

THE TRAINING OF STATESMEN.

In view of the general dissatisfaction with which the conduct of lawmakers and executives is received, their failure to meet the public needs and the otherwise long train of evils which the people deplore, but are powerless to prevent, would it not be good policy to institute regular training schools through which all aspirants for legislative honors should be obliged to pass, before being entrusted with the power of making laws for a free and progressive nation.

We seem to have passed beyond the limits over which our older statesmen held control, we require a stronger grasp, a clearer intellect, a broader view of the needs and capabilities of a country so vast and cosmopolitan.

But to go back to our first proposition, that regular training schools for statesmen be established. It would not do to add this science to the regular curriculum of a college course, for many are forced, or force themselves into positions giving them power to make or execute laws, who are entirely without a college education, and the training they get must be outside of such halls of learning, but it should be none the less thorough.

An applicant for the most trivial position under the government is obliged to pass an examination embracing a wide field of scientific attainment, before his or her name can be entered as a possible appointee to the office desired, whilst men are nominated and elected to fill high and responsible positions, without a question as to their knowledge or fitness.

Whilst honesty, truth and patriotism are essentially the foundation on which a statesman's claims should rest, they are of little use without an enlightened understanding, a comprehensive knowledge of statecraft in the relations of government to the governed and a foresight that will enable them to steer the craft of which they take command, in safety through the stormy seas of political antagonism.

Whilst honesty, truth and patriotism are essentially the foundation on which a statesman's claims should rest, they are of little use without an enlightened understanding, a comprehensive knowledge of statecraft in the relations of government to the governed and a foresight that will enable them to steer the craft of which they take command, in safety through the stormy seas of political antagonism.

As the free American citizen, irrespective of creed, color or previous nationality, is at perfect liberty to vote for any ignoramus that his party chooses to nominate for office, there seems to be no other way to meet the danger to which our liberty exposes us, than to require every candidate for office to pass a thorough examination as to his fitness for his duties.

A marked copy of our Dumb Animals calls our attention to the cruel, vulgar and snobbish attempt lately introduced into our country to follow in the footsteps of English would-be-aristocracy by docking and otherwise disfiguring the noble horse, whose flowing tail and mane form no inconsiderable part of his claim to beauty, in the estimation of every one possessed of good taste and common sense.

It will be a good day for this country when our people learn to settle questions of taste and expediency for themselves and cease to imitate the littleness and folly which marks the idiotic vulgarity of certain classes in England, whose claims to superiority are fast running to seed.

FOURTEEN VICTIMS.

MINERSVILLE, Pa., April 21.—This town, which is situated about four miles from Pottsville, the county seat, is greatly excited over a horrible accident that occurred late yesterday afternoon at the Lytle colliery, whereby a number of men lost their lives by the flooding of the mine with an immense body of water that burst through from the old workings. It is said that the accident occurred just about the time the shifts were changing. The exact number of men drowned and their names cannot be given. It is announced by colliery officials that probably fourteen men have met their death by the disaster.

The place where the accident occurred is a new coal operation that is being opened up on an immense scale by the Lytle Coal company. The works are located on Primrose mountain, several miles northwest of Minersville, and taps the great Wolf creek, said to contain the largest deposit of anthracite coal in the world. The surface veins on this tract have been worked for years by different parties, but the water accumulated in such quantities in the worked out surface measures that to mine the coal in the deep measures, where the bulk of the deposits exists, required such a large capital that the tract in consequence has laid idle for some years.

About two years ago the present operators, with unlimited means, commenced the work, and have spent many thousands of dollars in pumping and opening up new slopes. They have not been shipping coal yet, but have engaged in the sinking of large deep slopes, which are down 500 feet. Gangways have been cut on these slopes on all sides of the old workings, and the old water lies in it. It is the bursting through of one or more of these deposits without warning that caught the unfortunate miners while at work.

PLOT TO KILL ALFONSO.

MADRID, April 20.—The arrest of Felipe Munoz, the anarchist who was betrayed into the hands of the police by Delboche, who informed the authorities that Munoz was the prime mover among the anarchists in supplying him and others with bombs, promises to result in the extradition of that dangerous class in Spain. Munoz has already made confessions that have caused the arrest of a number of his accomplices.

A sensation was created here when it was made public that Munoz had made a further confession to the magistrate who has charge of the case. Munoz told this officer that at a recent secret anarchist meeting lots were cast to decide which of the members should kill the boy king of Spain.

This statement has caused much anxiety, and the precautions to guard against any attack upon the king have been greatly increased.

FIFTY-SECOND CONGRESS.

Condensed Report of Proceedings in Senate and House.

WASHINGTON, April 15.—The senate had a long and interesting debate on a bill to increase the number of judges of the court of claims, which has been the subject of the expediency of giving salaries to retiring judges, and also brought out a special reference to the increase in the number of judges of the supreme court just before the adjournment was sustained. The discussion was still in progress when the senate adjourned till Monday.

WASHINGTON, April 16.—The house accomplished nothing whatever in the way of legislation. Numbers of resolutions were introduced for the erection of public buildings, and the house then went into committee of the whole on the bill for the relief of the committee on the well-known case of the late Henry H. and Charlotte K. Sibley, which has been before the house for the last three weeks on account of the failure of the committee to make any headway, after repeated calls for adjournment, and two calls of the house, it was finally decided to take a recess until 8 P. M. for the consideration of private pension bills.

WASHINGTON, April 18.—The senate passed the two court bills laid over from Thursday, and spent the day in the consideration of the executive session over the modus vivendi in Behring sea and other matters. The session of the house was held in the forenoon, the entire day being devoted to the consideration of the naval appropriation bill, which was finally passed as it came from the committee, with amendments.

WASHINGTON, April 19.—The senate passed the open session of the senate was the short but spirited debate on an Arizona funding bill, which by its insertion brought up the silver question and resulted in a yeas and nays vote on the question of striking out the words "gold coin" and inserting "lawful money of the United States" in the amended provision of the bill. This amendment was carried by 25 to 24, but Mr. Gray (Del.), who voted in the negative, took occasion to deny that the vote had any bearing on the free coinage question. Mr. Palmer (Ill.), who voted the same way, explained that he did so in recognition of the right of Arizona to manage her own affairs, and that the majority of her voters were in favor of gold if she wanted to. Mr. Hill (N. Y.) voted for the amendment without comment.

