made to keep firearms out of the hands of the criminal or the incompetent. The rule ought to be at least as strict as that governing use of a car."

WAILUKU, HAWAII, MAUI NEWS: "There is something fallacious in the line of reasoning of Senator Dan Inouye that resulted in his statement that commercial airlines should provide free seats for members of Congress traveling between Washington and their homes. The question of whether this expense is one that is properly borne by the members of the Senate themselves is not pertinent to the point. What is pertinent is the good Senator's statement that the commercial air carriers, which are private business concerns owned by investors and paying heavily to government in taxes, should be required to pay a portion of each member of Congress' expense."

BROWNSVILLE, P.A., TELEGRAPH: "The Interior Department has now banned public gatherings and the distribution of handbills on five streets near the White House in Washington. The new rules require the obtaining of an official permit before a gathering can be held or speeches can be made in these streets or the parks which adjoin them. Did you think there was something in the Constitution about the people's inherent right to practice free speech, free assembly and such? And don't the new regulations seem to contradict the original assumption of our Constitutional Fathers that these actions were not privileges to be given or taken away at the whim of government? In fact, didn't those wise men say that these rights were God-given possessions of free men, unlimited by any authority?"

NEDERLAND, TEXAS, REVIEW: "Changing Times' reminds us that the cost of living in the U.S. in the '30's was remarkably low. For instance, you could buy a loaf of bread for seven cents, prime rib of beef for nineteen cents a pound. If you wanted a new DeSoto standard coupe with a rumble seat, the cost was $735. General Electric stock was going begging at $3 a share. But, the average family's income was $1,600 a year."

LOVINGTON, N. M., DAILY LEADER: "Did you know there's a limit to how much the federal government can go into debt? Really, there are three limits. One is the legal limit. Congress decides that. The second might be called 'the sky' because it's up there somewhere out of sight of all. The third limit is the economic limit, which, unfortunately, no one can know we have reached until it is too late."

RANDOM LAKE, WISC., TIMES: "Lots of students and young professors today are complaining, or rather bellyaching, about how things are being run, how badly the world is treating them. We wish we could just take them back to the 1930's and turn them loose. Where there were no jobless payments, benefits of any kind. Where if you wanted to eat you worked . . . and where the boss was boss, not the administrator of the demands of organized labor."

FORT PIERRE, S. D., TIMES: "Every now and again some government official gets asked why there is no declaration of war to go along with our increasing commitment of American forces in Viet Nam. The very fact that the official answers vary from one time to another leads us to suspect that they may be more on the order of excuses than reasons. . . . Perhaps one day when they run out of excuses, our Executive officials will have to tell us their reasons for sending more and more men into a protracted, undeclared and indecisive war on the other side of the globe. We'd much prefer, however, to have the Congress reassert its Constitutional authority in such matters and by clear declaration instruct the Executive Branch as to the will of Congress and the people."

TALL REFRESHING GLASSES OF ICED TEA just seem to go along with summer socials, especially the informal kind . . . with just a few friends. Iced tea can come alive with true lemon flavor when Twist imitation lemonade mix with sugar is added to it—bright, tart, and just sweet enough to quench stubborn thirst.

If you are one of the many calorie counters, there's a pre-sweetened sugar free mix that will give the same lemony goodness without the added calories.

Add a sprig or two of mint and your Lemon Tea will delight your family as well as your friends.

4-3/4 cups strong tea imitation lemonade mix*

Summer Snowballs

When summer comes, can snowballs be far behind? This cool classic—Snowballs with Caribbean Sauce—makes a spectacular dessert for teen parties, bridal showers, or Saturday night company dinners.

They're simple to make, and they'll simply melt in your mouth! Just roll balls of vanilla, coffee, chocolate, or any of your favorite ice cream flavors in crisp flaked coconut, and freeze. At serving time, spoon over delectable Caribbean Sauce made with rich, unsphured molasses. This fine mellow molasses has been produced since Colonial days from the pure, concentrated juice of sugar cane grown in the sunny islands of the West Indies, giving it exotic, tropical flavor.

Go native—escape with this dessert all summer long!

