AGRICULTURE TODAY — A DYNAMIC INDUSTRY

The Taneytown Lions Club held their regular meeting at Taney Inn on Feb. 28 at 6:29 P. M. Lion President Delmont Koons presided over the meeting with invocation given by Lion Frank Dunham. Lion Keith Brown led the singing with Lion Delmar Riffe as piano accompanist.

Visitation groups were present from the Lions Clubs of Union Bridge, Emmitsburg, New Windsor, Winfield and Laurel. Also, the Lions were honored to have 34 farmers present as guests for this Farmers Night program.

Program Chairman for the evening, Lion Herbert Bowers, introduced the "Cousins," Miss Bonnie Bowers and Sidney Naylor, who gave delightful musical selections on the piano and trombone.

Speaker for the evening was the District Sales Manager with the Purina Corporation from Alexandria, Va., Mr. James Lee. "Agriculture Today Is a Dynamic Industry," was the topic of Mr. Lee's interesting talk for this Farmers Night program.

It is interesting to note that crop production is now 75 per cent higher than in our father's time. The average size farm has grown from 134 acres in 1880 to 325 acres in 1963. The estimated acreage of the farms in 1980 would be 500 acres. Farming, the nation's largest industry, has assets totaling $216 billion with allied industries having $20 billion.

Our farmers of the nation are now spending $1.6 billion for fertilizer; $3.5 billion for fuel, lubrication and maintenance; $2.2 billion for equipment; $5 billion for feed. Colleges and industries in the U.S. are always trying to improve the methods of planting, weed control, efficient mechanism, and more and better seeds and fertilizer.

With the world population explosion of today this will be more and larger responsibility on the farmers, who must feed these people. Even though we have droughts and floods, everything put together makes today's farmers the most interesting profession in today's industry.

ANNAPOLIS REPORTS

The Legislative Session is now past the half-way mark and the majority of the bills remain to be acted upon. This is understandable since a great deal of the time to date has been taken up by Budget Hearings of the various State Departments before the Finance Committees. Also, hearings must be held on many of the bills before the Standing Committees of the Legislature. In addition, many of the bills require appropriations and cannot pass both Houses until the Budget Bill is passed. The highly controversial Tax Reform Bill will certainly require detailed study and much discussion in Committee.

Last week this column reported some support for a combination Sales and Income Tax which appears to have even more support at this writing. There appears to be some differences of opinion regarding the various provisions and programs within the Tax Bill (SB 263).

SB 323 would amend the State Income Tax laws in order to provide a deduction for the expenses of tuition, books, student fees, room and board in a combined amount not in excess of $2000 (two thousand) per school year per child, by a parent or one acting for the parent who sends a child to an accredited college or University.

Recently, there has been a great deal of interest and much discussion regarding the problems of pollution in the State. Many bills have been introduced during the present session dealing with pollution. Some offer tax credits to businesses installing pollution control devices. Senate Joint Resolution 87 requests the Legislative Council (between session arm of the Legislature) to appoint a special committee to study and make recommendations to solve the overall problems of pollution. The problems in Maryland are more difficult than in many other states since we have a heavy industrial economy in some areas and a far greater proportion of water in other areas.

The deadline for the introduction of bills during the current Legislative Session is Tuesday, February 28th. Certain exceptions are sometimes made, but a suspension of the rules is needed which requires a two-thirds vote of the total membership of the House where the bill is introduced.

Charles H. Smelser
State Senator
Carroll-Frederick District

The pace on the Annapolis scene this week is fast picking up with numerous public hearings daily in the various House Committees. It should be noted that there is better distribution of assignment of bills to committees other than Ways and Means and Judiciary.

Public hearings were held this week in the Judiciary Committee on the Implied Consent Law. This law is aimed at the motor vehicle operator who is under the influence of alcohol and provides that any person operating a motor vehicle shall be deemed to have given consent to a test to determine the presence and amount of alcohol in his blood if arrested for a motor vehicle. Maryland State Police claim this is a major highway safety problem in that during the past four years one out of every two operators killed on Maryland highways was under the influence of a substantial amount of alcohol.

We had our longest debate in the House this week which resulted in the passage of Bill No. 52 designed to prevent arbitrary cancellation of automobile liability insurance. The bill states that no auto liability insurance policy issued in the state shall be cancelled after 60 days from its original issuance and for a period of two years thereafter, unless the customer fails to pay premiums or is convicted of serious traffic offenses. State Insurance Commissioner Polovay opposed this bill in the committee hearing but it came out with a favorable report. The bill now goes to the Senate.

It is interesting to note that on Wednesday we passed the half-way mark of the current session.

The last day for introducing bills into the House is Tuesday, Feb. 28.

