THE NATIONAL HOLIDAY. The one hundred and eleventh anniversary of the day on which the Declaration of Independence was made, was very generally observed over the land on Monday.

Just how it happened no one can well define, but somehow as if by preconcerted purposes, there arose as it were, a new inspiration to give unusual honor to the day, and everywhere the demonstrations were made with a new-born energy, and they exceeded any that have occurred for many years.

The spirits of the people were overflowing, and they gave expression to them in the form of public meetings, oratorical efforts, parades, illuminations, explosions of gun-powder, and all the exhibitions of joy that used to characterize the celebrations in the earlier days of the Republic.

It remains to be seen whether this new-born zeal may tend, certain it is, that as a new evidence of faith in the work of the Fathers, who builded so vastly beyond their expectations, it manifests a fixed purpose that the inheritance shall be handed down with renewed glory to coming ages.

Every patriotic heart cherishes the warm desire— Esto perpetua.

SAFETY OF BANKS. The correspondence of the New York Herald says: "The effect of the failure of the Fidelity Bank will not be felt very materially in other parts of the country on account of the exceptional nature of its business and its mode of transacting it."

The principal object of my visit to Cincinnati was to enforce a special clause of the law governing banks by which the Comptroller of the currency is enabled to enter suit at law against the directors of a bank suspected of violations of the law, and in case of the violation being proved, causing all the directors to be made personally liable for the debts of the concern.

"I think there is no doubt of the suit being successful, and in that case the failure of this bank will prove beneficial to all others by making the directors to understand that they are expected to be acquainted with the working of their institution."

THE PRESIDENT'S LETTER. EXECUTIVE MANSION, WASHINGTON, June 24, 1887. I have received your invitation to attend, as a guest of the Philadelphia Brigade, a reunion of ex-Confederate soldiers of Pickett's Division, who survived their terrible charge at Gettysburg, and those of the Union army still living, by whom it was heroically resisted.

The Philadelphia Press says that there is no doubt now that General Master Workman Powderly will resign his position at the Minneapolis convention, which meets in October. This fact is definitely known by the small circle which surround him, though not by the Knights of Labor generally.

THE GETTYSBURG REUNION. The reunion of the survivors of the Philadelphia Brigade, and of Pickett's Division of the Confederate forces, on the battlefield at Gettysburg, on the anniversary of the battle, the 2d, 3d and 4th inst., was an event that could not fail to thrill every patriotic heart with delight, giving a quickened impulse to the celebration of the glorious Fourth of July.

Twenty-four years before, those men had met in mortal combat, so fierce, and sanguinary, so determined in the assault, and so heroically grand in resistance, as to give it a place among the most renowned encounters of ancient or modern times.

The close of the war had settled its issues; the terms of the capitulation had been accepted in the soldierly faith of honorable actors. The passing years have proven the righteousness of those closing scenes and the bitterness of the past having been absorbed in the advancing glory of the country, what higher or nobler exhibition of patriotic sympathy could have been exhibited than was called forth at the gatherings of the survivors, around the graves of those who fell on the field of carnage?

Professions of reconciliation are not always effective for the removal of past differences, these may serve selfish ends and the emotions of hate may rise with renewed energy on occasion, but demonstrations like those made the other day at Gettysburg are such as arrest attention everywhere, and carry the convictions of their influence with the greatest force; they must silence once for all, the disturbing elements that have so long fed and flourished on the bitter fruits of the war.

It has therefore been not only right, but deserving the gratitude of every patriotic citizen to recognize the force and the commanding decision wherewith the soldiers of the war have pronounced their decree, that no longer shall the words of Gen. Grant, so well termed, the magnanimous, be regarded meaningless—"Let us have peace."

THE PRESIDENT'S LETTER. EXECUTIVE MANSION, WASHINGTON, June 24, 1887. I have received your invitation to attend, as a guest of the Philadelphia Brigade, a reunion of ex-Confederate soldiers of Pickett's Division, who survived their terrible charge at Gettysburg, and those of the Union army still living, by whom it was heroically resisted.

THE FRIENDLY ASSAULT BECAUSE IT WAS made with a spirit of peace, and its result will be glorious, because conquered hearts will be trophies of success. Thereafter this battlefield will be consecrated by a victory which shall preface the end of the bitterness of strife, the exposure of the sincerity which conceals hatred by professions of kindness, the condemnation of frenzied appeals to passion for unworthy purposes and the beating down of all that stands in the way of the destiny of our united country.

