COMMENCEMENT WEEK.

The week now drawing to a close, has been an unusually lively one for Emmitsburg, the number of visitors at the commencement exercises of the different schools, having been larger than for many years.

There was a time when the commencement at Mount St. Mary's College and St. Joseph's Academy drew such crowds of visitors to our little town that all the available space, in private houses as well as the hotels, was filled, by friends and parents of the students, who often spent weeks and sometimes the entire vacation, with their families in this quiet and salubrious locality. But times have changed, and the temptations offered by the many gay and fashionable resorts, within easy reach of pleasure seekers, as well as those in need of rest and healing breezes, have turned the stream of summer visitors that used to brighten our surroundings, during the happy vacation season, into other channels and left us in comparatively undisturbed repose. It may be, that our citizens are themselves to blame for much of this altered condition of things which we all deplore, though slow to understand and powerless to counteract.

It is as fatal to a town as to an individual to live entirely within itself. If we do not go out in sympathy towards others, make our lives, our homes and our surroundings attractive, cultivate a liberality of spirit in our intercourse with the outside world, do our part in helping to turn the wheels of progress and make ourselves necessary factors in the process of development, which marks the age in which we live, we must expect to be left unloved and unnoticed, whilst the prosperity we might have shared is appropriated by others.

JOSEPH RUBY, of Columbia, Pa., suffered from birth with scrofula humor, till he was perfectly cured by Hood's Sarsaparilla.

CLEVELAND AND STEVENSON

CHICAGO, June 23.—After a very trying session lasting from 5 o'clock last night till 3 o'clock this morning the Democratic national convention adjourned after having chosen Cleveland as standard bearer of the party for the battle of '92. The nomination was made unanimous.

At noon 2 p. m. the convention again reassembled and chose Gen. Adlai E. Stevenson, of Illinois, as the candidate for vice-president.

OPENING SESSIONS.

A Resolution of Sympathy with Mr. Blaine Passed Unanimously.

CHICAGO, June 22.—Fully two hours before the time set for the commencement of the proceedings in the Democratic national convention the crowds began to climb the outside stairs, and thronged the galleries inside the ugly wooden box. The thousands of yards of burning and the unique collection of papier mache spread eagles, "distemper" portraits of dead heroes and disembodying allegories of fame and victory were barely discernible, and their effect was lost in the cavernous depths of almost limitless space.

Almost up to the hour of the meeting the sound of hammers hurriedly driving the last nails into the woodwork of the galleries echoed through the hall. In the concluding rush a number of the intended decorative effects had to be abandoned and others were materially changed.

After the opening prayer by Rev. John Rouse, Chairman, Bruce said: "Gentlemen of the convention, by direction of the national committee the chair presents to this convention as its temporary officers the gentlemen named in the following list, which the secretary will read."

Hon. W. C. Owens of Kentucky, temporary chairman; secretary, S. P. Sheerer, Indiana; assistant secretaries, W. H. Doyle of Pennsylvania, H. Shepard of Virginia, C. H. Hays of Missouri, I. A. Rowley of Michigan, R. E. Wilson of Mississippi, C. R. DeForest of New York, J. C. Swaine of Illinois; principal reading clerk, Hon. Nicholas M. Bell, sergeant-at-arms, Hon. B. J. Bright of Indiana, official stenographer, Edward Dickinson of New York. The list was adopted without opposition.

Mr. Owen was escorted to the chair by A. E. Stevenson of Illinois, C. S. Jewett of Indiana and the Governor of Indiana. Mr. Owen made a brief speech of acceptance.

At the close of Mr. Owen's speech, upon motion of Delegate White, of California, the roll was called for the constitution of the committee on credentials, on permanent organization, and on resolutions, each state to name one member of each committee. All resolutions and communications to the convention were referred to the resolutions committee.

Delegate Cable, of Illinois, offered the following:

"Resolved, That this convention tender its profound sympathy to the distinguished American, James G. Blaine, in the heavy affliction which has befallen him."

Its reading was interrupted with the loudest applause up to that time, and when the reading was finished the resolution was adopted unanimously.

After the reading of an invitation from President Baker, of the World's Columbian exposition, to visit the fair grounds the convention adjourned until 11 o'clock today.

A SHORT NOON SESSION.

Speeches by Prominent National Party Leaders.

CHICAGO, June 23.—For the first time since the Democratic delegates arrived at Chicago the sun shone out yesterday from a cloudless sky. It promised a hot day in the wigwag, but even heat was to be preferred to the uncertainty of wind and rain in the big shanty by the lake.

Precisely at 11:30 Temporary Chairman Owens opened the convention to order and called upon the Rev. Alfred Henry, of the Methodist Episcopal church of Chicago, to lead in prayer.

At the conclusion of the prayer the report of the committee on permanent organization was presented and agreed to, and Mr. Owens introduced the permanent chairman as one of the bravest Democrats of the nation—Hon. W. L. Wilson, of West Virginia.

In his speech of acceptance Mr. Wilson denounced the "office holders convention" at Minneapolis, and ridiculed the McKinley tariff bill as supremely ludicrous, saying it was not reciprocity at all, but retaliation.

The convention passed the usual vote of thanks to the retiring temporary chairman, and then the committee on rules reported. The report was adopted, and makes the unit rule hold good in this convention.

