ONLY GOING TO THE GATE.

Like a bell of blossom ringing,
Clear and childlike, shrill and sweet,
Floating to the porch's shadow,
With the fainter fall of feet,
Comes the answer softly backward,
Bidding tender watcher wait,
While the baby-queen outruns her,
"Only going to the gate."
Through the moonlight, warm and scented,
Love to beauty breathes a sigh,
Always to depart reluctant,
Loth to speak the words good-bye;
Then the same low echo answers,
Waiting love of older date,
And the maiden whispers softly,
"Only going to the gate."

Oh, these gates along our path way,
What they bar outside and in!
With the vague outlook beyond them,
Over waves we have not been.
How they stand before, behind us!
Toll-gates some, with price to pay;
Spring-gates some, that shut forever;
Cloud-gates some, that melt away.
So we pass them going upward
On our journey one by one,
To the distant shining wicket,
Where each traveler goes alone—
Where the friends who journey with us
Strangely falter, stop and wait:
Father, mother, child or lover;
"Only going to the gate."

THE COUNTRY CHILDREN.

I can see the happy children
As they wander through the grasses
Of the fresh and dewy pastures,
Over the tangled forest passes:
I can track them as they wander
By the trail of morning glories;
I can read their happy footsteps,
I can spell their pleasant stories.

O I know the paths of children
Up the hills and down the valleys;
Buttercups and faded daisies
Mark their sorties and their sallies;
By the butternuts and beeches
I can mark their resting places;
And I know the many brook-sides
And the wide, green, open spaces,
Where the wild white plum tree blossoms;
Where the grapevine swings and tosses:
Where the plumer of scarlet sumach
Tosses among the wayside mosses;
Where the golden rod in Autumn
Flames among the hazel bushes—
There the trooping army wanders—
There the scouting party pushes.

O but they are kings and nobles
As they wander there together;
Cloth of gold is all the common
To their feet in summer weather.
Up and down, in field and woodland,
I can see their glowing faces;
And by scarlet leaves and berries
I can mark their resting places.
—From the Chicago Tribune.

LOOKING BACK.

Fair were the dreamful days of old,
When, in the sleepy summer shade,
Beneath the beeches on the world,
The shepherds lay, and gently played
Music to maidens, who, afraid,
Drew altogether rapturously,
Their white soft hands like white leaves laid,
In the old, dear days in Arcady.
Men were not then as they are now,
Haunted and terrified by creeds;
They sought not then unceasingly to know
The end, that as a magnet leads;
Nor toiled with austere fingers beads,
Nor reasoned with their grief and gloom;
But rioted in pleasant meads,
In the old, dear days in Arcady.
The future may be wrong or right—
The present is distinctly wrong;
For life and love have lost delight,
And bitter even is our song
And year by year gray doubt grows strong,
And Death is all that seems to drear.
Therefore, with weary hearts we long
For the old, dear days in Arcady.

ENVOY.

Glories and triumphs ne'er will cease,
But men may sound the heavens and sea;
One thing is lost for aye—the peace
Of the old dear days in Arcady.
—From the Spectator.

THE BAG OF GOLD.

There lived, in the fourteenth century, near Bologna, a widow lady of the Lambertina family, called Madonna Lucrezia, who in a revolution of the State, had known the bitterness of poverty, and even begged her bread, kneeling day after day, like a statue, at the gate of the cathedral—her rosary in her left hand and her right held out for charity—her long black veil concealing her face, that had once adorned a court, and had received the homage of as many sonnets as Petrarch had written on Laura.
But fortune had at last relented; a legacy from a distant relation had come to her relief; and she was now the mistress of a small inn at the foot of the Apennines, where she entertained as well as she could, and where those only stopped who were contented with a little. The house was still standing, when in my youth I passed that way; though the sign of the White Cross, the Cross of the Hospitalers, was no longer to be seen over the door—a sign which she had taken, if we may believe the tradition there, in honor of a maternal uncle, a grand master of that order, whose achievements in Palestine she would sometimes relate. A mountain stream ran through the garden; and at no distance, where the road turned on its way to Bologna, stood a little chapel; in which a lamp was always burning before a picture of the virgin—a picture of great antiquity, the work of some Great artist.