In executive session the Behring sea modus vivendi was read, and the senate passed a resolution to vacate the order of general "leave to print" to members who desired to submit remarks on the modus vivendi. A resolution was also adopted authorizing the civil service committee to investigate the alleged violation of the civil service law by certain officers of the navy. The remainder of the session was devoted to the consideration of the contested election cases of Noyes vs. Rockwell, from the Twenty-eighth district of New York.

WASHINGTON, April 21.—Mr. Teller's anti-administration free silver speech in the senate created even more of a sensation than that of his colleague, Mr. Sherman, on the same subject. Mr. Teller's statement that if the Republican party continued to adhere to the single standard of the free chief silver producing states, Colorado, New Mexico, Utah and Montana, would not after this be able to cooperate with the Republican party either in the senate or in the house, was warmly received by Mr. Sanders, of Montana. Another striking incident of the day was the announcement from Mr. Sherman, chairman of the committee on foreign relations, that he had received information that the Chinese government had proposed to limit the immigration of Chinese laborers to the United States to 25,000 per year, and that the provisions of the Chinese question will be pressed in the senate. The house devoted the day to the consideration of the Noyes-Rockwell contested election case.

MARYLAND MATTERS.

UPPER MARLBORO, Md., April 19.—The trial of Dennis Brightman, a colored boy, an inmate of the House of Reformation, at Cheltenham, Prince George's county, for the murder of Scott's (John) son, Feb. 25, engaged the attention of the court today. Messrs. C. C. Magruder and Joseph S. Wilson defended the boy, and the State's Attorney Brandt represented the state. The case is still on.

LEONARDTOWN, Md., April 17.—Mr. John A. Camalleri died here early Friday morning. He was in the 70th year of his age. Mr. Camalleri had been clerk to the county commissioners and to the circuit court of St. Mary's county. His remains will be buried in the graveyard of St. Anthony's church, near Leonardtown. He leaves a wife and five children.

ANNAPOLIS, April 18.—For the appointment of two police justices for Annapolis, provided for under a recent act of assembly, a vigorous contest is going on. The principal applicants named for the two places are W. H. Casaway, Thomas Basil and H. Hallum Claude. Governor Brown says the appointment will not be made until just before the 1st of May, when the law takes effect. The salary amounts to $1,200, which is the city of Annapolis pays $300, the county the balance.

BALTIMORE, April 20.—The best information here is that the board of directors of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad company, at the regular meeting this afternoon, will declare a cash dividend. The directors of the company, however, who know what will be done today, are silent alike upon the subject of a dividend and the amount. But there is so much confidence manifested in the declaration of a dividend that a failure will be due to a decision to be arrived at to-day.

BALTIMORE, April 21.—The will of Miss Emily L. Harper, filed yesterday, disposes of a large estate and contains a number of charitable bequests. Among the institutions named in the will are the Bureau of Catholic Indian missions, in Washington, $1,600; Catholic university at Washington, $50,000. Miss Harper was among the organizers of the Ladies' Mount Vernon association, and was one of the vice-regents. She bequeathed $100 to the association to be added to the endowment fund "to keep in repair the home and last resting place of George Washington."

CUMBERLAND, Md., April 19.—Mrs. Cecelia Leslie died intestate at Piedmont, Va., in 1888. Her heirs found among her possessions an old trunk filled with deeds and leases on which they are trying to recover a large section of Frankford, a part of Philadelphia, valued now at $25,000,000. The leases were made by William Lefevre, whose heirs, including the heirs of A. N. Lefevre, have engaged lawyers to bring suit for recovery. The leases show that the land was never sold, but that timber rights and other privileges were granted, the land itself to revert to Lefevre. In the property covered by the claim is the United States arsenal at Frankford.

Venezuela's New Ministry. CARACAS, April 21.—President Palacios's new cabinet is as follows: Dr. Benito Guillermo Andueza, minister of internal affairs; Dr. Manuel Clemente Urbaneja, minister of foreign relations; General Julio F. Sarrío, minister of war; Manuel Antonio Montes, minister of agriculture; Dr. Antonio Guzman, minister of the treasury; General Domingo A. Carvajal, minister of posts and telegraph; Dr. Manuel Palacios Reugifo, minister of public instruction; Carlos Jose Montañas, minister of public works.

Mr. T. B. CUSHWA, of Hagerstown, has a 25-cent note issued by the Hagerstown Bank about the year 1831. It is signed by Eli Beatty, president, and Daniel Sprigg, cashier. Eli Beatty was the first cashier of the bank, elected in 1807, along with Nathaniel Rochester as president, who married his sister Sophia. Mr. Beatty was cashier of the bank from 1807 down to 1859, except from 1831 to 1833, when he was president.—Sun.

Pipe Organ Purchased. A contract has been entered into between the officers of St. Johns Lutheran church of this place and Mr. Wilson Riley of Georgetown, D. C., for a pipe organ. It will cost $1,350 and will be in place by September 1st. To the indefatigable efforts of Rev. J. H. Barb most be accredited the success of this most laudable project.—Clarion.

NEW YORK, April 18.—Ex-Congressman Truman A. Morrison, a veteran of the war, and for many years connected with New York newspapers as a writer, died yesterday, aged 52.

VIENNA, April 21.—Baron Shaeffer, once Austrian minister at Washington, died in 1836. He was recalled from Washington on account of a dispute between Austria and the United States, and at once retired to private life.

TORONTO, Ont., April 19.—Hon. Alexander Mackenzie, ex-premier of Canada, died here, aged 70. As leader of the reform party in 1873 he drove Sir John Macdonald out of power. He retired from leadership early in the eighties.

WASHINGTON, April 19.—Chief Engineer N. B. Clark, retired, at his residence in this city. He was retired in 1885, but has been almost totally disabled for years with rheumatism. He was the inventor of the defective armor now used on war ships of all nations.

Forty Claimants for One Section. KINGFISHER, O. T., April 21.—The city of Okarche, ten miles south of Kingfisher, on the Rock Island, supposed by many to be the future capital of Oklahoma, has been built in a day. It is nearly two miles square, and the scene of excited activity beggars description. On one claim forty men swear they are in the order of precedence. The population exceeds that of Kingfisher or El Reno. Its settlement began Tuesday at three minutes past 12 o'clock, when a train on the Rock Island road drawn by two engines ran into the city and 1,800 were distributed over the claims that comprised its site.

