reason that he was loved by all! Before me, I have the reply to my letter which I predicted his FOURTH ELECTION and I stated that he should not open my letter until after the election! I was walking on the stread that late aftermoon and I saw street that late afternoon and I saw many groups of people huddled to-gether bending over a newspaper and gether behaving over a newspaper and going up to a group of about five or six men, I said, "What is it' What is the matter?" All raised their heads with tears running down their cheeks and that reply, "OUR PRESIDENT IS DEAD"!

The greatest calamity to which any nation is subject is the loss by death of its leader upon whom the man-tle of power has been bestowed and in whom the affections of its peo-ple repose — that sad day when our own President Franklin Delano Roose-velt was mourned by the nation! The own President Franklin Delano Roose-velt was mourned by the nation! The shock of that tragic event was not in its suddenness although that was severe. The delicate health and im-paired physical condition of Presi-dent Roosevelt had long been known to the American people as their pray-ers attended him throughout the long ers attended him throughout the long years of his struggle in the shadow of death, and the indomitable courage and indefatigable spirit with which he endured and finally triumphed over his affliction have been of such example and inspiration to the people that they had seemed of Providential intention.

This leadership of such a man does not end with his life no more than his name passes from memory of his countrymen!

That wonderful name of FRANK-LIN DELANO ROOSEVELT will LIN DELANO ROOSEVELT will live on and on, not only today or to-morrow, but in all the annals of re-corded time, attesting all the things he achieved, all the things of which he dreamed in keeping with the great love in which he was held by so many of his people, and with the high trust they placed in him. That day — the greatest shock and tragedy of the calamitous event is in the manner in which is symbolizes the whole cost of War.

of War. Mr. Roosevelt had fallen as a casualty in that terrible war, even as the unknown boy whose life ebbs out on a distant battlefield. He gave his life for his country!

He loved his country above all else and labored in its service with utter disregard of his own well-being of his own comforts and conveniences of life itself. That is what the death of President Roosevelt meant to the American people — as the deaths of so many thousands of beloved Ameri-cans have come to mean in so many cans have come to mean in so many homes. MOTHER NATURE, HOUSEKEEPER SUPREME

Now that Spring is here, my thoughts turn, in woman-like fash-ion, to housecleaning, and to house-keeping in general. What a staggering array of jobs it involves — cooking, child-care, laundry, decorating, cleaning-I could go on and on. It fairly makes the mind reel, just to contemplate them all.

And speaking of cleaning, many women (myself included) do not par-ticularly delight in wielding the vacuum and mop, but they nevertheless manage to keep things reasonably cozy and in order. On the other hand, some zealous housekeepers chase the dust and dirt so religiously that the members of their families must re-move their shoes before entering the sacred domain. And yet, what is a home if it cannot be enjoyed and "lived in"?

For my part, I much prefer to step into a different kind of habitation— that of Mother Nature, a warm-hearted hostess who welcomes me at all times with open arms, shoes or no shoes! This charming Lady needs no mop or cloth to keep her domicile dust-free. The wind accomplishes dust-free. The wind accomplishes this very nicely. At regular inter-vals, her floors are scrubbed by the rain, and sweetly dried by the sun. Mother Nature's staff of interior decorators (the Seasons Four, Inc.) keep her establishment lovely all through the year, and they perform these services free of charge Miss these services free of charge. SEED THOUGHTS

The heart is a garden where thought flowers grow, The thoughts that we think are the seeds that we sow; Each kind loving thought bears a kind loving deed, While a thought that is selfish is just like a weed.

We must watch what we think the livelong day, And pull out the weed thoughts and throw them away; And plant loving seed thoughts

so thick in a row, There will be no room for weed thoughts to grow.

-Author unknown

Note: This is my favorite season of the year. Gardens are being plant-ed now as the ground becomes ready. It is nice to be able to see the plants shoot up through the ground. A garden represents a lot of work, however; if you have never tasted new peas or green beans picked and served the same day you don't know what you are missing!

You may have to fight when there is no hope of victory, because it is better to perish than live as 'slaves."

FACTS AND OPINIONS

A bill allowing income tax credits for employers investing company funds in job training program has been introduced in the House of Representatives by Congressman Wendell Wyatt of Oregon. The bill allows businesses a 10 per cent tax credit on employer expenses incurred in establishing and continuing a program of job training. "The training programs provide hope and potential," Wyatt said. "Welfare programs provide only temporary relief."