Here she was dwelling, respected by all who knew her, when an event took place which threw her into the deepest affliction. It was at noon-day, in September, that three travelers arrived, and, seating themselves on a bench under her vine-trellis, were supplied with a flagon of Aleatico by a lovely girl, her only child, the image of her former self. The eldest spoke like a Venetian, and his beard was short and pointed after the fashion of Venice. In his demeanor he affected great courtesy, but his look inspired, little confidence; for when he smiled, which he did continually, it was his lips only, not with his eyes; and they were always turned from yours.—His companions were bluff and frank in their manner, and on their tongues were many a soldier's oath.—In their hats they wore a medal, such as in that age was often distributed, in war; and they were evidently, subalterns in one of those free bands which were always ready to serve in any quarrel, if a service it could be called, where a battle was little more than a mockery and the slain, as on an opera stage, were up and fighting tomorrow. Overcome with the heart, they threw aside their gloves tucked under their belts, continued for some time in earnest conversation.

At length they rose to go; and the Venetian thus addressed the hostess:
"Excellent lady, may we leave under your roof, for a day or two this bag of gold?"
"You may," she replied gayly.—
"But remember, we fasten only with Bars and bolts we have none in our village; and if we had where would be your security?"
"In your word, lady."
"But what if I died to-night, where would it be then?" said she laughingly. "The money would go to the church; for none could claim it."
"Perhaps you will favor us with an acknowledgment."
"If you will write it."

An acknowledgment was written accordingly, and she signed it before Master Bartolo, the village physician, who had just called by chance to learn the news of the day; the gold to be delivered when applied for, but to be delivered (these were the words) not to one nor to two, but to the three; words wisely introduced by those to whom it belonged, knowing that they knew each other. The gold they had just released from a miner's chest in Perugia; and they were now on a scent that promises more.
They and their shadows were no sooner departed than the venetian returned, saying, "Give me leave to set my seal on the bag, as the others have done;" and she placed it on the table before him. But in that moment she was called away to receive a cavalier, who had just dismounted from his horse; and when she came back it was gone. The temptation had proved irresistible; the man and the money had vanished together.
"Wretched woman that I am!" she cried, as in agony of grief she fell on her daughter's neck; "what will become of us? Are we again to be cast into the wide world? Unhappy child, would that thou hadst never been born!" And all day long she lamented; but her tears availed her little. The others were not slow in returning to claim their due; and there were no tidings of the thief, he had fled far away with his plunder. A process against her was made in Bologna; and what defense could she make—how release herself from the obligation of the bond? Willfully or in negligence, she had parted with it to one, when she should have kept it for all; and inevitable ruin awaited her.

"Go, Gianetta," said she to her daughter, "take this veil which your mother has worn and wept under so often, and implore the counsellor Calderina to plead for us on the day of trial. He is generous, and will listen to the unfortunate.— But, if he will not, go from door to door; Mondali cannot refuse us. Make haste, my child; but remember the chapel as you pass by it.— Nothing prospers without a prayer." Alas! she went but in vain.— These were retained against them; these demanded more than they had to give; and all bade them to despair. What was to be done? No advocate, and the cause to come on to-morrow!

Now Gianetta had a lover; and he was a student of the law—a young man of great promise, Lorenzo Martelli. He had studied long and diligently, under that learned lawyer, Giovanni Andreas; who, though little in stature, was great in renown, and by his contemporaries was called the arch doctor the rabbi of doctors, light of the world. Under him he had studied, sitting on the same bench with Petrarch; and also under his daughter, Novella, who would often lecture to the scholars when her father was absent or otherwise engaged, placing herself behind a small curtain, lest her beauty should divert their thoughts; a precaution in this instance at least, unnecessary, Lorenzo having lost his heart to another.

To him she flies in her necessity; but of what assistance can he be? He has just taken his place at the bar, but he had never spoken; and how stand up alone, unpracticed and unprepared as he is, against an array that would alarm the most experienced?

