FARMER BINGLE'S MUD-HOLE MISHAP.

BY JOHN BOSS.

You was wunst a boy, I reckon,
With your rigin' full o' vim,
And a pack o' nussin' fancies
Bustin' cl'ar above the brim;
Lookin' out fur any frolic,
Whoopin' everything fur fun,
Not a keenin' fur no likin'
Underneath the shinin' sun.

Wunst when I was such a shaver,
Dad he sent me off ter town
Far to git my Aunt Jerushy,
(Otherwise her name was Brown.)
Sez he: "Take the kittle wane;
An' the dapple trottin' mare;
An', in case yer aunt should want it,
Jist put in that willer chair."

So I started bright an' airy,
On a warmish Aperl morn,
Leavin' dad an' tother fellers
In the field a-plantin' corn.
I wa'n't sorry fur to miss it;
Don't suppose 'twas any needs
Feelin' sorry 'cause I had ter
Gin up plantin' punkin' seeds.

Aunt Jerush was thar' an' waitin',
With her bundles an' her wraps;
Can't see why these pesky wimmen
Hev ter hev so many traps.
She had satchels an' valises
An' ban'boxes by the score;
An' when I thought all was loaded,
Thar' laid half a dozen mo' e.

But we fin'ly got ter humpin'
Party well along toward home;
An' aunt's tongue it kep' a-rattlin'
Like a 'tarnal kittle-drum.
She could beat the world fur talkin',
This time Aunt Jerushy Brown;
She was wound up ter go forever;
Seemed she couldn't be run down.

You remember up ter Milles,
Thet old mud-hole in the road?
'Tallers was thar', allers will be.
Now ye see, I uther knowed
Aunt Jerush was summat' fraid like;
Still, she gabbed such a streak
Thet I 'lowed as how I'd skeer her,
Jist to make her tongue run weak.

So I started up a-trottin',
An' a-likin' of the mare,
Not a-thinkin' as we hadn't
Tied that plaguey willer chair.
Plunk! I struck thet orn'ary mudhole;
Then I heerd Aunt give a yell,
An' I turned an' see a sight, sir,
Thet no words o' mine can tell.

Thar' sot Aunt, a-yellin' fearful,
Right in thet 'ere mud an' wet;
Fur the chair had tumbled backwards,
An' she'd turned a summerset.
Oh! but she was jist a pictur'
Waiting patient to be framed,
An' a pictur' thet, correctly,
Aint no never could be named.

Mud, cl'ar from her heels to top-knot,
Then back down from head to heels;
Sneeizin' mud like all creation,
Spittin' mud between her squeals;
Mud a-drippin' from her fingers,
Sweatin' mud from every pore,
Mud a-coverin' her completely,
Both behind her an' before.

Sich another lookin' critter
Don't expect you ever see;
An' I hardly think you'd keer to Leastwise thet's the way with me;
Fur instead of its a-tightenin'
Anything about her tongue,
'T made it waggle more'n ever,
Like 'twas on a pivot hung.

An' she jawed me thar' hand runnin'
Fur a matter o' four mile;
With her pesky voice a-squarkin'
Like a old three-cornered file.
Why, she scolded till we druv up
By the gateway thar' to hum;
An' her 'tarnal gab an' clatter
Made me think my ead hed come.

So it hed, or was diskivered
By my old paternal dad,
Who made note ov his diskivery
With a limber hickory gad.
An' when Aunt Jerush was toted
Back to town I wasn't thar';
It was dad hisself, in person,
Rid behind the dapple mare.

THE PESITENT SNAKE OF INDIA.

PANHALA, India, April 21.—

One of the American magazines which came to Panhala not long ago contained a harrowing account of a row which took place in the close neighborhood of alligators and moccasin snakes. Alarming as such an incident must have been, it was really no more than a mere trifle compared to the experiences which people who live in this part of tropical India have to undergo almost daily.

In one Government district in India about 23,000 persons are reported as dying yearly from the bite of poisonous reptiles or the attack of savage beasts. Considering the perils with which one is beset here in Panhala, the wonder is that the number of deaths is not very much larger. Leopards and tigers are shot in the country around here,
and at times they prow around the dwellings of the people in the night

and sometimes try to effect an entrance. Poisonous reptiles are so numerous and so quick to improve every opportunity to enter the houses that no one can relax his watchfulness for a moment without being placed in danger of his life.
For instance, no one would think of getting into bed without first looking for what may be and frequently is coily ensconced between the cool sheets. No one would spring out of bed in the night without first striking a match, even though he be so brave that he poi-pools at the idea of keeping a night lamp burning. Even the bath is not a luxury entirely devoid of danger from one or more of these poisonous creatures. To-day a snake is found in one's shoe; to-morrow
in the bath sponge there is a scorpion. The next day a centipede is found under the flower-stand; and the next there is a scorpion in the novel one has been reading, or a snake on shelf or hidden away in one's napkin at dinner.

Not long since a friend from the coast related while visiting here a recent experience which is really not uncommon in this part of the world. One evening leaving the lamp in his dressing-room he stepped into an adjoining room in the dark. Noticing the peculiar odor, so like that of raw potatoes, which often indicates the presence of a snake, he called to his wife to bring a cane and a lamp. Knowing well what such a call means, she lost no time in providing the needed stick and light. There on the step over which he had just entered the room lay an immense cobra, enjoying the coolness of the place after a hot day on the plains. Mr. I.—had stepped directly over his majesty; and had it not been for the unmistakable odor which betrayed the snake he might not have lived to tell the tale. It is a fortunate fact that the cobra can readily be killed with a cane or club.