While waiting for the report of the committee on platform Senator Palmer, of Illinois was called to the platform by the simple for delegates, and made a brief speech, in which he asserted that his state would go Democratic, a prediction that was received with thunders of applause. Ex-Governor Campbell, of Ohio, also addressed the convention, asking the Democrats to keep their eyes on Ohio next November. There were also calls for Senator Mills of Texas, Governor Taylor of Tennessee, Senator Carlisle of Kentucky, Atorney General Hensel of Pennsylvania, Burke Chamberlain of New York and Henry Watterson, but they failed to respond. Finally, at 1:44 p. m., the convention took a recess until 5 o'clock.

AN ALL NIGHT SESSION.

After Fourteen Hours a Ballot Is Taken.

CHICAGO, June 23.—The air in the convention hall last evening was stifling. Chairman Wilson took his seat at 5:15, the simple for delegates, and made a brief speech, in which he asserted that his state would go Democratic, a prediction that was received with thunders of applause. Ex-Governor Campbell, of Ohio, also addressed the convention, asking the Democrats to keep their eyes on Ohio next November. There were also calls for Senator Mills of Texas, Governor Taylor of Tennessee, Senator Carlisle of Kentucky, Atorney General Hensel of Pennsylvania, Burke Chamberlain of New York and Henry Watterson, but they failed to respond. Finally, at 1:44 p. m., the convention took a recess until 5 o'clock.

Finally, at 6:32, the chair announced that the committee on resolutions was ready to report, and Mr. Jones, chairman of the committee, took the platform to announce that he had invited Mr. Vilas, of Wisconsin, to read the platform, and the latter began to do so in his most impressive style.

Mr. Jones, at the close of the reading said: "On behalf of the committee on resolutions I move the adoption of the platform as read."

This was met by cries of "No." Mr. Neal, of Ohio, took the stand and said: "As a representative from the state of Ohio, appointed on the committee on resolutions, I have notice of my intention to present to this convention an amendment to the section of the platform relative to the tariff. I have been unable consistently to agree with the majority of my fellow members upon that section of this platform. I therefore gave notice to the committee that I would move in open convention to strike out all that section of the platform after the words denouncing the McKinley act and to substitute the following:

"We denounce Republican protection as a fraud, a robbery of the great majority of the American people for the benefit of a few."

"We declare it to be a fundamental principle of the Democratic party that the federal government has no constitutional power to enforce and collect tariff duties except for the purpose of revenue only, and that any such duties should be levied for the necessities of the government honestly and economically administered."

Mr. Neal made a brief and masterly argument in support of his proposition. His remarks were constantly interrupted by applause. When he closed there were cries for Watterson from the galleries and much confusion. Mr. Watterson was finally escorted to the platform, where his appearance called forth great applause. Mr. Watterson vigorously supported the amendment of Mr. Neal, which, upon a vote of the states, was carried by 364 to 342, amid great applause.

The chairman then put the question on the adoption of the platform. "There were some dissenting votes, but the chairman declared the platform adopted."

The chairman then announced that the question was the election of a roll of states for nominations of candidates for president. At this the convention loudly cheered.

Arkansas yielded her place to New Jersey, and amid cheers Governor Leon Abbott took the stand to nominate Cleveland. He stood with a manuscript in his hand and spoke in a firm, clear voice.

When Governor Abbott named Cleveland the hurrah on the floor before was repeated. The delegats sprang to their feet, many of them mounted the chairs, hats were thrown into the air and the noise of the cheering was deafening.

As Mr. Abbott proceeded he was frequently interrupted, and when he mentioned the name of David B. Hill, the New York delegation led a demonstration second only to that which the Cleveland men had made.

W. C. Dewitt, of Brooklyn, rose to nominate Hill. Then there was another exciting scene, and as Mr. Dewitt proceeded he was obliged to stop frequently.

When Iowa was called Hon. John F. Boyce, an ex-Secretary of the Interior, took the stand. New York joined conspicuously in the cheering which the presentation of Boyce's name elicited, and which lasted some minutes, accompanied by the usual incidents of the waving of banners, etc.

Finally, at 2:52 this morning, the convention got down to a ballot. It was after 3 o'clock when the tellers announced the selection of Grover Cleveland as the candidate, and the convention adjourned until 2 p. m.

The vote for president was as follows: Cleveland, 616; Hill, 112; Boies, 103; Gorman, 38; Stevenson, 16; Morrison, 5; Carlisle, 15; Campbell, 2; Patterson, 1; Whitney, 1; Russell, 1.

Republican Nominees Accepted.

WASHINGTON, June 21.—The committee to notify President Harrison of his renomination by the Minneapolis convention waited up the president yesterday. Chairman McKinley, in a brief address, conveyed the official information to the president and highly complimented him in the course of his remarks. In accepting the nomination the president praised the work of the "able heads of executive departments and our representatives abroad," as well as the "loyal Congress."

WHITE PLAINS, N. Y., June 22.—The Republican committee arrived here from New York yesterday noon and were driven at once to Ophir Farm, Mr. Whitelaw Reid's country house. They were cordially received by Mr. Reid, and Senator Dubois, of Idaho, made the speech of notification, in which he spoke in terms of high praise of Mr. Reid's diplomacy in opening the markets of France to the products of the American farmer. Mr. Reid replied at length in accepting the honor, eulogizing Harrison's administration and predicting victory at the polls.

Congressman Mutchler's Successor.

EASTON, Pa., June 22.—The Democratic congressional conference of the Eighth district, comprising the counties of Northampton, Carbon, Monroe and Pike, will meet in Mauch Chunk early in September to name a candidate to succeed Hon. William Mutchler, of Easton.

