THANKSGIVING.

The Devotions and the Festivities of Thanksgiving Day will claim attention before we issue another paper, therefore anticipate the event some days ago.

The observance of the day, has taken a firm and settled stand among the people of this land, seemingly adapting itself to the national life, as the necessary outgrowth of an inherent tendency revealing itself in widely diversified climates, and under social relations dissimilar in development. It matters not therefore when or where the custom may have had its origin, it finds its home with us and appears as an institution fixed in character and come to stay.

It becomes the people therefore earnestly, devoutly and unitedly to heed the Proclamations of the President and the Governors of the States, and reverently render unto God the thankfulness of their hearts for the mercies and blessings received in the year just closing. Not only have abundant harvests rewarded the toil of the husbandman, rich rewards the labors of the people in their shops and places of trade but peace and good order have continued in the land, and whilst pestilence has grievously afflicted a portion of the people, yet its visitation has been restricted within well defined limits.

Theoretically the scene involves sixty-five millions of persons rendering thanks to Heaven. Practically the thankful are few and widely separated, whilst the many are intent upon pleasure in thousands of forms.

But thankfulness implies the exercise of charity the greatest of the heaven born graces; clothing the naked, feeding the hungry and in every commendable way giving joy and gladness to the destitute and needy. It implies an ever present disposition to help those in need and not a desire to do some marked act of goodness on a special occasion claiming extraordinary recognition.

Those whose opportunities enable them to indulge in the pleasures of feasting on this day, should be mindful of the necessities of the poor and extend to them such tangible reasons for rejoicing as may be possible. To them "the King shall answer and say unto you, inasmuch as ye have done it unto one of the least of these my brethren, ye have done it unto me." We wish you dear readers a joyous Thanksgiving Day.

Messrs. F. J. Cheney & Co.—Gentlemen:—I have been in the general practice of medicine for most 40 years, and would say that in all my practice and experience, have never seen a preparation that I could prescribe with as much confidence of success as I can Hall's Catarrh Cure manufactured by you. Have prescribed it a great many times and its effect is wonderful, and would say in conclusion that I have yet to find a case of Catarrh that it would not cure, if they would take it according to directions.

Yours Truly, L. L. GORSUCH, M. D., Office, 215 Summit St. We will give $100 for any case of Catarrh that cannot be cured with Hall's Catarrh Cure. Taken internally. J. S. CHENEY & CO., Props., Toledo, O. Sold by Druggists, 75c.

THE REPORT OF THE BALTIMORE AND OHIO.

The annual report of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad Company, was issued on Tuesday. It shows that the total revenue for the past year was $20,353,491. The total expenses were $14,200,561, showing net earnings of $6,152,930, a decrease for the year of $385,974 as compared with the earnings of 1887. The decrease is accounted for by the sale of the express and palace car privileges and the consequent loss of income from those sources. The report shows that while there has been a considerable increase in the amount of service performed, there has also been a reduction in the comparative operating expenses. The expenditures to date on account of the Philadelphia division are shown to have been $15,764,514, all of which was for construction. The business on this division, it is claimed, shows an increase of seventy-five per cent in tons moved and an increase of thirty-six per cent in gross earnings.

It is expected that at an early day the connection will be completed between the Central Railroad of New Jersey, at or near Roselle station, and the west end of the Arthur Kill bridge, and that the New York traffic of the company will be diverted to the Staten Island terminus, in accordance with the terms of the contract between the Philadelphia and Reading, the Central of New Jersey, the Schuylkill River, East Side and the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad companies.

The charter of the Employes' Relief Association having been repealed by the Legislature, the repeal to take effect on April 1, 1889, the company will continue the association and now has a programme under consideration with this object in view.

The reduction of the floating indebtedness during the year has been $5,291,103, and funded indebtedness to the amount of $693,500 has been retired. It is claimed that the condition of the road has been materially improved in every respect and that it is now in a position to take advantage of the advantage of the rapid development that is being made in sections of country contiguous to its lines.

It is a healthful and encouraging sign that Egypt is making advancement in the matter of railroads.

The well now boring for oil near Chambersburg has reached a depth of 650 feet, with increasing indications of success.

THE NEWRY Railroad, which has just been sold by the sheriff has been purchased by A. J. Anderson, of Altoona, representing a syndicate of capitalists, who intend extending the road to Bedford.

A DISPATCH from Sharon, Pa., says that fourteen furnaces in the Shenandoah Valley, employing over 1,000 men, have advanced the wages of their employes from ten to fifteen cents a day.