One Sunday afternoon while walking in his plantain garden, deeply engaged in thought, a gentleman here was not a little astonished to have a large snake spring from between his feet and glide into one of the small buildings attached to the place. It had been engaged in swallowing a toad and seemed as startled as the Sahib himself. The latter calling for help instituted a chase. It took some courage to enter this small room as it was not known to what species the reptile belonged. Armed with a new American axe and a bamboo cane,
the hunt progressed for a few moments, during which the snake sprang several times seemingly its full length into the air, making futile attempts to escape. The axe came off conqueror, and it was found to be a Dhaman, measuring seven feet seven inches in length.
This kind of snake has no fangs, belongs to the coluber order, and
'kills with its tail,' so the natives
say. It is known to be destructive to cattle, in the nostrils of which it insinuates its tail and then draws it forth with violent abrasion.

It is no strange sight to find in the morning a cast-off skin of some snake on the lattice which protects one's window, or twisted about over a bit of terrace wall or on one's pet rockery, which, by the by, is a most dangerous form of a flower-garden,
as it affords shelter for snakes,
lizards, centipedes and scorpions innumerable. A few days ago I found one of these sloughs of a cobra, seven feet in length, but I presume it was no longer for being empty, for while it is common to hear of a five-foot cobra, one seldom hears of one as long as six feet.

Not many days have passed since the following occurred: One stormy evening a door being heard to slam
one of our family went in the dark to close it. This time, not from any odor but from a feeling the indistinct taught by experience, our friend stopped with one foot raised, and called for a light. The light was brought (for we do not have gas) and revealed a green, triangular headed viper, just ready to strike with its ivory white fangs, which at the time seemed immensely long. The reptile was struck down at once and held firmly with one stick until a second one could be brought. Meanwhile the deadly but still pretty creature was writing about the cane which held it, biting and tearing its own flesh.

The strange fact which Dr. Weir Mitchell made known to the world
in 1868, that a poisonous "snake cannot poison itself," is no less strange because true.

One evening sending a servant to hunt for a pair of missing scissors, we were not much surprised to have him soon run in breathlessly saying —"Come Sahib! A snake, a snake!" On investigation we found that in looking in a corner for the missing article, instead of seeing the looked for scissors he saw the bright bead-like eyes of a snake called Ratra (night) looking into his. It is a pretty snake, being of a seal brown color on the back crossed by crescent bands of white, while the belly is a beautiful red. The name may not seem definite, but is given to it by the natives, who say it is found at night, hence the name. It was only the next day that the baby of the house was found amusing itself by rolling a jack fruit back and forth over a Ratra which was close to its feet.

These are possessed of fangs, so of course are not harmless. A few nights later, just as I was about to step into bed, something told me
not to move my raised foot, so carefully reaching for the lamp and looking under my foot there I beheld a great scorpion, which after death measured five inches as one would lie or stand at ease if alive.

One night after supper as the butler removed a child's tray there was disclosed to view a wicked, little scorpion underneath which might have inflicted a painful wound had the child put his fingers under the edge. That very evening as the family were about to have evening worship another scorpion, probably a twin brother, came running rapidly toward a pair of tender little bare feet. Whether eaten, sleeping or praying there is danger from these creatures. In the cool, shadowy depths of baby's sponge the wicked though small scorpion finds a comfortable retreat.

THE STORY TOLD BY NO. 67.

Showing How a Little Child Can Touch
Even the Hardest Heart.

"Singular, ain't it, how easy a child can reach a man's heart, no matter how gruff or debased he may be?"

"Hello! what has struck you?"
I had just finished grinding out
"copy" for the day's issue, and was out again on the ceaseless run after news. A trained reporter is ever on the lookout for items, and I had stopped for a moment's chat with policeman No. 67 in hope that I might receive a "pointer" which would develop into something for the insatiable maw of my most in-sistate master, the public.

His sudden breaking of our conversation to moralize on the captiving tendency of childhood struck me as being very singular, for I knew him to be, like myself, a bachelor and one whom I supposed had very little chance or inclination to become acquainted with the bewitching characteristics of the kids.

"You know Sergeant Strug?"
Well, he don't strike you as being very soft, does he? Yet I seen him mash on a little girl to-day, till you'd a thought him as weak as paspins. Yes, sir," continued the policeman after a slight pause, "I was going along here on my morning beat, not thinking of anything much, when I heard a little pippincry of 'Peaseman,' 'Mr. Pease-man!' I looked 'round and there she was, as pretty, pert and fearless a child as I ever want to see. Not one of those spoiled children that are always tryin' to be smart, but a fair-haired, blue-eyed, red-lipped little darling, just as pretty an' as dainty as a flower."

Now this was strong sentiment from my friend No. 67, and would have been even poetical, had he not marred it by an emphatic cussword.
"Yes, sir," he resumed in a reflective way, "and so sensible. Why

DECORATING THE GRAVES.

