COMMUNITY LOCALS

Recent callers at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Roy B. Kiser were Rev. Howard W. Miller, Mr. and Mrs. Alton Dudderar, Frederick; Mrs. Russell Bohn, Keyman and Claude DeBerry, Emmitsburg.

Mrs. Robert Willet, one of the tellers in the main office of the Taneytown Bank and Trust Company, entered the Carroll County General Hospital March 15 and was operated on the next day. She is getting along nicely and expects to return home soon.

Raymond J. Perry, who has been in the University Hospital, Baltimore, quite ill, is now undergoing special treatment and is responding to it very nicely, apparently on the road to recovery. His many friends are "pulling" for his rapid and complete recovery.

The Holy Communion, celebrated last night (Wednesday) in Trinity Lutheran Church, will be continued tonight (Thursday) at 7:30 P. M., and again on Easter Sunday at 8 A. M. and at 2 P. M. The Easter Festival Service, with sermon and special music by all three choirs (but no Communion), will be at 10 A. M.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Stonesifer, Fairground Ave., entertained to dinner Sunday: Mrs. Ruthetta Meusel and daughters, Lorraine and Shirley, of Baltimore; Mr. and Mrs. Ardel Stonesifer, daughters, Sandra and Sylvia, Tyrone; Miss Bessie Yingling, Fritzelburg; Miss Evelyn Asper, Littlestown, Pa.; Mrs. Grace Carbaugh, Mildred Brown of town; Mr. and Mrs. James Stonesifer, daughter, Crisel, near Westminster; Mr. and Mrs. Leland Stonesifer, Denise Ohler and Galen Stonesifer, near town.

A booklet "Bobcat Baseball—1967" from Frostburg (Md.) State College received in our office this week, contained a write-up on one of our local boys who is a student in that college, Roger Eyer. Eyer, who bats and throws right, is in his junior year; he is 21, 5 ft. 10 in. tall and weighs 185 lbs. The write-up states, in part: Eyer, a pitcher, has been away from baseball for several years. He is lacking the good fast ball, and will have to rely on his good curve and pitching to spots. He has shown good control in his latest workouts.

The Easter season is approaching—even with the snow falling this (Thurs.) morning. Everyone is looking forward to Good Friday and Easter morning. The ladies will be "showing off" their new clothes—the men going along, seemingly non-chalant but deep down they, too, are proud of the display. The children, too, are looking forward to Sunday. One of the highlights for them is the Egg Hunt to be held at Taneytown Memorial Park at 2:00 P. M. Hesson-Snyder Post is sponsoring this event. The churches are planning services to commemorate the resurrection of Christ.

CORRECTION

In last week's issue, in the article "Observation of Narcotic Problems," it stated "Raw opium, valued at $35.00 has increased its value to $225,000.00 by the time it has reached the user." It should read "Raw opium, valued at $35.00 has increased its value to $225,000.00 by the time it has reached the user." We regret the error.

Getting up in the morning is largely a matter of mind over mattress.

EASTER TIME

Easter Sunday is regarded by untold millions around the earth as the world's most important religious holiday. One of the most joyous days of the year, it symbolizes the reawakening of life that is universally associated with springtime.

The present-day parades that mark the day had their beginning in the original Easter walk of Europe, when devout men and women congregated and walked in an orderly manner through town and into the open country, stopping along the way to recite prayers and sing Easter hymns.

Today in many American communities, elaborate Easter parades find women and children in their new finery—the husbands and fathers going along for the walk. And one of the most charming of all customs is the Easter egg hunt for the children—renewing the custom far older than Christianity.

Easter combines a rich mixture of laughter and solemnity. Both are good—both are needed by the soul of man.

Yes, Easter Sunday is one of the great days of the year, a day of joy for you and your family.

HOUSE RESOLUTION

Due to a recent controversy over the interpretation of the conditions under which the County Commissioners can conduct the business of the County, I feel it necessary to clear the air in the best interests of the people of the County.

I plan to do this by a resolution which I feel not only explains the situation in the past, but sets forth procedure for the future based on facts and precedent.

A bill will be prepared to carry out the intent of the resolution.

I have made this decision after discussion with the Attorney General's Office and feel his suggestion should be carried out.

The purpose of this action is not to enhance or delete the authority of any one or all Commissioners but to set forth in the law the conditions under which the Commissioners have transacted the business by the County long before the present Commissioners were elected.

I have discussed this with all three of the Commissioners. Two were in agreement and one felt there was no reason for such action, but I feel the legal opinion of the Attorney General's Office takes precedent over an individual's opinion not versed in the law.

Sincerely,
Jacob M. Yingling

House Resolution

House Resolution urging an amendment of the local laws of Carroll County with respect to the quorum of the County Commissioners necessary for the transaction of County business.