Seven Men Blown to Pieces. NEWARK, N. J., April 19.—The works of the American Forcite Powder Co. a short distance from the landing station at Lake Hoptacong, on the Morris and Essex railway, blew up late yesterday afternoon, and seven men were blown to pieces. One of them, Benjamin Cassimore, will probably die.

Here Lies: Epitaph is a demoralizing kind of taffy. It appears on the tombstone, and eulogizes the dead almost to the very stars. The usual method of beginning is: "Here lies." Very suggestive, for the lies are frequently quite astonishing—almost enough to amuse and amaze the dead of whom they are written. A truthful epitaph, in many instances, would be: "Here lies one who omitted to take Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery." If sick and suffering, and dreading premature death, test the potent remedy. It cures all chronic, liver, blood, and lung diseases, as biliousness, skin and scalp diseases, scrofulous sores and swellings, salt-rheum, tetter, erysipelas, and even scrofula of the lungs (or Consumption), if taken in time.

No. 1263 MISCELLANEOUS DOCKET. In the Circuit Court for Frederick County, FEBRUARY TERM, 1892. In the matter of the Report of the Report of Sales of Real Estate, consisting of forty acres of timber land, situated in Havers District, Frederick County, Maryland, and of a mile south west of Lantz Station on Western Maryland Railroad and assessed in the name of Lyton H. Boyer, as made by Charles F. Rowe, Collector of State and County Taxes for Frederick County. The above report having been read and considered, it is thereupon this 18th day of April A. D. 1892, ordered by the Circuit Court for Frederick County, that the Clerk of this Court give notice by advertisement for six successive weeks in the Clarion and CHRONICLE newspapers published in Frederick County, warning all persons interested in the property described in the above Report of Sales to be and appear on or before the 4th day of June next and show cause, if any they have, why said Report should not be finally ratified and confirmed. (Filed April 18, 1892.) JOHN A. LYNCH, Judge of the Circuit Court. True Copy—Test: JOHN L. JORDAN, Clerk of the Circuit Court for Frederick County. apr 23-ts.

MORTGAGEE'S SALE. By virtue of a power of sale contained in a mortgage from George Ridenour and Sophia Ridenour, his wife, to Clinton G. Carter, dated May 4th, 1888, and recorded in Liber A. F. No. 6, folios 610 &c., one of the Land Records of Frederick County, the undersigned as assignee of the original mortgagee, will sell at public sale on the premises described below, on Saturday, May 14th, 1892, at 10 o'clock A. NOTICE.—Dr. Geo. S. Fouke, Dentist, will make his regular visit to Emmitsburg on the 27th inst., and remain a few days. Call at Mr. Philip Lawrence's.

THE store and dwelling of W. W. Graham, postmaster at Wintertown was destroyed by fire on Saturday last. The fire was evidently the work of an incendiary.

COUGH SYRUP.—Yes I am tired of hearing and seeing the word; yet if you want a good, reliable, pleasant-to-take, Cough Syrup, and a large bottle for the money, ask your druggist for Dr. Fahrney's and take no other.

FOR RENT.—The Adelsberger store room on W. Main street, near the diamond. Dimensions 26 feet square, abundance of light and two large show windows. Also room of same size on second floor. For particulars apply to F. A. Adelsberger.

Mr. Jno. F. ADELSBERGER brought a singular egg to this office on Monday. It was so exactly like a gourd, even to the place where the stem had been apparently broken off, that it was hard to realize that it did not grow on a vine.

LOST.—On Tuesday evening, between the Emmitt House and Square, a three cornered Gold Pin, with three Greek letters on the front and the initials "E. A." on the back. The finder will be rewarded on leaving the same at the Bank, in this place.

A FIVE-YEAR-OLD daughter of Mr. Charles W. Keller, of Middletown, fell over a railing of the porch of her father's residence last week, to the pavement below, a distance of ten feet, breaking one of her legs.—Banner of Liberty.

A CHILD of Mr. John Pears had the scald head and had been under the treatment of physicians without relief. It was cured by Chamberlain's Eye and Skin Ointment, and is now well and all right.—W. R. MILLER & SONS, Briscoe, Iowa. 25 cent boxes for sale by C. D. Eichelberger.

DAMEL BONEBRAKE, an old and respected citizen, having his home with his grandchild near Fox Hill has been in a critical condition for some time, having had several paralytic strokes. His son in Cavetown, Md., and other relatives have been summoned to his bedside.

Her Eighty-first Birthday. Mrs. Matilda Nevin, of this city, reached her eighty-first birthday to-day—Wednesday—and the event was appropriately observed by having a family reunion and dinner, at which was gathered her sons and daughters, their wives and husbands and their children.—Waynesboro Record.

"For several years," says John Park, of Beaver Creek, Minn., "during the winter, I have been troubled with a painful swelling of the feet, which physicians claimed was rheumatic gout. I was treated by some of our best physicians, and obtained but little, if any relief, and used many so-called 'cures,' without benefit. During the winter of 1887, when my feet were so swollen and inflamed that I could not wear my boots, I commenced using Chamberlain's Pain Balm. The first application reduced the swelling and inflammation and the use of one fifty cent bottle so completely relieved me, that I discontinued my canes, and was able to get around all right and wear my boots." 50 cent bottles for sale by C. D. Eichelberger.

WHEN you are troubled with dizziness, your appetite all gone, and you feel bad generally, take a few doses of Dr. Henry Baxter's Mandrake Bitters, and you will be surprised at the improvement in your feelings. Every bottle warranted to give satisfaction. For sale by J. A. Elder.

Luther STONER, son of Isaiah Stoner, of Leitersburg, Md., died in that place Wednesday last week at the age of eighteen years. Deceased was a member of the River Brethren church and possessed many noble qualities. The funeral occurred Friday morning at Ringgold.—Waynesboro Record.

One day last week, says a correspondent of the Opinion, Race Brant, who resides near Upton, lost a yearling calf in rather a novel manner. One of the larger cattle must have caught the calf on its horns and thrown it in the water-rough. It fell on its back and the trough being too narrow to turn in, it drowned.—Waynesboro Record.