The interest in the observance of the custom of strewing the graves of the soldiers with flowers, instead of diminishing, seems to grow in intensity as the years pass by. This year, it has been very general over the land, and has illustrated the sentiment from Horace, "It is sweet and pleasant to die for one's country," with more than ordinary emphasis. Among all tribes and peoples in all times the graves of their heroes and those who have been pre-eminent in public affairs, have received the honorable care of those who survived them. Showing that the actuating principle is founded in the constitution itself of human nature, and the glory that attaches to the soldier's graves, has been an inspiration in deeds of arms all through the course of history. As in the ages preceding, there never was a war of like proportions or of deeper import in its bearings than our late civil conflict, so in its course and in its results the impressions upon the affairs of the world will have an abiding influence through coming ages. From the graves of the fallen, we contemplate the principles for which they gave their lives, and then and there, are more and more resolved that they "shall not have died in vain."

The victors living achieved success in the submission of the conquered, naturally the course of events should have tended to the establishment of peace upon the basis of mutual efforts to cultivate the sense of a common interest in the progress and the glory of the common country. Those who bore the onset of the battle, and experienced its hardships, and secured the victory, were at all points ready to recognize this relationship, and would have succeeded at any early day in bringing about harmony of feeling and purposes, had not their aims been frustrated in a great measure by those who had smelled the battle from afar, and whose hopes of ultimate advantage were centered in a prolongation of a hostile disposition.

Happily the softening influences of time have been producing their fruits, and it becomes more and more recognized that, however the dire courses of the war may have proceeded, the foemen were worthy of one another; brothers of a common country, they showed themselves intrepid at all points in the vindication of what they thought was right, and now as passion and prejudice give way to the peaceful pursuits of commerce and trade, all sides lay their tribute of mournful and respectful recognition on the graves made glorious by the honorable acts of their occupants. Thus it came, that, but the other day the whole nation again rose up to honor the same spirit wherewith in unparal-leled pagentry within less than a year it had placed his remains within its sacred portals, and everywhere the fragrance and beauty of flowers overspread the sepulchres of the glorious dead. These ceremonies strike the chords of national sympathy, with such hearty and pious impulses, that they are likely to be continued and will be maintained with renewed manifestations of respect as the years roll onward. Not the least of their happy results will be the effect of binding together the different sections of the country, and they carrying with them the fixed resolve and the unfaltering purpose that our institutions shall be perpetuated, let their assailants come whence they may.

THE PRESIDENT MARRIED.

President Cleveland was married at the White House on Wednesday. The occasion was marked by those characteristics which have signalized the course of the Chief Magistrate from the beginning of his official career. He attended to his usual duties on the day as if nothing extraordinary were to follow, and there was a marked absence of ostentation throughout the course of the ceremonies. The same good fortune that has governed his life seems to have attended him into his new relations. He was married as the man Grover Cleveland and not as President. The good wishes of the entire country attend the distinguished couple for a long and happy married life. After the ceremony and a collation, the President and Mrs. Cleveland proceeded to Deer Park in the Allegheny mountains, where it is expected they will remain about a week.

PRESIDENT AND ARCHBISHOP.

Dr. Chas. N. Hickok, Bedford, in a lecture recently delivered there introduced the following, told him, as he said, by ex-President Buchanan. The two persons spoken of, the ex-President and the ex-Archbishop, both lived in Franklin county in the early portions of their lives. Buchanan told the story in this manner: "On my third visit to Bedford Springs, in 1819, for I was here first in 1816, I drove from Lancaster in a gig—I was a young man then. The turnpike was then in progress of making, but in some places was not yet passable. I stopped over night at the old Ream or stand, at the foot of Sideling Hill, and as I was starting up the mountain, I asked whether I had better keep the old road up the hill or try the new one. I was told that I might possibly get up by the turnpike, as it was nearly finished, so I concluded to try it. When I had gone up two or three miles, or more, perhaps, I found a few hundred yards of the way that was impassable to wheels. There were stumps and rocks not yet removed. I talked awhile with the laborers, of whom there were several, and was about turning my horse's head, to retrace my way to where I could take the old road again when a young Irishman, whose apparent intelligence I had observed, kindly proposed that if I could walk over the rough intervening distance, to where the road was again passable, they could manage to get my horse and gig over. I gratefully accepted the offer. Accordingly they unhitched my horse and while one of them carefully led him, four others carried my gig, and, when again on the finished road, they put me on my way grateful and rejoicing, for they had saved me not less than six miles travel. Now, who do you suppose that bright, kindly young Irishman was? It was he who is Archbishop Hughes, of New York, one of nature's noblemen."—Chambersburg Spirit.

There are yet living in this place several persons who remember the late distinguished prelate, when in various capacities he was known as a laboring man here. He carried the mortar for the building of the foundation of the Flat Run bridge, that was removed a few years ago. He was gardener at the college and pursued the same occupation at Chambersburg. An aged friend who knew him at the time of which we write says, he could not then read, and took lessons at night.

WHAT THE KNIGHTS WANT.

The Knights of Labor at their morning session at Cleveland, adopted a series of resolutions indicating the line of policy which they demand of Congress. It remains to be seen whether they will be able to maintain such positions before the country as may retain its respect.

The committee on legislation presented the following proposition in the nature of demands on Congress, which were ratified by the convention:

First—That patents for the public lands be given to actual settlers only.

Second—That all land owned by any individual or corporation in excess of 160 acres, whether improved or unimproved, shall be taxed to the full value of improved lands.

Third—Calling for the immediate forfeiture of all lands where the conditions of the grant has not been complied with.

Fourth—Asking that patents on lands where the conditions have been complied with be issued forthwith, so that taxation may take effect at once.

Fifth—Calling for the removal of fences from the public domain.

