BE STRONG.

Be strong to-day; the world needs men Of nerve and muscle, heart and brain.
To war for Truth and conquer Wrong.
The fight is on; the foes combine;
The order passes down the line:
"Quit you like men; be strong."

Be strong; the world hath also need—Of feet to ache and hearts to bleed.
Burdens there are to bear along;
But, though the end we may not see, Tis not the meanest destiny To bear and to be strong.

Be strong, but not in self. Go whence The breathings of Omnipotence Shall sweep the nerve-strings full and long;
And from their impulse shall arise Those deep, celestial harmonies That comfort and make strong.

And Patience, too, must come to rest Within thy striving, throbbing breast.
That thinks to-morrow all too long;
Thus filling out in breadth and length
The perfect character—for strength Unbridled is not strong.

Yes, Right must win, since God is just;
Our hardest lesson is to trust.
But His great plan still moves along.
To-day is but the chrysalis That holds to-morrow; feeling this,
Be patient and be strong.

Each hath his mission. If it be My lot to toil but not to see The fruits which to my toil belong, I know One whose all-seeing eye My humblest task shall glorify,
And he shall make me strong.

MUTINEERS AND SHARKS

A Mate's Awful Experience in the Pacific Ocean.

There passed through this city to-day a man whose terrible experiences in the North Pacific Ocean equal those of Robinson Crusoe.
This gentleman was N. C. Marks, a sea captain, en route from Portland, Ore., to the Atlantic coast, and the story as heard from his own lips is as follows:

"I was wrecked on the coast of British Columbia during the terrible gale which recently swept from one end to the other of the Pacific coast, and am now on my way to report to the owners of the ship and cargo. She was a whaler named the Blanche Buckingham, and hailed from the Pelican Inlet, on the coast of Maine. We sailed from port nearly three years ago with a crew of eleven besides the captain and two mates. I was first mate. The captain was an old whaler named Captain Leroy Autrey, and he has been the friend of my lifetime. After striking the whaling grounds we had excellent luck, and were stowing away considerable oil. Everything on board was peaceable, with the exception of two men, who had hard feeling for the captain, and conducted themselves in such a manner as to cause them to be thrown into irons upon two occasions. Upon the last occasion they seemed to have repent and promised better behavior, and everyone supposed all trouble had been amicably settled.
SIX HUNDRED MILES FROM LAND.

"Some two months ago we were off the coast of British Columbia, some six hundred miles from land, and one day when I was out with nine of the crew in two yawls, one of my crew noticed a signal being worked from the mainmast rigging.
It was evidently one of distress and I at once hastened toward the ship.
It was a little after mid-day. My mind was filled with forebodings, for the captain and the second mate had remained on board with the two men I have spoken of and the cook.
As we neared the ship the man in the rigging proved to be the second mate, who warned us not to come alongside and said the two men had killed the captain, and that he had only saved his own life by springing into the rigging armed with a harpoon, which prevented the murderers from following him. The cook was threatened, but begged for his life and had been seered in the cabin. My first thought was to board the ship, but the mate told me the men were crouched on deck armed with harpoons, so I withdrew.

"Waiting until after dark, I rowed to within a short distance of the ship, and removing all my clothing, I armed myself with a meat knife, slipped into the water and struck out for the ship. All the firearms on board were locked in a strong iron-bound box, the only key of which I had in my possession. I intended swimming to her, climb upon the rudder, secure the pistols, and either capture or kill the murderers.

"I had succeeded in swimming about 100 yards from the yawl, when my heart was almost paralyzed with horror as I became aware of the presence of a shark. I could hear him rushing toward me, his dorsal fin cleaving the water like a spear. The horror of a terrible death crept over me, and in an instant I seemed to live an age of suspense. Quickly drawing my knife, and as I felt the swell on the water which preceded the monster, I gathered myself for a desperate attempt to dive, which was successfully done, and the huge form shot over me like a flash far out into the depths beyond. The ship was only a few yards distant, and I realized it was a fight for life. I was desperately wedged between two foes, which I knew to be equally dangerous.