She was Willing to Give Up All. When Queen Elizabeth of England, found death approaching her, she cried despairingly, "All my possessions for a moment of time!" There are wealthy ladies to-day, the world over, who would gladly exchange their riches for sound health. Many are made well and happy by Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, a never-failing cure for diseases so common to women. As a corrective for all functional weakness it is of universal repute among the sex, and thousands of pale, worn-out, enfeebled victims have been changed into vigorous women and girls by its use. Guaranteed to give satisfaction, or price refunded. Druggists have it.

Gathering Wild Flowers for Sale. Just as the sun was rising I started up the mountain to gather Trailing Arbutus and after traveling about three miles, found it in abundance, but it took me half a day to get two baskets full. The season for it is now fairly here and will last about a week or two and I can supply it to anybody who desires it. Everybody knows it and everybody wants it, and can have it, at trifling cost, as also other wild flowers in their season. Flowers can be kept longer by putting them in a glass of water and placing a large bell glass over them to exclude the air, and can be sent any distance without withering, if put into an airtight tin box. W. D. GAMBLE.

While Minnesota is one of the most healthy States in the Union, it is one of the worst for colds, owing to the severe winters. Many of the druggists there make it a rule to give their customers just what they call for; but when they come back and say it does no good they almost invariably recommend Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, which will be seen by the following from Messrs. Wells & Schoeder, of Sanborn, Minn.: "We have recommended Chamberlain's Cough Remedy after other leading cough preparations have failed to do any good, and always with the best results. We can always rely upon that remedy, as it is sure to effect a cure. It has no equal for children; especially in cases of croup or whooping cough." 50 cent bottles for sale by C. D. Eichelberger.

Death of Mr. Wm. Golden. Mr. William Golden, of Taneytown district, Carroll county and well known in this section of Frederick county, died at his home very suddenly on the 13th inst., of neuralgia of the heart, aged 73 years, 7 months and 8 days. He was a native of Baltimore, having been for 16 years a retired farmer and 37 years a resident of that vicinity, where he married a Miss Mary A. Wivell, over 49 years ago, who with three sons and 14 grand-children, survive him. His only daughter, Kate C. wife of Louis J. Heimler of that neighborhood, died last October. As to his three sons—Joseph A., a general agent of insurance, resides in New York City, whilst Jerome L., a caterer, and William A., a lawyer, reside in Pittsburgh, Pa. His very largely attended funeral took place from St. Joseph's Church, Taneytown last Monday morning. Rev. Theodore D. Mead, the pastor, officiating and pronouncing the eulogy, with CXLII Psalm as his exordium and Genesis XLIX, 28-32, as his peroration.

EASTER SUNDAY, though not by any means very bright and spring-like, was, upon the whole, not unpleasant, and the attendance at all the churches was unusually large. The Easter communion services at the Reformed church, called out a full representation of the membership. The chancel was bright with blooming plants, shedding beauty and fragrance around, notwithstanding the chilly unspring-like weather. As some of the members of the choir were sick and some were absent, the Easter anthems were necessarily omitted. In St. Joseph's Catholic church, which was beautifully decorated with flowers, the usual solemn Easter services were fully attended, and the music selected for the day was admirably rendered by the choir which consists of the following members: Director, Miss A. McBride; Organist, Miss Maggie Tyson; Male voices—Tenors, Messrs. Tyson and Lawrence; Bass, Messrs. Linsinger and Hoke; Female voices—Sopranos, Misses Blanche Tyson, Kate Hann, Alice Grindler, Lucy Lawrence, Stella Baker, Mary Donohue, Nellie Gehr; Alto—Miss May Tyson. Morning service at 10 o'clock began with Luce's Vidi Aquam followed by H. L. Perry's Mass in G. At the offertory Alleluia, Lambillotte, March—J. P. Lousa. Vespers at 3 p. m. followed by Benediction. At these services were sung Groza Regina Caeli, O Salutaris, Lambillotte Tantum Ergo, Lambillotte.

Crown Stock Food will make cows produce more and richer milk.

The party at the Emmitt House on Wednesday evening, notwithstanding the inclement weather, was largely attended, and dancing was kept up until a late hour.

Nine Times out of Ten Dr. Fahrney's Peerless Liniment will prevent Pneuonia and Croup, if used in time. So say hundreds who have used it. Sold by all druggists for twenty-five cents.

TOMORROW at 12 o'clock, Mr. M. F. Shuff will sell at public sale at his place of business, on West Main street, 2 cows, 2 dayton and 3 stick wagons, parlor suit, 6 sewing machines, bedsteads and a lot of other valuable personal property.

No Other Sarsaparilla has the merit by which Hood's Sarsaparilla has won such a firm hold upon the confidence of the people. No other combines the economy and strength which make "100 Doses One Dollar" true only of Hood's Sarsaparilla. No other possesses the Combination, Proportion, and Process which make Hood's Sarsaparilla peculiar to itself.

Safety in the midst of Danger.

This would seem a contradiction—so, in fact, to the eye. But experience has proved its possibility. Take the case of the individual who dwells in a malarious region. A robust constitution is no certain defense against the dreaded chills. What is? Recorded testimony, covering a period little short of half a century, proves that Hostetter's Stomach Bitters is precisely this. This content does not limit the field where the medicine has proved its efficacy. In South America, the Isthmus of Panama, Mexico, everywhere in fact where miasma-born disease takes on its most obstinate and formidable type, the Bitters is a recognized specific in limited demand, and prescribed by physicians of repute. Potent, too, is it in disorders of the stomach, liver and bowels, and against that destroyer, in zippers. It improves appetite and sleep, neutralizes fermentation and kidney complaints.

MT. ST. MARY'S COLLEGE NEWS.

Holy Week at the Mount.

Holy Week is a very busy week at the College, particularly so for the clergy and seminarians. From the first mass on Palm Sunday until after vespers and benediction, Easter, every one has as much to do as he can attend to. This year was no exception. Palm Sunday the Palma were blessed before the High Mass was sung, and distributed to the congregation. The services were conducted by Dr. Allen, as celebrant; Rev. Mr. Stephen Walsh, deacon; Mr. Peter Walsh, master of ceremonies; Mr. William Martin, master of ceremonies; Mr. Charles A. Watterson, assistant master of ceremonies; acolytes, Mr. Charles Hartkopf and Mr. Anthony Dorley; thurifer, Mr. Frank Roth. At this Mass, the choir, composed of St. Matthew, was sung by Revs. Dr. McSweeney, Thomas Kelly and William O'Hara.

