Sudden Death.

Mr. Frederick Culp, aged about eighty years, who had been residing in what is called "Battle town," was found dead on the bridge on West Patrick street, on Christmas morning. He is supposed to have been on his way to early Mass and died suddenly of heart disease.—Examiner.

That's What's the Matter!

"The old Man" has been as cross as a bear for a week past. No wonder that bread is heavy enough to kill an ostrich. Go right to Bussey's and get a package of "Dry Hop Yeast," it will cost you but 10 cents for one dozen cakes. Give the "Old Man" some light bread, and he will "smile again."

THE Frederick Citizen is again urging the removal of the iron fence around the Court Square. Hammer away at it Colonel, persistent knocks must bring it down, and you have the warm approval of every person of cultivated taste in the County. The age of such repellent fountains and such places has past. Give us a and tastefully ornamented park around the Hall of Justice, that the people as they visit its Courts may feel a just pride in its beauty and your citizens be privileged to enjoy at pleasure its cooling shade.

Public Sales.

Edward McIntire, Esq., Executor will offer, the House and lot of the late Mrs. Bussey at public sale in front of the Western Maryland Hotel, at one o'clock, p. m., to-day.

Next Saturday, (January 6th), Messrs. F. J. Nelson and C. V. S. Levy, Trustees, at the same place will offer, the Farm of James A. Orendorf, at one o'clock, p. m. See advertisement in another column and bills posted.

A Break Down.

On last Sunday morning as Mr. Daniel Sless and his aunt, Miss Maggie Seiss, were driving home from this place, where they had been to church, having reached the gateway at St. Joseph's Academy, the spindle of the buggy broke, and its occupants were thrown out. Mr. Sless fortunately escaped with but slight injury, but Miss Seiss had her shoulder dislocated. We are pleased to learn, however, that she is recovering.

"The American Farmer."

The number for December 15 of this time-honored Farm Journal is filled with interesting and practical matter, contributed by the hands of experienced and capable cultivators. No department of farm work or farm life is neglected and its contributors all rank high in their special branches. For the ladies there is a Home Department filled with choice reading. The FARMER has been in the hands of its present management for nearly forty years, and the needs of the agricultural community are thoroughly understood and ministered to. The FARMER is published twice a month, and is clearly printed on fine white paper. The subscription price is $1.50 a year, or $1 to clubs of five or over. A liberal list of premiums offered to get-up-of clubs.

OVER FULL.

We much regretted to learn of an untimely death of drunkenness and disorder on our streets on Christmas day. In the afternoon some of the more disorderly element went into the back alley, when a general outbreak took place between several colored parties. In the difficulty one man had both hands badly cut with a knife, when Constable Ashbaugh appeared on the ground, and deeming it necessary to preserve the peace, made an arrest, but meeting with opposition in the discharge of his duty he called for assistance, and two colored men were arrested and after a most desperate resistance were taken to the office of Justice Stokes, but they not being in a condition for trial, were put in the lock-up until late in the evening when they were taken before the same justice who, upon hearing the case imposed a fine and costs of $4.50 on each which was paid and they were discharged with some wholesome advice for their future conduct we hope this will be a warning to others as several other parties lately paid well for the fun of making a display their disorderly propensities on the streets.

Sad Death.

Among the sad deaths that have taken place in Waynesboro within the past few years among the younger class none have caused more universal regret and sorrow than the demise of Mr. Alfred Grove, which happened at the residence of his father on church street, on Tuesday afternoon of last week after an illness of several weeks of typhoid fever. The deceased was a young man of a fine social qualities, of a cheerful disposition, and of excellent habits, and as a consequence had many friends and admirers. As a son, he was a noble, devoted and dutiful one, and his loss has left a distressing vacancy in the once happy and contented family. He was employed by Frick & Co. as a machinist, and last summer had charge of the Eclipse Traction engine at the great fairs in the west. He was a good, steady workman and enjoyed the confidence of his employers to the fullest extent. His remains were interred in Green Hill Cemetery on Thursday afternoon, having first been taken to St. Paul's Reformed Church, where services were held, the pastor, Rev. I. M. Motter, taking the text from St. John 4:27—"What I do thou knowest not now, but shalt know hereafter."

The sermon was able, thoughtful and beautiful one and made many impressions. Deceased was aged 25 years, 9 months and 8 days.—Keynote Gazette.

Electric Magazine

The January number of the Electric begins a new volume, and has as a frontispiece a finely-executed steel engraving, entitled "The Wedding-Day."

There are two short stories. "The Story of James Barker: a Tale of the Congo Coast," and "The Undergraduate's Aunt," by F. Anstey, author of Vice Versa. Other readable and valued articles are: "The Menacing Comet," by Richard A. Proctor; "Some Aspects of American Public Life," by James Broke; "Modern Miracles," by Richard F. Clarke, of the Society of Jesus; "Two Years After," by Joseph Truman; "Miss Edgeworth," "Shakespeare on Death," "Our Oriffin as a Species," by Richard Owen, C. B. F. R. S.; "Sketches from the Dutch Soudaie," "Rosebushes in Literature," "Mrs. Kemble's Reminiscences," "Atoms, Molecules, and Ether Waves," by Professor Tyndall; "Shooting Niagara Falls," a strange story; "European Life in Egypt," &c. &c.

Those of our readers who wish a magazine to instruct them, and who desire to keep pace with the current literature of the world cannot do better than subscribe to this periodical with the commencement of the new volume which this number begins. The Electric and any $4 monthly will be sent for the year for $3, and this alone will furnish the average reader with a fair supply of periodical reading.

Published by E. R. PELTON, 25 Bond Street, New York. Terms, $5 per year; single copy 40 cents; Trial subscription for three months, $1.

A Farmer's Misfortune.