The names of Carbon, Monroe and Pike intend to take the lead and, if possible, name a candidate outside of Northampton. Monroe will support ex-Congressman Storm. Carbon will try to nominate Allen Craig and Pike will bring forward the name of George Rowland. It is not known whether Mr. Mutchler will be a candidate or not. At last accounts he had not made up his mind.

A WEEK'S NEWS CONDENSED

Friday, June 17.

A hurricane passed over the northern part of Spain yesterday, doing great damage. Two factories collapsed and eight dead bodies were taken from the ruins.

Minneapolis was then visited by a death dealing cyclone, by which it is estimated that over fifty lives were sacrificed. Near Sherburn a district schoolhouse was demolished and fifteen scholars and the teacher killed.

At Harrisburg yesterday Alderman Marter declared a case of ex-Senator Rattan against Pennsylvania's ex-state treasurer, Mr. Boyer, based on the charges that the latter took interest on state money, dismissed the charges of alleged malfeasance not being insisted upon.

Saturday, June 18.

Seventy thousand Irish men met in Belfast yesterday to protest against a new rule for Ireland. The Duke of Abercorn presided.

The schooner Arthur, of Somers' Point, was wrecked on Great Egg Harbor bar yesterday. The captain and crew escaped in a yawl.

James Boughton, colored, was found murdered in his home, in Scranton, with a knife through his heart. James Loomis and Boughton's wife have been arrested on suspicion of committing the crime.

William Washburn, a colored man, attempted to drown his wife in the canal at Harrisburg yesterday. He thrust her head under water and held it there until he thought she was dead. They had not been living together for some time.

Monday, June 20.

The Republican national committee will meet at the Arlington hotel, Washington, next Monday, to perfect permanent organization.

E. Burd Grubb, United States minister to Spain, has returned to his home at Edgewater Park, N. J. He says he will resign the Spanish mission.

A construction train on the Burlington and Quincy railroad ran into a drove of cattle near Gladstone, Ills. Engineer Robinson and three Italians were killed.

When Prince Bismarck arrived in Vienna to attend the wedding of Count Herbert Bismarck to the Countess Hayek he received an enthusiastic popular ovation, and police interference was necessary to save him from his admirers.

Dictator Palaco left Venezuela on Saturday. He was escorted to the sea by troops, and placed on board the war vessel Libertador. It is said he will be taken to the island of Trinidad, where he exiled Dr. Rojas Paul, who is now elected president.

Tuesday, June 21.

James K. Edsall, ex-attorney general of Illinois, died suddenly at Chicago of heart failure.

Powell Shiner, a Poleander, committed to jail at Wilkesbarre, Pa., last week, hanged himself in his cell yesterday with a rope made from shreds of his shirt.

During a severe thunder storm the general store of W. H. Ryan, at Parnellville, Pa., was struck by lightning. Two kegs of powder exploded, throwing heavy iron safe through the roof and wounding fifty persons who were in the room.

Mexico's Official Gazette publishes decrees annulling over one-third the so-called alkaline interstate duties, allowing the duties on corn until Sept. 30, and allowing the use of the unemployed government building for the storage of produce for the poor.

Wednesday, June 22.

Ravachol, the Parisian anarchist, was placed on trial yesterday at Montbrison. He is accused of no less than five murders.

A train on the Grand Trunk railway near Portland, Me., plunged forty feet into a washout caused by heavy rains, and five persons were instantly killed and a number injured.

The funeral of Emmons Blaine took place at Chicago yesterday. Only the immediate relatives and intimate friends of the family were present. The body was placed in the McCormick family vault in Graceland Cemetery.

The marriage of Count Herbert Bismarck and Countess Margarethe Hoyos took place in Vienna yesterday, and was a very brilliant affair. Prince Bismarck was vociferously cheered when he made his appearance on the streets. The prince's new daughter-in-law is only 23 years old, while the count is 43.

A terrible accident occurred on board the new French steamer Dupuy de Lome at Brest, France. The machinery of her machinery was blown out, and fifteen of her crew were terribly scalded and were taken to the hospital in a dying condition. The cruiser was set on fire and great excitement prevailed for a time.

Thursday, June 23.

An explosion at the Baronsburg cartridge factory, near Montreal, resulted in the death of three people, one of whom was blown to atoms.

The people of Pottsville, Pa., are greatly alarmed over the leaking of the dam of the Pottsville Water company, in St. Clair valley. The people of St. Clair have fled to the hills, and the water is being drawn off.

Mr. Blaine's Affliction.

CHICAGO, June 20.—Emmons Blaine, son of ex-Secretary Blaine, died on Saturday. Blood poisoning, the result of infection of his hand in the course of his case, Mr. Blaine was a notable figure in the exciting scenes at Minneapolis. He took the result greatly to heart, and was confined to his room shortly after his return from the north. It is thought possible by many that the strain and excitement at Minneapolis, followed by the keen disappointment at the outcome, had not a little to do with the physical prostration ensuing.

The marked benefit which people in run down or weakened state of health derive from Hood's Sarsaparilla, conclusively proves the claim that this medicine "makes the weak strong." It does not act like a stimulant, imparting fictitious strength from which there must follow a reaction of greater weakness than before, but in the most natural way Hood's Sarsaparilla overcomes that tired feeling, creates an appetite, purifies the blood, and, in short, gives good, healthy, mental and digestive strength.

Fagged Out.

