

FAMINE IN TEXAS.

Whilst the philanthropic people of this country are sending vessels laden with food to relieve famine-stricken Russia, the fact seems to be scarcely known that in the part of Texas bordering on the Rio Grande, the people are actually dying of starvation, in consequence of the long protracted drought. More than ten thousand persons are now suffering there for want of food.

DANGER TO WHICH ALL CLASSES ARE EXPOSED.

The late dynamite outrages in Baltimore, coupled with the threats which the Mayor has received, are calculated to awaken apprehension of danger among the citizens, all the greater for the uncertainty as to its existence or the direction from which it may come.

Danger that confronts one openly may be guarded against or overcome, but where plots and plotters are alike unseen and unsuspected it is difficult for wisdom to devise or courage to execute any plan for the prevention of the fiendish schemes or the punishment of those who carry them out.

Dynamite is a wonderful agent in the work of the world's advancement, but it is a greater power for evil, inasmuch as it is within reach of every miscreant who chooses to use it for vengeance or for greed.

The success of Hood's Sarsaparilla is because it possesses true merit, and no claim is made for it which is not fully supported.

THE FIFTY-SECOND CONGRESS.

A Digest of the Proceedings in the Senate and House.

WASHINGTON, April 23.—After four hours debate on the Nevada-Rockwell contest, the house decided to retain Mr. Rockwell in his seat. The principal speeches of the day were made by Messrs. Fellows and Cockran, of New York, who spoke for Mr. Rockwell, and Mr. O'Ferrall, of Virginia, who made an earnest appeal for Mr. Nevada. The discussion at times was hot and spicy, and the interference of Senator Hill in the case was alluded to. At times the scenes were dramatic, and there was considerable confusion. On the motion that Mr. Nevada was not entitled to the seat, the vote was—yeas, 140; nays, 93, and on the motion that Mr. Rockwell was elected the vote stood—yeas, 133; nays, 106. These resolutions were submitted by the minority and a vote thus first taken upon them.

Mr. Bryan, of Colorado, then moved to recommend the resolutions with instructions to take testimony regarding the disputed ballots and report hereafter. This was lost—yeas, 110; nays, 135, and on a voice vote Mr. Rockwell, the sitting member, was then declared elected. The result was received with applause by the Democrats generally.

WASHINGTON, April 23.—Chinese exclusion occupied the senate all day after the morning hour, and at adjournment was apparently good for two or more days further discussion. An extraordinary feature of the debate was the introduction by Mr. Davis, of Minnesota, of an attack on the papal hierarchy, the German ambassador at Rome and the Austrian royal family for alleged attempted interference with Catholic immigrants into the United States.

WASHINGTON, April 23.—The senate passed the Chinese bill exactly as reported by the senate committee on foreign relations to continue existing restriction laws for ten years, and sent it to the house for conference. The senate by a vote of 43 to 14 rejected the Geary Chinese total exclusion bill. The new bill, as it now goes to the house for conference, enacts as follows:

That all laws now in force prohibiting and regulating the coming into this country of Chinese persons and persons of Chinese descent are hereby continued in force for a period of ten years from the passage of this act.

Sec. 2. That any Chinese person or person of Chinese descent, convicted and adjudged under any of said laws to be not lawfully entitled to be or remain in the United States, shall be removed from the United States to China, unless he or they shall make it appear to the justice, judge or commissioner before whom he or they are tried that he or they are subjects or citizens of some other country, in which case he or they shall be removed from the United States to such country. Provided, that in any case where such other country of which such Chinese person shall claim to be a citizen or subject shall demand any tax as a condition of the removal of such person to that country, he or they shall be removed to China.

Sec. 3. That any Chinese person or person of Chinese descent arrested under the provisions of this act shall not be lawfully removed from the United States, unless such person shall establish, by affirmative proof, to the satisfaction of such justice, judge or commissioner his lawful right to remain in the United States.