WHEREAS, There has been no change for many years in the basic law which sets forth the conditions under which the County Commissioners of Carroll County can transact the business of the County, except to provide that the County Commissioners may sit for an additional day and to provide for an increase in their salaries, justified by the increased demands of the office; and

WHEREAS, The County Commissioners of Carroll County have transacted the business of the county over these many years under such law; and

WHEREAS, Because of emergencies, illness, or death, it was necessary on occasions to transact such business with only a majority of the Commissioners in attendance; and

WHEREAS, It has been assumed over these many years by County officials that a majority of the Commissioners could transact business for the County in case of emergencies, illness or death and for other justifiable reasons; and

WHEREAS, Some of the occasions when this occurred are: the illness and death of Commissioner Carr; the vacancy caused by the resignation of Commissioner Denner until the appointment of Commissioner McKinney, and the illness of Commissioner Crawford; and

WHEREAS, Obviously any county governing body can be in the situation when one of the Commissioners, at least by virtue of sickness, will be unable to work any given number of days in any week, notwithstanding that a statute does not authorize his absence for illness and even were he absent for illness, the statute does not permit a pro-rated reduction in his compensation; and

WHEREAS, Such a situation can be promptly rectified by legislation embodying an emergency clause allowing it to become effective from the date of its passage; now, therefore, be it

RESOLVED BY THE HOUSE OF DELEGATES OF MARYLAND, That an amendment of the local laws of Carroll County with respect to the quorum of the County Commissioners necessary for the transaction of County business is hereby urged in order to conform the law to its longstanding interpretation by County officials; and be it further

RESOLVED, That copies of this Resolution be sent to the County Commissioners of Carroll County, and to the Attorney to the County Commissioners, and to all newspapers published in the County.

Americans used over 100 billion pounds of paper in the U.S. in 1966—or about 530 pounds per person—reports the American Paper Institute. And, by 1970, per capita consumption of paper in the U.S. is expected to hit 580 pounds.

REMARKS OF CONGRESSMAN CHARLES McC. MATHIAS, JR., AT HIS MARYLAND DAY RECEPTION, TUESDAY, MARCH 14

This month marks the 333rd anniversary of the founding of Maryland, on March 25, 1634. In celebrating Maryland Day, we are paying tribute to the men and women of the Free State who, over more than three centuries, have built a remarkable record of achievement in every field of endeavor and in every sphere of local, state and national activity.

Today we are especially emphasizing Maryland's role as a great maritime state and a consistent national leader on the seas, in commerce, and in American naval history. A fitting symbol of this leadership is the U.S. Frigate Constellation, the first warship of the Navy to reach the seas, and now the oldest ship in the world which has been continuously afloat.

Maryland-built, Maryland-manned, and now Maryland-berthed, the Constellation has played a prominent role in every chapter of our naval history since her launching on September 7, 1797. In time of war, on diplomatic missions, and in humanitarian service, her work has exemplified the best in our Navy and in our entire maritime tradition. It is our task now to be true to that tradition, by restoring the Constellation to full grandeur and guaranteeing that she will endure as a symbol of the early and continuing strength of Maryland and the nation on the seas.

One of the first three American ships to be constructed, the Constellation in 1799 scored the first important American naval victory when, under Captain Thomas Truxton, she captured the French frigate L'Insurgente in the Caribbean. A year later she scored a second triumph by defeating the French man-of-war La Vengeance in the West Indies. After seeing action against the Barbary pirates and during the War of 1812, she was stationed off South America, in the Mediterranean, and again in the West Indies until the 1840's, when she became the flagship of Commodore Lawrence Kearny and began a long voyage around the world. In 1842 she became the first American ship of war to enter the inland waters of China.

After active service in the Mediterranean and on the Gulf Coast during the Civil War, the Constellation became a training ship at the Naval Academy in 1871. During the latter part of the 19th century, her most renowned achievement was transporting food to Ireland during the famine of 1880. After 1894, the ship was berthed at Newport, R.I., and remained there, except for a few brief cruises, until 1945.

In 1940, in a dramatic invocation of naval history, President Roosevelt ordered the Constellation recommissioned at Newport as the flagship of the U.S. Atlantic fleet and a symbol of American naval strength.

Since World War II, however, the Constellation has been preserved primarily by private energies. In 1953 title to the ship was transferred from the Navy to the Star-Spangled Banner Flag House Association of Baltimore, and in 1955 she was returned to Baltimore, where she is now berthed at Pier 4, Pratt Street. Since 1955, the Constellation Restoration Committee has maintained the ship, conducted tours, and raised funds for her complete restoration. In 1964 she was declared a National Historic Landmark.

A bill which I have introduced (H. R. 854) with Congressman Edward Garmatz would establish a permanent berth for the Constellation next to Fort McHenry, and would guarantee Federal support to supplement the efforts of the dedicated citizens who have preserved her and begun the great task of restoration of this historic ship.

Mr. and Mrs. James Baumgardner of Taneytown were in attendance at this celebration.