Sixth—That after 1890 the government shall, by purchase and right of eminent domain, obtain possession of all lands now held by aliens.

Seventh—That after 1886 aliens shall be prohibited from acquiring titles to lands.

Eighth—Asking the abolition of all laws requiring a property qualification for voters.

Ninth—Requesting the passage of a law levying a graduated income tax.

Tenth—Protesting against the cutting down of the appropriation for the labor bureau.

Eleventh—Asking for the passage of the bills approved by the congressional labor committee.

Twelfth—Asking for the passage of a law prohibiting the employment in mines, shops, factories, etc., of minors for more than eight hours per day.

The following resolution was adopted:

Resolved, That we will hold responsible at the ballot box all members of Congress who neglect or refrain from voting in compliance with these demands.

MATRIMONY CHEAPENED.

The new law reducing the marriage license-fee to One dollar went into operation on Tuesday, June 1st. Its effects will be noted with interest. In the rural districts they will not at once be apparent, as harvest time will very soon be of absorbing moment.

DOES IT MEAN PEACE?

Now that Mr. Cleveland is safely married, it is to be hoped that we shall never again have such a vulgar exhibition of bad taste as was recently exhibited throughout the land, in the ambition of the newspapers, to be the first to proclaim the developments as they transpired.

The acts of the President, as such, are matters, beyond dispute for general criticism, pro or con, as the case may be. But very soon it will be apparent how rudely the proprieties of social life were invaded in the affair, that has been simply personal to the distinguished couple, whom the entire Republic now congratulates.

The Knights of Labor, in their Cleveland Convention yesterday, adopted resolutions demanding that Congress should preserve the public lands to actual settlers, protesting against alien landholders and demanding that the present ones shall be bought out and that fresh grants be denied to would-be new alien owners; insisting upon the removal of barbed-wire fences; advocating a system of graduated income tax; asking that Election Day be made a national holiday, and that provision be made for the punishment of bribe-givers and bribe-takers, etc. Not a bad political platform, taken as a whole.—N. Y. World, June 1st.

Mr. JOHN KELLY the distinguished chief of the famous Tammany Democratic Club, died at his residence in New York on June 1st, aged 65 years. His health had been declining for a year or more, but his last illness dates seven months back. His death was painless and he was conscious to the last. Universal regret is manifested over his death.

BROWN'S IRON BITTERS
FOR THE BLOOD
Combining IRON with PURE VEGETABLE TONIC, quickly and completely CLEANSES and ENRICHES THE BLOOD. Quickens the action of the liver and kidneys. Clears the complexion, makes the skin smooth. It does not injure the teeth, cause headache, or produce constipation—ALL OTHER IRON MEDICINES DO. Physicians and Druggists everywhere recommend it.

Dr. N. S. ROGERS, of Marion, Mass., says: "I recommend Brown's Iron Bitters as a valuable tonic for enriching the blood, and removing all dyspeptic symptoms. At first, it does not just take root in the system, but it does so in the end, and in cases of anemia and blood diseases, also when a tonic was needed, and it has proved thoroughly satisfactory."

Mrs. Wm. BRASS, 218 St. Mary St., New Orleans, La., says: "Brown's Iron Bitters made me in the habit of blood-purifying, and I heartily commend it to the suffering blood-purifier."

Mrs. W. W. WALKER, of Birmingham, Ala., says: "I have been troubled from childhood with impure blood, and upon my face two blotches of Brown's Iron Bitters effected a perfect cure. I cannot speak too highly of this valuable medicine."

Genuine has above Trade Mark and crossed red lines on wrapper. Take no others. Made only by BROWN CHEMICAL CO., BALTIMORE, MD.

THE SUN IS NATIONAL, INDEPENDENT, CONSERVATIVE, AND DEVOTED TO THE INTERESTS OF THE WHOLE COUNTRY.

THE SUN from the day of its foundation has been in the front rank of progressive journalism, and its circulation and influence have become national. It may be said with entire truth that there is no newspaper upon which more pains are taken than upon THE SUN to secure accuracy of statement in the news it contains and the opinions it expresses. The intelligence it presents to its readers from all quarters of the globe is therefore looked for with the peculiar interest which its reliability inspires. The political and industrial world is now entering upon a stirring period of its history, the events of which as they occur THE SUN will present with its usual promptitude. Abroad, events of unusual consequence are anticipated, while in our own country the work of the sessions of Congress, the Legislatures of Maryland and Virginia and other States, together with the acts of various municipal bodies will demand more than ordinary attention. Upon all affairs of national importance and of current interest in the busy world of trade and manufactures, as well as upon those features of social and literary interest which instruct or amuse the general reader THE SUN'S large corps of correspondents at Washington, New York, Boston, Philadelphia, Richmond and other leading cities will keep its readers fully posted. To all of its readers it will endeavor to maintain its high position as a faithful, entertaining and instructive friend and welcome visitor.

Observe the Wheat Fly.

On a recent visit in Washington county, we noticed the evidences of the destruction of the wheat by the Hessian fly at many points. The greatest depredations are on lands that were sown late, and especially upon those which grew corn last year. The bearded wheat was the only sort attacked in our course of observation. Farmers should get all the facts ascertainable in the matter; as to the habits of the insect, &c. One thing must be certain the grain that is just in proper condition at the time the fly deposits its eggs, will be injured. It is the law of nature that all beings provide for the evolution of life, under the most favorable circumstances. Tender shoots will be selected in preference to the vigorous stems that have had a good start and hence it should, if possible be determined whether early, mid-time or the latest date for sowing should be improved. The favorable weather in March is generally supposed to have given the pest a good start for this season.

