THE CITY'S CROWD.

BY JAMES G. HEWLIN.

The city's crowd! What a motley throng Of people compose it, as to and fro, Laughing or frowning, they hurry along:

On business intent; On pleasure bent— Laughter with sounds of sobbing blend;

Where do they come from—where do they go?

Where do they go when the day is done? When the light with the gloom of night is blended,

And the twinkling stars Through their lattice bars, Each in his place, show one by one

Their crystal lanterns, God-attended.

What are their hopes, and what are their fears?

How many shall quaff from the cup success?

How many remember the burned-out years

Of the past by its bitter wretchedness?

Memories of hopes denied, and tears Shed at the bier of loneliness!

Backward and forward the city's crowd Sweeps ever and ever, a motley throng;

Pleasure in fancy; woe in a shroud Of black, meet and mingle and hurry along.

Hither and thither; Whence from? and whither?

How many shall live and how many shall wither

Through the night, in the night, When the day shall be ended,

And its pallid, cold light, Into darkness be blended?

THE SILENT SEVEN.

[Though we have no sympathy with the political aspirations of struggling womanhood, we consider the following picture of her wrongs in this respect, too good to be lost. It is in fact the best presentation of the subject we have ever seen.]

[Digest of Mrs. Lide Meriwether's Address before the National American Woman Suffrage Association, Feb. '91.]

In this great and good government of ours, this so called free republic there are seven classes of people who have no voice in the government, viz: Minors, aliens, paupers, criminals, lunatics, idiots, and women. If a man is known by the company he keeps, women must draw their own conclusions from this list.

First on the list come minors. It is deemed essential that the novice should spend some years of his life in the study of political questions. Therefore no boy can cast a ballot until he is twenty-one years old. But the girl beside him may go on in years until she reaches seventy-one, and yet never reach her political majority. And yet although a woman never grows up, if she have a son that goes astray, from the whole region round about goes up the cry, "why didn't his mother train him better?"

The next class of political mutes are aliens, but a residence of five years endows them with the faculty of speech, and in this case we find that every politician practically has his advertisement out,—"full science of American politics taught in one lesson," and that lesson so simple that a fool may understand it. Moreover, our politicians have reached such a sublime height of patriotism that, instead of requiring remuneration from their pupils, they bestow it upon them, in the shape of schooners of beer, quarts of the genuine American liquid or its equivalent in United States currency. This, however, applies only to the male foreigner. His wife and daughter, you will remember, are and will remain, political aliens.

The third incept stands on the statute books inapt paper. A man, who is incapable of earning his own bread is held—in some of our States—unfit to have a voice in making the law, or choosing the law-makers. But why should all American women be classed with this individual? Are our women all paupers?

In the little State of Massachusetts, 251,158 women are earning their own living; in New York city, 200,000, and all these outside of domestic service. And besides these we find 14,465 women at the head of commercial houses, 2,136 architects and chemists, 216 stock raisers and ranchers, 56,800 farmers and planters, and employed in other bread winning occupations, over 3,500,000. Are these to be classed with paupers?

Next on the list of the voiceless, stands the unpardoned criminal. All right that he should be denied the law making power; but why the women of this land should be kneaded up wholesale into the same batch with him is one of the things in the philosophy of American politics that "passeth all understanding," all the statistics show that our prisons are filled with male criminals, with only one here and there, of the other sex. Is this the reason women are placed in the same list?

Fifth, in this complimentary catalogue comes the lunatic. The man or woman whose reasoning power is destroyed, has, surely, no right to the law-making power. But are all American women lunatics, or first cousin to that festive individual? If you go inside the lunatic asylums of this country and count noses, you will find that the masculine nose predominates to a startling degree. If you look outside you will then find it rather a puzzling task to trace the borderland between sanity and insanity. But suppose you inquire which sex muddles itself most with strong drink; which most uses the nasty brown weed? If practices like these denote level headedness, then I am free to confess that the masculine half of society is the sane half, but if the opposite be true the scale containing the women will tip the beam every time.

Sixth, and last, save one, on the list of the Silent Seven stands the idiot; and on our statute books, woman stands next to him, and at the foot of the class. Do 558 women journalists, 320 authors, 2,061 artists, 13,182 professional musicians, 5,134 Government clerks, 2,438 physicians and surgeons, 175 lawyers, 265 ordained ministers, half-a-million teachers and three million independent bread winners in other vocations denote idiocy. If so I give up my case. But, if I have given any proof that American womanhood has no title to be reckoned up with this intelligent, refined and capable crowd, then why should her only governmental privileges be those of being taxed, tried, fined, imprisoned, and hung by a jury of men.

Let us be logical or die.

The Resources of the East.