Sec. 4. That any such Chinese person or person of Chinese descent, once convicted and adjudged to be not lawfully entitled to be or remain in the United States, and having been once removed from the United States in pursuance of such conviction, who shall be subsequently convicted for a like offense, shall be imprisoned at hard labor for a period of not exceeding six months, and thereafter removed from the United States, as herein before provided.

Henry Irving Very Ill. —LONDON, April 23.—Henry Irving is very ill. He has partially lost his voice, and since Thursday has not appeared on the stage at the Lyceum theatre.

THERE is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease, and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven Catarrh to be a constitutional disease, and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. The cure of one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials. Address, F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O. Sold by Druggists, 75c.

BIG FIRE IN PHILADELPHIA.

The largest fire that has visited Philadelphia in years, broke out Wednesday evening on the stage of the Grand Central Theatre, and before it could be gotten under control over a million dollars' worth of property had been destroyed. Not a Miracle, Now.

Until recently Consumption was considered incurable, but now people are beginning to realize that the disease is not incurable. The cure of Consumption is not a miracle, now. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery will cure it, if taken in time and given a fair trial. This world-renowned remedy will not make new lungs, but it will restore diseased ones to a healthy state when other means have failed. Thousands gratefully testify to this. It is the most potent tonic, or strength-restorer, alternative, or blood-cleanser, and nutritive, or flesh-builder known to medical science. For Weak Lungs, Spitting of Blood, "Liver Complaint," and Dyspepsia, or Indigestion, it an unequalled remedy.

Mr. Peter Shively's sale which came off on Saturday last, brought a large number of people to Fairfield. Will Gelbach will take possession of the hotel about the first of May.

Sudden Death.
Mrs. Jacob C. Schriver, wife of the ex-Register and Recorder died very suddenly last week. On Saturday the 16th she was as well as usual and expected to attend the Easter services on the following day. Saturday night she was stricken with paralysis, became unconscious Monday and died Tuesday evening. She was in her seventy-second year.—Star and Sentinel.

WHILE Minnesota is one of the most healthy States in the Union, it is one of the worst for colds, owing to the severe winters. Many of the druggists there make it a rule to give their customers just what they call for; but when they come back and say it does no good they almost invariably recommend Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, as Messrs. Wells & Schoder, of Sanborn, Minn.: "We have recommended Chamberlain's Cough Remedy after other leading cough preparations have failed to do any good, and always with the best results. We can always rely upon that remedy, as it is sure to effect a cure. It has no equal for children; especially in cases of croup or whooping cough." 50 cent bottles for sale by C.
D. Eichelberger.

MR. MICHAEL MYERS, of "Myers" Mill," near this place, had another stroke of paralysis. This is the third stroke he has suffered and he is in an unconscious condition.

We congratulate the Hagerstown News on having successfully entered its eighteenth year and expect to see it occupying a high position in journalism, by the time it reaches its majority.

Death of Ex-Judge Koogle.
Mr. George Koogle, ex-Judge of the Orphans' Court, died at his residence in Frederick City, on Tuesday morning, of heart trouble, aged 62 years. Mr.
Koogle was a member of one of the oldest families in the State of Maryland, his ancestors having emigrated to this country some time before the Revolutionary War. He leaves five children, two sons and three daughters. His funeral took place on Thursday afternoon, the interment being made in Mt.
Olivet Cemetery.

The annual corporation election for a Burgess and six Commissioners of Emmitsburg, will take place next Monday, May 2nd, and as yet we have been unable to learn of any ticket being nominated. As public meetings to nominate tickets seem to be a thing of the past, possibly a ticket may be made quietly in some store or on the street corner to-morrow night or early Monday morning. Yet our citizens are expected to go to the polls on election day and cast their ballots for men whose business tact or energy they have had no time to consider.

The Town Election.

