I began to take Hood's Sarsaparilla and it has done me a great deal of good. My indigestion and heart trouble are also in much better condition.

The Ten-Minute Whistle.
After a silence of more than a year, the old familiar sound of the whistle on the Railroad engine, is again heard. On Tuesday the ten-minute whistle was blown for the first time since it was ordered to be kept silent at the depot in this place, by the president of the road. The blowing of the whistle ten minutes before the train starts, is a great benefit to those desiring to go away on the train and will it save long waits at the depot.

A Mad Horse.
A mad horse created considerable excitement at Thompson's livery stable in Westminster last Thursday. The animal belonged to Philip Flater, and was bitten by a rabid dog about five weeks ago. Two heifers went mad on the 22d day following. The horse was sent to the livery stables for treatment, and Thursday symptoms of hydrophobia appeared. In a short time the animal, which was properly secured, became violent and frantic, biting the timbers of his stall and tearing chunks of flesh from his own body and legs with his teeth. He was shot to end his sufferings.—News.

Man's Inhumanity to Horses.
The most inhuman outrages, outrages which would disgrace the savage, man perpetrates upon his own system by swallowing drastic purgatives which convulse his stomach, agonize his intestines and weaken his system. Many people constantly do this under the impression that medicines only which are violent in their action, and particularly cathartics, are of any avail. Irreparable injury to health is wrought under this mistaken idea. The laxative which most nearly approaches the beneficial action of nature is Hostetter's Stomach Bitters which is painless but thorough, and invigorates the intestinal canal instead of weakening and irritating it. The liver and the stomach share in the benign discipline instituted by this comprehensive medicine, whose helpful influence is felt throughout the system. Malarious, rheumatic, kidney and nervous complaints succumb to it.

"The Hidden Hand."
The drama entitled "The Hidden Hand," by Mrs. Southworth, was rendered in Eyster's Opera House, in this place, on last Saturday evening, by the Forest Rose Concert and Dramatic Company, in the presence of a large audience. The Forest Rose Company is composed of amateur actors of this place, and all who could make it suit, were in attendance to witness the young people acquit themselves. The actors impersonated their characters more or less successfully, and one of the most pleasing features of the evening's entertainment was two selections of music rendered by the orchestra. Taking all things into consideration the play was well rendered, and that it was a success from a financial standpoint is evidenced from the fact that more than sixty dollars were realized.

The following is the cast of characters: Major Ira Warfield, Hurricane, J. V. Tyson; Wool, his servant, G. W. Bushman; Herbert Grayson, Capitol's lover, B. T. Elder; Black Donald, the coiner, J. V. Birthday Party.
Miss Fannie Hoke, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. M. Hoke, celebrated her twelfth birthday on Wednesday evening by entertaining about twenty of her little friends and associates. The little folks soon made themselves "at home," and the many different games played were indulged in by all, with a free will, and together with the entire assemblage chatting at the same time, made the occasion a notable one. About nine o'clock the guests were invited to the dining room, where two large tables were well filled with ice cream, cakes, candies, bananas, etc., on which were also two lighted candles, nicely arranged, representing the age of the little hostess. After heartily partaking of the good things, the party returned to the parlor, and the amusements were again resumed. Miss Fannie received many nice presents, and the congratulations offered her upon entering her teens were of a varied and pleasing nature, and the bright smiles on the faces of the guests told the story of their enjoyment.

Mr. John Marshall has the nicest young chickens in Fairfield. He says he set forty eggs and forty young chickens were hatched out. The forty chickens are all one color. They are the full Langshang. He has an old hen that weighs 9 1/2 lbs., which would certainly make a good meal for a wood chopper.

The sun fish were hungry and if he had caught four more than he did he would have had a half dozen. However, the best bite he had was the bite he took along.

Mr. F. Shulley, of this place, was making garben one day last week and threw some of the scraping into the yard. The shoats commenced eating and there was perhaps some ground ivory in the grass. However, in about thirty minutes, one of the shoats, that would have weighed 125 lbs., died.

"The Liberty Tree."
The "Liberty tree," planted at San Francisco, Cal., by the daughters of the American Revolution on the anniversary of the battle of Lexington, is growing in soil that was sent from Frederick. Among those from whose graves the soil was taken are Sergeant Lawrence Everhart, buried at Middle-town, who had served all through the Revolutionary war, resented Colonel Washington at the battle of Cowpens and Lafayette at Brandywine; General Roger Nelson, who served in the Maryland Line, and was present at the surrender at Yorktown; Colonel John Lynn, who distinguished himself at the battle of Camden; Francis Scott Key and Thomas Johnson. Some soil was also sent from Braddock Spring, the spot where Braddock's army stopped on its way to Fort Duquesne, and from the old court house at Frederick, wherein the British stamp act was repudiated in 1765. Those who contributed these various soils were Dr. Charles W. Hoffman, Mr. John Ritchie, Mrs. Ann G. Ross and Mr. Henry Williams.—American.

