

THE METHODISTS.

OMAHA, May 6.—In the Methodist conference a resolution offered by the Chicago German conference to the effect that no member of the church could belong to or join outboard organizations without violating his faith. Omaha, May 7.—The report of Bishop Thoburn, of India and Malaysia, was the topic of interest in the Methodist conference yesterday. Bishop Thoburn's report showed that in the past four years there had been 1,778 baptisms, 672 schools, and 28,658 scholars. There are two theological schools, one for men and one for women. During the last year he appointed 1,178 ministers and 573 Christian workers to work in the field. He concluded his remarks with the following words: "Our sun has risen in India never to set again. We ask that all members, your exiled brethren in the east, and help us keep the glorious light burning." The committee on Chinese exclusion report on their report. Judge Lawrence, of Ohio, offered the majority report, which recommended that as the president had for reasons of his own signed the bill, the matter be referred to the committee on Chinese exclusion.

OMAHA, May 9.—At the Methodist conference on Saturday Bishop Taylor, of Africa, read his report. He said the evangelization of Africa was a stupendous task. A part of the continent was poverty stricken by nature on account of unproductiveness of the country in its present state. The natives were unable to make use of even the resources that were within their reach. They needed brain culture and hand culture. Without hand culture they would starve on their barren plains.

Bishop Taylor then spoke of the necessity of purchasing or redeeming the young African girls before they could be gotten away from their parents. The girls are marketable and the parents will not let the missionaries have them to educate without first receiving the market price for them. He said it was useless to try to Christianize the young women without Christianizing the young men. They must have Christian purposes or the work will fail. He told of one instance where a white head of African carried a child nearly 300 miles to keep her out of the hands of the slave merchants. He said there are over 3,000 church members, 88 Sunday schools, over 300 teachers, 6,750 Sunday school scholars belonging to the Methodists in Africa.

OMAHA, May 10.—In the Methodist conference Dr. J. M. King, of New York, offered a resolution for a proposed amendment to the constitution of the United States. It relates to the protection of the public schools of the United States against religious encroachments. Dr. King offered another resolution declaring that the appropriation of money by the national government for ecclesiastical education was not in accord with the principles of the constitution.

Another fight between the laity and the ministry was recorded by the minutes. It was a fight over the resolution offered by Dr. McDowell, of Philadelphia, to amend the rule which allows one-fourth of either order to demand the yeas and nays. In order to shut off discussion a delegate moved the previous question and the vote resulted: Yeas—Laymen, 137; ministers, 216. Nays—Laymen, 113; ministers, 48. This was a defeat for the ministers, as the two orders failed to concur.

OMAHA, May 11.—An effort is being made by the Methodist conference to bring the church north and south together, and communication has already been opened with officers of the church south by the committee on the state of the church.

The report of the committee on the Columbian exposition was presented. The report heartily approved of the exposition, but emphatically protested against opening the gates on Sunday.

The report of the committee on constitution was then taken up and read and considered by paragraphs. Dr. Neely taking the floor to explain the first paragraph. The first declaration was that the first three sections of the present discipline are constitutional. This was combatted on the ground that it would compel all action by the conference to be reviewed by the annual conference.

John Field, of Philadelphia, offered a resolution postponing the further consideration of the report until the next general conference.

The substitute was voted down, and a motion to lay the first part on the table and take up the second part was also voted down. An unknown delegate at this juncture moved to adjourn, and to the surprise of all it was carried.

OMAHA, May 12.—The rules were suspended and the report from the committee on the centennial of the general conference of the Methodist church was adopted. It recommended that a special service be held on May 17.

Dr. E. J. Gray, of Pennsylvania, introduced a resolution to change the rules so as to give the different boards authority to elect the official leaders, secretaries of the auxiliary departments, and superintendents of the book concern and other officers usually elected by the general conference.

Dr. Gray also introduced a resolution calling upon the committee on episcopacy to consider the advisability of restricting the whole territory of the church into as many districts as there are effective bishops.

The last delegates, through John Field, of Philadelphia, presented a memorial asking for equal representation in conferences.

A resolution was offered by the colored delegates regarding the large number of the colored people are trying to effect separation and organize a church of their own.