Snowballs With Caribbean Sauce

1 can (3½ ounces) flaked coconut
1 quart vanilla, coffee or chocolate ice cream
Spread coconut in small shallow pan. Scoop ice cream into 8 balls and roll in coconut. Transfer to foil-lined shallow pan; freeze.

Caribbean Sauce

1/2 cup butter or margarine 1/2 cup evaporated milk
1/2 cup sugar 2 tablespoons rum flavoring,
1/2 cup unsphured molasses optional

Melt butter in saucepan; add sugar and molasses. Bring to a full rolling boil, stirring occasionally. Reduce heat and boil 2 minutes, stirring constantly. Remove from heat; stir in evaporated milk and rum flavoring. Serve warm or cold over snowballs. YIELD: 1½ cup sauce.

Thought for today — Henry Ford once said "I do a lot of thinking. I walk alone in the woods, watch the birds, look at the trees and the sky and river. There I think and wait for the revelation to come about my own life, or my business. Some people call that 'thinking things' through. I feel things through and when I come back to my executives, I tell them what we are going to do."

A U. S. Marine

You sit at home and watch TV
You're sipping refreshing cold iced tea.
The news comes on and you hear,
The All-Star game is drawing near.

Then you see a far-off land,
Where men are dying in the sand.
A frown appears across your face,
You're tired of hearing about this place.

Who cares about Vietnam across the sea?
It's far away and doesn't concern me.
You'd rather hear the Beatles play,
Than hear about the world today.

But stop and think a moment or two
And ask yourself, "Doesn't this concern you?"
It's great to be alive and free,
But how about the guy across the sea?

He's giving up his life for me,
So that I can live in liberty.
He's far away to fight a war
Instead of fighting it at my front door.

This guy who lives in filth and slime
How can he do it all the time?
He's about my age so should he care
About a war someone else should share?

You call him names and make fun of his cause.
Yet he's the first to win your wars.
You lucky guy, you just laugh and sneer
Because you've never really known fear.

But the brave man faces death every day.
Yet he's always got something funny to say.
No mail again; a twinge of sorrow,
"Oh, what the heck, there's always tomorrow."

The morale is low, the tension is high.
Some men even break down and cry.
He wants to go home and see his loved ones,
But he won't until he gets his job done.

He works all day and stands guard all night.
He's tired and sick but continues to fight.
The college crowd thinks he's a fool,
But that's what makes it hard and cruel.

You don't appreciate the things he will do
Like giving up his life for you.
He sacrifices much, yet asks no return.
Just so you can stay in school and learn.

He believes in freedom and the American way of life
He'd rather die than live a communist life.
No parties or dances for this man,
Until he comes back home again.

The days are hot, the nights are too.
What wonders a cold can of beer would do.
He dreams of a cold beer, and a juicy steak.
Then someone yells, "We've got a hill to take."

Some will be heroes, because they're brave,
And others will just get a wreath on their grave.
You'll recognize him when he walks by,
There's a saddened look within his eyes.

He walks so proud, yet looks so mean.
He's called the world's greatest fighting machine.
No wonder he's proud,
He's a United States Marine!

TIGERS BOW TO HARNEY, 8-5

Bombers Score Three Unearned Runs in Eleventh

Ken Strickhouser's bloop hit that just eluded the running outstretched glove of Tiger second sacker George Hale in the eleventh inning gave the Harney Bombers three unearned runs and a 8-5 victory over Taneytown Sunday at Memorial Park.

Taneytown had battled back in the tenth frame to tie it at 5 all on George Crouse's single to score Jimmy Myers from second. Brett Fleagle, who sparked in relief of Tiger starter Morgan Storey takes his third loss against only one victory. His lone win came on opening day against the same Harney Bombers.

For Harney it was sweet revenge for the 26-3 licking they took earlier from the local nine. They managed to post their first win against the Bob Fogle nine in many a year.

Taneytown broke the scoring ice in the second inning with four runs against Harney starter and winner Steve Bosley. George banged a single to tally Graham Wildasin in the first score and Neal Hoffman ripped a triple against the fence in right field to dent the plate with two more runs. Hoffman came across the dish on Jimmy Myers' one bagger.

