by James A. Elder.

No better Christmas gift can be found anywhere than a year's subscription to the CHRONICLE, and it only cost one dollar.

Next week the CHRONICLE will be issued on Thursday in order that the employees of the office may observe Christmas.

Crown Stock Food acts like a charm on hogs, and will surely prevent hog cholera, etc.

It is rumored that the Catotini Iron works have passed or are about to pass into the hands of a syndicate of Frederick capitalists for $100,000.

The reason why Arnica & Oil Liniment is so popular with the ladies is because it is so useful in all cases of pain by James A. Elder.

Mr. Jacob Kriese of Liberty township killed 8 hogs last week, the combined weight of which was 2452 lbs. This is a remarkable average for such a number of porkers.

Dr. Foke will visit Emmitsburg on Tuesday, 22nd inst., and will leave Friday, 25th. If it should be that he cannot make the time as above, he will try to make a visit on Wednesday, the 30th of this month.

As will be seen by his card in another column, Dr. Geo. B. Ranb, of Baltimore, will hereafter attend to dental patients at Mrs. Sweeney's during his regular visits here on the second Tuesday and Wednesday of each month.

The greatest and most useful publication of the day is the New York World Almanac. It should be in every household, and by special arrangements with the publishers we are enabled to furnish it to all our subscribers who are in good standing at the rate of 20 cents a copy. We are ready to receive orders now. The Almanac will be out the latter part of January.

On Saturday morning at 5 o'clock the frame stable of Mr. Philip Morningstar, about three-quarters of a mile northeast of Utica Mills, was entirely consumed by fire. A son of Mr. Morningstar had taken a coal oil lamp to the stable and set it down, and while he was in another part of the stable a pig upset the lamp, which set fire to the stable. One cow, all the hay and some harness were consumed.

We have received a copy of The Woman's Journal, a monthly magazine published at Frederick Md., under the auspices of the Reformed church.

This periodical is edited by Mrs. M.
E. Whitmore and as it is devoted to the interests and advancement of woman's work in the church, the family and society, it appeals strongly to her, for encouragement and support.

We take pleasure in recommending it, not only to the women of the Reformed church, but to all who are interested in the duties and responsibilities belonging to woman's sphere. Terms 60 cents a year for single copy. Business correspondence must be addressed to Woman's Journal, Adamstown, Md.

Tone up the system of your horse by using Biggs Bros.
Crown Stock Food.

Brighten up; you don't have to plunk down a fortune; you can get Salvation Oil for 25 cents.

GIVEN five cent pieces are going for five-dollar gold pieces, but Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup needs no gilding to make it go. Price only 25 cents.

The Reformed Church at Frederick, which has recently undergone extensive repairs, was re-dedicated last Sunday, with impressive ceremonies.

According to the statements of the five National Banks of Frederick, for the quarter just ended, the individual deposits aggregate $1,847,887.82.

Miss Elizabeth Appelman celebrated her one hundredth birthday at Middletown last Friday. She has lived in the same house for eighty-five years.

Harlan Brown, of Deerfield, on the line of the Western Maryland, Wednesday night last was frightened in his sleep by a passing train and jumped from a window in the second story of his house to the ground, receiving a slightly sprained ankle.—Clarion.

Prof. BARRETT of St. Lawrence county, N. Y., speaking of pulmonary diseases, says: "not one death occurs now where twenty died before Down's Elixir was known. Over fifty years of constant success places Down's Elixir at the head of the long list of cough remedies. For sale by James A. Elder.

Sorely Afflicted.

It is with the deepest sympathy for the grief-stricken family that we are called upon to record the death of another member of Dr. H. C. Ander's family, the third child within a year.
On Wednesday morning a most interesting little boy, Claude, aged about five years, died of diphtheritic sore throat.
An older child is also ill of the same disease, although not deemed to be in a dangerous condition. Mrs. Ander's health is seriously impaired by these bereavements.—Clarion.

You've No Idea

How nicely Hop's Sarsaparilla hits the needs of people who feel "all tired out" or "run down," for any cause. It seems to oil up the whole mechanism of the body so that all moves smoothly and work becomes a positive delight.
Be sure and get Hop's.

Hop's Pills act especially upon the liver, rousing it from torpidity to its natural duties, cure constipation and assist digestion.

The American Farmer sold.