At 3 p. m., vespers and benediction were given. Father O'Hara officiating, assisted by Mr. Peter Walsh, deacon; Mr. William Martin, master of ceremonies; Mr. Charles A. Watterson, assistant master of ceremonies; acolytes, Mr. Charles Hartkopf and Mr. Anthony Dorley; thurifer, Mr. Frank Roth. At this Mass, the choir, composed of St. Matthew, was sung by Revs. Dr. McSweeney, Thomas Kelly and William O'Hara.

Wednesday afternoon at 4 o'clock, the work began in earnest with the singing of the three lamentations. The Holy Mass was sung at 6 o'clock. The second and third lamentations were sung by Rev. Mr. Reutter and Mr. Codori, respectively. Rev. Mr. Stephen Walsh, Mr. Jordan, Mr. William Martin, Mr. McHugh, Mr. Dege, and Mr. Kelly, assisted in singing Vespers. On each of the evenings during which Tenebrae was sung, the Canticle of Zachary was rendered by the choir of seminarians in a very agreeable manner. The lessons for the three evenings of Tenebrae and Mr. John Gallagher, extinguiser.

Thursday evening Rev. Father Tierney conducted the services, and together with Mr. Peter Walsh, deacon, sang the three lamentations. The lessons were sung by Mr. Geary, Mr. Leonard, Mr. Coal, Mr. Hartkopf, Mr. William Martin and Father Tierney.

Friday evening Dr. Allen officiated, singing the three lamentations. Mr. William Martin, Mr. Dege, Mr. Kelly, Mr. O'Shea, Mr. O'Shea, Mr. McEal, Mr. William Ryan and Dr. Allen, assisted in singing Vespers. Thursday was begun at 8 a. m., as were all the morning services during the week. Dr. Allen was celebrant; Rev. Mr. Reutter, deacon; Mr. Bernard Bradley, sub-deacon; Mr. Bishop, master of ceremonies; Mr. Charles Hartkopf, acolytes; and Mr. O'Shea, thurifer. The Sacred Host was removed in solemn procession to the repository, temporarily built in the southern wing of the church. Great praise is due the Altar Society for the manner in which the repository was decorated with garlands and flowers, both cut and potted, making up a considerable portion of the decorations. Thursday evening the students could not repair to the church for night prayers, as is the usual custom, owing to the fact that the church was closed.

Good Friday morning the solemn and impressive ceremonies of the Adoration of the Cross, were participated in by a very large congregation. Dr. Allen again officiating as celebrant, assisted by Rev. Mr. Stephen Walsh, deacon; Mr. William Martin, sub-deacon; Mr. Coal, master of ceremonies; Mr. Jas. McHugh and Mr. Frank Roth, acolytes; and Mr. Leonard, thurifer. Mr. McHugh sang the lesson.

The Sacrament of the Lord according to St. Luke, was sung by Rev. Mr. Reutter, Mr. Geary and Mr. Wade, in a most creditable manner.

The Sacred Host was returned to the altar in solemn procession and the Holy Sacrifice was completed in the usual manner. Friday evening the students repaired to the church together with the seminarians, and after singing the hymn Stabat Mater, Dr. Allen gave a meditation on the Passion of our Lord. In the night prayers were said, after which the hymn Ave Stella Maria was sung and services ended.

Saturday morning the students again repaired to the church, when the services of the previous evening were repeated. At 8 a. m., the canonization peculiar to the blessing of holy water, incense, fire, etc., as is the custom on the Saturday preceding Easter, were conducted by Rev. John Tierney as celebrant, assisted by Rev. Mr. Reutter, deacon; Mr. Godwin, sub-deacon; Mr. Peter Walsh, master of ceremonies; Mr. Hartkopf, assistant master of ceremonies; Mr. Leonard and Mr. Philip Gallagher, acolytes; and Mr. Colter, thurifer. The altar, which had been prepared of all ornamental businesses, was dressed in a new for these services. Previous to the singing of the Mass, the Litany of the Saints was chanted by the seminarians. There were no services held during the balance of the day.

Easter morning opened in a threatening manner, but before eight o'clock the clouds had been dispelled and the sun shone forth. High Mass was sung at 10 a. m. There was an exceedingly large congregation present. Dr. Allen was celebrant; Rev. Mr. Stephen Walsh, deacon; Mr. Godwin, sub-deacon; Mr. Bishop, sub-deacon; Mr. James A. McHugh, master of ceremonies; Mr. John Gallagher and Mr. Philip Gallagher, acolytes; and Mr. McConnell, thurifer.

The sermon was preached by Rev. Thomas Kelly, whose text was: "This is the Day the Lord hath made; let us be glad and rejoice therein." The sermon was excellent, in as much as it was forcibly delivered and convincing in argument. The opinions held by the hearers were clearly stated and ably refuted. The lesson drawn was very practical and on the whole the sermon was most creditable to the reverend father, and most instructive to his auditors.

Still another pleasing feature of the morning's service was the work of the choir. Mazo's Mass in F was agreeably rendered, the solos being particularly pleasing. The rendition of Millard's beautiful hymn, Ave Maria, by Mr. Wm. Collins, '92, was very creditable to that gentleman. At the end of the Mass, St. Cecilia's Orchestra played Le Marche Religieuse. Vespers and Benediction of the most Blessed Sacrament were given by Father Tierney, assisted by Rev. Mr. Peter Walsh, deacon; Mr. Godwin, sub-deacon; Mr. Bishop, thurifer; Mr. James McHugh, master of ceremonies; while the acolytes and thurifer were the same as those who officiated during the morning services. The altar was tastefully decorated.

Thus the ceremonies of Holy Week were completed. Everything having passed off successfully.

PERSONALS.

Rev. Mr. Reutter, Mr. Codori and Mr. William Martin were called to Harrisburg, Pa., Saturday to assist the Right Rev. Thomas McGovern, Bishop of Md., in the celebration of the Pontifical Mass at the Cathedral, Eastern.

Mr. Simon J. Codori, Jr., of Gettysburg, and Messrs. Frank Sneider and

Alfred Rice of McSherrystown, Pa., spent the Easter vacation at their respective homes, as also did Mr. Allan R. Lakin of Boonsboro, Md.