Harney came back with two runs in the third and two in the eighth to tie it at four all. In the first extra inning, the Bombers added a single score and wrapped up the contest in the eleventh on a walk, single and then Strickhouser's little Texas Leaguer over second base that George Hale had on the outstretched edge of his glove, only to fall in for a three-run error. The Tigers threatened in the bottom of the last frame, but Mike Herring came in on relief to put out the fire and save the victory for Bosley.

THE WAY I SEE IT . . .

Observations on the World of Sports — John Breth

The big news in baseball always is made by the pennant winner but sometimes there is a secondary story which packs a wallop also.

Like the Mets apparently escaping the National League cellar for the first time. Or the strong bid by the HOUSTON ASTROS to land a spot in the first division for the first time.

With slightly more than half the season played and with the teams taking a break for the All-Star game, the Astros are in fifth place in the National League, the bottom rung on the first division.

That brings on the inevitable question, can they stay there? Is there any chance of their moving up with a late challenge for the pennant?

The answer to the second question is, only a small chance. The answer to the first question is, they may but they face a hard fight.

Nobody seriously expects the Houston team to mount a challenge for the flag. The only strength is not there yet. It may be next year or the following season but not yet.

The first division is something else again. The Astros are currently in the upper section of the league because teams like St. Louis, Atlanta and Cincinnati have played far below their top form.

If those clubs, for one reason or another, continue to play that way, the Astros just could gain a first division berth on sheer hustle.

But if Atlanta makes its predicted rush onward and upward and the Cards and Reds pick up their heels a little, the Astros probably will drop into the second division again.

This is an improved club at Houston, though. And it will get better. It has a star keystone combination of the future in Sonny Jackson at shortstop and Joe Morgan at second. Morgan was named to the All-Star team but couldn't play because of a broken knee cap.

Young players like Jim Wynn, Rusty Staub and John Bateman seem to be improving constantly and the Astros also have some promising pitchers. Namely Dave Giusti, Larry Dierker and Mike Cuellar.

It's hard to say that an eighth-place team is the surprise club of the league but you can almost say it about the KANSAS CITY ATHLETICS.

They aren't going to win any pennants. They aren't going to get out of second division. But they were out of the cellar, to which they were consigned by a consensus of baseball observers before the season began. And this is one case where anything would be an improvement.

Around the American League words like these are being spoken about the eighth-place Athletics: "They're hard to beat. Al Dark has done a great job. The A's certainly have some fine young players."

Many American League men now talk about the A's as a team with potential. It is a young club and should get better. How much better is hard to say.

Manager Dark is sold on his kids, one of the youngest starting nines in the league. Says Al: "We'll win our share of games if we get pitching. Our defense is good and it will get better."

Dark is a manager who likes to move players around. He has an outfielder acquired in a deal with the Yankees, Roger Repoz, playing first base and another young player who has spent a lot of time in the outfield, Danny Carter, at third base.

He has some young pitchers who have a chance to develop into something good . . . fellows like Chuck Dobson, Catfish Hunter, Lew Krausse and Paul Lindblad. He also has one of the unsung relief heroes of the league in Jack Aker.

The star of the team, however, is the feather-footed Campy Campaneris, the shortstop.

Campy hasn't stolen first base yet but that's only because there's a rule against it. In one game recently, which resulted in a tenth-inning victory for the A's over the California Angels, Campy hit what looked like a single and stretched it into a double with daring base-running. He then scored all the way from second base on a wild throw by the California center fielder.

We like the quote from Luke Appling, third base coach for the Athletics who said: "Campy went by me so fast that I felt the breeze and, believe me, I'm not exaggerating."

Today's Sport Laugh — Phil Linz, a utility infielder with the Philadelphia Phils, looked a little worried the other day. A teammate asked if he had a problem. Replied Linz:

"Yes. I was wondering — is there a Hall of Fame for ballplayers who sit on the bench the most number of games during their careers?"

Chef's TOUCH

Salad Days

During the warm weather, salads take on special importance. Homemakers frequently beat the heat by serving a cool and refreshing salad as a main dish while during the green months are relegated to a delicious but merely supporting role.