Silver Wedding.

On Tuesday evening June 1st a goodly number of the parishioners and friends of Rev. E. S. Johnston visited the Rev. Lutheran parsonage in Emmitsburg to congratulate Mr. and Mrs. Johnston on the 25th anniversary of their marriage. The party was intended to be, and was nearly a surprise but some one at the last moment gave information of the invasion thus giving time for the host and hostess to receive their guests in a befitting manner.

Mrs. J. was arrayed in the same dress that she wore as a bride twenty-five years ago, showing the provident care of woman in contrast with the want of that virtue in man, as the parson's coat which did duty on that occasion was nowhere to be seen, although a photograph of him taken about that time was produced, eliciting much comment favorable and otherwise.

While some of the party engaged the attention of the host and hostess in the parlor, others, by a back way, entered the dining room and drawing out the long table loaded it with refreshments, after partaking of which by the entire company Mr. and Mrs. J. were presented with two heavy purses of silver dollars (always handy things for a preacher to have about the house) one purse from the Fairfield, the other from the Emmitsburg congregation. Other useful articles were also presented. The Fairfield congregation nobly responded to the call and were ably represented by Mr. and Mrs. Kittinger, Mr. and Mrs. Hull, Mr. and Mrs. Galbach and Mrs. D. R. Musselman.

The thanks of all concerned are due to Miss Belle Rowe and Miss Helen Hoke of Emmitsburg, for the perseverance and success with which they managed the part assigned them. Seldom has so much been gotten together in so short a time.

Every one present, to the number of about seventy, heartily enjoyed the occasion and spent the evening in a pleasant social way until after 10 o'clock, when they reluctantly separated, well pleased with each other and "the rest of mankind." The only regret was, that as the party was an impromptu affair, there was not time to notify the entire congregation.

Rev. Johnston has been for nearly 20 consecutive years pastor of the Charge consisting of Emmitsburg, Md., and Fairfield, Pa. Long may he yet survive and spend the remaining years of life in ever increasing usefulness. R.

COMMUNICATED.

MIDDLEBURY, May 28. MR. EDITOR—I noticed in the columns of the CHRONICLE an item dated May 17, with special reference to the Salvation Army meeting in this place. I do not know that your correspondent had any evil motive, or wished to cast any reflection on the army or the good citizens of the town and community, but his language has been so interpreted by many who had no knowledge, except through the item. As an eye witness, please permit a few explanations.

He says, "I must say that the female portion of the army paid particular attention to the male portion of the audience." Reason—Nearly all who testified for Christ were males, hence more time devoted to that side of the church. Again he says, "They have not put in a second appearance, much to the satisfaction of the good citizens of the town and neighborhood." I believe the morals of this community will compare favorably with any other in the state, and upon personal inquiry, I do not know an out and out christian unprejudiced sinner who is not anxious to have them put in a second appearance. Further, he says, "to the regret of the hotels, for beer was the ruling spirit of the occasion." No doubt the saloons were well patronized, and beer the ruling spirit therein, as it always is in these days of iniquity, but it was not manifested in the church. The order was most excellent and consistent with the high moral training of the general community. The church was crowded, many were convicted and one penitent.

THURSDAY EVENING, May 27.—The banner of the Salvation Army, under Captain Ruth, was unfurled the second time, much to the delight of the good people of this place, and especially every earnest christian man and woman. The prodigal son was pictured to the large and attentive audience in the Captain's plain but impressive manner. We had a good meeting and the usual good order. True, several prodigal sons were there, filled with the devil's best, (whiskey) and held themselves up as bright and shining lights of the rum-sellers damning power, and one of the prodigals was a rum-seller too, from D. P. C.

My prayer is, God forgive the prodigals and bless the Salvation Army of every church and creed. A WITNESS.

THE commissioners of Washington county have made the annual tax levy for 1886, the levy being 87 cents on the $100 for county purposes and 13¢ for State purposes. This is the same as the levy of 1885.

MR. JACOB SHIELDS, a respected citizen of the Hancock district of Washington county, while chopping in the woods, suddenly dropped to the ground and immediately expired. His sudden death is attributed to heart disease. He leaves a wife and six children.

On Saturday morning of last week, Wm. Post, a young man in the employ of Mr. I. S. Annan of this place, was hitching up his horse in a spring wagon which was loaded with empty boxes, when one of the boxes fell over on the horse and frightened him so that he started to run, the young man in his efforts to stop the horse was thrown down and dragged from Mr. Annan's stable to Mr. Zeck's Blacksmith shop on the pike, his feet at every step. Fortunately William had no bones broken, but his legs were bruised very badly, he is able to walk about, but suffers very much from his injuries. The horse ran out on the road to Mr. John Troxell's about a mile and a half from town, where Mr. Annan got it, and drove it home as quietly as though nothing had happened. The wagon was not injured in any way except the dash being shaken off.

PINEY CREEK CHURCH.

COMMUNICATED. This is one of the three churches composing the Emmitsburg charge. It is in Carroll Co., Md., being situated by a beautiful grove, on the public highway leading from Taneytown to Gettysburg, 3 miles from the former and 10 from the latter place. The organization dates back to about 1763, being chronologically the fifth within the bounds of the Presbytery of Baltimore. It was originally under the care of the Presbytery of Carlisle, and so remained until 1870, when upon the re-union of the two branches of the Presbyterian Church, it was received into the Presbytery of Baltimore.

