Emmit House!

EMMITSBURG, MD.

W. K. SUTTON, Proprietor

THIS large and comfortable new building, is located at the West end of the town, in full view of the adjacent mountains. Its successful course as a summer resort, for several years, has established a high reputation for it. There is water all through the house, and its outlet is through convenient closets. A good bath house adds to its other conveniences and comforts. The location affords a constant and pleasant breeze from the surrounding heights. Mosquitoes do not approach. The Table is first-class, the Bar, the Chambers, and all its appointments, will give general satisfaction. The dining is especially good, and guests are considered to and from the Hotel and Railroad free of charge. It presents special inducements to mercantile travellers.—
Terms moderate. For further particulars address the Proprietor. apl6 y

THE COURSE OF WEALTH.

It is the privilege of all men to endeavour to improve their circumstances in life. The universal efforts put forth to attain to positions of comfort and competence, attest the inborn longing to escape from the inconveniences, and the thralldom of poverty.

Under our institutions such success is not only possible, but is continually occurring on all sides, and the poor man of one decade of time, frequently becomes the wealthy man of the next one. The tendency of wealth is ever in the direction of greater and greater expansion; the earnestness of its pursuit as a desired goal ever tending to throw around it more or less immunity from the difficulties which exist where it is unknown, otherwise the race would lose much of its incentive. The wealth which less than a century ago was counted by the thousands of dollars, is now estimated by corresponding millions. The impetus of its large accumulation in the hands of the few, under the unprecedented expansion of our national development, has been such, as to have arrested the attention of legislators, to have provoked the antagonism of labour, and to have called into action societies and parties, which are desirous of applying possible correctives to the evils, which they assert must erewhile, grow into great abuses.

Manufactories and various productive industries are not slow to avail themselves of the advantages, which great capital gives, to monopolize the trade of the articles in which they deal, and the small producer in such cases is driven from the field. It was only the other week, that a committee of match-makers presented their remonstrance before Congress, against the repeal of the tax on matches, on the ground that their business was adjusted to the revenue demands, and to change it would destroy the same. Such is the audacity of monopoly, that it conceives the government bound for its protection, even while the burden at last falls on the people.

The necessities of the period of the civil war have been overcome in the interval, since the war ended, and it is time the entire internal revenue system were set aside. Uninfluenced by monopolists, we believe the people everywhere would gladly hail the change. The greatest wonder is that the delay should be so long continued, that its effects should be felt in the uncertainty created in the industrial pursuits involved.

These questions are all gradually taking such forms, as at a very distant time, may be expected to enlist popular attention with all the energy that can be brought to bear by the people, whose ever watchful eyes are jealous of every encroachment upon the due equilibrium of the forces which impel the machinery of governmental affairs.

PRINCE FREDERICK IN ASHES.

On Friday, the 3d inst., the town of Prince Frederick, the county seat of Calvert county, in this State, was almost entirely destroyed by fire. By some unaccounted for means, fire was communicated to the unfinished new Methodist E. Church, through some shavings lying beneath the building. These were soon ablaze at once, and before water could be obtained, the whole structure was in flames, and thus the fire spread from one building to another, including the court house, office of the register of wills, and destroying nearly all the records. The Brentford Hotel, one of the largest country hotels in the State, and the office of the Calvert Journal. Only the jail and two small houses are left of the lately thriving town. The loss is estimated at from $40,000 to $50,000, very little insured.

A WALKING match took place in New York last week, the most extraordinary one on record, it continued from Monday morning till midnight on Saturday. The score at the close stood: Hazael, 600 miles; Fitzgerald, 577; Noremack, 555; Sullivan, 525; Hughes, 535; Hart, 542.

EVERY now and then, a paragraph appears in the papers about the star-route cases, as if something was about to be done in regard to them. But nobody believes they will be punished.

WASHINGTON LETTER.

[From our Regular Correspondent]

WASHINGTON, D.C., March 8th, '82.