Reunion of the Fifth Pennsylvania. WILLIAMSPORT, Pa., May 11.—The sixth annual reunion of the Fifth Pennsylvania reserves, held at Muncy, elected the following officers for the ensuing year: President, John E. Potter, Jersey Shore; vice president, Captain J. M. Rhodes, Millport; Captain Samuel Evans, Columbia; and Captain John Reed, Lewisport; secretary and treasurer, W. Hayes Grier, Columbia; recording secretary, George W. Schell, Millport.

The next reunion will be held in conjunction with the Bucktail regiment, in this city, the second Wednesday in May, 1893.

Liquor at the World's Fair. CHICAGO, May 11.—The World's fair managers have made up their minds to let liquor on the large grounds, even if it takes a special act of the legislature to make liquor selling possible. The proposition now, as outlined by a director, is to so amend, letting concessions for the sale of malt and various liquors and ask the next legislature to pass a special law, giving over to the directors the absolute control of Jackson park and Midway pleasure, exempting that territory from the operations of municipal police laws.

Missouri Democratic Convention. SEDALIA, Mo., May 13.—The Democratic state convention was here at Sedalia. There were four contests from St. Louis and three from the interior of the state. The resolutions favored the re-nomination of Grover Cleveland as a candidate for president. C. E. Mallory, William M. Pugh, C. J. Jones and Martin Chandy were selected as delegates at large.

MT. ST. MARY'S COLLEGE NEWS.

THE PURCELL. The Purcell Lyceum held its regular meeting in the Reading Room, Thursday evening, May 5th. This meeting was devoted to general talks concerning the progress made by the Lyceum during the past year. The work of the society being interesting a short account is here with appended.

The Lyceum was organized last September with a membership of thirty-three. During the first session debates were given each week and the meetings were generally successful. The crowning feature of the session, however, was the mock trial held at Christmas in the College Music Hall, in the presence of the faculty, numerous visitors and the entire body of students. Those taking part acquitted themselves in a highly creditable manner. The Rev. Father O'Hara acted as judge on this occasion. The audience was highly pleased with the performance, which was attended by the frequent outbursts of applause.

The Purcell of the second session, was organized under more favorable auspices. The members, while deploring the absence of music, the talent naturally belonging to the Lyceum, knew that, by close application, earnest endeavors, etc., they would be able to attain the high standard of former years. Now since the session's work is nearing its close, it is decided to make some needed alterations in the constitution and by-laws. As the work of revision progressed it became evident that the time would not permit of its completion, since it was the earnest desire of officers and members that the work be done thoroughly. Therefore the Purcell leaves, aside from its high reputation, as a legacy the work of revision to the Purcell of '92-'93. It is to be hoped that the matter will be taken in hand and properly completed.

One of the most beneficial innovations introduced by the Purcell was that of devoting certain meetings to the consideration of certain literary characters. In a former report, it was stated that the success attending the meeting devoted to John Boyle O'Reilly. It seems in this case that there was a general desire to do honor to one, who in his life proved himself eminently worthy and deserving in respect to his character in their treatment of his character showed clearly that they grasped the thought of the great and noble humanitarian.

The meeting of May 5th, will be a general assembly to the members of the Purcell of '91-'92. Opinions were expressed, suggestions made, each finding willing hearers. Some of the member's remarks were couched in the form of resolutions. One expressed a desire, that the appropriation of money by the Purcell Societies hold a joint debate for college honors. Another expressed the hope that, as unity had made the Purcell of the past year a success, the same virtue would cling to it throughout future years. A third very ably demonstrated that if the Lyceum had any characteristic more than another, that characteristic was true gentlemanliness. There were discussions unnumbered, which were of a most interesting nature, while laudable have been broken there are no broken bars.

Thursday evening, May 12th, a public debate will be held in the Music Hall. The subject is: Resolved, that a Mathematical Education is preferable to a Classical Education. The debaters are for the affirmative: Messrs. Thomas Rice '94, Allan R. Lakin '95, Jas. Prendergast '95; for the negative: Messrs. W. Rice '95, James H. Green '94 and Charles Carter '94. The judges will be Rev. Dr. McSweney, Rev. William O'Hara, Rev. Mr. Stephen Walsh, Prof. E. J. Ryan and Prof. J. J. Crumlish.

Another fight between the laity and the ministry was recorded by the minutes. It was a fight over the resolution offered by Dr. McDowell, of Philadelphia, to amend the rule which allows one-fourth of either order to demand the yeas and nays. In order to shut off discussion a delegate moved the previous question and the vote resulted: Yeas—Laymen, 137; ministers, 216. Nays—Laymen, 113; ministers, 48. THE SECOND GAME.

