Taneytown Lions Club

AGRICULTURE TODAY — A DYNAMIC INDUSTRY

The Taneytown Lions Club held their regular meeting at Taney Inn on Feb. 28 at 6:29 P. M. Lion President Delmont Koons presided over the meeting with invocation given by Lion Frank Dunham. Lion Keith Brown led the singing with Lion Delmar Riffle as piano accompanist.

Visitation groups were present from the Lions Clubs of Union Bridge, Emmitsburg, New Windsor, Winfield and Laurel. Also, the Lions were honored to have 34 farmers present as guests for this Farmers Night program.

Program Chairman for the evening, Lion Herbert Bowers, introduced the "Cousins," Miss Bonnie Bowers and Sidney Naylor, who gave delightful musical selections on the piano and trombone.

Speaker for the evening was the District Sales Manager with the Purina Corporation from Alexandria, Va., Mr. James Lee. "Agriculture Today Is a Dynamic Industry," was the topic of Mr. Lee's interesting talk for this Farmers Night program.

It is interesting to note that crop production is now 75 per cent higher than in our father's time. The average size farm has grown from 134 acres in 1880 to 325 acres in 1963. The estimated acreage of the farms in 1980 would be 500 acres. Farming, the nation's largest industry, has assets totaling $216 billion with allied industries having $20 billion.

Our farmers of the nation are now spending $1.6 billion for fertilizer; $3.5 billion for fuel, lubrication and maintenance; $2.2 billion for equipment; $5 billion for feed. Colleges and industries in the U.S. are always trying to improve the methods of planting, weed control, efficient mechanism, and more and better seeds and fertilizer.

With the world population explosion of today this will be more and larger responsibility on the farmers, who must feed these people. Even though we have droughts and floods, everything put together makes today's farmers the most interesting profession in today's industry.

ANNAPOLIS REPORTS

The Legislative Session is now past the half-way mark and the majority of the bills remain to be acted upon. This is understandable since a great deal of the time to date has been taken up by Budget Hearings of the various State Departments before the Finance Committees. Also, hearings must be held on many of the bills before the Standing Committees of the Legislature. In addition, many of the bills require appropriations and cannot pass both Houses until the Budget Bill is passed. The highly controversial Tax Reform Bill will certainly require detailed study and much discussion in Committee.

Last week this column reported some support for a combination Sales and Income Tax which appears to have even more support at this writing. There appears to be some differences of opinion regarding the various provisions and programs within the Tax Bill (SB 263).

SB 323 would amend the State Income Tax laws in order to provide a deduction for the expenses of tuition, books, student fees, room and board in a combined amount not in excess of $2000 (two thousand) per school year per child, by a parent or one acting for the parent who sends a child to an accredited college or University.

Recently, there has been a great deal of interest and much discussion regarding the problems of pollution in the State. Many bills have been introduced during the present session dealing with pollution. Some offer tax credits to businesses installing pollution control devices. Senate Joint Resolution 87 requests the Legislative Council (between session arm of the Legislature) to appoint a special committee to study and make recommendations to solve the overall problems of pollution. The problems in Maryland are more difficult than in many other states since we have a heavy industrial economy in some areas and a far greater proportion of water in other areas.

The deadline for the introduction of bills during the current Legislative Session is Tuesday, February 28th. Certain exceptions are sometimes made, but a suspension of the rules is needed which requires a two-thirds vote of the total membership of the House where the bill is introduced.

Charles H. Smelser
State Senator
Carroll-Frederick District

The pace on the Annapolis scene this week is fast picking up with numerous public hearings daily in the various House Committees. It should be noted that there is better distribution of assignment of bills to committees other than Ways and Means and Judiciary.

Public hearings were held this week in the Judiciary Committee on the Implied Consent Law. This law is aimed at the motor vehicle operator who is under the influence of alcohol and provides that any person operating a motor vehicle shall be deemed to have given consent to a test to determine the presence and amount of alcohol in his blood if arrested for an offense involving the operation of a motor vehicle. Maryland State Police claim this is a major highway safety problem in that during the past four years one out of every two operators killed on Maryland highways was under the influence of a substantial amount of alcohol.