NO HOPE OF RESCUE.
"If I cried to the mutinous seamen aboard, they might refuse me assistance, and if not, would perhaps save me only to be butchered.
To escape the shark was next to an impossibility, which I recognized as I heard the baffled monster making the water boil as he turned to renew the attack. I realized it would be but an instant before the man-eater would be upon me again, and I fairly threw my body out of the water in making such strenuous efforts to gain the ship's rudder. I could again hear that chilling sound like the cold cutting of a knife through the water. I felt the swell of the monster behind me, and every fibre in my body was struggling to escape. My breath was suspended, and my eyes seemed springing from their sockets trying to measure the distance to the place of safety. All at once the near approach of the fish filled me with the horror of failure, and I turned to meet it with the knife which I carried in my teeth, when a heavy body shot over me into the sea, and I was nearly drawn into the vortex.
I heard the steel-like jaws of the monster close upon and crush the unknown object as I grasped the rudder, and, almost senseless, yielded to relaxation. I don't know how long I lay there, and never an instant pillow against its mother's bosom rested more sweetly than I.
It was a moment of peace with all the world, and my entire being seemed going out in prayer of thanksgiving for my miraculous escape.

SAVED BY THE CAPTAIN.
"Hearing the sound of voices above me, I recognized the speakers as being the two seamen. 'The old brute will never put us in irons again,' I heard one of them say, and I knew that the murdered captain had saved my life; that they had thrown his body into the jaws of the hungry shark, and the friend of my lifetime, while cold in death, was my savior.

"Aroused to action, I climbed up the ruder post, and finally reached the opening, through which I crept into the pantry. I crept into the apartment where the ordnance chest was kept, though the room was inky dark. I found it, and had opened the lid when I heard men at the door. I sprang to fasten it, but it was too late, and one of them entered with a lantern in his hand.
He uttered a curse of surprise as he recognized me, and in the same instant I kicked the lantern from his hand, and we were in total darkness. Quickly drawing my knife, I plunged it into his body, and with a dying yell he sank to the floor; so deeply was the knife thrust into his body that the handle was drawn from my grasp as the dead mutineer dropped. The other man was carrying an axe, with which to chop open the arms chest, and as his comrad went down he struck at me, the keen edge crushing into my side. Mad with pain, I clinched with him, and with both my hands caught him by his long, full beard. With the madness of a maniac I pressed him to the floor with the determination of crushing him to death. He was a smaller man than I; but, crized with pain and growing weak from the loss of blood, I made one determined effort; I doubled him up, and, bending my entire force upon him, I heard the cracking of joints, a groan, a gurgle, and a yielding of the muscles. A dizziness came, and I swooned.

I CRAWLED ON DECK.
"When I revived it was still dark, and in a weakened condition I crawled upon the deck. I tried to draw myself upon the gunwale to signal my crew to come, but could not get above the deck. I thought of the mate in the rigging, and called him to come down, but he did not recognize my voice, and thought it a trick of the two seamen to decoy him to the deck, and made no reply to my calls. After some time spent in this manner I again swooned. Nothing more was known to me until two days afterward, when I came to consciousness surrounded by a portion of my crew. Daybreak appeared soon after I swooned, and the mate in the rigging recognizing me lying on the deck, notified my crew, who were waiting a few yards away. They came on board and found the corpses of the dead seamen; one with a knife piercing his heart and the other with his neck broken.

"Soon after regaining consciousness we put for the land, and on the way encountered the gale which drove us ashore. We all escaped with our lives, but the vessel was dashed to pieces by the waves. I cannot begin to tell you what we passed through for two weeks tramping along the coast toward civilization. But here I am safe, though considerably the worse for wear, but still thankful that all our lives were preserved."—Pillsburg Dispatch.