Passive and Expensive.
Many a woman shrinks from consulting a physician about functional disturbances and weakness, and prefers to suffer in silence. She is sad and pensive, and her neglect of her ailments will prove expensive. It may cost her her life. One of the most skillful physicians of the day, who has had a vast experience in curing diseases peculiar to women, has prepared a remedy which is of inestimable aid to them.
We refer to Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, the only remedy for woman's peculiar weaknesses and ailments, sold by druggists, under a positive guarantee from the manufacturers, that it will give satisfaction in every case, or money refunded.

Death of an Octogenarian.

George Washington Delaplaine, for fifty years a prominent and well-known resident of Frederick, died Tuesday night at his home, on East Patrick street.
He was a native of Georgetown, D. C., and a son of Joseph Delaplaine, the only surviving member of a family being Theodore C. Delaplaine, a brother of the deceased, and father of Wm. T.
Delaplaine, of the Frederick News. Mr.
Delaplaine was engaged in milling in Frederick county for many years, but lately had led a retired life and was for thirty years a vestryman of All Saints' P. E. Church, and for many years its treasurer. His wife was Miss Margaret Willert, of Bladensburg, and she survives him.—American.

Republican Convention.

The Republican County Convention which convened in the basement of the Court House, at Frederick, last Saturday, to select six delegates to the Sixth Congressional District Convention which met in Hagerstown yesterday, and six delegates to the State Convention which will meet in Frederick, next Wednesday, May 4th, was largely attended by delegates from all the districts. The following persons were elected delegates to the Congressional District Convention: G. W. Grove, S.
P. Birely, D. P. Zimmerman, Dr. Harvey Buhrman, W. L. Dudgeon and D. H.
Routzahn. To the State Convention:
Dr. S. T. Hafner, J. C. Motter, C. F.
Markell, M. E. Biser, Jacob Stiteley, of J., and A. J. Crockett.

"For several years," says John Park, of Beaver Creek, Minn., "during the winter, I have been troubled with a painful swelling of the feet, which physicians claimed was rheumatic gout. I was treated by some of our best physicians, and obtained but little, if any relief, and used many so-called 'cures', without benefit. During the winter of 1887, when my feet were so swollen and inflamed that I could not wear my boots, I commenced using Chamberlain's Pain Balm. The first application reduced the swelling and inflammation and the use of one fifty cent bottle so completely relieved me, that I discontinued my cures, and was able to get around all right and wear my boots." 50 cent bottles for sale by C. D. Eichelberger.

Sale of Property.

The old O'Donnell property at the corner of Main street and Zacharias'

Methodist congregation of this place, as a site for the new church edifice, they propose to erect in the near future.

A CHILD of Mr. John Pears had the scald head and had been under the treatment of physicians without relief.
It was cured by Chamberlain's Eye and Skin Ointment, and is now well and all right.—W. R. MILLER & SON, Briscoe, Sudden Death of a Young Woman.

Mrs. Effie Dungan, wife of Mr. Robert Dungan, the well-known engineer on the Western Maryland Railroad, died Saturday afternoon about 1 o'clock at her residence on West Washington street, Hagerstown, of heart disease.
She was taken ill on Friday about 3 o'clock in the afternoon. Mrs. Dungan was only about 22 years old and leaves one child, a daughter about two years old.—Herald and Torchlight.

To Build a New Church.

Rev. Calvin S. Slagle who is secretary of the Maryland Classis Reformed church, and chairman of a committee appointed for the purpose, has made a contract with builders in Hagerstown who will at once proceed to erect a Reformed church edifice at Highfield, the junction of the main stem and western extension of the Western Maryland railroad. The structure is to be completed by August 1, and will be a neat frame building, costing $2,000.—*Herald

Thereby Hangs a Tale.

"And so, from hour to hour, we ripe and ripe,
And thereby hangs a tale."