It surely cannot be wrong to desire the settled quiet which lights for our entire country the path to prosperity and greatness; nor need the lessons of the war be forgotten and its results jeopardized in the wish for that genuine fraternity which insures national pride and glory.

I should be very glad to accept your invitation and be with you at this interesting reunion, but other arrangements already made and my official duties here will prevent my doing so.

HOPEING THAT THE OCCASION WILL BE as successful and useful as its promoters can desire, I am, yours very truly, GROVER CLEVELAND.

OUR WASHINGTON LETTER. Special to the Emmitsburg Chronicle.

MUCH INTEREST IS FELT AT THE Navy Department, Navy-Yard and elsewhere in the result of the invitation to steel firms to bid for supplying the Government with three cast steel rifle-cannons. The cast-steel manufacturers have long claimed that cast-steel guns can be substituted for the built-up wrought-steel guns heretofore used.

THE BOARD FOR THE REVISION OF army regulations has taken up the protest of the clergymen against army dress parades on Sunday. The disaffection is one in which General Sherman took the warmest interest. He maintained that the Sunday dress parade was an institution that throughout the country's history had been universally recognized and observed.

THE MANY REMARKABLE CURES Hood's Sarsaparilla accomplishes are sufficient proof that it does possess peculiar curative powers.

A PART OF Zug in Switzerland, was engulfed on the 6th, inst. The ground bordering the lake gave way and the buildings were swallowed up whilst the occupants were asleep. At least one hundred lives were lost.

A LONG, lank West Virginian named Brown presented himself at the Pension Bureau recently, to furnish evidence in a claim pending before the office. It was learned upon inquiry that his mother had borne thirty-three children in all. Twenty of this number were boys, sixteen of whom had served in the Union army. Two were killed.

FIRES. Among the fires in the land on the 4th, we note as follows: Grafton, W. Va., had the most destructive fire it ever experienced. The flames had full play for three hours and consumed three of the largest hotels, two stores, drug establishments, millinery shops, tobacco, notion and other houses. The loss reached about $100,000, with very little insurance.

CLARENDON, a small town in the upper oil country of Pa., on the Philadelphia and Erie Railroad, was almost wiped from the face of the earth by a conflagration on the 4th.

THE FIRE ORIGINATED FROM THE careless use of fire-works, which reached the oil tanks and speedily destroyed the town, over 100 business houses, dwellings, &c., were destroyed. There was again no fire department and buckets were the only means of combating the flames, with the usual results; a man named John Stewart was caught in the bursting of a tank and was soon cremated, and it is feared others had a like fate, the entire business part of the town was destroyed, the buildings being of pine and hemlock burned like tinder. The valley was full of fire and seething oil and the people became panic stricken and fled to the hillsides for safety.

The 4th of July casualties have taken up much space for their record in the papers, fires, broken limbs, some loss of life, &c., but the country is large, and every battle gives its record of the slain and wounded. In the general joy these side issues have but a passing notice, the crowds declare "the funeral is not ours."

In another column will be found the advertisement of the Greatest Baltimore Clothing House, Oehm's Acme Hall. During July and August extraordinary and sweeping reductions will be made in all departments. A man can dress well at about two thirds usual prices. The store is one of the sights of Baltimore, and daily thousands of strangers stroll through the great establishment.

Dyspepsia. Makes the lives of many people miserable, and often leads to self-destruction. We know of no remedy for dyspepsia more successful than Hood's Sarsaparilla. Give Hood's Sarsaparilla a fair trial. It will do you good.

Our 4th. The Fourth of July dawned cloudy, and with pleasant breezes about the early part of the day was highly enjoyable. Towards noon the sun appeared and still the clouds modified the heat and thus the day continued, though seasonably warm, the gentle gales of wind produced such favorable conditions, as to meet the demands of the occasion.

The feature of the day for Emmitsburg was the Pic-Nic of the Vigilant Hose Company, that was held in the woodlands of Mr. Jno. Donohue, about one mile from the village. Business was generally suspended, the Hose Company preceded by the Emmitt Cornet Band, paraded the streets about ten o'clock, making a very pleasant pageant in their uniforms, and with their very commendably correct marching; the hose reels and the hook and ladder truck were gaily and tastefully decorated with flags and flowers, and added to the interest of the scene; afternoon the Band and the Hosemen and crowds repaired to the grove before mentioned, where they held entertainments in dancing, until far into the long hours of the night, with abundant refreshments, such as ice cream, lemonade, cakes and fruits, the time sped merrily and all were delighted when no incident occurred to mar the pleasures of the passing hours. The day was generally conceded to have taken high rank among the most notable celebrations of the kind ever held in this lovely valley, and it was the general opinion of those who they were ready to give quite as glorious a reception to the day when it shall dawn a year hence.

