

DROPPING A "T".

For some time past, our Post Office stamp has given the name of this village with the spelling as it was originally, and as the founder of the place spelled his name. It is no more right to put two 't's in Emmitsburg than to put two 's's in Baltimore, or two 'd's in Frederick, simply because it does not conform to the derivations of the names. When we began the publication of this journal and became in a manner representative of our native village, wishing its name to occupy a conspicuous place in the enterprise, intended to promote its interests, it became our duty to be sure we were right at all points, and thus having consulted records signed by Samuel Emmitt, Esq., the founder of the town, truth and literary integrity compelled us to conform to the mode practiced by him in the case. Names are so abominably the property of those who bear them, that they can only be changed by legislative action, not by the whims or arbitrariness of men. Our course reflected on no one, and did not interfere with any one's liberty. But knowing the right, we could not pursue it, or be chargeable with falsehood. It is therefore gratifying to see an authoritative return in this matter, to the normal state of things, and a few lines, respectfully addressed to the Post Office department we believe effected the change.

SWEEP OVER A WATERFALL.

HELENA, MONT., June 10.—On Sunday afternoon, while the ferryboat at Thompson's Falls was crossing the river, the cable broke and the boat went over the falls 300 yards below. The boat had eleven men aboard for Coeur d'Alene mines and thirteen pack-horses, each carrying 300 pounds of supplies for Eagle City. The current was very swift and powerful. As soon as the cable broke all the passengers except two jumped overboard and struggled vainly to reach the shore, but were swept over the falls.

The boat righted after going over the brink and lodged against Balknap Bridge a short distance below, where the two passengers who still clung to it were rescued, and two men on shore took a skiff and tried to rescue those who had jumped into the water, but were also swept over the falls. Of the thirteen men concerned eleven were lost. All were strangers going to the mines and their names are not known. All the pack animals were drowned.

GOVERNOR CLEVELAND, of New York has just signed a very important bill to life insurance companies which will effect an important change in the contracts with policy holders. It provides that "suicide of the person whose life shall have been insured shall not be a defense to an action upon any policy hereafter issued in this state, where the person whose life shall have been insured was insane when the act causing death was committed, anything in the policy to the contrary notwithstanding." This practically excludes suicide from the category of lawful grounds upon which the payment of life insurance may be resisted, since suicide is generally regarded as in itself an indication of mental aberration. The cases in which it could be reasonably supposed that a sane man would kill himself are extremely rare.

The death of Henry G. Vennor, the weather prophet, is to be regretted. He was not a crank like Wiggins or De Voe, but an enthusiastic scientist, who made natural phenomena his study. Sometimes he erred in his deductions, and his predictions consequently came to naught but so does the signal service, and it is safe to say that many of his observations were of value to the country. He was also a trained geologist and ornithologist, and had not been cut off at such an early age, would undoubtedly yet have been favorably heard of in the scientific world.—The Day.

BECAUSE of a terrible storm at Springfield, Vt., Monday, the creek rose so suddenly that people were compelled to abandon their goods and flee for their lives. One man was killed and a woman fatally injured. Loss, $50,000.

Among the singular developments of the times appear the suggestions from disaffected Republicans, as to whom the Democrats should nominate for President.

WASHINGTON LETTER.

[From our Regular Correspondent.]

WASHINGTON, D. C., June 10, 1884. To that portion of the grand old party who have been accustomed to a crowd diet, the nomination of Blaine and Logan affords a delightful repast of the favorite dish. Even the Massachusetts fellows who are swayed by the great horned spook that they cannot go Blaine, are beginning to anticipate the possibilities of Ben Butler as the Bourbon candidate, and ask themselves where they can go, if they cannot eat crow? Yes, they will all eventually swallow Blaine with the Mulligan letters and Little Rock bonds as relishes, because they know that the man who can overcome such odds as Blaine did at Chicago, with simply a whoop with no barrel, can accomplish mighty things with a whoop that has a barrel accompaniment. The high-toned and top shelf philosophers like George William Curtis and his brother man milliners Schurz, Roosevelt and company, will either wheel into line or profit by the example of Trumbull, Poolittle, Palmer and the rest of them, who in the turbulent sea of Republican politics have never been permitted to get their noses above water.