"Were I as mighty as I am weak," said he, "my fears for you would make me as nothing. But I will be there, Gianetta; and may the Friend of the Fatherless give me strength in that hour! Even now my heart fails me; but come what will, while I have a loaf to share, you and your mother shall never want. I will beg through the world for you."
The day arrives, and the court assembles. The claim is stated and the evidence given. And now the defence is called for—but none is made; not a syllable uttered: and after a pause and a consultation of some minutes, the Judges are proceeding to give judgement, silence having been proclaimed in the court, when Lorenzo rises, and thus addresses them:
"Reverend signors—Young as I am, may I venture to speak before you? I would speak in behalf of one who has none else to help her; and I will not keep you long.— Much has been said; much on the sacred nature of the obligation—and we acknowledge it in its full force. Let it be fulfilled, and to the last letter. It is what we solicit, what we require. But to whom is the bag of gold to be delivered? What says the bond? Not to one—not to two—but to the three. Let the three stand forth and claim it!"
From that day (for who can doubt the issue?) none were sought, none employed, but the subtle, the eloquent Lorenzo. Wealth followed fame nor need I say how soon he sat at his marriage feast, or who sat beside him.

The Business Man's Best Friend.
Mr. C. L. Oudesluis, a leading importer of Baltimore, has stated that nothing has done his dyspepsia, indigestion, &c., so much good as that most wonderful of all tonic and reviving medicines—Brown's Iron Bitters. Just to think of it; at a supper the other night, although a chronic dyspeptic, he says he ate, at 12 o'clock, fried oysters chicken salad and ice cream, after which taking a dose of Iron Bitters, he never spent a more pleasant night, with no dyspeptic symptoms in the morning.

"Lies! Big Lies!"
Not so fast my friend; for if you would see the strong, healthy, blooming men women and children that have been raised from beds of sickness, suffering and almost death, by the use of Hop Bitters, you would say, "Truth, glorious truth." See "Truths," in another column.

Stick to it and Succeed.

Perseverance is the main thing in life. To hold on and hold out to the end is the chief matter. If the race could be won by a sprint, thousands would wear the blue ribbon; but they are short winded, and pull up after the first gallop. They begin with flying, and end in crawling backward. When it comes to the collar work, many take to jibing.

If the apples do not fall at the first shake of the tree your hasty folks are too lazy to fetch a ladder, and in too much of a hurry to wait till the fruit is ripe enough to fall of itself. The hasty man is as hot as fire at the outside, and as cold as ice at the end. He is like the Irishman's sauceman, which had many good points about it, but it had no bottom. He who cannot bear the burden and heat of the day is not worth the salt much less his potatoes.

We ought not to be put out of heart by difficulties; they are sent on purpose to try the stuff we are made of, and depend upon it they do us a world of good. There's a sound reason why there are bones in our meat and stones in our land. A world where everything was easy would be a nursery for babies, but not at all a fit place for men.— Celery is not sweet till it has felt a frost, and men don't come to their perfection till disappointment has dropped half a hundred weight or two on their toes.

Uncle Isom and the Showman.

The other day a show came to Little Rock and was shamefully imposed upon by Uncle Isom. While standing near the tent he saw a crowd of low-spirited boys grieving on account of financial depression.

"Does yer youngsters want er inter der show?" he asked.
The boys responded in a noisy chorus.

"Well, come on den. I uster be a chile myself, an' unlike de most of men, I haain't fergot hit. Count dese boys," he added, addressing the doorkeeper. The man began counting, and by the time the boys had passed in, Isom was walking around talking to acquaintances from the plantations.

"Here," said the showman, "give me twenty tickets."
"What for? Does yer think me a lottery agent?"
"You passed in twenty boys, and I want the tickets or the money."
"I doan owe yer no tickets, an I doan owe yer no money. I didn't tell yer ter pass dese boys in. I said count 'em. I see always heard dat showman is good in rithmatic, an' I wanted ter satisfy myself. Yer say dat dar was twenty boys. I doan spute yer word, case I ain't no mathematician. Spos'er I take a lot of boys ter de cashier ob a bank and axes him ter count 'em, does dat signify dat de cashier is gwine ter pass 'em into de money room? No, sah.— Go on back to yer tent; for I see a crowd goin' in."