Why the Leaves Turn.
"Probably not one person in a thousand knows why leaves change their color in the fall," remarked an eminent botanist the other day.
"The common and old fashioned idea is that all this red and golden glory we see now is caused by frosts.
A true and scientific explanation of the causes of the coloring of leaves would necessitate a long and intricate discussion. Stated briefly and in proper language, those causes are these: The green matter in the tissue of a leaf is composed of two colors, red and blue. When the sap ceases to flow in the fall and the natural growth of the trees ceases oxidation of the tissue takes place. Under certain conditions the green of the leaf changes to red, under different conditions it takes on a yellow or brown tint. The difference in color is due to the difference in combination of the original constituents of the green tissue and to the varying conditions of climate, exposure and soil. A dry, cold climate produces more brilliant foliage than one that is damp and warm. This is the reason that our American autumns are so much more gorgeous than those of England. There are several things about leaves that even science cannot explain. For instance, why one of two trees growing side by side, of the same age and having the same exposure, should take on a brilliant red in the fall and the other should turn yellow; or why one branch of a tree should be highly colored and the rest of the tree have only a yellow tint, are questions that are as impossible to answer as why one member of a family should be perfectly healthy and another sickly. Maples and oaks have the brightest colors."

WHEN large quantities of roots are to be stored, and there is no root cellar for this purpose, it is far better to construct pits than to fill the cellar of one's dwelling house with a general assortment of roots and vegetables to rot the air of the entire house.

"Don't you know how to spell?" asked the exasperated teacher of the extremely phonetic boy. "Oh, yes," said the boy, "I know how to spell well enough, but the men who made the dictionaries don't seem to."—Somerville Journal.

Abuse of the Eye.
The abuse of the eye is the crime of the age. I am prepared to demonstrate that at least nine-tenths of the prevailing sleeplessness of which we hear so much is due to nervousness directly traceable to the optic nerve. We are wearing our eyes over books and desks and types, and the effect shows itself not only in the appearance of the organ itself, but in its retrospective effect on nerve and brain. I have discovered a remedy for sleeplessness, and for the reason that I have never known it to fail I am fortified in my opinion that the whole trouble arises from overstrain of the eyes.
Take a small cloth—any piece of napped towel—and fold in it two small pieces of ice at a proper distance apart to exactly cover the eyes when the cloth is laid across them. Then lie down adjust the cloth with the ice over the closed eyes, and you will be asleep in a very short while.

The Egyptian Pyramids.
The great Pyramid of Ghizeh is the largest structure of any kind ever erected by the hand of man.
Its original dimensions at the base were 764 feet square, and its perpendicular height in the highest point 488 feet; it covers 4 acres, 1 rood and 22 perches of ground, and has been estimated by an eminent English architect to have cost not less than £30,000,000, which in United States currency would be about $145,200,000. Internal evidences provided that the great pyramid was begun about the year 2170 B. C., about the time of the birth of Abraham. It is estimated that about 5,000,000 tons of heavy stone were used in its construction, and the evidence points to the fact that these stones were brought a distance of about 700 miles, from quarries in Arabia.—New York Journal.

It is remarkable how moral courage will almost always overcome brute force. When Gen. Clarke was subduing hostile Indians, he once had before him a chief, whose record was one of bloodshed and pillage, and who made it a boast that he feared no man. Clarke treated him with the utmost contempt, accused him of being a sneak who would never fight, and finally had all his insignia of rank stripped off him. The savage, who had always been accustomed to having people cringe before him, was completely awed and humbled by this treatment, and begged for peace and pardon. He never gave the whites any further trouble.

A Funny Incident.
There was a funny incident in Philadelphia the other day. Some deaf and dumb boys who were playing baseball on a vacant lot were ordered off by a policeman. They wrote on a slip of paper, "Why?" and the policeman wrote underneath their inquiry, "The mar-mare forbids it." They went to a lot four blocks away, and finished their game without the interference of the "mare" or any one else.

NEW Arrival. "Thot's a quare watch ye have."
Sporting Man. "That's a stop-watch. By a little pressure here it can be stopped on the instant."
"Be gorry, now, thot's foine!
Soon as y'r afther seein' phot toom is ye zec can stop th' watch an' save th' machinery."—New York Tribune.

It is said that Jay Gould was a witty young man. But, of course, so sharp a financier could not long be as short as the brevity of wit requires, or fail to discover that there is not much serious gain to be made out of laughing stocks.—American.

BUSINESS MEN'S ASSOCIATION.