It is interesting for those able to distinguish the different members to sit in the gallery of the House of Representatives and quietly observe the proceedings below. It is more than interesting—often times as good as a circus. There is no better place to discover the characteristics and peculiarities of the men who make our laws and who hold the purse-strings of the Nation. Some of the smallest of them—in an intellectual sense—have schemes and ambitions concerning themselves which would make their constituents laugh if they knew of them. There is, for one thing, a good deal of unwhipped Presidential timber on both sides of the body, and it is more than likely to remain in the rough. Some who would make excellent candidates will be overlooked because they never think of themselves in that connection, and some who soar to great heights in their own minds will never be thought of, except in jest, by any one else. On the Republican side of the House Robinson, of Massachusetts, has more of the attributes requisite to a good President than any of his confreres. He is looked upon by the men who are endeavoring to run that side of the House with a jealous eye, and men of all parties admit that he is one of the most lucid speakers in Congress. On the Democratic side Morrison is the strongest prospective President. He would combine the Democratic party, and by the magnetic influence of his purity of purpose and brilliant record, would draw to his support a large portion of that voting population who are usually supposed to be roosting on the dividing political fence.

There are two genuine specimens. Of the other class Moore of Tennessee, the young man in a bob-tail coat who gesticulated so widely in the aisle on opening day, would accept the nomination if it were thrust upon him. He has a very large head, but there is an impression that it is not oppressively full. Sam Randall is also ambitious, but he is too awfully cunning for the practical purposes of this world. Bill Springer, another sucker statesman, is more ornamental than useful. He is sometimes called the "Jumping Jack" of the House because he gets on his legs so often. Time and space will not permit me to name all the ambitious ones. The tickets which in my mind would raise the scap of the country are: Joe Cannon and Orth, Republicans, vs. Atkins and Holman, Democrats. But all Congressmen are not looking towards the White House, though all have their personal characteristics. Hancock wears a black beard with his iron gray shock of hair, and appears in a constant state of lassitude. Robeson expounds constitutional law in a blue polka-dot necktie and a watch-chain radiating from the central button and disappearing in a pocket on both sides of his capacious stomach. Reagan, the distinguished ex-Confederate, argues on a string arranged like a "cats-cradle," which he invariably pulls from his pocket and twists and ties and unties while he talks. Singleton, of Illinois, and J. Hyatt Smith divide honors on the ugliest. They look like wood cuts of the fourteenth century, chopped out with axes. Paul the Virginia Readjuster, has the appearance of being all hair, and that as black as jet. Proctor Knott has a snow-white mustache, which looks as though it had just been whitewashed. Kasson talks as smoothly as though his words were buttered on both sides. Father Kelley's lungs are in his boots and well developed. His voice is what the Indian calls "heap dug out."

The circumstances attending the President's recent respite to a condemned murderer in New Mexico form quite a dramatic story, beginning with the contract between two scenes in widely separated parts of our vast country. These two scenes so far remote were coupled and made one picture by the magic of the electric telegraph and a boy's sympathy. It was the night of President Arthur's first official reception to the representatives of foreign nations and he stood in the midst of a brilliant scene. The Executive Mansion brilliantly lighted and lined with flowers for the occasion. While thus engaged the President was continually interrupted by telegrams from far off New Mexico, where, in jail, was a condemned man with only a few hours between him and death by hanging. How glaring the contrast between the banqueting scene in Washington and the condemned cell in New Mexico! In Washington also was another scene that night of interest, which exercised a powerful influence in coupling the other two. The wife of the United States Attorney General and her little son were together in her dressing room, where she, with her maid's assistance, was preparing for a soiree. A telegram was brought to the lady which was addressed to her husband who at that moment was hastening back to Washington from a visit to Philadelphia. During his absence he had often sent telegrams to his son and namesake, whom he idolizes, wherefore his wife, thinking this also was for the boy, opened it and was amazed to find nearly thirty pages, whose contents surprised her still more, treating as they did of murders and hanging in New Mexico. Swift of comprehension, however, Mrs. Brewster soon took in the situation and became fully aware that no time was to be lost, since the friends of a man sentenced to be hung in that distant Territory the very next day were pleading with her husband for a delay, that legal points which might result favorably to the condemned man might receive attention before it was too late.