County Dirt Roads Can Be Improved

The County Commissioners of Carroll County have had numerous requests for help in regards to improving dirt roads in old subdivisions that are not County Roads. There are many subdivisions in Carroll County that were laid out and recorded prior to the rules and regulations set up by the Planning Commission. There have been numerous homes built on these unimproved roads and in dry weather the people apparently have no difficulty in getting out. In the Spring of the year when the frost is leaving the road beds become very muddy and are practically impassable. These roads not being in the County Roads System, are not maintained by the County Roads Department. In order to assist these people to have their roads improved, the County Commissioners have set up under Ordinance No. 2 a means by which these roads can be improved and adopted into the County Roads System. The requirement for improving these roads under Ordinance 2 is that a petition bearing the signatures of at least 50% of the property owners be submitted to the County Commissioners. Upon receipt of this petition, the County Commissioners order that the road be surveyed, plans be prepared and the contract advertised to establish a firm price for the improvement of the road. After bids have been received, a public hearing is held and must be approved by 2/3 of the property owners adjacent to the proposed improvement. If the owners approve by more than 2/3 vote, the work is awarded to the contractor submitting the lowest bid and is built under County supervision. Under the Private Street Ordinance (Ordinance 2) the adjacent property owners pay 75% of the cost over a 10-year period without interest on their tax bill and the County absorbs the other 25%. Any taxpayer in Carroll County may ask for assistance on the above conditions, if he lives on an unimproved road in a recorded subdivision.

In the past three years, the County Commissioners, together with the Roads Department have improved approximately 15 streets in various subdivisions throughout the County.

SELINGSGROVE, PA.—Sixty-seven students have been named to the first semester dean's list at Susquehanna University today by Carol W. Hartley, registrar.

Among the students who qualified were 20 seniors, 17 juniors, 18 sophomores, and 12 freshmen. This is less than six per cent of the university's total enrollment of 1,140.

Local student on the list is Margaret Knouse, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roy A. Knouse, E. Baltimore Street, Taneytown, a sophomore English major.

Miss Knouse is one of only five students at the university who had a 4.0 or "straight A" average for the semester.

Council President Speaks Out

As President of the Council for the City of Taneytown, I feel some comments are in order, not in rebuttal to recent publicity given the elected representatives of our town, but, factual information, that I hope will reassure those living within the corporate limits of Taneytown, that we do what you, the citizenry, would want us to do for the welfare of all.

The business affairs of your town government is not handled as haphazardly as one is led to believe, yet there is always room for improvement as all will admit. One must remember that without a full time City Manager form of government, many business matters are not given the amount of attention necessary due to our elected representatives having other responsibilities and obligations to fulfill.

All regularly scheduled monthly meetings are open to the public and are held the first Monday evening of each month. The meeting is opened at 7:30 P. M. with all Councilmen reviewing the minutes of the previous month's meeting. These have been mailed to the Councilmen before the meeting night. At 8:00 P. M. the Town Officers make their monthly reports. Delegations having appointments followed, with old and new business devolved to the remainder of the meeting. Attendance on the part of each Councilman has always been 100% and I must say each member of our Town Council is a dedicated servant. Again, an invitation is extended to all citizens to attend these meetings and observe the business transactions necessary to keep your Town moving forward.

For the past several years many remarks have been made in regards to three of our Councilmen being employed by the same employer. This is a gross injustice to condemn an individual solely on the grounds he is employed by a certain organization. Remarks have been made that these Councilmen have been coerced into making decisions that were not beneficial to the welfare of the community. Let me reassure you, I have never been asked any favors, nor have I had pressure brought to bear upon me in any way by my employer, individuals or group of individuals in the past, nor will I allow myself to come under this type of influence by any individual or groups of individuals in the future.

The Mayor and City Council gives much thought before announcing a decision on ALL issues. Many times legal advice must be secured before making certain announcements. However, being human, not all decisions are perfect and sometimes have to be revised. We do realize, however, that we cannot please everyone but must do what is best for the greatest number of people.

We don't pretend to be experts in all phases of our Town Government, but, we do try in our own small way, to do the things that will keep us on a sound financial base and those that will help make our community a better place in which to live.

It has been my experience that we get credit only for those things which do not turn out as we had hoped they would, and then, great issues are made in each instance. I urge each of you to help us in the management of YOUR Town Government instead of condemning us. Most individuals within our Town know what is in store for them when asked to submit their names for the office of Mayor or City Councilmen and therefore flatly refuse knowing of the severe criticism they are subjected to if elected to office.

I will not be drawn into a cross examination through the media of the press and again remind you that if there are questions to be asked, you are invited to meet with us and discuss them at anytime. We ask for your help and understanding—not sympathy.

'SPICE 'N' EVERYTHING NICE' (Your Chatty Column)

With all my heart, I wish you every morning
A smile that shall last until the next day's dawning.
I wish you health—life's greatest wealth;
I wish you always near so that I may help to cheer
Each future day and in some way—help to bring you happiness!

Calling all school teachers and every adult! On Valentine Day, I made the special trip down to the "Peale Museum" to see the exhibition of The Sarah M. Peale Portraits and Still Life. (Address: The Peale Museum, 225 N. Holliday St., Baltimore). And the exhibition will only be here for such a short time, from February 5 to March 26, 1967. Sarah Miriam Peale was born in Philadelphia in 1800, on May 19th (A Taurus Individual). Many individuals who own these portraits were kind in loaning them for this exhibition.

Sarah Peale came from a family of artists with so much talent. She never married. As I walked around gazing upon each portrait, I was so enthusiastic that I stood there and thanked God for my eyesight! The paintings almost breathed! I could hear the artist say, "Just smile a little please," as they sat for those portraits. There are only a few without this engaging smile. What a beautiful Soul this artist must have had and it all registered so with me that I felt she was right there! She observed so much detail in her paintings in gazing upon each individual. I observed that she used the very finest quality of oils! There in the eyes of each portrait was a distinct moisture which is rarely seen. The very first painting (there were two) self portraits and she must have been so pleased with them that she started painting for her livelihood and became very independent. She became a professional artist and worked in Philadelphia, Baltimore, Washington and St. Louis.