Mr. Jos. Brogan was called to his home, Lowell, Mass., Sunday to attend at the sick-bed of his brother, who is dangerously ill.

Mr. Cornelius Haggerty, Sr., of Philadelphia, Pa., the father, and Mr. Richard Haggerty, the brother of Mr. Cornelius Haggerty, Jr., paid the latter a visit at the college during the Easter holidays.

Mr. Paul Prendergast, a student at Columbia Preceptorial College, New York City, spent his Easter vacation in paying a visit to his brothers, James and Lucius Prendergast, students of the "Mount."

Rev. Dr. Charles P. Grannan, formerly Professor of Dogmatic Theology and Sacred Scripture in Mt. St. Mary's Seminary, but at present Professor of Sacred Scripture at the Catholic University, Washington, D. C., spent several days visiting the Mount, and his two sons, Rev. William O'Hara spent Saturday and Sunday in Chambersburg, Pa.; where he assisted Rev. Father Kohl in the Easter ceremonies.

Rev. Dr. McSweeney left last Wednesday for New York, where he took part in Holy Week ceremonies.

Rev. Dominic Brown of Hartford, Conn., is spending a few days at the "Mount."

OBITUARY.

We are called upon to record the death of three persons who have in some way been connected with the Mount. Mr. William A. J. Watterson, of Pittsburgh, Pa., Col. Louis Ernest of Rochester, N. Y., and Miss Emily Harper of Baltimore. The Catholic Columbian of Columbus, Ohio, has the following to say of the death of Mr. Watterson: "Last Sunday afternoon, April 10th, Mr. Watterson, A. J. Watterson, after an illness of two days, died from cerebral hemorrhage at his residence, No. 227 Forty-fourth street, Pittsburgh, Pa., in the sixtieth year of his age. The deceased was the eldest brother of Bishop Watterson, of this diocese. He was born in the Catholic parish, Pittsburgh, Pa., Feb. 24th, 1833. For many years he was engaged in the mercantile business in Blairsville, Pa. During the past few years he had held various responsible positions in Pittsburgh, notably U. S. Customs Inspector, and for some time with the Anchor Savings Bank. Six brothers and two sisters survive him, viz: Rt. Rev. John A. Watterson, D. D.; James S. Watterson, Chicago, Ill.; Henry C. Watterson, Cincinnati, O.; Theodore A. Watterson, New York City; George W. Watterson, Pittsburgh; Alfred V. D. Watterson, Esq., of the Pittsburgh bar and president of the Columbus Club of that city; Mrs. Capt. Denis Behn and Mrs. M. J. McCann of Pittsburgh. He leaves a widow, four sons and two daughters. Of his children, the eldest, Mr. Charles H. A. Watterson, is a seminarian at Mt. St. Mary's College, near Emmitsburg, Md. The funeral took place Tuesday morning from St. Mary's Church, Forty-sixth street, Pittsburgh, after the celebration of a Solemn Pontifical Mass of Requiem, with Rt. Rev. John A. Watterson, D. D., as celebrant; Rev. Edward M. McCleary, rector of St. John the Baptist's Church, as assistant priest; Rev. Bernard J. Hines, assistant of Sacred Heart Church, as deacon; Rev. S. E. Aaron, of the Cathedral, Erie, Pa., a nephew of the deceased, as sub-deacon, and Rev. Wm. L. McGrath, curate of St. Mary's master of ceremonies. The sermon was preached by Father Tierney, rector of St. Mary's. The interment, attended by a large concourse of relatives and friends, was made in Calvary Cemetery. Mr. Watterson was a devoted brother, a faithful husband, an affectionate father, a good friend, a loyal citizen, a Catholic of simple, earnest faith and practice. Blessed are the dead who die in the Lord." Requiescat in pace!"

The New York Freeman's Journal of April 16th says: "Colonel Louis Ernest, one of the best known citizens of Rochester, N. Y., died there on Sunday week of apoplexy. He was born in Baden, Germany, in 1825, and came to Rochester in 1831, where he started in the shoe business. In 1856 he formed a partnership in the hardware business with the late Ferdinand Seifried. In 1862, at the organization of the 140th regiment, New York State Volunteers, Mr. Ernest was commissioned as Lieutenant-Colonel and went out in command of the regiment as its Colonel and was with the regiment at Fredericksburg and in command at Chancellorsville. He participated in the Gettysburg campaign, and succeeded to the command on the death of the Colonel at Little Round Top, during the second day's engagement. He remained in command until the fall of '63, when the regiment was encamped at Beverly Ford on the Rappahannock, and soon after which the command was assumed by Col. George Ryan. After the war Colonel Ernest returned to Rochester and has since been variously and successfully engaged in several businesses. He leaves a wife, three sons and four daughters. The funeral obsequies with Requiem Mass were celebrated in St. Joseph's Church on April 6 by Rev. Joseph Wirth, assisted by Rev. August Pingle, Rev. James Kessler and Very Rev. Bishop McQuaid preached the eulogy. R. I. P."

Col. Ernest had a son at the "Mount," Charles B. Ernest, who was graduated in 1878, and is now a prominent member of the Rochester bar.

Miss Emily Harper died last week in Baltimore. She was a grand-daughter of Charles Carroll of Carrollton. Her brother, Gen. Robert Harper, attended the Mount in the twenties and was a life long friend of the institution.

NOTES ON THE GAME.

The first five innings were pitched by Howard, the first nine men's invincible pitcher, the second nine scoring only one run, and Farrell, Burchard and Echevarria making the only hits. Then Captain Ryan seeing that his men in the field were getting no practice, put Willie Cashman in the box. The second team hit Cashman freely, making 12 hits in 4 innings. The first nine soon perceived that they were getting too much to do in the field; but this knowledge came too late when the game was lost and now Tobin has all along given evidence of being a good player, but evidence developed into demonstration on Saturday, when he jumped three feet in the air and caught in one hand a wild throw from home plate. W. Cashman, Hogan and Farrell did splendid work with the wagon tongue.

Higgins caught Howard for the first time on Saturday, and proved himself a man of experience behind the bat. Concerning the game of the second nine and there is no other one among Captain Farrell's men who could better fill that position. ASCANIUS.

THE SOCIETIES.

No meetings were held last week by any of our literary societies. Extensive preparations are being made to further the success of the final meetings. The Orpheus Glee Club has daily rehearsals and the members are making wonderful progress.

