

THANKSGIVING DAY.

The passing year having brought us once more to the season of garnered harvests, and full fruition of the hopes which stimulated the labor of days and weeks and months, we may well pause, with grateful hearts and unite in devoting one day, out of the many in which we have received unnumbered blessings, to a thankful celebration of our privileges as a people and our portion as individuals.

We of this community have been singularly blessed, not only with fruitful harvests and general prosperity, but in our entire exemption from the ravages of pestilence, fire and flood, from which so many places have suffered, and we must acknowledge that the year, now drawing to a close has been full of overflowing with blessings to each and all of us.

May we not hope, in view of the unnumbered mercies we have received, that our hearts will respond in kindly sympathy to the claims of those less favored than ourselves, and that our Thanksgiving may be such as to awaken happy thankfulness in the hearts of all, whose lives less blessed than ours, may come within our influence.

THE PRESIDENT-ELECT

speaks to the New York Chamber of Commerce.

NEW YORK, Nov. 16.—President-elect Grover Cleveland was one of the honored guests last night at the 124th annual dinner of the chamber of commerce, held at Delmonico's.

It was 9:30 when President Orr called for order and, amid the clouds of fragrant Havanas, made a graceful speech of welcome. Mr. Orr concluded by giving the first toast, which was responded to by Attorney General Miller. Mr. Miller responded to the toast, "The President of the United States."

In the absence of Baron Fava Mr. Sinclair McElwray, of Brooklyn, responded to the toast, "Italy."

"Commerce and Education," responded to by Rev. John Hall, and Hon. William C. P. Breckinridge, of Kentucky, responded to "The House of Representatives," by President J. G. Schurman, of Cornell University.

Professor Schurman was the last on the regular toast list. No sooner was this announced than a storm of cries for "Cleveland," and "Depew" arose. Mr. Depew arose eagerly and, waving his hand, cried "Cleveland!" Mr. Cleveland at last arose, and after the bursts of applause had somewhat subsided, the president-elect spoke as follows:

"We have noticed that many men, when they seek to appear especially wise and impressive, speak of our business interests as something awful and mysterious, and quite often when a proposition is under discussion its merits are no longer apparent to those whose hair is on end at the solemnity of the phrase. Our business interests are lying in wait with numerous vials of wrath in complete readiness for those who arrive at an unaccepted conclusion.

"I am fortunate in being able to say that my relation to the chamber of commerce of the state of New York, though merely of a complimentary kind, arising from honorary membership, has so familiarized me with business interests that I no longer regard these words as meaning a bloodthirsty beast, nor do I have constantly before my mind those children in the Biblical story who were torn in pieces by bears for discussing too much at random the baldness of an ancient prophet.

"I know you will not do me the injustice of supposing that I would in the least underrate the importance of commercial and financial interests here represented. On the contrary, no one appreciates more fully the importance of proper adjustment of all interests should be maintained, you represent those which are utterly indispensable to our national growth and prosperity. I do not believe that any other interests should be obliged to subordinate the claims of commerce of the table of business, nor do I believe the table should be robbed of the good things which are honestly and fairly there merely because some tables are not well provided.

"It comes to this. We are all interested as Americans in a common pursuit. Our purpose is, or ought to be, in our several spheres, to add to the general fund of national prosperity. From this fund we are all to draw—perhaps not equally, but justly, each receiving a fair portion of individual prosperity. Let us avoid tramping on each other in our anxiety to be first in the distribution of shares, and let us not attempt to appropriate the shares of others."

There was more applause when Mr. Cleveland finished speaking, only to be renewed when Hon. Whitelaw Reid spoke. Mr. Reid said in part: "No, Mr. President, it is not my turn. I am not in the program. I have been making a great many speeches within the last three or four weeks, and I am bound to say I do not particularly admire the result of them. I did not think too highly of them when I made them, and I think a great deal less of them now."

Mr. Reid made several graceful allusions to the president-elect, concluding by saying: "I think I may speak for my associates when I say that we are soon to take control of the government that whatever they may do to sustain our flag and promote the prosperity of the country they will find in the United States no Republicans and no Democrats, but we are Americans all."

It was midnight when Mr. Reid finished speaking, and yet the event of the banquet had not yet taken place. This happened some minutes later, though, when, amid uproarious applause, a great applause, Hon. Chaney M. Depew was introduced to the audience. There was a smile on Mr. Cleveland's face as the distinguished orator arose and there was a broad smile on Mr. Depew's face as he, at ten minutes past midnight, began speaking.

"I suppose that I am the only person here tonight," he said, "who occupies an embarrassing position. A man upon a platform in the way of a political canvass makes a speech which is difficult for him to fulfill.

"The trend of events does not create the condition for which he has prepared his speech. I expected to be here tonight attending the obsequies of a distinguished friend of mine, and I had prepared an eulogium which would have been satisfactory to the spirit of the deceased. Instead, I discover that I am a listener at a Democratic ratification meeting. I find that our country is charged. I am the corpse. But even the moribund have privileges.

"A classmate of mine who was a Democrat, found himself settled in a Spiritualist's neighborhood. The leader of the Spiritualist band died and his friends came to see the clergyman and said: 'We have something of the old Puritan spirit left, and we think our leader ought to be buried by a Christian ceremony. Will you do it?'

"My friend consented and delivered the best eulogy that he conscientiously could. The dead spiritualist arose and said she had a message from her husband. She transmitted the message, which roundly abused the minister and his eulogy and his sermon and everything else. One of the friends of the deceased said to the preacher: 'We had no idea that our departed leader would be here in spirit. We hope you will forgive him.'

"My friends, I would forgive, for this is the first time in many ministrations that I have been passed by the corpse."

Mr. Depew then referred to the speech on the "Typical American" which he delivered at the Astor House two years ago, and said that this speech had formed a campaign document for the Democrats, and had inspired him to the promise that he would pronounce a eulogy still further of taffy over Mr. Cleveland at the present dinner after Mr. Cleveland had failed to do so.

"If Mr. Cleveland's policy wins, then he stands for the next century as the evangelist of a policy which has done for the country what the best statesmen have failed to do."

"If, however, his policy is fairly tried, and shall prove that it was not wise, then Mr. Reid and I shall at the end of five years have the pleasure of hearing the eagle take to its nest."