HOTEL IMPERIAL.

Like a fair bride decking herself for blissful nuptial rite, sits gently Penmar upon the knee of old sire Quirkus, weaving the dreamy emerald shades and wooing the flowers and zephyrs and all the mosses and divinities of the forest, to brighten and glorify the halcyon day that shall blind her in sweet, irrevocable union with gay and rollicking Pleasure. Soon will the throngs of happy, expectant humanity be assembling to pay her homage and mingle in the long, dreamy rhapsodies of the honeymoon.

"Penmar the Great,"—and only, we may add—will open on or about June 21st.

Visitors to the park and mountain will be struck at once upon their landing at the station with a prominent, imposing and charming improvement just over the way. It is none other than Hotel Imperial, the conception and creation of its genial and enterprising proprietor, Mr. Harry H. Myers.

This very prettily designed and attractive hostelry has grown out of the cosy, vine clad cottage which Mr. M. and family have occupied for a number of years. It developed naturally out of the course of events and the yearly increasing demand for accommodations at that charming spot, being upon the main highway leading down into the valley, immediately adjacent to the railroad depot and having a command of scenery all over the far-famed Cumberland Valley not surpassed at any other point on the mountain slope.

The structure is three story mansard 75x45 feet, charmingly proportioned and rendered artistically pleasing as well as solidly comfortable by wide piazzas that encircle the house. The exterior is done in a light shade of terra cotta with nicely blended colors for trimming.

The building has a capacity of 27 rooms for guests and can accommodate 75 to 100 people with consummate comfort. As it stands, it is just what its owner and designer intended it should be, a commodious, cheerful, healthful, comfortable and attractive home for its patrons. Life here may, indeed, be a sweet summer romance, removed from the heat of the city, the worry of business and the everlasting grind of domestic care. Here cooling breezes blow perpetually. Here nature has piled up its everlasting hills that please the eye and inspire the fancy. Here are the towering peaks, the deep and echoing gorges, the shaded nooks and glens and winking lullaby of prattling brooks. Here from broad piazzas and casement unfold in enraptured vision the grandest, the sublimest panorama of natural beauty the eye of man has ever beheld.

This merely suggests what nature and the carpenter have done to establish at Penmar a delightful resort, where marvelous beauty and highest modern improvements combine to minister to the physical as well as intellectual wants of its patrons. Mr. Myers, the hospitable and companionable gentleman, whose nature is filled with the milk of human kindness and consideration will do the rest. There is no possible demand of the inner man that will not be promptly and beautifully met; no attention looking either to the comfort or social pleasure of guests that will not be anticipated; no humor or fancy of those within his gates that will not be indulged to the proper limit. The place is within a couple minutes of the Park, where Terpsichore holds sweet carnival of Waynesboro. If a drive or ride be the order, a well furnished livery is there to meet it.

Every facility and accessory, in fact, are there for health and for pleasure; for rest and relaxation; for amusement and recreation; for mental and physical recuperation.

Hotel Imperial is now open for the public. Permanent and transient guests will be accommodated. Meals—and the best conceivable—will be furnished at all hours. Mr. Myers' experience in resort keeping, having for years been connected with the management of Monterey, is a guarantee that everything will be satisfactory and upon the highest modern plane. He will be welcomed to the field made famous by our many noted mountain resorts, and it requires no gift of prophecy to foresee for Hotel Imperial a successful and honored career in the noble work of human entertainment.—Waynesboro Gazette.

An Ode to Columbus.
The praises of Columbus,
We often do rehearse,
Sometimes in prose so stately,
Sometimes in ringing verse,
Many a once mournful melancholy, morbid, miserable man sings the praise of even a greater discovery than that of Columbus. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery opens up a new world of hope and health to the sick. It cures tubercular consumption which is simply lung scrofula—the active and dangerous development of a taint in the blood. Its blood cleansing botanic principles specially fit it to cleanse the blood and prevent the formation of ulcers in the lungs and bronchial tubes. Liver complaint, skin diseases and sores, are also cured by it.

A Bogus Check.