Different persons engaged in business throughout this community have commented favorably upon our article of several weeks past in favor of forming a Business Men's Association in Emmitsburg. No business man can fail to see the importance of such an organization, and we will be pleased to do all in our power towards effecting its organization, but we can't go ahead and organize without the co-operation of others in the matter. We shall be pleased to call a meeting to that end at any time which may be suggested.

In our opinion this is the only way to solve the problem of a railroad between this place and Gettysburg, which is acknowledged on all sides to be greatly needed. This is the way to "boom a town" and start manufacturing industries. Last week while traveling between Baltimore and Philadelphia on the B. & O. Railroad we were impressed by a large advertisement placed in a conspicuous position at the railroad depot at New Ark, Delaware, which read thus: "New Ark, Delaware Ground Free to Manufacturers." Our impression of course was that this must be an enterprising place, and who can say they were not correct? Why can't the business men of Emmitsburg offer just such inducements? But first we must have a railroad in order to open up a northern market.

Let us hear from our business men on this subject.

The trial of the conspirators in the Cronin case, is progressing slowly and the prospect is, that the public will eventually learn something of the true working of the Clan-na-Gael as the witnesses will be compelled in the course of their testimony to reveal the mysteries of the organization whose members were sworn to obey orders even to the extent of murdering those who had made themselves obnoxious or dangerous to the association.

Surely it is time that we as a nation should have our eyes open to the danger of allowing foreigners to maintain, under the protection of our government these secret associations which sap the very foundations of law and order and work continually to the injury of those safeguards to which as individuals we have a right to look for protection.

Liberty is a glorious thing and we are grateful for the heritage of freedom which our father's have bequeathed us, but it is possible to have too much of even a good thing and in this superabundance lies our greatest danger. When freedom degenerates into license and our laws become lax enough for anarchy to raise its voice in defiance of their enactments, it is time to look the danger squarely in the face and teach these reckless foreigners who are forbidden to propagate their doctrines in their own land, that the protection accorded them by our government, is a protection under our laws which they will not be allowed either to evade or overthrow, and public meetings at which the emblems of our country are treated with contempt, and the name of God blasphemed should be promptly suppressed and their leaders severely punished if we hope to maintain the dignity of government and the supremacy of law.

NEW CARS FOR THE B. & O.

The Baltimore and Ohio R. R. Co. have recently given an order for four additional trains of Vestibuled Cars, which will be placed in service between New York and Chicago before the close of the present year. The Baltimore and Ohio now operates a daily Vestibuled service between Chicago and New York, and Cincinnati and New York, this new equipment will give them a double, daily Vestibuled service on their Chicago line. The constant improvement being made in its roadway, motive power and car equipment by the present management of the B. & O. is rapidly bringing the pioneer rail road of America into popular favor as a passenger route between the East and West.

The Westinghouse Electric Light Company of Pittsburgh, Pa., has just secured the contract to erect a central station for a very large electric light plant in Pekin, China. The town is to be lit up throughout with incandescent lamps.

A MONUMENT erected to the memory of Gen. Caesar Rodney, of revolutionary fame, was unveiled at Dover, Del., on Wednesday. Hon. Thos. F. Bayard was the orator of the day.

PROBABLY the highest price ever paid by an American for a foreign title, is in the case of the recent marriage of Miss Clara Huntington to Prince Hatzfeldt, her father having paid debts of the Prince's amounting to millions of dollars before the wedding.

A SHOCKING experience has been given by two sailors who survived the loss of the British steamship Earmoor, of how they lived for twenty days without food or water, in an open boat in mid ocean. They kept alive by sucking the blood from those who had died from exposure and starvation.

THE authorities of Emmitsburg should have some law enacted to especially meet the case cited in this issue of the three Woodyard men who every once in a while give trouble in our community. There case is one that will admit of desperate measures. They are bad and dangerous characters when drunk, although civil enough at other times, and as they reside in the state of Pennsylvania, whenever they get into trouble just keep in the shade, never coming to town except late at night. If the whipping post law could be extended to meet this case it would be well suited.

SUMMARY OF NEWS.