There was laughter and applause, amid which Mr. Depew sat down, and the chairman declared the banquet over.

DEATH OF JOHN HOEY.

His Remarkable Rise from Abject Poverty to Affluence.

NEW YORK, Nov. 15.—John Hoey died last night at 10 o'clock in his apartments at Delmonico's. On Tuesday he sank into a comatose condition, from which he never rallied. He was born in Drogheda, Ireland, in 1824, and landed in this city, ragged and barefoot, in 1839. After sleeping in cellars and doorways, picking up stray jobs, he became a newsboy. Subsequently he became connected with the Adams Express company, which had just started, and finally rose to be the president of the company.

His relations with the company were ruptured in 1891, when internal dissensions forced him to retire from the presidency. About thirty years ago he purchased Hollywood, near Long Branch, which he greatly improved.

When he married Mrs. Russell, who, with three children, came to him, Mr. Hoey was a man of extended acquaintance and of a charitable nature. His death was due to Bright's disease.

Lingo at Liberty.

CAMBRIDGE, N. J., Nov. 14.—Frank Lingo's second trial on the charge of murdering Mrs. Annie Miller came to a most abrupt and sensational ending Saturday afternoon, when Supreme Court Justice Garrison took the unusual step of ordering the jury to acquit the prisoner. It was shortly after the afternoon session had opened when the state announced that it would rest its case. Counsel for the defense immediately moved for the acquittal of the prisoner, on the ground that the evidence presented by the state was insufficient to hold him. Justice Garrison held the same view of the case as did the defense, and ordered the jury to acquit Lingo. When the news reached Montgomery, the citizens held an indignation meeting and passed resolutions warning Lingo never to return to that place.

Desperate Battle with Convicts.

MADRID, Nov. 17.—Yesterday the convicts in the prison at Tarragona attempted to escape and nine were killed. Shortly after the prisoners were released from their cells at a signal from their leader, they sprang upon the wardens and overpowered them. Troops were called for, and the convicts engaged in a desperate hand-to-hand struggle. A perfect pandemonium reigned for a short time, but finally most of the convicts were overpowered and driven, still shouting and cursing, back to their cells. Nine of the murderers had been shot dead and sixteen others were seriously wounded.

A Great Religious Conference.

NEW YORK, Nov. 17.—The annual conference of the archbishops of the Roman Catholic church of the United States took place yesterday at the Hotel Hamilton in this city. There were present eleven of the thirteen archbishops, the absentees being Archbishop Kendrick, of St. Louis, and Salpointe, of Santa Fe, N. M. The former was represented by his secretary, the Very Rev. Philip J. Brady, and the latter by his coadjutor, the Right Rev. P. L. Chappelle. Archbishop Sallotti, from Rome, was also present.

Agent Petroff Dismissed.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 17.—Superintendent of Census Robert P. Porter has discharged Ivan Petroff, the special agent who prepared the reports of Alaska for the tenth and eleventh censuses. In his letter to the secretary of the interior Mr. Porter says: "Having acquainted myself with all the facts in relation to this matter I regret to say that I see no extenuating circumstances, and therefore ask your approval of my action. Secretary Noble approved Superintendent Porter's action."

BLOWN TO ETERNITY.

Another Reading Locomotive Explodes, Sacrificing Five Lives.

POTTSVILLE, Pa., Nov. 15.—A most distressing accident occurred on the Philadelphia and Reading railroad at Conner's Crossing, a short distance north of Schuylkill. Having been driven by a Mogul engine No. 563 exploded, killing five men and probably fatally injuring another.

The killed are: Henry C. Allison, engineer of No. 563, residing at Palo Alto; leaves a wife, William Mackey, fireman of No. 563, Port Carbon; wife and one child, William Cowley, an engineer, on his way home to Mount Carbon; leaves a wife and ten children, William Kendrick, conductor of Port Carbon; wife and four children, William Meyer, Cowley's fireman, Palo Alto; single.

Besides the above Michael Dobbins, of Mount Carbon, a brakeman of Engineer Cowley's crew, was badly scalded and will probably die of his injuries.

Death at a Wedding Dance.

MADRID, Nov. 17.—At Bejar, a town forty-five miles south of Salamanca, a young couple had just been married in the church there, and the wedding party had gone to a restaurant, where a wedding feast was served. After the banquet dancing was begun, when suddenly the walls of the building collapsed. The entire party, together with the employees of the restaurant, were buried in the ruins. When the wreck was cleared away nine bodies were lying in a ghastly row on the sidewalk. The injured numbered thirty, some of whom it is thought will not recover. Others will be crippled for life.

MARYLAND MATTERS.

ANNAPOIS, Nov. 17.—The vote of Maryland, divided among the four parties on the presidential ticket, was as follows: Democrats, 113,896; Republicans, 92,736; Prohibitionists, 5,877; Populists, 796. Total, 213,375.

SALISBURY, Md., Nov. 15.—Rev. Robert P. Clute, rector of St. Stephen and Spring Hill parishes, died at his home in Quantico Monday night after an illness of several days. He had a complication of ailments, but died from an attack of apoplexy.

EASTON, Md., Nov. 15.—The sixty-fifth session of the middle convention of the Protestant Episcopal diocese of Easton opened this evening at Trinity cathedral, Easton. Rev. T. P. Barbour, of Cambridge, is dean of the convocation, and Rev. James A. Mitchell, of Centerville, is secretary.

ELICOTT CITY, Nov. 14.—The appearance of the wheat fly has caused much apprehension among the farmers of Howard county. The recent period of dry weather has proved favorable to the propagation of this pest, and some of the most promising crops have been already shown evidence of its ravages.

BLAIR, Nov. 14.—Dr. H. Clay Whiteford, aged 50 years, a prominent politician of Darlington, Hartford county, died of enlargement of the heart on Saturday last. He leaves a widow and several children. He was an active L. P. Republican, and at the time of his death was postmaster at Darlington. He was buried at Darlington cemetery today.

CAMBRIDGE, Md., Nov. 15.—The baggage train was run down and sank in the Patuxent river by the steamer Fred Avon. Jesse Adams, a local farmer, was drowned. The captain and the remainder of the crew, six men in all, were picked up by the steamers Fred Avon and Joppa and brought here. The train was an oyster dredging craft.