Noting the anxiety on his mother's face little Benny Brewster insisted on hearing the cause, and as his mother bade a servant lose no time in taking the dispatch to the President's secretary, the boy seized a card and writing upon it in childish characters "Give the poor fellow a chance," signed it "Ben" and insisted that it should also be laid before the President. His mother, to humor him, and knowing that his writing would be illegible to others, wrote beneath it on the same card the same words the child had endeavored to write, and sent it to the President with the momentous telegram. When the Attorney General, at a late hour, returned from his journey Mr. Phillips, the President's secretary, in showing him the telegram showed also the card written by his wife and only child, which naturally must have had potent influence in bringing about the thirty days' respite granted the condemned man, which was telegraphed to New Mexico in time to postpone the execution. The card with the plea of the Attorney General's son translated by the boy's mother is on file with the other papers in the case.

DOM PEDRO.

The destitution among the sufferers by the floods in the Southwest is reported as beyond description. Many have been feeding on the carcasses of drowned cattle. It is estimated that not less than 3,500 are dependent upon the charity of the Government.

The nomination of ex-Senator Conkling for Associate Justice of the Supreme court, was confirmed by the Senate this week, but the office has been declined by him.

The Legislature of Maryland, on Thursday, elected Gen. James R. Herbert, as his own successor in the board of police commissioners, for six years from next March.

SUMMARY OF NEWS.

There is no longer any doubt but that McLean, who attempted to shoot the Queen, is a lunatic.

At Genoa all dead bodies may be legally burned instead of buried. The crematory furnaces are in full working order.

REV. GEORGE HILDT, the oldest member of the Baltimore Conference, M. E. Church, died in the city Tuesday.

VIRGINIA has a colored giant who is nineteen years old. His foot is sixteen inches long, and he wears shoes of the Chicago regulation size.

In the United States Senate Monday a bill was reported from the judiciary committee to establish a uniform system of bankruptcy throughout the United States.

The venerable widow of Daniel Webster, the American statesman, died at the Le Roy House, New Rochelle, N. Y., last night. She was the daughter of an eminent merchant of New York city. Her maiden name was Caroline Bayard Le Roy, and she became the second wife of Daniel Webster in 1829, when he was 47 years old. She has survived her husband nearly thirty years.

"A GIRL'S CHOICE."—It was in a drug store of course. All interesting incidents occur in drug stores—that is nearly all. She was pretty, with blue eyes and golden hair, one of that kind of beauties the poet would have called an "angel," but for the fact that a colony of pimples on her fair frontpiece precluded all thought of a celestial being. Bowing timidly to the handsome clerk, she asked for "Swaine's Ointment for skin diseases," and upon receiving it vanished like the morning dew before the summer sun.

JOSEPH PANCOAST, M. D., emeritus professor of anatomy in the Jefferson Medical College, Philadelphia, died yesterday morning, aged 77, of pneumonia. His illness was of short duration.

NORTH CAROLINA will hold her State election in November this year, instead of August, as formerly, and will choose one judge of the Supreme Court, four judges of the Superior Court and members of the Legislature.

PORTLAND, ME., February 20.—While coasting to-day two young daughters of Mr. Hall, of Freeport, collided with a tree. The younger child's head was crushed in a terrible manner and the face of the other was torn and mangled badly. There are no hopes for the recovery of either.

In the House of Representatives there were two amendments to the Constitution proposed; one provides that the President of the United States shall be ineligible for re-election, and gives him an annual pension of $9,000, and also makes Cabinet officers ineligible for the term succeeding their tenure of office; and the other provides that the legislature of a state shall not vote for an amendment to the Constitution except at a regular session after an election of the most numerous branch of that body. Bills were also introduced for a civil government for Alaska, and the creation of new states out of the territories of Arizona and Idaho.

WELL ENDOWED.—The Union Theological Seminary of New York is quite a lucky institution. Some time ago ex Gov. Morgan gave it $200,000 for a building site. Last week it had a gift of $50,000 from Mr. K. Jessup for a hall, to be known as Jessup Hall, about as much more from five other gentlemen; $100,000 from Mr. D. Willis James for a dormitory building, and $80,000 from a gentleman who desires that his name shall be withheld. Still they are not satisfied it is stated, but want $175,000 more. Nearly a half million of dollars with what they have already, should satisfy any institution, but is it not with this Seminary as with many men?—the more they get the more they want.