"Johnny," said Mrs. Logan to her husband, when the latter hesitated about taking second place on the ticket, "Johnny, stick; there are lots of Guineas around Washington yet." And Johnny stuck. And it beats all to think of the number of available points that these two particular candidates have developed. For instance, Blaine has to go back but two generations to run against an Irish progenitor, while his own mother was a Roman Catholic, and he himself born and reared in that faith. That he has since espoused the doctrines of the Congregationalists, is no business of ours. Logan's father seems to have been an Irishman of the "r. le ould shock," and his accomplished wife had the unmistakable Celtic proclivities that comes of the Cunninghams. Therefore, between the two of them, it is evident that they have got the deadwood upon the even to be envied Irish vote, unless the two candidates of the Democracy should happen to come cavorting on the track with better pedigrees.

The June roses have come and wilted, and Congress is yet in session. Not until a few of the corpulent members melt down into their boots, will these fellows get ready to go home. The excuse for failing to accomplish anything in the way of business in a short session, might as well be duplicated for a long session, as little beside President-making is ever done! The weeks that have been thrown away upon the Tariff bill, the Fitz John Porter case and other measures that had no earthly significance or public importance, is really and absolutely a criminal waste of public money. All over the country the Federal courts have been compelled to suspend business for want of the necessary appropriations out of which to pay the fees of jurors, witnesses, &c., while the best part of the year for work in the improvement of the rivers and harbors of the country will have passed long before the new appropriations for that purpose can be made available.

The House is now engaged in the discussion of the bill repealing the Preemption and Timber Culture laws—two measures that have developed more fraud and downright rascality than any others ever adopted by Congress that were intended to benefit the people. Out of the Preemption law has grown an abuse that has turned over millions upon millions of acres of the public domain to foreign and domestic land-grabbers and speculators, and the reports of the special agents who have been sent out to investigate, comprise a chapter of the grossest and most infamous instances of frauds that history has yet furnished. The continuance of this law with the possibilities of crime that its loose provisions engender, means simply the speedy obliteration of our entire public land system. Of course the lobby is on hand to defeat the proposed repeal, and a few of the Members in the interest of the land grabbers are making every effort to postpone action upon it, but I am glad to say that the majority of the Senate, are in just the right temper to cut out this gigantic land robbery root and branch. Don Pedro.

The London Graphic tells the remarkable story that there is living in Kiyeta, Japan, a family all of whose members have reached the age of one hundred years, and there have been no deaths since the family was founded. A. D. 730.

THE REPUBLICAN NOMINATIONS.

Whilst the nominations of the Chicago Republican Convention have been hailed with great enthusiasm, in the ranks of the party, there is nevertheless a great body of reformers and Independents that has entered upon an active course of opposition even before the opposing party has had time to express itself. The campaign promises to proceed on an enthusiastic basis and may prove quite bitter in its developments.

A Destructive water spout that attended a storm on the Cumberland valley railroad on Tuesday, washed away a high embankment of made ground, just after the train had passed over it, so that the passengers in the rear car saw the downfall of the telegraph poles and the carrying away of half a mile of rails, ties, &c. The water spout was about half a mile wide and did great damage to the grain, buildings and fences.

MR. SAMUEL J. TILDEN under date of June 10th wrote a letter to the Chairman of the New York Democratic state central committee, declining a renomination for the presidency. No better evidence of his fitness for the place could be needed, than his letter of declination, which want of space compels us to omit from our columns.

A CONCURRENT resolution was reported in Congress on Tuesday for the final adjournment of the present Congress on the 30th inst.

READING, PA., June 12.—Hon. Hester Clymer died this morning, aged 57 years. He was prostrated by a stroke of apoplexy at 8 o'clock last evening at his residence on Perkins avenue, and at once became insensible. Doctors were summoned and did all in their power for the relief of their patient, but he remained in a comatose state until this morning at 7 o'clock, when he died without uttering a word. Mr. Clymer had been in his usual health yesterday, and there were no preliminary symptoms of the attack.

GEN. ABE BUFORD of Kentucky committed suicide at the residence of his nephew, Benjamin E. Buford, in Danville, Ind. He retired to his room just after breakfast and had been there a short time only when the report of a revolver was heard, and he was found in a dying condition, having shot himself in the head. He died without a struggle. Two statements were found, one, saying that financial misfortune, the death of his family, and the troubles of his brother, Tom Buford, who killed Judge Elliot, were the causes of the act. His remains will be sent to Lexington, as requested by him.

JOHN and Chas. Kennedy, two laborers of Louisville, Ky., have received word that they have fallen heirs to about $2,000,000 by the recent death of an uncle in Australia. The uncle formerly lived in Louisville, but he suddenly left the city one day and for about thirty years was not heard from.

A Welcome Shower.