"Last spring I was completely fagged out. My strength left me, and I could not do a single able all the time, so that I could hardly attend to my business. I took one bottle of Hood's Sarsaparilla, and it cured me. There is nothing like it." R. C. BROOKS, Editor Enterprise, Belleville, Mich.

"I derived great benefit from Hood's Sarsaparilla, which I took for general debility. It built me right up, and gave me an excellent appetite." FR. JENNINGS, Mt. Savage, Md.

The election for a Mayor and five aldermen of Frederick city, held Wednesday, resulted in the election of Mr. John E. Fleming, Democrat, mayor. The aldermen are, Jacob Daisman, Joseph F. Eisenhauer, Daniel T. Orleans, Theodore Brockey, democrats, and John Elbert, republican. The election was conducted under the Australian ballot system.

A Startling Episode.

While Mr. William Hetterly of this place, was in the mountain one day last week he felt something strike against his leg but passed on without giving it any attention; feeling it again and again he looked down and back and was horrified at seeing the body of a rattlesnake dangling behind him. Upon further and hurried examination he found that the rattlesnake was suspended from the tail of his coat; the snake had evidently risen and struck at him, its fangs piercing the coat and it was lifted from the ground and unable to release itself. Mr. H. is not altogether sure that he remembers just how he freed himself of the coat and snake, but he did and killed it without being harmed by it. It had eleven rattles and a button.—Catoctin Clarion.

Ages, Sages, and Wages.

If you have a wife and a half-a-dozen daughters, you can keep them all well by very simple means. Let them use Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It is good for women of all ages. You will not need to spend all your wages for it. These ancient sages, the M. D.'s of a century since, did nothing but dose and bleed their patients. We do better today: We use Dr. Pierce's remedies. For womankind, Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is simply indispensable. The young girl needs its strengthening help at that critical period when she is blossoming into womanhood. The matron and mother find in it invigorating and relief from the numerous ills which beset their existence. And ladies well advanced in years universally acknowledge the revivifying and restorative effects of this favorite and standard remedy.

FAIRFIELD ITEMS.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Spangler, of Mount Joy, are visiting friends here.

Mrs. Susan Sanders, an aged lady, fell off a chair and dislocated one of her legs.

Mr. and Mrs. Brown of Smithsburg, are visiting their son, Mr. George E. Brown of Fairfield.

"Mr. Israel Fair has lost three horses during the past two weeks. It is supposed they had been fed damaged oats. Grass is somewhat backward in this neighborhood but the wheat is fine and harvest will commence the last of this month."

The stable belonging to the tenant house of Mr. C. P. Bream, of this place, was struck by lightning at 3 o'clock on Sunday last, and burned to the ground.

The chimney of Mr. David Martin's house was struck by lightning on Friday and some shingles knocked off the roof, but the injury to the house was slight.

Mr. Amos Bennett, who has been attending Mercersburg College, has graduated and is spending the vacation at home. Mr. Bennett's oration at the college was earnest and good. He is a promising young man and bids fair to become a fine speaker.

A ditch which had been dug to drain the water from the basement of the Lutheran church, was opened across the road and after putting drain pipes in was filled up with earth, which became softened by the rain on Saturday and Mr. Piror, driving up street had to cross the place, which being too soft to bear the weight of the horse, his hind legs broke in to the depth of four feet, and he had to be lifted out.

The CHRONICLE thankfully acknowledges an invitation to attend the ordination to the Holy Priesthood, of Mr. Joseph D. Budds, which occurred on Sunday morning, the 19th inst., at the Pro-Cathedral, Charleston, S. C. Fr. Budds graduated from Mt. St. Mary's College in 1889, and immediately entered the Seminary where he pursued his ecclesiastical studies for some time, later entering a Seminary in Ireland and concluded at Charleston. Rt. Rev. H. P. Northrop, D. D., officiated at the ordination ceremonies. While at the Mountain Fr. Budds took a lively interest in the CHRONICLE and was a valuable contributor to its columns. If his success in the ministry is measured by his virtues, a marked career lies before him.

Across the Deep, to the Far West.

On steamboats, cars and stage-coaches, Hostetter's Stomach Bitters is carried as the most important item in the materia medica of the traveling public. It dispenses diluted, brackish water of its insidious properties and exerts a powerful counteraction the pernicious effects upon the stomach of bad or indigestible food, remedies cramps, heartburn and wind upon the stomach. It is a safe defense against malarial disorders, restores the system, and is an invaluable remedy for constipation and biliousness. The failure of travel often falls most disastrously upon invalids and convalescents, occasionally to such an extent as to jeopardize life. Persons in feeble health, apprehensive of bad effects from travel, will, if provided with the Bitters, be far less likely to have their fears realized.

A Fifty Per Cent Dividend.

The Managers of the Frederick City Development Company have declared a fifty per cent dividend on all outstanding stock. This announcement is highly gratifying to the shareholders. It is gratifying evidence also of the care and ability, all things considered, with which the affairs of the company have been managed, and shows what can be accomplished with a well directed energy and enterprise. What Frederick needs now is a little more of the same kind of enterprise.—Citizen.

Fail Into Line.

Join the great procession! It marches to victory! It knows no defeat! Inscribed on its banners is the inspiring battle-cry, "Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery." Its line of march extends across the continent and around the world! A happy illustration of the popularity and success of this world-famed remedy. 'Tis everywhere relieving pain, inspiring hope, curing disease! For all blood disorders it is acknowledged the safest, the most thorough, the best! The liver and kidneys respond at once to the invigorating touch; through them the whole system is cleansed and built up anew.

