REAL HARDWOOD WALL WON BY LOCAL RESIDENT

A real hardwood wall, offered free by The Taneytown Grain & Supply Company to call attention to the many new ideas for interior decorating now available in Taneytown, has just been won by Mr. Roger R. Devilbiss of R.D. 1 Union Bridge.

From a choice of pecan, oak, walnut, elm and birch in a new factory finished Chateau style of hardwood plywood wall paneling by Georgia-Pacific, Mr. Devilbiss chose a beautiful wall of walnut with accented stained grooves for a random plank effect.

The Chateau paneling, one of several new ideas now available through G-P dealers, has a permanent factory finish. Although it is strong, three-ply plywood, it is only 1/4-inch thick and light in weight. It can be applied quickly over any old wall or in new construction with either adhesive or small nails. Such plywood needs no varnishing, painting or other finishing.

Other new ideas in such wood paneling include even inlaid plywoods that combine two different wood species in new decorative ideas. Another style looks like solid 1-inch hardwood planks in a choice of wood species, but actually is the same 4x8-foot or longer lightweight plywood that can change the entire appearance of a home with a minimum of work and budget.

PREFIX NAME APPROVED FOR LOCAL DAIRY HERD OWNER

George and Sharon Cashehl, Taneytown, will have the exclusive use of the prefix "Cashells" in naming all registered Holstein dairy animals bred in that herd.

This prefix name use has been granted by Holstein-Friesian Association of America and has become a part of official breed records at the organization's headquarters in Brattleboro, Vermont.

Nearly 1,500 prefixes are reserved for registered Holstein breeders each year. Over 42,000 now on file are used to give distinctive names to home-bred cattle. Reservation and use of these prefix names became an active membership requirement in 1965.

In using an exclusive prefix name for his animals, the purebred Holstein breeder establishes a "trade mark" which is used in all published information concerning the performance of his dairy animals.

The origination of prefix names often stems from farm names, family name combinations, or unique geographical or historical features of the farm operation. Thus, the exclusive nature of each prefix is preserved in selecting a "one and only" term.

"THE STRANGER OF BETHLEHEM" TO BE PRESENTED AT FRIZELLBURG

The Church of God at Frizellburg, Md., will have its annual Christmas program Sunday, January 1 at 9:30 A. M. This program was originally set for December 24th, but due to the snow storm it has been rescheduled for Sunday.

The entire planned program will be presented at this time. The Junior Sunday School department will present various recitations and exercises that have reference to the birth of Jesus Christ. The children will also sing songs of Christmas. Immediately following the children's service the adults of the Sunday School will act out a Christmas pageant entitled, "The Stranger of Bethlehem." The characterization of the story of Christmas will be made realistic by the full dress costumes of the Biblical characters as they enter the story. The pageant will be supported by the choir who will sing the traditional Christmas hymns at appropriate times during the pageant. The public is invited.

Ki-Wives and Kiwanis Hold Christmas Party

The Kiwanis Club held its Christmas Party on Wednesday evening, December 21 at Taney Inn. The Ki-Wives were hostesses and Mrs. Paul Morelock presided during the evening's festivities.

Following the dinner of delicious fried chicken, etc., there was group singing of Christmas carols with David Reifsnider as song leader, Mrs. Leonard Reifsnider was the pianist. A film entitled "The Littlest Angel" was shown.

The highlight of the evening was the appearance of Santa Claus who was very generous with gifts for the children present.

From the sparkle and gleam in the children's eyes and the smile on the faces of adults it appeared that truly a "good time was had" by all present.

A report was made by Kiwanis Oliver Leaking that 37 pairs of rubber footwear were distributed to needy children of this community.

MAJOR MEMBERSHIP GAIN MADE BY FARM BUREAU

Maryland Farm Bureau achieved a major gain in 1966 membership for a total of 10,000 farm family members, 142 over last year's tally and an all-time high for the past seven years.

Maryland was one of 38 state Farm Bureau units recognized for 1966 membership quota achievements at the recent December annual meeting of the American Farm Bureau Federation in Las Vegas, Nevada.

"An increased percentage of all farmers are voluntarily joining Farm Bureau because they realize that only through organization can they achieve a voice in public affairs, as well as work together for better farm living," said E. Rankin Lusby, executive secretary of Maryland's largest farmer-member group.

Eighteen of the twenty-three county Farm Bureau units reached their membership goals or made a gain over the previous year's results. Sixteen goal counties are Allegany, Baltimore, Calvert, Caroline, Cecil, Charles, Dorchester, Howard, Kent, Montgomery, St. Mary's, Somerset, Talbot, Washington, Wicomico and Worcester.

Counties not making goal but a gain over last year's production are Carroll with an increase of 16, and Frederick with 12 additional members. Baltimore County, with a membership of 641, had the highest number over goal, a total of 61. Wicomico County showed the greatest gain with 42 members over their 1965 count.

All the counties obtaining their goal and showing a gain in membership will be given recognition at the annual meeting of Maryland Farm Bureau on January 20 at the Washingtonian Motel and Country Club, Gaithersburg.

Farm Bureau is a free, independent, non-governmental, voluntary organization of farm families united for the purposes of analyzing their problems and formulating activities to achieve educational improvement, economic opportunity and social advancement.

FIRE DAMAGES HOME

Fire in the front wall partition back of the fireplace of the home of Charles Gatuso on Feeder Road December 23 at 5:00 P. M. was extinguished by the Taneytown Fire Co. They used booster lines off of two trucks and had to cut two holes in the inside wall to get to the blaze, where it was confined. Chief Thurston Putman reported the damage wasn't too heavy. The firemen stayed on the scene for about an hour.