CUMBERLAND, Nov. 14.—Elisha Hoover, found guilty of the charge of an assault upon Florence Civill at the late term of the circuit court, was today sentenced to twelve months in the house of correction. Hoover has been practicing as a physician in the community for several years. The Civil child suffered from diphtheria and was treated by Hoover. It was charged that the treatment hastened the death of the child.

ESSEX, Nov. 14.—St. Aloysius' church, Leonardtown, Md., was the scene of a wedding ceremony on Saturday night, the occasion being the wedding of Miss Lucy Loker and Mr. Harry Spalding. The ceremony was performed at 8 p. m. by Rev. Charles K. Jenkins, S. J., officiating. Messrs. Aloysius F. Loker, Roger Manning and Jeff. Combs were the ushers. R. Ford Combs was the best man, and Miss Florence Fogie, of Baltimore, was the maid of honor.

BALTIMORE, Nov. 17.—The Baltimore and Ohio Railroad company yesterday gave orders which will result in the employment of at least 2,000 men in the various car shops of the company, and add over $100,000 per month to the salary list. This, in connection with an order for sixty new locomotives given to the Baldwin Locomotive works, and the further order for forty locomotives which will be placed in a few days, indicates the preparation this road is making for the World's fair traffic.

ELKTON, Nov. 16.—At an annual meeting yesterday of the stockholders of the Cecil County Agricultural Society the following board of managers were elected: R. C. Lewis, Manly Drennon, Dr. Howard Bratton, Morris Danbar and H. M. McCullough, of Elkton; Henry C. McDowell, of Calvert; Samuel J. Arbutnot, of Cherry Hill; Richard L. Thomas, of Northeast; Z. P. Lutzky, of Cecilton; John W. Harriott and George S. Woolley, of Chesapeake City, and S. C. Rowland, of Port Deposit.

BALTIMORE, Nov. 15.—Maryland Democrats will celebrate Cleveland's election next Tuesday with a noonday social, held at the Cyclorama building. A committee has been instructed to invite ex-Secretary Thomas F. Bayard, Congressman William L. Wilson, Congressman W. Bourke Cockran, Senator Arthur P. Gorman, John K. Cowan, Esq., and other eminent gentlemen, including the entire Maryland delegation in congress, to be present and take part in the rejoicing. It is expected that every county in the state will be represented at the meeting.

WELDON, N. C., Nov. 14.—Candidates for office have already become numerous all over the state. Captain W. H. Kitchen, of this county, has announced his candidacy for first assistant postmaster general, and has written in that, he says, he will apply for the position of collector of internal revenue for the Eastern district in this state. Mr. Aycock, of Wayne, is a candidate for United States district attorney in the Eastern district, and Mr. Olsen, of the same position in the Western district. These gentlemen were Cleveland electors at large.

BALTIMORE, Nov. 15.—The widely published statement that Captain Thorpe, who has charge in this country of all English vessels consigned to the Chesapeake, had ordered the vessel Baltimore and Govino to decorate the steamers in honor of Cleveland's election, is absolutely disproven by the statements made by Captain Thorpe, Patterson, Ramsey & Co., the captains of the vessels. The real cause of the celebration, undertaken entirely by the captains of the steamers, without orders, was to honor the birthday of the Prince of Wales.

ELICOTT CITY, Nov. 14.—The scheme of bridging the Patuxent river between Relay and Elicott City is still prominently spoken of among the property owners residing along the banks of the river between the above mentioned points. The overwhelming defeat of the proposition for the Wilkins bridge at Orange Grove, which was submitted in the recent election, plainly demonstrates that if such a bridge is to be built it must be done by private subscription, and not by taxing the residents of Howard and Baltimore counties. It is now proposed to span the Patuxent at Avalon, the first station west of Relay.

BALTIMORE, Nov. 15.—There is considerable gossip on the Stock Exchange and in the brokers' offices about the future of the Baltimore and Ohio railroad. The return from the recent meeting of Garrett just at this time creates new rumors as to how the stockholders of the Garrett family will be voted at the stockholders' meeting next Monday. Some prominent financiers suggested that Mr. Garrett favors a deal which would practically make a perpetual solidification of business interests. Another rumor was to the effect that a new president may be elected to succeed Mr. Charles F. May, and that Sloan has been mentioned in connection with the position.

The Woman's Literary Club of Baltimore desires to collect a library of the works of all authors who have lived or written in Maryland, whether the books may have been published in this State or elsewhere. Knowing that if such a collection could be made complete, it would have an historic value, they earnestly solicit the co-operation of all living writers throughout the State, hoping that they may feel sufficient interest in a work of such importance to aid it by the contribution of their own books.

The ladies of the Club also appeal to the friends and literary executors of writers no longer living, to do all in their power to secure for the library the works of such writers, and to send them definite information of books that are out of print. It will increase the interest if each copy is inscribed with the name of the donor; and in every case the address is requested that gifts may be acknowledged. The books will be well cared for, and a gift register will be kept. If the project secures a response sufficient to justify general interest, the library will be accessible, upon request, to all who may desire to consult it. Packages may be sent to the President, Mrs. Lawrence Turnbull, 1530 Park Avenue, Baltimore.

Mr. Stoner's Loss.

The Flarona Hotel, the largest hotel in Double Pipe Creek, Carroll county, 18 miles west of Westminster, on the Western Maryland Railroad, was totally destroyed by fire at a late hour on Monday night. There were 15 guests, most of them ladies, in the house, and these, with the employees, narrowly escaped with their lives. Many of them lost everything but their night garments. The burned building was located about 200 yards from the station of the Western Maryland Railroad, on a site which commanded a fine view of the surrounding country. It was forty by sixty feet and four stories high, and filled with excellent furniture. It was owned by F. L. Stoner, of Frederick, and was operated under a lease by Mr. W. H. Moser. The building was valued at $9,000, and was insured for $4,000 in the Firemen's Insurance Company of Baltimore; the Phoenix, of Brooklyn, N. Y. and the Reunifying Company of Philadelphia. The furniture, which was valued at $2,000, was insured for $1,200 in the Phoenix, of Brooklyn. The fire is supposed to have been caused by a defective flue.—News.

