NO FICTION.

The editor is in possession of the name of the author of the following singular narrative and of the place at which it happened, and has every reason to be satisfied of the entire bona fides of the writer, a clergyman of the Church of England.

Early in January, 1879, clerical duty called me into the northwest of England. In the midst of a heavy fall of snow, my family and I took possession of the official residence provided for us.

It was an old stone house of one story roofed in part with ancient stone slabs, in part with modern slates, and standing in a garden bare of trees. A wide passage ran back from the entrance towards the kitchen, where there were two doors; the one leading into the yard, the other into the larder, which was, in fact, a roomy cellar at the foot of a flight of very old stone steps. The five bedrooms all opened on a square landing.

"How about the roof?" I asked of the man in charge.

"All right, sir; everything has been carefully seen to; and, when the thaw comes, I'll warrant you'll not be troubled, anything to matter."

In a few days we had shaken down; and the verdict on our new home was, "Not grand, but decidedly cozy."

A tall, solid, fleshy, rosy young woman had undertaken to be our one servant. Sparring of words was she, but not sparing of work.

"The incarnation of stupidity," said my son Primus.

"The very thing for us," said his mother.

The girl's name being Stillwell, soon became corrupted into Stillwater; or, for short, Still.

It was splendid skating weather. The low-lying meadows were flooded to the depth of a foot or more, and one glided along over acres of smooth, green, transparent ice.

Every day we sallied forth, my three boys, their sister and I, to take our fill of enjoyment in this icy paradise; coming back to bask all the evening before the bright golden sunshine and the silvery ashes of a north-country coal fire.

My wife has the weak habit of going to "tuck up" her boys after they are in bed. One night their voices sounded so angry that she ran up in haste to see what was wrong. On entering their room she found the two elder boys sitting up in bed, hurling injurious and derisive epithets at some person or persons unknown.

"Let me just find out who you are, and you'll get such a jolly good licking as you'll remember," announced Primus, gazing wrathfully at the ceiling.

"Oh, you blooming idiot! I wish I'd your boots. I'd throw them at your head. Be off! I'm taking a sight at you," shouted Secundus, nose and fingers up-turned in the same direction.

"Are you both mad?" inquired the stern, maternal voice.

"It's that fellow, mother, that I told you about. 'He's on the roof again. Just listen to the row he makes.'"

"Nonsense," said his mother; but she stood listening for some time.

"Oh, you coward!"

"Ah, you lunk!" proceeded from the two beds. Not a sound above.

"I have heard no row on the roof," remarked mother, with dignified emphasis; and, having performed the usual ceremony, she departed; and came and told me of the whole affair, concluding with, "I wonder if it can be rats?"

"Not a doubt of it."

Next morning the boys were full of their nocturnal visitor; and declared that, no sooner had the drawing-room door shut, than the scrambling and tramping began again.

"History tells of a certain cat who wore top boots; but I never heard of rats adopting the fashion," I remarked.

"Rats, father! why we know the sound of them well enough. And they run between the ceiling and the roof. But this is unmistakable boots, with plenty of hobnails in them, too, on the out side of the roof. We expected every moment to see the fellow's legs come through plaster and all. I think I may be permitted to speak with authority on the subject of boots and roofs in conjunction."

He certainly might, for he had perambulated the roofs of all the out-houses at S—, to the great detriment of tiles and slates.

"Well, then," continued Primus, with the air of an adept. "I am so sure it was a boy of my size in hobnailed boots, that I feel as if I had seen them. I could swear to them."

"Come out and have a look," was my reply.

There lay the white mantle, smooth and glistening in the sunshine, and untrodden by so much as the foot of a tom cat.

The boys looked at each other in amazement. "I don't care," said Secundus, defiantly, "I shall always believe it was a boy."

"It's the rummest thing I ever new," slowly remarked Primus.

"If Boots comes again, the only thing you have to do is to wish him a good night, and to cover up your ears," was my recommendation.

That evening, just as we were about to begin prayers, we were all startled by some tremendous blows on the cellar door. My wife, thinking there must be some one at the back door, told Stillwater to go and see who could be knocking in that outrageous way.

"The girl did not stir. After a moment, she said, 'It's the cellar door.'"