The American Farmer founded in 1819, by Samuel Sands, of Baltimore, has been sold to the Farmers' Publishing Company of Middletown, this county.
This company will continue its publication, and promises considerable improvement in the journal, which already ranks among the best agricultural papers in the country. We are highly gratified at the enterprise exhibited by our Middletown friends and wish them abundant success in their new undertaking.

A hen mixed with the Black Spanish variety and belonging to Mrs. Matilda Hartgen of this vicinity has been annoying herself lately by producing a number of useless yet curious little eggs. In all she layed an even dozen taking nearly three weeks to produce the first six, but gaining experience layed the next half-dozen in as many days.
They are as curious a lot as we ever saw, some being perfectly round and looking not unlike cherries, while others vary in size and shape, none being larger than a pigeon egg. One is nearly white and the others are various shades from yellow to almost a wine color. Some look as though they had been colored with onion skins.

Robinson—Mumma.

A friend writing from Stony Branch, says:
Mr. G. M. Robinson of Loy's Station and Miss Ida B. Mumma of Stony Branch, were married at the Lutheran Parsonage, Mechanistown, by Rev. J.
H. Barb, on Tuesday. After the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Robinson drove to the home of the bride's parents, where a number of invited friends had assembled, and after congratulations, all sat down to a well filled table. The bride was the recipient of many handsome and useful presents. In the evening many of the young folks of the neighborhood and from Emmitsburg called to pay their respects to the young couple. Mrs. Robinson was a favorite here and the best wishes of many friends will follow her in her new sphere.

Commendable.

All claims not consistent with the high character of Syrup of Figs are purposely avoided by the Cal. Fig Syrup Company. It acts gently on the kidneys, liver and bowels, cleansing the system effectually, but it is not a cure-all and makes no pretensions that every bottle will not substantiate.

WESTERN MARYLAND RAILROAD.

Holiday Excursion Rates.

The Western Maryland Railroad announces that Christmas and New Year holiday excursion tickets will be sold to and between all stations on its main line, divisions and branches, from December 23d, 1891, to January 1st, 1892 (inclusive), at the low rate of 2 cents per mile. These tickets will be good on all regular trains and valid to return until Monday, January 4th, 1892 (inclusive). The minimum rate will be 15 cents. The low rates will enable many to exchange social greetings and enjoy the festive season with friends along the line of the Western Maryland R. R.

MT. ST. MARY'S COLLEGE NEWS.

The Parcel's Mock Trial.—The Play-Foot Ball—Gossip.

Thursday evening the members of the Parcel Lyceum presented a mock trial and it was one of the biggest successes known in the history of the organization. The accused was charged with, and found guilty of, murder in the first degree—a verdict highly satisfactory to the prosecution, but not quite so to the defense. The trial took place in the Music Hall of the College and was attended by Rev. Dr. Allen, Rev. Father Tierney, and Rev. Dr. Mcweeney, of the Faculty, all the Seminarians and all the students. The judge was Rev.
Father O'Hara. The names of those who took part in the affair embrace the following: Lawyers; prosecution, Thos.
Rice, Charles Carroll; defense, John Lenney, William Rice; clerk, Edward Saunders; witnesses; prosecution, Thos.
McTigue, Simon Codori, Frank Guilfoyle; defense, J. O'Brien, Charles Sullivan, Allen Leno; sheriff, Wm.
Campbell; prisoner, John Siebert; jurymen, John Doyle, (foreman), Patrick McGuinness, Francis McManus, Augustine Shorb, Matthew Mulligan, Joseph Horcasitas, Edward Weissner, James Prendergast.

Wednesday evening, the 16th inst., and under the auspices of the Philomathan Society, Falconer's melo-drama "Eileen Oge," was successfully presented. The plot, intricately interwoven and skillfully worked out is briefly thus: Patrick O'Donnell, a young farmer, is engaged to Eileen, the fair daughter of a neighboring farmer. Both families are reputed wealthy, but on the morning of his intended marriage he tells his expectant bride that his father has met with sudden misfortune and he comes to relieve her of her promise to him. But Eileen would have none of it and insists upon their being married.
Despite everything, here is where the villain with his heavy tread looms up.
Mr. McLean, a deeply-dyed in-the-wool villainous Scotch middleman, in which character his friends could scarcely recognize the bride's father, and appears before the bride party and, instigated by a discarded suitor of Eileen's, Harry Loftus, has the young man O'Donnell thrown into prison. He alleges that the young man, has written a threatening letter to his landlord, the son of Harry Loftus. O'Donnell is tried, found guilty and banished. Many years pass away and Eileen hears not from her betrothed. Worn out by misfortune heavy and grievous, the heroine's father urges her to marry young Loftus and save him from being dispossessed and thrown out upon the world in his old age.