Just to think, she painted in that very building in the 1820's, so she was no more than perhaps 18 years of age or younger when she first started. She did exhibit "Flowers" at 17 years of age in the Philadelphia Annual exhibition in the Pennsylvania Academy. While in Baltimore, she studied her cousin Rembrandt Peale's methods and style and it influenced her later in her work. She painted the portrait of Marquis de Lafayette in Washington in 1824. There is so much wonderful history to The Peale Museum that everyone should know the story. Think if there are talented children for this Art what it may do for them with this one visit to the museum in their future lives!

The "Still Life" paintings are so real of a "Slice of Watermelon," "Cherries" and "Red Raspberries," the latter so real that you felt you just had to pick one out of the basket and slip it into your mouth.

I compared the Portraits with a beautiful Masterpiece that many of you may have remembered named, "Stella," which was by an Italian artist and which was on exhibition in a store on Charles Street. It was very valuable and police were on duty for protection. It was roped off with heavy red velvet cord attached to two brass poles, one on each end, and there was an admission charge.

Sarah Miriam Peale spent 22 years in Baltimore, and those who sat for her were many prominent Baltimoreans. (and many during Tyler's administration). Congressman Henry A. Wise of Va., will startle you as he gazes down into your eyes with his magnetic expression! However, all the portraits are so true to the likeness of the individual that you would think they were going to hold conversation with you! (There is no admission charge). Whatever you do don't miss it! You will learn—oh-so much! I'll go back again for a longer stay!

Have a grand week-end, Folks. hope to be seeing you next week D.V.

I am,
Faithfully yours,
Irene deLeon Love.

U.S. SHIPS FIRE ON N. VIETS

William Shank, son of Mr. Fred Shank, who is serving aboard the USS STRAUSS, reported the following article to his home folks at Harney:

SAIGON — Two U. S. Navy destroyers joined to the action Tuesday when U. S. military activity in north Vietnam was resumed.

The first reported action occurred when the destroyer ALFREDA CUNNINGHAM sighted three logistics craft near the mouth of the Song Giang River, north of Dong Hoi.

The CUNNINGHAM fired on the craft and left them burning. Later, the USS STRAUSS was fired on by two shore batteries on Ho Nieu and Hon Matt islands. The fire was returned and the shore batteries ceased firing. There was no damage to the STRAUSS.

PHILOSOPHY OF SECRECY DANGEROUS

There is little doubt that efforts are being directed toward unwarranted control of advertising as a back-door means of regulating business and more importantly restricting the most fundamental of all rights — freedom of speech and freedom of the press. In most instances, as in the case of the retail distribution industry, restrictions on advertising are proposed in the name of protecting the consumer. Nothing could sound more innocuous than this, until it is realized that advertising and a free press are inseparable.

Advertising is what makes the competitive free market system a living reality. No better example of this can be found than in the field of mass-distribution. It takes advertising to get products to the consumer.

There are laws, as there should be, against fraud and deception in advertising. But, as Senator Everett Dirksen recently noted, "... advertising informs the people of what is being offered in the marketplace, as well as assuring for everyone, whether a journalist or not, his right to freedom of expression. ... People dare not forget that advertising is as much a means of informing our people as any other part of a newspaper. ... If one may tamper with, or abridge, the freedom of one portion of the press, then the entire press structure is jeopardized."

It is no coincidence that many of those who pursue a compulsory economic philosophy—that the government knows best—are most active in advocating restrictions on the mainstay of our free market system — advertising.

GRASSROOTS OPINIONS

MARATHON, N.Y., INDEPENDENT: "Unemployment is rising, and a wave of emigration is causing concern among British leaders, for it is draining their country of its most capable people. Doctors, engineers, and other highly trained and productive people are leaving for other countries in great numbers, with Canada, Australia and the United States the favored destinations. It is logical to suspect that there is some connection between Britain's welfare state and the spreading impoverishment of her people, and the unwillingness of her most highly skilled people to risk their futures there. We are reminded of President Eisenhower's remark about the ultimate in security being a man serving a life sentence in a federal penitentiary."

MOOREFIELD, W. VA., EXAMINER: "Some of our fellow publishers give us a hard time every year when we get worked up about our various and sundry tax forms, a state easy to get into around the first of the year. We have heard that all of us work the last three months in every year for the various taxing bodies and we don't doubt it a bit. We might add that you also work the first month out of the year for the same tax bodies. A mere report on the number of the various forms makes you dizzy. ... We reiterate our annual offer. We'll give the government our business if it will just pay us the taxes."

JOHN DAY, OREGON, EAGLE: "Three cheers for Congressman Al Ullman who has severely criticized the U.S. Defense Department which has announced the purchase of 10 million pounds of lamb from Australia and New Zealand. ... To us, government purchases of American-produced meat for the military service is far better than some of the agriculture subsidy programs that are offered. And we'd like to know if Australian mutton is that much cheaper after it is shipped to the United States."