"Impossible!" said her mistress, "go quickly and see what it is."

We heard the unlocking and relocking of the yard door. When the girl came back she said there was no one there. Presently, while I was reading, there came more loud blows, as if struck by a heavy fist; and unmistakably against the cellar door.

When prayers were ended we went to make acquaintance with our mysterious captive. On opening the door there was nothing to be seen but the flight of steps.

My wife and I exchanged glances which said very plainly, "A sweet heart." So, as the youth appeared shy, I gave him an encouraging invitation to come forth and show himself. No reply.

"I am determined to know who you are," said I, nobly plunging into the abyss, the boys at my heels. Nothing whatever to be seen, and not a corner in which anything bigger than a mouse could hide. The window? It was tightly closed up for the winter and was, besides, blocked with snow. I was certainly mystified; but I sent the young ones off to bed with an assurance that wind in an old house was capable of making the most extraordinary noises; and in illustration, we all in turn shook the door; not, however, producing anything like the previous effect.

"It must have been at the back door," said my wife, with a searching look at Stillwater.

"No; it's the cellar-door that does it," quietly replied the girl.

"How can it make that noise of itself?"

"I don't know."

"Did you ever hear it before?"

"Yes, this evening, when Miss was at the piano."

We decided that we must watch Stillwater.

In the course of the night we were awake by the agreeable sound of "Drip, drip, drip," in one corner of the room. My wife put a basin beneath with a towel in it to deaden the sound. Presently "drip, drip" again just outside the door, which we always kept open.

"There's a sudden thaw, and we're in for it," said I. "Let's go to sleep. It won't hurt the floorcloth."

But there was no going to sleep; for the drip came faster than ever, until it increased to a little stream.

There were no matches in the room, but I managed to find my bath and to set it, with a blanket inside it, under the spot whence the sound came.

When, at breakfast, I announced the sad news of the sudden thaw, there was a chorus of exclamations, "Why! everything is as heard as iron," &c., &c.

The mother meanwhile was directing her hand-maiden to dry up the water which had come in during the night. The girl stared. When she came into the room again her mistress asked her what she had done with the wet blanket. She stared more expressively, and was mute.

"Don't you understand?"

"Yes, ma'am. But there is no wet blanket and no water to wipe up."

Up stairs went mistress and servant, and in two minutes back came my wife, looking quite bewildered.

"There's not a trace of water anywhere," said she, "and yet, after you were asleep, I heard it drip fast upon the counterpane, just at my feet."

Our delighted offspring settled it that mother had been dreaming and Primus reverently hinted that I had generously lent my bath in order to escape my morning shudder.

When Tertius was being tucked up that night he asked, 'Who was that—person who came and looked at me after I was in bed?'

'Stillwater, I suppose.'

'Oh, no! It was an old woman and, she had a funny cap on.'

'You dreamed her, dear.'

'But I hadn't been to sleep. And I turned my head to the wall and when I looked for her again she had gone away.'

'You must have been half asleep. Now go to sleep quite and finish the dream.'

The next night Primus began:

'Mother, I wish you would tell that old party not to come into my room without knocking. I had just got into bed, happening to glance across to the drawers, and there she stood coolly looking at me. I was disgusted and turned my back upon her. Presently I looked out of the tail of my eye to see what she was doing, but she'd gone out.'

'You don't know who it was?'

'No. She looked like one of the charwomen—Boots's mother, I dare say. These people are cool enough for anything.'

My wife called to Stillwater to ask if Mrs. Brown or Mrs. Jones had been in that evening. She was answered that no one had been.

'Then, you must have been half asleep, although you did not know it and have dreamed.'

'Yes, I suppose so. But it seemed very real. At any rate, I'm half asleep now, murmured Primus.'

Night after night we were roused by the voice of this or that child. Their mother always went to them and always found them sleeping peacefully though a minute before there had been sobbing and moaning. It was bitterly cold, and I persuaded her not to go at the first call. Then there was whimpering on the stairs.

One night we had both been lying awake for some time listening to what seemed like cautious steps, first on the landing and then in our room itself. We had tried to persuade ourselves that it might be mice. But no; there were distinct steps as of a person walking. Yet though we followed the sound with our eyes, we saw nothing. Suddenly there was a howl of anguish, like the cry of a large animal in pain. It thrilled us with horror, for it came from our daughters' room, though it was not possible for it to be their voices. When we reached their bedside, they were calmly sleeping and were not even roused by our entrance with the light. I made quiet observations next day, both inside and outside of the house.