Hugh M. Appier, a resident of Two Taverns, Adams county, Pa., while on his way to Baltimore on Wednesday, of last week, halted for the night at the Eight-mile House on the Hookstown road. He had his team put in the stable, leaving his wagon in front of the hotel. Having occasion later in the night to go to his wagon Mr. Appier found that its entire contents had been stolen. There were forty-five turkeys, nine geese, several rabbits and some other poultry missing, together with a lantern, and other articles valued in all at $110. The gentleman went into the city the next morning and reported his loss at the North-western police station and subsequently Sergeant Schultz and officer Lafferty arrested Harry Richardson on Patterson avenue near his home, and he was locked up charged with the theft. At a hearing before Justice Hamilton it was shown that he had been out of town on Wednesday with a horse and wagon for the especial purpose, the police surmise of committing depredations. Richardson tried to fix the crime on John T. Barnes, colored, but the latter proved an alibi, and Richardson was held for the action of the Baltimore-county authorities. He has been in the penitentiary twice. The stolen things were not recovered.

Suspension of the "Evening Review."

Tuesday of last week saw the termination of Waynesboro's daily paper to the regret of all, under what may be said peculiar circumstances. In the Review of that date appeared the following rather mysterious notice:

CLOSED.

"With this, the 11th inst., the Review closes under its present management. We extend our heartfelt thanks to those who aided and encouraged us in the enterprise, and wish them all the success imaginable."

At first many people were inclined to the belief that a joke had been perpetrated upon the publishers, whilst others thought from the tone of the above, that the office had changed hands; but the dawn of another day developed the fact that the paper had not only succumbed to financial pressure but that its publishers had suddenly and mysteriously disappeared from our midst, without a word of warning to any one, not even to their employees, and the last heard of them was that they had flown westward. This sudden move was a great surprise to our citizens, and much more so when it was found that they had left certain matters in very bad shape. A day or so after their departure the Sheriff put in an appearance and levied on the office in the interest of Court and others. We are sorry for the young men, as they displayed much enterprise in the publishing of the daily, and whilst residents of Waynesboro acted in such a manner as to win the confidence and admiration of all.—Keynote Gazette.

The Secret Out At Last

It has long been a source of wonder, as to why Courtney failed to meet Hanlan in a cutting contest. The general explanatory argument was, that he feared the little Canadian. This opinion, however, is exploded by the authentic announcement, that on the days fixed for the race, Courtney was unable to sit in his shell, on account of the intense itching and soreness caused by the flies. Having recovered through the use of Swayne's Ointment, he now announces that he will row Hanlan any time this Summer.

Christmas Entertainment at Rocky Hill Bridge.

A Christmas Entertainment was given on Christmas morning in the Mt. Taber German Reformed and Lutheran Church at Rocky Ridge, by the Sunday School of the two denominations. This church was built in 1874 by these two congregations, and to visit their services reminds one of what history teaches of the old Puritan style of worship—their hearts and souls appear to be in accord, for the success of the Little Stone Church in the woods among the rocks.

The programme for the morning commenced with singing "Ring the Bells for Christmas," the creed was recited by the school, led by Rev. Mr. Wire the Lutheran minister, after which he delivered a short and impressive prayer; "How children may worship," each one giving an appropriate way of serving the Saviour; "Children's Choice," and the "Infant class" responses to queries by the Superintendent were well given, and repaid labor spent in training; "Watch in all things," and "Anxious Enquirer," were both well handled and of vast information to seekers after truth. Rev. Mr. Wire delivered a short address, after which he presented Mr. Charles Valentine, organist for the Lutheran congregation, and Miss Fannie Barrick, organist for the German Reformed congregation, with a handsome sum of money each, as a token of appreciation by the two congregations for their services during the past year.

Instead of presenting the children with candy, as has been the practice heretofore, they adopted a much better idea, and gave each member of the Sunday School a book.

NOTICE.

An opportunity is now offered to those seeking a safe and profitable investment in a business fully established. Owing to an unprecedented demand for our machinery in the past, and encouraged by the present prospects for the future, it is deemed necessary to further increase our manufacturing capacity, and fill in regular order, if possible, the demands for our machinery; we therefore offer a limited amount of stock for sale at par.

The business was paid out to stockholders in dividends an average of 12 per cent. per annum since it was established in 1859, the two last paying the heaviest.

We have not been able with our present capacity to fill all the orders we receive for engines and saw mills in the year just closing, and it is this fact which renders this step necessary.

The Books for subscription will be opened Nov. 23, 1882, at the office of the Company in Waynesboro. The par value is one hundred dollars per share. Terms: One-half to be paid in cash January 1, 1883, balance by note with approved security; due April 1, 1883.

For further information call at the office, or address, THE GEISER MFG. Co., Waynesboro, Pa. t april 1.

Wm. G. Osgoodby, the well-known safe manufacturer of Buffalo, Philadelphia, Pittsburg, Newark, and Atlanta, Ga., says:

OFFICE OF OSGOODBY'S IMPROVED SAFES 17 S. Broad Street, ATLANTA, GA., Oct. 17th, 1881.

Dr. Rush's Medical Association:

DEAR DOCTORS—The three bottles of "Dr. Rush's Regulator" I ordered were received by express last week. I have taken nearly one bottle and am thoroughly satisfied with the result. For over two years I have been troubled with sharp pain at my heart. My physician, upon examination, pronounced it enlargement of the heart, and was unable to give me any relief. The trouble grew worse, until I had become convinced that I could not be cured. While in New York City, last week I called on one of the most prominent physicians there, who charged me $25 for an examination and then recommended your "Regulator." Knowing you to be a regular Medical Association, and not a patent medicine scheme, I ordered the three bottles. I have not been troubled since I commenced taking it