The showman, remembering that he had left the entrance unguarded, turned, when Isom walked away with an agility rarely exhibited by an old man.

A SANTA FE paper tells a tale which recalls Holmes' novel of "Elsie Venner." It says that there is a resident at Guadalajara, an individual, having a scaly green skin, exactly like a viper's, which he sheds every year. It comes off in a single piece. He has no hair on his head. His sister, who died a short time ago, had similar peculiarities. Toward the close of her life this viper's skin encroached on her eyes, so that she could only see through a narrow aperture. The same fate overhanged her brother. These unhappy people are known as "viper men and women." The phenomenon is attributed to the fact of their mother having (as is common in Cuba) eaten an excess of viper's flesh to cure a disease of the blood.

A Sound Legal Opinion.

An honest farmer once called upon the late Roger M. Sherman, the celebrated lawyer, and told him he wanted an opinion. He had heard a great deal about the value of Mr. Sherman's opinions, and how a great many people went to him to get an opinion, and John, who had never had, nor was likely to have a lawsuit or other difficulty for a lawyer to help him from, thought he would have an "opinion."

"Well, John, what can I do to help you?" said Mr. S., when John, in his turn, was shown into the room.
"Why, lawyer," replied John, "I happened to be in town, and having nothing to do, I thought I would come and get your opinion."
"State your case, John. What's the matter?"
"Oh, nothing. I ain't got no lawsuit; I only want to get one of your opinions; they say they're very valuable."

"But, John—about what?"
"Oh! anything sir; take your pick and choice!"
Mr. Sherman, seeing the notions of his client on the matter in hand, took pen, and writing a few words, folded them up and handed them to John, who carefully placed them in his pocket.

"What's to pay, sir?"
"Four and sixpence." (Yankee money seventy-five cents.)
When John returned home the next morning, he found his wife, who pretty much took the lead in business matters, anxiously discussing with his chief farm-servant the propriety of getting in a large quantity of oats on that day, which had been cut on the one previous, or of undertaking some other labor.

John was appealed to settle the question, but he could not decide.— At length he said, "I'll tell you what, Polly; I've been to a lawyer and got an opinion that cost me four and sixpence. There it is—read her out; it's a lawyer's writing, and I can't make head or tail out of it!"
John, by the way, could not read the plainest print; but Polly, who was something of a scholar, opened the paper and read as follows:—
"Never put off till to-morrow what can be done to day."

"Enough said!" cried John; "them oats must be got in." And they were "got in," and the same night such a storm came on as would have ruined them entirely.
John often afterwards consulted the opinion, and acted upon it; and to this day entertains a high estimation of lawyers' opinions generally, and of the lamented Mr. Sherman's in particular.

Old Age.
An old man is like an old wagon; with light loading and careful usage it will last for years; but one heavy load or sudden strain will break it, and ruin it forever. Many people reach the age of fifty, sixty, or even seventy, measurably free from most of the pains and infirmities of age, cheery in the heart and sound in health, ripe in wisdom and experience, sympathies mellow by age, and with reasonable prospects and opportunities for continued usefulness in the world for considerable time. Let such persons be thankful, but let them be also careful. An old constitution is like an old bone—broken with ease, mended with difficulty. A young tree bends with the gale; and an old one snaps and falls before the blast. A single hard life; an hour of heating work; an evening of exposure to rain or damp; a severe chill; an excess of food; the unusual indulgence of any appetite or passion; a sudden fit of anger; an improper dose of medicine—any of these, or other similar things, may cut off a valuable life in an hour, and leave the fair hopes of usefulness and enjoyment but a shapeless wreck.

Death of an Old Citizen.

Just as we go to press we learn that Mr. Townsend Barber, an old citizen of this place, died at 101 o'clock yesterday morning at his residence here, aged about 78 years. He had been in failing health for some months past.—Valley Register.

A New Post-Office.

The Post-Office Department at Washington has established an office at Mangaweston, on the C. V. Railroad, about three miles from Hagerstown, and it is called "Garfield." This office was secured mainly through the efforts of Messrs. Jacob Mangans and Jacob Frantz.