TERRE HAUTE, IND., TRIBUNE: "There is no longer available space for the storage of waste. ... Ours is a society that casts off much of what it uses. Life for millions of Americans will be far less pleasant than it might be a few years hence if better means of waste disposal are not found and applied."

The United States, even though it possesses resources of a size unparalleled in history, cannot foot the bill for redesigning the world. Indeed, even if we could afford it, we hardly have the wisdom or the right to try shaping the social, political or economic life of other nations—underdeveloped or not. As The Wall Street Journal observes: "The strains of the Vietnam fighting are themselves proof, it seems to us, that the U.S. cannot do everything for everybody everywhere. It can continue to resist communism where absolutely necessary for its own interests. It should forget the foolish dream of remaking the world."

The South African Minister of Economic Affairs, Dr. Nico Diederichs, said in West Germany in January, 1967, that South Africa, almost the sole supplier of the western world's gold, wanted to see the price of gold at least doubled. The Minister warned that all but a handful of South Africa's goldmines would be forced to close down over the next 20 years if the gold price were not noticeably raised.

In a nationwide poll just completed, a cross-section of the American public favored a cut in federal spending to fight inflation. The survey showed 77 per cent of those questioned voted for a slash in spending rather than an increase in taxes as a means of bringing inflation under control. The poll, made for the National Association of Manufacturers by Opinion Research Corporation, revealed increasing public conviction that government spending is the culprit in inflation.

CURRENT EVENTS FIFTY YEARS AGO

February tried itself before going out — a Spring day on the 27th, and about the biggest snow of the season on the 28th. On the whole the month was the most objectionable of the Winter.

Peter Graham and family, moved into Claudius Long's house, vacated by Thomas Clingan and wife, this week.

DETOUR — The dwelling house and summer house, of Theophilus Hahn, near here, was destroyed by fire together with all the contents, about 8:30 P. M., Sunday. The family upon returning from a visit to Mr. Schildt's, a neighbor, saw the entire upper story of their house in flames. The news spread and a crowd of neighbors having gathered, saved the other nearby buildings. A defective flue is supposed to have caused the fire. A quilting in honor of Mrs. Grossnickle's birthday was given by Tilghman Grossnickle and wife, on Friday. The following guests were present: Wm. Martz and wife, J. C. Grossnickle, wife and son, Arville, Mrs. Harry Boone, Mrs. Stoner, Mrs. Reuben Whitmore, Mrs. Emma Snook, Mrs. John Whelty, Mrs. James Warren, Mrs. Robert Spellman and daughter Lillie and Esther Martz.

Heltebride - Wolfe — Roscoe Heltebride, son of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Heltebride, of Uniontown, and Miss Elizabeth Wolfe, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Wolfe, of Westminster were married in the Reformed parsonage, Westminster, on Thursday by Rev. J. W. Reinecke.

Mrs. Susan Case — Mrs. Susan, 78, widow of the late John Case, died at her home, near Taneytown on February 27. She leaves two sons, John and Samuel, and one daughter, Miss Lizzie, all at home. Funeral services were held on Thursday morning at St. Joseph's Catholic Church, of which she was long a devoted member.

FAIRVIEW

Well, we have had our first big excitement for the beginning of the day (Tues. morning). Getting ready to write my column I looked up in time to see a car run off the road into the field; but thank God she was a sizeable distance from the telephone pole—she quickly composed herself and came down the bank on the opposite side of the pole and on her way. The road is very icy this morning, it pays to be careful.

Mr. and Mrs. Levi Frock, Mr. and Mrs. Russell Frock were dinner guests on Saturday in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Carl and family of Mayberry.

What Is Love?

It's silence when your words would hurt,
It's patience when your neighbor's hurt,
It's defense when the scandle flows,
It's thoughtfulness for another's woes.

It's promptness when stern duty calls,
It's courage when misfortune falls.

(Selected)

Comforting Little Verse

What you most long and hope for
Might only bring you pain.
You cannot see the future
God's purpose to explain;

So ever trust thy Master
Who doeth all things well;
He loveth more than heart can know
And more than tongue can tell.

Proverbs 3:6. In all thy ways acknowledge him, and He shall direct thy paths.

A TRIBUTE

The passing of Dr. Chas. Hopkins has left a vacancy in and around the town for many miles!

He was one of the finest gentlemen I have ever met. . . so kind, thoughtful and considerate. He was truly a family man! He always greeted me so warmly when I entered the drug store as I observed that he did all. The suddenness of his death leaves a big gap which will last for many years—for everyone had the greatest respect and esteem for him. Taneytown seemed to brighten up when first he moved there with his little family. All of us became close friends immediately.

Well Done Thy Faithful Servant!

Irene de Leon Love.

Also, we want to thank all those who paid tribute, especially the members of the Kiwanis Club, and to the pallbearers. Our special thanks to the unsigned author of "A Tribute" which appeared in last week's "Carroll Record," and to "Doc" Amass, for his "Memorial Tribute" of closing the doors of the pharmacy which was so much a part of our husband and father. In addition, the family is truly grateful to Pastor Miller for the compassionate and understanding inspiration he gave to us. TODAY'S BOOKS FOR TODAY'S STUDENTS

The outstanding new library books for children, ranging in age from four to eighteen (and of special interest to parents and adults) are on display at the Kuhn property next to the County Office Building from Feb. 27-March 10. Here, in an organized exhibit, is an opportunity to see the books that are making educational and cultural history. The display will be open from 12 noon to 5 P. M., Monday through Friday.