Goff, Crusade Chairman, said that Mrs. Bixler, Mrs. Yingling and Mrs. Young, along with their volunteers, accepted the assignments because of their deep concern with the urgency of the cancer problem. ## "SPICE 'N' EVERYTHING NICE" (Your Chatty Column)

With all my heart, I wish you every morning. A smile that shall last until the next day's dawning. I wish you health—life's greatest wealth; I wish you always near so that I may help to cheer. Each future day and in some way—help to bring you happiness!

Here is the story of "The Wanamaker Eagle" where all Philadelphians say, which is a familiar phrase, "Meet me at the Eagle!" The great bronze eagle in the grand court of the Philadelphia Wanamaker Store was originally made in Frankfurt, Germany, for the Louisiana Purchase Exposition (St. Louis, 1904), and was purchased by the Wanamaker store at the close of the exposition. It is a magnificent example of modern metal art! All the parts—the heavy plates that form the inner structure, as well as the feathers and other surface parts—were made separately and wrought by hand with chisel, file and hammer. Every individual feather on the head and body was modeled and fitted in place by hand. Such painstaking work resulted in a much more natural and life-like effect than can be gained by embossed or cast work. But it involved more than five months of labor by a large number of highly skilled craftsmen. There are 1600 feathers on the head alone and 5000 on the whole eagle. The length from head to tip is 9 feet 10 inches, height 6 feet 8 inches, width 3 feet 3 inches. The weight of the eagle, 2500 pounds of granite. Pedestal, 4,500 pounds! It is on the huge pedestal that can seat about four individuals while keeping an appointment but many just stand around and wait. When next you visit Wanamaker's be sure and see "THE EAGLE."

Now this, I learned the other day which very few knew. Nelson Eddy confided in a reporter that he had proposed to Jeannette MacDonald EIGHT TIMES! And that he only told just before his death!

Did you read about the young policeman of the Western Dist. who handled three "bulls" all by himself as they were beating him up? Only 24 years of age and he was off duty but carrying his revolver. Every day, all police are not given the authority that they should have. Eh? And this I did not know about Rosa Ponselle until recently that she sang in the opera "La Forza" with the great Caruso on Nov. 15, 1918, at the Met in N.Y. when she made her debut! She recently celebrated her 70th birthday. I'll always remember when my Minister and I visited her in her lovely "open house" affair during the Christmas holidays. She has about eight or ten Poodles and they do have the run of the house! It was truly a Christmas to remember! And to think, now another opera star has passed on—"Geraldine Farrar," whom I have heard many times in the Opera House in Philadelphia when I was a young girl.

And thinking about entertainers. No one is as refined and genteel as that nice Lawrence Welk and he has been most obliging as to my suggestion placing the beautiful and humble celloist from the orchestra as to solos. She is a beauty!

Many times I have placed over the years the sure cure for the bald head of that Cuti-care ointment and soap and here is one and that from experience! A mole appeared in the last few years on the upper part of my cheek (where actresses place them for a beauty mark). Every one teased me asking if I had placed it there and then I asked my Dr. to remove it with a needle which he refused to do stating, "It looks like a beauty mark, just leave it alone." I then purchased the ointment and soap and followed directions and after four weeks' treatment it is almost gone! Wonderful!

The "Farmer's Almanac" truly has stated facts so far as to the month of March. Most accurate I have ever read! To the very day!

Have a grand week-end, folks. Be careful when you drive, especially at corners even if you have the green light! Until next week, D.V.

I am,
Faithfully yours,
Irene deLeon Love.

And a P.S. — That cute ad of "Clark's Chewing Gum" with a few dance steps!

THOUGHTS OF INSPIRATION, COURAGE AND HOPE FOR THE LENTEN SEASON 1967

This really is an invitation to accept the greatest gift ever offered to the world. Here is the gift: "God so loved the world (not necessarily only the church) that He gave His only Son, that whosoever believeth on Him should not perish, but have eternal life." John 3:16.

Have you ever noticed how carefully this gift is given? "For God sent the Son into the world not to condemn the world, but that the world might be saved through Him." John 3:17. We are also promised by Jesus, "I came that you might have life and have it more abundantly."

May you have a wonderful Easter in 1967.

A CHILDREN'S DAY

Easter and the official entry of Spring this year fall within a few days of each other. Although Spring always arrives about the 21st of March, the date of Easter varies over a wider range. This year it is the 26th of March.

In case you need reminding, Easter comes on the first Sunday after the date of the first full moon that occurs on or after March 21—according to Webster's New World Dictionary. Since it celebrates the resurrection of Jesus Christ, it is observed in a pleasant and rather gentle manner—the Easter egg hunt and the Easter bonnet.

Countless millions of children will pursue the annual treasure hunt for the gifts of the Easter bunny in brightly colored, easy-to-see baskets—tinted eggs, chocolate rabbits and gumdrops. The excited cries of childish discovery ringing on the spring air are one of the more pleasant aspects of Easter.