A Good Recommendation.

EMMITSBURG, Oct. 23, 1880. All I have to say of the Wildlife Hat Trap is: It is the best I have ever seen. The most we ever caught, was 27 rats in one trap, one night. I just put it in the cellar last night, and had three rats this morning. I would not be without one. Yours respectfully, WILLIAM P. GARDNER.

MR. JOHN F. WETZEL brought an ap- to our office this week, which is a costly, it is one of a second this. It measures 7 1/2 inches in circumference, is solid, fragrant as any other apple, and of a dark red color. What can this second crop of fruit, so prevalent this year mean? Will the trees thus favoured produce any thing next year? Here is a question for Scientific Agriculturists.

The cheapest method to cheat the undertaker (who is generally around when Congris and Colds prevail), is to buy and use Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup.

"In times of peace prepare for war."—Robberies grow frequent, and bolder; sneak-thieves are at work all over the country. They should be warmly re- ceived. Precaution is better than un- availing regret.

SHERIFF elect Barrick, of Frederick County, is suffering so seriously from a wound received in the leg during one of the battles of the late war that it is feared that he will at this late-day have to submit to amputation. If so Dr. Bliss, of Washington, will perform the operation.—EX.

The Frederick Tim a.

Some days ago we were shown the Frederick Daily Times of last Monday, and read the following attempt at witicism: "The Emmitsburg Chronicle calls loudly for official 'pup.'" A journal which on all sides is regarded to proceed on a mercenary basis, may perhaps be excused for attributing like motives to others. We meant just what we wrote. We expressed our ideas in what we thought were intelligible terms, and submit to the intelligence of our readers, that nothing we have published, could justly admit of such a vulgar interpretation as is implied in the above; we do not resort to indirect ways to reach re- sults. The Times may find better occu- pation in keeping a strict watch over the Examiner, than in trying to exercise its rolicking wit on us. Editorial digni- ty will adorn a journal and edify its readers.

The December term of the Circuit Court will commence on Monday next. Persons having business before the Court will do well to heed this notice.

Robert Barrick, Sheriff-elect, appointed Mr. Jacob C. Woodward, of this city, billift to the Petit Jury of the Decem- ber term of the Circuit Court.

Safe blowing, having been a rather common occurrence in this section of late, it is very evident that a thoroughly organized gang of thieves are engaged in this nefarious business. It would be well therefore, for our people to take ex- tra precautions for the protection of their valuables. On Monday night the office of both Messrs. B. F. Brown and J. A. Biser, coal dealers, in different sections of the town were entered and the safes contained therein forced open and robbed. From the first named, about seventeen dollars were taken, and from the latter only a number of valuable papers were missing.

Last week and week before the mem- bers of the "Gettysburg Athenaeum" gave several pleasant entertainments to sev- eral friends in their hall. Besides select readings and artistic instrumental music, representations of the true scene in the Merchant of Venice, and that of Mrs. Bardell vs. Pickwick, were given, fol- lowed by refreshments, cakes, oranges, bananas, &c. The "Athenaeum" is a so- cial and literary club, composed of some twenty of our representative young men. Their room has recently been handsomely refitted and refurbished and they have reason to be proud of it.

About Pruning.

The Westminster Advocate and the Gettysburg Compiler do not agree on the subject of pruning trees and vines at this season. The former goes in for it; the latter says experiments prove that spring trimming, and as we under- stand, on into June, is the best. Here is a case for prudent consideration.

PERSONALS.

Miss Belle Rowe is visiting in Balti- more City.

Mrs. L. M. Motter, and son L. Edwin, are visiting in Baltimore this week.

Mr. James Wolfe, who has been visit- ing for some time past, left on Monday for Martinsburg, W. Va.

Mr. William H. Crowl of Sharpsburg, is visiting his sister, Mrs. James Hospel- horn.

Walter W. White and John A. Horner, have returned from Virginia.

Prof. Leoup, of Mt. St. Mary's Col- lege called to see us on Thursday, and remembered us substantially, by renew- ing his subscription.