CORON SYRUP.—Yes I am tired of hearing and seeing the word; yet if you want a good, reliable, pleasant-to-take, Cough Syrup, and a large bottle for the money, ask your druggist for Dr. Fahrney's and take no other.

A Great Explosion!

In these days of gunpowder, dynamite, and the like, tremendous explosions are no rarity, but the greatest explosion of modern times is, without doubt, that of the "old-school" idea that Consumption is incurable. Thousands of lives have been sacrificed to this mistaken notion. Modern research has established the fact that Consumption is a scrofulous disease of the lungs, and that there is one remedy which will positively eradicate it from the system—Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. Of course, there were in the olden times many who would have pronounced modern explosives instruments of witchcraft; but there are, fortunately few to-day who do not acknowledge that the "Golden Medical Discovery" is the sovereign remedy for all scrofulous diseases, and Consumption is one of them.

Nine Times out of Ten

Dr. Fahrney's Peerless Liniment will prevent Pneumonia and Croup, if used in time. So say hundreds who have used it. Sold by all druggists for twenty-five cents.

Will be a Roller Mill.

Workmen are engaged in taking out the old burrs in the mill belonging to Mr. John M. Bell, in Liberty township, Pa., about two miles west of this place, and replacing them with new rollers.
Messrs. August Wolf & Co., of Chambersburg, are doing the work, which will be completed and in running order about the 10th of December.

My wife was so badly afflicted with rheumatism as to be unable to move in bed without assistance. Our druggist, Mr. Laddamus, recommended Chamberlain's Pain Balm, which greatly relieved her. We have used six bottles at various times, and would not be without it at hand.—JAS. COLEMAN, Lowell,

We desire to call attention to the circular, published in our columns, today, of "The Woman's Literary Club of Baltimore," and commend it to the consideration of our Maryland readers, as the work this club has undertaken, is one that appeals to the pride of every Marylander in the literary achievements of his native state, that has a right, we know, to claim a much higher position in the field of literature than is usually accorded her.

Thanksgiving Dinner.

As the Parsonage of the Reformed Church is now vacant, the ladies of the Benevolent Society intend to utilize it for the purpose of serving their usual Thanksgiving Dinner in its pleasant and comfortable rooms. The citizens generally, as well as the members of the church, are cordially invited to attend.
Dinner will be served from 12:30 to three o'clock, and oysters, ice cream, cakes and all other refreshments, at any time during the afternoon and evening. The charge for dinner will be 30

A FARMER near Albion, Iowa, by the name of J. H. Wolfe, has found a sure cure for croup. He says: "For the last eight years I have recommended Chamberlain's Cough Remedy for croup. Half of a fifty cent bottle will cure the worst case if taken in time. On the 20th of this month, my boy, four years old, had the croup very bad and three doctors cured him. I would not be without it in my family." If the remedy is given as soon as the child becomes hoarse, it will invariably prevent croup. 50 cent bottles for sale by Eighty-Seventh Birthday.

Mr. George Winter, of this place, celebrated his eighty-seventh birthday on Wednesday. Mr. Winter walked from his residence to this office and renewed his subscription to the Chronicle on his birthday, which is a custom he has practiced for many years. He said he supposed that this would be his last time to renew his subscription, but we hope he may be enabled to make his annual visit to our office for many years to come. Mr. Winter is enjoying good health, although his lower limbs are growing weak. We congratulate our venerable friend upon having been permitted to attain such a good old age.

Spent a Night in the Iron Cooper.

Andrew Brown, of near Rooper's Saw Mill, west of Franklinville, and a basket maker by trade, was in town on Wednesday with a lot of baskets for sale.
In the evening he got drunk and was put out of the Western Maryland Hotel by the proprietor. While on the pavement in front of that place he gave an exhibition of profanity that has never had an equal in this place. Finally Constable Hann came along, arrested Brown and placed him in the "cooler," where he spent the night cooling off and getting sober. The next morning he was taken before Burgess Blair and fined $2.90, which took all of his loose change and some of his baskets to keep him from being taken back to jail.

Notice to Tax Payers.

The Collector of State and County taxes for 1892, has notified the tax payers of Emmitsburg District, that he will be at the Western Maryland Hotel, on Monday and Tuesday, the 21st and 22nd days of November. In his notice the Collector urges our citizens to take advantage of his visit, as notices and distraints will be issued against all persons who are in arrears after January next. We have understood that a different system, looking to the early settlement of taxes was to be inaugurated and now that the notice has been given, it will be the fault of those in arrears, if they are called upon to pay heavy costs and interest.

The tax payers of Mechanistown District can settle with the Collector at Gilbert's Hotel on Wednesday the 23rd of November.

"I don't like the breath of that stove!" exclaimed little Ethel one day when the gas was escaping from the sitting-room stove. Coal-gas is like the "perfumes of India," compared with the breath of a person afflicted with catarrh, but among many other symptoms the sense of smell is often dulled, so the sufferer is unconscious of the of-fensiveness of his presence. Why any one will endure such a painful, dangerous and offensive disease, when Dr.
Sage's Catarrh Remedy—costing only 50 cents—will cure the most stubborn case, is one of the many mysteries. The proprietors are so confident of the success of this Catarrh Remedy, that they offer to forfeit $500 for any case of catarrh they cannot cure. It would be suicide for their remedy, for them to make this offer, unless they understood its exact powers.

A SINGLE trial of Dr. Henry Baxter's Caution to Gunners.

On Wednesday, Lute Betty, colored, of this place, was out gunning and while on the land of Augustus Butler, colored, at the foot of the mountain, near town, was ordered to leave his premises, which he failed to do. Mr. Butler came to town and secured a warrant for his arrest, which was served by constable Hann on Thursday morning, and Lute was taken before Justice Henry Stokes, for a hearing, but Lute submitted his case, and the Squire fined him five dollars and costs, for trespassing with dog and gun. This is a pretty expensive hunting expedition for Lute. We would suggest to our gunners the advisability of knowing upon whose grounds they are trespassing and when ordered to leave the premises to do so without arguing the question with the owner.

Democratic Jollification Meeting.