REFLECTIVE.

A DIFFERENT VIEW.

It has been well said that "amidst the bustle of life, the attention is apt to be engrossed by considerations of a local and inferior character." So the expression of a mind dominated by such feelings cannot be otherwise than very un conducive to a healthy moral tone. "History repeats itself" is the reason, we presume, that Tom Brown and slugger Williams recently went at it again. But a "black rook" came up and they retired; neither to their own relief but greatly to the disgust of all the "forms." The peace-maker—it is to be regretted—came in for a few remarks from the interested, and this fact led us to make the quotation in our opening sentence. But now, another time has arisen, its veil—a veil which always covers to make more clear—over that happening, we cannot but think that the said remarkers will see themselves now as others saw them then.

No doubt the remarkers altered the feelings which first moved them to judgment was warped—it took an unhealthy tone from those "considerations of a local and inferior character" which are attendant on any actions not in harmony with the decencies so remarks given forth, toned and colored by a temporary blindness of vision are to be deplored; but when they direct themselves towards what was prompted by duty.

"sister daughter of the voice of God" what sweeping and unadvised there, what sweeping rebuke sufficient in itself to reward fittingly any attack on true worth? A sense of duty and an act of duty, we must remark, are slightly different. Moral courage is—duty that is unpleasant is spoken of—need not be for the one, as the other is an act that is required to know the former. Hence, when we see a home example of what all boys admire, manliness, it is strange that we should fail to appreciate it. We doubt not that every reader has admired in the past the moral courage. But why, we ask, should a practical illustration of it meet with such a decided disapprobation as was lately manifested? As the sage saith: "To admire the good done by others is one thing; to do what is good yourself is another."

However now that, thanks to "the old man with the scythe," we can look at the happenings of the past with a clear view, a little sober thought will convince the most obstinate that to sneer at what manliness does or moral courage prompts is no standard for any person to adopt; much less those over whom her colors—the blue and white—wave. A Lecture on Napoleon.—(Shakespeare—A Lecture.) by Prof. Ernest Lagarde, is commented upon by a Mountaineer.

NAPOLEON.

The sixth of the series of illustrated lectures was delivered in the Music Hall March 30th by Rev. Thomas L. Kelly, A. M. The subject differed from previous ones in that, instead of describing the scenery, institutions and places of interest of some one particular country, it gave us an insight into the life, character, triumph and downfall of one of the most conspicuous personages in history—Napoleon Bonaparte.

His Spanish campaign was begun in 1808. After usurping the throne of Spain and placing his brother, Joseph, upon it, he found it very difficult to maintain his authority. In fact—he didn't maintain it—for the Spaniards, aided by the English under the Duke of Wellington, completely overturned his power and compelled the Grand Army, although under the command of Napoleon himself, to withdraw from the Peninsula.

In 1812, Napoleon, with an army of 700,000 men, invaded Russia for the second time. Here in the battle of Borodino, he defeated the Russians after a stubborn contest. He did not follow up his advantage, however, and some days later took his march for Moscow, the objective point of the expedition. But when he arrived there he found that the city had been evacuated and all provisions destroyed. Napoleon when he entered the city was surprised to find it so quiet and could not understand how his enemy had so suddenly deserted the place. He also noticed that the city was in flames and his own situation perilous in the extreme. He made his escape from the burning city, however, and remained in the vicinity for a time, waiting for the Czar to come and make terms, but the Czar never came and Napoleon began his famous retreat. The severe Russian winter setting in made the journey considerably more difficult and thousands upon thousands of men and horses were frozen to death.

On Napoleon's return to Paris he levied another army and marched into Germany. Here he met with many reverses and finally retreated to Paris, whither the Allies followed. Being thus hemmed in, he was compelled to abdicate the throne, which he did at his palace of Fontainebleau, March 14th, 1814. The royal family was restored and Napoleon banished by the Allies to the Island of Elba.

He remained in exile but one hundred days, when he returned to France and immediately his war-scarred veterans crowded around him eager for any new exploit. Spain had been lost and the Army of the Allies was vastly more numerous than that of Napoleon, notwithstanding which, he boldly went forth to reconquer his lost possessions. At Ligny and Quatre-Bras he held his own against the enemy, but at Waterloo, June 18th, 1815, he attacked the combined army of Allies and met with his last defeat. His Old Guard was almost annihilated.

Napoleon returned to Paris, abdicated for the second time and tried to make his escape into the United States, but was prevented owing to the vigilance of the English Navy. He surrendered to the Captain of the British ship Bellerophon. Later he was banished to St. Helena, a barren island in the South Atlantic, where he died May 5th, 1821, having in his last hours been attended by two Catholic priests. Here the lecture ended and the reverend lecturer took his seat amid the greatest applause.

The views presented to illustrate the lecture were very appropriate and proved most interesting. Several of the views were made by Rev. Father O'Hara and reflect great credit upon him.

During the lecture many points were "brought home" to the students. For instance, that part describing Miss Patterson of Baltimore, who was married to Jerome Bonaparte the brother of the great Napoleon. Their son Charles K. Bonaparte was during several years a student of the "Mount." The letters written by Madame Bonaparte to Dr. Father Dubois about her son are among the most interesting in the college archives.

One of the beautiful views was that of the tomb of Josephine, situated in a grove surrounded by palm trees besides other tropical trees and plants. The lecture was greatly appreciated and it is the hope of the students that Father Kelly may soon favor us with another. B. C. M.

The afterpieces were as follows: Statues of "Euripides" and "Demosthenes," the latter receiving a hearty ovation from his many admirers among the students of '94; "Stolen Fruits are Sweet," and its sequel, "No Pleasure Without Pain," representing two youngsters pilfering a jelly closet, and the subsequent penalty at the hands of the "miser families"; "Dey Say I Can't, But I've Done Gone Done It," two comic pictures, showing how a medium-sized African may get outside of a half-dozen good sized watermelons. These two latter evoked considerable merriment; Statue of Antinous, friend of Hadrian; Statue, Milo of Crotona, by Durmort; Painting, "The Death of Caesar," by —; "Christ Stilling the Tempest"; and "Christ Walking Upon The Waters." "Easter Dawn," by Thompson, singular fact in history that Napoleon crowned himself.