His daughter, torn and racked by dis-sentiments feelings and doubts, knows not what to do. At length, wearied she falls into restless slumber, in which she sees her lover, shipwrecked, on an island. He is alone and desolate. Suddenly he describes a ship, faintly waves his handkerchief, and is rescued. As Eileen dreams, a fold of the scenery is thrown back and disclosed. Patrick O'Donnell, on an island in the Pacific, undergoing the trials which are conveyed to the audience by Eileen's rapid and troubled murmurs. To save her father, Eileen consents to marry Harry Loftus. O'Donnell returns, is recognized by McLean, is assaulted and thrown into a mill race, whence, it is hoped by McLean, he'll not make an appearance. But he does nevertheless and makes his appearance the morning his Eileen expects to marry Mr. Loftus.
The forger of the letter which effected the young man's banishment is secured in the person of Tim the Penman. Mc-Lean is arrested, transported, and Patrick and Eileen are married. Loftus is also arrested as it is discovered that he unjustly accused Eileen's father of the payment of rent. The humorous vein in the play was very well developed by Messrs. Kerrigan and Malone. The former repeating his success of Myles-Na-Coppaleen, while the latter, judging from his character acting, is in a fair way of achieving the honors so deservedly won and modestly borne by his brother Joe. Both renditions were clever pieces of character acting.

Mr. Cullen as Eileen claimed more than a usual share of the applause. He did ample justice to a very difficult part but was particularly strong in the more tender scenes with Mr. Casey. The latter as usual sustained his previous good record and bore off, with Messrs.
Cashman, Rahilly, and Cullen, the honors of the evening.

Messrs. Cashman and Rahilly were two especially good villains. In fact, two better villains never walked the stage. The one was as keen, calculating, unscrupulous, Scotchman.
The other, a hesitating sort of fellow who, although somewhat with held by fear of consequences, still was urged on by his desire to capture Eileen. Both generally scored a signal success.

Mr. McGowan, a dignified Father Mahoney and Messrs. Echeverria and Sullivan could not be surpassed in their respective roles. The minor parts were well portrayed by Messrs. Madden, Haggarty, and Campbell. Messrs.
Cordon and Gordon were quite dramatic in their respective departments.
The scenery and costumes were of the usual high standard. Caste: Patrick O'Donnell, W. F. Casey; Harry Loftus, Jas. Rahilly; McLean, W. Cashman; Brian O'Farrell, Wm. Kerrigan; Mr. Moriarty, Jas. Gordon; Father Mahoney, J. McGowan; John Thomas, J. J. Madden; MacShane, J. Roken; Tim the Penman, W. Campbell; Thady, a Piper, W. Carr; Andy, C. Haggarty; Bladine, T. McTigue; George, N. X.
Thompson; Eileen Moriarty, W. F.
Cullen; Nora O'Donnell, F. Echeverria; Bridget Maguire, A. Malone; Nellie Burry, E. Weissner; Polka, A. Lakin; Groomsman, J. O'Reilly; Soldiers, Pen-sants, etc.

There was also some charming instrumental music interspersed by St. Cecilia's Orchestra. The selections were:
Sounds from Erin; The Tar's Farewell; Billie Taylor, overture; Trotting in the Park; The Warrior's Return, march.
Besides the members of the Faculty, there were present numerous invited visitors.

It is rumored that we shall soon have illustrated lectures. They will probably commence after the holidays, and will embrace subjects historical, literary and political. Rev. Father O'Hara is in charge of the project.

FOOT BALL.

The Dew Drops and Teasers met again last Sunday and this time the brain and muscle of the ferocious Teasers predominated. It was a grand struggle. For thirty minutes in the first half the two eleven surged up and down the field, now one side having the advantage, and now the other. But no score was made. In vain did "Dead Easy" send his men through the opposing centre; no gain was to be made there. In vain did he skirt the ends; he found Pervault and Farrell awaiting him and soon came to grief. Nor could the Teasers do any better. "Nica" Nagle, Mulvihill, Judik and Cashman brought their halves to the ground before they could gain a yard.