Governor Reagan of California recently stated: ". . . that prosperity is not created by redistribution of earnings, but by increasing production; that when the price of democracy is too high, Society is not free, and that private industry can do for the people what bureaucratic federal government can only promise. . . ."

The National Association of Manufacturers' Board passed a new policy position on the 1968 Federal Budget. It expresses the belief that the citizens have clearly expressed preference for a reduction in federal spending to a reduction in their own spending that would be forced by a tax increase.

Mr. J. Harris Ward, chairman of the board, Commonwealth Edison Company, noted that, "In the public discussions of the nation's air pollu-tion problem, the facts about the electric industry's long-established electric industry's long-established

Application of an early or dormant spray to shrubs and trees may prevent a later bat-tle with damaging pests.

Early spraying is the first step in a preventive mainte-nance program. Such a pro-gram is designed to stop many pests in late winter or 'early spring before they start a new reproductive cycle. Among such reproductive cycle. Among such pests are scale insects, spider mites, aphids, powdery mildew and scab. These damaging plant pests may overwinter as adults, eggs or spores on trees, shrubs and plants.

By applying spray before the By applying spray before the leaves appear, it is easier to get thorough coverage of all parts. of the plant. You also prevent early-season pest damage and reduce the need for summer spraying. Much has been written about chemicals for insect control but you may not be familiar with the equipment available for ap-plication of these formulations. According to the National According to the National Sprayer and Duster Associa-tion, there is a wide choice of spray applicators. These range from hand operated to more sophisticated power spray units. For effective early spray-ing a sprayer should have suffi-cient reach and pressure to in-sure that the spray will contact sure that the spray will contact every part of the tree, shrub or plant. The topmost twigs as well as the larger branches should be completely covered.

A popular unit is the com-pressed air sprayer, capable of spraying to a height of 12 or more feet with enough pressure to provide the needed coverage. Tank capacity ranges from one to five gallons.

A second type used for early spraying is the slide sprayer. This sprayer is capable of pro-jecting spray 25 feet or more with sufficient pressure for thorough coverage. For the home gardener with well-landscaped and more ex-well-landscaped and more ex-tensive areas, a power sprayer may be the answer. Here en-gine power develops the pres-sure to make the job easier. It has enough pressure to project a spray stream to greater heights. Greater tank capacities — ten gallons or more — mean less refilling on the larger jobs. Models are available powered by gasoline engines or electric-ity. All of these units have adjustable nozzles to control the pattern of the spray.

whichever sprayer you se-lect, early or dormant spraying should be done when the tem-perature is above 40 degrees and there is little chance of a freeze soon after spraying. In a preliminary count, the First National City Bank of New York, in its March economic letter, reported that 2,662 corporations earned an increase of 9 per cent last year over 1965's $30.4 billion. "But since last spring, profits have shown a slow but steady erosion. A prime reason for the developing profit squeeze has been the massive shift in demands within the economy." THE CARROLL RECORD THURSDAY, APRIL 13, 1967 CORRESPONDENCE Latest Items of Local News Furnished By Our Regular Staff of Writers

KEYSVILLE DETOUR

Greetings to you:

It is with sadness at the death on Sunday of Earl Roop of the Keysville Road that I begin this week's column. Most of you knew him and remembered him in your prayers since the first heart attack several years ago. Sure we all extend sincere sympathy to his family at the loss of a dear friend and neighbor.

Sympathy is extended also to neigh-bor, Mrs. William Weishaar and her family, upon the death of her aunt, Mrs. Joseph Kauffman, who died early Tuesday morning. Mrs. Kauffman, who had been a patient at the Home of the Pines Nursing Home in Balti-more, was the former Gladys Rine-hart of Middleburg and was known to some of your readers. Mrs. Wei-shaar and her daughter, Mrs. Paul Wildisan of Westminster, had been down to visit Mrs. Kauffman last Tuesday. The Wilhide family received word Tuesday morning of the death by a heart attack of their cousin William ("Bud") Linthicum. "Bud" was known by some in the area for he had visited here and also in Long Green. His mother was here just last year for a visit. His wife is the former "Connie" Troxell of Westminster. (We extend our sympathy to this family also during this time of sad-ness. "Bud" had visited with brother-ies law Belak in Arabia when he had in-law Ralph in Arabia when he had been stationed there with the Air Force, and so we feel an attachment also.) If you would care to send cards, the address is Mrs. William H. Linthicum, 14723 Eastgate Drive, Bellevue, Washington 98004.