'If you please, ma'am, may I have my sister to sleep with me?' said Stillwater to her mistress.

'Are you afraid to sleep alone?'

'No, I'm not afraid.'

'Then why do you wish it?'

No answer; only a very earnest look.

'Why! Stillwell, you look as if you had seen a ghost,' said her mistress laughing.

'Yes, ma'am, I have,' she replied very quietly.

'And what did it look like?'

'Like Mrs. X—, just as she was at afternoons.'

'Come, come! she ought to have been all in white, you know.'

'No, she was not in white. She had on the same sort of cap she always wore, and the same dress and white apron.'

'I hope you asked her what she wanted?'

'No, ma'am; I lay still and looked at her; and then I sat up and looked at her hard; and presently I could not see her.'

'It was no doubt a dream, and you will probably never have such another.'

'No, I am sure it was not a dream. Besides, I have seen her twice before when I was walking about.'

The latter is an old offender, having served two previous terms in the above institution of five years each. Examiner.

A Barn Burned in Frederick County. FREDERICK, Md., Oct. 29.—A large new barn, located on a farm near the Frederick Junction, Baltimore and Ohio Railroad, owned by Col. Charles E. Trail, and tenanted by John T. Best, was destroyed by fire this evening. About 1,200 bushels of wheat in the straw and 20 tons of hay were consumed. All the live stock and farming implements were saved. The loss amounting to about $4,000, is nearly covered by insurance in the Mutual Company, of this city. The fire was caused by the spontaneous combustion of the hay. This Sun.

The Examiner entered upon its 79th Volume last Wednesday. We have more than once expressed our respect for the venerable sheet, from old associations. This feeling has caused us at times to criticise its course. The persistent effort to fiddle on one string, unimpaired of the harmonies the make up the union of life's melody, indifference to the genial sympathies that draw men together, and the general good will, which makes hearts akin, are among the Examiner's defects. We esteem its Editors and proprietors, and for our routine of duty find its weekly visits indispensable. Long may it live, and renew its youth.

The Ecclectic Magazine for November was received last week, but the notice of its advent was unavoidably crowded out. The contents of this number are more than ordinarily interesting. The first article, "Who was Primitive Man?" by Prof. Grant Allen, will furnish subject for thought to those who are interested in such investigations; an account of the work of "The Salvation Army," which will enable the reader to judge of the importance of this singular organization; "The Lady Maid" is continued, and all the articles, literary and scientific are exceptionally attractive, even for this periodical, which has for so long a time occupied a place among the leading publications of the day. Terms, $5.00 a year. E. R. Pelton publisher, 25 Bond St., N. Y.

From The Old Fellow. Edward Huetl, an employee of Mr. B. A. Betts, of Chewsville, while engaged in unloading wheat at the warehouse in that place last Thursday, had two fingers crushed by being drawn into apulley.

Mr. Patrick Jennings, who was running a threshing machine on the farm of Dr. Stonebraker, in Pleasant Valley on Monday, attempted to step from the platform and his foot slipping he fell and broke his leg near the ankle.

Last Saturday morning while Mr. Wm. Startzman, an employee of the Shenandoah Valley R. R., and a resident of this city, was engaged assisting in transferring from one car to another a load of heavy bridge timbers, in this city, one of the pieces suddenly swung round and struck Mr. Startzman on the forehead with terrible force, knocking him down. He was picked up in an insensible condition, his face and head badly cut, was carried to the freight depot, and afterwards conveyed to his home. Under proper medical treatment he is fast recovering from the shock.

From the Westminster Advocate. Conrad Eichelberger died suddenly at his residence at the West End, this city, on Sunday night. He was out walking Sunday afternoon with some young men. About 8 o'clock at night he told his wife that he was not feeling well and went to bed. His wife went up stairs about an hour afterwards, and found him dying. Heart disease is said to have been the cause.