If you are sick, indisposed, debilitated, weak, suffering from malarial or other poison, you'll find the "Golden Medical Discovery" the remedy par excellence to restore you.

CLOSING EXERCISES.

ST. EUPHEMIA'S SCHOOL.

The splendid distribution hall at St. Euphemia's School in this place, was crowded on Tuesday evening, by an appreciative audience, who assembled to witness the annual commencement exercises of that institution. The exercises began with the "Russian March" executed by Misses M. Hoke and A. Baker, during which the scholars entered the hall, following which M. Nussner gave "Words of Welcome." Next the coronation took place and Miss Margaret Tyson, the first graduate of the school, was presented with a gold crown and exquisite medal awarded for excellence in English. Master G. Nussner at the same time received a gold medal for excellence in Mathematics. "The Swallows Farewell," a vocal chorus, was then given very effectively by the senior class. Misses S. Hoke and M. Kerrigan played a very pretty waltz on two pianos and following this the junior boys recited "Boys' Ideas," which was quite amusing and very well done. "Thornes," a beautiful instrumental solo by Miss M. Tyson, was next on the programme and was executed with her usual skill. "The Curfew Shall Not Ring Tonight," a concert recitation by the seniors, was followed by an eloquent effort on the part of the little girls and boys, called "Sacred Heart Alphabet," that is deserving a special complimentary mention, though "The Modern Boy," a recitation by Master Harry Hoke, was decidedly the best effort of the evening in that line. The senior boys had a pretty chorus called "The Ocean Spray," following which Misses K. Hann and E. Shorb, B. Hann, and M. Eichelberger gave a delightful selection on two pianos. Next in order came calisthenic exercises with dumbbells, by the junior boys which were very entertaining, after which the audience was charmed with a concert recitation by the senior boys, called "Three Days in the Life of Columbus," which was most creditably rendered, after which Misses Kieckhefer, Smith, Tyson and Hann played the Overture from William Tell, Misses Hoke and Smith played a pretty little duet, and then the junior girls had a Fan Drill. This was so gracefully and cunningly performed that all were charmed and the little girls were rewarded with a storm of applause. Misses S. Hoke and A. Baker next played a duet, after which the senior girls sang a little Operetta called the "Song of the Nations," and then the premiums were awarded as follows:

The following four drew for two gold crosses, Edna Smith, May Kerrigan, Alice Baker and Sallie Hoke. The crosses were drawn by Edna Smith and Alice Baker.

The following essay on "Music and its Influence" by Miss M. Tyson was not read during the entertainment as arranged on the program, the time allowed not being sufficient to admit of it, but we take pleasure in publishing the same below in full.

ESSAY.

There is a charm, a power, that sways the breast. There's every passion roused or still. Inspires with heart, or all our cares disarms. Can soothe distraction, and even despair. That power is Music.

What is creation with its varied music, but the grand orchestra of the Omnipotent, whence arise the ceaseless harmonies of nature? There is Music in the gushing waters! Music in the sighing breeze! Music in the forest! Music in the ocean's depths! But above all, in the heart of man, whose quivering chords ever vibrate to the touch of memory and association. Music as an art, as an intellectual enjoyment, may be termed the master-key which unlocks the feelings and passions of the human heart. Suspending the active energies of the mind, it addresses itself directly to the soul, in a voice that makes itself heard, even amid the tumult and excitement of life's most distracting scenes. When plaintive, it addresses itself to our sensibilities, softens even the coldest heart, soothing it with feelings of tenderness. When light and joyous it touches with electric power the springs of animal elasticity for an instant, the care-shaded brow becomes enlivened, the drooping eyelids and the shadowed face as it were from its mocking sounds. When wild and national it fires the soul of the patriot, and nerves the arm of the warrior. When grave and majestic, it falls upon the spirit like a veil of devotion, and hushes the promptings of ambition, and dispelling the sordid cares that desolate the mind. When solemn and religious it diffuses a holy peace, a longing union with the source of harmony, God himself. Chateaubriand tells us: "There 'Song has come to us from the angels," and that "Symphony has its source in heaven." So deeply was the mind of Pythagoras imbued with this idea, that he nightly soothed his spirit to rest in order, as he himself says, that his soul might sink to repose, and awaken to action with the thought of the Divinity. Quintilian says, that the gravest and wisest of the philosophers were students of music. Socrates, who of a philosopher, studied the principles of music with boys. Plutarch who calls it a universal science, says that the Lacedaemonians paid more attention to it, than to their food. So great was its influence upon the mind of Plato and Aristotle, that they regarded it as an essential part of the education of youth. Cicero, tells us that it was in such high repute among the Greeks, that they had their children early instructed in it, that their moral character might be most easily formed. But no where has music received such careful and constant cultivation as in the Church of God. Association greatly influences us in the appreciation of music. What was it, that changed the rude notes of the Swiss soldiers, in the French army? Was it the terror or dangers of the battle-field? No, for that brave and hardy race, had been inured from childhood to hardship and feats of daring. They fearlessly rushed into the thickest of the fight, and breathed the battle storm in its fury. What mysterious power suddenly pale their cheek, and paralyzed the strength of their sinewy arms? Only the familiar tones of the "Ranz des Vaches," their national melody. In an instant the well known strain has plunged them into the very heart of their mountain home, and its endearing attentions.