Much of the country has endured a harsh winter. Let's hope that Spring arrives with clear skies and that the sun shines on Easter for the benefit of the children and the Easter bunnies.

NOTED AND PASSED

Speedy Debt — Tom Smith, Editor of Action in Kentucky, took the scientists' word for it that Mariner 4, the spacecraft sent on a wide orbit around the sun two years ago, has now traveled more than a billion miles. It's said that Mariner 4 will keep traveling in space until the end of time.

"But even at its dazzling speed," writes Tom Smith, "it will require 653 years to travel 326.7 billion miles. On the other hand, closer to home, the Federal Government has taken only 35 years to build up a debt of 326.7 billion dollars."

Puzzled? — We admit that we were puzzled when President Johnson signed that executive order cracking down on any American business which doesn't abide by UN economic sanctions against Rhodesia. Then it dawned on us that Rhodesia most certainly deserves that kind of treatment. You know why?

Rhodesia is doing nothing, absolutely nothing, to build bridges of understanding. Specifically, not a single Rhodesian ship has tied up at Haiphong, alongside the ships from all those peace-loving UN member nations, to unload ammo, planes and fuel for the liberating forces of the Viet Cong. Obviously, Rhodesia has not lifted a finger against the imperialists in the cause of peace.

Famine Relief — On January 18, in Tokyo, Ambassador Chen Chih-mai, representing the Republic of China and President Chiang, formally presented 2,000 tons of rice to Indonesian Ambassador Roekmito Hendramingrat, a token of Free China's deep sympathy toward the famine-stricken people of Indonesia.

Sukarno's heritage to the country he tried to deliver to Mao: hunger.

Quote — Al Capp, cartoonist and humorist: "What I fear is that it won't be long before it is possible to lead a better life being on the bum and on welfare than being on the job and paying your own way; that those who take welfare will outnumber those who provide it."

FACTS AND OPINIONS

According to the Citizens Public Expenditure Survey, Inc., of Albany, New York: "The $4.7 billion State Budget for 1967-68 is a shining example of gigantism—which the dictionary defines as 'development to abnormally large size.' Its complexity and mass of expanded and new state spending defies ready analysis. One thing, however, is certain, this Budget is a dangerous repetition of the fiscal pattern that led this State to the massive tax hikes of 1965. . . . Each year the major portion of state spending increases are labeled 'mandatory and obligatory'."

"The State of Oregon is not impoverished and it should not knuckle down to congressional coercion in the highway safety program," says the Portland Oregonian. ". . . Oregon should adopt the traffic safety measures it considers workable and in the public interest and tell the federal government to go fly a kite. If this state would take the lead in organizing a revolt of the states against federal dictatorship, Congress would quickly change its mind. After all, members of Congress are elected by the people, although they seem to forget it between elections."

In testimony filed with the House Ways and Means Committee, Keith Funston, president of the New York Stock Exchange, said the tax on American purchases of foreign stock from foreigners has aggravated — not helped — the nation's balance of payments problem. "It would be ironic," he said, "if the United States itself were to take another step that could injure free world markets, which we have worked so long to nurture."

An Associated Industries of Alabama bulletin says: "Senator Abraham Ribicoff . . . has introduced legislation calling for a massive, $50 billion program to clean up America's slums. The sweeping proposals are contained in 13 bills (S. 581-S. 593) and would reshape and vastly expand the 'Demonstration Cities' program."

Mr. William J. Clapp, president of the Edison Electric Institute, recently said, ". . . In the next five years, the investor-owned electric power companies expect to put approximately 80 million kilowatts of new capacity into service. With new construction expenditures reaching a record level of $5.5 billion in 1967, the companies expect to bring their total investment in electric plant and equipment to around $69.5 billion by the end of the year."

Arizona Senator Paul Fannin said that he would vote against the President's proposal for a tax increase if the measure were to come to the floor for vote. Senator Fannin suggested that if more money is needed to finance the war, "the Administration should push for savings in non-defense spending rather than impose additional taxes on Americans who already are too heavily burdened with costs of government—local, state and federal."

"As one reads the latest Economic Reports of the President and his Council of Economic Advisers," says George Hagedorn, economist and National Association of Manufacturers vice president, "one is struck more by the change of tone, as compared with previous reports, than by any of the specifics. These documents seem much less assertive than the Economic Reports of previous years—less confident that the recommended policies are the only right answers to national problems, less certain that the course of the economy in the coming year has been correctly foreseen, and less dogmatic in the assertion of which objectives should get national priority."

Mr. Bill Vaughn, syndicated columnist, remarked, "If a silent telephone number confers status, think of how classy it would be to have an unlisted Zip Code."

Welcome Spring With Orange Pie

Orange Velvet Cream Pie is the thing for spring — lovely to look at, delicious to eat, and inexpensive to make.