Whilst John Horner and Will Grumbine, two boys of this city, were in the neighborhood of Winters' (a) on Thursday morning, gunning for ducks, Grumbine fell down, when his gun was discharged, the load striking young Horner, who was some thirty yards off. A number of shot entered his legs, and several hit him about the head and face, though he was not seriously injured.

From the Valley Register. Dr. George Reuling, the noted Baltimore oculist, under whose treatment Mrs. Emma Koontz now is, says that the sudden blindness in her left eye resulted from the rupture of a small blood vessel, and that he will be able to restore her sight. This last will be agreeable news to her many friends.

Orders were received here Wednesday evening to discontinue the telegraph office in this place, and the operator was ordered to Uniontown, Pa. The office was located here just long enough to enable our citizens to realize what a convenient thing the telegraph is, and the closing of the office will be a source of regret to many, and especially to those who made use of the wires for business purpose. Enough business was not done, however, to justify the company in maintaining an office here, and hence it goes away from us.

From the Maryland Union. We are pleased to state that Judge Wm. Veirs Boice, is convalescing rapidly and hopes to be about again in a short time. Paralyzed.—One day last week Mr. Charles S. Simmons, a well-known farmer, residing in Buckeystown district, was stricken with paralysis. He is doing as well as could be expected.

By the orders of Bishop McCloskey, Rev. Thomas F. Gammon, A. M., of Evansburg, goes to Louisville, Ky. For many years this gentleman has been Professor of Mathematics in Mount St. Mary's College, and has given every evidence of being a learned and accomplished scholar.

Eldership Meeting.—The Maryland and Virginia eldership of the Church of God held their tenth annual meeting at Bethel, this county, last week. The following appointments were made: Broad Forging Circuit, Elder O. A. Collins; Sharpburg, J. W. Phillmore; South Mountain, I. Fass; Greengarden, J. Sol; Carrollton Circuit, including Johnsville, Wm. Palmer; Springdale Mission, including Hampstead, J. Eckard; Uniontown to be supplied.

[Communicated.] "The Harry Pease Dramatic Company" played in Armory Hall four nights for the benefit of "The Border Guards" of this place producing "Kathleen Mavourneen," "Lady Audley's Secret," "Nobody's Child," and "Tip Van Winkle."

Belle Crowell, as Kathleen and Lady Audley gave us life pictures, showing the lady to be a finished artist. All of her personations were graceful and original. That of Lady Audley being really intense. Col Harry Pease, in his characterization gave evidence of thorough study and all of his impersonations, were marked with that perfect ease and grace that tells of years of careful study and experience.

The Company is good throughout.—Mr. L. Dow Wire, the Comedian of the Company has made many admirers by his acting of the different roles assigned him. Miss Haynes, Mr. Core and Mr. White appearing nightly to advantage in the different parts assigned them and I feel sure that the Company will be warmly welcomed back by all who had the pleasure of seeing and hearing them.

SPECTATOR.

Betting on the Election. It may not be generally known that by an act of Assembly held on elections in Maryland are prohibited under a heavy penalty. The law has not, it is believed, been very rigidly enforced, but as it is one of the statutes it might be advisable for persons who hope to turn an honest penny on the result in the judiciary or congressional district to examine it before backing their favorites in public.—The law bearing on the subject is found in article 35, Code of Public General Laws, and is as follows:

Section 46. No person shall make any bet or wager on the result of any election to take place in this State.

Sec. 47. Any person offending against the last preceding section shall be liable to indictment in the circuit courts, if the offense be committed in any county, or in the Criminal Court of Baltimore, if the offense be committed in Baltimore; and, on conviction, shall be fined not less than fifty, nor more than five hundred dollars—to be paid to the State for the use of the school fund.

Sec. 48. Every deposit of money in any part of the State, as a wager bet upon elections in this State or elsewhere, shall be forfeited and paid over to the county commissions of the county where deposited for the use of the county; and if deposited in the city of Baltimore, to the mayor and City Council.

The Inconsistency of Man. Scheming, devices and manifold advertisements, of worthless goods will never attract profitable customers; only meritorious articles such as Swayne's Ointment for skin diseases are recognized and sought after by the people. Real worth always receives its just merit. A man may profit for a while by imposing upon the public, but it is only a question of time when he will reach the end of his rope. Man has never dared to doubt the efficacy of this great vegetable Ointment.