After several days of continued high temperature, we had a fine shower of rain on Tuesday night, and the sun hid himself behind the clouds all of Wednesday, which proved one of those days whence all nature seems glad; a genial temperature in which all occupations may be prosecuted with pleasure, and in which the vegetable kingdom continues its growth almost visibly.

To Cure Toothache.

A correspondent of the London Electrician gives the following as an instant remedy for toothache: With a small bit of zinc and a bit of silver, (any silver coin will do) the zinc placed on one side of the afflicted gum and the silver coin on the other, by bringing the edges together, the small current of electricity generated immediately and painlessly stops the toothache.

The Daily News of Frederick asserts that "The Weekly Times was the first paper in the city to announce Blaine's nomination, and in all probability the first in the state." The EMMITSBURG CHRONICLE of Saturday last disputes the claim, for all it is worth. As soon as the telegraph reported the fact, it was announced to us by the telephone, and being set up was printed in the edition that was run off on Friday evening.

Went a Fishing.

A party of young men from this place went a fishing on Monday afternoon, and they were so captivated by the sport that they kept it up into the X hours of the night, our genial, and popular assistant foreman reports, that a bass leaped into the boat in which he operated and was secured. The party had abundant amusement, fisherman's luck, but not having remembered the Printer, this paragraph ends right here.

This time of the college commencement has returned, some newspapers regardless of the proprieties of language, dignify every exhibition of the schools with the term commencement, we have therefore shown the impropriety of the word as thus used. It applies only to such literary institutions as are authorized by law to confer degrees. St. Joseph's Academy of this place, distributes premiums to its deserving pupils, it does not confer degrees, and therefore has no commencement, but calls its public exercises that close the scholastic year, a Distribution.

Two Ladies Floral Cabinet, for June, will be found full of instructive hints for the cultivation of both garden and window plants. The descriptions of some new varieties of flowers, as well as improvements in old well-known favorites are prominent features in this number, which cannot fail to commend it to all who are interested in the cultivation of flowers or the decoration of the grounds surrounding their homes. As the literary contents of the Floral Cabinet are always attractive, we welcome it among our most appreciated periodical publications. Ladies Floral Cabinet, Co., No. 22, Vesey St., New York.

THE American Farmer for June will be found very pleasant as well as instructive reading in the country household, and farm labour both for men and women, cannot fail to become more interesting and less burdensome if elevated and refined by the influences which this, and kindred agricultural publications are calculated to throw around country life, both indoors and out. Every question of importance in the management of farm, orchard, garden, stock, poultry, dairy and domestic economy, is fairly and intelligently discussed in the pages of the American Farmer, and the best results of every experiment in the management of the rural affairs are presented to the reader in an attractive and intelligible form.

REAP the advertisement of the Baltimore American in this issue. Established in 1773 the course of the journal has been continually advancing with the progress of the metropolis of Maryland influential in the settlement of the current of public opinion, on the questions of the day, it can be relied upon for its statements of facts, and for conveying correct accounts of the news of the day cannot be surpassed. Republican in politics, it is yet disposed to give the opposition party a fair hearing. It thus maintains its position as an exponent of its party without descending to the bitterness of a contracted partizan. As part of our daily reading, its presence is indispensable to us.

From the Gettysburg Compiler.

Col. Cyrus Dittler, a well-known and public-spirited citizen of Hanover, died on Friday night, and was buried Sunday afternoon. The funeral embraced Majors, Odd Fellows, Grand Army Post, and people of the town and neighborhood, the procession covering a mile. His great weight required ten bearers.

RED LAND, June 6.—Whilst Mr. John A. Lohr and his niece, Mary Lohr, of this place, were on their way to Johns, ville, in Carroll county, Md., to visit friends, on Friday last, and whilst in the act of crossing the iron bridge over Big Pipe creek, near Buffington's mill, and when about the middle of the bridge, the house became frightened from some cause or other, and backed the buggy over the wing wall, it being nearly 20 feet to the bottom. Mr. Lohr and niece jumped from the buggy and escaped without any serious injury. Several men at work in a field came to the assistance of Mr. Lohr, the horse holding the buggy suspended in the meantime. They fastened the lines to the buggy shafts and cut the horse loose, leaving the buggy to the bottom. There was nothing broken and the horse escaped with slight scratches.

On Friday evening week, during a heavy thunder shower, the barn of Peter Butler, (colored) of Meallan township, was struck by lightning and entirely consumed, together with 100 bushels of corn about 3 tons of hay, a buggy, a spring wagon, gears, &c. The horses were gotten out safely and the cows were out in the yard at the time. Butler and his daughter, who were working in the barn, were severely shocked.—Item.