The music ceases—a shadow like the pall of death falls upon the ideal picture it portrayed, and they find themselves exiles upon a foreign shore. Music not only exerts a wonderful influence as a moral agent, but has also wrought marvelous effects in cases of mental disorder. The scripture tells us that after the spirit of God had departed from Saul, that he was tormented by the evil one. His frantic, frenzied behavior, his officers, out of compassion, advised him to send for a musician whose skill might soothe his soul to peace. David was selected, and so admirably did he exercise his talent, that he completely soothed the king, and charmed the transports of passion into reason. Dryden has vividly depicted in his noble lyric the varied emotions that music has power to awaken in the soul.

Animals also exhibit a wonderful susceptibility to the influence of music. The great naturalist, says that music not only delights beasts of burden, such as horses and camels, but enables them to endure the greatest fatigue with alacrity; hence, directors of caravans always took care to be accompanied by musicians during their weary marches over the deserts of Arabia and Africa, that the camel might sustain the fatigue of the long journey. Dogs also have an excellent ear for music. Descartes, the famous philosopher, had one whose ear was so sensitive that when ever he heard his master's sonata in D, he would lie down and utter the most plaintive moans; more lively composition causing him to prance about the room in a wildest glee. But if his master struck a discord, the dog instantly giving a yell sought refuge by flight into the street. Upon serpents, music has a wonderful influence. When ready to spring upon its victim, let some one but run his finger carelessly over the strings of an instrument, in an instant the glossy form relaxes; the lightning fades from its eye; the proud head falls and the form glides harmlessly away into its retreat. Hence we see, that music dispels sorrow, soothes anger, softens cruelty, excites to activity, expels diseases of the mind, and makes its influence felt even among the brute creation.

Jemima's Bean.

Jemima, once she had a bean, He didn't mind her name you know, Although it was so prosy. She had catarrh, and had it so, That he at last was forced to go— The odor was no prosy.

If she had been sage in time, she would have taken Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy. An offensive breath is most distressing, not only to the person afflicted, if the person has any pride, but to those with whom he or she comes in contact. It is a delicate matter to speak of, but it has parted not only friends but lovers. Bad breath and catarrh are inseparable. Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy cures the worst cases, as thousands can testify. $500 reward offered for an incurable case by World's Dispensary Medical Association, Proprietors of Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy.

A Promised Entertainment.

We have been informed, semi-officially, that the ladies and gentlemen who assisted Mrs. Jarley, last year, in her Exhibition of Waxworks, are, with the addition of other amateur talent, preparing for an entertainment, to be presented to the public early in July, the date and full particulars of which will appear in the next issue of the CHRONICLE.

To Cleanse the System.

Effectually yet gently, when costive or bilious or when the blood is impure or sluggish, to permanently cure habitual constipation, to awaken the kidneys and liver to a healthy activity, without irritating or weakening them, to dispel headaches, colds or fevers, use Syrup of Figs.

The Prohibition camp-meeting at Glyndon Park, will commence July 1st and continue until August 2nd. An interesting program of services has been arranged for each day, and prominent speakers from all over the country have accepted invitations to speak sometime during the continuance of the camp.—American Sentinel.

DISTRIBUTION.

ST. JOSEPH'S ACADEMY.

The eighty-third annual commencement and distribution of premiums at St. Joseph's Academy, near this place, took place on Thursday, June 23rd. Although the weather was oppressively warm the distribution hall was well filled with an appreciative audience.

His Eminence Cardinal Gibbons, of Baltimore, assisted by Rt. Rev. Thomas McGovern, D. D., presided, and among the other distinguished clergymen were: Rev. Edward P. Allen, D. D., President of Mt. St. Mary's College; Rev. Dr. Byrnes, Vicar-General of Boston; Rev. Dr. McSweeney, Rev. Jno. J. Tierney, Rev. Father O'Hara, of Mt. St. Mary's College; Rev. A. Mandine, C. M., Rev. S. Laverzari, C. M., Rev. H. F. White, C. M., Emmitsburg, together with Le Chevalier Prof. Joseph Ferrata, Prof. E. Lagarde, and Prof. James Mitchell, also members of the faculty of Mt. St. Mary's College. Other guests of prominence were: Prof. Jourdan, Prof. Fincke, Peabody Institute, Baltimore; Judge Roberts, Westminster; Col. McGonigle, U. S. A.; Mr. F. J. Molloy, Troy, N. Y.; Mr. C. A. Grasselli, Cleveland, Ohio; Dr. and Mrs. George Welty, Brooklyn; Mr. and Mrs. O'Connor, Portsmouth; Mr. and Mrs. Brady, Petersburg, Va.; Mr. and Mrs. Blachard, Louisiana; Mr. DeLone, Harrisburg, Pa.; Dr. and Mrs. Alexander, Philadelphia; Mr. and Mrs. Nott, Raleigh, N. C.; Miss Mosher, Ellicottville, Baltimore, and many others whose names we failed to ascertain.