During the 123 years of its existence, this church has had but six pastors—the Rev. Joseph Rhea, the Rev. James Martin, the Rev. Patrick Davidson, the Rev. Robert S. Grier, the Rev. Isaac M. Patterson, and the Rev. W. Simonton, the present pastor. The pastorate of Mr. Grier covered a period of nearly 52 years. His name is still greatly revered by the older people.

The congregation occupies its second house of worship, built some 70 years ago. It is a one story edifice, constructed of the best quality of brick, and the walls being of unusual thickness, are very stout and strong.

Some years having elapsed since the building had undergone repairs, it was deemed best to renovate it early in the present season. After being in the hands of the workmen for nearly two months, it was re-opened for public worship on Saturday, May 22d, with a service preparatory to communion on the day following. The internal improvements include repairs and painting of walls and ceiling, remodeling, painting and resetting of pews so as to form an angle in the centre of the auditorium, new carpet for the entire floor, new window shades, change of pulpit platform, recovering of Bible cushion, and some important changes in the vestibule.

Externally the church has been painted and pencilled. The roof has been spouted. The foundation walls, and the walls enclosing the cemetery, have been repointed with dark mortar and pencilled in white, new granite steps have been provided, with necessary grading and other improvements in the grounds and appurtenances.

The repairs just indicated were made under the direction of the present efficient Board of Trustees, assisted by the ladies of the church, and were completed with the moderate expenditure of only a little over $700. The necessary amount was nearly all provided for on the day of re-opening. In securing this desirable result, the congregation were indebted to their earnest friends, Mr. and Mrs. Matthew Galt, and Mr. and Mrs. Frederick W. Pilling, of Washington, D. C., who were present and contributed liberally toward the removal of the indebtedness. They have the hearty thanks of pastor, officers and people for their aid, and their encouragement of the enterprise so successfully completed.

Within the last seven years of the existing pastorate, new churches have been built at Emmitsburg and Taneytown; and now that Piney Creek in its turn has been tastefully renovated, and greatly beautified, and at the same time put in excellent repair, the charge is well equipped so far as houses of worship are concerned. Over $13,000 have thus been expended, independently of improvements made upon the parsonage, aggregating a considerable amount. This is certainly a very creditable showing for congregations possessed of no greater financial or numerical strength. Corresponding spiritual prosperity would make them a power for good in the community of which they are a part. For this let every member labor and pray unceasingly.

The Century Magazine for June gives us a likeness of Benjamin Franklin and also some unpublished letters of the old philosopher. There is a story by Thos. N. Page, entitled "Meh Lady," an interesting "Literary Ramble," along the Thames from Fulham to Chiswick; a second article on "American Country Dwellings," quite a long and interesting article on "Faith-Healing and Kindred Phenomena," by Dr. J. M. Buckley; an amusing "Hotel Experience of Mr. Pink Flucker," by R. M. Johnston; "Stonewall Jackson in Maryland," by Col. H. Kyd Douglas, and other war reminiscences, "Topics of the Time," "Open Letters," and an attractive collection of Brice-Brace. The Century Co., 33 E. 17th street, New York.

THE Classis of Maryland, of the Reformed Church in the United States, met in sixty-sixth annual session in Trinity Reformed Church, Boonsboro', Md., on Thursday evening. The usual sermon preached at the beginning of session of Classis was delivered by the retiring president, Rev. Wm. Rupp, of Manchester, Md.

Rev. C. Clever, Baltimore, Md., was chosen president of Classes for the ensuing year. Rev. T. F. Hoffmeier was elected Corresponding Secretary. Rev. Simon S. Miller has been the efficient Stated Clerk for eighteen years. The Stated Clerk retains his office from year to year, without re-election, during life, or until he resigns. He is also Treasurer.

The whole of Friday was occupied in reading the parochial reports. From these Reports the congregational and pastoral charges appear in a healthy condition. The statistics are: Number of Pastoral charges 26; Congregations 86; Members 6,848; Unconfirmed members 4,433; Baptisms, infants 515, adults 39; Confirmed 460; By certificate or re-profession 225; Commended 5,922; Dismissed 140; Erasure 20; Deaths 191; Sunday-schools 51; Sunday-school scholars 5,517; Students for the ministry 9; Benevolence contributions $13,276; Congregational purposes $30,651.

John F. Macklay and J. N. Bauman, students who recently graduated from the Theological Seminary of the Reformed Church at Lancaster, Pa., having been examined, and their examination proving satisfactory, were licensed to preach the Gospel. There are at present nine young men under the care of this Classis preparing for the ministry.

Revs. A. S. Weber, E. R. Deatrack and Daniel Krob, the latter and aged minister now living in Michigan, were made life members of the Society for the Relief of Ministers and their Widows. The purpose of this Society is to furnish, if needed, assistance to ministers, who having faithfully served the Church, and oftentimes on salary insufficient to provide the necessities of life, or find themselves in old age or in case of disablement in straitened circumstances. It also renders aid to the widows of deceased ministers, who are in want.