POSTMASTER HARRITY of Philadelphia has been removed and Mr. John Field appointed to the position.

A NEW cotton picking machine has been tested in Mississippi which it is claimed, will do the work of 100 hands.

A LONG ISLAND hospital surgeon has undertaken to make a new nose for a woman with a live chicken's breast bone.

LIVERPOOL bought 700,000 barrels of American apples and London 350,000 barrels during the season recently ended.

THE worst feature about catarrh is its dangerous tendency to consumption. Hood's Sarsaparilla cures catarrh by purifying the blood.

A YOUNG man is suing the city of Philadelphia for $50,000 for being sent improperly to the pest hospital where he contracted small-pox.

IN the base ball series between the New York and Brooklyn clubs for the world's championship, the former was successful, having won six games out of nine.

THE Co-operative Flint Glass Association's extensive buildings at Beaver Falls, Pa., were burned last Friday. Loss between $60,000 and $70,000; insurance $32,000.

GROUND was broken for Dr. Talmage's New Tabernacle on Monday last, the first spadeful of earth being turned by the pastor himself, after appropriate ceremonies in which several other clergymen took part, in the presence of a vast assemblage of people.

OLIVER GARRISON, one of the oldest and most prominent of St. Louis citizens, and a pioneer in the steamboat business, committed suicide Monday afternoon in Forest Park, St. Louis, by shooting himself through the head. Dependencey at an incurable kidney ailment was the cause of his self-destruction. Commodore Garrison was his brother.

A man who has practiced medicine for 40 years, ought to know a little about sugar; read what he says. TOLEDO, O., Jan. 10, 1887. Messrs. F. J. Cheney & Co.—Gentlemen:—I have been in the general practice of medicine for most 40 years, and would say that in all my practice and experience, have never seen a preparation that I could prescribe with as much confidence of success as I can Hall's Catarrh Cure manufactured by you. Have prescribed it a great many times and its effect is wonderful, and would say in conclusion that I have yet to find a case of Catarrh that it would not cure, if they would take it according to directions, Yours Truly,

L. L. GORSUCH, M. D., Office, 215 Summit St.

We will give $100 for any case of Catarrh that can not be cured with Hall's Catarrh Cure. Taken internally.

WHAT IS SCROFULA

It is that impurity in the blood, which, accumulating in the glands of the neck, produces unsightly lumps or swellings; which causes painful running sores on the arms, legs, or feet; which develops ulcers in the eyes, ears, or nose, often causing blindness or deafness; which is the origin of pimples, cancerous growths, or the many other manifestations usually ascribed to "humors," which, fastening upon the lungs, causes consumption and death. Being the most ancient, it is the most general of all diseases or affections, for very few persons are entirely free from it.

How Can It Be CURED

By taking Hood's Sarsaparilla, which, by the remarkable cures it has accomplished, often when other medicines have failed, has proven itself to be a potent and peculiar medicine for this disease. Some of these cures are really wonderful. If you suffer from scrofula, be sure to try Hood's Sarsaparilla. "My daughter Mary was afflicted with scrofulous sores on the face and neck for 22 months and till she became six years of age. Lumps formed in her neck, and one of them after growing to the size of a pigeon's egg, became a running sore for over three years. We gave her Hood's Sarsaparilla, when the lump and all indications of scrofula entirely disappeared, and now she seems to be a healthy child." J. S. CARLISLE, Naughton, N. J.

patronage and success which it enjoys.
Its proprietors have our best wishes for continued advancement.

COMEDY.—The Sterling Comedy Company, who come well recommended by the press generally, commenced last night with a week of entertainments in McClellan Opera House, the play being "Our Uncle from Caterangus." It was well set, and the very amusing situations highly pleased the large audience. The entertainment closed with a laughable farce. This evening they give "Rip Van Winkle"; Wednesday, "Davy Crockett"; Thursday, "Monte Cristo"; Friday, "The Rag Pickers' Daughter"; Saturday, Dr.
"Jekyll and Mr. Hyde"; Saturday afternoon matinee "Midnight's Plea-Nie." The prices are fixed at the low figures of 10 and 20 cents.—Gettysburg Courier.