Whether or not you know these folks and their families, you just have to be saddened at their losses. Most of us have had one or more family deaths and know how much it means to know others are thinking of you. It does help. Happy to report that Mr. and Mrs. Gregg Kiser returned to their home on the Keysville Road last week after an extended stay in Florida. They both look just grand and report they had a fine visit.

Diane Fleharty was surprised at school last Thursday afternoon at snack time for Mrs. Arnold's first grade when her mother arrived with some "goodies" for a little birthday party. The children really did enjoy (It was done with prior consent of the teacher.)

They visited her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Gardner Miles, in the afternoon. (Sorry to hear Mrs. Seibert was not feeling well. Do hope she is fine again now.) again now. The forsythia is lovely and many of the flowering trees are opening or getting ready to. Daffodils and tulips are so bright-looking now also. The new house at the Albert Wilhide farm on the Keysville Road is going up. Engle home is almost finished. Comments: isn't that road just this side of Littlestown a MESS? I don't go that way too often but each time I do, it looks as though another trench has been dug between the ones already there. Some ride! . . . How about the sentence for Bobby Baker? I don't pretend to know too much about it, but it sure does seem to me that if he is guilty of all the things they claim in the papers, he deserves a heck of a lot more than three years! What do you think? . . . And how about President Johnson wanting postal rates to go up again? Once started, they don't seem to know when to stop. They need to rearrange some of the pay scales for government big-wigs and then they wouldn't need to keep after all "us little guys" all the time. After all, we don't have frank-ing privileres: we have to pay for ing privileges: we have to pay for all our stamps. Right? . . After hearing Mr. Thomas talk about the Englehardt Survey at school Monday night, I'm in favor of a bit of a raise in County taxes if it will help us to have what we need school-wise in Carroll County, but - that's it! If you feel the importance of the school problem in Carroll County, write to the Commissioners and let them know about it. Live As You Pray

I knelt to pray when day was done. And prayed, "O Lord, Bless everyone;

Lift from each saddened heart the pain And let the sick be well again.

Then when I awake another day; And carelessly went on my way, The whole day long I did not try To make a tear from any eye. I did not try to share the load Of any brother on my road.

I did not even go to see The sick man, just next door to me. Yet once again when day was done I prayed, "O Lord, Bless everyone." But as I prayed, into my ear There came a voice that whispered An evening of fun and enjoyment. The public is invited, no admission. Benefit of St. Paul's Building Fund. There will be a two-day walk-in Dutchmaid Party on April 18 and 19 at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Wesley clear: Pause, hypocrite, before you pray, Whom have you tried to bless today? God's sweetest blessings always go By hands that serve Him here below. And then I hid my face and cried. "Forgive me, God, for I have lied, Let me but see another day And I will live the way I pray."

COUNTY TO .HAVE HEAD START PROJECT

The Mid-Atlantic Regional Office of Economic Opportunity announced that the Carroll County Board of Education will receive a $24,362 federal grant for the operation of Project Head Start program during the coming summer.

The Head Start program will be very similar to the Title I Pre-School program that will be conducted in Carroll County this summer. Approval of the Head Start project means that every community in Carroll County having an elementary school will have a pre-school program in operation. Project Head Start will function in those schools not eligible for the Title I program. In no in-stance will any school have both a Head Start program and a Title I program

The Head Start program will focus on child development exploratory and creative activities. While the project is designed to assist children to be better prepared to do first grade work, it is not primarily an academically oriented program. The grant provides funds for teachers, teacher aides, transportation, food costs, social work activties, medical and dental screening and treatment, and field trip activities designed to permit the to become better acquainted with the world in which he lives and must learn to function.

Project Head Start will function in the following elementary schools: Manchester, Hampstead, Sandymount, Manchester, Hampstead, Sandymount, Robert Moton, Mechanicsville, and Winfield. The program will include approximately 120 children. The pre-school program funded with funds from Title I of the Ele-mentary and Secondary Education Act of 1965 will operate in the fol-lowing elementary schools: Freedom lowing elementary schools: Freedom, Sykesville, Mt. Airy, New Windsor, Elmer Wolfe, Taneytown, Uniontown, and Charles Carroll. It is estimated 315 students will participate in this program.

Today's Investor By Thomas E. O'Hara

Q. All my investments are in bank stocks. I would appreciate it very much if you would tell me something about them, their past and your opin-ion about their future.