The second of the '92 series of games took place Saturday, May 7th. The opposing team was the Westminster College team. The game was interesting and the Westminster team was too tired to put forth much energy. In fact, they didn't have any energy to put forth, as they had left home breakfast at three o'clock in the morning, driven two miles, played a seven-day game with Gettysburg. The score of which was 12-2 in favor of the home team. Then drove to the Mountain to play the second game. All of which facts illustrate that the Westminster team is composed of plucky young men, while their willing but clumsy efforts to field, their half-hearted way of catching; when they got a runner on base, which was seldom, their listlessness both on and off the field, and their tendency to do down every time they got a chance, showed that they had attempted to do too much in one day. However, we took farewell of them with sympathy for their well-intended efforts, and with admiration for their pluck.

For Mt. St. Mary's, Campbell pitched an excellent game. He pitched four innings and struck out seven men out of a possible nine. The first three innings. In the fourth inning he disposed of the batsmen on balls. White and D. Lewis flying out to third base and Stull going out on a grounder to first. In the fifth, Will Cashman faced the visiting team and pitched a very steady game. The district scored but three with a total of four hits, one in the seventh and two in eighth. Cashman struck out three. The home team indulged in very heavy batting, getting twenty-one with a total of twenty-four hits. A glacial time the score will show the work of both teams.

Notes.

In the seventh inning, Saturday, Donohue was on third and a ball was knocked to short stop who threw home. Donohue started back for third but found J. Cashman there, so, went for home again. Immediately there was great excitement and the spectators enjoyed very much seeing the ball popping back and forward while the runner kept darting this way and that, in his endeavor to reach the plate. After three or four minutes of dodging, he finally scored.

A large crowd of Pennsylvania college men were present and were yelling, "Siss, boom, keep it dark!" while they captured the crowd at intervals with:

"Rah, rah, rah!"

Poetical.

"IT WOULD HAVE BEEN."
Did you ask her name?
Well, I've given none.
My feelings were so true,
Always as now. Along this spot
With her I walked.
About our future I thought,
Then after while when I'd go,
I'd find you waiting for me,
No, you'd hardly think I'd wait.
It tears my heart to think
Of happiness so arduously found—
Call it lust, passion, love, and wink
At love, but I'm sure my thoughts were sound,
And am sorry that I've thus spoken—I've lived over it all!
Of happiness so arduously found,
Perhaps, the double loss is small,
I'll say no more except
When I should have said, Good-for-nothing like I, I've Over what I called my love,
Was then as now, too late,
So I didn't wait and wait—Echoed mine own.
As strangers do we part,
I'll go through life alone.

"I Am So Tired"

Is a common exclamation at this season. There is a certain bracing effect in cold air which is lost when the weather grows warmer; and when Nature is renewing her youth, her admirers feel dull, sluggish and tired. This condition is owing mainly to the impure condition of the blood, and its failure to supply healthy tissue to the various organs of the body. It is remarkable how susceptible the system is to the help to be derived from a good medicine at this season. Possessing just those purifying, building-up qualities which the body craves, Hood's Sarsaparilla soon overcomes that tired feeling, restores the appetite, purifies the blood, and, in short, imparts vigorous health. Its thousands of friends assert with one voice "It Makes the Weak Strong."

ney's and take no other.

Struck By a Cant Hook.

Monday afternoon Mr. Jacob Hanna, an employee at the Hagerstown Spoke Works, was assisting to move a big log in the mill, and had the cant hook fixed, and the log began to lift. Suddenly the cant hook slipped off and hit him across the face hurling him to a distance and forcing the blood from his nose and mouth. He was unconscious for a time, but soon came around. The wounds were not serious but the shock was great.—Hagerstown Mail.

I HAVE been troubled with chronic sore eyes for forty-five years, and during that time I have used many different remedies, but have never found any that seemed to do me any good, until I procured a box of Chamberlain's Eye and Skin Ointment. I have used only about one-third of the box, and can truthfully say, I have never had my eyes feel as well, nor look as well as they do now. I expect to cure them entirely with the Ointment. BEX HEATH, Dow City, Iowa. 25 cent boxes

The Bridge Went Down.