RESULT OF A PUBLIC HEARING

At a public hearing held on December 14, 1966, the Board of County Commissioners approved the recommendations of the Carroll County Planning and Zoning Commission relative to the areas recently annexed by the Towns of Manchester and Mt. Airy. These areas have been deleted from the official zoning maps of Carroll County and are no longer subject to the Carroll County zoning regulations.

The Planning Commission notes in its findings that where land is annexed into a municipality which has no zoning, such land will, therefore, lose its zoning classification. Prior zoning becomes ineffective immediately upon such incorporation or annexation since it is a well recognized rule that two municipalities do not have coextensive powers of government over the same area.

COUNTY COMMISSIONERS THANK ROADS PERSONNEL

The County Commissioners on Tuesday expressed appreciation on behalf of the citizens of Carroll County for the efforts made by its County Roads personnel to keep its major highways open during the Christmas holidays. It was cited that most of the men did not spend Christmas with their families. Many worked practically continuously from Saturday morning until Monday evening.

"It is men like these," said the Commissioners, "that need the pat on the back. They enabled many families to have a more enjoyable Christmas holiday."

Roads were reported drifting badly even on Sunday evening and several of the secondary county roads were closed as a result until Monday.

Roads officials continue to ask that citizens of the county keep ample supplies of food and fuel available, pointing out that approximately 800 miles of county roads are impossible to keep open during drifting snows.

Observe 50th Wedding Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. G. Raymond Roop, Route 2, Emmitsburg, were honored at open house by their son and daughter-in-law in observance of their 50th Wedding Anniversary on Sunday, December 11, 1966, from 1:00 P. M. to 8:00 P. M. They were married on December 12, 1916, at the Methodist Parsonage, Thurmont, Md., by the late Rev. Rose, Mrs. Helen McNair, Emmitsburg, was the couple's matron of honor, and Mr. Lloyd Dern, Taneytown, was best man and both were present to help celebrate the occasion. Mr. and Mrs. Roop are the parents of one son, Murray R. Roop, Emmitsburg.

Presiding at the guest book for the celebration was Mrs. Theodore Wolfe, Jr., Emmitsburg. Mrs. Harry Weber, Taneytown, and Mrs. Paul Shafer, Shookstown, Md., nieces of Mrs. Roop, were at the gift table. Mrs. Ray D. Riley, Westminster, served the anniversary cake. Mrs. Grover Stansbury, Ladiesburg, Md., served at the punch table. Miss Beulah Roop, Frederick, sister of Mrs. Roop, was in charge of refreshments, with the assistance of Mrs. Howard Stansbury, Woodsboro, and Mrs. Charles Grimes and Miss Debra Ann Wolfe, both of Emmitsburg. The couple received many useful gifts. Approximately 225 guests attended the celebration.

WINTER IN THE COUNTRY

On snowy feet, Winter creeps silently over the hill. Here in the country, this season is much more pronounced than in the town or city, for Winter dispenses its gifts (and vices) to rural residents with a lavish hand. Winds are more biting, temperatures skid lower, and the snow seems deeper, colder, and whiter.

In the rural areas, nothing mars the pure, soft beauty of a whipped-cream covered country-side. Only the wind fans and molds the snow into its own original patterns, and for a while the world is clothed in innocence. However, quite often our lane and the county road become drifted shut, and we find ourselves isolated from the outside world. I find this most unpleasant, for I like people, and sometimes days go by before anyone can get in. At such times, I rely heavily on the telephone. When it goes out, I really feel lost! Often I have vehemently declared that I positively will not spend another Winter in the country, and that I fervently hope never to see another flake of snow. And yet, what would Winter be like without this beautiful but bothersome white stuff? It would be like Spring without violets, Summer without roses, and Autumn without the flaming leaves.

Winter's frigid presence is announced in other ways, as well. Crystal icicles reflect the rays of the sun. Farm-house windows are etched with delicate, ethereal designs, the work of that old master painter, Jack Frost. Lakes and ponds look like huge, frozen confections, luring happy throngs of ice skaters. Naked trees reveal countless bird nests, which the green leaves of Summer kept so well hidden. Hungry birds zoom in and out of the feeder, gorging themselves on sunflower seed, cracked corn and suet. And the wood pile disappears at an alarming rate!

These long chilly evenings add fresh appeal and charm to indoor life. The bubbling sound of the coffee pot, the crackle of the fire, the comfort of my favorite chair, the companionship of a good book—all of these make staying home a pleasant pastime, especially when the wind moans through the chimneys and sleet pelts against the windows of our old house.

For a while, the Arctic weather brings a cessation to Nature's vibrant melody, but this is only temporary. In due time, heeding the irresistible call of the changing seasons, the music will begin again—the Symphony of Spring, Summer, Autumn, and finally, back again to Winter in the Country.

GOVERNOR'S INAUGURAL BALL

The Baltimore Symphony Orchestra will join in the salute to Maryland's new Governor, Spiro T. Agnew, at the Inaugural Ball being planned in his honor in Baltimore, January 27.

Clarke Langrall, chairman of the Inaugural Ball Committee, announced today that the 90-member symphony will play during the first hour of the gala affair at the Fifth Regiment Armory.

This will be the period between 9 and 10 P. M. when guests are going through a receiving line. Music for the remainder of the ball will be provided by the Les and Larry Elgart orchestra, one of the most popular dance bands in the nation.

The Baltimore orchestra, which recorded a symphonic first by playing at a World Series baseball game last October, may register another at the Inaugural Ball.

Oleg Lobanov, general manager of the symphony, said he knows of no similar appearance by a symphony orchestra.