[COMMUNICATED.]

In Memoriam.

Passed from earth to Heaven, on the 2nd of December, Mary, the loved wife of L. E. Bond. The death of this highly esteemed lady, has called forth the sym- pathy of the community at large. Hers was a long and painful illness, which she bore with patience and resignation to the divine will, and when death came, she was like a true christian, prepared to meet her God, when the Son of Man shall appear in the majesty of His power, and before all his angels shall say:— "Come ye blessed of My Father, possess you the kingdom prepared for you from the foundation of the world."

No bitter tears for thee be shed, Blossom of being; seen and gone; With flowers alone we strew thy bed, O best departed one!

Whose all of life a rosy ray, Blushed into dawn and passed away.

Thy grave shall be a blessed shrine, Adorned with Nature's brightest wreath,

Each growing season shall combine Its incense there to breathe;

And oft upon the midnight air, Shall wailless harps be murmuring there.

And oh! sometimes in visions blest, Sweet spirit! visit our repose,

And bear from thine own world of rest, Some balm for human woes!

What form more lovely could be given Than thine, to messenger of heaven.

By A FRIEND.

From The Gettysburg Compiler.

DEATH OF HON. JAMES H. MARSHALL.—Intelligence reaches us that Hon. James H. Marshall breathed his last at his residence in Fairfield, at 10 o'clock Tuesday morning. He was stricken with paralysis about three years ago, and subsequent attacks entire- ly disabled him, at last resulting in death.

Deceased's prominence in the county called him to honor and responsibility on three different occasions—elected County Commissioner in 1850, to the House at Harrisburg in 1863, and re- elected in 1864. Adopting the line of duty as his guide, he always followed it intelligently and conscientiously, mak- ing the people's interests his paramount object. As a Justice of the Peace, which office he filled for quite a number of years, he strove to prevent rather than encourage litigation; and in the settle- ment of estates and arrangement of neigh- borhood difficulties, he won equally upon good opinion. In addition many acts of kindness and generosity graced his useful private and public career.

His age is given us at nearly 63 years; the funeral not yet appointed. May he rest in peace.

COAL IS FELTON COUNTY.—John M. Clark has made examinations and thinks he has a dead sea mine in his efforts to obtain coal on the farm of Abram Wag- ner, in Tod township, Fulton county.

UGLY ACCIDENT.—We are sorry to learn that our young friend, Mr. Peter J. Group, of Tyrone township, met with a very painful accident on Tuesday last week. Whilst sawing fire-wood, the circular saw took off a thumb between the first and second joints, the palm of the hand was torn into shreds, and the little finger badly cut. Dr. Dill put the lacerated parts in the best shape possible, and it is to be hoped that they will heal speedily and permanently.

SUDDEN DEATH.—A most unexpected death occurred in Reading township on the night of the 12th of November. Mrs. Leah Baker, wife of George Baker, after assisting at the evening work, retired about 9 o'clock, in the best apparent health and spirits. Two hours later the husband thought the room getting cold, and called a member of the family to make up the fire. Mrs. Baker not stir- ring attracted attention, and she was found to be a corpse. From the sleep of earth she had quietly passed into "the sleep that knows no waking." She was a sister of Adam and Jacob Miller, and highly esteemed by all who enjoyed her acquaintance. Aged 72 years 7 month and 20 days.

In the Whole History of Medicine

No preparation has ever performed such marvellous cures, or maintained so high a reputation, as AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL, which is recognized as the world's remedy for all diseases of the throat and lungs. Its long-continued series of wonderful cures in all climes has made it universally known as a safe and reliable agent to employ. Against ordinary colds, which are the forerunners of more serious disorders, it acts speedily and surely, always relieving suffering, and often saving life. The protection it affords, by its timely use in throat and chest disorders, makes it an invaluable remedy to be kept always on hand in every home. No person can afford to be without it. From their knowledge of its composition and operation, physicians use the CHERRY PECTORAL extensively in their practice, and clergymen recom- mend it. It is absolutely certain in its healing effects, and will always cure where cures are possible.

