Holiday Greetings Can Be Sent To Servicemen

The link between you and friends or loved ones overseas with the military during the coming holiday season is as close as a telephone call or letter. The Military Affiliate Radio Station, known commonly as MARS, is now operating daily sending messages of 25 words or less to servicemen all over the world. The local radio station is able to step up its operations in order to keep pace with a growing number of Christmas messages being sent over-seas by stateside friends and relatives of servicemen.

Local amateur radio operator James W. Sell, (K30RW) and MARS mem-ber (AA30RW, says that while it is not always possible to relay messages to certain restricted front line com-bat units in Vietnam, it is possible to get messages through to many of the men serving in Vietnam. Anyone attempting to send a mes-sage to one of these restricted units will be told at the time he delivers it to the station that it cannot be accepted. Delivery of most messages dially invited. overseas can be made within 48 hours. There is no charge for this service.

The MARS stations in our area are operated by a handful of volunteer "Ham" radio operators, as such sta-tions are generally operated all over the world. Only a small amount of its equipment is officially issued. The local station is self-owned and is not supported financially by the government, except for a few parts issued from surplus stocks.

When a message is given the local MARS station, it is relayed by voice radio to Fort Meade, where it is prepared for radio teletype transmis-sion overseas. From Fort Meade the Anyone wishing to send a message overseas through the local MARS sta-tion can telephone 756-2108 (evenings), or write Box 82, Taneytown, Md. It is requested that all Christ-mas messages be submitted by De-cember 19, to insure overseas delivery by Christmas.

WITH THE ARMED FORCES

SIOUX CITY, Iowa—Airman First Class Mark E. Shuttlesworth, son of Mr. and Mrs. Dudley A. Dirzvwiet of 12 Gamber Road, Finksburg, Md., has helped his organization win the covet-ed Smith Trophy as the best air defense ground unit in the U.S. Air Force.

Airman Shuttlesworth is a member of the Air Defense Command's (ADC) 30th Air Division, which received the trophy during ceremonies at Sioux City, Iowa, Nov. 19. The airman is assigned at Chandler Air Force Station, Minn., as a radar repairman. His division, headquartered at Sioux City Air Base and composed of 23 widely-scattered units, maintains air surveillance over the U. S. central plains with the Semi-Automatic Ground Environment (SAGE) radar system.

Airman Shuttlesworth and other division personnel won the trophy for the best defensive combat capability during the year by scoring 6,930 of a possible 7,000 points. One phase of the stiff competition included a computer-simulated enemy air attack. It tested the division's operational readi-ness to detect, identify and, if unfriendly, intercept and destroy approaching aircraft.

The roating trophy was originally sponsored in 1963 by the Night Fighter Association to promote, through competition, the efficiency of isolated air defense ground units. The award is named for retired General Frederic H. Smith, Jr., once deputy commander of ADC and later Air Force Vice Chief of Staff. The 30th, then known as the Sioux City Air Defense Sector, as the Sioux City Air Determined won the first award of the trophy.

Airman Shuttlesworth is a 1961 graduate of Milford Mill High School, Pikesville, Md.

CHICAGO INCIDENT

News reports, a short time ago, told of a virtual breakdown in mail handling at the Chicago post office. Millions of pieces of mail accumulated creating a critical jam with resultant delays that led a troubleshooter from the Postmaster General to propose that large amounts of third-class mail be destroyed. Caught in the backlog were 5,600 sacks of parcel post. Blame for the crisis was placed on a high rate of absenteeism, a high volume of pre-Christmas advertising matter and the difficulty of recruiting new employees. The basic problem, according to a report in U. S. News & World Report, ". . . appears to be a growing shortage of dedicated labor that once made good mail serwice possible in many places. Up to now, nobody has come up with a machine that can replace this kind of labor.'