The cry "go west young man" is not heard as frequently as it was a few years ago, and the agriculturists of the east are realizing the possibilities yet in store for their fertile acres located as they are so near the great markets of the country. On this subject a writer in the American Cultivator of Boston, says: It must be evident to those who give the subject thought, that the tide of emigration either from the old world or from eastern states to the far west has run its course. One of the hopeful signs of the times is that this westward tide is turning back. We say this is hopeful, because the resources of these older states have never been made the most of. About the time better methods of farming came into vogue, there was a general hegrira of the best blood in the eastern states, young, active and energetic farmers, to the west to practise them.

A Sad Mistake.

Mrs. Yergler.—"Bridget, there is something the matter with the soup. It tastes queer, and everybody who has taken any feels sick. What did you put in it?"

Bridget.—"I made it the same as usual, mum, except that as there was no salt, mum, in the salt cellar, I took some of the other salt, mum, that ye put on the shelf."

Mrs. Yergler.—"Great heavens! that was Epsom salts."—Texas Siftings.

His Expedition.

Whitely (to small boy).—Here, sonny, if you'll collect me a lot of insects I'll give you a quarter.

Small Boy.—"Insects! What do yer want 'em for?"

Whitely.—I want to put them on my wife's plants. She wont let me smoke in the house except to kill insects on the plants.

American Pearls.

Mary of our readers may not be aware of the fact that large numbers of valuable pearls are found in Wisconsin. In a recent visit to Tiffany's, we were shown several beautiful American pearls varying in price from thirty to many hundreds of dollars each. As Mr. Kunz rolled them back and forth, they glistened with rainbow colors,—some were lavender, others pink, blue, green, or bronze. The Chicago Times, alluding to these gems in an article on "Pearls and Their History," says:

"During the last few summers pearls have been collected in great numbers in these fisheries, that rival in brilliancy and value the richest pearl gems that have been gathered in the famous Oriental or South American pearl-beds. The Wisconsin pearls are the most gorgeous that the world has ever seen.

"In two seasons 880,000 worth of specimens have had a ready sale. The peculiarity of these pearls is that their 'skin,' or layer of crystalline substance, is thinner, and their composition denser than either the Oriental or South American pearl, and their color-tints more varied. They stand the severest test of worth. A specimen has been saved in two, and its constituent parts found perfect.

"The keen eye of science has discovered that the birth of a pearl is anything but a poetical affair. The oyster-pearl springs into existence in two different ways. The first is by the introduction into the animal of a foreign substance. In some unguarded moment the oyster may permit a minute grain of sand to slip into its domicile, and lodge between the flesh and the shell.

"The oyster is powerless to expel the intruding substance, which immediately becomes a source of irritation. There is but one remedy. The animal begins to cover the grain of sand with a coat of membrane, followed by a layer of calcareous matter called nacre. This is identical with mother-of-pearl, that beautiful lining of the shell which reflects all the colors of the rainbow, as well as the most delicate and subtle tints.

"Around this intruding grain of sand which has been mentioned, accumulate alternate layers of membrane and nacre until a pearl is formed. These pearls, however, are not the valuable gems of commerce, because, in the first place, they preserve the form of the grain of sand, and hence are irregular in shape, and in the second place they frequently adhere to the shell, and consequently present one rough side.

"The perfect pearl is found loose in the interior of the flesh, and has its beginning in an animal germ. The oyster annually produces a number of eggs, which, as soon as they develop into diminutive animals, are thrown out by the mother. Occasionally, however, an egg proves abortive, and remains behind. It is almost microscopic in size, and is inclosed in a tiny capsule.

"This capsule now becomes, to all intents and purposes, a foreign substance. But it has certain powers akin to those of the parent, one of which is that of manufacturing, throwing out, and gathering around itself nacre. The nacre completely envelops it, and the germ of an animal is soon incased in a beautiful prison, usually spherical in form, but sometimes pear-shaped. This is the true pearl.

"Its size of course, depends on the length of time to which the process is continued, as the pearl is enlarged by constant deposits from year to year.

"The most famous pearl fisheries in the world are near the coasts of Ceylon, Japan, Java and Sumatra, and in the Persian Gulf, although pearls in limited quantities are obtained in the streams of various countries."

SHE WANTED TO FLIRT.

A Minister Who Had the Courage to Say That He Hadn't Time to Flirt.

Kingston (N. Y.) Special to the N. Y. World.

The Rev. Mr. Milligan, of Pennsylvania, who is a candidate for the pastorate of the Covenant Church in the little hamlet of Coldenham, in Orange county, and who was invited to deliver a trial sermon there last Sunday, startled the congregation in the midst of the delivery of the sermon by saying:

"I regret to state that I am an exceedingly nervous man, and am annoyed by a young lady in the congregation who has been endeavoring to flirt with me this morning. I have neither the time nor inclination to return the compliment at this time, but may do so later."