"We consider it a great honor to have been asked to take part in the Inaugural Ball," Lobanov said.

"The Baltimore Symphony Orchestra's relationship with the State of Maryland is unique in the symphonic world. In fact, this season we will perform concerts in every corner of Maryland."

Since this relationship has come about through the cooperation and support of the recent governors of Maryland, we consider this our opportunity to salute them and we are, of course, especially interested in saluting our new Governor, Spiro Agnew, whose interest in the cultural opportunities for our citizens has already been demonstrated.

The Symphony's special program will consist of light, popular selections, including Viennese waltzes.

The huge armory will be turned into a magnificent ballroom, complete with chandeliers, for the ball which will be held two days after Agnew's inauguration at Annapolis.

It will be Maryland's first Inaugural Ball since William Preston Lane, Jr. became Governor in 1947, and is separate and distinct from the Governor's Ball held annually by the Maryland Legislature as one of its major social events.

The Inaugural Ball for Agnew is being planned by a special committee as a non-profit affair. At the request of the governor-elect, any proceeds will go to the Children's Rehabilitation Institute at Reisterstown, a favorite charity of his late mother.

Langrall said admission to the ball will be by invitation only and that a price of approximately $15.00 per person will be set in order to defray expenses. The committee will start mailing invitations late this week. The invitation list, numbering several thousand persons, includes a broad range of public officials, business and civic leaders, key campaign workers and contributors, and members of the general public who have written the committee specifically requesting tickets.

"SPICE 'N' EVERYTHING NICE" (Your Chatty Column)

With all my heart, I wish you every morning a smile that shall last until the next day's dawning. I wish you health—life's greatest wealth; I wish you always near so that I may help to cheer. Each future day and in some way—help to bring you happiness!

Happy, Happy New Year . . .
The Best One Ever . . .

Don't make any New Year resolutions. Folks if you are not going to keep them.

So much cheer around the holidays for there's a warm and tender feeling that's prevailing everywhere . . . for it is just around Christmas and then New Year and just magic in the air . . . troubles seem to float like bubbles and most eyes refuse to cry . . . and even the lowest spirit . . . is raised to places high . . . it's as though the world is captured in a strange enchanting spell . . . people are smiling brightly and wishing each other well . . . would that this wondrous transition could go on throughout the year . . . Life would be a thing of beauty filled with love and free of fear.

How sweet "The First Snow" and "Thanksgiving" was by Zola Cantwell! She must have a beautiful Soul and to think that I did not meet her when I made the special call to her home!

What amazed me during the Holidays, the debt that many have ahead of them for the spending of gifts and facing it for the full year ahead! Ugh!

Hope to be seeing you at the Carroll Mansion House on the 17th of the month and I know that will be interesting for it is the oldest house in Baltimore with all the charm I wrote about some months ago.

And a letter from my only precious brother, Clifford, who resides in New Jersey and writes regularly, states, "Today is Pearl Harbor Day" and what a mess that was! Now, here we are friendly with the Japs and enemies to the Chinese who were our friends then. Sure is a funny world! Allies of the Russians in two wars and now far apart! Even the French. We saved France twice but are not friendly now! It's an odd world we live in! That is the brother who had enlisted in the Navy in World War I, of whom I wrote about in a recent column.

Now, here is the Capricorn sign of those born from December 20 to January 20 inclusive. Saturn, the ruling planet of this sign bestows upon those born herein high moral natures with a most conscientious regard for duties and responsibilities that may rest upon them. They feel instinctively their sense of fitness for position of, or rank above the common level. They feel that wealth and power should be theirs in bountiful measure. Great respect for public opinion is a marked trait. They are most scientific, methodical and stubborn. They will listen to advice but that is all and do exactly as they want to. They are called the balance of the wheels of society. They are fascinating listeners and love pomp and ceremony. They are (the men) great admirers of beauty and personality. They are not at all demonstrative but admire others who are and they never are impulsive. They make wonderful politicians and leaders in any field. They are quite gifted, many having beautiful voices and many have been actresses and actors most successfully. The women are very beautiful and even more so as they get older. They can very easily, when managers, discharge an individual and select another immediately in their place! Many surgeons come out of Capricorn.

Have a grand week-end, Folks. Hope to be seeing you one of these days. D.V.

HAPPY NEW YEAR
ACROSS THE MILES!

AN OPEN LETTER TO THE COUNTY COMMISSIONERS

Board of County Commissioners
Westminster, Md.

Gentlemen:

The Carroll County Planning and Zoning Commission at its meeting on Dec. 23, 1966, has requested that the County Commissioners give every consideration to the maintaining of the staff of the Carroll County Planning and Zoning Commission as well as those employees who are currently administering the Carroll County Zoning Ordinance. The Commission in taking this action is requesting that you as a Board make every effort in the interest of sound planning and sound zoning administration to recognize the knowledge and efficiency which these employees have displayed in the advancement of both programs in Carroll County.

The Commission is speaking specifically of George A. Grier, Director, and Mrs. Nancy Shoemaker, the secretary on the Commission staff. Likewise, the Commission has been working most closely with Mr. Leon Etzler, Zoning Administrator, and Mr. Carl Wihart, Zoning Inspector.

At no time in the past several years have the members of this Commission had any reason to believe that the activities of the Planning Commission staff or the Zoning Administrator's staff are not in the best interest of Carroll County. It is most vital that these employees be retained and that their services be supplemented with additional employees as provided by the budget.