The weather of this week has been summer-like. In door fires, though small, have been found oppressive, and yet necessary at night and early morning. The temperature has ranged above 60 degrees and has reached 80 degrees. The Indian Summer may close suddenly now any day.

That's What's the Matter! "The old Man" has been as cross as a bear for a week past. No wonder that bread is heavy enough to kill an ostrich. Go right to Bussey's and get a package of "Dry Hop Yeast," it will cost you but 10 cents for one dozen cakes. Give the "Old Man" some light bread, and he will "smile again."

SOCIABLE. On the evening of October 21st, the eve of "All Hallow's," the family of Mr. Frank Miller of Double Pipe Creek was visited by a surprise party, composed of the following ladies and gentlemen: Misses Byerly and Schaeffer of Ladiesburg, Misses Zeppa and Minnie Martin of Owen's Creek, and the Misses Valentine, Rosa Black, Annie Krise, and a number of others of the surrounding neighborhood. The gentlemen were: Messrs Schaeffer and Root, of Ladiesburg and Middleburg, Messrs. W. C. Krise, Luther Kemp, Geo. Stephens, Harry Krise and many others. From time immemorial, All Hallow Een has been devoted to jollity and fun by all, and the evening on which the young folks, by tricks and charms, are enabled to read the future. It is needless to say on this occasion, especially by the "weak or sex," who have been credited with an excess of superstition, and, judging from the radiant countenances, we concluded that "all is well" the future will be all that we can wish.

Games of all kinds were enjoyed until a late hour, when the genial host and hostess invited the many guests, to a beautiful table of refreshments, to which all did ample justice. The party repaired to their homes at a late hour, with a keen sense of the thorough enjoyment of the occasion, and with the earnest wish that their hospitable host and hostess may enjoy many more Hallow Een's, and not less favorable auspices than the present ones.

Various Causes.—Advancing years, care, sickness, disappointment, and hereditary predisposition—all operate to turn the hair gray, and either of them incline it to shed prematurely. AYER'S Hair Vigor will restore faded or graying hair, or red hair to a rich brown or deep black, as may be desired. It softens and cleanses the scalp, giving it a healthy action. It removes dandruff and humors. By its use falling hair is checked, and a new growth will be produced in all cases where the follicles are not destroyed or the glands decayed. Its effects are beautifully shown on brashly, weak, or sickly hair, on which a few applications will produce the gloss and freshness of youth. It humbles and sings in its results, it is as invigorating as a dressing, and is especially valued for the soft lustre and richness of tone it imparts.

AYER'S Hair Vigor is colorless; contains neither oil nor dye; and will not soil or color white cambric; yet it lasts long on the hair, and keeps it fresh and vigorous, imparting an agreeable perfume.

For sale by all druggists.

Still Seeking Light. COMMUNICATED. Sunday night last, was dark and rainy but as it was the moon's turn to light up, the street lamps were, of course, unlighted. Such of our citizens as ventured out to church, had to grope their way as best they could, vainly endeavoring to avoid cellar doors and projecting doorsteps; and on Wednesday night, at half past nine o'clock, such blackness of darkness enveloped our streets, as could only have been equalled by that which brooded over Egypt, when Moses was seeking the deliverance of his brethren from bondage. This matter of unlighted streets is too serious to be trifled with, and is becoming intolerable; from dusk, till eleven o'clock, the citizens have a right to the comfort and protection of well-lighted streets and those who have the business entrusted to them should be compelled to attend to it. Some, have seriously suggested, that we go back to lanterns and light our own way as our fathers did; if that is to be done, I would suggest, that the town lamp lighter be discharged, so that the tax for his salary and the supply of oil shall no longer be imposed on this benighted community; and also, that the town lamps be disposed of at public auction, the proceeds to be devoted to the purchasing of a lantern for the use of the Burgess.

COMMON SENSE.