The Democrats of Emmitsburg district will celebrate the recent Democratic victory with a jollification meeting and torch light procession in this place, tomorrow (Saturday) evening. A number of delegations from the neighboring towns and districts, and several bands of music will be present. The United Drum Corps, of Frederick, consisting of twenty-five pieces, has also promised to be in the procession, and a big time is expected. The parade will be formed in front of the depot, on the turnpike road, at 7 o'clock. There will be a fine display of fireworks on the square immediately after the parade, after which the meeting will be addressed by Congressman-elect Hon.
Wm. M. McKaig, Col. L. V. Baughman, Marion Fauble, and J. E. R.
Wood. Mr. C. T. Zacharias has been appointed chief marshal.

Christian Endeavor Convention.

The third annual convention of the Christian Endeavor Societies of Maryland will be held in the Immanuel Baptist Tabernacle, Baltimore, on Thursday and Friday, December 8th and 9th. A very interesting programme is being prepared, including addresses by prominent Christian Endeavor Workers, Free Parliament, Open Meetings on Missionary, Junior and Committee Work, Early Morning Prayer Meeting, Pastor's Hour, Junior Rally, etc. The Convention will particularly emphasize Union Work, Missionary Efforts and Systematic Bible Study, and increased interest along these lines is expected among the Societies throughout the State. The music will be a special feature, a choir of 75 or 100 voices now being in training for the occasion. The Committee expect the railroads to grant a reduced fare from all points in the State. The Committee of arrangements is as follows: Programme, W.
C. Perkins; Entertainment, L. H. Bennett; Reception, F. R. Haynes; Transportation, Rev. O. F. Gregory, D. D.; Music, C. E. Anderson; Press, Jas. O.
Moul; Ushers, J. R. Utley; Registration, J. C. Danbracco.

AFTER FORTY YEARS.—"My father had a fever sore on his leg for forty years; but has been permanently cured by Chamberlain's Eye and Skin Ointment, after trying all other remedies in vain," says Mr. S. Witherell, a gun and lock smith at Fort Madison, Iowa.
He further says: "The spot where the sore was, is now perfectly clear as any other part. He used three 25 cent boxes in all." Another—Mr. D. A. Barr, druggist, Blackburn, Mo., says: "I have personal knowledge of a case of chronic sore eyes of many years standing, having been cured by Chamberlain's Eye and Skin Ointment. The party was Mr. Seth Moore, north of this place." Mr.
Moore says the ointment was worth more than a thousand dollars to him.
It cost him 25 cents. For sale by C. D.
Eichelberger.

FOUNTAIN DALE ITEMS.

A protracted meeting is being held at Wesley Chapel.
Mr. George Tresler is to be married on the 23rd, to a lady from Franklin county.

Mr. S. P. Young has been ailing for two months but is now slightly improved. Dr. Glenn, of Fairfield, attends him.

Mrs. Sallie McIntire is still here, her husband has opened a pattern shop at Marysville, Montana, and she will join him there shortly.
Mr. Henry Tresler and Mr. Ed. Crier have taken contracts to cut a large lot of wood for Mr. Heyser and Mr.
Oscar Sprinkle and are putting the work through quite lively.
Our schools are in a very flourishing condition, and are managed by a board of intelligent directors. Mr. George Hardman has charge of Miney Run School and gives it proper attention.
Mr. Henry Tresler and Mr. James McIntire went on a possum hunt, one night last week, but were not very successful, though Henry has a very good dog for hunting.

Mr. Fred. McIntire's ranch is gaily decorated with two dozen American flags. Mr. Samuel Barton and Mr. Mc.
Burgained before the election that if Harrison was elected Mr. Mc. would put up two dozen flags, 12x18 inches in size, at D. B. Martin's store, and if Cleveland was elected Mr. Barton was to put the flags up at Mr. McIntire's ranch. Mr. Barton responded very promptly and put up the flags on Saturday like a "little man."

QUICK and sure! One-third of a bottle cures neuralgia and backache.—Mr.
W. H. Gill, Byesville, Guernsey, Co., O., writes: "I had a severe attack of neuralgia and pains in my back and shoulders, and after using one-third of a bottle of Salvation Oil was able to go to work."

In Olden Times

People overlooked the importance of permanently beneficial effects and were satisfied with transient action, but now that it is generally known that Syrup of Figs will permanently cure habitual constipation, well-informed people will not buy other laxatives, which act for a time and finally injure the system.

Look for the Roosters.

Mr. J. A. Kootz, of this place, received a package on Wednesday, from his friend, Mr. C. Schranck, of St.
Joseph, Mo., containing two Democratic roosters. The one is an imitation of a large rooster in a box, while the other is a picture from a supplement of the St. Joseph Gazette. Mr. Kootz is highly pleased over the thoughtfulness of his friend, and the gift is much appreciated. Mr. Kootz requests us to say that these roosters will have a conspicuous place in the Democratic parade tomorrow night, and we advise our citizens to keep a watch with one eye for the roosters, while they take in the general sights with the other, so that they can see what kind of Democratic roosters is produced in the Western States.

That Ten Minute Whistle Again.

We heard of a suggestion from one of the Faculty of Mt. St. Mary's College that, the ringing of a bell, ten minutes before the train starts, might answer the purpose for which the whistle was heretofore sounded, and thus relieve the discontented Emmitsburgers from the annoyance and inconvenience of which they complain. The fact is, our people so primitive in their feelings and habits, that they find it hard to submit to the despotic control of even so small a part of the great railroad monopolies of the country, as is represented by the seven miles of road between this place and Rocky Ridge, and are foolish enough to have opinions of their own about what is most conducive to their interests. We commend the idea of the Directors of the road, and hope they will be able, with the aid of the President, to settle this momentous question definitely and satisfactorily.

The Plain Truth

Is good enough for Hood's Sarsaparilla —there is no need of embellishment or sensationalism. Simply what Hood's Sarsaparilla does, that tells the story of its merit. If you have never realized its benefits a single bottle will convince you it is a good medicine.

The highest praise has been won by Hood's PILLS for their easy, yet efficient action. Sold by all druggists.

An Enthusiastic Meeting.