What makes the incident noteworthy is the fact that the Post Office Department is busily engaged in expanding parcel post under recently granted congressional authority to increase size and weight limitations of parcel post packages. While the Post Office Department cannot appear to handle the business it already has, it is endeavoring to take over what amounts to the freight business of taxpaying private carriers, such as REA Express. These carriers have developed modern handling techniques and provide worldwide service as well as domestic. Packages are handled with dispatch and efficiency with the help of the latest equipment and automated terminals.

About 11 per cent of all the oil and 6 per cent of all the natural gas found in the world have been discovered on the continental shelves, reports the Western Oil and Gas Association. It has been estimated that the continental shelves may contain close to 700 billion barrels of hydrocarbons, and that in the next 20 years, the free world may obtain one-fourth of its oil and gas requirements from beneath the oceans.

Human Events reports: "The second session of the 89th Congress racked up appropriations of $145 billion - the highest spending level since the World War II peak of $147 billion. . . .'

According to a forecast made by the Edison Electric Institute, by 1970, the nation's investor-owned electric utility companies expect to almost double their power-producing capabilities of 1960.

Mr. Ernest G. Swigert, the highly articulate head of a large heavy equipment company, has a way of discussing questions of principle with a conviction that is all too often sadly lacking in most public utterances. Recently he observed: "I don't know why it is that every generation will accept the accumulated knowledge in medicine and science and build new achievements on that foundation, but when it comes to economics they have to learn the hard way. There is always some professor or politician who has a new scheme to repeal the laws of economics; but I suspect the laws of economics are just as immutable as the laws of physics."

It is easy to imagine the cry that would be raised if a private carrier even suggested solving its shipping problems by throwing away excess shipments! Public reaction would be swift and merciless. Stern remedial action would be demanded.

The incident in Chicago should serve as a warning of what may be expected if parcel post is ever permitted to drive out of business through subsidized competition the taxpaying, investor-owned express companies.

FACTS AND OPINIONS

Nobel Prize winner in physics, Dr. William Shockley asked in a speech recently: "Can it be that our humanitarian welfare programs have already selectively emphasized high and irresponsible rates of reproduction to produce a socially, relatively unadaptable human strain? Such a possibility, which in principle need not be racially selective, can extrapolate in our grandchildren's time 50 years from now to a five-fold increase in relief burden as the segment of our own population on relief increases from one person in 25 to about one in five."

Congressman Wendell Wyatt of Oregon says, "Inflation is creating new classes of poor faster than any poverty program can help them." He also contends, ". . . An increase in also contends, ". . . An increase in taxes . . . will not cure our problem unless accompanied by a decrease in spending."

The American Medical Association suggests if anyone tries to sell you a "cold-cure," save your money. "Many of the classic diseases of history have succumbed in the 20th century to new medical skills and modern drugs. But the cold virus still successfully resists the best efforts of the world's combined medical research talent."

During a TV interview, Robert Love, designer of children's clothes, shows a machine washable dress, one of the first pure wool dresses to be manufactured by his company in 15 years. This dress has been awarded the "wool mark," shown in the background.

A article in a national magazine reports that this fall an esti-mated 450 different wool items for men, women and children are being treated by distinctive new processes that make them ma-chine washable with negligible shrinkage. — Author Joe Alex Morris writes in the article, "At Last: Woolens You Can Wash by Machine", that he checked out the manufac-turer's claim that his new 100% wool shirt was machine washable. After tossing the shirt in a washing machine with the rest of the family laundry, he observed that "not only did it look store-new, but I could detect no change in its fit." — The author describes a laboratory demonstration where an 18-inch square of wool fabric shrank only an eighth of an inch after washing and spin drying in an ordinary washing machine with a load of unprocessed laundry. — Mr. Merris notes that there are now at least 16 different proc-esses on the market, including one developed by the Wool Bureau, Inc., U.S. branch of the International Wool Secretariat. — He concludes his Reader's Digest feature: "It's high time we found art about the version of the International Wool Secretariat.

He concludes his Reader's Digest feature: "It's high time we found out about the wonderful new world of wool."