These words fell like a thunder-bolt upon the Covenanters, more especially as this departure from theology was made while the eyes of the pastor were steadfastly fixed on those of a blushing young lady, who is noted for her good looks and is regarded as the belle of Coldenham.

When the services were finished there was a lively bustling of dresses down the church isles and out into the country road, and more than one fair Coldenham damsel was willing to accept the pastor's rebuke as a personal allusion. Nevertheless the episode has had a tendency to popularize Pastor Milligan, and the chances point toward his becoming the permanent preacher at the little Orange county Covenant church.

Our Forests Giving Out.

Says a Western Lumberman: "The signing of a contract for 600,000,000 feet of pine in Minnesota should serve as a reminder that the fear of American forests giving out is far from being an imaginary one. I have been flandering lumber by the 10,000 feet for two-thirds of a lifetime, but the figures in this deal took me by surprise, and it was some time before I could realize them. The supply of lumber in the North is steadily giving out, as the figures for Michigan in particular show. Ten years ago the annual output or product was just about the size of the great Minnesota contract just signed for single companies, but the aggregate totals for 1890 barely reached these figures. We are lavish and extravagant with our lumber now, but at the present rate of consumption there will be precious little left to consume a quarter of a century hence, even making allowance for what we can draw from Mexico after Mr. Blaine's reciprocity treaty has been drafted and signed."

A Minister's Manuever.

Frederick A. Atkins tells the following story as illustrating the tact often displayed by street preachers. An open-air preacher was addressing a crowd in the east end of London, when a drunken soldier came up and loudly ridiculed the whole service. Finding that it was useless to ignore the man, the preacher quickly decided on his course of action. "Ah, my friend, you're no soldier; you've only borrowed those gay red clothes. No servant of the Queen would get drunk and interrupt a peaceful service." Of course the man warmly protested that he was a soldier, and invited the preacher to test him. "Very well," was the reply, "I will. Now then, stand at ease." This the soldier did as well as his drunken condition allowed. "Right about face." This also was accomplished with some trouble. "Now, quick march!" And off he went, marching down the Mile End road, unable, apparently, to see through the open-air preacher's successful manuever.—Chicago News.

It requires pious gall to play all day with the devil and at night ask God to save you.—Denver Road.

Much as a man admires the truth he prefers to have it told about some other fellow.

It's Paradoxical, perhaps, but it's true, that when a man gets the grip he is apt to lose his grip.—Milwaukee Wisconsin.

PORT'S BEAK is 14,200 feet above the sea level, and on the very top is to be erected a potential hotel.

UNSEASONABLE WEATHER.

It is generally said that when Easter occurs very early in the season there will be an early spring, and if that has heretofore been the case, the year 1891 must be looked upon as the exception which proves the rule.

OWING to the trouble caused at the Treasury Department by the counterfeit two-dollar silver certificates, the issue of the regular series has been suspended and arrangements are being made for the issue of a substitute, which will bear the portrait of Secretary Windom instead of General Hancock.

SUMMARY OF NEWS.

A PORTLAND (Ore.) Chinaman who died recently left property valued at over $200,000.

GOVERNOR MARKHAM, of California, has signed a bill making train wrecking punishable by death.

GRAND Army post throughout the county celebrated the quarter-centennial of the organization on Monday.

PHINEAS TAYLOR BARNUM, the famous showman, died on Tuesday at Bridgeport, Conn., aged eighty-one years.

NINE persons, seven of whom were Italians, were burned to death in a building which took fire at midnight Sunday in Rochester, Pa.

For bracing up the nerves, purifying the blood and curing sick headache and dyspepsia, there is nothing equal to Hood's Sarsaparilla.

MR. EDWIN BOOTH closed his engagement for the season at Brooklyn last Friday and announces that he will take a long and complete rest.

THERE is a heavy tide of emigration from Ireland to the United States, six steamships left last week carrying 1,246 emigrants, mostly of the farming class.

The death rate in Chicago last week was the highest ever known. The deaths numbered nine hundred and sixty, of which five hundred were from throat and lung diseases.

FOURTEEN inches of snow fell in New England Thursday night, accompanied by a destructive gale. Telegraph wires and poles were prostrated, and communication with New York was cut off from every Eastern city except New Haven.

THE OUTBREAK IN THE COKE REGION.

The evil results of unrestricted immigration receive an impressive illustration in the labor troubles in the coke region of Western Pennsylvania, which culminated last week in a disturbance in which eleven foreigners were killed. The men slain are said to have been Poles and Slavs, with one Italian. They evidently belonged to the class of cheap foreign laborers with which the coal regions of Pennsylvania have been flooded, crowding out better workmen of other nationalities and native Americans who could not live on the low wages their competitors were willing to accept.