And truly, "tis a tale of woe," of one who had Catarrh in the Head, for many years, and who had really been "rotting," from hour to hour, until Dr.
Sage's Catarrh Remedy came to his notice. He used it at first with slight signs of relief, but he persisted until a permanent cure was effected, and the world was again pleasant to live in.
From his awful suffering he was set free by the expenditure of a few dollars in that incomparable remedy.

Accid. nt.

On Sunday last about 12 o'clock, when Messrs. Frank Chambers and Robert Smith, two of our citizens, were returning from church at Peteraville, and had reached the lower crossing in town, the horse they were driving became frightened at a passing train, and dashed madly into it. The young men jumped from the buggy at the top of the hill, and this act probably saved their lives. The horse was seized by one of the young men as soon as he got out, but it tore away from him and rushed between the cars of the passing train. The cars struck the horse's head, splitting it open, and threw it back over the buggy, completely demolishing it. The young men escaped without injury. The horse which was a valuable one belonged to Messrs. R.
Moore & Bro., our local liverymen.—

Safety in the Midst of Danger.

This would seem a contradiction in so fact, to the eye. But experience has proved its possibility. Take the case of the individual who dwells in a malarious region. A robust constitution is no certain defence against the dreaded chills. What is? Recorded testimony, covering a period little short of half a century, proves that Hostetter's Stomach Bitter is precisely this. This continent does not limit the field where the medicine has proved its efficacy.
In South America, the States of Panama, Mexico, everywhere in fact where malarial diseases take on its most obstinate and formidable types, the Bitters is a recognized specific to illustrable demand, and prescribed by physicians of repute. Eminent, too, is its efficacy in the stomach, liver and bowels, and against that destroyer, Intemperance. It improves appetite and sleep, regularizes menstruation and kidney complaints.

WHEN you are troubled with dizziness, your appetite all gone, and you feel bad generally, take a few doses of Dr.
Henry Baxter's Mandrake Bitters, and you will be surprised at the improvement in your feelings. Every bottle warranted to give satisfaction. For sale by J. A. Elder.

Treasurer's Report.

As will be seen from the report of the Treasurer of the Corporation of Emmitsburg, which appears in another column, the present Board of Commissioners reduced the out standing debt $265, leaving the indebtedness of the Corporation

Accident on the Yard.

Mr. Frank Robinson, of Conshohocken, Pa., a brakeman on the first division, was badly injured on the yard here on Sunday night about nine o'clock. It seems that his finger got caught in coupling, and he waded the engine ahead, then signaling the engine back and must have fainted and fell across the track. When found the tender of the engine had run over his right foot above the ankle. He was taken to Dr.
A. G. Horine's office, when his leg was amputated shortly afterwards by Drs.
Hillary and Horine, the company's surgeons. He was taken to the University of Maryland Hospital in Baltimore by Dr. Horine.—Brunswick Herald.

BLUE RIDGE SUMMIT ITEMS.

On the 22d inst., George J. Bierly died suddenly at his residence, between this point and Sabillasville, of dropsy, preceded by the grippe. He retired early, as was his custom, and nothing unusual was noticed respecting his condition; a few hours later he passed away. His wife and son Charles were at his bedside at the time. The deceased was widely known and highly respected. He was industrious and temperate, and lacked but one week of being seventy-six years of age. His funeral took place on Sunday from the Sabillasville Reformed Church, of which he was a member, and the attendance was unusually large. Rev. J.
K. Lewis, the pastor, conducted the impressive ceremony.

the purpose he desired, paused at the fertile pastures, which he announces he has discovered near by. It is hoped this statement will not cause a panic, for the substance Mr. C. is in pursuit of is to be used simply as slag in the development of other mineral.

Irvin C. Elder, auditor of the estate of the late Mrs. Zielinger will sit again in Chambersburg on May 13th. This is not intended as a legal notice, but it may be relied upon as authentic; and as it will be the third meeting it is hoped all will be present and listen to the music.

Mr. and Mrs. W. P. Nunemaker and James Hickey, J. P., of Emmitsburg, Henry Ulke, of Washington, D. C., and Washington Rogers, of Fairfield, were visitors at the Clermont last week.