FAIRVIEW

Well here we are with Thanksgivng over and Christmas just around the corner-it just doesn't seem possible this year has gone by so quick-ly; but we are so thankful for the Many blessings the Lord has be-stowed upon us this past year. We have had heart aches, troubles and sorrow, yet God was ever present to help us through—giving us privileges we never had before. My husband and I attended the afternoon session of the Bible Conference on Monday, which was held at the Edgewood First Church of God of North America and where Rev. Paul Mooré is pastor. The message, "Man-Way Salvation" was brought to us by Rev. Thomas Douglas the general eldership's Evangelist. His text was taken from Prov. 14:12. There is a way which seemeth right unto man, but the end thereof are the ways of death. There were many ways discussed as to man's way of salvation. We would of loved to have heard the evening message, "God's Way of Salvation," but the weather did not permit us to stay. It snowed so hard it made driving hazardous;

but we arrived home safe for which we give God the glory. We are sorry to learn Mrs. David Forney of Copperville is back in the Gettysburg Hospital again. We wish her a speedy recovery; also, we are sorry to learn Mrs. Florence Foreman, near Taneytown is ill at the home of her daughter and son-inlaw, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Parker of Union Bridge. Then to, Mrs. John Heltebridle of Uniontown had the misfortune to fall, injuring her legs and is now being cared for by her daughter, Mrs. Pindor of Baltimore. We sincerely wish all these a speedy recovery. We are also glad to report Mrs. Mary Flickinger of Uniontown who has been a patient for some time now in the Carroll County Hospital in Westminster expects to return home this week Mr. Raymond Pittinger, near Westminster, called on his brother-in-law and wife, Mr. and Mrs. David Forney of Copperville one day last week. He informed them he is planning a trip to Denver, Colorado, to visit his daughter and family, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Berngen.

Harry Berngen. Michael, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Duble of Taneytown, spent Thanks-giving Day in the home of his uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Josiah Red-dick and family, near Baust Church. Mrs. Ralph Eyler spent Monday in the home of Mrs. Wm. Duble and Mrs. Grant Baker, E. Baltimore Street, Taneytown. Taneytown.

KEYSVILLE - DETOUR

Greetings to you:

Taking first things first, here is some news which reached me too late for last week's column since it had to go in early for the holiday edition. A Hymn Sing was held at Haugh's

Church near Detour and Ladiesburg on Sunday evening, Nov. 20. Among those who sang were Johnsville Ruri-tan Club Quartet, Mt. Tabor and Keysville Lutheran Church choirs, Mrs. Joseph Six of Beaverdam, Mr. and Mrs. David Reifsnider of Keymar, Hanover Men's Group, Mt. Zion Lutheran Junior Chorus and also group singing.

Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Albaugh near Detour did their butchering on Saturday, the 19th. Among those who helped and visited were Mr. and Mrs. Mrs. Francis Haines and daughters, Littlestown Rt. 2, Pa., Mrs. Earl An-gell and daughters, Mt. Airy, Mrs. Robert Strickhouser, Mrs. George Ohler and Mrs. Howard Kump. Visitors during the week with Ber-nice and Georgia Hiteshew were Mrs. Ernest Eyler, Mrs. Luther Fox and Mrs. Clarence Baker. Visitors during the week with Mrs. Oharo Clabaugh were Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Clabaugh and Sandy. Lit-Smith, Sr., Larry, Jerry, Jimmy, Ricky, Randy, Jeffery and Joann Denise of Rocky Ridge. They also celebrated Mrs. Albaugh's 69th birthday Karl Smith, Jr., of Rocky Ridge, who is now in the service, has been moved from South Carolina to Kentucky. Here is his new address: Pvt. Karl J. Smith, Jr., N.G. 23278475, Maneuver H.G., Co. E., H.H.C. 101, A.B.N. Div., Fort Campbell, Ken-tucky 42223. Mail would surely be appreciated by him and all the other boys who are in the service. (Especially this time of year, I'm sure you'll agree.)