Yours very truly,
E. Miller Richardson
Chairman

FACTS AND OPINIONS

During the last session of Congress, bills were up for consideration which would bar the use of any facility in interstate commerce for the intent of inciting a riot or other violent civil disturbances. During the interim between Congresses, the National Federation of Independent Business conducted a poll to ascertain the attitude of the nation's independent business proprietors on the matter. The results show 81 per cent in favor, 16 per cent opposed, with 3 per cent undecided.

Mr. Gerald L. Phillippe, board chairman of General Electric Company, says: "Only individual effort can provide the leadership to achieve the goals of our society. Only individuals can continue to define and articulate our most cherished values. Only the individual can continue to provide moral leadership."

At the close of fiscal 1966 (June 30), the federal government had 2,758,811 civilian employees on its payroll — highest total since the peak World War II years, a House manpower subcommittee has disclosed. The figure represented an increase of 230,870 workers over a year earlier, or a 9.1 per cent hike, reports Human Events. Only one government agency, the Federal Aviation Agency, showed a decrease from 1965 to 1966.

The President's Commission on Law Enforcement has tentatively voted to recommend Congress legalize wire-tapping and electronic eavesdropping by federal agents.

A national public opinion poll has found that only 19 per cent of the nation's people favored a tax increase to fight the Viet Nam war, while 73 per cent opposed it and 8 per cent had no opinion.

Federal spending increased so fast in the first few months of the 1967 fiscal year, the Treasury Department will probably have to borrow short-term funds from the Federal Reserve in order to avoid breaking the national debt ceiling of $330 billion, reports Newsweek magazine. One of the first orders of business for the new Congress will be to consider a request from the Treasury Department for an increase in the debt ceiling.

Analyzing U. S. Commerce Department and Securities and Exchange Commission figures, The Wall Street Journal has reported, "Business is planning only a modest increase in capital outlays for early 1967, removing a key argument for an income tax increase."

"The magnificent safety record of our American railroad industry has resulted from proper planning, hard work and the application of the latest technology available," said Alfred E. Perlman, president of the New York Central Railroad System. Recognizing that his audience included astronaut Scott Carpenter, Mr. Perlman pointed out that the railroads take great pride in being the second safest mode of transportation. "We used to be first, but Commander Carpenter and his colleagues have wrested that honor from our industry by logging 30 million passenger miles in space with an absolutely perfect safety record."

According to Mr. Roger M. Blough, chairman of the board, United States Steel Corporation: "... as the influence of government over business and industry continues to expand, the future of capitalism rests even more importantly upon the extent upon which the men of government understand the workings of the market system and base their decisions upon the natural economic laws which must be obeyed."

Delicious, Easy

Pineapple Quick Bread

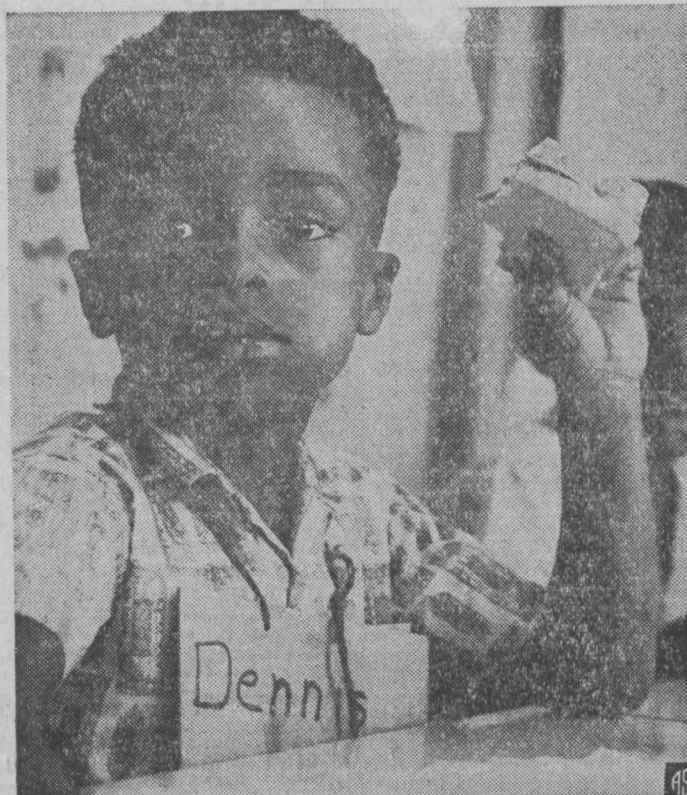

Hawaiian pineapple slices, sweet and juicy, combine with light refrigerator rolls to make this thirty minute baked delight. Served piping hot, it is excellent for breakfast or lunch. Serve it with ice cream to make a cobbler like dessert; or after an evening of card-playing or television viewing it is delicious with coffee or tea.

Pineapple Petal Ring

5 Hawaiian Pineapple Slices
10 biscuits (1 package refrigerator biscuits or your favorite recipe)
2 tablespoons vegetable oil
1/4 cup sugar, mixed with
1/2 teaspoon cinnamon

Grease ring mold; gently bend pineapple slices to fit into bottom, spacing evenly. Then dip and turn each biscuit—first in oil, then in cinnamon-sugar mixture. Now stand one biscuit on edge in each of the 5 pineapple slices. Lay remaining five biscuits flat in the spaces between. Bake 15 minutes at 425°; invert on serving dish. Let ring mold set 5 minutes before lifting off. Makes 5 generous servings.

Food Sense □ Not Nonsense Head Start—Doubly Enriched

Getting a head start on nutrition is easy with enriched bread. It furnishes the B-vitamins — thiamine, niacin, and riboflavin — and iron, elusive nutrients in the average American diet. Enriched bread contributes, too, to one's need for starch-type carbohydrates, protein, and calcium. No wonder that in this summer's feeding programs for 550,000 Head Start children, as well as for the regular school lunch program, a serving of enriched bread was slated for each meal.