Fifty-three leading publishers cooperate to present an industry-wide and complete exhibit that school systems and libraries across the country have acclaimed over the years as an indispensable book reviewing and selection resource. In range, it covers more than 60 subject classifications.

In addition, curriculum-related, annotated and completely indexed catalogues, which make the books of one's interest immediately accessible, are free to teachers, librarians, and other professions. A feature of the catalogues is a special breakdown of books qualifying for purchase under the National Defense Education Act. Both books and catalogues are related to each other by a numerical numbering system.

For every elementary and secondary pupil—not to mention the parent or adult aware (or who might like to become aware) of what today's exciting and stimulating books have to contribute—there are stories covering every phase of experience, as well as non-fiction books on science, mathematics, history, the world today, the arts and general information. From picture and easy books at the primary level to a varied assortment of titles in reading and literature, social studies, music, and reference at junior high grades, to problems of democracy, America's past, fiction for young adults, careers, and guidance—there are books to enthrall, inform and instruct all of us.

Books on Exhibit, the company which supplies the exhibit, is a national exhibiting operation which neither solicits nor fills orders. Its free service, now in its sixteenth year, involves all the leading publishers, both

THE WAY I SEE IT . . .

Observations on the World of Sports —John Breth

These are times of expansion in sports, in pro football, hockey and basketball.

The National Hockey League will have six new teams next season which is an enormous expansion. The NATIONAL BASKETBALL ASSOCIATION is going in for a more modest addition, two clubs. More will be added in years to come, however.

The new teams in the NBA next year will be Seattle and San Diego. They will go into the Western Division along with San Francisco, Los Angeles, St. Louis and Chicago. There always is a chance, of course, that St. Louis, which is for sale, will move.

However, no matter what St. Louis does, there will be four Pacific Coast teams in the NBA next season, the first time there has been that many functioning in one pro league. In pro football, of course, you have the Los Angeles Rams and San Francisco 49ers of the National League and the San Diego Chargers and Oakland Raiders of the American. But they are not playing each other . . . yet.

Most observers think that pro basketball will fare better in expansion so far as player talent is concerned than certain other sports. For one thing, there is a new crop of stars every year coming out of the colleges. And for another it is a fact that basketball players improve in direct ratio to their opportunities to play.

Oh, by the way, the Eastern Division of the NBA next season will have Boston, Philadelphia, New York, Cincinnati, Baltimore and Detroit, which will move in from the West.

With Philadelphia and Boston the unquestioned powerhouses of the league, the new teams next season will at least have one thing going for them, they won't have to worry about beating out the Celtics and the 76ers for a playoff berth. They'll be in the other division.

The once-proud New York Yankees had a sinking feeling last year—and so did pitcher MEL STOTTELMYRE.

While the Yankees dropped into the American League basement for the first time since 1912, Stottlemyre turned from a 20-game winner into a 20-game loser.

There is an old saying in baseball that only a good pitcher can lose 20 games because only a good pitcher will get that many opportunities. And the 25-year-old Stottlemyre is considered one of the finest pitchers in the game. Despite his numerous losses last season, Stottlemyre was named to the American League All-Star team by manager Sam Mele of the Minnesota Twins.

Stottlemyre joined the Yankees in mid-season of 1964 and helped the New Yorkers win the American League pennant by winning nine games and losing only three with a glittering 2.06 earned run average down the stretch. In 1965, Mel's first full season with the Yanks, he had a 20 and nine record and a sparkling 2.63 ERA. But last season, he was 12 and 20 with a 3.80 ERA.

Stottlemyre blames his 1966 miseries on a lack of variety in his pitches. He says that the hitters kept waiting for his sinker ball, his most reliable pitch in the past. The shy, unassuming righthander from Mableton, Wash., adds:

"The hitters seemed to be waiting on me a little more last year. Instead of hitting my pitch, they waited for their pitch."

In an effort to remedy the situation and his record, Stottlemyre will work more on his change up and curve ball. He plans to start spring training one week ahead of schedule in hopes of getting away to a fast start in the regular season and helping the Yanks erase the humiliation of last season. Stottlemyre says: "A lot of the players are embarrassed by what happened last year. I know I am and I'm determined to see that it doesn't happen again."

Today's Sport Laugh—The retiring president of Ottawa, Kansas, University—Dr. Andrew Martin—has always been an avid sports fan.

A favorite story of faculty members at the school concerns the time Dr. Martin attended a football game and watched a big fullback for Ottawa break loose on a long run. Dr. Martin stood up in the stands and yelled out:

"If that man isn't kept eligible, faculty heads will roll."

THE FAMILY LAWYER

"ALL RISKS" INSURANCE

More and more often, insurance policies on a house or its contents are using that reassuring phrase "all risks." Instead of naming the separate perils you are protected against, like "fire" or "theft" or "windstorm," the policy will wrap them all up in those two short words.

How much protection does that give you? Does it mean you are covered for absolutely everything that can possibly happen to your property? No, it does not.

For one thing, the policy itself may spell out exceptions. But even if it doesn't, the law will read certain exceptions into the coverage anyhow.