Our old friend Lewis Zimmerman was also a welcome caller. He will be re-about horses than the average man knows, and the ladies have the man-

LECTURE.

OVER-AMMERGAT.

As the good should ever seek what is better, so should the better always seek the best. It is among the things that are best that Father Tierney's recent lecture on Ober-Ammergau easily takes its place. The subject is one that speaks to every human heart. All the petty strifes and struggles of life—those that are those that are to come; all the tears, troubles and heartaches that tend to show what we can expect from a transitory life—all took their natural groove when we saw, for the first time, the sublimity in "The Shadow of the Cross." The Infant in front of His Mother stretching out his arms eagerly, as if longing for the time when the terrible reality should restore to mankind that which has been lost.

There was no one in the attentive audience that faced Father Tierney who did not feel, after the lecture, that his past sighs were but the murmuring of an idle wind. Ruled over by the great mysteries of our Lord's life we stand, as it were, above ourselves and serenely contemplate which is the better life—the passing or the lasting one. At that time also do we see the useless hickings of the past in their true selves; shadows, fleeting shadows that come but to make us lose sight of our great end.

Father Tierney took as his starting point, Munich, the capital of Bavaria. It is situated on the Isar, the rapidly-rolling Isar. A few of the principal views of the city were seen, among them being the famous arch built by Ludwig to commemorate the bravery of the Bavarian soldiery in the war with France, 1871. The theatre in which the Passion Play is performed is thus described: "It stands in a meadow at the far end of the village, and from all parts of the auditorium you see a background of blue sky and fir-crowned hills. Half of the seats are in the open air, half under cover. If it rains the performance goes on, and half the audience is drenched. If the sun blazes the spectators in the open are roasted. But there is no help for it, 'rain or shine,' the play goes on. Umbrellas are not allowed." Mr. Stead says: "The play begins at eight and the first part ends at a quarter to twelve. After an hour and a half allowed for luncheon it is resumed at quarter-past one, and closes about half-past five. As a rule, most people come early and stay till the close of the performance."

The origin of the Passion Play is briefly this: Caspar Schuchler came to Ober-Ammergau from the plague-infested village of Eschenlohe, and thus caused his townsmen to stare with frightened eyes upon the "deadly work going on." They promised the Father to perform the Passion Play every ten years, were the plague abated. It soon ceased and the carrying out of the promise made years ago in the latter part of the sixteenth century, now makes Ober-Ammergau the objective point of the civilized world every decade.

The scenes shown portrayed the major happenings of the life of the Saviour. Each was accompanied by a masterly description of the same, the lecturer taking into consideration all the facts necessary for a thorough understanding of the view and making every scene strike with all the force that graphic portraiture, vivid narration and a masterful style of speaking can give.

The first scene that bore directly on the Passion Play was the Crucifixion (Group, Our Saviour on the Cross; St. John, "the beloved disciple," standing at the foot, while Mary Magdalene and The Blessed Virgin kneel. The grand centre-piece of the evening, the Crucifixion scene, The Immaculate Conception, The Annunciation, The Birth; then, the sublime Shadow of the Cross; Christ teaching in the Temple; Suffer Little children to come unto Me; the oldest portrait of Christ, further explained by a pen-painting of Him by P. Leutwiler, Pro-Consul of India; Gethsemane, Veronica, Martha, Mary Magdalene, and the Apostles; St. Peter, grand but very quiet-looking, St. James, St. Andrew, St. Thomas and St. John with one of the most winning countenances ever seen. This picture with its pure, calm look sank indelibly on the hearts of its beholders. The secret disciple—Joseph of Arimathea—was seen clad in rich robes; Simon the Cyrenian, Captain of the Roman Guard, and Judas with his horribly scowling visage, Herod, Pilate, the vacillating ruler, Caiaphas, the High Priest, Barabbas, leader of the mob, on stage, and the pathetic Leave-Taking; the Manna in the Desert, prefigurative of The Blessed Sacrament, and the imposing Council of the Sanhedrin, and now the haunting face of Jesus in his deathly sleep, showing the fear-tortured features, guilt-laden, tortured by anxiety and care—a sight seldom to be forgotten. Then Christ in the Garden of Olives, showing the immovable figure of Joseph clearly outlined against a black background, and kneeling in silent agony on the rocks, while the long flowing garments, draped in graceful folds, gave the on-lookers the impression that they were looking upon some noble work of sculpture. The remaining pictures were: Christ before Caiaphas, Adam and Eve Driven Out, Abraham and Isaac, The Brazen Serpent, Two Crucifixion scenes—one an ideal, the other the one of Ober-Ammergau, the Entombment, and the Resurrection, Last, The Ascension.

