Last week, after some explanatory reasons of our position on the Monument question, we remarked in effect that the Examiner, true to its instincts endeavoured to give a party aspect to the subject. Passing over those explanations, that paper of this week is greatly exercised over our remark in the succeeding paragraph, 'The reader will notice the ambiguity of the phraseology." The whole sentence read : "It (the Examiner) charges in effect that 'Democratic agencies oppose our movement to have erected in the Court House Square, a Monu. ment to the dead Union Soldies of Frederick County.' The reader will notice the ambiguity of the phrase-That reference to "the reader" has had the effect to cause the astute Editor "to call to our assistance a number of eminent Professors, who hold the diplomas of several of the Republics's most distinguished In stitutions of learning, but each and every one failed to notice the ambiguity." What a happy position that must be, when an editor can thus surround himself with light and knowledge in living forms! But the outcome only confirms the adage that "great men are not always wise." What is the Examiner driv ing at? Is its object the patriotic one of erecting a monument to the dead Union Soldiers? or to have such a monument erected on the Court House Square & "in the center of the square, with the Temple of gods | behold ! Does it really wish to perpetuate the memory of the glorious dead in a place that may finally be adjudged appropriate to the sacredness of the subject, or is its aim in defiance of all rules of Art in the surroundings, to place it right there, on that square, for reasons of its own, and in mere arbitrary self-will? > I hear rumors of an enterprise that in breadth and biguess is the largest thing in this decade. It is a plan to get out of the grip of the United States thirteen millions of dollars, with the accumulated interest for nearly twenty years. When the Hon. William E. Chandler was Assistant Secretary of the Treasury he organized the Cotton bureau. In it was deposited the money received for cotton taken from private individuals and sold by Government agents. This money belongs to many persons and a few corporations in the south. It was the intention of Mr. Chase to hold this money in trust for the person to whom the cotton belonged, but for some years nobody has been able to obtain a dollar. The largest amount ever recovered from the Government by any individual was $600,000, which the estate of Charles Lamar, of Georgia, got by employing General B. F. Butler and ex-Attorney General Williams. Boutwell could not resist the persuasive powers of these two emment men, and so he gave up the amount mentioned. The fee was $50,000 to each attorney. The new combination with its guns aimed at this fund has, I hear, brains, courage, and money behind it. So perhaps it may win. It will play

Hear What the Deaf Say

It has performed a miracle in my case. I have no unearthly noises in my head and hear much better.

I have been greatly benefited.
My deafness helped a great deal—think another bottle will cure me.
My hearing is much benefited.
I have received untold benefit.
My hearing is improving.
It is giving good satisfaction.
Have been greatly benefited, and am rejoiced that I saw the notice of it.

"Its virtues are unquestionable and its curative character absolute, as the writer can personally testify, both from experience and observation. Write at once to Haylock & Jenney, 7 Dey Street, New Yark, enclosing $1.00, and you will receive by return 2 remedy that will enable you to hear like any body-else, and whose curative effects will be permanent. You will never regret doing so."—Editor of Merchantile Review.