On Monday afternoon, at about 2 o'clock, a heavy blast of wind accompanied by a thunder storm, blew down sixty-three beams of trestling, erected on the Maryland side between the river and canal, as an approach to the Potomac Valley Railroad bridge, now building at Cherry Run. At the time of the accident, about thirty men were at work on the bridge, all of whom fell about thirty feet. A carpenter by the name of Abraham Harmon, was instantly killed, two others had their legs broken, and several others were badly injured. Physicians were hastily summoned.—Williamsport Transcript.

Collision.

On Saturday afternoon while engine 6 of the W. M. R. R. was coming down the main track with several cars and approaching the crossing of the Round-Top branch, Reading engine 18, also with freight cars, attempted to pass the crossing. Both pilots struck, the W. M. engine losing its cow-catcher and the Reading being derailed and somewhat broken. The 3.52 train was blocked and the passengers transferred to a special brought here from Hanover. A W. M. freight engine pulled the disabled engine on its track and the evening train westward went through on time. The W. M. claims right of way over this crossing by priority of occupancy.—

Love's Young Dream.

Love's young dream was a very bright one, and its fulfillment will be bright, too, if the bride will remember that she is a woman, and liable to all the ills peculiar to her sex. We remind those who are suffering from any of these, that Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription will renew the hue of youth in pale and sallow cheeks, correct irritating uterine diseases, arrest and cure ulceration and inflammation, and infuse new vitality into a wasting body. "Favorite Prescription" is the only medicine for women, sold by druggists, under a positive guarantee from the manufacturers, that it will give satisfaction in every case, or money will be refunded. This guarantee has been printed on the bottle-wrapper, and faithfully carried out for many years.

ber of the Junior class of Penna. College, Monday afternoon fell from a Star Bicycle on the college campus, and left shoulder. Drs. J. B. Scott and J. R.

Dickson reduced the fracture.
J. Wm. Garlach in driving along Railroad street, between Carlisle and Washington street, on Saturday afternoon last was thrown from his wagon while making a short turn, and fell to the ground, his back striking one of the rails. He was severely bruised, but the ankle.—Compiler.

The Water Works Question.

The gentlemen connected with the Boonsboro Water Works company are now busily engaged in making estimates of the actual costs of the same. Correspondence has been opened with a number of large firms in regard to the cost of the mains, and when the estimates are completed the question will be submitted to a vote of the people.—

Met With a Painful Accident.

Mr. George Spangler, the well known and popular baggage master of the Western Maryland Railroad on one of the trains running between Williamsport and Shippensburg, had the large toe on his foot badly mashed by a piece of bridge timber falling on it over in Williamsport. The injury, though not serious was very painful.—Herald and Torchlight.

DURING an epidemic of whooping cough at De Witt, Iowa, a prominent family there bought a fifty cent bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy for their children. It proved so satisfactory that they recommended it to their neighbors; and they in turn to others.
In less than a week's time, the druggist, Mr. C. V. Baxter, was having an immense run on it. The medicine is simple in the main reliance in that vicinity for coughs, colds, croup and whooping cough. Mr. Baxter says, "It sells on its merits." For sale by C. D. Eichelberger.

Death of Mr. Joseph S. Waddle.

In the unexpected death of Mr. Waddle, Emmitsburg has lost one of its best citizens, and the Methodist church a devout, active and consistent member.
Mr. Waddle was a man of sterling integrity and his unblemished christian character won him the respect and confidence of the community. His illness was sudden and the fatal termination in the course of a few days was startling to his neighbors, many of whom, knowing nothing of his sickness till they heard of his death. He was born at the old "Roachdale Factory," near this place, October 17, 1829. Early in life he was engaged in huckstering and later in storekeeping. His wife was Miss Ellen Shuff who with four children survives him. Three sons, engaged in business in St. Joseph, Mo., and a daughter, married to Mr. Wm. P. Nunemaker of this place. The funeral services will take place on Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock.

Mr. Wm. WESTLAKE, a prominent farmer and breeder of thoroughbred horses, living near Avoca, Neb., was so badly injured by being thrown from his sulky, as to be unable to raise his hand to his head. After using numerous liniments and consulting several physicians without getting any relief, he asked me if I knew of anything that would help him. I recommended Chamberlain's Pain Balm, which he used, and within two weeks he had entirely recovered the use of his arm. I consider Chamberlain's Pain Balm the greatest preparation ever produced for sprains, bruises, deep seated and muscular pains, burns and scalds.—J. J.
LA GRANGE, Druggist, Avoca, Neb. 50 cent bottles for sale by C. D. Eichelberger.