One such exception is a loss which you yourself cause, either on purpose or by extreme negligence. Take two cases:

1) a terrible-tempered farmer flogged his horse to death;
2) a home owner remained oblivious to the obvious while his dog soiled the carpet in more than 75 different places.

Both men claimed insurance under an "all risks" policy. But neither one collected. The courts reasoned that such insurance was never intended to reimburse a person for the consequences of his own flagrant misconduct.

Another exception is a loss caused by "inherent vice"—that is, the tendency of an article to go bad all by itself. Butter spoils, iron rusts, draperies fade, paint peels—not because of any outside peril but because of the product's own inherent nature. This, too, is the kind of loss not within the usual scope of insurance protection.

Still, in spite of these exceptions, an "all risks" policy generally does give you a lot broader coverage than a traditional "named peril" policy. If there is a loss, it is not up to you to point to a clause that covers it. On the contrary, you collect—unless the insurance company can point to an express or implied exception that rules it out. Thus:

In another case of carpet damage, a woman accidentally marred the surface by the too vigorous application of a cleaning fluid. And a court granted her claim for insurance, because it found no flagrant misconduct, no inherent vice, no relevant exceptions in the policy.

This was the kind of a loss, said the court, that an average person might reasonably have in mind when he buys "all risks" insurance.

LEGISLATIVE
FROM
By GOODLOE E. BYRON
STATE SENATOR
Carroll-Frederick District

THE OFFICE OF CORRECTIONAL SERVICES

Many problems have recently plagued the prison system of Maryland including charges of self-interest at the Penitentiary and riots at several of the other correctional institutions.

A special legislative committee under the chairmanship of Senator George Snyder (D-Wash.) has been inspecting the prison system. Recently our committee has been working with the "Michelson Commission" appointed by Governor Tawes in making a thorough study of Maryland's existing correctional system.

The present antiquated physical facilities of the penal system consist of a penitentiary in Baltimore, a men's and women's correctional center at Jessups, a correctional institute for younger men in Washington County, and numerous work camps throughout the state.

Several special purpose facilities such as the Patuxent Institute for defective delinquents, and the Welfare Department's Youth Camp at Sabillasville have been added with little, if any, consideration for a coordinated program with the Department of Corrections' programs.

It became apparent late last year to the Legislative Prison Committee and the "Michelson Commission" that an Office of Correctional Services was necessary to tie all of these operations together.

Headed by an Executive Administrator, the Office would direct and coordinate the activities of the Department of Correction, Parole and Probation, Juvenile Services, Patuxent Institute, and a newly "spun off" Department of Jail Programming.

An additional innovation would be the creation of a reception center to which all sentenced prisoners would be immediately assigned for processing into the system.

This would offset the present hazardous practice which sometimes finds that the simplest non-support violator has been assigned to share a cell with a hardened armed robbery criminal.

The new system will also permit the use of up to date data processing materials which could provide immediate and meaningful information on each prisoner.

Legislation establishing the Office of Correctional Services will be introduced in the General Assembly this week.

Lesson for March 5, 1967

Background Scripture: Luke 18 through 19:27.
Devotional Reading: Luke 11:1-13.

Paul Tournier, the Swiss physician, once determined that he would spend a whole hour in meditation to see if it could be done. It was an hour of utter humiliation, for after a few minutes, it became apparent that he, an avid churchman, did not know the first thing about communing with God.

Rev. Althouse "Nevertheless," he writes, "at the end, a thought came to me: 'Continue... Continue...' And I told myself, 'Wait a minute! Perhaps that idea comes from God.'"

With Persistence

So, although his first attempt met with crushing failure, he tried again and again, and, in time, he began to find that he was slowly but surely learning the art of meaningful prayer and meditation. It meant perseverance: continuing, continuing, even though the results often seemed utterly fruitless.

This is the meaning of the parable of the widow and the reluctant judge. It was only through the persistence of the widow that the judge was annoyed enough and moved to grant her request. It was her "continual coming" that wore down the judge's resistance. Therefore, said Jesus, if a reluctant judge will give in to persistence, how much more we can expect from a loving heavenly father! We must pray with persistence, however, refusing to be easily discouraged if God does not answer as quickly as we desire.

To Wear a Groove

I too have found that persistence is vital in learning to pray. It is not that we must persuade God to bend to our desires, but that it may require considerable time until we can place our lives in harmony with his power. A string rubbing on a stone makes no immediate impression, but in time the string will begin to wear a groove if we continue. The practice of the prayer life is a matter of wearing a groove through which the abundant waters of God's power will first seep, then trickle, and finally flow.

We all would like to experience God in mystical encounters. To hear a voice, to see a vision, would confirm the reality of God. The living Christ, however, may also be encountered in the life of cultivated companionship. By this I mean that God may reveal himself to us over a period of years, a life time, as we open ourselves to him in meditation and prayer. The cultivated companionship is not a snapshot, but a time-exposure.

In The Long Run

So it has been in my own life. In the years of disciplining myself to seek him, there have been many days of absolute failure. Many times I have done little but go through the motions of meditation and my prayers have been hollow words. Some days the light of Christ that filtered through was barely discernible. Yet, when I view the total stream of experience in this daily seeking, when I take the long-run look at this life of cultivated companionship, I realize that in it I have experienced the reality of the living God. Somehow, through all my failures, despite all my days of spiritual boredom, he managed to speak to me and place his mark upon me. This life of cultivated companionship teaches us humility. To wait for God's answer in his own good time is destructive to our pride. As Dr. Tournier discovered, then, the answer to those who experience failure in their attempts to pray is this: "Continue, continue..."