Astonishing Success. It is the duty of every person who has used Boscche's German Syrup to let its wonderful qualities be known to their friends in curing Consumption, severe Coughs, Croup, Asthma, Pneumonia, and in fact all throat and lung diseases. No person can use it without immediate relief. Three doses will relieve any case, and we consider it the duty of all Druggists to recommend it to the poor, dying consumptive, at least to try one bottle, as 80,000 dozen bottles were sold last year, and no one case where it failed was reported. Such a medicine as the German Syrup cannot be too widely known. Ask your druggist about it. Sample bottles to try, sold at 10 cents. Regular size, 75 cents. Sold by all Druggists and Dealers, in the United States and Canada.

BLACK PILLS relieve palpitation.

The corn fields throughout this section generally present a promising appearance, and there is every assurance of a good crop. With the continuance of favorable weather throughout July and August, it is safe to predict that we will have one of the largest corn crops this section has enjoyed for many years, which will largely make up for the shortage in the wheat and other crops.

Found It Was Maryland Law. John Donohue, a restaurant keeper at Carrollton, about four miles from Westminster, was on Wednesday before Justice Oursler for wife-beating. When State's Attorney Henning read the law Donohue suggested that the official had gotten hold of the Delaware law. Being assured to the contrary, he assumed a more serious aspect. Donohue was held for the Grand Jury.

Gov. LLOYD has appointed August 26th as the day for the execution of John Thomas Ross, the colored "burker" recently convicted in the Criminal Court of Baltimore of the murder of the old beggar woman Emily Brown. James Freeman, of Baltimore, a city missionary, filed a petition with about 250 names, asking the Governor to commute Ross's sentence. The Governor had, however, signed the death warrant before the petition was presented.

In view of the great destruction of property by fire in small towns unprovided with fire-apparatus, we think the public interests would be subserved, by making it a condition precedent to incorporation, that the means for extinguishing fires shall in all cases be provided. There is often need for paternal supervision in towns as well as in families. Mistaken economy curtails advancement, with its terrible losses following. In such cases the law should provide.

A short time since, Mrs. Foreman, near Littlestown, purchased an incubator with a capacity of 100 eggs, and filled it. When the time for hatching came she was surprised to take from it 101 chicks. One egg was a double one and when hatched the two chicks were attached to each other by a thin film, which was severed without injury to the birds. Mrs. Foreman is entitled to a premium of $100, offered by the company to any one hatching 100 eggs at one hatching.—Hanover Citizen.

Your House on Fire. Not the house of wood, or brick, or stone in which you live, but your bodily tenement may be in terrible danger from smouldering fire which you make no effort to quench. The great danger from impure blood is that it debilitates the system, and the digestive organs grow weak and inactive. Hood's Sarsaparilla combines the best kidney and liver invigorators, with the best alteratives and tonics, all from the vegetable kingdom, carefully and understandingly prepared in a concentrated form. It purifies, vitalizes, and enriches the blood, and tones up the system, giving the whole body vitality, and effectually guarding it against the attacks of disease.

Methodist Assembly at Pen-Mar. Arrangements are being rapidly completed for holding the Methodist assembly at Pen-Mar on Wednesday and Thursday, July 20 and 21. Committees from Baltimore, Washington, Hagerstown and Harriburg are working jointly to make it a great success, and bring together such a concourse of people as have not gathered at Pen-Mar for years.

Prof. John T. Grape and William Rudolph have in training 50 selected voices from Baltimore choirs, which, with Mr. Charles J. Taylor and a number of Cornetists, will furnish the choicest of vocal and instrumental music. The Western Maryland Railroad, and other roads centering at Hagerstown, will furnish the best of facilities for all persons desiring to be in attendance. The first day, Wednesday, Bishop Andrews will preside. Noted speakers from abroad have been invited to occupy the platform. The second day will be Fraternity Day, when the different branches of Methodism of Maryland and Virginia will be represented, as well as the Central Pennsylvania Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church. Several ministers, representatives of the various branches, have notified the committee of their presence on Fraternity Day, July 21. It is not a local excursion, but is meant to be a rallying point for the United Methodism of this section. There are to be no collections whatever. We say to all Methodists, make your annual pilgrimage to Pen-Mar on Methodist Day this year. If there be any who have never seen that wonderful panorama of mountain and valley, go by all means on the 20th or 21st of July.