A Remarkable Case.

On Friday evening last, Alva, the little eight-year-old son of Mr. Charles Gilbert, the mail driver between Frederick and Liberty, was kicked on the forehead by a horse belonging to his father, receiving a fracture of the skull, from which a small quantity of brain substance oozed forth. Drs. F. B.
Smith, of Frederick, and Walter S. M. of Liberty, were at once summoned.
An examination proved that the skull had been broken and forced partly against the brain. After administering chloroform the physicians replaced the particles of skull with the exception of a small piece which was removed. After the effects of the chloroform had worn away the boy again seemed perfectly conscious. Thus far no dangerous symptoms have been noticed, although the attending physicians consider his recovery very doubtful. The case is spoken of by the doctors as a very remarkable one.—Examiner.

nesday. Persons desiring cheap and good shoes should buy them of Jas. A.

Appointed a Missionary.

Mrs. Dr. McPherson, of Catocin Furnace, has been appointed as missionary by Bishop Paret. He will officiate in St. Mary's county from June 1st. He is at present archdeacon of Florida, but owing to the discontinuance of the archdeaconry in that State, he was thus appointed by Bishop Paret.—News.

That Tired Feeling.

Is often the forerunner of serious illness, which may be broken up if a good tonic like Hood's Sarsaparilla is taken in season. This medicine invigorates the kidneys and liver to remove the waste from the system, purifies the blood and builds up the strength.

Constipation is caused by loss of the peristaltic action of the bowels. Hood's Pills restore this action and invigorate the liver.

the vicinity of Rocky Springs, Monday.

acres, passing through the lands of W.
Kizer, Kemp Brothers, Mrs. Brunner, Mrs. Burger and others. It was thought to be the act of an incendiary but was subdued in the evening by a force of hands gathered from the neighborhood.

BLUE RIDGE SUMMIT ITEMS.

The ceremony of the laying of the corner stone of the new Reformed church at Highfield drew a vast concourse of persons to that point on Sunday afternoon. Rev. J. R. Lewis, pastor of the Sabillasville Reformed Church, and to whose untiring energy the community is largely indebted for the new edifice to be erected, gave a graphic and interesting history of the inception of the church. Rev. C. S.
Slagle of Westminster. Rev. Stoffel of Waynesboro, and Rev. Hoffmeier of Middletown, each made appropriate and instructive addresses. The corner stone was donated by H. C. Walter, Esq., of Waynesboro, and the tin box was presented by David Russell of the same town. In this was placed a copy of the Heidelberg Catechism, a church paper, a hymnal and other suitable tokens. The occasion will long be remembered by many in this vicinity who never before witnessed a similar ceremony.

The foundation of the new parsonage at the Hawley Memorial Church is completed and the building will be soon in readiness for its occupant, the Rev.
Adam Reoch.

Among those who spent Sunday at the Clermont House was Hon. David McConaughy of Gettysburg, W. P.
Nunemaker, Miss Nunemaker and Miss Neely of Emmitsburg, A. M. Soliday and Benj. Soliday of Hagerstown and "Lawyer" McLanahan of Greencastle.

David Soliday came over on his wheel, and "Bennie" behind his new stepper, which is a beauty. The former will soon leave for Walla Walla, Washington, to accept an enviable position offered him there.
The auditor in the estate of the late Mrs. Margaret Zeilinger will again sit in Chambersburg on the 13th inst. The B. & H. R. R. Western Ex. Co. is endeavoring through its counsel to recover the three hundred dollars paid to deceased for a portion of land which the corporation, we understand, claim was purchased in error. We had thought that the counsel and who led the R. R.
Company into this difficulty would be glad of a chance to atone for their mistake by reimbursing the Company out of their private funds, and we believe that some months ago we gave such expression of opinion in the CHRONICLE coupled with advice to them to do so.
But from indications the estate of the deceased widow is the bank the parties have selected to draw on. Interesting and possibly instructive features will mark this proceeding, and, if we mistake not, certain peculiar business methods will be developed. The "Perhaps we had better withdraw" sarcastically observed by a representative of the counsel at a former meeting, struck us at the time as sensible. The wisdom of his utterance must be glaringly apparent to him at this period.