The Valencia orange, Florida's prize citrus variety, is what makes this pie so good. This superb orange, with its deep colored peel and fruit, is practically seedless and has exceptionally sweet, rich flavor. Florida is harvesting its biggest orange crop in history this year, and prices are lower than ever. Valencias will be in the market from March to July.

The filling includes the sweet orange juice, unflavored gelatine, and either whipped heavy cream or evaporated milk. Firm of texture, yet light and luscious, the pie makes a pretty party dessert garnished with whipped cream and fresh, juicy orange sections.

Orange Velvet Cream Pie

|---|---|
| 1 envelope unflavored gelatine          | 2 tablespoons lime juice                            |
| 1 1/4 cups Florida orange juice         | 1 cup heavy cream, whipped or                       |
| 3/4 cup sugar                           | 3/4 cup thoroughly chilled evaporated milk, whipped |
| 1 tablespoon flour                      | 1 9-inch baked pie shell                            |
| 1/4 teaspoon salt                       |   |
| 1 tablespoon grated Florida orange rind |   |

Soften gelatine in 1/4 cup cold orange juice in saucepan. Blend sugar, flour, and salt; add to softened gelatine; mix thoroughly. Place over medium heat; stir constantly until gelatine is dissolved and mixture is thickened. Remove from heat; add orange rind and remaining 1/4 cup orange juice and lime juice. Chill until mixture is slightly thicker than the consistency of unbeaten egg whites. Fold into whipped cream or whipped evaporated milk. Turn into pastry shell and chill until firm. Garnish with whipped cream and orange sections.

YIELD: 1 9-inch pie.

His message was on what Jesus saw while looking at Jerusalem before His entry into the city on Palm Sunday. Communion here on Easter Sunday and confirmation members taken into membership. Easter Sunrise Services at Rocky Ridge and Union Bridge Community Center at 6 A. M.

Are you a reader? Try "Black Like Me" from the Bookmobile. It was written by John Griffin, who spoke recently at Hood College. He actually lived among the Negroes in southern states as one of them with his skin darkened. Quite an experience! Did you read "Advise and Consent" by Allan Drury some years ago? If you did, you might also enjoy the two sequels to it: "A Shade of Difference," which takes place in Washington and the United Nations in New York, and "Capable of Honor," about newspapers and reporters and their influence on the public, also in Washington. There is still another one planned. They are thick books and small print, but they hold one's interest and you hate to put them down. Do you use the Bookmobile? It is a wonderful thing for those of us who are not able to just run to the Davis Library any time. Mr. Davidson is ready, willing and able to help you with anything about books. To me, he is the Bookmobile.

Happy Easter.

—Dharlys Fleharty

Keysville-Detour Homemakers Club

"Stretching Our Food Dollar" was the lesson given by food leaders Mrs. Edward Coshun and Mrs. William Weishaar at the meeting of the Keysville-Detour Homemakers Club on March 16 at the Parish House of the United Church of Christ in Keysville.

Members learned that Americans are eating better than ever, one farmer produces enough food for 26 consumers, the farmers receives only 38 cents of the food dollar, Americans are buying more processed food and these add to the cost. Most people in the world spend over one-half of their income for food but in the United States, it is only one-fifth. Transportation, labor and packaging add to the cost of food. Everyone should compare prices, buy specials and sale items for savings and avoid waste.

It was moved and seconded in the business meeting to pay the registration fee of $2.00 apiece for Mrs. Harold Thomas and Mrs. Edward Coshun as delegates from the club to the School Board Nominating Federation. A Stanley Paper was turned down. Thank you note from Mrs. Hubert Null for a planter while she was in the hospital was received. Next meeting at the home of Mrs. Edward Coshun.

MEETING OF

CARROLL COUNTY FAIR BOARD

The Carroll County Fair Board met Wednesday evening, March 15, with Chairman John Rinehart presiding at the first meeting of the newly formed Board.

This year a much bigger and better fair will be held at the Agricultural Center according to Herb Wesell, president of the Carroll County Agricultural Center, sponsors of the Fair. It is hoped phases of the typical county fair will be greatly enlarged.

The entertainment chairman, David Reifsnider, gave a preview of some of the attractions to be held during the evenings of the fair. A parade and Farm Queen contest is planned for the first evening. The following nights will feature Beef Sale and Dance in the show pavilion.

Plans for other phases of the new fair were also initiated. Such items as commercial exhibits, food concessions, grounds preparation, amusements and publicity were discussed.

Fair President Rinehart expressed his appreciation for the work completed thus far and was optimistic concerning the ultimate success of this year's fair to be held July 17-20.

ANNAPOLIS REPORTS

This will be the last full week of the current session of the Maryland Legislature.

The long debated Tax Reform Bill has passed the House of Delegates and is now in the Senate Finance Committee.