This past summer, 25,000 daily lunches, packaged in neat white paper bags, were prepared for Chicago's enrollees in Project Head Start. For some of the children, lunch was their best meal of the day. The typical menu included a meat or cheese filled sandwich fashioned from enriched bread spread with margarine, fruit, dessert such as a cupcake, and a half pint of milk. Teachers reported that children were more ready to learn after they had eaten lunch. The school lunch supervisor related that the washing of hands before eating, the sit down meal, and the company of others at the table were brand new experiences for many. With teacher's help, mealtime was also learning time. Food waste was practically zero. The children ate their lunches with great enjoyment, relishing every morsel, were neat and helpful with cleanup.

FAIRVIEW

First of all, my husband and myself want to thank everyone who helped in making our Christmas and the holidays such a happy one—for the many beautiful cards—with their sentiments of cheer, good will, joy and peace to all mankind, for the lovely gifts which we received. Also, at this time we wish the editor, his staff and everyone all over the world a Happy and Prosperous New Year, and may God add his blessings.

Mr. and Mrs. Donald Carl and family of Mayberry entertained to dinner in their home Christmas Day; Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Carl, Mr. and Mrs. James Carl and sons, Gregory and Jeffery, Mr. and Mrs. Russell Frock of York, Pa., and Mr. and Mrs. Levi Frock.

A Christmas party was held in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Frock of this place. Christmas night when gifts were exchanged and names revealed; refreshments were served to the following: Mr. and Mrs. Levi Frock, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Adkins and children, Mary, Joyce, Kevin and Tammy, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Frock and children, Jimmie and Terry Frock, Eddie and Dianna Shorb, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Frock and children, Steven and Debra, Mr. and Mrs. Donald Carl and children, David, Daniel and Deborah.

Well, the children around here, about the first of last week was afraid we would have no snow for Christmas and they were all wishing a real hard one after Tuesday's snow. It would snow more to be sure of it on Christmas Day. One little boy back of Mayberry prayed for Jesus to please send snow for Christmas, so even a small boy's prayers are answered how much more faith we should have that when we adults pray that God will answer our prayers also.

Mr. and Mrs. Levi Frock called on Mrs. Mary Flickinger last Wednesday afternoon and presented her with a love gift from the Bible Class of the First Church of God Sunday School Class of which she is a member. Mrs. Flickinger had been quite ill. She spent three weeks in the Carroll County Hospital and now is recuperating in her home in Uniontown, Md. and is coming along nicely.

We are glad Mrs. Scott Sullivan of Frizellburg is improving after her recent illness. She is celebrating her birthday today (Dec. 26). We wish her a happy birthday with many more to follow.

Words cannot express the deep gratitude to the men who worked Christmas Eve and all day Christmas Day to keep the roads open so others could have a wonderful day together with their families. We should all give a vote of thanks—they deserve a lot of credit. So I say, thanks, thanks, thanks, and many more thanks.

Mrs. Bessie Myers, near here, spent Monday with her granddaughter, Mrs. Kenneth Lentzner, of this place. Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Fritz and Miss Debra Sue Briggs of Mercersburg, Penna., spent the week-end in the home of Mrs. Fritz and Miss Briggs' Brother, Mr. and Mrs. John Briggs and family, of this place. Also, Mr. and Mrs. Reuben Ritter and children, Junior and Judith of Baltimore spent Monday in the same home.

JOY

JOY means all is calm with the world. JOY means all is bright for the people in it.

JOY means peace on earth (including Viet Nam).

JOY means that man may aspire and plan and progress in Appalachia the same as he does in Scarsdale.

JOY means dreamless sleep for those in the world who now live in fear.

JOY means the tranquil lamb may lie down with the tamed tiger. JOY means the scientist works to glorify man, not to bury him. JOY means hope to the disillusioned child.

JOY means no man will grieve on the outer limits of society, but shall walk as tall as any.

Our traditional Carol does not say, "Joy to Cleveland," nor even "Joy to America," if, as responsible people we can work to make all the above come true, how joyfully we then can sing, "Joy To The World!"

What Would He Say?

A wondrous man forged an inspiration so mighty that it has guided millions since his time, December 25th was his birthday and was not intended to commemorate the invention of neon tubing or the plastic machine gun. The salacious greeting card, Year-end Pledge, or singing the commercial ("O Come All Ye Faithful to your friendly bargain store"). If he were to visit your town this month, would He look about in gentle wonderment and murmur.

The Greatest Gift

It has no fancy wrapping, it bears no scarlet ribbon; but it will surely ring a Christmas bell in the heart of the recipient. It can bring glowing love to a child, it can give confidence and direction to a teen-ager, it can give reassurance to an older person; it can calm the frightened, it can give hope to those who feel they live on the outpost of our society. It is worth a thousand tinselled packages; it is the greatest Christmas gift of all—an unselfish act of human kindness.