In the Nick of Time.

The nick of time to stop the course of bladder and kidney complaints is when the organs concerned exhibit a tendency to grow inactive.
The healthful impulse toward activity that they receive from Hostetter's Stomach Bitters rescues them from impending danger, and averts such dangerous maladies as Bright's disease and diabetes. Sluggishness of the kidneys increases a liability to chronic rheumatism, gout and dropsy, and since the blood is filtered by these organs in its passage through them, the operation of the Bitters serves a doubly happy purpose. The medicine acts without exciting, like the fiery stimulants of commerce. Malaria, dyspepsia, constipation and nervous irritability are thoroughly relieved by it. Since the advent of that shocking malady, jaundice, it has been found that its usefulness as a curative and preventive of it.

ternoon about four o'clock by J. D.

He was a former resident of this county, was proprietor of the Franklin and served one term as sheriff of the Temple at that time.—Examiner.

Editor Sialle Dead.

LL J. Sialle, editor and proprietor of the Gettysburg Compiler, died in Gettysburg suddenly Thursday evening from apoplexy. He had intended to start last Saturday, with the Pennsylvania delegates, to the National Editorial Convention in San Francisco, but was prevented by a rheumatic attack. The disappointment preyed on him and hastened the end. For forty-seven years he has conducted the same paper in the same town, and in the same building.
He was born in York county in 1825, and learned his trade with the York Gazette. He was an ardent Democrat, holding a high place in his party, but never ran for office. He was a regular delegate to all editorial conventions.
His wife, now dead, was a Miss Laura Doll, of Frederick, Md. Five children

Killed While Hauling Logs.

Mr. Newton P. Groff, of near Me-chanicstown, was killed Thursday morning while hauling logs out of the mountain to his saw mill, two miles east of Smithsburg, in what is known as Pleasant Valley. Mr. Groff was drawing the rubbers and the lever breaking threw him under the wagon, and one of the wheels passed over him causing almost instant death. His remains were sent to Mechanicstown for burial.

Went Fishing.

A few days ago Messrs. Frank Lawrence and John McDevitt went fishing with great expectations of being numbered among the lucky fishermen, but after spending nearly a day along the creek without the fish noticing them, they became sad and down hearted and decided to come home by the back road.
While on their way home they met a good fisherman with a nice string of fish and by persuasion and money they succeeded in capturing his day's labor.
Imagine the hilarity of the two fishermen.

A Fatal Mis-Step.

Mr. Peter Young, a former well-known resident and miller of this valley, who many years ago owned the property now belonging to Mr. Jacob L. Ahalt, one mile south of Middletown, on which, at that time, was a flouring mill which he conducted, fell down a flight of stairs at his home in Springfield, Ohio, on the night of the 24th ult., and killed himself. Mr. Young was about 83 years of age. His wife, who survives him, was Miss Elizabeth Routzahn, a daughter of the late Adam Routzahn, of the upper part of this valley, and a sister of Mr. Elias Routzahn, of near Ellerton.—Valley Register.

A GREAT MAN'S ROMANCE.

The Story of a Shepherd Boy Who Became Pope.

BY F. M. COLBY.

One bright summer morning, many years ago, a lad sat under an oak tree near a little village in France, taking care of his sheep. He was a blue-eyed, flaxen-haired boy, with an intelligent face and a trim little figure; the sort of boy that one would like for his pleasant countenance and his good manners.

He was busy knitting a pair of woolen stockings with which to keep his feet warm in the winter, yet keeping both eyes alert, so that his sheep should not wander away, when a richly-dressed hunter came out of the neighboring wood. The stranger reined in his horse close to the boy and asked:

"How far is it to the village of Aurillac, my lad?"

The little shepherd arose and bowed very politely, for he saw that the stranger must be a great personage, and answered in a manly tone:

"It is good four miles, sir, and the road is only a narrow sheep path so that one would easily miss it."

"Whew!" whistled the knight.

"It looks as if I should miss my dinner as well as my breakfast. A murrain on these deceitful woods! I have been wandering in them since yesterday afternoon, and I can find neither way nor my companions. Show me the road, my good boy, and I will pay you more money than you can earn in a year keeping sheep."

"I am very sorry," said the boy, respectfully but firmly, "to refuse you, but I cannot leave my sheep; they might wander away and be lost, or the wolves might slay them."