The Century Magazine for July has a beautiful portrait of John Adams and George Washington. "An Incident of the Revolution," which is a fitting accompaniment; John Burroughs takes the reader on a delightful ramble through field and wood in search of "Wild Flowers," of which he shows rare and beautiful specimens. H. S. Edwards contributes a humorous story with a moral, entitled "Sister Todhunter's Heart." Frank Stockton is still chasing after his "Hundredth Man." There are numerous illustrations of "Admiral Loonatic in the Maybridge Photographs." "The History of Abraham Lincoln" has reached "The Lincoln-Douglas Debates." No. 3 of the papers on "The Potential Energy of Food," by W. O. Atwater; a short story by H. H. Boyesen entitled "Crooked John;" a lengthy and intelligent discussion of "Christian Science and Mind Cure," by Rev. Dr. J. M. Buckley, with War Incidents, Topics of the Time, Open Letters and quite a large collection of Brica-Brac, several poems and other interesting reading make up the contents of the July number.

Firemen's Parade and Pic-Nic.

The Firemen's Parade on the Fourth of July, was more than a success, it was a real triumph as far as the whole affair was arranged and carried out. The uniform is tasteful and appropriate in the extreme and so becoming to the boys who wear it, that Emmitsburg may well be proud of the appearance of her young men, as seen in dress parade. The Emmitt Cornet Band which led the procession, with two beautiful flags borne in front of them, looking quite brave and soldierly in their new and beautiful uniform, made the town lively with the patriotic tunes, which were executed in a way to reflect credit on the musical taste of the members and also gave evidence of careful practice. The band was followed by two more flags, then a hose carriage trimmed with flags and ribbons, next members of the company marching in well disciplined order, then another hose carriage, followed by members of the company, whilst bringing up the rear, was the large ladder truck; hose carriages and truck all being beautifully decorated with red, white and blue, as well as Maryland's colors of orange and black. The Pic-Nic held by the Fire Company in the afternoon and evening was largely attended, the music good, refreshments plentiful and good order prevailed throughout. The night being lovely, with a glorious full moon, the merry dancers kept up the fun till a late, or rather early hour, and no accident or trouble of any kind marred the pleasure of the occasion.

Child Lost in the Mountain. On Friday last, a little child of William Clabaugh, who lives on the mountain several miles from town, was lost in a manner altogether inexplicable, and no trace of it has yet been found.

The child, less than two years old, followed its father on his leaving home, accompanied by an older sister, and the mother not perceiving its absence, knew nothing of the matter till the father returned and inquired for the child. As it was less than two years old, and in its bare feet, it seemed quite impossible that it could have gone very far over the rough, stony ground, but when search in the immediate vicinity of the house failed to trace the little one, an alarm was sounded in the neighborhood, and a band of forty or fifty mountaineers started to scour the woods, whilst the frantic mother left to the care of the sympathizing women, refused to be comforted. All night long the unavailing search continued, and in the morning one of the men was sent to Gettysburg to consult an old colored woman who, it seems, is believed by the mountaineers and a good many sensible intelligent people besides, to possess the mysterious power of seeing and knowing things hidden from mortal eyes, unless assisted by the devil or some other evil spirit.

The old woman reported that the child was living and in the possession of a neighbor whose person and dwelling she described, and on the information being carried to the excited hunters, they immediately surrounded the house and demanded it. The inmates declared they knew nothing of it, and though a thorough search failed to reveal any trace of its presence, they continued to keep guard around the premises, threatening to shoot or bang the inmates, and of course growing more and more excited as the hours went by. Another deputation was then sent to the Gettysburg Witch, who insisted that her first statement was correct, but that the old woman who had the child was also a Witch, and made use of some charm to prevent their finding it. She then gave them a counter charm, which they were to manipulate in a certain way till the child stealer's charm was broken, when they would get possession of it. The opposing charms are still working against one another, nothing has transpired and the poor little innocent is still missing.