Economy that Obscures Knowledge.

The County Commissioners are keeping up their economic ideas of keeping the rural press at the back door. They send out printed slips to the Post Office for proposals for supplies for their official needs. This gives work to the Frederick printers, more or less, and promotes their monopolizing tendencies and makes sure that Frederick dealers will get the contracts. If it were desired to give a fair competition, the proposals would be put under the noses of persons likely to propose; this implies the use of the newspapers. We advocate economy, let us have it all around. But to withhold more than is meet, as Solomon said, "tendeth to poverty." As conservators of the peace and advisors in many things to the people, the papers are worth to the tax-payers manifold more than they receive.

State Teachers Association.

The annual meeting of the Maryland State Teachers Association will be held at Gees City, Maryland, on Wednesday Thursday and Friday, the 9th, 10th and 11th of July. The privileges of reduced rates of travel and of board can be had on presentation of tickets of membership, which can be obtained by teachers for themselves and friends, from the several county ex-ministers or officers of the Association, on payment of fifty cents for each ticket. Any desired information can be obtained by addressing D. T. Lakia, Esq., the County Examiner, at Frederick.

An Old Recipe.

A few weeks ago as some workmen were cleaning out the floor of a barn belonging to Wm. M. Eckenrode, in Adams county, a dirty piece of metal was discovered, which, when cleaned, proved to be a button of much historical interest. It is about as large as an old fashioned copper cent. In the center is the monogram "G. W." surrounded by a circle bearing the legend "Long live the President." On the outside edge is engraved a chain, inscribed upon each link of which is the initial letter of one of the thirteen original States. The button is one of the very few remaining which was worn by the first President of the Republic. The supposition is that some time during the dark days of the Revolution that he who was first in the hearts of his countrymen slept in Mr. Eckenrode's barn.—Hanover Citizen.

Tenth Anniversary.

On Sunday morning last, Rev. Dr. E. R. Eschbach, of the Evangelical Reform Church, of this city, preached his tenth anniversary sermon. The attendance upon the occasion was large, and the congregation well pleased with the sermon. During the ten years he baptized 384; confirmed 306; officiated at funerals 805; marriages 164; sermons preached, 1103; lectures and addresses delivered, 1187; pastoral calls, 5,767. Amount contributed for general benevolence, outside of congregation, $13,056.86; current expenses, $41,755.70, making a total of $54,812.56; communicants at present time 576. The improvements made during that period were as follows: In 1875 a monument was erected over the grave of Rev. Dr. Zacharias, former pastor of the church; the granite steps and railing in front of the church were repaired and a skylight placed in the dome. In 1876 the church was refurnished, repainted and a new carpet put in as also the present fine organ. In 1878 a new and extensive Sunday School library was purchased and extensive repairs made to both church and parsonage. In 1879 the steeple was repaired and repainted, and in 1880 the present fine chapel was built.—Examiner.

From the Valley Register.

About 9 o'clock last Sunday morning, Miss Eliza Shaffer, daughter of Mr. John R. Shaffer, residing about two miles south of town, had the misfortune to break the larger bone of her left wrist. In company with other members of Mr. Shaffer's family, Miss Eliza had come to town to attend church, and just as she was about to alight from the carriage at the residence of Mr. Peter Shaffer, in this place, the horse started forward, and she was thrown to the ground with the above result. She was assisted into Mr. Shaffer's house, where Dr. Beatty attended her and adjusted the fracture.

This week again we are called upon to record the death of still another aged resident of the upper part of the valley. Mr. Daniel Wolf, a highly esteemed citizen, who was widely known to the farmers of this and Washington counties, and greatly respected by all such acquaintances, died at his residence, near Highland, on Friday last, aged 76 years. Mr. Wolf's death resulted from Bright's disease, after an illness of several weeks. His remains were interred on Sunday at the German Baptist Church, near his residence, and the funeral services were attended by a large number of persons. By the death of this gentleman, Thos. Kretzger, loses a kind friend and a good patron.

Hagerstown Female Seminary.