"That would not much matter," answered the hunter. "The loss would not be yours. Look, here is a purse of gold. It shall call be yours if you will only guide me out of these meadows."

And he opened the purse and poured out the gold in a pile, where the broad pieces glittered in the sunshine.

The lad looked wistfully at the money, but he sighed and shook his head.

"Perhaps you do not know how much the gold is worth, and how many things you could buy with it?" said the stranger, tossing up the shining pieces.

"I know that it is much more than I shall ever own," answered the little shepherd, decisively. "You may as well replace the purse in your girdle, though."

"Then you will be unwise enough to refuse to show the way to a lost stranger?" said the knight, in an angry tone. "You are a boor, and will always remain a boor."

"Sir, I cannot leave these sheep. My time belongs to my master and I have promised to care for his sheep as though they were my own. If any of the sheep were to be lost or stolen I should be both a liar and a thief. I would like to help you, but my first duty lies here."

The hunter looked steadily at the boy a moment with a strange light in his eyes.

"Leave the sheep with me, then," he said, "while you go to Aurillac and secure me food and a guide."

The young shepherd slowly shook his head.

"It would never do. The sheep do not know your voice, and, besides, you—"

The man laughed.

"Do you think I am a thief?" he asked.

"No, you are not a thief, but you tried to make me break my word, and be false to my trust. How do I know that you will keep your word?"

"That is enough," said the stranger, grasping the boy's sturdy little hand. "Your rebuke is just. I see that you are an honest boy and may be trusted. If you will show me the sheep-path I will try and find my way alone. Be sure, however, that I will not forget you."

So, the little shepherd conducted the knight to the narrow sheep-track and giving him half of his own dinner sent him on his way.

But what was his surprise, a few days afterwards, to see a troop of daily-mounted horsemen ride out of the woods where he was tending his sheep, and at their head was the very man that he had refused to guide to Aurillac. He began to tremble, for he did not know but that, after all the knight might be angry with him. The knight was not angry, however, but very pleasant and cordial.

"I have seen your master," he said, "and to-morrow he will send someone else to care for your sheep. As for yourself you will come and live with me. You are a lad to be trusted, and will, I think, make a great and good man."

And Gerbert—that was the little shepherd's name—went the next day to a great castle where he met his benefactor, who proved to be no less a personage than Count Bonel of Barcelona, who was visiting his friend, the Count of Provence.

And the outcome of it all was that Gerbert kept sheep no more, but under the patronage of Count Bonel became a scholar. So famous was his learning in the after years that he was made the instructor of a future French king and of a future German emperor. Both of whom were great and good sovereigns. And at last so famous had he become that they elected him to St. Peter's chair as Pope Sylvester II.

He is called the most learned of all the popes, sovereigns, but if he had not been true and faithful to a shepherd boy we should never have heard of him as the famous scholar or the great Pope.

Take Care of Your Hair.

If a lady's hair is very thin, before she tries any restorer, the head should be rubbed with the fingers every night for half an hour. If the scalp is perfectly clean, the pores of the skin do not become obstructed, and the roots of the hair keep in a healthy state. Once a month is sufficient to thoroughly wash the head, but rubbing the roots of the hair once a week with camphor and borax wash prevents dandruff and increases the growth of the hair. The wash is made by dissolving one ounce of powdered borax and half an ounce of camphor in a quart of boiling water; bottle when cool. It should be applied with a small sponge, and the hair well brushed after.

In washing the head soda should not be used, but two teaspoonfuls of carbonate of soda and an egg beaten up in the basin of water. Sufficient salts of tartar dissolved in boiling water to form a lather keep the hair light as well as clean. Cocoon oil, too, is excellent for promoting the growth of the hair. If there is much dandruff, an ounce of white precipitate, mixed with half a dram of creosote, should be rubbed into the scalp every night for a week, at the expiration of which time the head should be well washed and bathed with camphor and borax. With a clean brush remove any exfoliation which may have been thrown out. Quill bark stirred into hot water till a lather is formed, then a sponge dipped in and the head well rubbed, is also a good remedy.—N. Y. Recorder.

Occupation for Old Age.

In answer to your correspondent, John W. Blinn, "Occupation for Old People," I would suggest, if possible, get twenty acres of land and learn to cultivate the soil. I should rather have twenty-five acres of land in central Illinois to raise a family than to be the best mechanic in Chicago.