A Good Recommendation. EMMITSBURG, Oct. 23, 1880. All I have to say of the Wildcat Rat Trap is: It is the best I have ever seen. The most we ever caught, was 27 rats in one trap, one night. I just put it in the cellar last night, and had three rats this morning. I would not be without one. Yours respectfully, WILLIAM P. GARDNER, July 2-1y.

A Quotation. The appositeness of a quotation lies in its correctness. Every classical scholar knows that poetical quotations may be verified by scanning the lines. The other week the editor of the Baltimore American, brought out the familiar Horatian line in this wise: "Parturient montes nudi ridulus nascitur," by overlooking the rule. With nascitur at the end of the line the fun is all eliminated, but correctly rendered, if for the thousandth time, you may laugh at the original ending, ridulus natus. The metre, the words, and the whole picture loom up supremely ridiculous.

On last Saturday a large favorite pointer dog jumped over the railing of the second story portico at Dr. Eichelberger's, and falling on the pavement, broke his fore leg at the first joint. The dog had been in the habit of leaping from the first-story portico, and it is supposed he lost his reckoning. It is thought he may recover.

Carry the News.

Death of a Washington-County Lady. HAGERSTOWN, March 1.—Mrs. Louise Dorsey died here suddenly this evening. It is supposed of congestion of the lungs. She was the widow of the late Dr. John Claggett Dorsey, the daughter of the late Samuel Hughes, and the mother of Dr. Frederick Dorsey, now residing here, and at whose residence she died. For years she had been one of the most widely known and respected ladies in this county.—Gazette.

DR. SAMUEL P. SMITH, of Cumberland, who died, Monday 2d inst., was one of the oldest and most prominent physicians in Maryland. He was born in Taneytown, Carroll county, Md., December 21, 1795, and graduated from the University of Maryland in March, 1817. At the time of his death he was the oldest living graduate of that institution. Dr. Smith has been the leading physician of Cumberland for many years, and was prominently identified with its social and industrial development.

NOTICE TO FARMERS AND OWNERS OF PRIVATE RESIDENCES.—The safest and best company in which Farmers and owners of Private Residences can insure their property, is the Time-Tried and Fire-Tested Agricultural Insurance Company. It insures nothing but private residences and farm property. In the last 27 years it has not had a loss of over $5,000, in one fire, and cannot be affected by sweeping conflagrations, as its risks are all detached. It insures against damage by lightning, whether fire causes or not, and insures Live Stock against being killed by lightning anywhere on the farm. The Agricultural Insurance Co., is a stock company, and the strongest and largest company, doing an exclusive Dwelling Business in the United States, if not in the world, and now issuing $50,000 Policies a year. For further particulars, apply to W. G. HORNER, Agent, Emmitsburg, Md.

Claims Presented.

Mr. Urner, who has made a specialty of war claims bills this season, introduced claims as follows: To pay Catharine W. Bowie, of Montgomery county, $105; Samuel T. PERSONALS.

Mr. Cyrus D. Hoover of Waynesboro, called to see us last Saturday. We were pleased to find him in health, and as jovial as of old.

Mr. V. B. Gilbert, proprietor of Buena Vista Springs, called to see us last week. Mr. James E. Graham of Staunton, Va., called to see us on Tuesday. Being a native of this neighbourhood, he seemed much pleased to revisit the old scenes.

Dr. John S. Kinser and Mr. John A. Shorb, both of Littlestown, Pa., spent several days in town this week. We had a pleasant call from them in our office.

Mr. Raymond S. Rahter of Middle-town, Pa., a former resident of near this place, spent some time in town this week.

Mr. William S. Ulrich of Westminster was on a visit.

Dr. Higbee and family left, this place on Tuesday, for their home in Lebanon, Pa.

"The Land and People," is the title of a new monthly paper published in Waynesboro, Pa. Its main object is the "facilitating of the purchase and exchange of farm and timber land in all sections of the country," and is printed in the office of the "Keystone Gazette" by the proprietor of that journal. We doubt not the new aspirant for popular favour will meet a felt want in the field it has marked out.

[Detroit Post and Tribune.]