A PARTY of rioting strikers at the Standard Works of the H. C. Frick Coke Company, at Morewood, Pa., were fired on by the Pennsylvania Guards last Thursday. Seven men were killed and a number wounded. Serious trouble was feared for a time, but affairs have become more quiet now and work resumed. All of the men killed were unnaturalized foreigners.

ON Tuesday night of last week a masked robber visited the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Straninger, at Lewisberry, York county, Pa., and carried off between $800, and 1,000. Mrs. Straninger was bound and gagged by the villain and when he removed the gag after having plundered the house, she was found to have been choked to death. $1,000 reward has been offered for the arrest of the burglar who is yet at large. Mr. Straninger is an almost helpless invalid.

THERE is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease, and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven Catarrh to be a constitutional disease, and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by P. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials. Address: F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O.

Count Reinold A. Lewenhaupt of Sweden was married to Miss Ellen Bayard, daughter of ex-Secretary Bayard, at Wilmington, Del., last Thursday. Count Lewenhaupt is a draughtsman in the employ of the Harlan & Hollingsworth Company. He came to this country several years ago to learn marine architecture as taught here. His brother, Carl Lewenhaupt, was envoy extraordinary and minister plenipotentiary to this country from Sweden while Mr. Bayard was Secretary of State. It was through this minister that Count Lewenhaupt was introduced to the Bayard family. One of Count Lewenhaupt's brothers is chamberlain to the Queen of Sweden, one of the highest positions in the realm. Though a member of a noble family, the groom has chosen to make his home in the United States, and it is said he wants to drop his title, as he much prefers to be known as Mr. Lewenhaupt.

THE ITALIAN QUESTION.

Paymaster McClure's murder by Italians in the coal regions a couple of years ago, it is intimated, may yet become a feature of the controversy growing out of the New Orleans tragedy. The assassins secured $12,000 and fled to Italy, where they have since remained. "Red Nose Mike," one of the murderers, was captured in this country and hanged. The case may be cited when the question of indemnity is considered. A close examination of the record of the eleven New Orleans assassins discloses the fact that all but four were registered voters, either by birth or naturalization. The four who Consul Corte claims were entitled to the protection of the Italian government are Trahina, Bagnetto, Monasteria Comitez. The first is found to have been a voter in the parish of St. Charles. Bagnetto was a fugitive murderer from Palermo and a member of the Esposito band of highwaymen. Marchesi was a veteran of Garibaldi's army, but he fled from Palermo while charged with murdering a woman. Trahina was also a robber seems to know anything.

Having concluded to become a candidate for the next Sheriff of Frederick county, I hereby announce my name as a candidate for the same; subject to the next Republican nominating convention, and would most respectfully solicit from my friends a favorable consideration of my name for the next candidate for said office.

Very Respectfully, A. D. DOTY, April 3-10, of 14th Jefferson District.

FOR REGISTER OF WILL.

I respectfully announce myself a candidate for nomination for REGISTER OF WILL, and solicit the support of my friends.

Governor Jackson has appointed Col. H. K. Douglas associate justice of the fourth judicial circuit, vice Judge Syester, deceased.

Governor McKinney has accepted an invitation from Governor Jackson to look over the Maryland oyster fields on a way to be named hereafter.

The Hagerstown Bicycle works have received the contract to furnish a number of presses for the Bureau of Engraving and Printing at Washington.

An effort is being made to establish a branch of the Farmers' Alliance at Hagerstown. A large gathering at that place was addressed by Mr. J. F. Williams of Kansas, last week.

The Southern Real Estate Review, is the name of a journal devoted to the interest and material development of the South, the initial number of which appeared last week. It is published at Baltimore by the Monumental Publishing Co.

A dispatch to the Baltimore Sun says: Hagerstown is steadily progressing in business importance, and its industries are growing. Real estate is appreciating in value and a good deal of it is changing hands. Two of the most unflattering signs of its enterprise and progress are the daily newspapers and first-rate hotels.

ORDER OF PUBLICATION.

NO. 5803 EQUITY. In the Circuit Court for Frederick county, sitting in Equity.

MARCH TERM, 1891. John T. Gelwick, Plaintiff, against Frederick C. O. Sless and Margaret Sless his wife, and William Heagney and Virginia Heagney his wife, Defendants.

The Bill in this case is filed to procure a decree for the sale of certain Real Estate in Frederick county of which Daniel Sless, died, seized and possessed, and that the proceeds of said sale may be distributed among the parties entitled thereto according to their respective rights.

The Bill states: 1. That Daniel Sless, late of Frederick county, deceased, was in his lifetime and at the time of his death seized and possessed of certain Real Estate, situated in Frederick county, which said Real Estate is a part of that conveyed to the said Daniel Sless in his lifetime by Jacob Sless and others, a certified copy of which is filed with the Bill marked Exhibit A, and for a fuller description of which the plaintiff prays leave to file a survey thereof hereafter in the further progress of the said cause.