MALARIA, Chills and Fever, and bilious attacks positively cured with Emory's Standard Cure Pills—an infallible remedy: never fail to cure the most obstinate, long-standing cases where Quinine and all other remedies have failed.—They are prepared expressly for malarious sections, in double boxes, two kinds of Pills, containing a strong cathartic and a chill breaker, sugar-coated; contain no Quinine or Mercury, causing no griping or purging; they are mild and efficient, certain in their action and harmless in all cases; they effectually cleanse the system, and give new life and tone to the body. As a household remedy they are unequalled. For Liver Complaint their equal is not known; one box will have a wonderful effect on the worst case. They are used and prescribed by Physicians, and sold by Druggists everywhere, or sent by mail, 25 and 50 cent boxes. Emory's Little Cathartic Pills, best ever made, only 15 cents.—Standard Cure Co., 114 Nassau Street New York.

NOTICE.

The County Commissioners of Frederick County, will meet at their Office, in the Court House,

On Monday, November 13th, 1882, at 11 o'clock, a. m., of which all persons interested will take notice. The session will continue several days.

By order, E. A. GITTINGER, Clerk. nov. 4-21.

ROAD NOTICE.

Whereas, George Gingell, Charles F. Wantz, William J. Wivell, and others, citizens of Frederick county, after having given thirty days notice of their intention to do so, as required by law, have petitioned the County Commissioners of Frederick County to open a public road commencing for the same on the Littlestown Road and running in a Northernly direction, to intersect the road leading from the Western Maryland Central to the Woolen Factory, said road to follow the division line between the lands of David S. Gilman and Samuel Motter, and running in a straight line to the Factory road after leaving said division line. Said road not to be less than thirty feet wide, in compliance with the Act of the General Assembly of Maryland, in such case made and provided.

Notice is hereby given to all persons and parties concerned, and to the public, that by virtue of a commission from the County Commissioners of Frederick County, dated October 13th, 1882, we the undersigned, the Examiners therein named, will meet on the premises, on Wednesday the 29th day of November, 1882, at 9 o'clock, A. M., and will proceed to examine and determine, whether or not the public convenience requires that the said road should be located and opened, and if upon examination we should be of the opinion, and so determine in our judgment, that the said road should be located and opened, we will proceed to locate and open the same agreeable to said commission and the Code of Public General Laws in such case made and provided, and will continue in the execution of said commission from day to day if necessary, until the same shall have been fully completed.

JAMES T. HAYS, JOHN FESS, CHRISTIAN T. ZACHARIAS, (freeholders and not interested nor holding lands through which said road is proposed to be opened.) Examiners. October 21-82

THE CENTURY

For 1882-83.

The twelfth year of this magazine—the first under the new name, and the most successful in its history, closed with the October number. The circulation has shown a large gain over that of the preceding season, and THE CENTURY begins its thirtieth year with an edition of 110,000 Copies.

The following are the leading features:

A NEW NOVEL BY W. D. HOWELLS, to succeed this author's "Modern Instance." It will be an international story, entitled "A Sea Change."

LIFE IN THE THIRTEEN COLONIES, by EDWARD BEECHER—The leading historical feature of the year; to consist of a number of papers, on such topics as "The Beginning of a Nation," "Social Life in the Colonies," etc., the whole forming a complete history of early life in the United States. Especial attention will be paid to accuracy of illustration.

A NOVELLETTE OF MIXING LIFE, by MARY HALLOCK FOOTE, entitled "The Led-Horse Claim," to be illustrated by the author.

THE POINT OF VIEW, BY HENRY JAMES, JR., a series of eight letters from imaginary persons of various nationalities, criticising America, its people, society, manners, railroads, etc.

THE CHRISTIAN LEAGUE OF CONNECTICUT, by the Rev. Washington Gladden. An account of practical cooperation in Christian work, showing how a league was formed in a small town in Connecticut, what kinds of work it attempted, and how it spread throughout the whole State.

"RUDDER GRANGE ABROAD" BY F. R. STOCKTON, a continuation of the "Rudder Grange" stories, the scene being now in Europe.

THE NEW ERA IN AMERICAN HOUSE BUILDING, a series of four papers, fully illustrated, devoted to (1) City Houses, (2) Country Houses, (3) Churches, and (4) Public Buildings.

THE CREOLE OF LOUISIANA, by Geo. W. Cable, author of "Old Creole Days," etc.; a fresh and graphic narrative, richly illustrated.

MY ADVENTURES IN ZUNI, by Frank H. Cushing, government ethnologist, an adopted member of the Zuni tribe of Indians. Illustrated.