Everything was in favor of the Democrats last night and all the Democratic houses between Emmitsburg and Me-chanistown were ablaze with lights.
In Mechanistown it was simply great.
Streets lined with people, houses flooded with light, ladies putting off fireworks, and a large parade, brimful of enthusiasm and good humor. The speaking took place in the hall, which was evidently decorated by the ladies, for no number of men could show the taste that was there displayed, festoons of wreaths all over the hall, Chinese lanterns in abundance, wreaths in the form of crescents, over the stage the word "Cleveland" in letters made of cotton, above the speaker was the word "victory," built up of white chrysanthemums and to the right and left pictures of Cleveland and Stevenson, on brass easels, and on the stage a large number of rose plants, but better than all was, not a sprinkling, but a large number of ladies on the stage and in the audience.

Mr. Ogden, of Baltimore, Mr. Chas. A.
Little, of Hagerstown, Mr. Dorsey Edichson, of Frederick, and last of all Mr. Victor Baughman, whom everybody knows. The speakers were in a happy mood, (how could they help it?) Mr. Baughman certainly complimented the ladies, and tried to give the Glee Club a chance but when it came to singing against a brass band, the Glee Club "went in it" even if they did occupy a position on the stage. To say that the Jubilee was a success is a mild form of expressing it and we were glad to be "in it."

OBSEVER.

Of consideration are nostrums of which it is asserted—and there are many such—that they cure immediately bodily ailments of long standing. There are none such that can. Chronic disorders cannot be instantaneously removed.
Continuity in the use of a genuine medicine, such as Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, will gradually and permanently remove chronic physical evils. Not the least of these last in the force of its opposition to medicine is constipation, the removal of which is permitted in the Bitters is particularly adapted.
Constipation of the bowels is a complaint which should be dealt with early and systematically.
So are its usual attendants, liver complaint and dyspepsia. For these the Bitters is the natural remedy, and more recently "la grippe," kidney trouble, and more recently "la grippe," this highly and professionally compounded medicine is an undoubted specific. Nothing can exceed it, moreover, as a means of imparting strength to the feeble and nervous.

then adjourned.

The Carroll.

The Carroll Society held its regular meeting in the Reading Room Thursday evening. The regular program was set aside for the evening and the greater part of the time was occupied in reading and revising the constitution.
This work being completed an extemporaneous debate was held on the following question: "Resolved, that the punishment of Private Laws was justified." Mr. Donovan, '96, championed the affirmative, while Mr. Manley, '95 acted in like capacity for the negative.
The debate was decided in favor of the negative. The Society decided to hold a mock trial, Dec. 15th, in the College Music Hall. The names of the persons taking part will be given some time before the trial comes off.

The Carroll.

OBITUARY NOTICE.

Rev. Charles McCallion, an aged and beloved priest of the Diocese of Cincinnati, was killed at Hartwell, O., Tuesday, Nov. 8th. Father McCallion was a graduate of Mt. St. Mary's College and Seminary and was ordained in 1842.
He was in his 83rd year at the time of his death. Not very long ago he celebrated his golden jubilee. Persons who attended the commencement exercises last June, may remember the venerable priest, as he walked around the terraces, looking at the scenes of his student days. The circumstances of his death were most painful. He had been struck by crossing the railroad in Hartwell. He received all the consolations of his holy religion, before he died. Father McCallion was the Grand uncle of Messrs. Wm. and James Ker-igan, both at present in the college.
May his soul rest in peace!

Mr. St. Mary's 6 Georgetown 0.
Another victory is added to the growing list of the sturdy "Mountaineers." This time the unfortunate victim was the Georgetown College Team, of Washington, D. C. The most sanguine admirer of Mr. St. Mary's team never dared to hope that such a glorious victory, as that achieved Friday, would be realized. The Georgetown team has in its make-up some of the best mathematical and physical talent of the former and Dowd for instances. Of the former Hartford would have been proud and of the latter's abilities too much cannot be said. The Georgetown team was in the best possible condition, sound and well trained. In fact Capt. Carmody conspicuously remarked, that "after his team had scored about five points, he would ease up." But the fifty points never materialized—may not even the ghost of one solitary point, and the surprise of the Washingtonians was immeasurable.

The game was replete with brilliant plays. Mr. St. Mary's took the ball and on the first rush made seven yards, through the strong center of their opponents. By hard work, good running of Cashman and interfering of McFigh and Burkhardt, the ball was soon in the neighborhood of Georgetown's goal.
Failing to gain the required distance after four successive "downs" the ball was lost. Georgetown was unable to force the "mountaineers" center or make headway around the ends and hence after a "down" the ball was passed to Carmody for a "kick." Mt.
St. Mary's again got the ball and the struggle for Georgetown's goal was renewed, but without success. The half ended with the score 0 to 0. Donovan distinguished himself in this half and in fact strengthened the game by his masterly center playing and O'Reilly and O'Brien ably seconding his efforts.
Only twice in the whole game did Georgetown make gains through the center and then only for three or four yards. Loney, Roken, McFigh and Burkhardt played well and completely outwitted their opponents during the game.

The second half began with the ball in the possession of Georgetown. They opened with the "turtle back rush" and gained about three yards. This rick was tried twice, both times with success, Dowd making the runs. Burkhardt was hurt slightly and replaced by Rice. Perault, McGinnis and Fergusson did excellent blocking and tackling. Rice made a great run, carrying the ball to within eight yards of the Georgetown goal. Cashman blocked McFigh and Perault scored the first and only touchdown. The crowd of excited students tossed caps and canes wildly in the air, and the enthusiasm was unbounded. Cashman kicked the ball again went to the center of the field and Georgetown made futile efforts to make a touchdown. When time was called the score stood: Mt. St.
Mary's 6, Georgetown 0. For the latter, Cumerford, Dowd and Carmody excelled. Sullivan was disqualified in the second half and Roach took his place.

The teams lined up as follows:
Mt. St. Mary's. Positions. Georgetown.
Donovan.....Center.....O'Neil O'Reilly.....Right Guard.....Cumerford
O'Brien.....Left Guard.....E. Mahoney Roken.....Right Tackle.....Murphy Loney.....Left Tackle.....Sullivan Fergusson.....Right End.....Smith McFigh.....Left End.....E. Mahoney
W. Cashman.....Right Half-back.....Dowd Burkhardt.....Left Half-back.....Rice Perault.....Quarterback.....Baben McGinnis.....Full Back.....Capt. Carmody

Touchdowns, Cashman 1. Goals kicked, Cashman 1. Hurt, Burkhardt.
Empire and referee, Mr. Wm. Casey, of Mt. St. Mary's and Mr. O'Dell, of Georgetown.