I have a little girl, said Mr. Henry Dole, of this city, in a conversation, who was troubled with a severe lameness in her legs, pronounced by some Erysipelas by others Rheumatism. A had tried several remedies without effect, when I was induced to apply St. Jacobs Oil and I am happy to say that the use of but one bottle cured her, and she is now able to go to school again.

A Large Call.

The Rev. S. S. Miller of Boonsboro, had a grand reception last week, at which parties outside of his family were the chief actors. Some sixty members of all the Denominations of the place, Reformed, Lutheran, United Brethren, Methodists, Disciples, Catholics, Dunkers and Episcopians joined in a general visit, and presented many good and useful things to the pastor and his family, and the evening was spent joyously to all.

The American Farmer comes still further improved for March first, the leaves are stitched and trimmed, and the important subjects of live stock, fruit growing and gardening, with the application of different kinds of fertilizers, are all thoroughly discussed. The needs and opportunities of agriculture in Maryland and Virginia, receive particular attention. Dr. Thos. Pollard, ex-commissioner of Agriculture in Virginia being one of the editors, while the home department addresses itself to the ladies. The issue of March 15th will announce the award of the prize for the best essays on mixed farming, live-stock, fruit growing, trucking and tobacco. Published by Samuel Sands & Son, Baltimore.

New Words.

The new Edition of Webster's Unabridged Dictionary, numbering 1938 quarto pages, contains nearly 5000 new words or new meanings of old ones.—These words range over the fields of science, medicine, invention, discovery, research, etc., departments which in this age are constantly yielding fresh ideas, requiring new words to express them.

That they have not been hastily compiled is evidenced by the accuracy and careful study given to their etymology and definitions.

The intelligent reader, or any reader who would be intelligent, will find this feature of the dictionary quite indispensable.

An Official Visit.

On Monday last a committee of Senators and members of the House of Delegates arrived in this city and paid an official visit to the State Institution for the Deaf and Dumb, where they were warmly received in a neat speech by Dr. Fairfax Schley, of this city, who is Chairman of the Executive Committee. After a thorough inspection of the building and an interview with the pupils and officers of the institution, they were dinnered and expressed themselves as highly pleased with their visit. They were also much pleased with their visit to Mt Olivet Cemetery and Montevue Hospital, and left this city at 5 o'clock the same afternoon for Annapolis.—Union.

More Fox Chasing.

There was quite a concourse of persons in town this (Friday) afternoon, to witness the fox chase that came off at the Western Maryland Hotel. A grey fox was first let loose and the dogs immediately after him, this gave Reynard the poorest sort of a chance, and he surrendered within about half a mile. A scene of no little confusion then followed; the dogs were evidently intent on fun, and not comprehending the programme, refused to abandon the field, and could not be called in for a long while. But finally the red fox got started and taking a South-easterly direction, led the way for a fine chase over the open country, and while it proceeds, we go to press.

Among the horsemen were Dr. Frank Seiss, Messrs. H. Clabaugh and E. S. Rhinodollar, of Taneytown, and Smith, Crouse, White, Horner and Late, of this place and vicinity, and C. M. Anders, of Woodsboro', and many others.

Dr. Chancellor's Report.

The papers have been giving out some news in advance of the report of Dr. Chancellor, of the State Board of Health, about to be submitted to the Legislature. Among the voluminous things treated, we see "reference is made to the epidemic of diptheria" in Frederick, in the fall of 1881, and to the typho-malarial sickness in Emmitsburg," and "to the fearfully insidious condition of both places." It is oftentimes more than a victory for a man to persist in a false position. We had three deaths last year, far apart, from typhoid fever, there had been none from that cause, in a long while previous, and there have been none since, and we have not had any sort of epidemic amongst us in many years.

When Dr. Chancellor visited this place he remained but two or three hours, and in that time did not go beyond the limits of a certain small corner of the town, whose insubstantial state had already enlisted attention, and was in course of rectification.

Our village is perfectly healthy, and we make these statements that no one may be misled by any suggestions to the contrary. It is true we have no scientifically arranged system of sewerage, but then the location of the place favours its drainage by the stratification of the underlying rocks, at nearly every point, and we believe there are but few lots which have not sufficient drains upon them. The point now is that the citizens shall be on the constant look out to be sure that all work efficiently.