Did you know that the salad family has 24 relations? Since you are probably familiar with only a few, here is the official roll call: 4 kinds of lettuce (iceberg, bibb, Boston and leaf); 4 kinds of cabbage (savoy, Chinese, green, red); escarole, romaine, chicory, French endive, watercress; mustard greens; dandelion greens, beet greens, field salad, nasturtium leaves, spinach, kale, celery tops, sour grass, turnip greens and fennel.

If you think there are many types of salad, consider the staggering number of assorted dressings. The average cookbook contains over 2 dozen and the pre-packaged variety brings that total even higher. Most cooks treat a salad with care—first washing and draining the green, dressing it, tossing it gently, and serving it.

But now the new way to give salads the final flip of flavor is with McCormick's Schilling's Salad Supreme, a fascinating seasoning that goes on over your dressing. Salad Supreme is a unique blend of luscious cheese, a hint of garlic, whole and ground spices, aromatic sesame, poppy and celery seeds. Now that the Salad Days are here again, consider using this unusual chef's touch to bring new interest to your greens.

MUSIC FORUM . . .
by Dennis O. Baumgardner

This week we continue with modern music and its greats. Johnny Mathis is spotlighted this week.

A singer who offered straight ballad singles in 1956, when rock 'n' roll had already taken over the singles market, could hardly expect more than meager sales.

However, Johnny Mathis, certainly in the crooning class, was able to buck the teen-beat tide with an outstanding record of singles successes that carried nary a sigh of rock 'n' roll.

With "better" pop songs, Mathis proved a "good-music" oasis with such singles hits as "Wonderful, Wonderful," "It's Not for Me to Say," "Chances Are," "Wild Is the Wind," "A Certain Smile," "Maria," and his latest "Gina," "A Taste of Honey." Additionally, the chanter is one of Columbia's biggest album sellers.

Johnny, one of seven children, chief claim to fame, at first, was an outstanding all-around athlete in George Washington High in San Francisco, his hometown, and San Francisco State College. Incidentally, he established a local high-jump record, 6' 5½", that has been matched only four times in the history of the Olympics. At an informal Sunday afternoon jam session at San Francisco's Black Hawk nitery, then co-owned by Helen Nogra, his manager, Johnny sang a number with the group. Helen heard him, ending Johnny's plans to teach physical education, starting a career that now shines brightly.

This is another in our series of modern music and its greats. See you next week with another in the series. Remember, if you prefer to hear about any other music artists write in to Music Forum of The Carroll Record.

Profanity of Deeds

Lesson For July 24, 1966

Background Scripture: Exodus 20:7; Matthew 5:33-37; 6:5-16; Mark 7:5-9; Titus 1:16.
Devotional Reading: Isaiah 40:12-14, 18-23.

During the construction of St. Paul's Cathedral in London, Sir Christopher Wren, its famous architect, posted a notice in various places on the construction site:

"Whereas among the laborers and others that ungodly custom of swearing is so frequently heard to the dishonor of God and to the contempt of his authority, and to the end that such impiety may utterly be banished within these works which are intended to the service of God and the honor of religion, it is ordered that profane swearing shall be a sufficient crime to discharge any laborer that comes to the call."

To Wren it was incongruous to have profanity uttered in a structure that would eventually be used to glorify God. The ruling was vigorously enforced so that this abuse might be utterly stamped out. God should not be insulted within his own house.

"You shall not take the name of the LORD your God in vain; for the LORD will not hold him guiltless who takes his name in vain." (Exodus 20:7 RSV) Isn't God being a bit touchy here? Why all this fuss over his name? Doesn't he realize that "sticks and stones may break my bones, but names will never hurt me?"

WHAT'S IN A NAME?

The ancients, particularly the Hebrews, attached great significance to one's name. The name of a person and his personality were inseparably linked together. In the Bible we find that often when a man's character was changed, his name was changed also. Abram became Abraham, Jacob became Israel, Saul became Paul. If you dishonored a man's name you dishonored the whole person.