A. The banking industry is, of course, an essential part of our econ-omy and while bank stocks, like most others, are down substantially in price right now. I think we can be fairly sure that the continued, longrange growth of our economy insures the continued growth of the banking business

In 1966 the government attempted In 1966 the government attempted to control the runaway boom in the economy through the monetary sys-tem. Tight money and the accompany-ing scramble for savings deposits forced banks to pay higher interest rates on their savings deposits. Some investors feared the general uncer-tainty, and thought higher costs might curtail earnings. So the price of bank stocks fell as investor interest waned.

However, while this slump in bank stock prices was occuring, bank earnings actually increased, with the result that on a price-earnings basis bank stocks as a group have become more attractive. I would say from a long term viewpoint you have your money in a good industry.

Q. Several of my friends and I have been reading your articles in our lo-cal newspaper and are considering forming an investment club. We have also started our own library of in-vestment books and would like your comments on it.

A. The National Association of In-vestment Clubs will be glad to send you such materials as you need to help in getting your club off to a good start.

good start. And I salute your eagerness to read about the market before investing. Any reading you do is going to be helpful in adding to your overall background. However, the particular books you listed in your letter tend to overemphasize the technical ap-proach to investing. Basically most technical approach-es place emphasis on volume of stock es place emphasis on volume of stock sales and the up-and-down price movement of stocks to determine whether to buy or sell. This seems like an easy, mechanical way of in-vesting, and is attractive to many people. But it overlooks the more basic reasons of whether or not the stock you are looking at is worth owning. These include, first, whether or not the management has a record for making money, whether the busi-ness has grown, and whether the products have a future for further growth. One book I suggest adding to your library is "Security Analysis," by Graham, Dodd, and Cottle. While this is a big book and tough reading, it is a basic book for security analysts and an outstanding study of the sub-

You might also ask the head li-brarian of your local public library for the names of some other books that take a well-rounded approach to stock analysis.

Q. We have 275 mutual fund shares we want to sell. Will we have to pay a commission? Should we go to a broker?

A. Most mutual funds redeem their shares at no charge to the investor; others charge a nominal fee. Why not write to the fund offices and tell them you want to redeem your shares? If you sell through a broker, he'll be doing the work and be en-titled to a commission.

against the net income reported in each return. In the case of the City of Baltimore, the full 24 per cent is received. This is also true of Balti-more and Howard Counties, which have no incorporated towns. In all other Counties, the distribution must be divided between the County and the town if the taxpayer lives in a town. If the taxpayer lives in a rural or unincorporated area, his County gets the whole amount dis-tributed back from his State Income Taxes. Taxes.

C&P Telephone Plans

Improvements & Expansions

To improve and expand telephone facilities throughout the state, the Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Company of Maryland spent over $94 million in 1966. The Annual Re-port just released by L. Mercer Smith, vice president of the C&P, points out that through this expenditure, the company added to Maryland's econ-company added to Maryland's econ-omy and provided more jobs for more people. The Report notes that this was the largest outlay of construction dollars in a single year in C&P history. Ac-cording to Mr. Smith, this expansion program, with the $102.9 million con-struction avenditure planned for struction expenditure planned for 1967, is by far the largest contin-uing program that any business or industry in Maryland has ever undertaken.

During 1966 the C&P passed the 1,900,000 mark in numbers of telephones in service. Over these phones 71 million long distance calls were completed, an increase of almost 14 percent for the year. Local calling increased more than 7 percent over the 1965 volume. The Annual Report discusses a number of programs introduced dur-ing the year to meet customers' needs munications services. A new Easy Move plan was offered to custo-mers moving from one Bell System area to another. Touch-tone service was made avail-able in 20 more central offices in the state, and the Trimline telephone was introduced

A Special Services Management Bureau was established as/a single point of contact, in continuous operation, for customers using such ser-vices as data communications, Wide Wide Area Telephone Service, and Teletype channels

A major effort is being made by the telephone company to assist customers harassed by nusiance and abu-sive calls. Last year the C&P provided the police with evidence that helped pring about more than 60 convictions. Rate reductions in 1966 resulted in annual customer savings of over $2.8 million. Rates for residence extension million. Rates for residence extension phones and volume control sets were reduced, and charges were lowered for calls within Maryland. The Annual Report notes that the C&P, one of the largest private em-ployers in the state, has a vital effect on Maryland's economy. During 1966 the company paid nearly $85 million in salaries to its 12,549 employees. It paid over $25 million in state and lopaid over $25 million in state and lo-cal taxes and spent almost $10 mil-lion with Maryland construction and maintenance firms. Bell System expenditures in the state by the C&P, Western Electric, Bell Telephone Laboratories, and AT&T added up to nearly $268 mil-lion, or more than $1 million for every working day

The total figure is $22 million more than the amount of C&P bills to customers in 1966.