That great men are not always wise, has been well shown in our town of late. The lamps are never lit on the nights when the moon ought to shine, and last week when it rose at 1, 2, 3, 4, &c. o'clock, everything went lovely, but with the changes since occurring, when it does not come forth until most persons are asbed, more serious than amusing. The fathers should brighten up their lunar knowledge, and regulate the lamps accordingly. We need light every night; it is poor economy to depend on the moon. She hides her face at every passing cloud, and is therefore most uncertain.

P. S.—Since the above was written, we have noticed that the lamps are lighted early, and all is well. Mr. S. may have bumped his head.

A Serious Accident.

Mr. Chas. Collins Rowe, of this place, who has worked in the establishment of Frick & Co., at Waynesboro', Pa., for the last few years, met with a serious accident on Friday, the 3d inst. A portable engine had been jacked up for removal, when the jack slipped, and the engine toppling over caught Mr. Rowe's left hand between it and the jack. The immense weight crushed the first, second and third fingers in a horrible manner, and forced the flesh from the bone. Dr. Strickler, of Waynesboro' rendered surgical aid, and at first, it was thought amputation of the fore finger would be necessary, but this happily has been avoided. He was brought to his home in this place on Thursday, and is now under the care of Dr. J. W. Eichelberger, Jr., and is comfortable as could be expected.

The proprietors and the workmen of the establishment together, made him up a purse of $120.

Mr. Rowe has always been a hearty young man and is a skilled workman.—It is to be hoped his injuries may not leave him in any way disabled. He expresses a grateful appreciation of the kind sympathy, and generous treatment received from the proprietors and employees of the establishment.

GRAND JURY REPORT.

GRAND JURY ROOM, FEBRUARY TERM, 1882. To the Honorable the Judges of the Circuit Court for Frederick County: GENTLEMEN.—The Grand Jury for the February term of Court beg leave to report, that in obedience in law, they visited the Jail and were received politely by Sheriff Barriek and his de. u. ties.—The Jury found the establishment in excellent condition, and take pleasure in bearing testimony to the cleanliness and good order apparent in every department.

In accordance with custom, they also visited Montevue Hospital and were the recipients of the kindly courtesies of Mr. Snyder and his gentlemanly assistants. After an inspection of the house, including its various departments, we take pleasure in according to Mr. Snyder the measure of our commendation for the cleanliness and comfort that seemed to pervade every part of the institution. The unfortunate inmates seemed to be as comfortable as a prudent care could make them. In passing, the Jury would say that the frequent change of keeper is becoming a crying evil, and cannot be justified by any public exigency. Changes should be made only for cause, and a good and efficient man should be kept there—politicians to the contrary notwithstanding, otherwise the institution will cease to have any claim on the confidence of the community.

We would call attention to the public school building on South street. The house is in a dilapidated condition and, we respectfully submit, too insecure for the purposes of a school.

We would call the attention of the proper authorities to Greff Hall, a public place where crowds sometimes assemble, the proprietor of which has not complied with the law in regard to the doors opening outward, &c.

The Jury gave patient hearing to every case brought before them, dismissing a large number on account of the trivial character of the charges and others by reason of the insufficiency of the testimony, and only finding true bills in cases where the evidence, &c., was of a substantial character.

Having disposed of all the business before us, we ask to be discharged. Respectfully submitted, THOMAS E. POPP, Foreman.

DIED.

KEEVER—CURRENS.—On the 7th inst., at Littlestown, Pa., by Rev. D. N. Dittmar, Mr. Geo. Kever of Gettysburg, Pa., to Miss Mary E. Currens, of near this place.

Mt. St. Mary's College Out of the Hands of a Receiver.