It was also believed that the name carried with it the power of the gods and spirits. To pronounce the name of the deity was to invoke his presence and set him into motion. Thus Christians still pray "in the name of Jesus Christ, our Lord." Some people used the name of the Hebrew God to perform magical rites for their own benefit. This was a common practice for pagans.

The Third Commandment is intended to teach the people of Israel that God's name and the Being it represents is intended for praise, not for manipulation or for cursing. We are not to use his name in any way that would bring dishonor upon God, nor are we to speak or use that name without sincerity.

BEYOND MERE WORDS

Profanity, however, does not end with words. The writer of Titus says it simply: "They profess to know God, but they deny him by their deeds." What we do speaks louder than what we say. There is a profanation of the name of God whenever we profess to serve God and then live as if we believed he did not exist.

There was an irony in Sir Christopher Wren's pronouncement against profane speech. He acted boldly to eliminate profanity from this sacred site, yet something else happened that proved to be an even greater offense to God. Through lack of vigilance—perhaps that of the architect himself—someone was permitted to build the great pillars of the cathedral in such an inferior manner that today the structure is in danger of eventual collapse. The pillars appear to be very strong, but the materials inside them are very inferior. When I visited the cathedral a number of years ago the famous "whispering gallery" was closed off as unsafe, a stark example that there may be both a profanity of speech and a profanity of deeds.

Today there are many who are saying that man has outgrown his need for God. Of those who are replying adamantly with their lips, "Not true! not true!", there are some who by the profanity of their deeds are also saying: "Amen. God is dead!" "Why do you call me 'Lord, Lord,' and do not what I tell you?"

THE FAMILY LAWYER

HANDLE WITH CARE

To clean her rugs, a housewife made use of a powerful cleaning fluid. But, working in a closed room, she inhaled so much of the lethal fumes that she died. Was the manufacturer of the cleaning fluid legally liable for her death?

After a court test, the company was indeed held liable—mainly because of a misleading label on the can. The brand name, in large letters, strongly implied that the product was safe to use. As for danger the only warning was small and inconspicuous.

Damage suits are rising with growing frequency in the field of "product liability." One key issue is the responsibility of a manufacturer to warn the consumer of possible danger.

Sometimes the matter is covered by specific statutory requirements, such as marking poison with a skull and crossbones. But even without any specific requirements, a manufacturer generally has a duty to give warning, when needed, of dangers inherent in his wares.

For, in this age of synthetic and complex products, the consumer is often unable to detect those dangers for himself.

"Such a dependent society," said one judge, "must exact greater care than in more simple days and must require from manufacturers or producers increased integrity and caution as the only protection of its safety and well-being."

Nevertheless, the law will not blame the manufacturer for every mishap in which his product plays a part. He need not warn the consumer of hazards that should be obvious.

For instance, the manufacturer need not place a HANDLE WITH CARE notice on a hammer, just because it can mash your thumb. Or on a needle, just because it can puncture your skin.

Nor is the manufacturer liable if his warning, although properly given, is not properly heeded.

Thus, a man who was burned by an inflammable adhesive was held not entitled to damages from the manufacturer. He had used the product near an open flame, even though the container carried a plain and pointed warning not to do so.

In short, the manufacturer does owe you fair warning of danger. After that it's up to you.

VIEW FROM MY KITCHEN WINDOW

July is so often a month of drought in our area, and this one is no exception. Once again, pastures are sere and brown, and farmers must resort to feeding the hay which normally would be kept for winter. Our little stream has been dried up for weeks, except down in the woods where it runs deepest. The vegetable garden cannot possibly produce very much, unless the rains come soon. Even the hardest weeds are beginning to droop. The only farming activities which benefit from such dry conditions are hay curing and combining. No situation is, after all, completely bad.

As I think about droughts and their effects upon our land, it seems to me that we humans also suffer droughts in our personal lives. So many of us, for example, are dried up spiritually. We are racked with the fevers of greed and materialism, grabbing money, houses, pleasure, land, cars, furniture and clothes. The more we grab, the less satisfied we are and the more we want. If we cannot have what we crave, we put like spoiled children. Many of us, it is true, attend church on Sunday, but the hour is no sooner past than any spiritual moisture we may have absorbed soon evaporates, and we are back in the red hot race for "things."