We had our longest debate in the House this week which resulted in the passage of Bill No. 52 designed to prevent arbitrary cancellation of automobile liability insurance. The bill states that no auto liability insurance policy issued in the state shall be cancelled after 60 days from its original issuance and for a period of two years thereafter, unless the customer fails to pay premiums or is convicted of serious traffic offenses. State Insurance Commissioner Polovay opposed this bill in the committee hearing but it came out with a favorable report. The bill now goes to the Senate.

It is interesting to note that on Wednesday we passed the half-way mark of the current session.

The last day for introducing bills into the House is Tuesday, Feb. 28.

County Dirt Roads Can Be Improved

The County Commissioners of Carroll County have had numerous requests for help in regards to improving dirt roads in old subdivisions that are not County Roads. There are many subdivisions in Carroll County that were laid out and recorded prior to the rules and regulations set up by the Planning Commission. There have been numerous homes built on these unimproved roads and in dry weather the people apparently have no difficulty in getting out. In the Spring of the year when the frost is leaving the road beds become very muddy and are practically impassable.

These roads not being in the County Roads System, are not maintained by the County Roads Department. In order to assist these people to have their roads improved, the County Commissioners have set up under Ordinance No. 2 a means by which these roads can be improved and adopted into the County Roads System. The requirement for improving these roads under Ordinance 2 is that a petition bearing the signatures of at least 50% of the property owners be submitted to the County Commissioners.

Upon receipt of this petition, the County Commissioners order that the road be surveyed, plans be prepared and the contract advertised to establish a firm price for the improvement of the road. After bids have been received, a public hearing is held and must be approved by 2/3 of the property owners adjacent to the proposed improvement. If the owners approve by more than 2/3 vote, the work is awarded to the contractor submitting the lowest bid and is built under County supervision. Under the Private Street Ordinance (Ordinance 2) the adjacent property owners pay 75% of the cost over a 10-year period without interest on their tax bill and the County absorbs the other 25%. Any taxpayer in Carroll County may ask for assistance on the above conditions, if he lives on an unimproved road in a recorded subdivision.

Information sheets on nominees and the form naming the delegates must be to Mr. Jack Sterling, Finksburg by March 6.

The Carroll County Council of PTA is acting as the organizing agent until the Planning Convention next Tuesday.

Council President Speaks Out

As President of the Council for the City of Taneytown, I feel some comments are in order, not in rebuttal to recent publicity given the elected representatives of our town, but, factual information, that I hope will reassure those living within the corporate limits of Taneytown, that we do what you, the citizenry, would want us to do for the welfare of all.

The business affairs of your town government is not handled as haphazardly as one is led to believe, yet there is always room for improvement as all will admit. One must remember that without a full time City Manager form of government, many business matters are not given the amount of attention necessary due to our elected representatives having other responsibilities and obligations to fulfill.

All regularly scheduled monthly meetings are open to the public and are held the first Monday evening of each month. The meeting is opened at 7:30 P. M. with all Councilmen reviewing the minutes of the previous month's meeting. These have been mailed to the Councilmen before the meeting night. At 8:00 P. M. the Town Officers make their monthly reports. Delegations having appointments followed, with old and new business devolved to the remainder of the meeting. Attendance on the part of each Councilman has always been 100% and I must say each member of our Town Council is a dedicated servant. Again, an invitation is extended to all citizens to attend these meetings and observe the business transactions necessary to keep your Town moving forward.

For the past several years many remarks have been made in regards to three of our Councilmen being employed by the same employer. This is a gross injustice to condemn an individual solely on the grounds he is employed by a certain organization. Remarks have been made that these Councilmen have been coerced into making decisions that were not beneficial to the welfare of the community. Let me reassure you, I have never been asked any favors, nor have I had pressure brought to bear upon me in any way by my employer, individuals or group of individuals in the past, nor, will I allow myself to come under this type of influence by any individual or groups of individuals in the future.

The Mayor and City Council gives much thought before announcing a decision on ALL issues. Many times legal advice must be secured before making certain announcements. However, being human, not all decisions are perfect and sometimes have to be revised. We do realize, however, that we cannot please everyone but must do what is best for the greatest number of people.

We don't pretend to be experts in all phases of our Town Government, but, we do try in our own small way, to do the things that will keep us on a sound financial base and those that will help make our community a better place in which to live.