The November Electric has a number of excellent articles. "The Progress of Co-operation," by George Jacob Hol-yoake and M. Millerand, tells us the latest facts about a most important movement in labor reform. "Russian Characteristics" is the first of a series of papers, which promise to be full of interest and instruction. Those interested in the religious life of the great Catholic orders will find suggestive reading in "A Glimpse into a Jesuit Novitiate," by M. H. Dziwicki. W.
S. Lilly gives us a vigorous and thoughtful paper in the form of dialogue, entitled "In Search of Religion." Mr.
Graham Sandberg's visit to the mysterious City of Lhasa. An article supposed to have been written by Mr.
Gladstone, treats the relations of Italy in the Tripartite Alliance in a way which foreshadows the Liberal policy, when the English Home Rule party gets into power. The paper on "Eastern Women," by Horace Visior, is very racy and entertaining. The Magazine has many short papers, sketches, poems, etc., of superior worth, which lend variety to its contents.

Hon. I. C. DILLON, of Hanover, has

On Sunday night the street lamps were allowed to burn all night. Such a wasteful waste of oil must have scared the town fathers, as on Monday and Tuesday nights they weren't even lighted. Perhaps the moon which was only four days old on Monday was expected to shine through the dense clouds hanging over head. If that was the case, the expectations were not realized and pedestrians groped their way in darkness.

next Sabbath evening. On Wednesday, Nov. 6, the Rev. Alexander Proudfoot, D. D., of Baltimore, will deliver an address upon the same topic at 2.30 o'clock, P. M., in this place, and in the evening at 7 o'clock in Taneytown. All friends of missions and the public generally are cordially invited to attend these services.

One Fact

Is worth a column of rhetoric, said an American statesman. It is a fact, established by the testimony of thousands of people, that Hood's Sarsaparilla does cure scrofula, salt rheum, and other diseases or affections arising from impure state or low condition of the blood.
It also overcomes that tired feeling, creates a good appetite, and gives strength to every part of the system.
Try it.

Stephen in the Pen Again.

On Tuesday afternoon, Stephen Woodyard, colored, a well known and desperate character of this neighborhood was arrested and lodged in jail for disturbance of the peace. The arrest was made by constable Ashbaugh, and as "Steve" resisted he had to summon aid. The officer and his aids were interfered with in the discharge of duty by Frank and "Link" Woodyard, both brothers of "Steve," who threatened to break the jail open if their brother was put in it.
As soon as it got dark their threat was carried into execution, and the lock on the jail door was broken and "Steve" set at liberty. In a short time however "Steve" was rearrested and again put in the pen, where he remained until released by the proper authorities on Wednesday evening. While taking "Steve" to jail the second time "Link" again interfered with the officers, but this time was settled by being knocked down. Frank, the man charged with breaking the lock is still at large.

A Real Curiosity.

Mr. John W. McClellan, of Lingamore, has just finished a remarkable piece of work. From a block of walnut wood 28 inches long, 8 by 10 inches square, he carved the running gears of a wagon complete; wheels, tongue chains, tongue, single trees, double tree, stay chains, bolster and bolster pin, coupling pin, haws, dog irons, hind haws and rubbers. It cannot be taken apart, the wheels turn but will not come off, the rubbers can be drawn so as to lock both wheels the same as on any other wagon. The single trees and double trees complete, neither can they be taken off; stay chains work loose but cannot be taken off, neither can the tongue chains be taken off. It all works complete, none of it has ever been apart, can not be taken apart unless broken apart.
Hundreds of people have been to see it and say it is one of the greatest curiosities they ever saw or heard of. Several attempts have been made to buy it and good bids made on it. Mr. McClellan's price is one thousand dollars.—

The Verdict Unanimous.

W. D. Sult, Druggist, Bippus, Ind., testifies: "I can recommend Electric Bitters as the very best remedy. Every bottle sold has given relief in every case. One man took six bottles, and was cured of Rheumatism of 10 years' standing." Abraham Hare, druggist, Belleville, Ohio, affirms:
"The best selling medicine I have ever handled in my 20 years' experience, is Electric Bitters." Thousands of others have added their testimony, so that the verdict is unanimous that Electric Bitters do cure all diseases of the Liver, Kidneys or Blood. Only a half dollar a bottle all Drug stores.