The Frederick correspondent of the Baltimore Sun, says:—In view of the success that has attended the compromise settlement of the indebtedness of Mount St. Mary's College, located near Emmitsburg, in this county. Capt. Jas. McSherry, the receiver into whose hands the management of the institution was placed one year ago at the instance of its creditors, deemed it prudent to relinquish his trust, and accordingly filed his petition to the court yesterday, and was accordingly discharged and his bond released. Of the thirty-five per cent. compromise agreed upon, the receivership yielded ten, and the balance was raised principally through the untiring energy and business tact of the present able president of the institution, Very Rev. Dr. Wm. Byrne, late of the Diocese of Boston. This action of the receiver reinstates the "nursery of Bishops," and the alma mater of Cardinal McCloskey and many other prelates and eminent divines, as well as distinguished civilians in the possession of all of its rights and franchises, and it is predicted that hence forth it will have a more successful career than ever. At the present time the College has, notwithstanding its troubles, more than one hundred students.—Balto. Sun of March 8th.

In the Whole History of Medicine.

No preparation has ever performed such marvellous cures, or maintained so wide a reputation, as AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL, which is recognized as the world's remedy for all diseases of the throat and lungs. Its long-continued series of wonderful cures in all climates has made it universally known as a safe and reliable agent to employ. Against ordinary colds, which are the forerunners of more serious disorders, it acts speedily and surely, always relieving suffering, and often saving life. The protection it affords, by its timely use in throat and chest disorders, makes it an invaluable remedy to be kept always on hand in every home. No person can afford to be without it, and those who have once used it never will. From their knowledge of its composition and operation, physicians use the CHERRY PECTORAL extensively in their practice, and clergymen recommend it. It is absolutely certain in its healing effects, and will always cure where cures are possible. For sale by all druggists.

PUBLIC SALE.

BY VIRTUE of a power of sale in a Mortgage executed by Hezekiah and Mary Ann Dotterer and duly recorded among the Land Records of Frederick County, the undersigned, the Mortgagee therein named, will sell at Public Sale,

On Tuesday, March 28th, 1882, at 11 O'clock, a. m., at Motter's Station, in Frederick County, Maryland, the following lying and being in the 5th Election District in Frederick County, Maryland, to-wit: 1st, that tract of farm land formerly owned by Mrs. Mary Ann Dotterer, situated about two and a half miles south of Emmitsburg, along the public road running from Emmitsburg to Frederick, adjoining the lands of John Hobb's heirs, William Shriver and others, it being the same land now occupied by Albert Dotterer and containing,

78 ACRES, 1 ROOD, 11 PERCHES of land, more or less. Said land is of ordinary fair quality, is laid off into convenient fields and improved with WEATHER-BOARDED DWELLING HOUSE, a barn and other out-buildings. There is fine water for both cattle and man-kind upon the place.

2nd.—Also at the same time and place a tract of MOUNTAIN LAND, situated at the foot of the South Mountain, near Mt. St. Mary's College, containing 174 ACRES OF LAND, more or less, it adjoins the lands of Peter Shorb, and others, and lies a long the old Mechanicstown road.

Both of these tracts of land are fully described in the above mentioned mortgage, which mortgage is duly recorded in Liber T. G. No. 6, Folios 671, and by reference whereunto it will fully appear. The growing crop is excepted.

Preparing Peach Stones.

Several have asked how to prepare, peach stones for planting.—They are probably aware, that when the stones are kept dry all winter and then planted in spring, very few, if any, will germinate. In nurseries, the stones are not allowed to get very dry, but they are stratified or bedded just before winter sets in. The usual manner is, to mark out the limits of the bed and spread the stones over it to the depth of two or three inches; the stones are then spaded in as if turning under a dressing of manure.—By this operation they are distributed through and well mixed with the soil, where they are left to freeze and thaw all winter. This treatment causes the halves of the stone to separate and the pressure within of the swelling seed can push them apart. This may be effected by other methods than that of spading in. The stones are sometimes spread upon the ground and covered with spent tan-bark or sawdust to the depth of three to five inches, and thus exposed to the weather. In spring, when the ground is ready to plant, the stones that have been spaded in are separated by throwing the soil of the bed upon a riddle, such as is used by masons; the earth falls through while the stones are left upon the riddle. Those that have been under tan or sawdust are more easily recovered at planting time. It is to be assumed that those who at this time ask what is to be done "to prepare peach stones for planting," have as yet done nothing with them, and that they are still dry. Such should at once be mixed with sand, or sandy earth, in a box, and placed where they will be exposed to all the changes of the weather. This will place them in a condition similar to those that have been spaded in, but having been dried for some months it is likely that a share of them will remain unaltered, and that in spring the halves will remain firmly together. Such stones must be carefully cracked, holding them between the thumb and finger upon a block and striking the edge with a hammer; the kernels being thus removed, are to be mixed with earth or damp moss, and kept in a warm place until they germinate. The stones that have been bedded or otherwise exposed to the action of frost, and are still unchanged, are not planted with the others, but are separated from those that have begun to germinate, and cracked before they are planted.