The theme was handled in a most admirable manner, a manner well-fitting the subject.

However, it needed not the quiet eloquence of the Reverend lecturer to convey to his hearers the sacred truths which shone forth from the inspiring pictures flashed before their eyes. One's soul is easily stirred by righteousness and the symbol of truth has but to be gazed upon before we feel a deep responsive chord struggling for utterance within us.

It will be noticed that many events of the Old Testament were given. They all prefigure some happening of the same kind to be found in the New.

The after-pictures were the following: The Crown of Thorns; The four Evangelists, Matthew, Mark, Luke and John; Flight into Egypt, (by request); At Rest in Egypt, (by request); Murillo's Water of Life; Dore's Entry into Jerusalem; Vince's Last Supper; Dream of Pilate's Wife; Christ in the Praetor's House; Golgotha; Earthquake described by St. John; The Judgment by Martin; Heavenly Jerusalem and the Angel of the Resurrection.

Hadn't Heard of It.

The reporter that had accompanied the special train to the scene of the wreck hurried down the embankment and found a man who had one arm in a sling, a bandage over one eye, his front teeth gone and his nose knocked four points to starboard, sitting on a broken truck of the sleeping car and surveying the horrible ruin all about him.

"Can you give me some particulars of this accident?" he asked, taking out his note book.

"I haven't heard of any accident, young man," replied the disfigured party, stiffly.

I HAVE had catarrh for twenty years, and used all kinds of remedies without relief. Mr. Smith, druggist, of Little Falls, recommended Ely's Cream Balm. The effect of the first application was magical, it allayed the inflammation and the next morning my head was as clear as a bell. I am convinced its use will effect a permanent cure. It is soothing and pleasant, and I strongly urge its use by all sufferers.—Geo. Terry, Little Falls, N. Y.

The Sunflower.

In return for the corn which Uncle Sam proposes to teach the Russians how to eat, it is seriously suggested that we shall adopt a few hints from them respecting the usefulness of the sunflower.

There are regions in the West which might be most profitably utilized for the cultivation of this plant, which has been found so valuable for food purposes in the empire of the Czar that 750,000 acres in that country are annually planted with it.

Two kinds there are chiefly—one which bears small seeds used in making oil, while the other produces big seeds, which are consumed in enormous quantities by the common people in the same way that peanuts are eaten here, except that they are devoured raw.

There is hardly another plant in the world which serves so many uses, every part of it being valuable for one purpose or another. The oil is so nutritious and agreeable in flavor that in Russia it has to a certain extent superseded all other vegetable oils.

It is obtained by passing the seeds beneath millstones so as to crush the shells, sifting them to separate the kernels and finally pressing the latter in bags of horse-hair cloth. The cakes left after the oil has been expressed are excellent fodder for cattle.

The shells are employed for heating, special ovens being made to burn them in, while the stalks have almost replaced firewood, being gathered and dried in stacks in the fields. A ton of the latter is obtained from each acre cultivated. They make a very hot and quick fire.