A joint meeting of the House Ways and Means and Senate Finance Committees was held Saturday to discuss the State Budget that was presented by Governor Agnew. In addition, the Governor's $32,000,000 supplemental budget was also reviewed. The Legislature cannot increase appropriations as listed in the budget, but they can, if they feel it is justified, reduce appropriations of any items that are not mandatory (set by law).

Since there are many State employees residing in Carroll and Frederick Counties, they will be interested to know that a salary increase was provided for them in Governor Agnew's supplemental budget. The Finance Committee has approved this item and the Bill necessary to carry out this recommendation is now being discussed in Committee.

Agricultural Study

A Senate Joint Resolution requesting the Governor to appoint a Committee to study the organization of the State Board of Agriculture has been introduced with your correspondent as one of the sponsors.

Presently, the Board of Regents of the University of Maryland sits as the State Board of Agriculture. This dates back to the time when the College Park campus of the University of Maryland was an Agricultural College and the Board and the College had similar interests. It is felt by many that due to the growth of the University both in Maryland and abroad that the Board of Regents could no longer truly represent agriculture. Therefore, a study has been proposed to consider giving the farming interests of the State, a State Board of Agriculture which will be truly interested in the agricultural problems of the State.

Charles H. Smelser

State Senator

Carroll-Frederick District

It was called to the attention of your Delegates this past week that unless a bill was introduced to allow the County Commissioners to give 6 cents of the county tax to the local Fire Companies, the companies would not have enough money to operate the coming year. The present law provides for 5 cents. It was necessary to suspend the rules to have the bill introduced but we felt this was a worthy cause since the Fire Companies are so important for the protection of our communities. This summer your Delegates plan to meet with County Fire Officials to see if we can be of further help.

A meeting was held Friday morning with Senator Snyder and some members of the county delegation. Numerous representatives from the Sykesville area voiced well planned opposition, based on many facts, to the proposed maximum

County Extension Agent

Have you ever wondered what the figures 5-10-10 or 10-10-10 really mean when you are buying fertilizer? If you have been puzzled then perhaps an explanation would be helpful. All commercial fertilizer sold in any form must register a guaranteed analysis of the three major plant food elements consisting of nitrogen, phosphorus, and potassium. Thus the analysis 5-10-10 means 5 percent in nitrogen, 10 percent phosphate and 10 percent potash. For each hundred pounds you can expect five pounds of nitrogen, 10 pounds of phosphate, and 10 pounds of potash to be present.

Generally all grasses need high applications of nitrogen to supplement the phosphate and potash. Consequently, the analysis used for pastures, corn and spring topdressing of small grain may be 10-10-10, 15-10-10 or 20-10-10. On the other hand, legumes such as alfalfa and clover require no additional nitrogen since they manufacture nitrogen from the air. Thus an analysis of 0-20-20, 0-15-30 or similar analysis is used.

In calculating fertilizer applications, it is easy to figure that 500 pounds of 5-10-10 fertilizer will supply 25 pounds of nitrogen, 50 pounds of phosphate and 50 pounds of potash. If soil tests indicate that 30 pounds of nitrogen is needed, it can be quickly determined that 600 pounds of 5-10-10 or 300 pounds of 10-10-10 will supply the desired amount.

Many times a "fertilizer ratio" is referred to such as a 1-1-1 ratio. A good example of a 1-1-1 ratio is 10-10-10. It simply means that for each pound of nitrogen there is a pound of phosphate and a pound of potash. Consequently 10-10-10 and 20-20-20 are both 1-1-1 ratio fertilizer. It takes only half as much 20-20-20 to supply the same plant food as it would 10-10-10.

Farmers should give their equipment a good checkup to see that everything is in good working order for spring. Weed sprayers, grain drills and fertilizer spreaders usually need attention due to rusting or corrosion over the winter. Sprayers can be recalculated to insure proper dose rates. Worn or broken parts for all equipment can be ordered and replaced prior to those first few days when field work can be done.

Usually only a few good days exist in March when the soil can be worked to seed oats, peas, or other early crops. One day of delay often means waiting another week or two because of rain and wet ground. Excessive delay often results in lower yields thereby reducing net income.

Roadside marketing is the most direct method of moving farm products from the farm to consumer. Farmers receive a larger share of the consumer's dollar by providing services normally provided by marketing firms.

Carroll County is fortunate in having a number of good roadside market outlets which offer quality produce. Quality products brings return customers and farm freshness is usually associated with the roadside market.

Small as well as large producers can take advantage of this direct-to-consumer outlet and the small operator may market the major portion of his products, while the large operator may use the roadside market as a profitable sideline to his usual marketing practices.

In an attempt to improve marketing practices, a group of farmers in 1965 formed the Association of Maryland Certified Farmers Roadside Markets. This association seeks to promote high quality produce and increase the confidence of the consumer.

Membership in the association is governed by a Code of Ethics under which each member must conduct his business. Further information can be obtained by writing or calling our County Extension Office, Westminster, for a copy of the University of Maryland Extension Service leaflet entitled "Roadside Marketing." This leaflet gives tips on selecting a location, roadside signs, advertising, and suitable facilities.