CARE OF HOUSE PLANTS IN WINTER.

R. E. FORD.

Plants, which are not in an active, growing condition, should have but little water as they cannot make use of it. When a plant is given more than it can make use of it is injured. It is the same as feeding a man who is not hungry. As soon as there are signs of growth, increase the supply of water, but do this judiciously, keeping in mind the fact that more plants are injured by over-watering than from being kept too dry. When a plant is in active growth, the young roots will demand and take up as much again of water as will be necessary for the plant's requirements when in a dormant or semi-dormant condition.

No manure of any kind should be applied to a plant not in a condition of growth. Some persons notice that a plant is not growing, and, without stopping to ascertain if it is trying to rest, they go to dosing it with stimulants and fertilizers, and in most cases they kill it. All plants are sure to be injured by an application of this kind unless in a condition to make use of it, and this they can only do when there is new growth being made. Then they need it, and it will be of great benefit to them to have it at the proper time.

Plants should be turned frequently to keep them symmetrical. If left unturned, the young and growing branches will be drawn toward the light, and in time the plant will become one-sided. A little care at the proper time will prevent this. One important thing for the amateur florist to learn is the necessity of doing things at "the proper time," if he or she would be successful in plant-growing. A neglect to give water when needed will often lead to the dropping of buds, or leaves. If a plant is not shifted to a larger pot, or given fresh soil at the time when the development of roots and branches makes it necessary to have a greater quantity, or a better quality, of food, it will receive a check from which it will take it a long time to recover. No plant can be expected to make much growth in a soil from which the nutriment has been exhausted, and that which is lacking must be supplied by applications of some kind of fertilizer, or fresh earth. Very many of our winter-blooming plants do not require shifting or repotting during the winter, but some may, and when you come across them, attend to them promptly.

More healthy plants would be seen in sitting-room windows if more care was taken to give them air daily. Somehow, persons owning plants seem to get the idea that they do not require much air, and they never recognize the necessity of their obtaining fresh supplies. It is to be wondered at that plants grow at all in some rooms I have been in. It is a most excellent plan to open a window or door some distance from the plants, for some minutes daily, and let fresh, pure air come into the room to mix with the warm air in the room, before coming in contact with the plants. The airiest, lightest and best ventilated rooms are those in which plants do best.

If you can change the air from time to time, can regulate the temperature, and keep the atmosphere moist, and the sun can gain access to your rooms, you can be sure of growing good plants in them if you attend to their requirements. Be sure to give the plants all the sun possible. Roll up the shades, throw back the curtains, and let the light come in. Your carpet may fade, but the plants will take on enough extra brightness to make up for all losses.

One View of It.

According to the Hebrew Standard some children were lately overheard discussing the Sunday services in the fashionable church in which the family worshipped.

"Well, now," said the seven-year-old boy, "I should like to know what the sermon is for, anyway?"

"Well, Harry, don't you know?" answered his five-year-old sister. "It's to give the singers a rest, of course."

BABCOO—"I am a self-made man, sir. I began life as a barefooted boy." "Indeed! Well, I wasn't born with shoes on, either."

THE LATEST FAD.

Our attention was called to an extraordinary looking dish that was set before the young daughter of a house where an invitation to luncheon meant some agreeable surprise in the eating line, says the Philadelphia Times. Yet it must be confessed the curious mixture we now beheld was something utterly unknown in the list of delicacies that we had ever seen.

Noting the puzzled glance, the pretty girl laughed and said: "I was sure we would catch you for once. Confess you have not the remotest idea of what this dish contains."

When our ignorance was fully established, she passed over some of the novel dainties, which looked like a sort of harlequin pudding. "Even now you are no wiser," she laughed, evidently delighted that we were such a greenhorn.

"Well, I will keep you in suspense no longer. That is the latest mode of becoming beautifully plump and lovely."

"What is it?" we inquired. "It is no other than the great beauty secret of the harem, rose leaves and butter. You know all the Sultan's wives are delightfully bewitching with their graceful contour and smooth, lovely complexion, and all the girls have determined to try the combination that works such wonders."

"It doesn't look very tempting."

"No," she laughed, "and it tastes even more horrid than it looks; but then, you know, what wouldn't a woman go through to be beautiful?" and she took a taste of the unpalatable mixture with a grimace that indicated it ought to be beneficial, for the same contritions always accompany the nauseous messes of our childhood which we are assured are for our good.

Figs and Toasts.

No matter what appearances may be, there is no such thing as real prosperity in the wicked.

The devil cheats us out of a great many blessings by teaching us to be close with our money.

The man who is not thankful does not know half the time whether he really has any God or not.

The more house a man builds on the sand the more he will have to lose when the storm comes.

Every time we find a new promise in our Bible the angels open the windows of heaven a little wider.

The best places in heaven will be filled by those who have been the most faithful to Christ on earth.

It is hard to find people in misfortune who will not stick to it that somebody else has been to blame for it.

The devil's first work on earth was to try to destroy the home, and he has been at the same thing ever since.

They are not building any mansions in heaven for people who are neither hot nor cold in religious matters.

Judas was not the only man who made a practice of professing sympathy for the poor to hide his own meanness.—Ran's Horn.

A New Electrical Discovery.

Instantaneous photography has been brought to such a degree of perfection as to fix the image of a cannon ball in its flight through the air, and now a young French chemist, Henri Courtonne, has made a discovery by which objects far beyond the reach of vision can be pictured to us as they appear at the moment. Sound being transmissible by telephone, M. Courtonne argued by analogy that light might be transmitted, too.

As the telephone consists of a transmitter, a wire and a receiver, so there was reason to believe that these organs might be adapted for transmitting light vibrations and for this purpose the transmitter and receiver should be prepared chemically for receiving and giving out light instead of sound vibrations. This was done by substituting sensitized photographic plates for the ordinary telephone plate. One of the plates was placed in front of an aperture through which an image was cast, and this image, it is claimed, has been forwarded by wire and reproduced at the other end.—Electricity.