Working on land where nature blooms and blossoms should be a pleasant occupation to an old man who has not lost his physical powers.

All this talk about the poor farmer, his hardships, discontent, and unhappiness has filled the public mind with the thought, "Anything but a farmer's life."

Let a man walk around New York and see families living in one room, seeing the children play on the stone sidewalk, half naked, their bare feet never touching a blade of green grass. He must feel that a child born on a farm is blessed in the start.

My advice to a mechanic: Save a portion of his wages, so when old age drew near he could own a small farm and be an independent man.

—SAMUEL W. ALLERTON, in the Scientific American.

"Why is this boat backing up?" asked the passenger on the steamer. "Oh," said the mate, "the captain's wife and baby are on board, and the baby won't go to sleep until he's seen the engines reversed."

A LITTLE kerosine oil rubbed briskly over the spots on dark clothing will brighten the garments and remove the stains almost like magic.

Didn't Know Mizzles.

A very haughty, reserved-looking and elegantly clad lady sat in one of the middle seats of a Western railroad train, with her elegant belongings beside her.

At Petersville, a long, sallow, batchet-faced woman, in a green and black calico dress flounced to the waist and a yellow sunbonnet lined with pink, boarded the train, marched down the aisle past several empty seats, and plumped herself down by the side of the "blue-blood" lady, carelessly sweeping that lady's belongings aside and saying calmly:

"I guess I'll set here so as to have company. Goin' fer?"

"To Denver."

"You air? Where you from?"

"Boston."

"Boston! Well, I do declare! I was born in Vermont myself, but I ain't never been back since I left there, thirty-nine year ago the third day of next month. So ye air clean from Boston?"

"I am," icily.

"Lived there long?"

"All of my life."

"Is that so? Borned there?"

"Yes."

"Well, I do declare! Now, I ain't a mite o' doubt but you've some time or other bumped again a own niece I've got livin' in Boston. Mebbe yer well 'quainted with her. Her name's Maggie Smith, and she's my sister Sary's youngest. I ain't never seen her, but I've got a photograph of her, and I tell ye she ain't behind to one when it comes to puttin' on style. An' I tell ye she's smart. As smart as ever they make 'em."

"She's got on a big gold chain and six rings in the photograph, and a silk dress, and she's just style itself. I reckon like as not you know her. She's lived there five years. Name's Maggie Smith. Know her?"

"I do not, madam."

"Well, I'll tell you what you do. When you go back you jest hunt Mag up and tell her you met her Aunt Jinny Sipes on the train, and you'll be all right Mag after that, for she thinks a heap of me, and you jest say 'Jinny Sipes' to Mag and she, neighbor with you from that time on. Lemme see, what street do you live on in Boston?"

"Beacon street," (proudly.)

"Well, Mag waits on the table in a restaurant down on the wharf. I'll bet you've eat there many a time, and seen Mag and never known her. Now, next time you go in there to eat you ask for Mag Smith and say you're a friend of her Aunt Jinny and Mag'll hug you right there—you see if she don't."

War in the Future.

Commandant of Fortress (A. D. 1902). "Is the horizon clear?" Sentinel (at the telescope). "Yes, but our friends on the planet Mars have signaled us that a fleet of balloons has just started in this direction from a point about ninety-eight miles to the northeast."

"How long has it taken the message to reach us?"

"At Mars' present distance from the earth, sir, it requires about seven minutes for the light to travel from there to our planet."

"Then these balloons have been on the way fourteen minutes already. They ought to be in sight. (Shouting through the electro-musical speaking-tube.) What ho! Within there! All hands! Turn the 40,000,000 candle-power electric burning glass toward the northeast! Bring out the aluminum aerial rafts and have the flying torpedoes in readiness on the elevated platform! Lively, now! Is it all done?"

"A Thousand voices (through the electro-musical tube). "It is, sir!"

"Then turn the balloon-proof hood up over the fortifications. Is that done?"

"It is!"

"Then everything is ready. Let the enemy come on." (Yawns.)—Chicago Tribune.

HARRY attended a school where a spelling book was used in which there was a list of abbreviations, which the children were required to learn. Harry found them particularly difficult.

One day his mother said:

"Harry, how far have you got in your spelling book?"

"I've got to 'grievations,'" answered Harry, disconsolately.