NEWS FROM SALISBURY SHOPPING CENTER

Two of the nation's largest retail merchandising firms will have stores in the Salisbury Mall, developers of the large regional shopping center have announced.

Scott S. Bair, president of the Development Company of America, said leases have been executed with The May Company for a Hecht Store and with Sears, Roebuck and Company for an outlet in the enclosed, all-weather center.

The huge mall is to be built on a 50-acre tract at Civic and Glen Avenues between U.S. 50 and the Civic Center just east of Salisbury.

Designed as a regional facility to serve the entire southern portion of the rapidly-growing Delmarva Peninsula, the mall is scheduled to open late this year or early in 1968, Mr. Bair said.

When complete, the center will contain 35 to 40 outlets including business and professional offices.

"The center will include a number of rooms for public use, such as meetings and social events," Mr. Bair said.

The main structure will be of colonial-type design, heated in cold weather and air-conditioned in warm.

Architects for the center are Evan-tash-Friedman, of Philadelphia. Associated with them are Samuel M. Pistorio, of Baltimore, and Calvin Clendaniel, of Lincoln, Del.

Mr. Bair said: "As soon as plans are completed, we'll start building."

"I look forward to the opening of the mall late this year or early 1968. We're going to use the most modern construction techniques known and, when finished, it will not be simply another shopping center but, I hope, the focal point for many cultural, recreational and civic activities on the Delmarva Peninsula."

"For example, it will contain rooms which will be ideal for business and social gatherings sponsored by clubs and organizations from all parts of the Peninsula."

The structure will cover 350,000 square feet, Mr. Bair said, and surrounding it will be a parking area with a 3,000-car capacity.

The facility will be readily accessible from all parts of the region by a network of modern roads fanning out from Salisbury. U.S. 50 is a dual highway for its entire length on the Eastern Shore of Maryland as well as through the city of Salisbury. U.S. 13 is dual in Salisbury, south to the Virginia Line, and north to and through Delaware.

The central offices of the Development Company of America are in Westminster, Md. Rental agent for the Salisbury Mall is David Kilberg, One Charles Center, Baltimore.

Glorious Cheesecake

What do you expect from a cheesecake—that it has a light and creamy texture to melt in the mouth, that it has a richly satisfying flavor of cheese to linger on the tongue, and that it be simply beautiful to view? Well, Jell-O Cheesecake Mix has all of those plus one more important quality, it's quick and easy to prepare! This Chocolate Swirl Cheesecake is only one of the many variations possible with the unbaked cheesecake mix.

Chocolate Swirl Cheesecake

- 1 package unbaked cheesecake mix
- 3 tablespoons sugar
- 1/4 cup butter or margarine, melted or softened
- 1 1/2 cups cold milk
- 1 square unsweetened chocolate, melted

To make crust, empty contents of crust mix pouch into small bowl. Add sugar and butter. Mix well. Press mixture firmly with back of metal spoon over bottom and sides of an 8-inch pie pan. Chill 15 minutes before filling. Or bake crust at 375° for 8 to 10 minutes before chilling.

To make filling, measure milk into bowl. Add contents of filling mix pouch. Blend well at low speed of electric mixer or with rotary beater; then beat at medium speed for 3 minutes or until very thick. Pour half of cheese mixture into crust; drizzle with half of melted chocolate. Pour in remaining cheese mixture; drizzle with remaining chocolate. Zigzag spatula through mixtures to marble. Chill 1 hour before serving.

Note: For ease in serving cheesecake, dip pie pan just to rim in warm water for a few seconds; then cut and serve.

Maryland State Income Tax QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Q. Who Must File an Income Tax Return to the State of Maryland?

A. Every resident of Maryland whose gross income for the taxable year exceeds $800.00 if single, and exceeds $1,600.00 if married and living with spouse. Also, when gross sales or gross receipts from a trade or business for the taxable year exceeds $5,000.00 regardless of the amount of the gross income. In those cases where a withholding of Maryland income tax has been made from wages and the total income is not sufficient to require the filing of a return, a return must be filed in order that refund of the tax withheld may be made to the taxpayer.

Q. Who Is a Resident Under the Maryland Income Tax Law?

A. A resident is an individual domiciled in Maryland on the last day of the taxable year or one who maintained a place of abode within Maryland for more than six months of the taxable year, whether domiciled in Maryland or not. When an individual becomes a resident of Maryland during the taxable year he is subject to the income tax on that part of his income which has been received while residing in this State. On the other hand, an individual who moves from Maryland during the taxable year is subject to tax on the income received from the first day of the taxable year to the date of his departure from Maryland. There are, of course, situations where the taxpayer may own income-producing property in Maryland and may be liable for income taxes thereon as a non-resident of Maryland.