Mrs. HENRY JONES, daughter of Noah Webster, of dictionary fame, died at Bridgeport, Conn., on the 12th inst. She was 93 years of age and one of the most respected ladies in the city. She leaves a large fortune.

EDDIE FINLENBINDER, of Mechanicsburg, aged 16 years, picked up a dynamite cartridge and began picking it. An explosion followed, tearing his arm off, cutting his face and head terribly and mangle his body. He is in a critical condition.

As Levi Overcash and Levi Bergenstock, of Chambersburg, Pa., were driving home in a carriage, late on Saturday night, the vehicle was struck by a train at the Western Maryland Railroad. Overcash was killed and Bergenstock severely injured.

MINISTER WEST has taken advantage of the weakness of the American public for buying all sorts of things at auction that have any notoriety attached either to them or their owners, by putting up at public sale all the old things he don't want to take along with him when he returns to his native land, thereby saving a good deal of packing as well as cost of transportation, and realizing quite a large amount of ready cash at the same time. His lordship must have acquired a right smart portion of Yankee shrewdness during his stay in this country, unless he has Scotch blood in his veins, which impels him to "turn a penny" when he has a chance.

NEWS FROM THE MOUNTAIN.

BIRD ROOST SUMMIT, PA., Nov. 20.—Autumn is gracefully waiting a compulsory "good morning" to Winter, and the latter is recognizing the polite salutation by muttering a frigid, "good bye." The weather—that ever useful topic for conversation and composition—has not been behaving in a manner worthy of the presentation of a chronometer. In fact, it has been "awfully nasty," as our cousins across the water would say. Travelling is comparatively good on the main thoroughfares, but simply atrocious everywhere else; the by-roads being rough where they are not muddy and vice versa.

The Clermont House, which is open for guests the whole year, said farewell to its last summer visitor rather recently. Monterey and the Blue Mountain House closed some time ago, and now "Not even a man nor even a beast, On the porches of lawn can be seen."

Summit Villa, the Park Hotel, Buena Vista and other hotels and boarding houses appear somewhat unfamiliar to one who observed them in the height of the season. The handsome summer cottages of Francis T. King, Mrs. Martin Hawley, Dr. E. C. Price, Dr. James Carey Thomas, Col. Price, Capt. Norwood and others, stand tenantless, awaiting the first breath of spring to open their doors to their old inhabitants. Notwithstanding these very perceptible changes there is still much life and activity to be seen.

The new railroad, which connects this point with Gettysburg, is being rapidly pushed to completion. Separate squads of workmen, representing America, Ireland, Italy and Africa, are constantly at work night and day. The terrible blazes, shaking the buildings and ground for miles around, terrify one at short intervals through the day and night, and remind the older residents of the sounds that were borne to their ears from Gettysburg, now more than a quarter of a century ago. They also bear witness that all the dynamite in the country is not in the possession of the Chicago Anarchists. The diversity of opinion respecting this railroad is only equalled by the numberless assertions made in regard to the result of the recent political campaign. Personally, I take no interest in the matter whatsoever; but I will give you a sample of the expressions that I am frequently obliged to listen to. They all refer to the new railroad.

"It is a fool's folly and will never be finished."

"If it ever is completed it will be sold for debt soon afterward, like the old Headlight Copper Co."

"It is a grand scheme and will open up the country."

"And drive the summer boarders and cottagers elsewhere."

"It has already paid those it has damaged, and its prospects seem good."

"It will find that it will have thousands upon thousands of dollars to expend in damages yet. It finances it is exempt from such forfeiture where it runs over the old bed of the Tape-Worm, but it mistakes. The very persons who received awards from the Tape-Worm can obtain damages from the new road!"

"It will be a curse to the poor element of this section. Their cattle which, from necessity, depend chiefly for sustenance upon what they can crop from the roadside, will have to be stabled or penned. So will their progeny for that matter."

Mr. David Miller, the genial host of the Clermont House, and Mr. W. P. Numemaker—who has his headquarters at that popular resort—were so successful in their former horse ventures that it is not at all improbable that the coming spring may find them again in Virginia, operating upon a much larger scale. They are both capital judges of horse flesh, and those who have had dealings with them, have found them to be away above "the tricks of the trade." Though firm believers in the old maxim—"All is fair in love and war"—yet they are too honorable, too conservative to embrace in the ancient adage the noble quadruped.