The seed cups are utilized as food for sheep. A big one when ripe will yield 2,000 seeds. The largest and finest seed cups are selected in the autumn and hung by their stalks in a dry place.

In the following spring the seeds are shaken out of them and dried in ovens for planting. At harvest time the flowers are gathered as fast as they are ripe and spread upon the ground to dry. Then the seeds are beaten out of them with a small stick by whipping each cup.

Finally the seeds are dried in the sun or in kilns and are sorted by means of screens into different sizes.

An acre planted with sunflowers yields 2,000 pounds of seeds, from which 250 pounds of oil may be obtained. Ten million quarts of this oil are produced by Russian mills.

Who knows that the time may not yet come when small boys in this country will gobble sunflower seeds at the circus just as they now consume the festive and odoriferous goober?—Washington Star.

A Swedish Railway Project One Hundred Years Ago.

Closure upon forty years before Stevenson's victory, a Swedish engineer, Karl Högström by name, not only constructed a locomotive on similar lines to the one of Prethick and Vivian, but also conceived the plan of a regular railroad. His first notion was that his locomotive should be used on ordinary roads, but soon realized the insurmountable difficulties attending this style of locomotion, he, in the year 1791, brought out his railroad scheme. The rails were to be of cast iron and perfectly smooth, and in order to prevent derailment, the wheels were to have a projecting edge. Convinced of the insufficiency of friction between the smooth wheels and rails for the propelling of heavy trains, Högström proposed that a tooth wheel on his locomotive should work on a central toothed bar or rail placed between the other rails—a plan which of late has been adopted in several instances where the gradient has been exceptional. Högström's plan was laid before several scientists, who were unanimous in denouncing it as utter madness, as it was absurd to imagine that a carriage could ever be propelled by steam alone. The plan was entirely shelved, and nothing more appears to be known as to the fate of Högström who afterwards went abroad.—Scientific American.

Language Among Dogs.

A dispatch from Lawrence, Kan., to the New York Herald says: Probably the most convincing and remarkable evidence that animals can talk to each other was witnessed near here a few days ago on the farm of Mr. Wm. Seymore. Seymore has two dogs which are accustomed to remain in the barns, and have become firm friends with the horses. To such an extent has the friendship progressed that when any of the horses or either of the dogs have been away from home for any time, immediately on their return they rush together and rub noses and give other evidences of delight at meeting. The dogs and horses go to the pasture together and return home at evening in company. This remarkable and close friendship has been noted by many and much commented upon, but the climax was reached when one of the dogs came rushing from a small piece of timber about half a mile from the barn. He ran hurriedly up to the other dog and whined and barked in a queer manner and then ran to the house.

The second dog at once jumped to his feet and started off on a run to the woods as fast as he could go. The first dog hunted around the place until he found Mr. Seymore, and then by barks and strange antics attracted his attention and started back toward the timber. Mr. Seymore paid little attention to him until he was told what had occurred at the barn, where the two dogs apparently held conversation, and then he followed to the woods. The dog went straight into the woods, and there Mr. Seymore found that one of his horses had fallen down in a small water course which was so narrow and steep that it was impossible for the animal to rise. The horse was lying perfectly still, while the second dog was sitting by its head, licking its face and showing by its attention that it intended to comfort the horse all that was in its power. The fact that the horse was lying in an out-of-the-way place, with the additional fact that the second dog did not hesitate, but went directly to where it had fallen, was plain evidence of the fact that the first dog had told the story and given directions for finding the horse that was in trouble.

In a Maine town, near the seacoast, was one of many communities where the men were, so to speak, a cross between farmers and sailors and where, as a natural consequence, the cultivation of the soil was somewhat neglected. The minister of a neighboring town exchanged with the minister of this community, and as a drought* was upon them, the people sent him a request that he would pray for rain. This he did, as follows: "O Lord, thy servant is asked by this people to pray for rain, and he does so. But thou knowest, O Lord, that what this soil needs is dressin'."