Wednesday was truly delightful summer's day and the streets of Hagerstown were enlivened by the presence of an unusual number of young ladies and their friends and attendants, drawn together by the Commencement Exercises of the Hagerstown Female Seminary, at the Academy of Music. Under the management of the Rev. C. L. Keely, this institution has had a wonderful growth and is one of those establishments which add so much to the attractiveness of our place. Gadrill, Clearspring, this county; Miss Lillie B. Palmestock, Gettysburg, Pa.; Miss Carrie J. Shaffer, Grafton, W. Va.; Miss Emily S. Collier, Washington City, D. C.; Miss Cora Wade, Boonsboro, this county; Miss Mamie Delk, Philadelphia, Pa.; Miss Julia Bell, Smithsburg, this county; Miss Mattie Fierly, Altoona, Pa.; Miss Annie Wampole, Freeburg, Pa.; Miss Julia Vinger, Hagerstown, Md.; Miss Aggie Zufall, Myersdale, Pa.; Miss Emma Campbell, Capon Roads, Va.; Miss Lizzie Hoffman, Hagerstown, Md.; Miss Florida Hauger, Aldie, Va.; Miss Elma Stickle, Strasburg, Va.

The Death of Peter Negley.

HAGERSTOWN, June 7.—Mr. Peter Negley died very suddenly at his residence on Prospect street this evening about 5 o'clock of heart disease. Mr. Negley was in his usual health to-day, and about 3 o'clock went down street for his paper, returned home and went to his room. A short while afterwards a servant went into the room to tell him to go to market, and found him in his chair with his spectacles on, his paper in his lap and his head thrown back, with his mouth open. The servant ran out for a doctor, but when he arrived Mr. Negley had expired.

Mr. Negley, although by birth a Pennsylvanian, has resided nearly all his life in Washington county. He was born August 29, 1818, at Welsh Run, Franklin county, Pa. He was educated at Marshall College, and graduated there in 1844. In that year he began the study of law with James Dixon Roman, of Hagerstown, and in 1848 was admitted to the bar. In 1851 he was the Whig candidate for prosecuting attorney against Thomas Harbino, Democrat, by whom he was defeated by 137 votes. In 1852 he was appointed treasurer of the Hagerstown Savings Institution, and in 1854 it was chartered as a state bank and he was chosen its cashier. In 1864 he was chosen a Republican member of the State Constitutional Convention. In 1866 Mr. Negley purchased a half interest in the Herald and Torchlight newspaper, and became one of its editors. He afterwards became owner of the paper, and a few years ago sold it to James McDowell, who afterwards sold it to John M. Mentzer, of the Old Folio. In June, 1870, when the United States depository at Baltimore was made a sub-treasury, Mr. Negley was appointed by President Grant assistant treasurer in charge, which position he held for twelve years, when he was succeeded by F. M. Darby. During 1878 and 1880 he was president of the Hagerstown Agricultural Implement Manufacturing Company. Mr. Negley was twice married. His first wife was Miss Laura Rickenbaugh, daughter of Martin Rickenbaugh, of Washington county, by whom he had three sons and one daughter, all of whom survive. In 1859 his first wife died, and in October, 1861, he married, at Cambridge, Mass., Mrs. Brooks, a native of Massachusetts, which state she left for a short time ago on a visit.—Baltimore American.

From the Baltimore Sun.

HAGERSTOWN, June 10.—The funeral of Peter Negley, late assistant United States treasurer at Baltimore, took place this afternoon. The pall bearers were ex-Gov. W. T. Hamilton, Judges R. H. Alvey, and A. K. Syester, T. E. Mittag, Geo. W. Smith, H. H. Keely, Wm. Updegraff, and John W. Stonebraker.

It is expected that an amicable adjustment will be made of the difficulties existing with reference to the crossing of the streets of Hagerstown with the track of the extension of the Western Maryland Railroad to its junction with the Baltimore and Ohio Road. The Western Maryland Company has agreed to place gates and a flagman at the junction of Prospect and Johnathan streets, which gives satisfaction to a majority of those interested in the matter.

Commencement.

We have been requested to state that the annual Commencement of Mt. St. Mary's College, and of St. Joseph's Academy, Emmitsburg, Md., will take place, this year, June 25th and 26th. We are pleased to learn that both these institutions—the one relieved from a load of debt, and the other with a new lease of life—will continue the work of higher education so happily begun by Bishop Dubois and Mother Seton. It may not be generally known that the Father General of the Sisters of Charity, deeming the work of academic instruction outside the intention of the founder of the sisterhood, St. Vincent de Paul, had decided to direct St. Joseph's Academy to be closed. He has, however, at the request of the Arch-bishop of Baltimore, revoked his decision, and this celebrated school for young ladies will still continue to receive pupils. May these two monuments of Father Dubois and Mother Seton be perpetual.