VALUABLE RECIPES.
Soda Crackers.
To fourteen cups of flour add one cup of lard, four teaspoonfuls of cream of tartar, and two teaspoonfuls of soda. Rub the ingredients well into the flour, add three cups of water, work thoroughly, roll thin, and bake in a quick oven.

"Buchupaiba."
New, quick, complete cure 4 days, urinary affections, smarting, frequent or difficult urination, kidney diseases. $1. at druggists. Prepaid by express, $1.25, 6 for $5. E. S. Wells, Jersey City, N. J.

Plain Mince Meat.
Procure a piece of beef without bone, and cover with boiling water; let simmer until tender and the water nearly exhausted; do not let it brown, when cold mince fine, rejecting all fat; save the water, and when cold take the fat from it, and put the water on the meat. To one bowlful meat add two bowlfuls minced, juicy apples, one bowlful of raisins, one half bowlful currants, and one teaspoonful minced suet; sugar and spice to taste, a pinch of salt, and cider sufficient to moisten.

Sweet Wafers.
Six eggs, one pint flour, two ounces melted butter, one and one half cups powdered sugar, one cup milk, one teaspoon nutmeg. Beat whites and yolks separately and very stiff, rub the sugar and butter together, and work in first the yolks, then the milk, then the flour and whites. Bake in well-buttered wafer or wafer-irons, very quickly, browning as little as possible. Roll them while hot upon a smooth, round stick, not larger than your finger, slipping it out carefully when the cake takes the right shape. These little cakes are an acceptable addition to any tea or supper table, and look well among fancy cakes in a basket.

Skinny Men.
Wells' Health Renewer. Absolute cure for nervous debility and weakness of the generative functions. $1. at druggists. Prepaid by express, $1.25, 6 for $5. E. S. Wells, Jersey City, N. J.

Velvet Pudding.
Take five eggs and beat them separately, then add one cup of sugar to the yolks. Take four tablespoonfuls of corn starch dissolved in a little cold milk, and add this to the yolks and sugar, boil three pints of milk and add the other ingredients while boiling; remove from the fire when it becomes quite thick; flavor with vanilla, and pour into a baking-dish; beat the whites of the eggs to a stiff froth, add half a cup of fine white sugar, turn this over the pudding and place in the oven and let brown slightly. To be eaten with sauce made of the yolks of two eggs, one cup of sugar, tablespoonful of butter; beat well, add one cup of boiling milk, set on the stove until it comes to a boiling heat; flavor with vanilla.

Recipe for Preserving Meat.
There is no good reason why farmers and their families should eat so much salt pork, leaving all the fresh meat to the inhabitants of cities and villages, when the following method will keep meat fresh for weeks even in the warmest weather. I have tried it for more than ten years. As soon as the animal heat is out of the meat, slice it up ready for cooking. Prepare a large jar by scalding well with hot salt and water. Mix salt and pulverized saltpetre. Cover the bottom of the jar with a sprinkle of salt and pepper. Put down a layer of meat, sprinkle with salt and pepper the same as if it was just going to the table, and continue in this manner until the jar is full. Fold a cloth or towel and wet it in strong salt and water in which a little of the saltpetre is dissolved. Press the cloth closely over the meat and set it in a cool place. Be sure and press the cloth in tightness as each layer is removed, and your meat will keep for months. It is a good plan to let the meat lie over night, after it is sliced, before packing. Then drain off all the blood that oozes from it. It will be necessary to change the cloth occasionally, or take it off and wash it first in cold water, then scald in salt and water as at first. In this way farmers can have fresh meat all the year round. I have kept beef that was killed the 12th of February till the 21st of June. Then I packed a large jar of veal in the same way during the dog-days, and kept it six weeks. This recipe is worth the price of any newspaper in the land.

"Said the oyster frequently gets into a stew; but it has never been as yet reported that he jumped out of the frying-pan into the fire.

AN advertiser in Texas calls for "an industrious man, as a boss hand over five thousand head of sheep that can speak Spanish fluently."

"Why don't you dress as well as your clerks?" was asked the other day of a Wall street man. "I can't," was the answer; "they can get trusted."