And in this corner, the name of Unitas leads all the rest. And we are not merely going by the record book which shows the ace quarterback for the Baltimore Colts setting all kinds of records and within slingshot of quite a few others.

Unitas has that rare ability of being able to inspire a team to greater heights. That is an intangible difficult to find in any record book especially among quarterbacks. Last year, the Colts seemed to have the Western Division title all wrapped up in the National Football League. But Unitas received a knee injury by Tom Matte as a replacement, the Green Bay Packers beat the Colts for High team set: Hot Rods 3, Mus-tangs 1, Five Rods 4, Union Bridge Fire Department 0, Rainbow Lanes 4, T. the Colts worried about Unitas. They wondered if he would be able to show his old wizardy on the field. Unitas did not keep them wondering very long. He was his old self out on the gridiron once the season started and he has been a standout ever since.

He's really good.

Here are some capsule observations and comments-

「「「「「「「「」」」」」。 SANTA JOINS THE JET SET!

Dancer, Prancer, Vixen and the rest of Santa's hard working reindeer fleet will have a pretty easy time of it this Christmas. Latest word from the North Pole is that Mr. Claus will be using huge jet planes to deliver his millions of goodies throughout the United States.

And who could blame the jolly gentleman for choosing the swiftest, most efficient and most reliable way to get the job done!

The air transportation industry daily performs tasks that would have seemed incredible just a few short years ago. The new all-freight jet giants can easily lift 92,000 pounds of cargo and whisk it across the continent at 600 miles-per-hour! And each of the passenger flights from New York to Los Angeles can carry 20,000 lbs. in the baggage compartment.

Americans are taking to the air at un amazing rate and they are also taking advantage of air shipping to send just about curything-from birthday cakes to automobile engines-to every corner of the land in a matter of hours.

Probably the most unique air shipping service-at Christmas as well as through the year—is Air Express. A partnership be-tween all 39 schedu's U.S. airlines and REA Ex; ess, Air | narrow chimneys.

Express provides door-to-door pickup and delivery service between 21,000 cities and towns in the U.S., Canada and Puerto Rico within 24 hours-and often sooner.

This combination of the airlines' fleet of aircraft and REA's 13,500 trucks is ideally suited to meet the needs of a Santa Claus, a businessman, or a housewife. The whole process of sending a package-whether it's a Christmas gift to a son stationed at an Army base or a thousand pound piece of machinery-from here to there is incredibly simple. A phone call to Air Express quickly brings a truck to your door. Your shipment is rushed to the airport and put aboard the first flight of any airline

Fresh Pears-Lunch Box Treasures

It's time to give a lift to the lunch box set, those 33,000,000 "square meal" eaters of America who carry lunches with them every weekday. Surely, they deserve the best, something in addition to sand-wiches and snacks to "tide them over" till the next good meal. Of course, the sandwich is the standard starting point, but still there ought to be excitement in the luncheon break, especially for children, who delight in small surprises; so consider some-thing special in each day's lunch box. We don't suggest a swing to some perennial Pandora's Box of treasures. Instead, let's just be realistic and remember that the worker and the student need nutrition more than adventure, yet with just a little planning, you can put a bit of both inside the box. Bartletts Easy to Pack eating satisfaction makes the meal complete and leaves you with a cool, clean fresh-fruit aftertaste, with energy as well. As Bartletts ripen, their green skin turns to a golden yellow and the pears develop into a sweet juicy fruit. Easy to pack and convenient to eat, smooth-textured, succulent Pacific Coast fresh Bartlett pears are low in calories and need no peeling. Just like discovering gold in the lunch box.

THE BIBLE SPEAKS BY LAWRENCE W. ALTHOUSE Something To Change Lesson For December 4, 1966 Background Scripture: Isaiah 9:2-7; 11:1-9.

Devotional Reading: Isaiah 9:2-7.

