THE OLD HOME.

BY ARTHUR L. SALMON.

In the quiet shadows of twilight I stand by the garden door, And gaze on the old, old homestead, So cherished and loved of yore. But the ivy now is twining Untrained o'er window and wall; And no more the voice of the children Is echoing through the hall.

Through years of pain and sorrow, Since first I had to part, Has lingered around my heart; The porch embowered with roses, The gables' drooping eaves,

And the song of the birds at twilight

Amid the orchard leaves. And the forms of those who loved me In the happy childhood years Appear at the dusky windows, Through vision dimmed with tears. I hear their voices calling

And I stretch my arms toward them In the gloom of the twilight gray. But only the night winds answer, As I cry through the dismal air, And only the bat comes swooping From the darkness of its lair;

From the shadowy far away,

Yet still the voice of my childhood Is calling from far away, -Chambers' Journal.