So the battle went on. In the second half the Dew Drops started in as though they intended to walk right through their opponents. Cashman went around the end for 15 yards but was finally tackled by Walsh, who was playing a great game. Malone, the agile quarter back, was forced through the centre for 10 yards, but Judik lost the ball during the next scrimmage and Farrell had it as quick as a flash and was down the field before the Dew Drops had recovered from their astonishment. But "Nica," always cool and collected, was after him and by beautiful running downed his man after he had gained about 40 yards. This infused new life into the Teasers and they plunged through their opponents line repeatedly. Walsh did some fine "bucking" and Pervault's end, running was productive of large gains. Finally Farrell was forced across the line and the Teasers were jubilant. Sullivan, the famous end, not being able to play there was no one to kick goal. Score, 4-0. After this they soon scored another touch down, but failed in trying at goal. Score, 8-0. The Dew Drops played desperately but it availed nothing. Cashman made a beautiful run just before time was called, but Codori tackled him in fine style. Time was called with the ball in the Teasers territory. Score, 8-0.

NOTES OF THE GAME.

Pervault's meteoric dashes were nipped in the bud by the scientific tackling of "Dead Easy" Cashman, although he once eluded the being manured. Codori was far down the field before Mulvihill's iron grasp encircled his waist.
"Nica" lost again. Of course it was not his fault, but then he must be a "Jonah" as he usually manages to play on the losing side.

Mulvihill and Malone make a good pair of quarter backs, and it will be hard work choosing the one who will play on the first eleven in '92.

Joe Farrell is a new star in the foot ball firmament. His wonderful playing astonished all who witnessed it. With Farrell as half back and Sullivan as end to guard him when he rushes, the College team will have an unmatched pair.

Arata makes a good centre and Codori backs him up well. McGrath is a coming player and takes a prominent part in every scrimmage. Joe Byrnes, Saulle, Rice, Donohue and Seibert played well for their respective sides.
Judik played well at half as did Walsh also. Mulvihill tackled finely. The umpire's decision was unquestioned and the referee gave the greatest possible satisfaction. Next Thursday the final game will be played. It will be decisive as each has won a game. The teams lined up as follows:

| "Dew Drops" | Position        | "Teasers"  |
|-------------|-----------------|------------|
| Malville    | Left tackle     | Sanjee     |
| McGrath     | Left guard      | Seibert    |
| Cashman     | Center          | Donohue    |
| Barry       | Right guard     | Codori     |
| Lakin       | Right tackle    | Curley     |
| Byrnes      | Right end       | McGuinness |
| Malone      | Quarter back    | Mulligan   | | Judik       | Left half back  | Pervault   |
| Thompson    | Right half back | Cashman    |
| Cashman     | Full back       | Mulligan   |

Time of game, 50 minutes. Referee, Eugene McDonald, '94. Umpire, T.
J. McTigue, '95.

Something for the New Year.

The world renowned success of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, and their consequent popularity for over a third of a century as a stomachic, is scarcely more wonderful than the welcome that greets the annual appearance of Hostetter's Almanac. This valuable medical treatise is published by The Hostetter Company, Pittsburgh, Pa., under their own immediate supervision, employing 60 hands in that department. They are running about 11 months in the year on this work, and the lesson of the summer for 1892 will more than ten millions, printed in the English, German, French, Welsh, Norwegian, Swedish, Dutch, Bohemian and Spanish languages.
Refer to a copy of it for valuable and interesting reading concerning health, and numerous testimonials as to the efficacy of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, amusement, varied information, and astronomical and chronological calendars, etc., which can be depended on for correctness. The Almanac for 1892 can be obtained free of cost, from druggists and general country dealers in all parts of the country.

G. A. R. Post Meeting and Supper.

Arthur Post, No. 41, G. A. R. held the largest meeting of the year at Gelwicks Hall, on last Tuesday night, the 15th inst.

James Dixon Post, No. 83, Department of Penna., from Fairfield, in charge of Commander F. Shulley, paid them a social visit on the occasion, and several members from Corporal Skelly Post, No. 9, from Gettysburg were also present. Dr. Robert J. Henry, Past Junior Vice-Commander, Department of Maryland visited the Post the same evening on his annual tour of inspection. After the regular business routine and inspection, Doctor Henry favored the Post with an interesting and patriotic address, which was followed by brief addresses and remarks from Comrades Kitzmiller and Mills of Post No.
8, and Shulley and Sefton of Post No.
83, which all seemed to enjoy.

At 10:30 Arthur Post escorted the visiting comrades to the Emmitt House and gave them an oyster supper, which was gotten up in Comrade Hoke's usual good style. It is useless to say it was partaken of with a relish that the veterans always enjoy after a long march.