LEGISLATIVE REPORT

FROM

By GOODLOE E. BYRON
STATE SENATOR

MODERNIZATION OF THE LEGISLATURE

The Report of the Citizens' Commission on the General Assembly presents a clear challenge to the people of Maryland. Received in final form this week, the Report underscores frequently heard contentions that the Legislative Branch of Government has failed to keep pace with the times. While the other branches of Government have been expanding, the Legislature has experienced difficulty in developing the kind of efficient operation without which no modern business could possibly operate.

The Commission's Report analyzes the operations of the General Assembly from the standpoint of its committee organizations, cost and budgetary procedures, public information policies and other major aspects. Surprisingly, the Commission found that 80 per cent of the Legislative work-load was carried by two out of 18 House Committees; that complex, comprehensive tax measures may reach the floor of the House only hours before mandatory adjournment and that Senators and Delegates, working under the pressure of 18-hour daily sessions, frequently receive only a bare opportunity to examine billion dollar Executive Budgets. The Commission noted in particular the lack of adequate office facilities, secretarial assistance, and professional staff assistance for major committees.

The recommendations contained in the Commission's Report are quite realistic and could, if adopted, provide Maryland's Government with an efficient legislative procedure. Among these recommendations are the following:

(1) Year 'round functioning of major Senate and House Committees.
(2) Maintenance of permanent records of the activities of all committees including minutes and a record of testimony produced in hearings.
(3) The adoption of a policy requiring committees to hold public hearings with adequate public notice.

(4) The adoption of 90 rather than 70-day annual sessions. (It is interesting to note that the Commission found that the solution to Legislative inefficiency does not lie in longer sessions.)
(5) Prefiling of bills which would permit their review well in advance of the annual Legislative sessions.

The forthcoming Constitutional Convention to be called for September will undoubtedly consider many of the recommendations of the Wills' Commission in drafting a new Constitution for Maryland. However, it is clear that the Legislature itself will have a responsibility to provide more efficient operations in future years.

How Some Farmers
on OAT SEED

Some farmers strive to "save" money on oat seeds. They plant feed oats from their feed bins. Or they buy untreated, untested, "over-the-fence" seeds from their neighbors. Or they get "bargain-price" seeds from any old store or off a truck from strangers.

But these ways are not for you because your goal is to make money. You know that to make money with oats, either grain or forage, you start with top-quality seed. Southern States top-quality Seed, for example, Steer clear of feed oats, "over-the-fence" seed, "bargain" seed. No farmer can really afford the poor yields, diseases and weed grief that can result from planting inferior seed.

With Southern States top-quality Seed Oats, you spend pennies to make dollars. You get top yields and top profits, without weed problems.

The Easter Faith

Lesson for March 26, 1967

Background Scriptures: Luke 24.
Devotional Readings: 1 Corinthians 15:12-22.

When the Duke of Wellington and his army met Napoleon and his forces at Waterloo, the news of the outcome of the battle was relayed to London, first by a ship that crossed the channel and then a system of flags by which the news was wig-wagged to the capitol. As the message was being transmitted to Winchester, the signaler on the top of the cathedral began to spell it out: W-E-L-L-I-N-G-T-O-N D-E-F-E-A-T-E-D. Suddenly a fog descended and hid the rest of the message.

When this partial message reached London, the whole city was thrown into despair. After a while, however, the fog lifted and the signaler resumed the unfinished message: W-E-L-L-I-N-G-T-O-N D-E-F-E-A-T-E-D T-H-E E-N-E-M-Y! Soon, the message was spreading joyously through England.

My Victory Too

That's the way it is with the Easter faith. On Good Friday the fog descends and the message in its incompleteness seems to say that the enemy has been victorious. But on Easter Sunday the fog lifts and the message is completed: He lives — death and sin are defeated! Thus it becomes the day, not of defeat, but of victory.

Furthermore, what makes it good news is that it is not only Christ's victory, but ours. I find it not so amazing that he, the Son of God, would be victorious; but that I, with all my weaknesses, my temptations, my failings, my defects, should be victorious with Him is almost too good to be true.

It began simply enough. On that first Easter morning a number of sorrowing women went to the garden tomb, their hearts immersed in grief, and something wonderful happened there. First of all, they found an empty tomb! The great stone that had covered the entrance to the tomb had been moved to one side. Going within, they discovered that the body of Jesus was no longer there.

There was also a second reason: they received a message of "good news." Two strange men at the tomb reminded them that Jesus had spoken of his coming death and resurrection. Then "they remembered his words." The women had come expecting to shed their tears over a lifeless corpse, but they were assured that he was alive.

Their Own Encounter

They found, therefore, an empty tomb and the assurance that he was alive again as he had promised them. These are important factors, but it must be admitted that they, by themselves, are not sufficient evidence for the Easter faith.