Then there is intellectual drought. In the racket and din of modern-day living, the deep pools of our mind soon stagnate and are drained. Who can honestly think and meditate, living under the hectic schedules which so many—either of necessity or by choice—follow? Americans, it seems to me, must constantly be on the go, must constantly be surrounded by noise. It almost seems as if they are afraid of silence and deep thinking. The twin droughts of hatred and intolerance go hand in hand, drying up the springs of love and understanding which must flow within our hearts if we are to "love our neighbor as ourselves." Human beings everywhere are our neighbors, for all have souls, all suffer pain, all have problems, all must finally die.

Only the gentle soaking showers, which July may yet bring, can revive our arid land. By the same token, only the refreshing showers of love, compassion and tolerance, as taught by Jesus Christ, can revive our thirsty spirits, minds and hearts.

—Zola Cantwell

AMOSS REUNION

The 14th annual Amoss reunion was held Sunday at Big Pipe Creek Park with 65 persons present.

Dwayne Amoss, son of Mr. and Mrs. Calvin Amoss, Baptist Road, Taneytown, offered prayer. Carolyn Amoss, program chairman and director of children's games, gave a very interesting afternoon program.

Prizes were given to the oldest person present, Howard Amoss, 94 years; youngest person, Robert Ridgely, 3 months; longest distance, Mrs. Munikhsen; largest family present, Mr. and Mrs. Calvin Amoss and sons Randy, Johnny, twins Dwight and Dwayne and Scott; door prize, Richard Amoss.

Wayne Amoss told a story about his pet lion Horace. The George Amoss family gave a little skit about a hillbilly family who were "Just too tired to move!" An afternoon ball game was enjoyed by both young and old.

REINDOLLAR REUNION

The 25th annual Reindollar Reunion was held in Taneytown's Memorial Park on July 10, with approximately 35 members present. After a picnic lunch, a short business meeting was brought to order by president Wallace Reindollar.

The officers for the following year are: president, Mr. Wallace Reindollar; vice-president, Mrs. Robert Baumgardner; secretary, Miss Joan Reindollar; treasurer, Mr. Henry I. Reindollar, Jr.; and historian, Mrs. Jean Behney. The entertainment committee consisting of Mr. and Mrs. James Behney, presented a short program of recitations by the young children and led the group in several contests. Ice cream was then served to all.

The longest application ever filed at the U. S. Patent Office had 266 pages of text and 354 drawings.

"LITTLE MISS COUNTRY GIRL"

Eleven girls, ages 10 and 11, entered the contest on Saturday, July 16 at 2:30 P.M. The contest was held at the carnival given for the benefit of Muscular Dystrophy victims. This took place in Speaks' backyard, just off Crouse Mill Road and was well attended.

We would like to thank everyone, who in any way, helped to make this carnival a success. Mrs. Barbara Baumgardner and Mrs. Linda Hopkins gave of their time to come and be judges and Mrs. Dharlys Fleharty so graciously served as M.C. in the absence of "Happy Johnny", who would have come, but a former commitment prevented him from doing so.

The contestants were: Patty Bowlers, Debbie Sholl, Phyllis Orndorff, Sharon Glacken, Tina Grossnickle, Pam Sholl, Mary Martin, Joanne Barnhouse, Diane Musser, Barbara Ann Gross and Dawn Speak.

Their talents varied greatly and the judges had a hard time making their decisions. The five finalists were: Diane Musser, Tina Grossnickle, Mary Martin, Phyllis Orndorff and Dawn Speak.

The second runner-up was Mary Martin, Union Bridge; the first runner-up was Phyllis Orndorff, Middleburg. The girls voted among themselves for the girl most easy to get along with. This resulted in a three-way tie. The winners for "Miss Congeniality" were: Diane Musser, Barbara Ann Gross and Dawn Speak.

The winner of the crown and title, "Little Miss Country Girl" for 1966 was Tina Grossnickle, Union Bridge. The girls seemed to be in favor of having another contest next year. If your little girl missed out on entering this year, maybe she can get in next year's contest and I hope she is a winner.

P.S.:—The neighborhood cooperation was fantastic.