2. That the said Daniel Sless, died intestate on the twenty-eighth day of June in the year Eighteen Hundred and Seventy-six.

3. That the said Daniel Sless left surviving him a widow, Barbara Sless, who died or about the middle of the month of March in the year Eighteen Hundred and eighty-nine, and the following children and heirs-at-law.

(a) Mary Ann Elizabeth Dotter, a daughter, who is of full age, now a widow and residing in Washington county.

(b) The defendant Frederick C. O. Sless married to the defendant Margaret Sless, both of whom are of full age and reside in Frederick county.

(c) The defendant Virginia Heagney married to the defendant William Heagney, both of whom are of full age and reside in Adams county in the State of Pennsylvania.

4. That the said Real Estate owned by the said Daniel Sless at the time of his death descended to his said children upon their father's death.

5. That the interest of one of said children and heirs-at-law, the said Mary Ann Elizabeth Dotter, is now held and owned by the plaintiff as will appear from a certified copy of the Deed therefor filed with the Bill as part thereof marked Exhibit B.

6. That the said Real Estate is not susceptible of part or in division among the said parties entitled thereto, and cannot be divided without loss and injury to the parties interested therein, and that it is necessary and to the interest and advantage of all the parties entitled thereto, that the same be sold and the proceeds thereof divided among them according to their respective rights.

7. The Bill prays for the following relief: 1. That a decree may be passed for the sale of said Real Estate.

2. That the proceeds of said sale may be distributed among the parties entitled thereto according to their respective rights.

3. For general relief.

4. That process may issue against the resident defendants.

5. That an Order of Publication may issue in this case, and that the said defendant William Heagney and Virginia Heagney his wife, giving them notice of the object and substance of the Bill and warning them to appear in the Circuit Court for Frederick county, sitting in Equity, in person or by solicitor on or before a certain day to be named therein, to show cause, if any they have, why a decree ought not to pass as prayed.

COMMUNICATIONS sent to this office without giving the writers name are invariably assigned to the waste basket, regardless of the merits they may possess. Within the past few weeks a number have been thus laid aside that we would gladly have published had the rule been observed. It is surely a slight demand to require this assurance of good faith, but the rule is inevitable and will be strictly adhered to.

Belford's Magazine for April opens with an article by G. F. Parker discussing the effect which the question of the "Free Coinage of Silver" will have on the Democratic Party. "A Polkville Episode" is a story by Lucius C. Embree. Col. J. H. Cowperthwait, writes of "The Carnival at Nice, 1889." Under the head of "Culture and Common-Sense," Henry Clews writes of "The University across the Counting-House" and Rev. Gerald S. Lee "A Critique of Common-Sense." Death of Mother Seton.

Mother Catharine Seton died Friday at the Convent of Mercy, in New York. She was one of the first to be received into the Order of Mercy when it was established in New York by the late Archbishop Hughes, and at the time of her death was the oldest member of the community. Mother Catharine was born in the city of New York June 28, 1800. Her father was William Seton, at one time an eminent merchant of this city, and her mother Elizabeth Bayley, who, after her husband's death, became a Catholic in the face of much opposition from her family. Mrs. Seton—better known as Mother Seton—founded the Sisters of Charity in the United States, and died at Emmitsburg, Md., in 1821. Her only surviving daughter, Catharine, was left to the care of General Harper, of Baltimore, in whose family she was always treated as a daughter. She met the most distinguished people of the country, and was a special favorite of Charles Carroll, of Carrollton. Her life in the sisterhood was almost exclusively devoted to the care and instruction of the poor and to the spiritual consolation of prisoners. Mother Catharine Seton was descended from an old Scotch family which came to this country in 1758. Her two sisters, Anna and Rebecca, died at Emmitsburg. Her oldest brother, William, who was at one time an officer in the United States Navy, died in 1808, and her next brother, Richard, died in Africa in 1826. In her earlier years she was personally well acquainted with the founders of the Catholic Church in this country, Brute, afterward first Bishop of Vincennes, was her confessor. Mgr. Seton, of Jersey City, is her nephew. She was buried from the Convent of Mercy, Madison avenue, on Monday morning.—Baltimore Sun.

A Big Offer.

The Holiday, well called the "King of Juveniles," makes a remarkably liberal offer to the Democratic Party. "A Polkville Episode" is a story by Lucius C. Embree. Col. J. H. Cowperthwait, writes of "The Carnival at Nice, 1889." Under the head of "Culture and Common-Sense," Henry Clews writes of "The University across the Counting-House" and Rev. Gerald S. Lee "A Critique of Common-Sense." "A New Spectroscope" is a story by Wm. W. Howe, Champion Bissell writes of "Protection Run Mad," "In 'The Experience of San Domingo,'" "Slip-Knots" is the title of the complete novel by Jeannette H. Walworth, there are Humorous Sketches, Book Notices, Passing Notes, an interesting Editorial Department, several poems and other entertaining reading matter.