It has been my experience that we get credit only for those things which do not turn out as we had hoped they would, and then, great issues are made in each instance. I urge each of you to help us in the management of Y O U R Town Government instead of condemning us. Most individuals within our Town know what is in store for them when asked to submit their names for the office of Mayor or City Councilmen and therefore flatly refuse knowing of the severe criticism they are subjected to if elected to office.

I will not be drawn into a cross examination through the media of the press and again remind you that if there are questions to be asked, you are invited to meet with us and discuss them at anytime. We ask for your help and understanding—not sympathy.

George Naylor, Jr.

'SPICE 'N' EVERYTHING NICE' (Your Chatty Column)

With all my heart, I wish you every morning
A smile that shall last until the next day's dawning.
I wish you health—life's greatest wealth;
I wish you always near so that I may help
to cheer
Each future day and in some way—help to bring you happiness!

Calling all school teachers and every adult! On Valentine Day, I made the special trip down to the "Peale Museum" to see the exhibition of The Sarah M. Peale Portraits and Still Life. (Address: The Peale Museum, 225 N. Holliday St., Baltimore). And the exhibition will only be here for such a short time, from February 5 to March 26, 1967. Sarah Miriam Peale was born in Philadelphia in 1800, on May 19th (A Taradiddle). Many individuals who own these portraits were kind in loaning them for this exhibition.

Sarah Peale came from a family of artists with so much talent. She never married. As I walked around gazing upon each portrait, I was so enthusiastic that I stood there and thanked God for my eyesight! The paintings almost breathe! I could hear the artist say, "Just smile a little please," as they sat for those portraits. There are only a few without this engaging smile. What a beautiful Soul this artist must have had and it all registered so with me that I felt she was right there! She observed so much detail in her paintings in gazing upon each individual. I observed that she used the very finest quality of oils! There in the eyes of each portrait was a distinct moisture which is rarely seen. The very first painting (there were two) self portraits and she must have been so pleased with them that she started painting for her livelihood and became very independent. She became a professional artist and worked in Philadelphia, Baltimore, Washington and St. Louis.

Just to think, she painted in that very building in the 1820's, so she was no more than perhaps 18 years of age or younger when she first started. She did exhibit "Flowers" at 17 years of age in the Philadelphia Annual exhibition in the Pennsylvania Academy. While in Baltimore, she studied her cousin Rembrandt Peale's methods and style and it influenced her later in her work. She painted the portrait of Marquis de Lafayette in Washington in 1824. There is so much wonderful history to the Peale Museum that everyone should know the story. Think if there are talented children for this, what it may do for them with this one visit to the museum in their future lives!

The "Still Life" paintings are so real of a "Slice of Watermelon," "Cherries" and "Red Raspberries," the latter so real that you felt you just had to pick one out of the basket and slip it into your mouth.

I compared the Portraits with a beautiful Masterpiece that many of you may have remembered named, "Stella," which was by an Italian artist and which was on exhibition in a store on Charles Street. It was very valuable and police were on duty for protection. It was roped off with heavy red velvet cord attached to two brass poles, one on each end, and there was an admission charge.

Sarah Miriam Peale spent 22 years in Baltimore, and those who sat for her were many prominent Baltimoreans. (and many during Tyler's administration). Congressman Henry A. Wise of Va., will startle you as he gazes down into your eyes with his magnetic expression! However, all the portraits are so true to the likeness of the individual that you would think they were going to hold conversation with you! (There is no admission charge). Whatever you do don't miss it! You will learn—oh-so-much! I'll go back again for a longer stay!

Have a grand week-end, Folks. hope to be seeing you next week D. V.

I am,
Faithfully yours,
Irene deLeon Love.

U.S. SHIPS FIRE ON N. VIETS

SAIGON — Two U. S. Navy destroyers joined to the action Tuesday when U. S. military activity in north Vietnam was resumed.

The first reported action occurred when the destroyer ALFREDA CUNNINGHAM sighted three logistics craft near the mouth of the Song Giang River, north of Dong Hoi.

The CUNNINGHAM fired on the craft and left them burning.

Later, the USS STRAUSS was fired on by two shore batteries on Ho Nieu and Hon Matt islands. The fire was returned and the shore batteries ceased firing. There was no damage to the STRAUSS.