Standing before the congregation of a small church near his summer home in Heath, Mass., one summer norming in 1934, theologian Reinhold Niebuhr prayed: "O God, give us seren-ity to accept what cannot be from the other. At the close of the service, H. C. Robbins, a summer neigh Rev. Althouse bor, asked if he might have a copy of the prayer and was handed the original with these words: "Here, take the prayer. I have no further use for it." What Niebuhr discarded so casually, Christians everywhere have reached for gratefully and today its three petitions are frequently repeated and paraphrased.

The Uninevitable

Three petitions - for serenity to accept, for courage to change, for wisdom to distinguish. The most crucial of these today, perhaps, is the "wisdom to distin-guish" between what can and cannot be changed. Too many of us are engaged in a frantic quest for serenity in a world we assume we cannot change. Among the "given things" of this world which we accept with fatalistic resignation is WAR. We talk about "the next war" as if it were an inevitability. A minister of a large church recently scheduled a Sunday evening forum on the subject: "The Christian And The Race For Peace." Five people were all who came and three of these were people who had forgotten the nature of the subject, coming out of loyalty to the minister. Explained one absent member of the official board, "I didn't come because there didn't seem to be anything to discuss: it's out of our hands. If war comes, 11 comes, and if it doesn't, it doesn't - there's nothing we can do one way or the other." This man chose to pray for serenity in the face of something he was sure he couldn't change

This is probably the majority view. From the perspective of immediate action or response, it is true. Nothing I do today will persuade the North Vietnamese to remove their troops from South Viet Nam, nor influence the reunion of Germany, nor end the persecution in South

Casserole cookery has been a joy for homemakers since the first oven proof dish was invented. The convenience of combining several compatible foods in one dish for baking and serving is appealing to the busy homemaker as well as the one who has unlimited time for experimental cookery. Corned Beef with Rice Bake should appeal to the short-of-time cook as well as her more leisurely counterpart. The all-in-one dish meal is easily and quickly assembled — a boon to the busy homemaker — and derives its excellent flavor from the carefully chosen ingredients, which should please those who are more con-cerned with taste than time. Cooked rice is the important ingredient of this casserole for it cerned with taste than time. Cooked rice is the important ingredient of this casserole for it absorbs all the goodness of the zesty flavored foods with which it is combined — corned beef, onion, parsley, Cheddar cheese and curry powder — and mellows them in a most palatable way.

Corned Beef With Rice Bake ¹/₂ cup finely chopped onion ¹/₄ cup chopped fresh parsley 2 tablespoons butter or 1/4 teaspoon pepper

- margarine
- 1 can (10¹/₂ ozs.) condensed cream of chicken soup
- 1/2 cup milk eggs, slightly beaten
- 1 teaspoon salt

Cook onion and parsley in butter until tender. Stir in soup, milk, eggs, seasonings and green peas. Heat until hot, but do not boil. Add rice and corned beef. Turn into a greased 2-quart casse-role. Top with grated cheese. Bake at 350 degrees for 25 minutes. Makes 6 to 8 servings

Africa. No deed I could do, no word I could say will ease the threat of atomic destruction that hangs by a thread over the world. Neither I nor my next door neighbor can constructively change the world today, tomorrow, or next week. So how can the individual Christian have any responsibility for world peace?

Saving Face, Losing Soul

Someone has said, "My neighborhood is the world in miniature." What he meant, of course, is that the world reflects at large the specific human problems and resources which provide the dynamics that operate between people in a local com-munity. Basically, both my community and my world are governed by the principle of returning evil for evil. This principle goes by many names: "honor," "face," "courage," "self-preservation," "justice," etc., but the essence is always the same. My desire is for peace, my reli-gious convictions counsel love, but my "honor" requires that I return the blow I receive.

Peace among nations can hardly be achieved so long as individual men live by the law of "eye for eye" and "tooth for tooth." Almost daily we read the letters-to-the-editors of those who want to salvage American honor, return insult for insult, threat for threat, bomb now – pray later. If ever the way of Christ is to prevail we must begin to witness to the conviction that love is more powerful than retaliation, that it is necessary to "bless those who curse you," to "repay no one evil for evil," to leave vengeance to God alone. We will never overcome evil with more evil.