DISAPPOINTMENT

by Gail Burkett

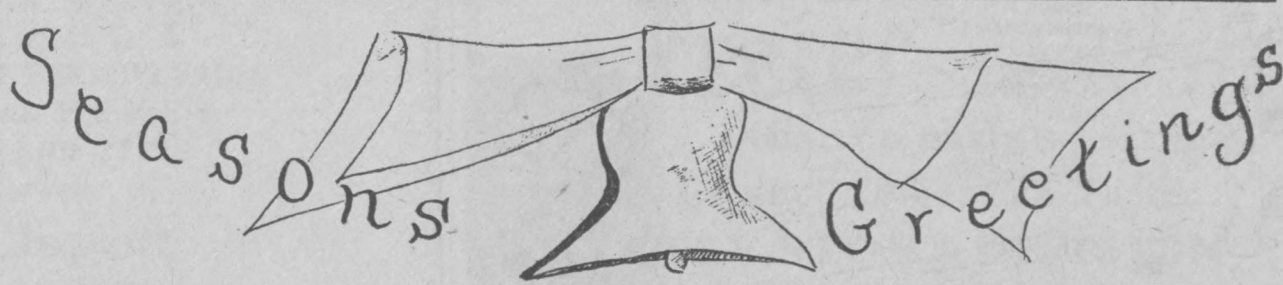

I am the toy you could not have,
The rainy picnic day,
The many games you failed to win,
And friends who turned away.

I am the honor out of reach,
And love which passed you by;
But I built strength that kept the glint

Of courage in your eye.
I hope none of you were disappointed with the gifts you received for Christmas. I am just sorry we don't keep this feeling of giving, not so much the material things, but kindness toward others the whole year through.

THE WAY I SEE IT . . .

Observations on the World of Sports
—John Breth

We've all heard of the minor leaguer who came up to the majors for a cup of coffee—meaning a short stay—but when JIM NASH reported to Kansas City he didn't have the price of coffee.

It happened last summer when the A's called him up from Mobile. Nash got the news in Charlotte, North Carolina, where Mobile was playing. When John McNamara, the Mobile manager, told Jim he was going to the big leagues he also said: "You should treat the boys before you go." Nash did and the treat left him with eight dollars and a plane ticket to Detroit where Kansas City was playing. He hailed a cab at the airport and gave the address of the hotel where the team was staying.

But, in the words of Nash, "I never knew it was such a long ride from the airport to the hotel. The meter kept clicking off dimes and I finally asked the driver to drop me at a bus stop."

When Nash got out of the cab he had just 25 cents and when he reached the hotel he was broke.

A couple of days later, on July third, Nash beat the Tigers. Five weeks later he stopped the hard-hitting Minnesota Twins on three hits for his seventh victory in a row. Nash finished the year with a 12 and one record. His only loss was to the Yankees, the last-place team.

Looking ahead to the 1967 season, Nash says: "I have no thoughts of matching my 12 and one record. If it had been 12 and four or five, I might think of matching it. My goal, however, is to win 20 games."

Nash is only 21 years old and pitchers that age rarely win 20. But he does seem to be a pitching natural. He is big and strong, spreading 215 pounds over a six-foot five-inch frame. And he has a good fast ball. But he thinks his curve could stand improving and that's what he plans to work on in spring training.

IN BASKETBALL . . .

Not many pro basketball stars came off the waiver list, but the Boston Celtics may have gotten one last year when they acquired Don Nelson from the Los Angeles Lakers.

Nelson is not yet good enough to be called a star. He's not a regular member of the starting five for Boston, either. But he is young enough, 25, to fight his way into a regular job there.

Red Auerbach, then the Boston coach and now the general manager, picked Nelson off the waiver list last year on the advice of Bill Russell, then the star center of the Celtics and now the coach, as well.

Russell told Auerbach: "Grab him quick. He plays that big D real tough." To those who don't know basketball slang, big D means defense. Nelson did his share in helping the Celtics win another National Basketball Association championship and he is doing his share again this year.

The former Iowa star is silent by nature and doesn't look overly aggressive but he is a tough competitor. His teammates call him "Low Gear."

Nelson admits that when the Lakers put him on the waiver list he toyed with the notion of quitting. But he lost that idea when the Celtics claimed him.

Nelson says there is quite a difference between playing for the Lakers and the Celtics.

He says: "I'm not knocking Los Angeles but they feed Jerry West and Elgin Baylor, when he's in there. The other guys don't get much chance to shoot. With Boston, if you have the shot, you take it. The Celtics insist on it. I guess that was the reason I began hitting in double figures."

There is one other reason, of course, but Nelson is too modest to say it. He is a good basketball player.

Today's Sport Laugh—Utah's new football coach, Ray Giddings, offers this advice for girls attending games with their boy friends:

"When you see the defense has only one man covering the split end, turn to your escort and say: 'The quarterback will pass to the end.' If this doesn't happen, don't give up. Turn to your escort and say: 'The coach will send in a new quarterback.'"

Pretty Party Rolls

by Betty Crocker

For holiday entertaining, here comes a shortcut to fancy home-baked rolls. It's a yeast bread recipe, with herb flavoring, but you hasten your progress by using Bisquick. And if you wish, bake these party rolls early in the morning. Cool, wrap in foil. At dinner-time reheat in a 400° oven for 10 minutes. Bring them in piping hot, of course, to be buttered up with the spread in full dress. Butter curls or butter balls, if you have the equipment. Otherwise pats of butter, cut into graceful patterns with tiny cookie cutters, served on a bed of crushed ice. And you're the hostess who does things just a little bit better.

HERB YEAST ROLLS

1 package active dry yeast
¾ cup warm water (105° to 115°)
2½ cups Bisquick
1 teaspoon caraway seed
¼ teaspoon nutmeg
½ teaspoon sage

Dissove yeast in warm water. Mix in remaining ingredients. Beat vigorously. Turn dough onto well-floured board. Knead until smooth, about 20 times. Shape as desired. Place in lightly greased pan, baking sheet or muffin cups. Cover with a damp cloth. Let rise in warm place (85°) until double, about 1 hour. (If kitchen is cool, place dough on a rack over a bowl of hot water and cover completely with a towel.) Heat oven to 400°. Bake 10 to 15 minutes, depending on size, until a golden brown. Makes 16 rolls.