The Manterey store, which has for several years done quite a thriving business during the winter and spring months, is closed this season. A worthy substitute, however, is found in the fine store of L. P. Bloom. Last summer Mr. Bloom erected a snug little building in close proximity to the tollgate, and in addition to his trade of harness and boot making, he has bloomed forth as proprietor of a fine grocery store. There a choice line of groceries, confectioneries, tobaccos and cigars can always be found, and always at the very lowest rates.

During the past year typhoid fever and pneumonia have been remarkably prevalent in and around this locality. But owing to the skillful treatment of Dr. Charles L. Wachter, I have learned of but one case proving fatal. The victim was a colored man—a railroad employe—named Maxell. He died on the 17th inst., at the house of Mr. Joe Lee. His trouble was pneumonia, and had he followed the doctor's direction he would be alive to-day. But his determined persistence to violate the commands of his physician caused the relapse which resulted in death. Though Dr. Wachter resides in Sabillasville, Md., yet he has a very extensive practice in the counties of Franklin and Adams of this State. The close attention he gives to every case entrusted to him and, his thorough knowledge of his profession have gained for him an enviable and a merited popularity.

If any of our readers desire steady paying work, we advise them to write J. E. Whitney, nurseryman, Rochester, N. Y., for terms to agents, as he furnishes fine outfits free. His stock is warranted, and prices reasonable. Experience is not needed.

An Explanation.

What is this "nervous trouble" with which so many seem now to be afflicted? If you will remember a few years ago the word Malaria was comparatively unknown,—to-day it is as common as any word in the English language, yet this word covers only the meaning of another word used by our forefathers in times past. So it is with nervous diseases, as they and Malaria are intended to cover what our grandfathers called Biliousness, and all are caused by troubles that arise from a diseased condition of the Liver which in performing its functions find it cannot dispose of the bile through the ordinary channel is compelled to pass it off through the system, causing nervous troubles, Malaria, Bilious Fever, etc. You who are suffering can well appreciate a cure. We recommend Green's August Flower. Its cures are marvelous.

From the Carolina Clarion. On Thursday last Mr. Frederick White resigned as second assistant teacher in the public school, this place. Mr. White is entitled to the full rank of a veteran school teacher, as there are men here whose hair is silvered that were once his scholars. There is no one in this locality, probably few in the country that have served in that capacity for the number of years Mr. White has. He has held the office of Justice of Peace about 15 years, which together with other varied interests will now claim his attention. It is about 40 years since the subject of this sketch first taught school and with an occasional break of several years, he has followed the profession during that time.

The resignation of Mr. White made room for a new teacher in our schools, the choice for the place falling upon Miss Ella M. Pampel, of Frederick City, who secures the place of third assistant, the second and third assistants having been promoted to first and second, as noted in our last issue.

The W. M. R. R. Co. is placing an new siding east of the station in this place. When completed there will be probably a half mile of side track here.

Republican Justification. The Republicans of this district held a justification meeting on Saturday. They had a torch light procession, with Mr. Albert Smith as Chief Marshal and numerous aids. The procession was headed by the Emmitt Cornet Band. Among the carriages in the parade was that of Maj. O. A. Horner, Chairman of the Central Committee, containing Leslie himself, his two sons, Anna and Robert, the venerable Dr. J. W. Eichelberger, Sr., who had voted for Wm. H. Harrison in 1840, and Mr. S. N. McNair. Messrs. James F. Hickey and Joseph V. Tyson, prominent Democrats fulfilled election wagers, by marching in the parade and carrying banners, as also did Mr. W. H. Troxell, of this office, who rode in a carriage displaying his earthly possessions tied up in a bandanna handkerchief. Numerous transparencies appeared in the procession, bearing such inscriptions as: "Cleveland's Tombstone," "All is over, free trade Grover," "Pause, stranger, beneath this shaft, where the wicked cease from pernicious activity and the weary are in innocuous desecration, lie the political remains of Grover's in the cold, cold ground," "The old bandanna goes like free trade—West," "Don't mourn him, friends, why should you be dejected? because a free trade hand lies unpropitiated," "Old veto got left," "The eagle and the flag downed the rooster and the rig," etc. They followed a log cabin drawn by fourteen horses, and the rear was brought up by a miniature representation of the White House, and bearing the inscription, "From the Cabin to the White House." The illuminations throughout the town were general, and many quite beautiful. Conspicuous among them were the new bank building of Amman, Horner & Co., the Western Maryland Hotel, and the residences of J. S. Amman, E. R. Zimmerman, Geo. T. Gelwick and Jos. T. Gelwick. While the procession was crossing the square a number of rockets were sent up from the roof of the new bank. After the procession a large crowd gathered in front of the Western Maryland Hotel, and were entertained with music by the Emmitt Cornet Band and the Fairfield Glee Club. Mr. Theodore McAllister of Greenmount addressed the gathering, and Maj. O. A. Horner read a letter from Hon. L. E. McCasas regretting his absence, which was due to impaired health, caused by the work of the campaign. Hon. M. G. Urner, who was announced to speak on the occasion was prevented from coming by the death of a near relative.