VALUABLE RECIPES.

MACAROONS.—The whites of three eggs beaten to a stiff froth; half a pound of cocoanut; half a pound of rolled crackers, and an even teaspoonful of extract of bitter almond. Drop them upon a greased paper in a dripping pan. May make a light brown.

BLANC MANGE.—One quart milk; one ounce gelatine; sugar to sweeten to taste. Put in on the fire, and keep stirring until it is melted; then pour it into a bowl and stir until it is cold. Season with vanilla. Pour it into a mould, and put into a cool place to stiffen.

RISE MUFFINS.—Sift one pint of flour into a bowl, add a tablespoonful of salt, one cup of cold boiled rice, a teaspoonful of baking powder, two eggs well beaten, and sufficient milk to form a batter. Bake on a griddle like buckwheat cakes.

Treating Rancid Butter.

A way that has never been known to fail is to cut the butter into pieces about a pound each, wrap each piece separately in clean white cloth, then enclose all in a nice white bag or large cloth, and bury the whole a foot or more in the ground, the deeper the better. After a week or two, according to the rancidity of the butter, unearth, wash carefully, re-salt, and it will be found to be sweet and wholesome. I have so treated butter which was too rancid for cooking, and when put upon the table after such treatment it could not be told from fresh butter.—Canada Farmer.

Nature's Stomach-Way.

The kidneys are nature's sluiceway to wash out the debris of our constantly changing bodies. If they do not work properly the trouble is felt everywhere. Then be wise and as soon as you see signs of disorder get a package of Kidney-Wort and take it faithfully. It will clean the sluiceway of sand, gravel or slime and purify the whole system.—Druggists sell it both liquid and dry, and it is equally efficient either way.—Independent.

Humorous.

What Did Washington Know?

We don't like to be irreverent, but we certainly would like to ask, what did our forefathers know?—What, for instance, did old George Washington know? He never saw a steam-boat; he never saw a fast mail train; he never held his ear to a telephone; he never sat for a picture in a photograph gallery; he never received a telegraphic dispatch; he never listened to the "fizz" of an electric pen; he never saw a pretty girl run a sewing-machine; he never saw a self-propelling engine go down the street to a fire; he never heard of evolution; he never took laughing-gas; he never had a set of store teeth; he never attended an International Exposition; he never owned a bonanza mine; he never knew "Old Prob"; he—but why go on? No! when he took an excursion it was on a flat-boat; when he went off on a train it was a mule-train; when he wanted to talk to a man in Milwaukee he had to go there; when he had his picture taken it was done in profile with a piece of black paper and a pair of shears; when he got the returns from back counties they had to be brought in by a man with an ox-cart; when he took aim at the enemy he had to trust to crooked-barrelled old flint-locks; when he wrote it was with a goose quill; when he had anything to mend his grandmother did it with a darning-needle; when he went to a fire he stood in line and passed buckets; when he looked at a clam he never dreamed it was any relation of his; when he went to a concert he heard a cracked fiddle and an insane clarinet; when he had a tooth extracted he sat down and never left off yelling; when he got out of teeth he gummed his victuals; when he wanted an international exposition he sent for Lafayette, and ordered his friends up from Old Virginia with the specimens carefully labeled in bottles; when he once got hold of a nugget of gold from an Indian chief he felt rich; when he wanted to know anything about the weather he consulted the groundhog or the goosebone. When—but why go on? What did such a man know? Who was he, anyway?—Exchange.

When an Austin Schoolmaster entered his temple of learning a few mornings ago he read on the black-board the touching legend:—"Our teacher is a donkey." The pupils expected there would be a combined cyclone and earthquake, but the philosophic pedagogue contented himself with adding, the word "driver" to the legend and opened the school with prayer, as usual.