The Treasurer's Report gives the following amounts as contributed by the Classis for benevolence since the last annual meeting: Church Extension $434.47; Home Missions $1,201.63; Foreign Missions $456.01; Beneficiary Education $886.23; Sustentation $399.27; Mercersburg College $91.04; Theological Seminary $94; Harbor Missions $87; Orphan Homes $329.95; Society for Relief of Ministers and Widows $167.72; Contingent $552.13; Publication Board $42.33; Roanoke $172.38; Total $5,314.95.

On Saturday afternoon services preparatory to the celebration of the Lord's Supper were held. The sermon was preached by Rev. Henry Ditzler, of Taneytown. The altar service was conducted by Revs. U. H. Heilman and N. H. Skyles.

On Sunday the Sacrament of the Lord's Supper was administered in the Reformed Church, at which time Rev. A. S. Weber preached the Sermon. On Monday elections for delegates to the Synod of the Potomac and General Synod. They are as follows: Synod of Potomac Revs. J. S. Kieffer, S. S. Miller, E. R. Eschbach, W. Rupp, A. S. Weber, T. F. Hoffmeier, A. J. Heller, C. Clever, J. G. Noss, and Wm. Goodrich; Elders G. S. Griffith, P. W. Shaffer, J. M. Gervin, E. J. Davis, H. M. Kefauver, D. B. Seibert, D. Bisco, D. S. Fifer, J. B. Albright and G. J. R. House. The Synod of the Potomac meets in Mercersburg, Pa., in October: General Synod, Revs. Wm. Rupp, J. S. Kieffer, E. R. Eschbach; Elders G. S. Griffith, P. W. Shaffer and J. M. Gervin. The General Synod—composed of delegates from all the Classes of the Reformed Church in the United States, meets in Akron, Ohio, June 1st, 1887.

Classes adjourned to meet in the Glade Church, near Walkersville, Frederick county, Md., on Friday evening, May 20th, 1887, at 7.30 o'clock.—Condensed from the Boonsboro' Times.

DR. J. SHELTON MCKENZIE.

Oculist and Ophthalmologist, Graduate of the University of Edinburgh, College of ophthalmology, and Royal Eye Infirmary has opened an office, in the Telephone Exchange Building, East Patrick street, Frederick, where he may be consulted by those suffering from disease or any difficulty of their eyes. Dr. McKenzie has made a special study of diseases of the eye and having had an active practice of ten years in Europe and America believes he can successfully combat the diseases which are so destructive to this delicate organ. All examinations are made with the ophthalmoscope and other scientific instruments used in modern ophthalmology. A correct diagnosis is made of each person's case and an accurate statement given of the exact condition of their eyes. In functional diseases of the eyes, where glasses are indicated, the doctor cuts grinds and adjusts them for each person thus insuring perfect vision, ease and comfort to the wearer. These glasses are free from the imperfections usually found in glasses, viz: Mud specks, cracks, flaws, waves, blisters, etc. They are made from pure quartz, very white and as transparent as the purest spring water. These glasses are not put on sale in the shops. They are only ground and fitted to order. Thousands of people who are suffering with their eyes from over lachrymation, pain over the eye and through the globe, a dull heaviness of the eye itself, a morbid feeling as though there were sand imbedded in the mucous membrane of the lids, very sensible to light and air and a desire to partially close the eyes, or an incipient inflammation in the globe of the eye. These and a great many more troubles may be cured which can be entirely overcome if the person so afflicted will consult an oculist who understands physical and physiological optics, the laws of light, refraction, etc. There are very few cases of eyes or vision but can be brought to approximate nearly normal vision with properly adjusted glasses. Testimonials of the most substantial character. Cases treated since the Doctor has been in town can be readily ascertained by any person who will take the trouble to inquire. Office hours from 7 to 9 a. m., 12 to 6 and 6 to 8 p. m. Aug. 15-1t.

Lawn Festival.

The ladies of the Benevolent Society of the Church of the Incarnation will hold a Lawn Festival on the grounds attached to the residence of Mr. Wm. S. Guthrie, on Whit Monday afternoon and evening, (June 14.) Cakes, Ice Cream and Strawberries will be served under the shade of the trees, and the ladies hope to have the pleasure of entertaining all their friends from far and near, on the occasion. If the weather should prove unfavorable the entertainment will be deferred till Tuesday.

Cheap Honors.

With the college commencements at hand, the distribution of titles intended to be honorary will be dispensed with a free hand. They come as the flowers come in their season, and are to be expected as the outgrowth of the commencements, for these derive their significance from such productions. The badges that used to imply merit and were worthily worn as decorations by those who gained them, come now in yearly course from institutions, but little elevated above high schools, and they have proven very harmless appendages the names to which they are superadded, so that it has come to pass that few clergymen of decided talent, are desirous of being recognized as D.D. In like manner professional men in other departments are loathe to be burdened with L. D., and the designation A. M., comes as a matter of course with in a short period after A. B., has been won as the graduate's perquisite, or it may be bought anywhere for the moment consideration of a few dollars, little valued it may be by their owner, but highly prized by the so called literary centre of the manufacture.

COMMUNICATED.

THURSDAY MORNING, June 3. MR. EDITOR.—Whilst admiring, and justly glorying in the efficiency of our Fire Department, the citizens of Emmitsburg have a right to protest against the manner in which their regular drill or water throwing practice is conducted. To have a stream of water, propelled with the force with which it always comes from the fire-plugs, suddenly thrown into open doors and windows, without notice or warning, is not only unpleasant but damaging to furniture, persons and property. When there is a fire in the neighborhood, we naturally expect to have our houses and furniture injured by the water, which is necessary to protect us from the ravages of the flames, but there certainly is no reason for flooding our houses, when no flames are threatening us. We ought at least to be notified in time to close shutters and doors against the torrent, and thus save carpets, window blinds, &c., from injury. ONE WHO HAD MORE WATER THAN WAS PLEASANT IN HIS HOUSE LAST NIGHT.