The exercises opened with an entrance march from Mendelssohn, executed by Misses H. Muth, C. Hennessy, M. A. Brennan, A. Brown, J. Burke, E. Cooke as pianists; Misses E. Sexton, S. Levert, H. White and L. Gaspari presiding at the harps, and Misses K. Lawrence and L. Muth as organists, during which the scholars entered the hall and with a correctness of step and carriage that suggested military training, marched toward the front of the hall, making a pretty obeisance to His Eminence and his Reverend companions, and keeping their faces still toward the audience marching backward to their chairs. "The Greeting to Our Cardinal" by the graduates was then read by one of the class while the whole file stood in a semi-circle in front of the Cardinal. The greeting was beautifully written and beautifully read and when at the close the reader craved the blessing of His Eminence for her classmates and schoolfellows, the entire school, with remarkable precision, dropped on bended knee and a silence profound and impressive reigned for a moment before the blessing was bestowed. The next two numbers were "Spring Song" and "Nightingale" rendered most effectively by the vocal class, and following this was an instrumental treat on two pianos by Misses S. Levert and L. Gaspari, after which the vocal class again delighted the audience with the "Spinning Wheel" from Wagner. Here the programme was varied delightfully by a Musical Dumb-Bell Exercise, so well executed as to compensate fully for the arduous task the drilling must have been. The little folks who took part in this were Misses B. and M. DeLone, M. F. Alexander, M. Conington, K. Nott, F. Clarke, M. Campbell, M. Latham, J. Lynch, K. Freret and L. White. Next came the Distribution of Premiums in the various English classes, Language, Music and in the Art and Ornamental Department, followed by "Intermezzo from Cavalleria Rusticana," a magnificent instrumental production, executed on two pianos, two harps and an organ, accompanied by Prof. Fincke on the violin. A piano quartet with harp and organ accompaniment then preceded a Gesture Drill with Musical Accompaniment, which was a masterpiece in the art of expression. "Swanee River" was the song selected, and while the words were softly sung by Miss Maggie May, the following young ladies illustrated by gesture and expression the sentiment of the old familiar song: Misses Brady, Gaspari, Freret, Douglas, Grasselli, O'Toole, May, Burke, Duffy, Partridge, Mahoney, O'Connor, McGonigle, White, Davey, Bryant, Campbell, Kenefick, Blanchard, Tourte, Milmo, James, Levert, Brown, O'Connell and Carry. The voices of the vocal class were unusually sweet and beautiful in the next selection, "Calm is the Lake," from Piel, and showed the result of thorough musical training. Here the Coronation took place and a large percentage of the scholars received crowns for good deportment, after which "Fantasia Sur Guillaume Tell," a Duo for piano and violin was rendered by Miss L. Muth and Miss Fincke. Miss M. McConna's vocal solo, by Nivins, was lovely and well appreciated.

Academic Honors were then awarded: In testimony of having passed honorably through the graduating class, a gold medal and diploma to Miss Emily P. Droogan, Albany, N. Y.; Miss Clara V. Edwards, Baltimore, Md.; Miss Katherine E. Laylor, Norfolk, Va.; Miss Mary C. Simons, Richmond, Va.; Miss Mary V. Welty, Brooklyn, N. Y.

Medals for distinguished success in the respective English classes were awarded as follows: In the sub-graduate class, a gold medal to Miss Hilda Muth, Baltimore, Md. First Senior Class, a silver medal to Miss Ella Sexton, Roanoke, Va. Second Senior Class, Miss Margaret Kenefick, Richmond, Va.; Third Senior Class, Miss Elizabeth Cooke, City Point, Va.; First Intermediate Class, Miss Genevieve Lynch, Texas, Parish, La.

Cardinal Gibbons then made a short address, full of wisdom and in his usual interesting style. After which Miss C. Edwards gave the "Farewell to St. Joseph's," very beautifully, as a solo, and then followed the "Coronation March" from Meyerbeer, executed on two pianos, four harps and two organs, during which the scholars all marched again toward the front of the hall and bowing low to the presiding clergy and the audience generally, marched backward the entire length of the hall and disappeared in the corridors leading, thus closing the exercises of the 83rd Annual Commencement of St. Joseph's Academy.

On Wednesday, Mrs. Joseph S. Gitt, of New Oxford, reached the age of 75 years. Both she and her husband, the well-known civil engineer, who is 77 years of age, enjoy excellent health. Their daughter, Mrs. F. G. Stark, of this place, has been confined to the house for the past nine months by an injury to one of her knees, and at her request, her mother celebrated her birthday at Mr. Stark's home on Pleasant Street. Mr. and Mrs. Gitt, Mrs. Synser, of Topeka, Kansas, the only sister of Mrs. Stark, and a number of relatives and friends were entertained during the day, and a most enjoyable reunion held.—Honour Herald.

A BLACKSMITH SAVES THE LIFE OF A LITTLE GIRL.—Minnie Carney, of Lytle City, Iowa, was perhaps as near leaving this world as any one can be, and recover. She was sick with cholera morbus; completely exhausted and unconscious. The physicians in consultation decided the case was hopeless and beyond their control. Class J. Newcomb, a blacksmith, walked four miles through the darkness and storm, to get a remedy he had himself used, and which he firmly believed would cure her. This medicine was Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. He obtained part of a bottle, with which he hastily returned, and gave the little sufferer a half teaspoonful, which relieved her and consciousness gradually returned. The medicine was given in broken doses and in a short time she was well. He is positive that it saved her life, and has others in that vicinity. For sale by C. D. Eichelberger.

Campbell of Boston, Mass.; second gold medal for elocution, the gift of Rev. John I. Lane, of Boston, Mass., to Fernando G. Echeverria.

Cardinal Gibbons delivered the principal address to the graduates, in which he urged upon them the importance of that were of paramount importance, viz. that which they owe to God and to their country. He endeavored to impress upon them the value of patriotism and the honor belonging to their positions as citizens of a free, enlightened and independent government, and closed with a warning against political corruptions and demagoguery.