What a revelation this is to those of us who were wont to read with horror of the persecution of witches in the olden time, and thank God that we lived in an age too enlightened to be influenced by such superstitions! Here in Maryland in the Nineteenth Century, under the full blaze of science, with the broadest religious enlightenment, with educational privileges within reach of the poorest in the land, are we brought face to face with the humiliating fact that a portion of our population can still be found, willing to appeal to evil spirits through the medium of an old negro, for the assistance necessary to rescue a poor innocent little child, if alive, or find it if dead.

A Splendid Sight. Seated in front of our residence a few evenings before the 4th, we became interested in conversations of light that made the street aglow, almost as prettily as the phosphorescent manifestations at sea are said to be. The occasion was seemingly a grand jollification of the fire-fies. The day had been very warm and the lowered temperature of the calm evening, with scarcely a disturbing blast of wind to discompose the genial hour, had come. There seemed to be no point at which the glare of the light did not give forth its fitful brilliancy; as soon as one insect had performed its part, another appeared and another near by in rapid succession. It was an illumination on a grand scale, however feeble and evanescent in its several parts. The time was just when the shades of night had followed the dropped curtain of the day. The bugs as is well known are only active at night, and their light is that they may find each other; but quick as the diminutive flash appears, their light is scarcely less rapid, and to sit and watch the display was a real enjoyment; a beautiful episode to the restful situation we held. In a short while the performers seemed to have retired, and only here and there appeared some lonely actors, who no doubt had been delayed from attendance on the grand demonstration.

Confirmations.

Cardinal Gibbons arrived at Hagerstown on Saturday evening by the Blue Mountain express and was met at the depot by Rev. Father Manly and a number of prominent members of the Catholic church. On the following morning high mass was celebrated at St. Mary's Catholic church and the rite of confirmation was administered to between forty and fifty persons.

The Cardinal held services on Monday morning in the Catholic chapel at Mrs. Dahlgren's residence on South Mountain, about one mile from Boonsboro. Admiral De Rohan, a former aide-de-camp to Garibaldi, was confirmed.—Herald and Torch Light.

The Lutheran Church Improvement. Work was commenced yesterday on the improvements to Zion Lutheran church, of this place. The improvements contemplated are of such a character as will add greatly to the appearance of the old church, which was erected in 1829. It is proposed to enlarge the audience room, erect two large towers, one of which the belfry will be placed; there will be a new room for the Sunday school, the old gallery will be replaced by a new and more sightly one, for the exclusive use of the choir. In addition to the above a new roof will be placed on the entire structure. These, with many other minor improvements, will make the building practically a new one. The estimated cost is $2,500.—Williamsport Transcript.

Prof. Loiset's Memory Discovery. No doubt can be entertained about the value and genuineness of Prof. Loiset's Memory System as it is so strongly recommended by Mark Tavin, Mr. Proctor, Hon. W. W. Astor, Judah P. Benjamin, Dr. Buckley, and others. For full details we advise our readers to send for Prof. L's prospectus, at 237 Fifth Avenue, New York. From it we learn that the System is taught by correspondence quite as well as by personal instruction. Still we note that colleges near New York have secured his lectures. He has had 100 Columbia Law students, two classes of 200 each at Yale, 200 at Meriden, 250 at Norwich, 400 at Wellesley College, and 400 at University of Penn. We cannot conceive how a system could receive any higher endorsement.

Side Tracks at Pen-Mar. It will be a gratification to all who know and expect to visit Pen-Mar to learn that work is progressing rapidly upon a side track that leaves the main line opposite Mr. P. Rouzer's warehouse and crossing the graded avenue passes along the grass plot between the avenue and the track, around the Pavilion and back into the Park nearly to the Blue Mountain House path. Passengers will leave the train at a point near where the Hospital Tent has formerly been, or in the shady Park itself and within a very few shady yards of the Pavilion. A long siding will also be placed along this track and the shifting and dispatching of trains will be simplified.

This care for the comfort and convenience of excursionists will be appreciated and another will be added to the thousand and one inducements to lead people to this popular mountain resort. Clarion.

Now and Then. The weather of the past week, has been warm, yet of such equable character, free of storms, and the nights so bright, and so nicely favoring refreshing sleep, that none but the most inveterate valetudinarian could be discontented with it. There are many of our citizens who can readily recall the great contrast in the atmospheric conditions that were experienced twenty-four years ago, the time of the battle at Gettysburg; the frequent and heavy rains, the long trains of army wagons, &c., that cut our streets, into continuous mud-holes axle deep, the camp-fires that illuminated Poplar Ridge and the fields near by, where the soldiers of Gen. Sickles encamped. What a time of distress and commotion prevailed! How Gen. Reynolds spent his last night in this place, and how he rode from here in the early morning, straight into the jaws of death at Gettysburg. Everybody can appreciate the calm quietude of the past week in its contrast with the elemental conditions of that period of commotion, so filled with the lowering frowns of the terrible warfare in which it culminated.