Paul says, "So far as it de-pends upon you, live peacably with all . . ." God give us the wisdom to understand the extent to which responsibility for world peace does rest upon us and to know that war is something we can change.

Zesty Green Rice is different. Men like it because of its abun-Zesty Green Rice is different. Men like it because of its abun-dance of flavor and the beautiful way it accompanies the entrees they prefer, the broiled and roasted meats, poultry and seafood. From the feminine viewpoint, the rice adds attraction and glamour as well as good taste to the menu, is easy to prepare, to serve and to eat, and never fails to win compliments for the hostess. Zesty Green Rice consists of rice enriched with chicken flavor and topped with a masterfully-seasoned sour cream sauce. Note that the sauce is not heated before being spooned over the freshly-cooked hot rice. There's no need to heat it; the warmth of the rice does that while still retaining the most attractive appearance of the dish. And the washing of one saucepan is eliminated; wel-come news these busy days.

the dish. And the washing of one saucepan is eminiated; wel-come news these busy days. Simply cooking the rice in chicken broth instead of water gives it its chicken-rich taste. That's one of the nice things about rice: in its mild-mannered way, it absorbs and enhances, never masks, the goodness of other ingredients added to it, so that it can be used as few other foods can be. In this dish, it's the ideal base for the lavish sauce.

Zesty Green Rice

3 cups chicken broth $1\frac{1}{2}$ cups uncooked rice teaspoon salt 1 clove garlic, crushed 1/3 cup chopped parsley 2 tablespoons anchovy paste 3 tablespoons tarragon wine vinegar Coarsely-ground black

1/2 cup chopped parsley pepper 1/2 cup chopped green origin 11/2 cups sour cream

Combine broth, rice, and sait in a 3-quart saucepan. Heat to boiling; stir once. Cover, reduce the heat and simmer for 14 ininutes, or until liquid is absorbed. Blend garlic, parsley, green onion, anchovy paste, vinegar and pepper into sour cream. To serve, spoon sour cream mixture over cooked rice and serve as vegetable. Makes 6 to 8 servings.

It is no wonder that many people resent such treatment. Prying into private effects, like rummaging through private homes, is surely not the usual prerogative of our government

In fact the Constitution itself, in the Fourth Amendment, forbids any "unreasonable search and seizure."

But examining your luggage at the border is an exception—and for a good reason. Bringing merchandise into the country is not your inherent right, but only a privilege, granted on terms the government may choose to impose.

"The necessity of enforcing the cus-toms laws," explained a federal court, "has always restricted the rights of privacy of those engaged in crossing the international boundary."

Furthermore, to make sure it isn't cheated, the government may be firm indeed in enforcing its rules and regulations. For instance:

For instance: One woman complained of having to disrobe (in the presence of a female official) as part of a customs search. She argued that this was improper, in the absence of any "prob-able cause" to believe she was hiding something able cause something. "This was a border search; and "This was a well as any other, must while it, as well as any other, must be lawfully conducted, different rules are applicable to search at the border and search anywhere else."

Isn't this hard on tourists? Per-haps it is. Yet, consider the practical

In one case, customs agents stop-ped a suspected smuggler of narcotics after he was 70 miles inside the border. Sure enough, they found her-oin in his pocket. But this damning evidence was rejected in court he evidence was rejected in court, be-cause the agents had searched the man without the required "probable cause.

How much better to catch such people at the border, said a federal judge, than to play hide-and-seek with them afterward.

WITH THE ARMED FORCES

ABERDEEN PROVING GROUND, Isn't this hard on tourists? Per-haps it is. Yet, consider the practical problems of law enforcement faced by the government. Once a person gets past customs, the Fourth Amend-ment takes over—and the chance of catching a smuggler may be lost In one case, customs agents stop-