For fancy shapes, roll, mold or fold the dough. Like so.

The elegant Crescent: Roll dough about ¼" thick into a 12" circle. Spread with soft butter. Cut into 16 pie-shaped wedges. Beginning at wide side, roll wedge toward point. Place on greased baking sheet, point underneath.

The perky Cloverleaf: Form bits of dough into balls about 1" in diameter. Place 3 balls in each greased muffin cup. Brush with butter.

The pretty Parker House: Roll dough ½" thick. Cut with biscuit cutter. Brush with melted butter. Make crease across each with back of knife. Fold so top half slightly overlaps. Press edges together at crease. Place close together on baking sheet.

Very impressive, these little beauties. Very good for your hostess reputation, I promise you.

ACROSS THE FENCE

by
ROBERT L. JONES
County Extension Agent

During the Roaring 20's, people sang "How you gonna keep 'em down on the farm." Today in the 60's, there is an acute need to keep farm boys in agriculture.

The agricultural revolution has increased the need for trained technicians to fill many jobs in the agribusiness complex. New, two year schools like the Agricultural Institute at the University of Maryland gives technical training to those interested in employment in agriculturally related jobs such as fieldmen for servicing of machinery, feed, fertilizer, agricultural chemicals and other supplies.

Interested applicants can write direct to the College of Agriculture, University of Maryland, College Park, or call our office in Westminster.

The use of salt to melt ice on driveways and walks can cause damage to nearby shrubs, trees and grass, later in the season. Both common salt (calcium chloride) and sodium chloride are harmful in concentrated amounts.

University of Maryland specialists say the salt kills the roots and then the leaves have a scorch-like symptoms. When above ground symptoms are noticed, it's usually too late to save the plant.

For those icy sidewalks you might use sand, ashes, or garden fertilizer to prevent slippery conditions.

Hemlocks, maples, dogwoods and birch are very sensitive to salt conditions.

The Mid-Winter Farm Meetings will be held on January 24 and 25 at the Carroll County Agricultural Center. The sessions will begin at 10 A. M. each day and adjourn at 3 P. M.

The Annual Meetings have been widely attended by farmers, feed and fertilizer dealers, and farm supply salesmen, during past years. University of Maryland specialists and other experts in their fields will participate in the program.

All interested persons are invited to attend.

Never Too Late

Lesson for January 1, 1967

Background Scripture: Luke 9:1 through 4:15.
Devotional Reading: Isaiah 40:1-5.

Some parents today become alarmed if their children had not chosen their life's vocation before they complete high school. One youth told me that his parents began to "hound" him to make up his mind from the moment he entered tenth grade. "Hurry," they advised, "or it will be too late!"

Thus, it is hard for us to conceive of a man who, at the age of thirty, would give up a good vocation to embark upon the uncertain life of an itinerant preacher. Jesus of Nazareth, a carpenter following in the parental footsteps of Joseph before him, did just that.

Out Into Wilderness

One day the carpenter of Nazareth went out into the wilderness that surrounded the Jordan River to hear and see John, the prophetic preacher and baptizer about whom everyone was talking. Receiving baptism at John's hands, the sign of a new beginning in his life, Jesus the carpenter was conscious of being called to a new vocation. Not that the new vocation burst upon him unexpectedly, for we are led to believe that there had been other indications that God was calling him to a special task. This time, however, he responded, determined to go wherever God would lead. God, he was sure, had a mission for him to perform.

What kind of mission was it to be? So that he might discover exactly what God wanted of him, Jesus went off into the wilderness for forty days to fast, meditate, and pray. In the wilderness God spoke to him, but so did someone else. That "someone else" greeted him with attractive counter-offers that could not help but catch any man's eye. The young Galilean, however, stood fast. He would do only what God wanted him to do, nothing else.

The Acceptable Time

Some people still find their true vocation when they are well past what appears to be the "acceptable time." I recently spoke with a man who in his early forties gave up a good job as an accountant to go to seminary and become a clergyman. This, he decided, was what God really wanted him to do. Another man of my acquaintance has recently left the employment of the church to become a social worker. He too believed that he had at last discovered his true vocation. Both men stopped for a moment, at what is considered to be a rather late stage in their lives, to listen to the voice of God. Obedient to what they heard, they stepped forth in faith to follow that call.

The influences that changed the Galilean's life were the preaching of John, a period of searching prayer and meditation in quiet seclusion, a knowledge of the scriptures, and an unwavering desire to do what God wanted. Might there not be people in your own life through whom God is speaking of your true vocation? Would you be willing to open the door to your mind and heart through earnest prayer and meditation? And if the answer came to you, that God wanted to send you off into a new direction, would you have the courage to follow?

What God Wants

As Jesus himself experienced, the temptations are many for those who seek to use their lives purposefully. The temptor is constantly offering us short cuts, unjust means that he insists are justified by righteous ends. How skillful he is in using good intentions to lead us into making the worst decisions.

At the age of thirty Jesus the carpenter began a new vocation. Moses had begun his at eighty. It is never too late for a man to stop and listen to the voice of God to find out what he really intends for us to do with this life he has given us.

The Safe Winter Driving League presents the following tip for safer winter driving from the National Safety Council: "Don't be a 'peep-hole' driver—clear snow, frost and road-muck off the entire windshield and side and rear windows as well. Replace dead, streaking wiper blades with live, new ones. Make sure headlights, taillights and directional signals are working properly. You must see danger to avoid it."