This brings us to the third and most important reason for their belief in the resurrection: they experienced the living Lord themselves! "As they were saying this, Jesus himself stood among them." Though the absence of a corpse and the assurance of the two angelic strangers had prepared them, it was their own encounter with the living Christ that told them the wonderful truth about Christ's victory over sin and death. This is the basis of the Easter faith.

Great news! But it is also something more: a responsibility! Returning from the tomb, the women went straight to the disciples and shared this revelation with them. Later, when Jesus appeared to the Twelve, he charged them: "You are witnesses of these things." So it is also for us. It is a wonderful thing to stand in the empty tomb or the upper room and know that Jesus has conquered death and sin, but we must not stand there and savor indefinitely that moment for ourselves alone. We must share it.

This, then, is the essence of the Easter faith: To discover for ourselves that "He is risen!" To go and tell others that glorious news.

Hamburger Coming Up

by Betty Crocker

Trying to stash away cash for the Easter bonnet fund? O.K., then, let's glorify hamburger — the best friend a pennypincher ever had. For a starter, here's a cheeseburger surprise: A chunk of blue cheese bedded inside a quarter pound of ground beef. You'll rival the local drive-in with that one. Or, how's this for entertaining on a shoestring? Meatballs with Italian spaghetti. Or marvelous lasagne, very "in" this season. And of course you'll serve the family economical meat loaf — but yours will look extravagant. Little individual loaves basted with barbecue sauce. Or try one of my recipes below. They both help you save but never ever let it show.

HAMBURGER LATTICE LOAF

1 pound ground beef
¼ cup chili sauce
1 envelope (1½ ounces) dry onion soup mix or 2 tablespoons instant minced onion
¼ cup milk
¼ teaspoon pepper
¼ teaspoon allspice
1 egg, slightly beaten
Short Pie dough (below)

Heat oven to 375°. Mix all ingredients except Short Pie dough. Spread in 9-inch pie pan. Pat Short Pie dough into a 9-inch square on waxed paper. With scissors, cut through waxed paper into 10 strips. Remove paper from half of strips; place about 1 inch apart on meat mixture. Remove paper from remaining strips; weave across other strips for lattice effect. Flute edge on inside rim. Bake 25 to 30 minutes. 6 servings.

Short Pie dough: Place 1 cup Bisquick and ¼ cup butter or margarine in a bowl. Add 3 tablespoons boiling water and stir vigorously with a fork until dough forms a ball and cleans the bowl. Dough will be puffy and soft.

Another day, another way to do a little painless penny-pinching — — —

Meat Loaf a la Mode: Prepare your favorite meat loaf recipe and shape into round layer pan, 8½ inches. Press a hole in center to hold excess fat. Pat top of loaf smooth. To serve, cut meat loaf into 6 wedges; top each wedge with a scoop of mashed potatoes. Pretty as pie!

Something green for salad — something good for dessert, like hot gingerbread. Get the picture? You stretch your imagination and you bolster the budget. And, Easter Parade, here we come.

Grow Corn Like This with the Help of Southern States Fertilizer

Surpluses of most farm crops are history now. You're hearing more about the world food shortage and the emphasis is on more production, not less. From here on out, it's going to take more fertilizer to get this increased production of corn and other crops.

Whether you plow down, broadcast or band your corn fertilizer, you can always count on Southern States fertilizer to provide you with a full measure of the plant food you're paying for. It's made in farmer-owned plants by people working for farmers. And they make the best fertilizer anybody knows how to make.

Be sure you get maximum corn production by following a Southern States crop feeding program. Have a complete fertilizer or the phosphate and potash applied now or at planting time. Then follow up later with a side dressing of Green Charger Nitrogen. Many Southern States Agencies have bulk spreading equipment to do the work for you. To avoid the rush later, get your Southern States plant food now.

FAITH OF A FARMER

A farmer understands deep certainties. Knows winter is a doorway to the spring. Walks quiet aisles of prayer where temples trees. Prove death a season for each living thing. He turns fresh furrows to the sun each year. And feels new sunlight on his old, old fields. Each drop of dew and rain that touches here. Will bring him hope for plenteous harvest yields. He bares his head against an April sky. Sure of the constant greening of the grass. When seedlings sprout he does not question why. Hears trust in wild geese calling as they pass. His faith affirms the resurrection claim. When Spring returns a green and living flame.

—Helen Virden

ANGEL FOR A DAY

Our Ginger's friends have ringlets, Which frame angelic faces; While Ginger's butchered stringlets Suit black eyes, bumps, and braces. Still imps, come Easter Sunday, Must suffer some restraints; And Ginger moves, this one day, with The carbon-copy saints.

—Philene Hammer

Note:—Each Easter, life is renewed. Beginning a garden is an example of this. At the heart of a dead-looking seed is a strong and vibrant germ of life, that needs only the Master's touch to bring it forth.

A blessed Easter to all of you.
—Esther N. Speak.