ILLUSTRATED PAPERS ON THE NATIONAL CAPITAL, including "The Capitol," "The Supreme Court," "The White House," etc.

MISSIONS OF SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA, by "H. H.," three or four papers of an exceedingly interesting character, richly illustrated.

Miscellaneous. Further work is expected from E. C. Stedman, Thomas Higginson, Joel Chandler Harris ("Uncle Remus"), Charles Dudley Warner John Burroughs, E. V. Smalley, H. H. Boyesen, and a long list of others. Entertaining short stories and novelettes will be among the leading features of THE CENTURY, as heretofore, and the magazine will continue its advance in general excellence.

The subscription price is $4.00 a year; 35 cents a number. Subscriptions should begin with the November number, and to enable new subscribers to commence with the new series under THE CENTURY name, we make the following Special Offer.

A year's subscription from Nov., 1882, and the twelve numbers of the past year, amount, $6.00. A subscription and the twelve back numbers bound in two elegant volumes with gilt toy, $7.50.

The Old Lodge had been for years in the charge of Mrs. X—, who had borne the character of a highly respectable old lady, with the drawbacks of being somewhat misanthropic and very avaricious.

I am perfectly aware of the ridicule with which stories of this nature are generally received. I can only repeat that I have related an absolutely true experience, for which I am utterly unable to account. I have no theory on the subject, I have always felt a strong distaste for so-called Spiritualism. I perceive the inconsequence and even childishness of my story, and yet it will always remain, to the storyteller, a serious fact.—J. G. P.

The kidneys are nature's sluiceway to wash out the debris of our constantly changing bodies. If they do not work properly the trouble is felt everywhere. Then beware and as soon as you see signs of disorder get a package of Kidney-Wort and take it faithfully. It will clean the sluiceway of sand, gravel or slime and purify the whole system. Druggists sell it, both liquid and dry, and it is equally efficient in either form.—Independent.

MEDICAL etiquette: A German paper has a rather good story about a lady who, not feeling as well as she liked, went to consult a physician. "Well," said the doctor, after looking at her sundry questions, "I should advise you, yes, I should, to advise you—ahem!—to get married."

"Are you single, doctor?" inquired the fair patient, with a significant yet modest smile. "I am, mein Fraulein; but it is not etiquette, you know, for physicians to take the physic they prescribe."

For the delicate and complicated difficulties peculiar to the female constitution, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is the sovereign remedy. It aims at the cause, and produces lasting results. Send to Mrs. Lydia E. Pinkham, 233 Western Avenue, Lynn, Mass., for pamphlets.

"Cut it down!" "No, sir," said Dr. Jalip, "I wouldn't have that apple tree cut down for money." But you never get any fruit from it," argued Brown; "the boys steal all the apples before they are half ripe." "That's just it," replied the doctor, with a quiet smile; "that tree stands me in a good thousand every year."

CRITICS must be careful. It does not help a man's reputation much to follow in the step of a certain member of a school board in New England who, visited a school under his jurisdiction and being invited to make some remarks, said: "Well, children, you read well; and you speak well; but you hain't sot still."

GETTING ready: "Do you keep a full supply of base-ball requirements here?" asked a gloomy browed young man the other day, as he entered a Market street hardware store. "Yes, sir. Everything in that line." "Then you may wrap me up a bottle of ammonia, a paper of court-plaster and a green eyeshade. I'm going to catch for the Knickerbocker nine this afternoon."

No more touching compliment could be paid than that of the child who had overheard a conversation at the table on the qualities of a wife. As he stooped over to kiss his mother he remarked:—"Mamma, when I get big I'm going to marry a lady just 'zactly like you."

A poor philosopher put blacking on that portion of his stocking which showed through the hole in his boot, and then said: "It is the care of a very great part of mankind to conceal their shortcomings from the rest."

"Do you know, Swiggles, that our friend Blitzman has a curious habit of pasting newspaper clippings in his hat?" "No, I didn't know; but I always supposed that he might have something lively in it."

BRAIN AND NERVE.—Well's Health Renewer, greatest remedy on earth for impotence, leanness, sexual debility, &c. $1. at druggists. Prepaid by express, $1.25, 6 for $5. F. S. Wells, Jersey City, N. J.