His next campaigns were against the Austrians and the Russians. In the former he won the celebrated battles of Austerlitz and Ulm, from which he carried away many trophies. Among these were the cannons employed in the construction of the Column Vendome, Paris. In the Russian campaign he was very nearly defeated in the battle of Eylau.

His Spanish campaign was begun in 1808. After usurping the throne of Spain and placing his brother, Joseph, upon it, he found it very difficult to maintain his authority. In fact—he didn't maintain it—for the Spaniards, aided by the English under the Duke of Wellington, completely overturned his power and compelled the Grand Army, although under the command of Napoleon himself, to withdraw from the Peninsula.

The severe Russian winter setting in made the journey considerably more difficult and thousands upon thousands of men and horses were frozen to death. Then to add to the trials, the Russian army, and particularly the Cossack cavalry continually harassed the straggling soldiers, and woe to the Frenchman, who lingered! Of the magnificent army, which entered Russia but 70,000 men returned and scarcely any of them fit for further service. When they reached the Russian frontier Napoleon returned to Paris and left the army to return as best it might. The reverend lecturer said, that words could not describe the sufferings endured by this army and that it would require the ability of Dante himself to give us at the least an idea of what occurred.

On Napoleon's return to Paris he levied another army and marched into Germany. Here he met with many reverses and finally retreated to Paris, whither the Allies followed. "SHAKESPEARE—A LECTURE."

Students will hail with delight this new addition to that department of literature which treats of Shakespeare and his works. So much has been said and written concerning the "Bard of Avon" that it seems "churning the daylight" to add another name to the long list of Shakespearean critics. But we think that Prof. Lagarde has done a useful and much needed work, in presenting in this brief yet exhaustive essay a general outline of the most striking characteristics of England's greatest dramatist.

Here we find summarized and reduced to convenient form, the results of the latest researches and discoveries in this extensive field of inquiry. Here we find detailed all that is necessary to an intelligent reading and a fair understanding of the poet's immortal productions. Briefly yet fully the Professor traces the rise of the English Drama. Beginning with the Miracle Plays and the Interludes down to the very period of the Elizabethan Play, a world of information is imparted displaying rare genius and literary acquisitions. Here we are told of our poet's youth and recklessness, his seeming disregard for fame or renown. Yet in this "madness there was method" for we are told, "As a business man, he was not reckless; he knew how to drive a good bargain, and was not to be imposed upon"—and while "His last years glided away in obscurity it is true, yet that obscurity was far from being miserable or degrading."

The sorely controverted point of Shakespeare's religious opinions receives that attention which it obviously deserves. But we think Catholics here make "much ado about nothing." It is not the province of the Catholic Church to make men great poets, artists, scientists.

Her mission is to teach men their religious duties, to lead men to Heaven. True indeed Holy Church has been in every age the patroness and protectress of learning—true she reckons among her children men of distinguished attainments. Nay more she has been the inspiration and the theme of the grandest works of human genius; but all this is foreign to her heaven-appointed work.

The question then of Shakespeare's religion, though interesting, makes neither for nor against Catholicity. We hope however, and the Professor strengthens our hope, that the poet was a member of the Church Catholic. The lecturer finds fault and justly with "the style of criticism that is one-sided." Each critic taking the poet in one department only, gives us an incomplete and imperfect impression of him who was "myriad-minded." Shakespeare must not be viewed in sections.

He cannot be classified. He possesses such a peculiar grasp of subject, such a penetrating intuition, fathomless depth of feeling, such wonderful power of depiction, such subtlety of thought and nicety of expression, such a singular blending of simplicity and sublimity that he has a place in the world's literature truly Shakespearean. He has no rival, no peer, admits of no comparison; in a word he is Shakespeare. He is not the poet of any age or people, but the great poet of humanity. The poet whose heart felt, whose genius comprehended, whose words voiced the sentiments of mankind. Hence his vocabulary was extensive and varied. "If," says the Professor, "any writer possesses the full mastery of our language, Shakespeare is that writer. Who compares with him in the power of enjoining the winning witchery of words? Who knew better than he the power and the beauty latent in our English speech? Critics may carp and establish iron clad rules to guide us in our use of figures, but Shakespeare despised such limitations and hence many critical tears. Here as elsewhere he is a law unto himself, and the critics, who "deem it the prerogative of criticism to curtail the natural scope of genius, and to impose such shackles upon it as will hold it down to slavish form of expression," find in the Divine Bard an "awful example" of talents misdirected.

From this general consideration of the poet's works, the lecture turns to a particular analysis of two or three of the more important plays. It is needless to add that everywhere in these criticisms we find the evidences of refined taste, a true appreciation of the work under consideration and a real fellow-feeling with the poet in his most sublime passages.

As an old pupil who sat for years at the professor's feet and learned from him to admire the beauties of Shakespeare, let me voice the wish of many a former mountaineer that Professor Lagarde having put his hand to the plough may not look back until he has given us in permanent form the results of his many years study of our favorite author. The Martial Spirit—A Matter of Birth.

On a certain occasion a Yankee officer cavalierly rode up to the gate of the late Judge E. J. Bullock, during one of the periods of Federal occupation of this section, and asked a little negro boy (who, by the way, is now residing here), "who lived at the house," to which the boy replied, in a matter-of-course way; "Colonel Bullock." "Colonel Bullock?" said the Federal. "And how did he come to be a Colonel, will you please tell me?" In some wonderment, but with positive assurance, the boy replied: "Why, he was born a Colonel, sir."—Clinton (Ky) Deaneer.

Sand as a Fire Extinguisher.

It is well known that dry sand is one of the best things that can be used for killing an incipient oil fire, and some factories where oil is used have been equipped with pails of this material in various departments. It is now suggested that many dwelling house fires caused by lamp explosions might be averted by keeping some of the ornamented vases in the room filled with sand, so that it would be always at hand in case of need. A further incidental advantage of this precaution is that fragile pieces of porcelain, by so ballasted, would be rendered much less liable to breakage. Not long ago in London a preacher indulged in a little bit of sarcasm over a small collection, and did it very neatly. "When I look at the congregation," said he, "I ask, Where are the poor? and when I look at the collection, I ask, Where are the rich?" THERE is something very like the "irony of fate" in the fact that the granite monument to be erected to the late chief of police in New Orleans, who was killed by Italian brigands, is being cut by Italians in the granite works at Hallowell, Me.—Detroit Free Press.