Mr. Wm. H. Vanderford, of the Democratic Advocate, Westminster, is a guest at the City Hotel, where he and his wife make their home. Several weeks ago among the transient guests was a lady who called herself Mrs. Joseph Bellah. She was accompanied by her son, a young man of eighteen years. Her demeanor was so pleasing that she soon won the confidence of Mr. and Mrs. Vanderford, and when she requested Mr. Vanderford to cash her a check signed Joseph Bellah and drawn on the Second National Bank of Washington, D. C., he did so without hesitation.

Mrs. Bellah and her son then left Westminster, but the check came back from Washington protested. The woman has been arrested for similar shady transactions in Virginia, and is now in jail in Luray, where she will be given a hearing. Mr. Vanderford left Westminster last Friday to be present at the hearing.

Rainways.
On Thursday evening as Rev. Jos. E. Smith, of this place, accompanied by his father, was driving a pair of horses down Chambersburg street, the horses became excited by the electric car and ran the buggy against a pile of boxes in front of Stine's store, when the single trees broke and the horses started down the street on a run, getting on the pavement part of the way. Father Smith was thrown from the buggy by the rapid start, but sustained no further injury than a few painful bruises.

Saturday week, as Mr. John Sanders and wife were driving in the Emmitsburg road with marketing, their horse frightened at the cars, and upset the buggy, breaking about two cases of eggs. Neither of the occupants were hurt.—Gettysburg Compiler.

New School Examiner.
The Washington county School Board elected Professor George C. Pearson secretary, examiner and treasurer, to succeed Peter A. Witmer, who has held the office for a period of twenty-six years. A couple of years ago a new board elected Frank W. Mish to succeed Mr. Witmer, but it was in the celebrated litigation in which the County Commissioners contested the old board's right to hold on to the office by virtue of alleged defects in the appointment of the new board. The old board and Mr. Witmer came out ahead. Professor Pearson is a native and resident of Smithsburg. He has been principal of the Male High School nine years. There will be an assistant examiner appointed to serve during school months.

A MODEL WIFE.

She Had a Good Deal to Try Her, but She Wouldn't Get Angry.

The best natured woman in the world resides in the city of Austin. She has been married a number of years to a man named Peterby, who is one of the most disagreeable, quarrelsome men outside of the Texas Legislature.

Peterby said he didn't want to rob a friend of his money, but he knew his friend would be able to do it for him.

"I hope you did not hurt yourself?" she replied, smiling kindly. "I was to blame for it. I am to be forgiven."

"Well, George, this is a new idea. We have been married 19 years and I never even once slapped you on the face."

A DANGEROUS PLIGHT.

One Old Sailor's Feasting Adventure With a Polar Bear in the Cold Regions.

There is an old sailor named Jake recently returned from San Francisco from an Arctic cruise, who has made up this addition to his sea stories.

Jake suddenly saw something white in the gloom climbing the mast. His first impulse was to jump to the deck, but before he could act upon it

The moment in the air seemed years filled with horror, and several times Jake wished he had taken his chances with the bear.

When he reached the deck, he looked up and saw the rope swing back to the cradle, where the bear grabbed it.

DIAMOND SMUGGLING.

The Latest and Most Precious Stones of Large Value May Be Concealed.

One of the simplest devices for smuggling diamonds is that of the hollow heeled shoe. It is asserted that boots and shoes constructed so as to leave a small vacant space in the heels are easily obtained in Europe.

The porous plaster has often served as a means of concealing diamonds. When it is understood that $10,000 worth of diamonds or more can easily be inclosed in a paper parcel about as wide as this column.

As these schemes have become known to the custom house authorities the ingenuity of smugglers has been more severely taxed. A recent discovery disclosed the following elaborate plan, which succeeded a great many times before it was discovered.

Two smugglers operated in partnership. The first crossed the ocean and before leaving the wharf reserved a return berth for a certain date.

A SLUMMING EXPERIENCE.

The Minister Who Hid His Goods Through It Determined to Change His Plans.

With a view to finding out what slumming in the toughest regions is like the reporter went to headquarters and asked one of Byrnes' oldest and most trusted detectives to tell him some of his experiences in taking slumming parties about in the region east of the Bowery.

"It's a good while now since I've done any of that business," said the detective, "and there's very few that we take around Cherry Hill and its alleys. It's too tough for ladies and for most men. One of the last parties that I took through there was three young men who were going to dismissionary work.

HAIR RAISING FRIGHTS.

Is the "standing on End" Suggestion a Real or an Imaginary One?

As a general rule scientific opinion on a scientific subject are of but little value to the student and the investigator. Yet to be permitted to ask such questions appears to relieve one to a certain extent, even though the answer be far from satisfactory.

There is a variety of opinions among the authorities concerning the subject of the hair "standing on end" in time of extreme fright, some of which are tenable and altogether probable, others ridiculous in the extreme.