County Commissioners. The County Commissioners, Messrs. W. H. Lakin, J. U. Lawson, Elias Gaver C. M. Thomas and J. H. Taylor, were in session last week and transacted considerable business preparatory to making the levy for 1886. Among the business disposed of was the passage of a large number of accounts. The board approved the sale of the $123,000 of 4 per cent. bonds, and appointed several road supervisors: Isaac M. Fogle, in Johnsville district; G. Washington, in Lewistown district, and Elias Potterfield in Petersville district. On Thursday a committee, representing the Court Square Improvement Association, was before the board, asking for action on the removal of the unsightly railing which now encloses the court yard, and in the removal of which so many of our citizens are interested. The Commissioners heard the committee, but took no action on the matter. They deferred the matter until their next meeting, and in the meantime propose to invite all interested, either in favor of or against the removal of the railing, to appear then and give reasons why they oppose or favor the project.—The Union.

A DWELLER on the banks of the Codorus, in Pennsylvania, ties short lines with baited fishhooks to the legs of his geese and drives them into the water. The fish bite and jerk the lines, and then the frightened geese hurry to shore, dragging the fish after them. So says the York Age.

ASCENSION DAY, though the skies alternated between brightness and gloom, was upon the whole a very pleasant one, and was observed in its churchly bearings in the Catholic Church, with the ceremonies usual on the occasion. The streets presented a holiday appearance in the coming and going of persons, but there was no public demonstration.

A Good Law.

In Gettysburg a license of $10 is required to play a hand organ on the streets. An ordinance to that effect was recently passed by the authorities on account of the town being over run by them. For about two weeks there were several of them in that town every day.

Send in the Names.

As the cherries are being gathered there are generally some persons, who climb the trees and in utter unconsciousness of the rotten boughs, come down very suddenly with a limb or so, more or less fractured. We wish to learn of all such cases that the exploits may be recorded; the force of example still influences the world.

The Carroll News of Union Bridge, in our recent absence from home has not been noticed in these columns. The 3d Number is before us. It is edited by Prof. Edward Reiser, and is well printed, and its matter indicates a mind well trained in the proprieties of good English, and at home as regards the force of words. We wish the graceful Editor abundant success in his enterprise so auspiciously begun.

From the Star and Sentinel.

The festival for the benefit of the Fire Company netted $491, receipts $721, expenses $230.

On Wednesday the following gentlemen were re-elected Managers of the Gettysburg Water Company: Dr. Chas. Horner, D. Kendeheart, Matthew Eichberger, Alex. D. Buehler and Hon. John A. Swope.

We understand that Mr. Buehler declines to serve, creating a vacancy in the Board.

The Nicest Yet.

We are under obligation to our friend Mr. Samuel Gamble for some of the largest and finest strawberries we ever saw. Mr. G. has gone quite extensively into the business of strawberry culture, and has all of the best and newest varieties. Those brought to us were Sharpless, Warren and Bidwell, and in size simply enormous, suggesting the propriety of slicing them for the table, whilst at the same time they were firm and delightfully flavored.

College Honors.

It affords us pleasure to announce that Mr. Lloyd C. Coblenz, of this vicinity, a member of the Senior Class of Franklin and Marshall College, Lancaster, Pa., has won the highest honor of his large class. The honor of the Marshall oration was conferred upon him at a meeting of the Faculty of the College on the 18th of May. Mr. Coblenz will graduate at the Annual Commencement this month. He is the eldest son of Mr. Charles H. Coblenz, residing about one mile east of town.—Valley Register.

MANY of our citizens were much annoyed one morning last week on finding their doorsteps torn up, and in some instances carried away, vehicles drawn to the creek or tumbled over the fence into a neighbor's yard, and things along the street generally disturbed. These tricks should not be looked upon as fun, for they result in damage to property, as well as in serious annoyance and inconvenience to our town folk. The discovery of the perpetrators should lead to a wholesome application of the law.—Carroll News.

The troubles set forth as above, indicate a primitive state of civilization for the locality of their occurrence. It is in the memory of many when like proceedings occurred here, but as our people have learned to appreciate the beneficent influence of good laws faithfully observed, such rowdiness has disappeared. Horses, cows, hogs, geese, are never found on our streets or alleys without an attendant. We have officers, but the laws are somehow self-enforced.

"Dr. Sellers' Vermifuge" has no equal for expelling worms. Thousands testify to this fact. If your children have worms, try it. 25c. a vial.

Undigested Food.

In the stomach develops an acid which attacks the upper part of the throat and palate, causing "heartburn." It also evolves a gas which produces "wind on the stomach," and a feeling and appearance of distention in that organ after eating. For both this acidity and swelling Hostetter's Stomach Bitters is a much better remedy than alkaline salts, like hartshorn and carbonate of soda. A wineglassful of the Bitters, after or before dinner, will be found to act as a reliable carminative or preventive. This fine specific for dyspepsia, both in its acute and chronic form also prevents and cures malarial fever, nervousness and debility. Persons who observe in the salve a decline of vigor should use this fine tonic without delay.