AND here is a Boston Sunday-school boy, who, when asked to stand up and 'say his verse,' did it thus: "Be not overcome of evil, but 'come it over evil' with good."

A BROOKLYN man who had one of his auriculars chewed off during a little unpleasantness in a bar-room on election night came home and told his wife that this was an "off ear in politics" for him.

PRIDE'S fall: "Yes," said Clara, "your Maltese kitty is pretty enough but he can never come up to my bird." That was all she knew about it. The kitty did come up to her bird that very day and it was all day with the bird.

DON'T go to church in the morning—that's when they pass the contribution box around. You can attend evening services and it won't cost you anything. Coal-oil is cheap, fuel don't cost much, and the preacher can look out for himself.

WOMEN that have been bedridden for years have been entirely cured of female weakness by the use of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, 233 West Second Avenue, Lynn, Mass., for pamphlets.

OVER a bridge at Atlanta, Ga., was the following: "Any person driving over this bridge in a faster pace than a walk shall, if a white person, be fined $5, and if a negro, receive twenty-five lashes, half the penalty to be bestowed on the infomer."

It is related that while preaching from the text: "He giveth his beloved sleep" a Toledo man stopped in the middle of his sermon, gazed upon his sleeping auditors and said, "Brethren, it is hard to realize the wondrous, unbounded love the Lord appears to have for a good portion of this congregation."

"Fellow citizens," said the street-corner orator, standing on a dry goods box amid the glare and smoke of many torches, "my position upon this question is a peculiar one."—And just then when the box caved in and let him down in the shape of a letter V, gripped by the neck and heels, the crowd rather thought it was.

THERE are two farmers in Rockland whose property adjoins. One of them raised a full crop of potatoes in a certain field, while his neighbor's field on the other side of the fence produced not a potato.—This singular circumstance is explained by the fact that the latter didn't plant any potatoes in the field in question.

HE read in a newspaper paragraph the statement that "The child is father to the man," and straightaway went and asked his mother if that was true. "Yes, my son," she answered, "it may seem a little strange to you, but it's true." "Well, mamma," responded the inquisitive youth, "why is it if I'm papa's father that he always licks me and I never lick him?"

Cured of Drinking.
"A young friend of mine was cured of an insatiable thirst for liquor, that had so prostrated his system that he was unable to do any business. He was entirely cured by the use of Hop Bitters. It allayed all that burning thirst; took away the appetite for liquor; made his nerves steady, and he has remained a sober and steady man for more than two years, and has no desire to return to his cups, and I know of a number of others that have been cured of drinking by it." From a leading R. R. Official, Chicago, Ills.

THE CHILDREN'S MAGAZINE OF AMERICA.
This illustrated magazine for young folks has now attained a circulation larger, probably, than that of any other monthly magazine of its class. It has been called "a marvel of perfection, both as regards its literary excellence and its artistic merit." It was first given to boys and girls the very best illustrations that could be had, and has earned the name of "The Children's Art Magazine."
The greatest living writers of Europe and America are among its Distinguished Contributors:
Charles Dudley Warner, Henry W. Longfellow, John G. Whittier, H. H. Boyesen, Saxo Holm, Bret Harte, Gail Hamilton, Thomas Hughes, Louis M. Alcott, Hon. G. M. Mitchell, Harriet Prescott Spofford, Elizabeth Stuart Phelps, Geo. MacDonald, Washington Gladden, The Goodale Sisters, Alfred Tennyson, John Hay, Clarence Cook, Rossiter Johnson, Susan Colledge, Edward Eggleston, Prof. R. A. Proctor, Christina G. Rossetti, Mrs. A. D. Whitney, Frances Hodgson Burnett, Celia Shaxter, Marion Harland, T. W. Higginson, Lucy Larison, Nina Bayly, Author of "Alice in Wonderland," Mrs. Oliphant, T. B. Aldrich, and hundreds of others.
What England Says of It.
London Daily News: "We wish we could point out its equal in our own periodical literature."
The Spectator: "It is the best of all children's magazines."
The Illustrated London News: "There is no magazine for the young that can be said to equal it," etc. etc.