MR. EDWARD MCINTIRE, well known and highly esteemed former resident of Emmitsburg, died at his home in Frederick on Wednesday afternoon, in the 69th year of his age. He had been sick for a number of weeks, suffering from a complication of diseases. Mr. McIntire was born in Adams county, Pa., near Fountain Dale, and resided in this place many years. Here he was engaged in merchandising for some time, in which business he was associated with Mr. Geo. L. Smith, now of Westminster. The business proved unsuccessful and Mr. McIntire afterwards filled clerks' shops with different railroad contractors. He also taught school at different times. In 1879 Mr. McIntire was appointed to a deputy clerkship in the office of the Clerk of the Circuit Court, at which time he moved to Frederick, where he has resided ever since, with the exception of one year that the family returned to this place. He served as deputy tax-collector during the incumbency of that office by J. W. Baughman. Latterly he has been filling a clerkship in the office of the Register of Wills. In all the positions Mr. McIntire held he proved himself efficient and careful, whilst his high character and christian life were such as to reflect credit on any position he held. In this community he was beloved by all who had the pleasure of knowing him, and we doubt that he ever had an enemy. Scrupulously honest, and a sincere christian, he carried his religious convictions with him through his daily life, and his name has always been synonymous with integrity. Mr. McIntire married Miss Josephine McDevitt, daughter of the late Judge James McDevitt of this vicinity, who survives him, together with six children, Mrs. David C. Krise of this vicinity, Mrs. Churchill of Va., Mrs. F. A. Wetly of Richmond, Miss Rose McIntire of Frederick and Messrs. Edward and John McIntire.

His remains were brought here to-day for burial, the services having been held at Frederick. The interment being in the Cemetery at St. Joseph's Church.

The date of the Choral Union Concert will be announced next week. The final arrangements, etc., will be made at a special meeting to be held this evening.

Sudden Death. Rev. P. A. Long, pastor of the Reformed churches in the vicinity of Chambersburg, Pa., and formerly pastor at Taneytown, died suddenly at his home in Chambersburg on Wednesday. His funeral will take place at Taneytown tomorrow morning, Rev. J. A. Peters of Hanover and Rev. U. H. Heilmann of this place officiating.

List of Letters. The following letters remain in the Post Office, Emmitsburg, Md., April 6, 1891. Persons calling will please say advertised, otherwise they may not receive them: James H. Birely, Ellen Lavina Horner, Patrick Moore, P. J. McEvey, S. N. McNair, P. M.

G. A. R. Quarto Centennial. Arthur Post No. 41, G. A. R. and Reynolds Camp No. 20, Sons of Veterans had quite an interesting meeting at their new rooms at Gelwick's Hall, on Monday evening last. That day being the 25th anniversary of the organization of the Grand Army of the Republic, and was celebrated by all the Posts in existence at the same hour. The exercises were opened by reading an order from the G. A. R. National Headquarters. After the reading of the order and some remarks by Commander Horner, the comrades engaged in a discussion of the merits, benefits and pleasant associations brought about by the organization.

The members of the Post had contemplated holding a meeting on this occasion to which the public would have been invited, but unfavorable weather and roads prevented the necessary arrangements being made in due time.

Arbor Day Observances. Wednesday afternoon was much enjoyed by the pupils and teachers of the Emmitsburg Public School. After spending a short time in the school room in singing, recitations, and reading, all went to the school yard, and while the little children played the older pupils planted three trees along the street, and named them in honor of their favorite authors, Longfellow, Tennyson and Shakespeare. The last named is the class tree of the pupils who have lately been awarded certificates of scholarship. Trees should have been planted in the school-yard, and vines beside the house but all who are interested in the school hope that at an early day, the commissioners will appropriate money for the erection of a new building. The present house, furniture, and muddily unfenced yard are a disgrace to our town.

Public School No. 10, of this District, Mr. John F. Ashberger, teacher, observed Arbor Day by exercises in the school room consisting of singing, recitations and reading by the pupils, after which five trees were planted. The afternoon was much enjoyed by the teacher, scholars and visitors. Among the latter were Mrs. Henry Lingz, Mrs. William C. Scott, Messrs. George W. Warthen and David Lingz.