Martyrs to Headache

Seek relief in vain, until they begin to use Ayer's Sarsaparilla. Then they regret the years of suffering they might have escaped had they tried this remedy earlier. The trouble was constitutional not local; and, until Ayer's Sarsaparilla did its effective work as an Alterative and Blood Purifier, they were compelled to suffer.

The wife of Samuel Page, 21 Austin st., Lowell, Mass., was, for a long time, subject to severe headaches, the result of stomach and liver disorders. A perfect cure has been effected by Ayer's Sarsaparilla.

Permanent Relief. "Every Spring, for years," writes Lizzie W. of Lowell, 232 Pilemont st., Brooklyn, N. Y., "I have had intolerable headaches. I commenced the use of Ayer's Sarsaparilla last March, and time has not had a headache since that time."

"I suffered from headache, indigestion, and debility, and was hardly able to drag myself about the home," writes Mrs. M. M. Lewis, of a st., Lowell, Mass. "Ayer's Sarsaparilla has worked a marvelous change in my case. I now feel strong and well as ever."

When Mrs. Geneva Belanger, of 24 Bridge st., Springfield, Mass., began to use Ayer's Sarsaparilla, she had suffered for some years from a serious affection of the kidneys. Every Spring, also, she was afflicted with headache, loss of appetite, and indigestion. A friend persuaded her to use Ayer's Sarsaparilla, which benefited her wonderfully. Her health is now perfect. EPPS'S COCOA BREAKFAST.

"By a thorough knowledge of the natural laws which govern the operations of digestion and nutrition, and by a careful application of the purest ingredients of well selected Cocoa, Mr. Epps has provided our breakfast tables with a delicately flavoured beverage which will save us many heavy doses of the 'Bile Beans' and 'Pain Killers' that are so often resorted to. It is by the judicious use of such articles of diet that our constitution may be gradually built up until strong enough to resist every tendency to disease. Hundreds of subtle poisons are constantly lurking in the blood, and these poisons need to be removed, and a pure and healthy blood is essential to our well-being. Epps's Cocoa is a most valuable and healthful food. It is sold in half pound tins by Grocers, and gives new life and strength to the weak and aged. 25c and 50c, at Druggists."

Collegians vs. Apprentices.

The question is often asked why educated young men do not succeed as well in obtaining employment as do boys who have grown up in trade...

First, college-bred young men are without experience on the practical side of life. The pushing, alert business man is not particularly impressed with the value of a college degree...

Moreover, the impressionable and formative period of life having been spent in their school books, they have not acquired that alertness, that power to grasp a business situation...

A box 12 inches by 11 1/2 inches, and 9 inches deep, will contain a half bushel.

DR. T. H. HOSKINS says: "The farmer who persists in working day after day from four o'clock in the morning until seven or eight at night, and expects his boys and hired men to do the same, is not doing justice to himself, to his hired laborers or to his Creator."

The farmer who would make rural pursuits attractive to his sons and induce them to continue farmers, should surround them with pleasant associations and give them a share of the profits.

To one who said, "I do not believe there is an honest man in the world," another replied, "It is impossible that any one should know all the world, but quite possible that one may know himself."

A POLE was arrested for stealing a lot of needles. Perhaps he was a magnetic pole and the needles stuck to him.

Miscellaneous.

People fret too much about trifles. Women find a sea of trouble in their housekeeping. Some one says they often put as much worry and anxiety into a loaf of bread, a pie a cake, into the weekly washing and ironing as should suffice for much weightier matters.

An important hygienic rule is never to thwart the advance-guard of sleep—the drowsy impulse—which in healthy individuals will be found to occur about the same hour each night.

One day he talked in his most earnest manner for several minutes to a young woman who had come to be married to a bright-looking young man.

"And now," he said, in closing, "I hope you fully realize the extreme importance of the step you are taking, and that you are prepared for it."