Q. What Are the Personal Exemptions Under the Maryland Income Tax Law?

A. A single person has a personal exemption of $800.00, a husband and wife living together $1,600.00, and a credit for each dependent of $800.00 is allowed. Also, when the taxpayer, his spouse, or a dependent is 65 years of age or over, the personal exemption and credit is doubled. For example, a husband and wife living together, both 65 or over, receives a personal exemption of $3,200.00 under the Maryland law. These amounts are somewhat larger than under the Federal law, as for example, in the example given herein, the Federal personal exemption would be only $2,400.00. When individuals move from Maryland during the taxable year their personal exemption and credit for dependents must be pro-rated according to the number of months of residence in Maryland, this is likewise true in those cases where individuals move into Maryland during the taxable year. To illustrate, a person moving from Maryland after living in the State exactly 6 months would receive one-half of the annual personal exemption and dependent credits as detailed herein.

Q. Where and when is the Maryland Income Tax return due to be filed?

A. The Maryland income tax law is administered by the Comptroller of the Treasury and all returns should be sent to the Maryland Income Tax Division, State Treasury Building, Annapolis, Md. 21401. (Note—it is most important that you show on your return your ZIP Code, this is necessary in order that it may appear on any correspondence that may be sent to you in connection with your return and on your mailing address slip for next year's forms.) The due date of the Maryland income tax return is ordinarily April 15 of each year. However, this date falls on a Saturday this year and under the law the due date is automatically extended to April 17, 1967 for the filing of the 1966 return as well as the declaration of estimated tax for the year 1967.

Q. Does the Maryland return require Social Security numbers?

A. Yes, it is most important that you show on your return your Social Security Number as this number is being used as positive identification. In the case of joint returns of husband and wife, the Social Security Number of each should be entered in the assigned spaces on the Maryland form.

Q. What are the Maryland tax rates?

A. Maryland has what is called a "classified" type of income tax. Ordinary income, which includes salaries and wages and compensation for personal services, profits from trade, business or professions, as well as rental income, is taxed at 3 percent. Investment income, which includes interest, dividends, ground rents and annuity income, is taxed at 5 percent. However, to minimize the tax for persons with small amounts of investment income, the first $500.00 of such income is taxed at the ordinary income rate of 3 percent. In joint returns where both husband and wife have investment income, the first $500.00 of each is taxed at the 3 percent rate.

"LET THERE BE LIGHT"

All morning the sky has looked gray and threatening on this late February day. Now, as I gaze from my kitchen window, the heavy clouds let down their white burden. The whole world looks raw and cold, as the snow piles up deeper and deeper. At this moment, Spring seems quite far away.

However, despite the frigid weather, nature has already sounded her alarm clock. A magic touch is summoning the plants from the earth, the birds from the South, and the animals from their snug beds of hibernation. What is this magic touch? For years, people believed that it was heat, or the return of warm weather, which awakened the earth from its long, mysterious slumber. Scientists and biologists have since proven that the main timing device is light.

Temperature is fickle. It varies sharply from day to day and from year to year. Light, on the other hand, is completely reliable; every year on a given day, the duration of light is the same and has been for millions of years.

When I checked my calendar, I found that the first day of February was 10 hours and 8 minutes long. Today—the 21st—the hours of daylight have increased to 11 hours and 5 minutes. These additional hours of light are slowly, but surely, breaking Winter's grip. Already, deep under the snow, the blood-root and skunk cabbage plants are pushing upwards. Before long, the roots of all growing things will feel a swift surge of power, and the sap will rise in the trees. The familiar robin will soon be with us, and from creeks and swamps, the peepers will once again sound their elfin horns.

Only when God commanded, "Let there be light," did the universe come into being. In Genesis 1:4, we read, "And God saw the light, that it was good; and God divided the light from the darkness." Without the magic touch of light, we would never know the joy of Spring after the long, cold Winter. Indeed, without it, we would know nothing of life at all, for there would be none.

—Zola Cantwell.

BUSINESS Keys to Success

For Sale, Cheap: One Big Mouth

"Talk, talk, talk," says a man to his wife, over morning coffee. "You're all talk."

Sounds familiar, doesn't it? But he's wrong. We don't really talk much at all—and it's a good thing we don't because we don't listen very well, either.

Fact is, people are pretty inefficient verbal communicators. Take all the words you speak during an average day, lay them end to end, and you have only 10 to 11 minutes of talk, according to a Temple University anthropologist. What's more, your sentences average only 2½ seconds in length.

Better communications is the most vital key to business success today. But don't depend on talk. Information exchange should be largely visual. A recent study by B. Y. Auger, in "How to Run More Effective Business Meetings," showed we learn 83 per cent through sight, only 11 per cent through hearing. And while we remember only 20 per cent of what we hear, we retain 50 per cent of what we both see and hear. Hence industry's intense drive to "get it on paper."

The copying equipment industry has grown threefold in the last decade due to its ability to take that piece of paper and put it in the hands of everyone who needs it, almost instantly. A leader in the field, Charles Bruning Company, a division of Addressograph-Multigraph Corporation, has gone a step further, to show management people and secretaries, too, how they can use the new technology—all the way from computers to old-fashioned pencil and paper—to become more efficient in their job and advance their careers.

Some information-handling tips:

1. List every kind of basic information needed by every department you deal with—and list "who needs what and when."
2. Tell your receiver why you're sending him a piece of information, marked FYI (for your information) or FYA (for your action).
3. Some information is urgent. Mark it "U." Some is routine, so send it out marked "R" or some other agreed-on code.
4. Be your own supervisor. Every few weeks, make a list of "things I could have done better if I had more information." Show your boss the information that would have helped you.