Protect Your Health. Cold and mucus combined have a torpid effect upon the bodily organs, and the digestive and secretory processes are apt to be more tardily performed in winter than in the fall. The same is true, also, of the excretory functions. The bowels are often sluggish, and the pores of the skin throw off but little waste matter at this season. The system, therefore, requires opening up a little, and also purifying and regulating, and the safest, surest and most thorough means of accomplishing these objects, is Hostetter's Stomach Bitters. Persons who wish to escape the rheumatic twinges, the dyspepsia and indigestion, the flatulencies of the bowels, the bilious attacks, and the nervous visitations, so common at this time of the year, will do well to reinforce their systems with this renowned vegetable stomachic and invigorant. It improves the appetite, strengthens the stomach, clears the spirits, and renovates the whole physique.

MT. ST. MARY'S COLLEGE NEWS.

Successful Rendition of the Merchant of Venice—Improvements to the Music Hall.—Notes.

Shakespeare's Merchant of Venice was exceptionally well rendered on Wednesday evening, April 8th, in the Mountain Opera House by the students of the College. This is the first exhibition of the kind given here in some years, but the superior histrionic talent of some of the members of the elocution class induced Prof. Ernest Lagarde, who has charge of that department, to give the students an opportunity of becoming more intimately acquainted with one of the great masterpieces of the language.

The result was most satisfactory and it is to be hoped that The Merchant of Venice is but the first of a series of like productions before the College foot lights. The play was to have been presented Easter Monday, but extensive improvements to the hall, including an addition of seventeen feet to the main building, and the entire remodeling and refitting of the stage, prevented its rendition at an earlier date than Wednesday last.

It can be safely said that the Mountain stage which is now eighteen feet wide by twenty-two feet deep, with an arch twelve feet high, will compare favorably with that of any other educational institution in the State. Conspicuous among the improvements are a new damask drop curtain, the personal gift of Rev. W. L. O'Hara, the College Treasurer, new gas foot and head lights, and fresh scenery, painted by an experienced artist. The carpenter work required for the stage was done by Mr. John Hoke a well known local mechanic. The arrangement of the stage and scenery, together with the appliances for operating the same were planned by Rev. Fr. O'Hara, in which he was ably assisted by George Slate, who also painted the scenery. George's well known talent and ability in this line were displayed to unusual advantage in this work, and it can be safely said that he exceeded all his former efforts. The gas fittings are most completely arranged, so that everything works without a hitch, and reflects credit on Mr. T. C. Hays, of the firm of J. T. Hays & Son, who did this part of the work.

The performance began promptly at 8 o'clock with the following cast: Duke of Venice, C. O'Shaughnessy; Shylock, L. A. McBride; Antonio, F. H. Lee; Bassanio, M. J. O'Shaughnessy; Gratiano, E. Farrell; Lorenzo, C. Cashman; Salanio, M. J. Fleming; Salarino, W. P. Cullen; Old Gobbo, F. J. Sullivan; Lancelot Gobbo, E. J. Donohue; Tubal, J. Malone; Leonardo, N. Thompson; Balthazar, J. McCloskey; Portia, D. Bohon; Jessica, W. Casey; Nerissa, F. Echeverria.

F. H. Lee as Antonio, M. J. O'Shaughnessy as Bassanio, E. L. Farrell as Gratiano, Denis Behen as Portia, W. F. Cashman as Lorenzo, M. J. Fleming as Salanio, Edw. J. Donohue as Lancelot Gobbo, Wm. Casey as Jessica and Fernando Echeverria as Nerissa all acquitted themselves admirably. The palm, however, was borne off by L. A. McBride, whose impersonation of Shylock was worthy of a professional. The proficiency with which F. H. Lee and M. J. O'Shaughnessy enacted their respective roles, is deserving of more than passing notice, while the thorough appreciation of the character of Gratiano by E. L. Farrell was demonstrated by an earnestness which places him second to none in the honors of the evening. E. J. Donohue was Lancelot in fact, never once suggesting the idea that he was acting.

The general effect was greatly enhanced by the new stage settings, especially the scenery, which in harmony with the play represented various views of Venice.

The music which was of a superior order was furnished by the St. Cecilia Orchestra. The hall was filled with an appreciative audience whose plaudits were frequent and enthusiastic.

The front seats were occupied by Rev. Edw. P. Allen, D. D., President of the College, Rev. Jno. J. Tierney, Vice-President, Rev. W. L. O'Hara, Treasurer, Revs. Edw. F. X. McSweeney, D. D., Francis P. Ward, Daniel Quinn and D. F. White, C. M., Professors Ernest Lagarde, Charles A. Leloup, James A. Mitchell, Edward J. Ryan and John J. Crumlish and Dr. Jno. B. Brawner. Among the audience were some invited guests from Emmitsburg and the neighborhood of the College.

For the success of the entertainment too much praise cannot be given to Prof. Ernest Lagarde and his able assistant, F. H. Lee.