A Woman's Discovery.

"Another wonderful discovery has been made and that too by a lady in this country. Disease fastened its clutches upon her and for seven years she withstood its severest tests, but her vital organs were undermined and death seemed imminent.
For three months she coughed incessantly and could not sleep. She bought of us a bottle of Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption and was so much relieved on taking first dose that she slept all night and with one bottle has been miraculously cured. Her name is Mrs. Luther Lutz."

Sores, Tetter, Chapped Hands, Chillsbains, Corns, and all Skin Eruptions, and positively cures Piles, or no pay required. It is guaranteed to give perfect satisfaction, or money refunded. Price 25 cents per box. For sale by all Druggists.

Grape Cure Establishment.

Mr. Speer, of New Jersey, whose wines have such a well merited and extended reputation all over this country and Europe, for their age and excellent properties in cases of sickness, and are so famous for their curative properties, is about to build a large Hotel or Grape Cure Establishment on one corner of his vineyard. The House will accommodate five or six hundred guests who are to have the privilege of roaming among the vines, in the morning to pluck the ripe grapes and breakfast on them while the cool dew is yet on.

Public Roads.

MR. EDITOR.—In your issue of Oct. 11, you had an article on road making, and among other things, spoke of Joseph Hobbs as having kept the Taneytown road in such excellent condition, while Delaplane threw from the side ditches huge lumps of dirt. Now if Delaplane threw larger lumps than Hobbs he must have used a derrick. Several years ago the Waynesboro road, under the supervision of John Adams, and what is known as Foller's Hill was made almost impassable by rocks for breakers, they having been hauled there while there were lots of good material close at hand to have made them with.
At present the same road is under the management of John A. Horner, and is in a better condition than it has been for years. Side ditches are all open, mud holes filled with broken stones and covered with gravel. And furthermore, had the roads been made by the best of road makers owing to the rains and floods of the past season they would all have to be made over. I think it is poor policy to find fault with the Supervisors this season, they did not send the rains and floods. If high waters wash a bridge away is it the fault of the builder? If so then there are lots of poor bridge builders.

The above communication, the first received on the road question, is greeted with pleasure, and printed as received.
We hope that this will serve as a beginning of a thorough discussion of the road system, for which we have already offered to allow space in these columns.
But we fear that our correspondent has made a slight mistake in the conclusion he has drawn of our motives in this matter. As for finding fault with the supervisors, there could be no benefit derived from that. We have before stated and repeat, that it is the system we are at war with. We did not say that Mr. Hobbs kept the Taneytown road in such excellent condition. But our informant stated that Hobbs kept the road in the best condition it had been in within his recollection.

We are glad to hear of Mr. Horner's improvement of the Waynesboro road, hence if the system was what it should be he would be continued thereon and not allow another man to be appointed next year who will possibly undo all the good he has done. In regard to the work done by the late John Adams, is it not the fault of the system that he should have been allowed to do imperfect work and receive pay therefor?
We recently heard a man say that the Taneytown road, notwithstanding the different men who have had charge of its improvement, is no better to-day than it was thirty years ago, or at the time the old plank road was abandoned.
Now Frederick County pays for the repairing of this road from Emmitsburg to Bridgeport, a distance of five miles, at the rate of twelve dollars a mile or sixty dollars a year. Take this amount for thirty years, about the time the plank road was abandoned, and we see that $1,800 has been expended on this road without permanent improvement.
We mention this road particularly because it has become the subject of discussion and is one of the most important roads in our district. Hadn't we better expend the same amount annually in interest and have the principal devoted to the building of permanent roadways, such as we have shown will prove a large saving to farmers in horses and vehicles besides enhancing the value of their lands.