Maryland State Income Tax QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Q. Are the payments received from Social Security taxable?

A. No, the old age or survivors insurance received under the Social Security Program are not subject to the Maryland income tax. Such payments should not be included in your return.

Q. My income for 1966 was approximately $500 from investments and $1,200 from Social Security, must I file a return?

A. No, the Social Security payments are not taxable and should not be included in determining the requirement for filing. As a single person you are not required to file as your other income was not $800 or more. In the case of a married person you would not be required to file unless the other income was $1,600 or more

Q. My major source of income is Social Security, but last year I work-ed for a short while and made $300 from which about $4.00 in Maryland income tax was withheld, must I file a return to have this refunded to me?

A. Yes, in order to have this, refunded to you it is necessary that you file a return and submit with it the tax withholding statement supplied to you by your employer.

Q. I misplaced my last year's refund check and now it cannot be cashed, what must I do?

A. Return the check to us and we will issue you another check cur-rently dated.

Q. Does the State of Maryland share its State Income Tax receipts from resident individuals with its subdivisions?

A. Yes, the State of Maryland distributes a part of the Maryland In-come Tax back to the City of Baltimore, 23 counties, and 160 incorporated cities, towns, or taxing areas.

Q. How much money was distributed in this way last year?

A. Last year the State of Maryland distributed approximately $35,000,000 from the Maryland State Income Tax to the City of Baltimore, 23 counties, and 160 incorporated cities, towns, or taxing areas.

Q. How is this distribution deter-mined?

A. The Maryland State Income Tax returns must be separated and the tax paid by the residents of the 184 subdivisions determined, and then approximately 24 per cent of the State income tax is distributed. The subdivisions do not receive a share based on a percentage of the net receipts. but the law imposes specific rates

BIBLE SPEAKS BY LAWRENCE W. ALTHOUSE

Everyone ! Lesson for April 16, 1967

Background Scripture: Acts 2:14-47. Devotional Reading: Isaiah 55:1-13.

Do you ever have any of those days when, tired and troubled, your normal defenses down, the very worst in you bubbles to the surface and has a field day? When it is all over and we view the wreckage wrought in a few short minutes or hours, we are appalled to think that we had conducted ourselves

'like that." The sound of angry words continues to resound in our ears and visions of our childish-Rev. Althouse ness linger to haunt us. "How could I have done those things?"

All of us have those days sometimes. Humanity as a whole had such a day more than ninteen hundred years ago. On this day in one reckless afternoon, mankind dropped his mask and dared to be his worst self for a little while. To consider the cruci-fixion as the work of evil men long ago is one thing; to see it as something in which I am in-volved as a part of mankind is something else.

Something else. So it has always been. On the first day of Pentecost a crowd of curious people, startled by the strange behavior of the followers of Jesus, wanted to know:"What does this mean?" Simon Peter, a tall Galilean fisherman, stepped forward to give an answer. We can imagine what he may have felt. There was no prepared sermon in his hip pocket. He had no experience in addressing crowds. All he had was the Holy Spirit stirring within him. And it was enough!

What Jesus Did

Although Peter knew nothing about three-point sermons, his answer to "What does this mean?" was threefold. First of all he reminded them of Jesus and what he had done: "... a man with mighty works and wonders and signs which God did through him in your midst..." This Jesus had done only what God had directed him to do. The works of Jesus had really been the works of God.

Next, he reminded them of what men had done. Whereas Jesus had done his best to be faithful to God, "lawless men" had done their very worst to de-stroy this Jesus. In doing so, they had actually defied God. They killed the man Jesus, but it was really God against whom they had raised violent hands! For

Get out the soup kettle and stir up a thick, nourishing chowder for supper, one that's full of enticing flavors, promising aromas. Creamy-rich chowders and other soups of great substance can provide the basis for a satisfyingly good repast, with nothing but a crisp green salad, bread and butter, and a simple fruit dessert to round out the meal.

to round out the meal. Rich creaminess and full body so important to chowders and cream soups are achieved in the following recipe by the use of the non-dairy powdered creamer, Pream. This is the creamer currently making culinary news as a convenient replacement for milk and cream in cooking. Count on this new kitchen shelf staple to give this Corn Cheese Chowder rich flavor, creamy smoothness.