Mr. Bernard Hynes of Mt. St. Mary's Seminary received Deaconship at the hands of His Eminence, Cardinal Gibbons, on Tuesday last at Ilchester, Md.

BLUE RIDGE SUMMIT ITEMS.

BLUE RIDGE SUMMIT.—The utter death of news and the diabolical weather so prostrated your correspondent that he showed his mercy to the readers of the CHRONICLE by maintaining silence. The snow and the ice refuse to be influenced by the sun, who has become so modest of late that he only shows his face occasionally. Raw, disagreeable days and bitterly cold nights continue to be the program. But notwithstanding the general lack of news of the spring, the Howards and the Bryans and the Gilmore, with other old guests of the Clermont, have already engaged their rooms for the coming season.

Mr. Aaron Benchoff, son of Washington Benchoff, Esq., who for the past year has been agent and telegraph operator at Highfield, has been fortunate in securing a more profitable situation at Fulton Station, on the Western Maryland Railroad. Aaron's many friends wish him success and prosperity.

The case of Jacob Fitz vs. Baltimore and Harrisburg Railroad, (Western Extension) will come up at Chambersburg for further argument on the 11th inst.

Mr. Washington Rodgers and Mr. David Miller were in Baltimore yesterday and called, by appointment, on Colonel Hood, President W. M. R. R.

Hon David McConaughey of Gettysburg, spent Sunday at the Clermont House.

Stand Your Ground.

When you make up your mind to take Hood's Sarsaparilla, do not be induced to buy some other preparation instead. Clerks may claim that "ours is as good as Hood's" and all that, but the peculiar merit of Hood's Sarsaparilla cannot be equalled. Therefore have nothing to do with substitutes and insist upon having Hood's Sarsaparilla, the best blood purifier and building-up medicine.

FREDERICK COUNTY ITEMS.

The Frederick brick works have been chartered with a capital stock of $35,000.

Yellow shale in small quantities has been discovered on Mr. John Baumgardner's place, near Frederick.

The moulder at B. F. Winchester's brick yard at Frederick have struck for an increase of wages from $1.50 to $2 a day.

The free delivery continues to give general satisfaction at Middletown. During the month of March the letter carrier handled 10,534 pieces of mail matter, against 5,437 in February.

A number of cellars at Frederick, which were flooded by the late rains, were pumped dry by the steam fire engines of the city on Wednesday. The work was done by order of the Board of Aldermen.

Numerous shade trees are being planted in that new and booming town, Brunswick. Last week about two hundred maple trees were planted at a distance of twenty-five feet apart on two of the streets.

The municipal election at Middletown on Monday resulted as follows: Burgess, Charles E. Niemeyer; commissioners, C. Alfred Weaver, Samuel Leazer, William Rudy, Howard E. Sparrow and John W. Long, all republicans.

A company has been chartered to build a turnpike from Adamstown to the Frederick and Nolan's Ferry road at the three springs cross roads, and on the Doull's switch road to Tuscarora creek, a distance of about three and one half miles. The capital stock is $7,000, at $10 per share.

On Wednesday evening of last week, Bradley Cramer and John Welker were in Mr. G. A. Riddlemoser's store, at Mt. Pleasant. Welker called Cramer out, and then shot at him three times. None of the shots took effect as far as could be learned. No words were had and no cause is known for Welker's action. It is thought Welker has left the county.—News.

A three and a half year old child of Hanson Brown, colored, was burned to death at her father's house near Frederick, on Monday. Brown's wife died several months ago leaving two children, of which the one burned was the oldest. The father works at a lime kiln near his house, and is in the habit of going over home occasionally during the day to look after the children, and on going home Monday, found the little girl burned to a crisp.

Residents of Woodsboro were considerably excited last week over the finding of the dead body of a child near that place, with a mark on its neck indicating that it had met its death by violence. Magistrate Shaw, acting coroner, summoned a jury of inquisition, who, after careful investigation rendered a verdict to the effect that the child met its death in a manner unknown to them. There is no clue as to the parentage of the dead child.—News.

A correspondent at Petersville informs us that on moving a pen of corn on Wednesday last week, on the farm of Major Roach, tenanted by Mr. Allen E. Maguire, near that place, 82 rats were killed. On the following day a rick of hay which stood near the corn was also mowed, when 320 more rats were killed, making a total slaughter of 402 rodents. This statement is vouched for by one who counted them. The paucity of rats in this town for some time past, which has been a matter of surprise and remark, is now explained. They had all gone to Petersville.—Valley Register.

Female Weakness, Positive Cure. Free. To the Editor:—Please inform your readers that I have a positive remedy for the thousand and one ills which arise from deranged female organs. I will send two bottles of my remedy, FREE to any lady, if they will send their Express and P. O. address.

Yours truly, Dr. J. B. MARCHISI, Utica, N. Y.