YESTERDAY we saw a man with a black eye, a skunk nose, and an arm in a sling. He had a revolver and wanted to know who invented hammocks.

DON'T DIE IN THE HOUSE.—Ask druggists for "Rough on Rats." It clears out rats, mice, bedbugs, roaches, vermin, flies, ants, insects. 15c.

WOMEN are not cruel by nature. We never hear of one thoughtless enough to step on a mouse.

Agricultural.

Preparing Plants for Winter.

It is a great mistake to delay the work of preparation for winter until it is suggested by cool nights or a warning given by blighting frosts. When a plant has been taken from a pot and planted in open ground it usually outgrows its former place and it is too large for any vessel of convenient size. The root should be cut away to a considerable extent and likewise the top or foliage must be correspondingly reduced. Novices often fail at this point, for they dislike to part with any of the new growth, and set the plant in a pot unpruned and expect, what is not possible, that it will flourish. Cut back root system and branch system equally is the rule. Plants when thus transplanted used to be favored by being kept in the shade and sheltered from the drying winds until they have made a good start in the pots. Many of the house plants are kept in their pots during the summer and they will need repotting, or the pot washed and the surface soil replaced by fresh, rich earth. A larger pot is needed by those plants whose roots have formed a mat along the inner surface. The ball of earth can be examined quickly by spreading the left hand on the vessel—the stem passing between the fingers, and with the other hand on the bottom invert the pot and give the edge a downfall tap against some object. If this does not succeed, pour water around the edge, and after a short time repeat the operation. All old pots should be clean, and if new ones are filed. A piece of broken vessel placed over the bottom hole will be fore filling in the potting earth. All the necessary pots, soil, etc., should be obtained now, that they may be at hand when needed at any time during the winter.

"It is curing everybody," writes a druggist. "Kidney-Wort is the most popular medicine we sell." It should be by right, for no other medicine has such specific action on the liver, bowels and kidneys. If you have those symptoms which indicate biliousness or deranged kidneys do not fail to procure and use it faithfully. In liquid or dry form it is sold by all druggists.—Salt Lake City Tribune.

SAUER KRAUT.—The best we ever ate we made ourselves for many years, and for a considerable time with our own hands, and always from Savoy cabbage. It was manufactured in this wise: In the first place let your "stand," holding from a half barrel to a barrel, be thoroughly scalded out; the cutter, the tub and the stamper also well scalded. Take off all the outer leaves of the cabbage, halve them, remove the heart and proceed with the cutting. Lay some clean leaves at the bottom of the stand, sprinkle with a handful of salt, fill in half a bushel of cut cabbage, stamp gently until the juice just makes its appearance, then add another handful of salt and so on until the stand is full. Cover over with cabbage leaves, place on top a clean broad fitting the space pretty well, and on top of that a stone weighing twelve or fifteen pounds. Stand away in a cool place, and when hard freezing comes on remove to the cellar. It will be ready for use in from four to six weeks. The cabbage should be cut tolerably coarse. The Savoy variety makes the best article, but it is only half as productive as the Drumhead and Flat Dutch.

Gentlemen—Your Hop Bitters have been of great value to me. I was laid up with typhoid fever for over two months and could get no relief until I tried your Hop Bitters. To those suffering from debility or any one in feeble health, I cordially recommend them. L. C. STOKTZEL, 683 Fulton St., Chicago, Ill.

In scouring tin ware, zinc or copper vessels, use a little kerosene or bath brick pulverized, and lime. Wash the vessel in hot water and polish with common whiting. To clean the mirrors or plate glass windows, wash them with a damp sponge saturated with spirits, and afterward dust with whiting, tied in a bag made of thin muslin, and afterward polish with chamois cloth.

To preserve apples pack in boxes or barrels elevated from the cellar floor, with a layer of dry sawdust at the bottom of each box or barrel; then a layer of apples, placed out of contact with each other, then a layer of sawdust, and so on till all are full. Sound apples packed in this manner will keep fresh a long time.

CATARH OF THE BLADDER.—Stinging, smarting, irritation of the urinary passages, diseased discharges, cured by Buchu-pai. $1. at druggists. Prepaid by express, $1.25, 6 for $5. F. S. Wells, Jersey City, N. J.