Twin Mince Meat With Onions

Onions become a special treat when paired with mince meat. Although at first this duo may startle some, everyone who tries it is in for a pleasant surprise. Tiny whole white onions and the mince meat, ready-to-use right from the jar, are piqued with vinegar, tomato paste, sugar, cayenne, dried thyme, bay leaf, and black pepper. According to the Borden Kitchen, Piquante Onions partner perfectly with poultry—as the “something new” with traditional turkey, perhaps. With or without poultry, though, the consensus on onions will be—better by far with mince meat.

Piquante Onions
(Makes 4 to 6 servings)

- | | |
|--|----------------------------|
| 2 tablespoons new Danish margarine or butter | 3 tablespoons tomato paste |
| 1-1/2 lbs. (about 2 dozen) tiny whole white onions, peeled | 1 tablespoon salad oil |
| 1-1/3 cups (one-half 28-oz. jar) None Such ready-to-use mince meat | 2 tablespoons sugar |
| 1/4 cup wine vinegar | Dash cayenne pepper |
| | 1/4 teaspoon dried thyme |
| | 1 bay leaf |
| | Dash black pepper |

In a medium-size skillet, melt butter or margarine over medium heat. Add onions; cook until browned on all sides; stir often. Turn onions into a 1-1/2-quart casserole. In a medium-size mixing bowl, combine all remaining ingredients; mix well. Pour mixture over onions. Bake in a slow (325°F.) oven about 1-1/2 hours, or until tender. Serve hot with roast chicken or turkey.

After-Game Party Wins
Cheers For Hostess

Tingling weather and cheers in the air—it's the season for active sports. And it's the perfect time for gathering friends together for an informal after-game buffet.

Make the menu simple and hearty. Here's one that's sure to win you a letter as a hostess: Chili Con Coney, a spicy casserole served with a tossed green salad and toasted garlic bread. For a beverage, serve hot spiced cider. Nut-filled brownies topped with ice cream round out this easily-prepared after-game feast.

Set the buffet table ahead of time, using paper napkins and plates in the team's colors. Besides being decorative, they'll make clean-up after the party a matter of minutes. Create a centerpiece of chrysanthemums, leaves and, of course, the pig skin!

Chili Con Coney casserole can be prepared the morning before the game, refrigerated, then placed in the oven to bake while guests warm up. This delicious casserole adds a colorful touch to your party table, and can be easily increased if the party list grows.

CHILI CON CONEY

|--|
| 2 cups corn chips |
| 1 large onion, chopped |
| 1 cup grated American cheese |
| 1 pound Sugar-dale Cones, cut into 2-inch pieces |
| 2 1-pound cans chili with beans |
- Place one cup corn chips in two-quart casserole. Cover with chopped onion, and one-half cup grated American cheese. Cut one pound Sugar-dale Cones into two-inch pieces; combine with two one-pound cans chili with beans and add to casserole. Sprinkle with additional one-half cup grated American cheese. Arrange corn chips around edge of casserole. Bake at 350° F. for 45 to 50 minutes or until heated through. Makes six servings.

HEALTH FACTS by Roche

AGE-OLD TROUBLES

According to the U.S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare, 90% of those over 65 years have serious dental trouble. Poor teeth necessitate following diets of soft-consistency foods that don't always meet nutritional needs—causing in turn new health problems.

Since 95 out of one hundred people after 70 suffer impaired vision which leads to high accident statistics, optometrists suggest these eye-saving tips: Use higher wattage bulbs; give yourself an “eyebreak” while TV-watching, reading or sewing; carry a flashlight for low-light areas; and step up the frequency of regular eye check-ups.

Xeroderma (pronounced: Zero-derma, commonly called dry skin, is another serious affliction of the aged. This condition, characterized by itches, cracking and painful chapping, can be alleviated by the use of non-prescription Alpha-Keri. Doctors have found Alpha-Keri to be effective in softening the skin and “locking in” moisture to relieve dry skin.

Easy As Pie With Mince Meat

Betsey's Ice Cream-Mince Layer Pie
(Makes one 9-inch pie)

Walnut Crust:

- | | |
|-----------------------------------|---|
| 1-1/2 cups finely chopped walnuts | 2 tablespoons PLUS 1 |
| 3 tablespoons sugar | teaspoon new Danish margarine or butter, softened |

In a small mixing bowl thoroughly blend walnuts, sugar, and 2 tablespoons margarine or butter. With a spatula spread remaining margarine or butter evenly over bottom and sides of 9-inch pie plate. Press mixture firmly and evenly against bottom and sides of pie plate. Bake in a very hot (450°F.) oven 6-8 minutes, or until lightly browned. Remove from oven; chill well. Fill with alternate layers of ice cream and mince meat.

Vanilla Ice Cream-Mince Filling:

- | | |
|---|---------------------------------------|
| 2 (9-oz.) packages Condensed None Such Mince Meat | 1-1/2 cups water |
| | 1 quart Lady Borden Vanilla Ice Cream |

Crumble mince meat into medium-size saucepan; add water. Stir over medium heat until lumps break. Boil 1 minute; cool. Refrigerate until thoroughly chilled. Let half of ice cream stand at room temperature 10 minutes, or until slightly softened. Spoon into the chilled crust; smooth surface. Place filled shell in freezer about 1/2 hour, or until firm. Remove shell and remaining ice cream from freezer. Spread hardened ice cream layer with 1-1/3 cups chilled mince meat. Soften remaining ice cream as directed above. Spoon evenly over mince meat layer. Freeze pie about 1 hour, or until firm. Just before serving, encircle the pie's inside edge and center with remaining mince meat.