A Nun's Jubilee. The celebration of the fiftieth anniversary of the reception of Sister Ann McAleer to the order of Sisters of Charity took place Thursday morning at St. Agnes Hospital, Baltimore. A pontifical high mass was celebrated by Cardinal Gibbons, with Monsignors McColligan and McManus as his assistants. Bishop Kain, of Wheeling, and Bishop Elder, of Cincinnati, were also present. Sister Mary Ann is a native of York, Pa. She is a sister of Madam McAleer, of the Sacred Heart Convent, Philadelphia. She had two other sisters—the late Sister Adele, member of the Order of the Sacred Heart, and Mrs. V. A. Weirly, late of Washington, D. C. A brother, Capt. J. L. McAleer, a civil engineer, lives in St. Joseph, Mo. Hugh McAleer, a leading citizen of Frederick, Md., is a cousin of Sister Mary Ann.

The Oliver Hibernian Society, of which M. A. Mullin is the president and Charles E. Tiernan the secretary, at a recent meeting tendered their congratulations to Sister Mary Ann on her jubilee. She had charge of the hospital at the Lazaretto which the Hibernian Society provided for the ship fever patients in 1847.—Years.

We have received The New Princeton Review for July and find it rich in thought as well as entertaining throughout. "Certain Tendencies in Current Literature," by R. W. Gilder, forms the opening article and is an admirable prelude to the literary treat found in the succeeding articles; "American Art since the Centennial" is admirably criticized by S. G. W. Benjamin; Sanford H. Cobb gives the reader something to think about in an article on "The Theory of Prohibition"; "Recollections of the Due de Broglie," by Mme. Blaise de Bary, treating as it does of the troublous times of the early French Revolution, cannot fail to be read with interest. "The Vicissitudes of a Palace," by Henry van Dyke, is a dissertation on the changes made in Tennyson's poem of that name; "Sevastopol in May," by Count Tolstoy, gives variety in the form of lighter reading, which with Criticisms, Notes and Reviews, and a good deal of other reading matter will be found quite sufficient to satisfy the most exacting reader.

The Beginning of the End. The beginning of disease is a slight debility or disorder of some of the vital organs, the stomach, the liver or the bowels usually. There are dyspeptic symptoms, the liver is troublesome, the skin grows tawny and unhealthy looking, there are pains in the right side or through the other points, rheas, even when they do not enter prostration of the physical energies, perhaps a fatal issue. But if the debility is not in time with Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, which is always effective as a remedy, and if should be resorted to at an early stage, there will be no reason to apprehend those inhuman consequences which follow the system often entailed by ordinary cured diseases. Par-better it is also, to employ this safe remedial agent in fever and ague, and other malarial complaints, than quinine and other potent drugs, which, even when they do prove effectual for a time, rain the stomach and impair the general health.

1887. CANTON. 1887. By Jay Gould, 2,214— Public Trial, 2,161. Dam Lady Shipley, by Price's St. Lawrence, 2,351. Full Brother to Aladdin, 2,261— Public Trial, 2,211-5.

CANTON is a cherry bay, stands just 10 hands and weighs 1000 lbs. He has a full mane and tail; a good sensible head; a bright eye; powerful quarters; deep chest; legs clean and sound; is pure gaited; in disposition is as kind as any mare or gelding, and well commands the attention of all thoughtful breeders. For terms, extended pedigree or any further particulars, address W. R. TROXELL, MOTTER'S, MD. Chicago Horseman, December 30, 1885.

When I visited Carl Burr's place to "sample" Aladdin, by Jay Gould, with a view to driving him through the Eastern Circuit, I saw his brother CANTON trot the last half of a soggy track and face a strong breeze in 1:17, drawing a driver weighing 200 lbs. There is no doubt in my mind that he can enter the 2:30 circle. He is a majestic looking bay stallion, upwards of 16 hands high. His gait, form, carriage and disposition, coupled with his breeding, eminently qualify him for a sire of trotters and carriage horses.—E. C. WALKER (Veritas). Jan 1-412