"Prepared!" she said innocently, "well, if I ain't prepared I don't know who is. I've got four common quilts and two nice ones, and four brand new feather beds, ten sheets and twelve pairs of pillow slips, four all linen tablecloths, a dozen spoons and a good six-quart brass kettle. A PHYSICIAN has discovered that the older a man grows the smaller his brain becomes. This explains why the young men know everything and the old men know nothing.

A GEORGIA editor makes the following announcement in his local columns: "We have on hand an excellent clothes washer, which we have got for a year's advertising. As we have no clothes to wash, we are offering the thing for sale cheap and to the person buying we will throw in a free local notice and a year's subscription to our paper."

A story is told of a Sunday-school teacher's a certain backwoods settlement which is worth publishing. She had a new class of young scholars, the youngest of which had neglected to give them any instruction in their catechism whatever. Coming to the first boy in the class she asked him who made him. He did not know. She told him God, and urged him to remember it. Of the next boy she asked who was the oldest man. He did not know, and the teacher told him Methuselah. So she went on down the class, asking each a question and giving them the answer.

While she was thus engaged the first boy went to the bucket after some water. The teacher returned to the head of the class, and not knowing that any was absent she asked the first boy who made him. Without hesitation the boy quickly replied, "Methuselah!"

"No," exclaimed the teacher in astonishment, "God made you!" "No, he didn't," persisted theurchin, with confidence, "the boy God made is gone after water." The teacher gave up the class.

Prepared. A minister's wife, who is not its serious-minded at all times as her husband is, tells some laughable stories relating to marriage ceremonies which her husband performed while they were living in a newly settled district in the west.

This minister always felt it his duty to give each young couple a little serious advice before he performed the marriage ceremony, and for this purpose he usually took them aside one at a time, and talked very soberly to each of them regarding the great importance of the step they were about to take, and the new responsibilities they were to assume.

One day he talked in his most earnest manner for several minutes to a young woman who had come to be married to a bright-looking young man.

"And now," he said, in closing, "I hope you fully realize the extreme importance of the step you are taking, and that you are prepared for it."

A GREAT MAGAZINE.

The Century for 1889. The question has often been asked, "to what does The Century owe its great circulation?" The Christian Union once answered, "to the one in statement that it has been fairly won, not by advertising schemes, but by the excellence which characterizes it in every department."

In their announcements for the coming year the publishers state that it has always been their desire to make The Century the most indispensable periodical of its class, so that whatever other publication might be desirable in the family, The Century could not be neglected by those who wish to keep abreast of the times in all matters pertaining to culture. And the unprecedented circulation of the magazine would seem to be the endorsement of the public to this intention.

With the November number The Century begins its thirty-seventh volume. Two great features of the magazine which are to continue throughout the new volume are already mentioned in the prospectus of the public to this intention. The first of these, written by Messrs. Nicolay and Hay, President Lincoln's private secretaries, contains the inside history of the dark days of the war, as seen from the White House.

THE SIBERIAN PAPERS, by George Kennan, are attracting the attention of the civilized world. The Chicago Tribune says that "no other magazine articles printed in the English language just now touch upon a subject which so vitally interests all civilized people in Europe and America and Asia." As is already known, copies of The Century entering Russia have these articles torn out by the customs officials on the frontier.

DURING 1889 The Century will publish the most important art feature that has yet found place in its pages. It is the result of four years' work of Mr. Timothy Cole, the leading magazine engraver of the world, in the galleries of Europe, engraving from the originals the greatest pictures by the old masters. A series of papers on Ireland, its customs, landscapes, etc., will appear, and there are to be illustrated articles on Bible scenes, treating especially the subjects of the International Sunday-School Lessons. George W. Cable will write "Strange, True Stories of Louisiana." There will be novelettes and short stories by leading writers, occasional articles on war subjects (supplemental to the famous "War Papers" by General Grant and others, which have been appearing in The Century), etc., etc.

The Century costs four dollars a year, and it is published by The Century Co., of New York, who will send a copy of the full prospectus to any one on request.

One day he talked in his most earnest manner for several minutes to a young woman who had come to be married to a bright-looking young man.

"And now," he said, in closing, "I hope you fully realize the extreme importance of the step you are taking, and that you are prepared for it."

"Prepared!" she said innocently, "well, if I ain't prepared I don't know who is. I've got four common quilts and two nice ones, and four brand new feather beds, ten sheets and twelve pairs of pillow slips, four all linen tablecloths, a dozen spoons and a good six-quart brass kettle. If I ain't prepared, no girl in this country ever was!"