Is the whole always equal to the sum of all its parts? A German beggar thought it doubtful. "Here I am," he said, as he looked at himself in a pocket mirror; "here I am wearing the boots of a bank manager, the trousers of a landed proprietor, a baron's coat and vest, and count's hat, and in spite of it all, I look like a tramp!"

By No Means the Same.

A great deal depends upon the way in which some words are used. A German, who applied to a New York business house for employment, recommended himself thus: "The capacity in which I like best to earn my living, and the one in which I am most able, is that of a confidential man." He meant "confidential man," and his mistake was rather alarming to those to whom he wrote.

One of the worse cases of the kind on record is that in which a young Frenchman, wishing to flatter an American lady, wrote to her: "I wish greatly that once more I could gaze on your unmatched eyes." He did not discover the great difference between "unmatched" and "matchless" until he found out that the lady, who was "just cross eyed enough to be interesting," had been deeply offended by his compliments.

The Indigestible Banana.

"Next to pork a banana is the most indigestible thing a person can eat," says a physician, "and if you will notice you will see them touched very sparingly by people with weak stomachs. If you can digest them, however, they are very nourishing, and one can make a meal on them that is in every way equal to a substantial lunch of bread and meat."

Women Are Curious Creatures.

"My wife gave me a blowing up because I didn't get her an oil stove."

"Yes."

"Well, I got her one and then she blew herself up."—New York Press.

To be always amiable, content and loving in the home, where there is no motive for assuming virtues that do not exist, is to give the most conclusive proof of true Christian character.

CHARLIE—"It's funny, isn't it, we never hear of labor unions south of the equator?" Johnnie—"Well, you know you're not allowed to strike below the belt."

How to Judge Character by Finger Nails. Very pale nails indicate much infirmity of the flesh and liability to persecution by neighbors and friends. Nails growing into the flesh at the points or sides are indicative of luxurious tastes. White marks on the nails bespeak misfortune. Pale or lead colored nails bespeak melancholy. Broad nails belong to those of gentle, timid, bashful natures. Lovers of knowledge and liberal sentiments have round nails. People with narrow nails are ambitious and quarrelsome. Small nails belong to small minded, obstinate and conceited people, while choleric, martial men have red and spotted nails.

How to Test Gilt. Apply bichloride of copper, which makes a brown spot on alloy, but produces no effect on a surface of gold.

How to Remove Clinchers from Stoves. Put half a peck of oyster shells on top of a bright fire. Repeat when clinchers show signs of forming.

How to Wash Colored Calicoes. After washing and rinsing the garments dip them in a pail of rain water in which five cents' worth of sugar of lead has been dissolved. Wring out promptly.

How to Relieve a Fainting Person. If the face is pale lay the patient flat on the back and raise the feet a little. If the face is red raise the patient to a sitting or easy reclining posture. The pale face indicates that there is too little blood in the head; the red that there is too much. It is necessary also to be careful that a "black or blue" face is not mistaken for a pale one, for this dark hue indicates venous congestion, and in such a case the patient should be raised.

How to Protect Trees from Insects. A paste of one part powdered chloride of lime and a half part of some fatty matter placed in a narrow band around the trunk will prevent insects from creeping up the trees. Even rats, mice, cockroaches and crickets flee from it.

How a Woman Should Exercise. A woman who has paid great attention to this important subject says: "Walk and air are the best tonics and beautifiers. For bathing purposes she recommends long mittens made from Turkish toweling. At night the mittens should be put in a washbowl of water in which a little lime has been dissolved. On rising in the morning wring out the mittens, put them on and rub the whole body briskly. Dry on a towel, not too coarse, and dress quickly. Then go out of doors, if only for a few minutes. Walking is the best exercise. If you cannot walk half a mile at first, walk a quarter; keep on stretching the distance until you can walk three or four miles without fatigue. Fresh air will put a good color in the face, and when the health is good and the blood circulates freely the nerves will be all right."

Printed instructions and forms can be obtained free by applying to the Commissioner of pensions, Washington. The company and request in which the claimant served, the name of the commanding officer, and dates of enlistment and discharge must be set forth in the application. In many cases similar information must be given in regard to the vessel upon which the claimant served. Declaration must be made before a court of record, and the identity shown by the testimony of two credible witnesses. The nature of the evidence required to sustain the claim will be indicated to the claimant upon the filing of his declaration at Washington.

How to Keep Meat Fresh in Summer. Meat can be kept very nicely for a week or two by covering it with some milk or buttermilk and placing it in a cool cellar. The bones or fat need not be removed. Rinse well before using.

How to Remove Paint Stains. When the stains are dry they should be softened with butter and lard, and are then easily removed by turpentine and soap. Benzine, alcohol or turpentine will readily remove fresh paint stains, and chloroform will remove stains after everything else fails. Common turpentine often leaves a stain of its own oil. This can be taken out by alcohol applied with a sponge.

How to Find the Contents of a Corn Crib. Multiply the number of cubic feet by 43 and point off one decimal place. The result will be the answer in bushels.

How to Write on the Train. This is one of those simple things which few people know, and yet it is a full man can get a pillow from the porter, put it on your lap and place your writing materials on it. The elasticity of the pillow will insure smoothness. Where a pillow cannot be obtained use your coat.

How to Lacquer Brass. When brass of any kind becomes stained and worn they can readily be lacquered in the following way: Get one ounce tumeric (ground) and two drachms each of saffron and Spanish annatto; mix them in a bottle with a pint of rectified spirits of wine. Place the mixture in a moderate heat for two or three days. Then strain and add two ounces of good seedlac, roughly powdered; shake until the lac is dissolved. Again strain and it is fit for use. If a deep orange lacquer is required add more annatto, if a bright yellow lacquer the greatest possible height, thereby exciting all the muscles of the legs and body, come again into standing position without swaying the body backward out of the perfect line. Repeat this exercise first on one foot and then on the other.—New York Journal.

How to Brush the Hair. In the care of the hair it is important to brush it thoroughly with the hands. For instance, when the hair is worn rolled back from the face it should be parted and brushed, and if the curl is low the hair should be combed up and also well brushed. Attention to this seemingly trifling detail, and brushing with the hands daily, will insure young, bright hair to elderly people.—Herald of Health.