Corn Cheese Chowder 6 slices bacon, diced 1 cup non-dairy Pream 1 cup boiling water 1½ cups grated cheddar 1 small onion, chopped 3 tablespoons flour 2 cups water 1 cup raw, diced potatoes 4 teaspoon dried sage 1 large bay leaf

2 cups cooked or canned whole kernel corn 1 teaspoon salt 1/8 teaspoon pepper

⁷/₈ teaspoon pepper Combine bacon and onion in large saucepan; cook until bacon is done and onion is tender. Blend in flour; cook 1 minute without coloring. Add the 2 cups water, potatoes, sage and bay leaf; cover and cook until potatoes are just tender (10 to 15 minutes). Re-move bay leaf; add Pream, 1 cup boiling water, grated cheese, corn and seasonings. Heat until soup comes to the boil and cheese melts. Sprinkle with chopped parsley and chives. Makes 6 cups, or 6 servings. or 6 servings.

centuries Israel had awaited God's annointed one and then they crucified him. Their one great hope had been horribly bungled

What they had done, however, had not been decisive. Two powerful words change the picture: "But God..." This is his an-swer to man's worst. The decisive act was not what men had done, but what God did. Peter's powerful "But God . . . " changed tragedy into victory. His power, greater than man's evil, raised Jesus from the dead "and made him both Lord and Christ, this Jesus whom you crucified."

Not Humanity, But Me

Suddenly the people listening to Peter were aware that he was no longer speaking merely of what had been done by "evil men," but he was saying that they themselves had had a part in it. "Whom you crucified," Peter said. Surely you don't mean us Peter? Surely you don't mean us, Peter? We weren't at Gethsemane or the hall of Pilate or Calvary. We didn't press down the crown of thorns or drive the mails.

Yet, when we are honest with ourselves, we know that we do share in this tragedy. When the spiritual asks; "Were you there when they crucified my Lord?", we know the answer is really "yes." We too cannot help but be "cut to the heart." Our share of this guilt stabs us until, like them, we cry out: " . . . what shall we do?"

Peter's answer told them what Jesus did, what men did, what God did, and now he speaks of what we must do if we are "cut to the heart." "Repent and be baptized every one of you . . . " Everyone?

A Break For Tea TEABAOS

NOWADAYS ALMOST EVERYONE seems to belong to some committee or other. When it's your turn to hold the meeting or work session, what will you serve for refreshments? Many hostesses set up "help-yourself-tea-bars" on a sideboard or card table so that members can make freshly brewed tea when the spirit moves them. The tea bar holds cups and saucers, spoons, sugar bowl and milk pitcher, plus tea bags for individual service and a pot of boiling water.

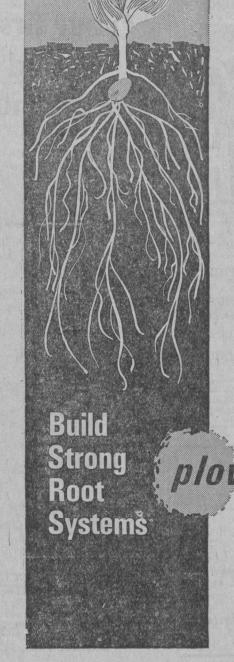

It's nice to put the teabags in an attractive little jar such as a jam pot, sugar bowl or one of the glass apothecary jars found in variety stores. If you paint or stencil designs and the word "Teabag" on the jar, you'll have a decorative piece for your kitchen shelf or to use for make-it-on-the-spot service.

Of course, you must have boiling water on hand. Good tea just can't be made without, it. If you've an electric hot plate, use it to keep water bubbling in a kettle or flame-proof teapot. So try the tea bar idea the next time the meeting is at your house. You'll find that ideas come quicker and more gets accomplished when all take a break for tea.

Plowing down AGRICO fertilizers is the best way to build strong, deep, sturdy root systems for your corn. It's excellent protection against drouth, and it gives you a big start toward a bumper corn crop.

AGRICO in your soil assures a deep root system that will take in the subsoil moisture and plant food that shallow roots miss. Growing plants get the nourishment they need to develop husky, healthy stems and leaves, and big, uniform ears.

AGRICO fertilizers also help decompose stubble, enriching your soil with even more plant food. Many farmers have earned $3 and more for every $1 invested in AGRICO plowdown. There's opportunity, too, for even bigger savings if you order in bulk. Spread it yourself-or make arrangements for one of our spreaders. Or, we'll spread AGRICO for you, if you prefer.