The Chamber of Torture

Is the apartment to which the unhappy sufferer from inflammatory rheumatism is confined, if ere the crisis of pain is reached, that fine preventive, Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, is used by persons of a rheumatic tendency, much unnecessary suffering is avoided. Nervous, anæmic and sedative, while having none but a specific effect, are yet very desirable at times. Yet can they produce no lasting effect upon rheumatism, because they have no power to eliminate from the blood the rheumatic virus. Hostetter's Stomach Bitters does this and checks at the outset a disease which if allowed to gain headway, is next to impossible to dislodge or to do more than relieve. Rheumatism, if it should be remembered, is a disease with a fatal tendency from its propensity to attack the heart. A resort to the Bitters should, therefore, be prompt.
Dyspepsia, kidney complaint, malaria and nervousness are relieved by it.

MR. WM. BLAIR, editor and publisher of the Waynesboro Village Record, has been sick for several weeks, and on Monday morning suffered a slight attack of paralysis, losing the use of his left hand. The Record of this week states that he is able to be about his room, but is very weak, and that the paralysis gives evidence of soon passing away.
We hope to hear of his entire recovery.

The Catholic Congress at Baltimore.

Delegates and others attending the Catholic Congress, to be held at Baltimore, November 10th to 12th, should travel via the Baltimore and Ohio R.R.
Reduced rates will be made from all points on the B. & O. east of the Ohio River, for all trains November 7th to 12th, valid for return trip until November 10th, inclusive. The magnificent buildings of the new Catholic University are located upon the Metropolitan Branch of the B. & O. R. R. in the suburbs of Washington, and a fine view of them can be obtained from the windows of all B. & O. trains approaching Washington from the west. Please bear in mind that all trains to Baltimore from the West run via Washington.

Affected by Coal Gas.

Miss Julia J. McDevitt of this place was taken suddenly ill last week, and Mrs. Mary J. McDevitt and Miss Annie Wise sat up with her on Friday night.
During the night Mrs. McDevitt fainted and Miss Annie Wise was taken very sick. A neighbor was called in who discovered that the house was full of coal gas. An investigation showed that the stove pipe was nearly filled up with paper, which had been put in there last spring by the hired girl, who set fire to put in order to heat the pipe and make it blacken easier, no one being aware that the paper had not all burned. The ladies affected by the gas have entirely recovered, but Miss McDevitt is still quite ill from other causes.

From the Clarion.

Several weeks ago several cases of scarlet fever developed here, they did not prove to be of the virulent type and we are gratified to be able to report the recovery of all and no new cases have been reported.

The Sterling Comedy Company held the boards in Albough's Hall during last week. Of their seven productions, Hazel Kirk, Monte Cristo and Rip Van Winkle were produced in the best form and they excelled in the order named.
One must not require or expect dramatic talent of the first order in travelling companies and while this one lays no claim to such eminence, it is certainly the best that has yet come this way.
The complete eschewal of words, hints and jokes of questionable propriety is a feature that recommends them and they are able at all times to interest a not too critical audience.

Mr. Harry Kappes has succeeded in completely restoring the harmony that has been silent for several generations, in an ancient German instrument, belonging to Mr. Edward T. Schroder of Frederick. It is a clock and pipe organ; the pipes are of wood and are thirty in number. It was built by Johann Schlegel of Schwartzwald, Germany.
No one living had ever heard its music until Mr. Kappes repaired it. Mr.
Schroder's grandmother told him that it had made sweet music and it surely does. There are six automaton that hold clarionets and horns and raise and lower them at the beginning and end of each piece. It plays eight charming pieces of music. The scale is an oddity; the usual letters and in addition thereto an H. (two) no flats and but three sharps in the thirty notes. When Mr. K. is done with it, it will be perfect in all of its parts.

fear he'd loose it, although the bayonet would undoubtedly be a great help in getting rabbits. We expect to report a of the inexorable law of merit. The company is a strong one throughout, and a whole week, with change of programme each night, means an extensive repertory and educated artists. Mr. W. B.

Porter and Miss Florence Porter, who take leading roles, are stars of the first magnitude and have already won a strong hold on the public favor.

Some of the best plays of the company's extensive repertory are yet to do for the remaining nights of the week and those who have not seen this excellent and refined troupe work should make use of the opportunity. The admission is so cheap that all can go,