Right Rev. Thomas McGovern, D. D., bishop of Harrisburg, then made an address. He urged the audience to be true to the country, and the Catholics shall ever acknowledge boldly their faith, letting their light shine bright in the world. He spoke touchingly of the fact that thirty-seven years ago he was a student in that mountain college.

The addresses by the graduates were as follows: "The Jesuits," by Fernando Echeverria, of Elizabeth, N. J.; "Immigration," by John J. Madden, of Boston, Mass.; "Cardinal Manning," by John H. Dallard, of Bedford, Pa.

"Scientific Progress of the Nineteenth Century," by John C. McGovern, Easton, Pa.; "Russian Intolerance," by Emmet L. Farrell, of Blackville, S. C.

The valedictory was delivered by Francis J. Clark, of Scranton, Pa.

A banquet was served after the commencement exercises. The Alumni Association of the college held a meeting and elected officers for the ensuing year, as follows: President A. V. D. Watterson, of Pittsburgh, Pa.; secretary, J. J. Rooney, of Brooklyn, N. Y.; treasurer, Rev. Wm. L. O'Hara, of Mt. St. Mary's College.

brief storm was almost over. Becky was in despair about the overturned wagon, but the energetic owner of it soon succeeded in getting it right side up. To get the bale of cotton into it again was a more serious matter, but Mr. Johnson was quite prepared to undertake even that task.

"Git in," she said, tossing Becky's satchel into the wagon and climbing in herself. "I'll drive back, turn 'round, gather up the bale 'nd git you ther yit befo' the last train's gone!"

It was an easy matter to drive back to where the bale of cotton lay, but the remainder of the plan presented difficulties. The ox positively refused to stop anywhere near the bale, and when he did stop he would not be induced to turn about with his head towards Henrietta. That place and the cotton bale seemed associated in his mind with the trouble that had come upon him, and he would have nothing further to do with either of them.

He pranced and bellowed and tossed his horns and kicked up his heels, and all this with his nose stubbornly pointed towards Sweet-Gum. All Mrs. Johnson's strong language, mingled with Becky's pleadings, could not induce him to turn his back on home again.

At last he assumed entire control of matters. Utterly regardless of the persistent tugging at the rope reins, he set off at a mad gallop towards the place that he had left in the morning. It was an up-hill road that he had to travel and the storm had strewn it with many obstructions, but he cared nothing for that. The wagon was light now, he had his spirit fully roused and he was going home.

At first the two passengers screamed and scolded and laughed and made many remarks, but they soon stopped all that. They had no breath to spare for screaming, and no strength to spare for scolding. The frightful swaying and bumping of their vehicle made it necessary for them to sit flat down on the wagon bottom and hold on to the sides. This they did with despairing resignation until their meteoric flight ended safely at last in Sweet-Gum.

With no bones fractured, but with spirits greatly broken, they rested from their journey exactly where it had begun.

Thomas Jefferson was the first man to approach them. He came forward in perfect safety, for Mrs. Johnson had not breath enough to tell him what she thought of him.

The next to appear was Mr. Draper, driven back there by the force of the tempest. Never in her life had Becky been so glad to see him, but she could not tell him so.

She could only gasp her welcome and her request that he himself would take her to Atlanta.

He did so the next day, the day of the party, and Becky explained to Mrs. Farrell the cause of her delayed return.

"You see the Sweet-Gum Express comes only part way and then goes back!"

How a Cat was Silver-Plated.

A remarkable freak of lightning occurred some time ago near the small village of New Salem, Vt., at the foot of the Hildeberg Mountains. Arent S. Vandyk occupies an old mansion, in the parlor of which hung a collection of revolutionary swords, one of which was heavily plated with silver. On the night in question a terrific thunderstorm burst, and one particularly crash stunned everyone in the house.

Quickly recovering, the family hastened to see what damage had been done. Suddenly the youngest Vandyk pointed to an old-fashioned sofa. There lay what seemed to be a silver cat, curled up as comfortable as could be. Each glittering hair was separate and distinct, and each silver bristle of the whiskers described as graceful a curve as in life.

Turning to the sword on the wall just above the sofa, father and son remarked that the plated sword had been stripped of all its silver, the scabbard was a strip of blackened steel, and the hilt had gone altogether.

The family cat had been electroplated by lightning. A round hole in the window pane about the size of a half crown showed where the electric fluid had entered. There was a charred streak showing the path of the lightning as it made its way to the sword, down which it passed to the sofa, carrying with it the fused silver, which it scientifically deposited on that magnetic animal, the cat.

Of course, the cat was instantly killed, and therefore remained in the position in which the lightning found her, peacefully sleeping. It is thought the plating of the cat's surface will prevent decay, and that she may be retained permanently among the family curiosities. Local scientists, the Bostonians say, are quite puzzled by the occurrence, and the electro-plated cat is being investigated by a member of the Albany Institute.—Newtowne Calculator.

"A GOD-SEND is Ely's Cream Balm. I had catarrh for three years. Two or three times a week my nose would bleed. I thought the sores would never heal. Your Balm has cured me."—Mrs. M. A. Jackson, Portsmouth, N. H.

I was so much troubled with catarrh it seriously affected my voice. One bottle of Ely's Cream Balm did the work. My voice is fully restored.—B. F. Leipsner, A. M., Pastor of the Olivet Baptist Church, Philadelphia, Pa.
